10,000 Flee Flood; Reno Under Water; Trains Delayed

By The Associated Press
Rioting flood waters from the mountains of north central California chased another 10,000 residents from their lowland homes Tuesday.

The new area of devastation in the fourth day of the floods lay in unincorporated districts not far south of Marysville, near where the Yuba river joins the Sacramento.

Reno Flooded
Across the Sierra Nevada range the glittering little city of Reno was squirming out of its worst flood in history. The Truckee river, normally a quiet little stream, had gone on an unpredictable rampage that left unbelievable destruction in the center of the city and muck and debris in the streets and adjacent buildings where flood waters had swept in cascading rivers.

In some places in the Reno business and gambling club districts, water swept six feet deep through the streets. Gambling dealers with pants rolled up and gambling pistols, stood guard over the cash left on the tables as the patrons fled the flood.

The swift currents ripped several new automobiles out of show room windows. Southern Pacific got its trains rolling late in the morning after both east and westbound streamliners had been stalled.

Placid Stream
Normally, the Truckee river is a placid little stream, about three feet deep and 50 feet wide, into which, by tradition, many new divorcees throw their wedding bands.

Gov. Earl Warren proclaimed a state of emergency Tuesday and told state agencies to use every resource to assist the cities in fighting the floods and in organizing relief.

The floods have caused at least nine deaths. The storm which set off the floods have accounted for a dozen lives.

No-Cut Drive Ends; 3,000 Students Sign; Petitions to Hancher

The student council's no-cut petition drive closed Tuesday night with over 3,000 student signatures counted. Many of the petitions still had not been turned in late Tuesday.

The petition, asking the university to lift the no-cut regulation Jan. 2, 1951, will be handed to President Virgil M. Hancher today by Jack Whitesell, president of the student council.

Issue Important
"This isn't an attempt to coerce the administration," Whitesell said. "It's just a demonstration to the officials that the students really feel that the issue is important."

The petition, voted by the student council Nov. 9, has been circulating in SUI housing units since Friday and appeared in Schaeffer and University halls Monday and Tuesday.

The action followed President Hancher's refusal to grant the council's request that the rule be suspended Jan. 2.

Returning to class Tuesday morning, Jan. 2, the council said, would make many students travel on New Year's eve or New Year's day.

One Hour Added
Under SUI regulations, an undergraduate will have one hour added to his graduation requirement for every hour of class he misses within 24 hours before and after a scheduled vacation.

Ed Diekmann, petition committee chairman, asked Tuesday night that all persons who still have signed petitions turn them in to the student council office, Old Dental building, as soon as possible this morning.

Mother Killed by Pocahontas Youth

POCAHONTAS, IOWA (AP) - A 22-year-old war veteran shot and killed his mother and seriously injured a brother at their farm home about three miles northwest of here Tuesday night, Coroner F. E. Heathman said.

Dr. Heathman identified the youth as Lowell Vosike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Vosike.

No further details of the shooting were immediately available.

U.S. Allocates $8.1-Billion For Armaments

WASHINGTON (AP) - The defense department announced Tuesday that it has obligated $8,092,000,000 during the last four months for the purchase of supplies and equipment, more than half of it for aircraft.

In a news release on funds obligated from July to October inclusive, the department said aircraft accounted for $4,357,000,000. It declined to say what portion of this represented orders for aircraft force and the navy.

Other Items
The announcement said that other items in the $8,092,000,000 obligated for supplies and materiel included:

Ammunition and guided missiles, $755-million. Electronics and communications, $368-million. New ship construction, $95-million.

Tanks and other automotive vehicles, $906-million.

The department said that military pay and allowances, civilian employment, research and development, and other services brought the grand total of defense obligations for the four months to $12.4-billion.

The period dates roughly from the beginning of the conflict in Korea.

Plan to Ask More
The defense department announcement was made while defense officials were preparing to ask congress, on its return to Washington Nov. 27, for an additional $10-billion to finance the remainder of the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Thus far, congress has authorized $24,996,000,000 of defense spending during this fiscal year. In addition, it has authorized $5,225,000,000 for foreign military assistance.

Iowa City to Have Five on Council Under City Manager

Iowa Citizens will have five councilmen rather than the present seven representing them in municipal government when the council-manager plan goes into operation in March, 1951.

City Atty. William H. Bartley Tuesday said the five-man council will be members-at-large, councilmen picked by all the eligible voters in the city, and not by wards as under the present mayor-council government.

Bartley's conclusion resulted from an argument that arose last April when opponents of the council-manager form of government pointed out a law in the Iowa code which might apply to Iowa City and cut the number of aldermen here to four.

The law, passed for the benefit of Waterloo, says that any city with more than 20,000 or less than 75,000 population, which lies in two townships that are divided by a river shall elect only four councilmen, two from each part of the city.

The law seemed to apply to Iowa City with its 27,000 population, divided by the Iowa river and bounded by East and West Lucas townships, he said.

But in 1910, Bartley said, the Johnson county board of supervisors set aside any territory inside the corporate limits of Iowa City as a part of Iowa City township.

Therefore, Iowa City comes under the jurisdiction of another state law that provides for five councilmen, Bartley said.

Two Iowans Missing In Action in Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) - The department of defense Tuesday announced the following Iowa casualties in the Korean area on its list No. 159:

Missing in action (Army) - Pfc. Melvin E. Kamrad, son of Mrs. Ione Kamrad, Sheffield; Pvt. Elmer H. Schriever, son of Mrs. Dora Schriever, Iowa Falls.

'Panther' Still Eludes Hunters; Man Hurt

DES MOINES (AP) - A farm hand northwest of Des Moines Tuesday took two shots at Polk county's mysterious "panther" as it "bounded and leaped" after a cow in a pasture.

The beast didn't get the cow, but the farm hand didn't get the beast, either.

Sheriff's deputies received reports of the shooting shortly after they abandoned an all-out, 125-man search for the animal when one of the volunteer hunters was wounded slightly.

Orville Jones, 46, was hit in the mouth by stray shotgun pellets as hunters blasted away at the animal that turned out to be a fox.

Deputy Max Van Rees, who has led the panther hunt, said the search will go on today, but with only 10 or 12 men. Two airplanes will be pressed into today's hunt. They will have radio contact with hunters on the ground.

Orville Ansley, an employe on the Ed Lockner farm, blazed away at the "long black animal" after Mrs. Lockner saw it chasing the cow.

Earlier, Joe Woods reported he saw the beast at a distance of only 30 feet. It was "slinking around" his stock farm just west of Urbana, a Des Moines suburb, Woods told deputies.

Woods' description tallied with reports given by others who have reported seeing a "long, shiny, black animal with a long tail."

Roadhouse Bandits Released on Parole

The release on parole from the Anamosa reformatory of two youths who held up an Iowa City roadhouse in November, 1948, was announced Tuesday by the state parole board.

Sponsored by the Iowa City ministerial association, the Iowa City Nazarene, Christian, Methodist, Congregational, Baptist and Presbyterian churches will meet in the First Presbyterian church, 26 E. Market street, at 10:30 a.m. Thanksgiving day.

Joint Offering
The Rev. Wendell Wellman, pastor of the Nazarene church, will present the sermon. A joint offering will be taken for the Iowa Inter-Church council, an inter-denominational Protestant body, which sponsors the Rev. W. W. Bentzinger as chaplain at University hospitals and Oakdale sanatorium.

FLOOD IN ENGLAND
LONDON (AP) - Heavy autumn rains sent many of England's rivers tumbling over their banks Tuesday, flooding wide areas of seven counties.

Council to Review Local Beer Permits

Mayor Preston Koser said Tuesday he will present a letter from Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson asking for a review of all beer permit licenses to the city council at the next meeting Nov. 27.

"It will be up to the council," Koser said, "to decide what action should be taken to investigate any illegal operations in selling beer within the city."

Larson, in his letters sent to 933 city mayors and 99 county boards of supervisors, said "the beer situation in Iowa is critical" and action is necessary on the local level to prevent "liquor law violations."

Attorney General Asks Review
The attorney general asked the city council to review all licenses issued in Iowa City to see that no one sells beer illegally, or is an illegal holder of a license.

Anyone who holds or applies for a beer permit, Larson said, must show "good moral character." The holder of a license should never have been convicted of a felony or indictable misdemeanor, or be a previous violator of the state liquor laws.

Larson said anyone not meeting these requirements should have his permit revoked.

The reaction to Larson's campaign for "better beer sellers" was varied.

Minister Admires Larson
Rev. Hewison P. Pollock of the Presbyterian church, 26 E. Market street, said, "I admire Larson for his stand on the issue and I think reviewing of license holders is a very good thing."

The man who seems to always be in the middle of any public issue whether he likes it or not, Mayor Koser, said he believed tavern operators in Iowa City have given city officials the utmost cooperation to prevent illegal beer sales.

Several tavern owners contacted refused to comment on the attorney general's latest campaign.

Allies Prepare To Meet Reds For Final Battle

Her First Pumpkin Pie Stolen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Mrs. Ida Fein will never know how her first pumpkin pie came out.

Mrs. Fein is more or less reconciled to the theft of her silverware, table linen, frozen chicken, liquor and toy bank last night. But she's still furious about one item the thief took—a pumpkin pie.

"I've been married 22 years and it was the first pumpkin pie I ever baked. Now I'll never know how it turned out."

Council Meant Balloting To Be Binding: Bartley

The Daily Iowan was told Tuesday the city council DID intend results from the Nov. 7 public referendum on extending rent controls to be binding upon it.

City Atty. William H. Bartley Tuesday said he believed "the council originally intended the referendum results to be final, and made an honest mistake in thinking the referendum would be only an advisory opinion for it to follow."

Koser Asks Interpretation
Mayor Preston Koser, Bartley said, contacted him Friday and asked for a legal interpretation of the federal rent code.

Bartley said the 11-day delay before Koser's Saturday proclamation was because he was "out of town" and because Koser was a deliberate person who liked to "mull over a decision" before he made it.

Some of the councilmen, he said, apparently changed their minds on whether the controls should be extended to June 30, 1951, after the resolution had been drawn up.

Bartley was referring to Alderman Wilber Teeters, Wayne E. Putman and Gordon Webster.

Table Attempt Fails
Putman and Webster on Nov. 13 attempted to "table" discussion by the council on the matter of acting in accordance with the voters' wishes as expressed six days earlier. But they lost out by a four-to-two vote, and action was postponed until Dec. 11.

The council, however, did not know then that the referendum results were binding.

Teeters committed himself Nov. 15 when he said the council would take no action on the issue one way or the other. Had that been the case, the controls would have ended Dec. 31 for want of approval.

"This whole matter could have been avoided," Bartley said, "had the council made an amendment to its original resolution, stating in some way that it would make the final decision."

Law Not Studied
Bartley said the aldermen asked him to draw up the resolution before he had time to study the federal rent law.

Bartley said, too, he would have offered his interpretation of the legality of the referendum before, but he was employed only in an advisory capacity. If the council wants an opinion it must ask for it, he said.

Senate Denounces Surplus Disposal By Four Agencies
WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate defense investigators denounced four government agencies Tuesday for "costly blunders" in the disposal of surplus goods and warned federal officials to face up to the "realities" of Communist aggression.

In a caustically-worded report, the senate preparedness subcommittee also scored the "far from satisfactory" rubber reserve program. Actually, it said, there is "far less" rubber on hand now than there was at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack.

Johnson said other reports will be issued soon on steel supplies, commodity stockpiling and Alaskan defenses.

The subcommittee was particularly concerned about federal agencies which are disposing of "surplus" plants and goods, seemingly without regard for the fact that the nation is in the midst of a rearmament drive.

Bearing the brunt of the subcommittee's attack were the munitions board, the general services administration, the commerce department and the airforce.

Reds Building Defense Line Along Border

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) (AP) - Two 100,000-man armies deployed along a curving 60-mile front in northwest Korea today in the preliminary to an expected Allied knockout drive against the Communists.

Patrol clashes were reported all along the front. Seven United Nations divisions, totalling about 100,000 troops, were poised for what may be the last great battle of the Korean war. Opposite them to the north was a Chinese and North Korean Communist army of about the same size.

Reds Dig In
The Communists were working frantically to construct a deep defense line between the United Nations forces and the Manchurian border, which was reached Tuesday in a sector far to the north-east by American Seventh division troops.

Air reconnaissance reported new enemy defensive positions all along the front, and South Korean patrols said 10 enemy roadblocks had been erected on a seven-mile stretch of road between Taechon and Pakchon.

First cavalry division patrols also found new road blocks. The Communists were preparing to defend the routes leading to the new North Korean capital of Sinuiju, as well as to power dams along the Yalu river. At the same time Allied forces were consolidating their own line.

Guerrillas Hit Near Seoul
U.S. Eighth army headquarters reported that an enemy division attacked Chorwon, 48 miles north of Seoul and far behind the Allied lines, while other North Korean forces also struck behind the lines.

The 17th South Korean regiment forced the enemy division — not believed at full strength — to withdraw, an Eighth army spokesman said.

American paratroopers assisted by Philippines, Thailand and British troops, assaulted Suan and Singye as they moved to route an estimated 10,000 die-hard Communists entrenched in the mountains 35 to 40 miles east of P'yongyang.

Sizeable skirmishes were fought in the areas of Taejon, Namwon and Taegu, after small enemy groups plundered other towns in South and Central Korea.

West Europe Votes International Army; To Include Germans

STRASBOURG, FRANCE (WEDNESDAY) (AP) - Western European nations voted early today, over German objections, to call for the formation without delay of an all-European army which would include German units.

The western nations decided to appeal the matter to the Atlantic pact powers, whose efforts to build up western defense forces have been blocked by a dispute between France and the United States over German rearmament.

Assembly Vote
The vote was taken by the European assembly's general affairs committee on a draft resolution that will be put before the full assembly Friday.

The vote, which followed four-and-one-half hours of debate, was 18 to one with two abstentions.

The lone vote against the resolution was cast by a German Social Democrat, Erhard Lutkens, who with other Socialists has bitterly opposed Germany's rearmament unless the country is given a guarantee of political equality.

German Objections
The lengthy debate was devoted to attempts to overcome German objections to rearmament.

The resolution called Winston Churchill's recent proposal for an all-European army under a European defense minister. This has been approved by the assembly.

During the night session other German members joined the Social Democrats in demanding equality and security for Germany as the price for its participation in western defense.

No Sermon Necessary

Sermons on thankfulness are so plentiful at this time of year, we're hesitant in offering any pious words on the subject. But an excerpt from a United Press dispatch Tuesday reminded us of how we should be especially thankful of a few things in particular—even if we forget how wonderful it is to have a full stomach.

"The Seventh division carried out its advance to the border through some of the most frigid weather ever encountered by the American troops in the field," the dispatch read.

"The mercury dropped as low as 20 below zero and the troops had to wade through deep layers of snow the last few miles."

Most of us will be leaving today for our homes or the homes of friends. The nature of the celebrating and the quantities and varieties of holiday delicacies will vary from home to home.

Some of us will remain here to sleep the holidays away or to study and eat hamburgers, with nothing more than thoughts of turkey.

But on Thanksgiving day this year all of us can be thankful we're not in the shoes of the American soldiers in Korea.

None of us will be huddled and shivering in holes somewhere when the sun comes up tomorrow morning. None of us are likely to be suffering with wet, cold feet—feet which haven't been warm in days or weeks. And even those of us who have to eat hot dogs instead of roast goose probably will do so in warm restaurants instead of the rear of bouncing, wind-whipped trucks.

When the more fortunate ones of us settle back in soft chairs and warm rooms tomorrow evening, we'll have little in common with the GI's trudging through the cold or hunched over fires in Korean fields.

And when we're settled in beds tomorrow night, the roar of commercial airliners overhead will hardly catch our attention. We won't have to lie there wondering whether the ships are ours or those of an enemy. We won't have to fear strafing or bombing attacks which could prevent our seeing Friday morning's sun.

No, we don't want to preach. But we would like to say—just once—that we should be thankful—for the guys over there.

Arn, Kansas Governor, Long-Time Politician

TOPEKA (AP)—From childhood adversity to chief executive of his native state is the story of Edward F. Arn, 44-year-old Republican governor-elect of Kansas.

A bright and rapidly rising star in the Kansas political sky, Arn reached the governorship by way of the state attorney general's office and the Kansas supreme court bench.

Early in 1949, at the start of his second term as attorney general, he left that office to accept an appointment to the state's highest court, then left the bench early this year to run for governor.

His father died when he was four months old. He financed his education by carrying papers, working on a farm, in a filling station and finally on a railroad "wheel gang."

Arn's political experience began while he was still in school. He was elected precinct committeeman and later secretary of his county central committee.

When war broke out he was engaged in private law practice in Wichita. He volunteered in the navy and served two years, part of the time as a lieutenant in the famous task force 58.

In 1946 Arn was elected attorney general for the first time and won on the admiration of "wets" and "drys" alike by his thorough enforcement of the Kansas prohibition law, which has since been repealed.

"The way to get rid of an unpopular law is to enforce it," said Arn who made no effort to disguise the fact he was no teetotaler himself.

Arn campaigned for governor with economy as his watchword and pledged opposition to new taxes. He promised to continue his predecessor's programs for state institutions, highways and schools.

"We intend to fulfill every pledge of the Republican platform in Kansas," Arn said. "We made no promises lightly."

Arn is married to the former

Marcella Tillmanns, Topeka. He met her on a "blind date" soon after he graduated from law. They have two daughters, Barbara, 16, and Delores, 13, who "ran errands and things like that" during their father's campaign.

U.S. Economy Stays High Despite End Of Scare Buying

WASHINGTON (AP)—The scare-buying spree touched off by the Korean war has subsided but the nation's economy still is humming at a high level, the commerce department said Tuesday.

In its monthly survey of business conditions, the department said credit controls and higher taxes helped to put a damper on consumer spending.

Another factor contributing to "more orderly" purchasing by housewives and industry, the report said, was the gradual realization there would be no "immediate shortages" of civilian goods.

"Arms production has not yet been large enough to curtail the flow of goods for civilian use," the department said.

The volume of consumer demand still is "appreciably" higher than pre-Korean war levels, partly as a result of a rise in personal incomes.

Total personal income was running at an annual rate of $228-billion in September, up $3-billion over August. Average weekly earnings of production workers were up $5 from mid-1949.

Total employment also showed an increase, estimated at 800,000 between September and October. Non-farm workers numbered 1-million more than before the war began in late June.

Industrial production continued its upsurge during October but at a slower pace than in recent months. Steel mills operated at a record rate, turning out 87-million ingot tons during the month. Most other raw and semi-finished manufacturing industries operated at capacity.

LIQUOR SPOONS ILLEGAL
ST. PAUL, MINN.—The city of Henderson has no authority to give away stirring spoons to stimulate trade at its municipal liquor store, Atty. Gen. J. A. Burnquist ruled Tuesday. R. A. Hendrickson, Henderson city attorney requested the opinion. He said the store manager ordered the spoons, stamped "municipal liquor store, Henderson, Minnesota," without city council approval.

Consumer Spending Hits $19.8-Billion Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Consumer spending shot up by an unprecedented $13.2-billion-a-year rate during the July-September period to reach a record annual volume of $19.8-billion, the commerce department reported Tuesday.

This mass assault on retail counters netted a $14-billion surplus in the gross national production—total output of goods and services—to an historic high of $284.3-billion.

It came close to the $300-billion a year total output goal President Truman spoke last January of attaining "within five" years, but there was a hitch in it.

The President said he meant $300-billion worth of goods and services valued at the prices prevailing at the start of 1950. Much of the $30.5-billion a year rise since then has been due to increased prices.

The commerce department said, in fact, that one-third of the $13.2-billion jump in consumer spending in the third quarter of this year, compared with the previous quarter, "stemmed from higher prices."

Purchases of greater quantities following the outbreak of the Korean war on June 25 accounted for the other two-thirds of the increase, but the department saw a price angle in that, too.

War Accelerates
"To a large extent, such purchasing has undoubtedly been motivated—or at least accelerated—by fear of subsequent supply difficulties and of further price increases," the department said in its November "survey of current business."

The department stressed that the upswing in gross national production came "primarily from heavy anticipatory demand by business and consumers, rather than from the direct impact of military spending."

"The bulk of the advance was in output for civilian use," it said. Consumer buying was supported by a record level of consumer income, which rose by $10-billion-a-year rate in the July-September period to a $225-billion annual level.

Also, the department said, this buying ability was reinforced by "substantial withdrawals of savings account and redemptions of U.S. savings bonds as well as by the rapid expansion of consumer credit."

The heaviest consumer buying schedule hearing for milk prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The agriculture department will hold a public hearing in Cedar Rapids, Dec. 11 on a proposal to bring the sale of milk there under federal control.

Under a program proposed by organized milk producers, the department would set minimum prices which distributors would be required to pay dairymen supplying Cedar Rapids and Iowa City.

Such programs, the department said, are designed to help stabilize prices and supplies of milk.

NEW YORK (AP)—A rocket was picked up by a fishing boat in the Atlantic recently but military officials could not say immediately what type it was.

Food Cheaper In 1950 Due to High Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thanksgiving dinner may be a little cheaper this year.

The agriculture department reported Tuesday that more turkeys were raised and more cranberries were grown this year than ever before.

The record production has knocked wholesale prices of birds and berries down several cents from last fall's high eves. Other "trimmings" also have gone down a little.

Wholesale prices of big tom turkeys have been two to three cents a pound less than a year ago. Smaller gobblers, mostly hens, have been wholesaling for four to five cents a pound less.

Sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, grapefruit and cabbage also have been slightly under last fall's wholesale levels.

Agriculture department officials said housewives should find turkeys "reasonably priced," but they refused to mention specific prices.

If prices still seem high, they said, don't blame the government. This year, for the first time since the war, there has been no government floor price on turkeys.

In case your taste doesn't run to turkey, here is a rundown on some other holiday food favorites: Chickens—prices have been about the same to slightly higher than last year.

Pork—production is running at a peacetime record high. Some cuts have been slightly cheaper than a year ago. Others have been a little higher.

Beef—top quality cuts are wholesaling for a little less, but good and medium grades are running a lot higher.

Cranberries—have been wholesaling in New York and Chicago at about 11 cents a pound, two or three cents below last year's level.

Potatoes Cheaper
Sweet potatoes—sold in New York and Chicago for $2.88 a bushel last week compared with $3.09 a year ago.

Irish potatoes—grower prices at the lowest level in nine years, causing a slight drop at retail levels.

Onions—the fall crop was 15 percent bigger than last year and largest in four years.

Eggs—prices have jumped up and down in recent weeks, and now are running above last year's.

Libia to Draw-Up Constitution, Pick Form of Government

BY ELIZABETH DAUKES
(For J. M. Roberts, Jr.)
TRIPOLI—Mussolini's former North African colony of Libia, once a stamping ground of the ancient Romans, takes a big step toward independence this Saturday.

A constituent assembly picked by Arab political leaders will convene to draw up a constitution and decide on a form of government.

Libia is the first new state to be formed from a former colony with the United Nations standing by as midwife.

The UN political committee decided at Lake Success last month a provisional government should be set up by next April. Britain and France, now administering parts of Libia, are to turn over authority progressively throughout next year. Jan. 1, 1952, is set as the deadline for full Libyan independence.

Then Libia is to be admitted as a UN member. UN technical and financial assistance has been promised.

There have been complaints Britain and France are lagging in getting Libia ready for independence. It's a difficult job because it's a poor country with only a marginal agricultural economy.

The Soviet Union charges that Britain and the United States are interested only in maintaining military bases here for Atlantic pact powers and protecting their middle east oil interests.

France, which controls the Fezzan area of Libia, is reported reluctant to see independence in Libia for fear the idea may spread to other French colonies in the area.

Libia has three parts: the Fezzan, Tripolitania (800,000 people) and Cyrenaica (300,000). The British run Tripolitania. They granted self-rule to Cyrenaica in June, 1949.

Interpretation of Facts . . .
TO THE EDITOR:
Referring to the front page editorial in Saturday's Daily Iowan, concerning the city council's duty in settling of rent control issue, one might reasonably ask, "Does not the value of the recent referendum lie in its intelligent interpretative value?"

The council might reason thus: Since there are many more voters than landlords and the vote showed only roughly a two-to-one vote in favor of continued controls, what are the indications? Perhaps the following inferences might be made:

1. Somebody besides landlords must have voted against continuation of controls. Maybe some homeowners who have no personal financial interest in the issue; maybe some tenants who are being pinched by black-market prices or by inequalities made possible by controls; maybe some citizens who fear bureaucratic control from Washington more than landlords—perhaps these are some of the folks who voted against continuation of rent controls.

2. The council might also reasonably ask if the tenants who ask for Uncle Sam to guard their rents are not more scared than facts would justify. In Friday's Press Citizen, 11 apartments and many rooms were advertised for rent and only three apartment-wanted ads appeared, a condition much unlike that of two years ago, or even one year ago. It would seem that the pressure is fast diminishing to the point of actually giving tenants bargaining power.

Getting back to the group who may have feared bureaucratic-minded politicians in Washington more than landlords, we wonder if they might not have something. Perhaps it would be more apropos for property owners and renters to join forces and fight on the same side against further encroaching controls that threaten to stifle the rights and privileges we have enjoyed these many years, than to fight each other in this local issue.

The referendum would seem to us to have its value in the intelligent interpretation of facts.

Must Change Draft Law Official Says

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A high-ranking selective service official hinted Tuesday that a force as large as the 3-million-man total proposed by President Truman would be very difficult to raise under present draft regulations and physical standards.

In a speech prepared for the national draft law, Rentrow said the country's draftable manpower pool now numbers 870,000 men.

Jordan, the Russians say. The U.S. has an airforce base at Wheelus field near Tripoli, used as a way point now for transport planes.

Britain has a small land force here, airfields at Castel Benito, Benghazi and Tobruk, and a small naval base at Benghazi.

If the bases are to remain, some sort of agreement will have to be reached with the new independent government. Russia has demanded that British and American forces leave the country.

Many observers believe that the first ruler of the new Libia may be the Emir Sayed Mohammed Id-riss Senussi, British recognized ruler of Cyrenaica, who would then change his title from Emir (prince) to king.

The Russians don't like that idea at all. They charge the British would make him a puppet—just like King Abdullah in Hashemite

Christmas Seal Drive Opens in Johnson County

The 44th annual Christmas seal drive to collect funds to combat tuberculosis and heart disease opened in Johnson county Tuesday.

Chairman Ansel J. Chapman, Iowa City, said seals were mailed to residents throughout the county Monday for the campaign which will continue until Christmas.

The program will have a dual purpose this year with funds being donated to the activities of two groups, the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health association and the Iowa Heart association.

Chapman said Johnson county association officials are expected to return $1 for the seals.

"Most of the Christmas seal money remains in the county," Chapman explained. "The association gave $2,600 to Mercy hospital in addition to the regular 1950 budget. This money was spent for X-ray equipment and film," he stated.

Johnson county had a budget of $7,100 for 1950 to fight tuberculosis through health education, case finding programs, and research, Chapman said.

The Iowa Heart association received 20 percent of this gross seal sale, or $1,000, he added.

Newsom has been master of the Indiana state Grange since 1937 and chairman of the national Grange executive committee since 1949.

College Home Front

by Ann Russell

Carving is a lost art, one food expert says. "The first one served at a Thanksgiving dinner is almost a cinch to get a wing—the next will get two or three wonderful slices of breast meat and the third is a five-to-two favorite to get a drum stick." He suggests allowing the bird to stand in the roasting pan 20 minutes to allow juices to be absorbed. Then remove cords and skewers. Most important, be sure the knife is sharp—and don't hack or chop the bird.

New ironing board covers should be laundered before use. Hot soapsuds wash away the starchy finish which causes the cover to scorch.

Try doing housework with two hands to save time. Two-handed dusting, polishing and scrubbing can speed up the cleaning procedure. And try using two scrub pads—one for suds and one for rinse.

To make ribbon sandwich salad, begin by preparing 2 packages of lime gelatin flavored with 2 tablespoons of lemon juice. Pour half into a nine-inch square pan and chill until firm. Mash 2 bananas, and combine with 1/4 cup crushed drained pineapple, 1/4 cup chopped ripe olives and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Spread over firm gelatin layer, then top with remaining gelatin and chill until firm. Cut into square and serve on salad greens.

Parchment lamp shades can be washed with "dry" top soap suds and a damp sponge. Wipe the surface, then wipe the suds off with a clean damp sponge and dry with a soft cloth.

Winter storage of tools may be helped by putting the coiled garden hose in a bucket or tub which won't be needed. Small tools may be placed inside the coils.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Ervin, 1036 Finkbine park, are the parents of a baby boy born Nov. 14 at University hospitals.

Plea for Gratitude, Group Songs Mark Thanksgiving Service

The Rev. Fernando Laxamana said in his sermon at the YMCA-YWCA Thanksgiving service Tuesday that we have more reason to be thankful today than our pilgrim fathers had."

He told the congregation in the River room of the Iowa Union that "we should be thankful to be alive today after witnessing two of the most bloody wars in history."

Rev. Laxamana added that people should be thankful for the privilege of education and for the "men and women in the past who left us this great heritage."

To him, Thanksgiving means an "expression of gratitude by people for the richness of this land and their survival of hardships and the blessings of God."

Carl B. Zimmerman, A1, Waterloo, introduced the Rev. Laxamana and Jane Cheyney, A3, Glenwood, led the YWCA Chorus in the hymn, "Father, Most Merciful," with Marilyn Miller, A3, Des Moines, accompanying.

Bill Shores, A2, Kinlock, Mo., sang "The Lord Is My Light" and the congregation joined in singing "Come Ye Thankful People, Come" and "America the Beautiful."

John Fry, G, Carlisle, closed the services with a benediction.

FIREMEN CALLED
Iowa City firemen were called out at 4:05 p.m. Tuesday to extinguish a grass fire behind the Kollman-Warner company warehouse, 1301 Sheridan avenue.

Undeclared leaders in the tournament at the end of three weeks' play are Alpha Delta Pi I and II, Chi Omega I, Currier I-A and I-C, Gamma Phi Beta I, Chi Omega II, and Delta Zeta II.

FORFEITS BOND
Joseph D. Alcalá, Davenport, forfeited a $25 bond Tuesday in Iowa City police court. He was charged with speeding.

Says U.S. Must Combat Red Propoganda

The U.S. must promote a "raging epidemic of Americanism both here and abroad to combat the Communist propaganda," Mrs. Hiram C. Houghton, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, told local Kiwanis club members Tuesday.

"We must make America strong by selling America to Americans first, and then we must counter Communism with positive humility," she said. She defined "positive humility" as the ability to tell others about the United States without being arrogant about it.

Meet Untruths
"In our propoganda war, we must meet untruths with truths," Mrs. Houghton said. This can be accomplished through the radio, newspaper, and lecture media.

"Americans must prepare themselves for the long haul and the short pull," she declared.

Strengthen Forces
The "short pull," she defined, as strengthening U.S. military forces and preparations against possible aggression. She explained the "long haul" as education for civilians in how to live in this era. "We cannot afford to divert all our attention to the military, but must continue to train doctors, lawyers, and other professional men," she said.

Mrs. Houghton urged the continuance of the Marshall plan until 1952, and the rearmament of Europe.

Prof. Vasey Elected By Iowa Welfare Group
Prof. Wayne Vasey, director of the SUI school of social work, was elected first vice-president of the Iowa Welfare association Saturday at the group's convention in Des Moines.

Jane Henderson, Johnson county public welfare director, was elected historian of the association.

Former Student Flies Supplies to Korea

An ex-SUI student, Capt. Jack R. Hamilton, Tipton, is one of the men flying troops and supplies to UN forces in Korea with the Military Air Transport service.

Assigned to the 1264th air transport squadron as a navigator, Hamilton is based at Hickam Field, Honolulu. He flies a regular route from California through Honolulu to Haneda Field in Japan.

Hamilton was an SUI engineering student in 1936 until he left school because of ill health.

He is married to the former Audrey MacKenzie, London, England, and has two sons, Michael, 5, and Christopher, 2.

During World War II, Hamilton served with the airforce in Africa and Europe, where he won the air medal with one oak leaf cluster.

Cage Season Opener Tonight For City High

Three newcomers will hold the spotlight tonight as City high launches its 1950-51 basketball season against Marengo at the City high gymnasium. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

Though Hawklet Coach Howard Moffitt has retained four lettermen from last year's team which finished third in the Mississippi Valley conference, the performance of three non-letter winners appears to be the key to City high hopes.

New Men
The new men are Jim Freeman, 6-foot, 3-inch junior center, forward Ted Dunnington, 6-foot, 2-inch junior, and guard Mike Korns, a 6-foot senior.

These men are counted on to supply the height and brawn to compensate for the loss of Bill Fenton and Bob Fry, two of last year's mainstays.

Lettermen on hand are Forward Gene Brawner and Jerry White and Guards Mickey Moore and Duane Davis. Brawner and Moore were regulars a year ago.

The scoring burden should be handled adequately by Brawner and Freeman. Brawner was second only to Fenton last year in point production while Freeman was a leader in the conference's sophomore scoring race.

Tall Team
The insertion of the new men would give the Hawklets a starting team averaging over 6 feet. However, when added speed is required, Davis and White are expected to replace Dunnington and Korns.

Teams to beat in the conference race, according to Mcfitt, are Davenport and Clinton, the two top quintets last year.

After Ten Seasons — Ginsberg's Ready to Retire

By JACK SQUIRE
After ten years of football, Lou Ginsberg figures he's had enough.

Ginsberg, Iowa's chunky guard, will be one of the ten Hawkeye seniors playing their final college game when Iowa meets Miami Friday night.

And just as in every other game he's ever played, Lou will be cut then giving it his all. But when the final whistle blows Friday night, Ginsberg will be quite ready to call it a career.

Tired at End of Season
"I'm always tired by the end of the season," Ginsberg said. "But then by the time winter comes around, I start looking forward to next season."

"This year, though, I'm really through. I guess ten years of football is enough for anybody."

Lou's playing days began as a freshman at Franklin high of Cedar Rapids, where after four years at guard and tackle he won an all state berth in his senior year.

He came to Iowa in 1945 and under the war-time eligibility rule was able to hold a first string position on the varsity.

The following year he did his blocking and tackling for the Aberdeen proving grounds army team.

Sidelined with Injury
In '47, he received his discharge in time to report for fall practice at Iowa. But a concussion suffered in a pre-season scrimmage sidelined him for a long stretch. He remained on the squad, however, though never appearing in a game. The year did not count against his eligibility.

For the last three years, Ginsberg has been a steady, reliable performer both on offense and defense.

"I was always what you would call a Saturday player," said Ginsberg. "I loved the games but I sure could do without those long

Miami Prepared

By Joe Locher

Morale May Be Factor In Miami Game Friday

Iowa's Hawkeyes drilled on passing and defense Tuesday in preparation for their last game of the season Friday night in the Orange Bowl against the University of Miami.

Bernard Bennett and "Chug" Wilson may start at halfbacks against the undefeated and once tied Hurricanes. These two have been alternating the last part of the season with Don Comstock and Jerry Faske. No other line-up changes are indicated.

Seek to Improve Record
Miami, 14th ranking team in the nation, will be seeking to improve this rating with a victory over a Big Ten team. The Hurricanes best Purdue after the Bollersmakers had ended Notre Dame's consecutive game record.

Only a 13-13 tie with Louisville mars the Miami record.

The morale of the two teams could be an important factor in Friday's game. Iowa has very little incentive while Miami will be out to prove that it can hold its own against football's so-called big timers.

The rise of Miami from football obscurity to the threshold of prominence has been one of sport's success stories. Just a few years ago, the Hurricanes were barely noticed in scheduling games or in the national football picture.

Now they are becoming a major power and are gaining strength year by year.

Need a Good Schedule
When Coach Andy Gustafson took over at the Florida school two years ago he was instructed that Miami needed a good schedule.

Mistaken Identity
The Iowa football players probably can recognize their opponents by sight but not by name. This was indicated Tuesday when the Hawks announced their all-opponent team for the year.

Team members picked Bill Gable from Wisconsin as one of the two best guards they faced this year. What they didn't know or had forgotten was that Gable was injured before Wisconsin met Iowa and didn't even play in the game.

When this was called to their attention, squad members hastily selected Leo Cahill of Illinois to replace Gable. Oh well, mistakes can happen to anyone.

Here is the all-opponent team:
Ends — Tony Klimek, Illinois and Cliff Anderson, Indiana;
Tackles — Bob Tonnef, Notre Dame and Bill Trautwein, Ohio State;
Guards — Cahill, Illinois and Paul McMurry, Southern California;
Center — Jerry Groom, Notre Dame;
Quarterback — Lou D'Achille, Indiana;
Halfbacks — Vic Janowicz, Ohio State and Don Stevens, Illinois;
Fullback — Dick Raklovits, Illinois.

ule and a good team to play that schedule.

Apparently the former backfield coach of Earl Blaik's at Army has accomplished both.

Friday night's game will be the first meeting between Iowa and Miami. The closest association Iowa has had with Miami football was in 1933 when Iri Tubbs came to Iowa from the Hurricanes.

Tubbs found the Big Ten a little rougher than the teams Miami was then playing and retired after two years.

One of Ginsberg's contributions to the Iowa cause came off the playing field, for it was he, more than anyone else, who persuaded Jerry Faske to remain at Iowa after the '48 season when Faske sought to transfer to an eastern school.

When Lou graduates in February, he will join his father in the jewelry business in Cedar Rapids. It won't be as exciting as football was, he says, but it will be a lot easier on his aching muscles.

Reichardt 2nd Team Midwest

CHICAGO (AP) — Vic Janowicz, Ohio State's all around backfield ace and obviously the man mid-west grid coaches would like to have most, Tuesday paced 10 other standout stars onto the 1950 United Press all midwest football team.

The 20-year-old Buckeye junior, who has played both quarterback and halfback on offense and safety and halfback on defense, was placed on the first team by each of the 11 coaches who voted.

Iowa's Bill Reichardt was selected second team fullback behind Dick Raklovits of Illinois. Reichardt has carried a good share of Iowa's ground attack this season along with teammate Jerry Faske.

Janowicz, though the standout individual, and Ohio State, which also placed Tackle Bill Trautwein on the first team, had to yield team honors for representation to Notre Dame and share the runner-up spot with both Illinois and Michigan State, who also placed two players.

Here are the first and second team selections:
FIRST TEAM
Ends — Jim Mutscheller, Notre Dame and Don Stonesifer, Northwestern; Tackles — Allen Wahl, Michigan and Bill Trautwein, Ohio State; Guards — Charles Brown, Illinois and Don Coleman, Michigan State; Center — Jerry Groom, Notre Dame; Quarterback — Bob Williams, Notre Dame; Halfbacks — Everett Grandelius, Michigan State and Vic Janowicz, Ohio State; Fullback — Dick Raklovits, Illinois.

SECOND TEAM
Ends — Bob Carey, Michigan State and Tony Klimek, Illinois; Tackles — Ken Huxhold, Wisconsin and Al Tate, Illinois; Guards — Bob Morsen, Ohio State and Lynn Lynch, Illinois; Center — Bill Vohaska, Illinois; Quarterback — Tony Curello, Ohio State; Halfbacks — Johnny Karras and Chuck Ortmann, Michigan; Fullback — Bill Reichardt, Iowa.

Michigan State's Request To Play in Cotton Bowl Turned Down by Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan State college Tuesday was refused permission by the Big Ten to play Texas in the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas New Year's day although it had not received a formal invitation.

Michigan State, the Western conference's football member-in-name-only, had received Cotton Bowl feelers and sought to clear the way to accept a formal bid if it were offered.

A petition by Michigan State asked the conference to waive a regulation banning post-season grid play in any game except the Rose Bowl.

No Official Vote
Big Ten Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson said the request was denied. No official vote of the nine conference members was announced, but it was understood the ballot was overwhelmingly against the waiver.

As a non-championship conference member, Michigan State is not eligible for the Rose Bowl. It enters football title competition in 1953.

The Spartans lost only to Maryland in nine starts this season, and scored wins over three Big Ten members as well as Notre Dame.

At Lansing, Mich., Dean L. C. Emmons, MSC faculty representative in the Big Ten, said:

"Michigan State received a bid from the Cotton Bowl and we were anxious to accept same. Through myself and athletic Director Ralph Young, the college asked permission of the Big Ten to accept the bid."

Not Invited Formally
At Dallas, Cotton Bowl President Joe C. Thompson Jr., emphasized Michigan State had not been invited formally.

"Michigan State was one of the teams on the list of preferred opponents given us by the University of Texas (the host team)," he said. "We asked Michigan State whether it could play if it were invited. But we did not make any invitation for it to play here."

"We have a large number of teams under consideration. We have contacted Princeton and Army, among others, but we have not issued a formal invitation to any team."

Wilson said that he had been asked what was the probable reason for denying the request. He continued:

"Naturally, I am not in a position to speak for the faculty representatives (conference policy-making group). However, it is my personal observation that the conference always has been reluctant to change or waive a rule by hasty action or by mail vote when, in the first place, the rule was adopted after considerable study with the understanding that it would be placed in the conference regulations for observance by the members."

Wilson said Michigan State athletic Director Ralph Young Monday had phoned his office to request the waiver of the conference rule.

Spartans Disappointed

EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP)—Michigan State college's football forces were a pretty disappointed group Tuesday night when they learned that the Western conference had turned down their bid for permission to play in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1.

Players and coaches alike joined in expressing regret that the Big Ten had vetoed the suggestion that Michigan State, newcomer to the Western conference, engage in the bowl game.

Head Coach Biggie Munn declared, "I feel very sorry for the boys for it is a disappointment for them. When I was in college, I was refused permission to play in a Shrine game for the benefit of crippled children. Therefore, I know just how badly the boys feel in losing out on a chance to play a bowl game."

Dr. John Hannah, president of Michigan State, declared, "We asked to get into the conference. They disapproved of our being in a bowl game and that's that. I will not comment beyond that."

Backfield star Everett "Sonny" Grandelius, MSC's candidate for all-American honors, voiced the sentiments of the players when he said, "I sure am disappointed. I really don't know why they turned us down."

Grandelius said that he and teammates Dorne Dibble and Hank Minarik, a pair of ends, already were invited to play in other bowl games.

"I've been invited to play in the East-West and North-South games and believe I'll take one of the two chances," he said. He added that Dibble has been asked to join the East-West squad and Minarik the North-South roster.

Griffith Tries to Hire Boudreau but Lou Balks
WASHINGTON (AP) — Clark Griffith, who thinks he could get his Washington Senators into permanent contention next year with Lou Boudreau at shortstop, revealed Tuesday he had claimed the deposed Cleveland manager on waivers and made him a "substantial offer." But Boudreau said he would refuse the waiver claim and make a deal as a free agent.

Boudreau, fired by the Indians, who gave his job to Al Lopez, still hopes to land a post as pilot of another club and is expected to turn down all offers until he finds out whether he can get such a job.

Reds Brand Louis Gangster of Sports
CHICAGO (AP) — Former heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, blasted in Balkan newspapers as a gangster of "imperialist sport," said Tuesday he is pleased that "Voice of America" broadcasts are piercing the iron curtain.

"Monday I made a broadcast for the 'Voice of America' denying that the Communists hold all the world's records in sports," said Louis. "Tuesday a Communist paper in the Balkans called me a gangster."

"It looks to me like the 'Voice of America' must be getting through to somebody."

U-High Beaten
DURANT — University High school of Iowa city opened its basketball season here Tuesday night, dropping a 44-26 decision to Durant.

U-High this year has only two returning veterans, Tom Kent and Bob Ewalt.

Denny Myers Quits At Boston College

NEWTON, MASS. (AP) — Denny Myers resigned as Boston college football coach Tuesday under the pressure of criticism over the Eagles' failure to win a single game so far this season.

The resignation of the personable Myers will become effective Dec. 2 after the traditional game with Holy Cross, it was announced by John P. Curley, graduate athletic manager of the Jesuit school.

Myers' quitting presumably meant that B. C. officials decided in favor of buying up the remaining year of his five-year contract. Myers was believed to get $20,000 a year, though he had to pay out about $8,000 to his assistants from that sum.

Denning Named Athlete of Week
Linebacker Chuck Denning Tuesday was named Iowa's "athlete of the week" by the varsity I-club. Denning was chosen for his fine play in the Hawks' 14-14 tie with Notre Dame Saturday.

After being knocked cold on a fine tackle of Irish Halfback Billy Barrett, Denning was revived and he came back to play the second half in his usual bruising fashion.

The Boone junior twice came up from his linebacking position and spilled Notre Dame ball carriers for losses. Listed as a fullback on the Iowa roster, Denning has played only defense this year and has proved to be one of the sharpest tacklers in the Big Ten.

In the leading role of Agatha Reed, a congresswoman coming back to her school for an honorary degree, will be Jacqueline Reese, A4, Grayville, Ill. Miss Reese played mother in "Life with Mother" last summer.

Playing opposite Miss Reese will be Karl Johnson, G. Fert Dodge, as Matt Cole, a life photographer, and Stanley Moody, G, Kirkwood, Mo., as James Merrill, president of the girls' school.

Margaret Hall, G, West Dennis, Mass., and Mary Van Fleet, G, Upland, Calif., will alternate playing two roles in the play.

Students may obtain free tickets for "Goodbye, My Fancy" by presenting their ID cards at the box office, Room 8A, Schaeffer hall.

The office will close at noon today for the Thanksgiving holidays. It will open again Monday at 8:30 a.m.

Both Girls Good

Goff said both girls were so good as Miss Shackelford, the alumni secretary, and Prof. Birdshaw, the timid sex hygiene instructor, that he decided to cast them in both parts.

They will trade roles at the end of the first week of the show, Goff said.

Says Radio Should Not Be Scorned

"To reject radio because it does not give us what we can respect is comparable to rejecting the printing press because it makes comic books possible," SUI Prof. Judah Goldin Tuesday told the Chicago Institute for Religion and Social Studies.

Goldin of the SUI school of religion, told the Chicago group that radio should not be scorned because it has not come up to expectations.

"Radio is, after all, an instrument, and instruments have a way of proving useful if their potentiality is respected," Goldin said.

Goldin warned critics of radio that they were not altogether innocent of the present plight that finds radio as a small aid to education, a lowering of taste, and a paralysis to critical judgment of good taste.

Others in the cast will be Alice Lewis, A2, Kansas City, Mo.; Helen Pittas, A3, Erie, Pa.; Barbara Hammond, A2, Cedar Rapids; Elizabeth Stone, A3, Malone, N.Y.; John Tilton, G, Grant City, Mo.

Anti-Freeze Probe To Begin Dec. 7

DES MOINES (P)—The legislative interim committee Tuesday set Dec. 7 as the date for a hearing on complaints involving the state liquor commission and a salt base anti-freeze.

Secretary of Agriculture Clyde Spry and liquor commission members will be asked to appear at an open hearing in the speakers room at the statehouse, the committee said.

Democratic candidates demanded an investigation last month when Spry approved P-60, a salt-base anti-freeze, for distribution in Iowa in order that field tests on the product could be made.

Opposition to Spry's action centered around state chemists' refusal to approve P-60.

During the campaign, the liquor commission was embroiled in a dispute over purchasing policies and hiring of personnel.

He was informed Tuesday that he is to lead the discussion at the attorneys' meeting in Miami, Fla., starting Dec. 9. Larson said he was surprised at his selection for this assignment in view of the fact that eastern states have more of a defense problem than does Iowa.

In the Johnson county vote, Messer led all candidates with 8,271 votes while his nearest competitor polled 5,409.

Giving Thanks — While Taking Draft Exams

By FRED FELTON

Take an average group of men between 20 and 25, put them in a bus on a long trip and you'll usually have jokes, singing and frivolity all the way.

Such wasn't the case Friday when 45 SUI students and Johnson county left Iowa City in a chartered bus for Des Moines. It was a solemn day in their lives because they were on their way to take selective service pre-induction physicals.

Faced with the possibility of immediate induction into the armed forces, few of the men dared even to laugh as the heatless Greyhound raced toward the induction center.

"Phooey"

"Thanksgiving! Phooey!" was heard throughout the bus when a student from New York thought of the day commemorating the Pilgrims' first harvest.

"What have we to be thankful for?" he asked, challenging anyone to answer.

A man slowly turned in his seat and carefully eyed the disgusted student. He said, "I am an inch over the minimum height acceptable for service. I'm giving thanks for that."

"You see, during the war, four of my brothers died in action. Now I want to protect what they died for."

During the day-long series of tests, most of the men got their first taste of army regimentation. One fellow, however, had been in the army before.

"What's the story, Mac?" he was asked. "How come you have to serve twice?"

Short Four Days

"My last hitch was for 11 months and 26 days. I lacked four days of passing the one year requirement for deferment," he replied.

A sergeant, proctoring the psychological examination, was asked what he was most thankful about this Thanksgiving.

"We aren't in total war and the Korean conflict is ending," he said, "so we won't have to send you guys overseas."

Returning to Iowa City, the men were crammed into a smaller bus, and almost a dozen had to stand in the aisles. The physical over, the men prepared to return to their daily routines, and wait for further orders from local draft boards.

The driver summed up sentiments of his passengers with one Thanksgiving thought: "Be thankful you're riding a bus in Iowa and not a truck or jeep in Korea."

High Court Asked to Review Dakota Decision

WASHINGTON (P)—The supreme court has been asked to review a South Dakota supreme court decision which resulted in increased interstate telephone rates.

The high court review was asked by the farmers' union educational and cooperative association of South Dakota and the junior chamber of commerce of Mitchell, S. D.

The state supreme court last July 10 ordered the South Dakota public utilities commission to grant the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. increased rates. The commission previously had denied the company an increase.

Russian Army Convicts East Germans of Spying

BERLIN (P)—The Soviet army has sentenced five East Germans to death for "spying for the American secret service," it was announced Tuesday.

A Russian military tribunal sentenced a sixth East German to 25 years imprisonment and two German women to 15-year terms.

The Soviet-licensed news agency ADN said the Germans were found guilty of "collecting information on Soviet occupation troops for the Americans," and working destructively against the (East) German Democratic republic.

The Germans "confessed their guilt without qualification," ADN reported.

From Mine-Infested Waters —

Korea Naval Veteran Returns to Iowa City

By TOM COUSINS
Korean veteran Bob Sweet left Wonsan, Korea 20 days ago and after 45 hours flying time he was at the municipal airport in Cedar Rapids.

Sweet, who is a chief yeoman in the navy, has been in the service since Sept. 29, 1941. After receiving training at the Great Lakes Naval training station he saw action in both the Atlantic and Pacific war theater.

He was on duty in Philippine waters when the Korean conflict broke out and two days later his destroyer division was sailing off Korea.

Naval Duty 'Not Bad'
"Naval duty around Korea isn't too bad," Sweet said, "but the army and marines are having it pretty rough."

The destroyer to which Sweet is assigned, the U. S. S. Taussig, has been serving as an aircraft carrier support vessel since the beginning of the war.

Sweet, who is believed to be the first Iowa City Korean veteran to return, took part in the invasions of Inchon and Wonsan.

"There wasn't too much resistance at either place, but the waters were mined so heavily that it looked like thousands of beer cans floating in the harbors, he said.

Sweet said the marines on the beaches told him they had never been in anything like this war.

Many of them were veterans of Guadalcanal, which they consider one of the bloodiest battles of World War II. They told Sweet that the "canal" was much easier than Korea.

The marines said that after they had taken Guadalcanal the fighting there ceased, but in Korea when they wrest a town from the enemy fighting still goes on, in front and behind the lines.

Sweet said the soldiers told him that at night the North Koreans dress as civilians and slip behind their lines. They scout the area and the next day they attack.

Plague-Infested Rats
Sweet said the marines at Wonsan told him that just a few miles north of the battered city they found a rat farm with 600 plague-infested rats.

He said the general opinion was that the Korean Reds were inoculating the rats with the plague to release if the UN forces overrun the place, but they were captured before they could carry out their plans.

"American servicemen in Korea feel that this is just the beginning of a long drawn-out war," Sweet said.

"I am over there because it is my job, but many of the American servicemen there are reservists and they don't feel quite the same," Sweet commented.

Sweet attended University high for two years in 1939 and 1940 and spent his junior year in 1941 at the Lone Tree high school.

Completes High School
After the end of World War II, Sweet decided to finish his high school education through the Armed Forces Institute.

"THAT'S WHERE I WAS 19 days ago," said Chief Yeoman Bob Sweet as he pointed to Wonsan, Korea. That is where he will be again by Dec. 12, when his emergency leave is up. Sweet is the son of Mrs. William Green, route 5, Iowa City. When he left there Nov. 2, Sweet had been in Korea since June 27.

He recently completed his studies and took his final examination and expects his diploma from the Lone Tree high school to be waiting for him when he rejoins his ship.

Sweet said his studies were handled by the Armed Forces Institute in Tokyo and the results were sent to the Lone Tree superintendent, who will issue his diploma.

Upon rejoining his ship Sweet said he plans to begin and complete two years of college work with the Armed Forces Institute.

Sweet and his wife will leave Iowa City Thursday for his home base at San Diego, Calif. They are taking their house trailer to San Diego, where Mrs. Sweet will remain while he returns to Wonsan.

Troop Train Crash Kills Six Persons

EDMONTON, ALTA (AP) — A troop train carrying Canadian soldiers bound for ultimate service in Korea collided head on with a transcontinental passenger train here Tuesday, killing six persons.

Turkey Treat Is Trick

Singing Waitresses, Ginger Ale Appear at Party As Tables Are Turned on Handicapped Kids

By MARIAN PETKOVSEK
The choicest Thanksgiving turkey of all gobbled his way to the Westlawn basement Tuesday afternoon, removed his feathers, dressed himself and paved the way toward a pleasant Thanksgiving surprise.

While special meals and parties are often held in the hospital school for severely handicapped children, surprise dinner parties with guests, waitresses and entertainment aren't the usual thing.

Big Surprise
Expecting a small Thanksgiving celebration at the usual party hours from 2 to 4 p.m., the 29 students at the hospital school were more than surprised at lunch time Tuesday when the dining room curtains were opened.

Rectangular tables, usually spaced conveniently apart in the dining room, had been moved together in horseshoe fashion.

Teachers were transformed into singing waitresses wearing white caps and aprons, and Psychologist E. B. Morrison appeared as a jovial head waiter who kept things humming in every sense of the word.

Special Guests
Staff members sat down to eat as special guests of the students. There was turkey with cranberry relish, mashed potatoes, green beans, bread and butter, milk, and individual pumpkin pies and ginger ale to make the day a real treat.

Entertainment included a special Thanksgiving play, songs by the girls' and boys' choruses, two piano solos, and a short reading, all of which had been rehearsed several weeks for "the small afternoon celebration."

Students at the school were to leave for a four-day vacation with their families Wednesday afternoon, with classes scheduled to resume Monday morning.

But another choice turkey stayed on to surprise the patients at General Hospital, Psychopathic hospital and Children's hospital with a similar Thanksgiving dinner Thursday.

"Doors Open 1:15-9:45"
ESTHERVILLE (AP) — Joe Ellens, 45, Ringsted, was sentenced to one year in jail Tuesday and fined $500 on charges of assault in connection with a barroom brawl.

Ellens pleaded guilty to charges of assault with intent to do great bodily injury and was sentenced by District Judge G. W. Stillman.

Handicapped Children Celebrate Thanksgiving

"WE'VE ALL GOT LOTS TO BE THANKFUL FOR," said most of the children from the Iowa hospital school for severely handicapped children who attended a Thanksgiving party in Westlawn basement Wednesday. With the tables full of turkey and all the trimmings, the children in the rehabilitation program here had an exciting time getting into the holiday spirit. Today their parents will come to take them home for their vacation with "no more school 'til Monday."

17 Schools Participate in Forensics Meeting

Seventeen schools are to participate in the Intercollegiate Conference on World Problems sponsored by the SUI department of speech Dec. 1 and 2, Merrill T. Baker, chairman, said Tuesday.

Similar to conferences held in 1948 and 1949, the program is designed to provide training and experience in all major forensic activities including debate, discussion, extemporal speaking, and public speaking or original oratory.

Each school's debate team will be four speakers, making an affirmative and a negative team. The proposition for debate is the national intercollegiate question, "Resolved that the non-Communist nations should form a new international organization."

Discussion participants will be divided into as many groups as necessary to insure no group has more than eight or nine members.

An SUI student chairman will conduct the discussion, based on the intercollegiate question, "What should be the responsibility of the federal government for the welfare of the people of the United States?"

Public speakers will prepare talks on topics of current significance other than the discussion and debate topics. Extemporal
