Fate of UN Army Depends on Clear-Cut United Nations Decision

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO (AP)—The necessity for a quick and clear cut United Nations decision—true peace or total war against Red China—is increasing by the minute.

The fate of the UN army depends on it. So does the fate of the first UN effort to halt aggression by armed force.

In a statement composed of answers to questions he said were submitted by correspondents, General MacArthur said that the total strength of the Chinese and North Koreans now is more than 600,000. He has previously estimated 200,000 Chinese in action. Another 300,000 are "moving up from Yalu river bases," with enough North Koreans to make the greater than 600,000 total.

The Chinese are being thrown against the UN army as rapidly as they can be transported from the river to the battle zone. An air force general said a convoy of 250 Red vehicles were seen at night in one area.

The Chinese normally pack between 40 and 50 men in one truck. That single convoy therefore carried more than 10,000 men to the front.

Superiority Growing

Their superiority in manpower, already very great, is building up hourly. It is most marked in the Changjin reservoir sector where the First marine division has been fending off assaults from all directions by six or seven Chinese divisions.

As the building continues the entire Eighth army will be confronted with the same relative weight of numbers.

In that case the question of establishing a defense line north of the 38th parallel or falling back to the Kaesong-Kumchon mountain area on the 38th parallel probably would be completely academic. The greater danger is that the Eighth army would be surrounded and pinned against the sea on the west coast and that the Tenth corps would suffer the same fate on the east coast.

The tactics of the Chinese commanders show that they are operating with the greatest possible speed. They obviously are seeking a quick and complete tactical decision.

Having the numbers, and with more numbers swelling their strength, constantly they could press southward without great haste. They are well aware the UN has no sizable manpower reserve to throw in.

But instead the Red commanders are spending men lavishly with total disregard for losses.

The divisions now surging southward are among China's best if not the best.

Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, chief intelligence officer for MacArthur, said it is estimated that 60 percent of the front-line force is composed of former members of the Chinese Nationalist armies. These men are professionals.

Many of them fought under the Nationalist banner against the Reds. They are, in fact, mercenaries who make a livelihood of fighting.

For that reason they are highly expendable in the eyes of the true Communist commanders. Additionally, it is obvious that the Chinese high command is driving hard to destroy the UN forces before the issue of peace or war is completely clarified.

The reasons are fully apparent.

Formal war means a full mobilization in the United States and elsewhere. It might mean as well that the 500,000 to 700,000 Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa would be launched against the Chinese mainland. The U.S. Seventh fleet is patrolling the straits of Formosa and the United States has the fleets of landing craft capable of taking that force anywhere in China, Manchuria or Korea.

In short, the tremendous numerical superiority now in the hands of the Reds could be counter-balanced.

Possibly even more important, the Yalu river boundary, which so far has been respected by American airpower, would cease to be an invisible barrier. The bases where Chinese troops are concentrating and through which they are receiving supplies would begin to feel the slow strangulation of repeated heavy bombing.

At this moment the Chinese are using the big Manchurian cities as staging areas and supply concentration points without hindrance. With their cities burned out and their railroads kept under incessant attack from the air, the flow of men to the front would be seriously impaired.

It is believed in Tokyo that this question of true peace or open war will be the main subject of the conference between President Truman and Britain's Prime Minister Attlee. At the same time political observers believe the Soviet bloc and the Chinese Communist delegation at Lake Success will attempt to delay a clear-cut decision.

MacArthur has expressed the hope that a peaceful settlement can be reached. It is clear that some kind of decision must be taken—soon.

Keeping a Sober Mind

Amid bewildered searching for leadership and direction of action in the crisis with Communist China, Americans can profit by the calm and sensible words spoken recently by our secretary of defense.

George C. Marshall, in an interview with reporters, advised American citizens to keep a "sober mind" in the confusion of today.

Whether we like it or not, the fate of the nation lies for the present in our leaders, because the next few days may bring the climax of our present "lukewarm" war.

Secretary of Defense Marshall advised steadiness during this period and implied the necessity of buckling down in present tasks and keeping faith with our chosen leaders.

Many persons have demanded the use of the atomic bomb and all-out effort in China. This demand by some groups is understandable in the light of the fact that many of our soldiers face annihilation at the hands of the Communists.

Atom bombing and all-out effort, though, would certainly lead to a full scale war with the Chinese. This would be extremely serious for two reasons:

1. A war with China would be an exhaustive drain on our defensive strength. China's population of 475 million persons provides a huge pool of manpower for any war machine.

2. A war in Asia would deploy our strength from the tension points in Europe.

Already our attention has been turned by the emphasis on Asia. The stability of Europe, however, is more vital to the world now than stability of Asia.

So, without ceasing in our attempts to defend our troops, we will have to tolerate for awhile the successes of the 200,000-mn. Chinese onslaught.

The real battle lies now in the United Nations. Our representatives there have the responsibility of thousands of American soldiers on their shoulders. If the diplomats can wrest a settlement within a few days, it will go a long way toward halting a third World war.

In the meantime, we Americans could well follow Marshall's suggestion. By shunning discouragement and staying on the job, we can build the backbone that will make America strong.

Russia to Have Sufficient A-Bombs by 1951 Reports Say

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is the United States building up its military strength fast enough to be ready to meet a full-scale Soviet outbreak in 1952? In 1951?

If the Russians were to attack the United States or its Atlantic pact allies in 1952, the air experts expect it would be able to put 1,250,000 to 1,500,000 trained and equipped troops into Europe within a year. Well informed military sources say the present timing of mobilization is designed to enable this country to do that.

At least one-fourth of the troops could be ready and transported within a few months. The remainder would be shipped out during the rest of the year, while many more troops were being trained.

Current timing is based on the belief of high policy makers that Russia will not start a war—if it starts one—until it has an adequate stockpile of atomic bombs.

There is always a danger of course, that an attack such as the one of the Chinese Communist, are making in Korea may be the match that will touch off a world war explosion. But U.S. military planning has been based on the belief that Russia would not have an adequate stockpile of atomic bombs until 1952.

Latest intelligence reports, however, indicate that the Russians have decided they will have enough bombs by 1951.

The reports don't show how many bombs the Russians will have, and they don't say that the Russians have made up their minds to go to war.

They only say that the Soviet believe they will be adequately equipped to make war next year if they choose to.

If they do, the U.S. won't be nearly as ready.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, said recently that at this time America's atomic bombs constitute the only considerable reserve strength in the hands of the free world.

The army's mobilization program is starting practically from scratch.

Nearly all regular army troops are in Korea or Europe. The drafts and volunteer recruits from which a new army is being built are being trained almost entirely by personnel of the organized reserve.

The four national guard divisions and two regimental combat teams that have been called to federal service are being kept intact, built to war strength and trained as combat units.

In case of 1951 emergency the air force is ready for strategic bombing. The navy could swiftly be put in condition to accomplish its initial missions. But the army would have only a small fraction of its potential strength.

The shortage of trained instructors would be army's underlying limitation. The selective service system could quickly reach its peak of October 1942, when it drafted 400,000 men a month. But unless the country had to man the beaches with anyone who could fire a rifle, draftees would not be taken in any faster than they could be thoroughly trained.

The army hopes to get 1.5-million men in uniform by June 30. Its present strength is about 935,000. It stood at 591,000 in July. Up to late in November 130,000 reserves had been called to active duty, 100,800 men had been drafted, 50,000 national guardsmen had been federalized and about 62,800 men had volunteered.

Letters to the Editor

Low-Down Tactics . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

An Open Letter to an Alumna without the strength of her convictions.

I have just received your card criticizing my letter to the Daily Iowan over the recent FRIVOL controversy. Apparently you are not lacking in shame of your own criticism judging by your signature. Let me quote:

"Dear Sir:

Shame on you for your stand and low-down tactics regarding FRIVOL. It piled up before, when it was too filthy to read. Folks lucky enough to go to college have an obligation — they should build up—not try to tear down.

We grads are proud of our school and it is our tax money which supports it. College should stand for things clean. You think this over.

An alumna

I do not believe that you have read my letter which is in the hands of the Daily Iowan. My I suggest that you read it before criticizing. I think that your note speaks for itself. Shame on you alumna for going through college without learning to examine what you criticize before making emotional outbursts. You certainly have judged on the basis of what you think the other person said.

My letter is an objective discussion of the failure of the FRIVOL staff to carry out what it proposed to do. It suggests that the staff examine other magazines of college life and that they attempt to produce a magazine on the adult, sophisticated level appropriate at a university. I use for an example of a mature magazine of college life the SUI alumni Review.

If this be what your letter refers to as low-down tactics then I question the values that you acquired from four years of college, which by the way is an institution which attempts to teach people to read critically.

Robert A. Kramer, President South Quad Association

this catastrophe is your problem. You cannot, like the engineer, who has recourse to the Calculus to solve his problems of stress and strain, resort to such a tool to solve your problems of stress and strain. You have at your command one and only one source.

Of the world. Today, the fanatics are on the howl once more. Cries of "Drop the atom bomb and destroy them all," are heard. If we, the American people commit such an atrocity, then we are to be classified with the German people, if there is a book of life, must be on the page headed, "The Vermin of Mankind!"

It is time that we begin to remove from above our heads the sword of martial murder. We must take many steps to accomplish the removal of this danger. What these steps are to be is indeed a difficult problem. I have suggested only the first step, from which the others must follow. As Prof. George Robeson says, "Think about it!"

NOTICE

Because of the heavy volume of letters being received, The Daily Iowan must request that letters not exceed our established maximum of 300 words.

Space limitations will not permit our printing the longer letters in their entirety, and out of fairness to the writers we would prefer not having to delete parts of the letters.

Although many letters of greater length have been printed recently, hereafter we must withhold those which exceed the maximum.

That is to say, you must think. Thus far, men have shunned this last alternative as they would the plague.

Throughout history, the world has become embroiled in great wars because people have refused to think and have blindly followed men who were able to preach moronic idiocies in a loud and ominous voice. The most recent occurrence of such a great calamity was in Germany, in the thirties and the early forties. An entire people, because they were too stupid to think clearly, became gullible of the worst crimes ever perpetrated in the history of living organisms.

To a lesser extent, and without very great consequences, such things have been happening constantly. Warren Harding was elected president in 1920 because of a "Red scare" quite similar to a phenomenon which we witnessed in the four years previous to the invasion of South Korea. In our recent elections it is likely that such men as Millard Tydings of Maryland were defeated because of this same cold, unreasoning fear. (This comment is not meant to cast aspersions at John M. Butler, who won the senate seat. I use Mr. Tydings as an example because I think that he lost only because Senator Joe McCarthy had linked his name with Communism. Incidentally, the raving, loud-mouthed senator from Wisconsin received more invitations to speak for G.O.P. candidates than all other senators combined.) Similar events are evident throughout our own history and throughout the history of the world.

Army Leaves Pyongyang; Burns Supplies

By KARL KALISCHER

SEOUL, KOREA (TUESDAY)

Pyongyang was riddled with the when it flew out from the desolate air field there early Tuesday.

On the field itself, roaring bonfires in the hangars, gasoline dumps and everything else of value that could not be moved showered the landing strip with sparks.

The runway was marked off by gasoline fires that guided transport planes out on their final evacuation missions.

Across the Taedong river, which flows through the city, a lurid glow rose higher and higher over the main rail yards of the Communist capital city.

And beyond the field, the road to Seoul was ablaze with headlights of a great convoy of the retreating United Nations army which 47 days ago entered Pyongyang on the heels of the shattered and fleeing North Korean army.

In the last hours there was virtually no contact with the enemy in the whole Pyongyang area. The Communists last were officially reported some 15 miles to the northeast.

The exploding shells in burning ammunition dumps.

The Pyongyang air field, until a few days ago the main allied air base in North Korea, operated without a control tower, in its last hours of service.

The C-46 on which I flew out of the city carried some combat personnel, three wounded soldiers, two British correspondents, and a Stars and Stripes reporter.

No Assurance

The people of Pyongyang seemed to pay little attention to the last allied soldiers moving through the city.

The department's Americans, Britons and South Koreans could give no assurance to the people of Pyongyang that they would return.

"If we come back," said one American officer, it probably will be at the end of World War III.

TO THE EDITOR:

In response to the one or two accusations addressed to me as "Secretary of the Quadrangle Association from various 'anonymous' but yet interested persons, I would like to voice my stand on the widely publicized Frivol issue, not as the Secretary of the Quadrangle Association, but as an individual of the Quadrangle.

I resent such accusations that the Quadrangle Association is using "low-down" tactics in criticizing Frivol and that the Association approves of a filthy, hardly printable magazine. There is absolutely no justification for such a charge.

It is my personal opinion that Frivol is the State University's own campus magazine. With this in mind, I believe that the articles published in Frivol should be in reflection of and in response to the interests and desires of the students and only in this reflection can the publication of such a magazine be justified. The almost unanimous dissatisfaction on the part of the students should be a sufficient basis for my opinion.

I object to the articles in Frivol "advertising" SUI as a "Country Club." We at SUI are "students" first and "country-clubbers" second.

New French Communist Leader To Replace Ailing Thorez

By CARL HARTMAN

PARIS (AP)—A new tough leader is expected to close Communist ranks in this key sector of the west's defense.

Many believe 39-year-old Auguste Lecoeur (pronounced luh-coor) is slated to replace party boss Maurice Thorez, partially paralyzed by a stroke several weeks ago. A protégé of Thorez, Lecoeur like him is a coal miner from northern France.

When Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's plane — American C-47—flew here to take the ailing Thorez to a Russian sanatorium, leaders of the French Communist party filed into the plane to say farewell.

When they emerged, few in the crowd noticed that one remained in the plane. It was Lecoeur, off on his first trip to the Kremlin.

"It's like the French kings who had to go to Reims to be crowned," one anti-Communist Frenchman remarked. "The Communist kings have to be consecrated in Moscow."

Fewer Reds

If Lecoeur, who has since returned to Paris, is to be king of the French Communists, he can expect to have fewer, but more fanatical, loyal subjects than Thorez. Many see him as head of a new type of French Communist party, designed only to bolster Soviet foreign policy and dealing as little as possible with domestic issues.

When the present French parliament was elected four years ago the Communists polled 5,489,000 votes — over 28 percent of the total and more than any other group. They were the "number one party of France," where no party ever gets a clear majority. Their leaders won strong positions in the cabinet and could argue convincingly for even stronger ones. They dominated the general confederation of labor (C.G.T.), the country's biggest labor union.

Many people would not have been surprised if they had taken over entirely, without too much violence. That actually did happen in Czechoslovakia after a free election gave the Reds the same position they had in France.

Coalition Holds

But a middle-of-the-road, anti-Communist coalition managed to hold together in France, strengthened by massive American aid, and the Communists found themselves isolated.

Their ministers were driven out of the cabinet. Their deputies found themselves almost always

Labor Party Repudiates Attack on MacArthur

LONDON (UP)—The Labor government repudiated Monday, under a blast of criticism, a statement by Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell that Gen. Douglas MacArthur exceeded his authority by driving for the Manchurian frontier in Korea.

Shinwell, a key cabinet minister, made his statement in a speech at Wingate Sunday a few hours before Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee left for Washington to confer with President Truman.

The statement caused a sensation, especially because it was regarded as likely to get the Washington tabs off to a bad start. Newspapers which had criticized MacArthur — and which had said about the same thing Shinwell did — joined in denouncing Shinwell's crack. The Daily Mail, a consistent MacArthur critic, called it scandalous.

As soon as the house of commons met Monday members began bombarding the government with questions on Shinwell's speech.

"What information has the government about instruction to Gen. MacArthur?" members asked. "Has MacArthur received any instructions about bombing Chinese air fields and bases in Manchuria?"

"The objectives of Gen. MacArthur are no more and no less than the objectives of the United Nations," Ernest Davies, parliamentary foreign under secretary, replied for the government. The conservatives cheered.

"Are you aware of the defense minister's statement?" labor member John Rankin insisted. "In that event can you say what those objectives were, who laid them down and, if those objectives were changed, who changed them? If they were changed were they changed with the approval of the British government?"

"It is not for me to comment on the speeches of colleagues of mine," Davies said in reference to Shinwell. "The directives under which Gen. MacArthur is operating in Korea are those which have been laid down by the UN."

"The action he took in the first instance was under the security council resolutions of July 7. On Oct. 7 a resolution was passed by the general assembly and subsequently he has been acting in accordance with that resolution."

Lampe to Help Plan Wayne Religion School

Prof. Jay J. Sherman of Wayne university, and M. Willard Lampe, director of SUI's school of religion, are leaders in the plans for the establishment of a school of religion at Wayne university, Detroit, modeled after the one here.

Sherman received his doctor's degree in political science from SUI.

Also participating in the plans are the Rev. Tracy Pullman, pastor of Detroit's Church of Our Father, who has twice assisted in Religion-in-Life week at SUI.

Obstetrics Department To Lecture on Childbirth

The second of three lectures on natural childbirth, sponsored by the SUI department of obstetrics and gynecology, will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the third floor medical amphitheatre of University hospitals.

Based on the "Physiology of Labor", the lecture is free of charge to prospective parents and those interested in the natural childbirth program.

3 Active Polio Cases Reported by Hospitals

Three active polio cases were reported at University hospitals over the weekend, when one new patient, Donna Johnson, 3, Mt. Pleasant, was admitted in "serious" condition.

Two transferred to the inactive ward were Raymond Harvey, 5, Waterloo, and William Hoffman, 20, Cedar Rapids.

Thirteen patients remained on the inactive list.

Designers of the modern kitchen have come around the full cycle and have decided that Grandma's big room with the cook stove really had something 50 years ago. A small pot-bellied stove, an oil painting over the sink, "sink skirts" to hide pipes under the sink and a rocking chair are some items now being used in kitchens. Once working units are carefully situated in a kitchen, "extras" may be planned to make the kitchen a living room instead of a laboratory-like room.

A new automobile key ring has money for parking meters and a vending machine that dispenses eight different items should be just the thing to install in SUI building — for quick between-classes snacks. It sells milk, fruit juice, sandwiches, pies and pastry and has an automatic coin changer.

Graduates Get WAC Commissions

College women now can be commissioned directly in the women's army corps.

For college graduates between 21 and 27, the WAC offers commissions as second lieutenants in the WAC reserve, with opportunity for regular commissions after a short period of training.

Single, No Dependents

To be eligible, the applicants must be single, without dependents under 18, "of good moral character," and citizens.

Seniors may apply for commissions upon graduation.

A WAC brochure, circulated to colleges in the recruitment drive, describes the WAC offeer's career as closely resembling that of a male officer in the army.

The traditional "travel, adventure, education" are offered with "permanent financial security" and "cultural advantages paralleled only by the most stimulating professional careers."

Since the WAC was founded in 1942 as the WAAC, the women's army auxiliary corps, women have been serving in the army beside men, filling vital positions.

Replace Men

Furing the war, members of the WAC were sent to overseas areas as clerks, typists, radio operators and in other positions to release male soldiers for fighting jobs.

When a college graduate is commissioned as a second lieutenant in the WAC reserve, she is sent at once to Ft. Lee, Va., for a period of active duty training to prepare her for a commission in the regular army.

During the war, members of receives full pay and allowances as a second lieutenant. This is $315.75 per month, $60 of which goes for quarters rental.

Applications for initial reserve commissions are sent to 5th Army headquarters in Chicago. Required are a personal history statement, transcript of college credits, loyalty oaths, birth certificate, a photo and a statement of application.

Hawks Down DePauw, 74-67

"PINKY" CLIFTON WENT HIGH to score on a drive in shot against DePauw Monday night as the Hawks opened their season with a 74-67 win. Shown with his back to the camera in the foreground is Iowa Forward Eddie Colbert. Center Chuck Darling is at right in the background. Number 4 for DePauw is Mac Parker. The two DePauw players attempting to guard Clifton are unidentified.

Accurate Long Shots Keep Tigers in Game

By HOBERT DUNCAN
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa opened its home season Monday night with a 74-67 win over a surprisingly tough DePauw team which refused to roll over and play dead because of the Hawkeyes' pre-season build up.

The victory was Iowa's 47th consecutive against a non-conference foe on the fieldhouse court and successfully launched Rollie Williams' return as head coach. A crowd of 7,884 came to see an Iowa team, with a ready made reputation, score at will against DePauw. Instead the fans saw DePauw battle the Hawks to a 35-35 halftime deadlock, mostly on a terrific .444 shot percentage from far out.

Even with superior height, Iowa couldn't control the boards enough to keep the ball away from the DePauw sharp shooters.

DePauw cooled off somewhat in the second half but not enough to let the Iowans hold more than a 13 point lead at any time.

Chuck Darling, 6 feet, eight inch center, led scorers with 24 points. Darling looked like a greatly improved player over last season when he suffered from lack of

The big center's coordination has obviously been improved by exercises this year. Kent Guild got 21 points for DePauw.

The Hawks started out with a scoring flurry which moved them to a 16-5 lead with about seven minutes gone in the half. In six minutes, DePauw had scored 14 points while holding the Hawks to three to even matters at 19-19.

Don Patterson's basket gave the Tigers a 21-19 lead. Herb Thompson, a surprise starter at forward for the Hawks, squared the game, 21-21, with a one hander. Kent Guild put DePauw in front again before a basket and free throw by Frank Calsbeek gave the Hawks a lead.

From that time on until the end of the half, the teams battled evenly with no more than a three point separation. Iowa was getting its points or close in shots while DePauw was hitting from well out on the court. The second half followed the same general pattern with Iowa hitting .333 percent of their shots in both periods. The difference was the slump of DePauw from their torrid first half percentage to .325 for the game.

Illinois, Iowa State Triumph; Buckeyes Drop Opener, 68-51

COLUMBUS (AP) — Kansas State used its height advantage Monday night to defeat Ohio State's defending Big Ten basketball champions 68 to 51, in the opening game of the season for Ohio State.

Kansas State held a halftime lead of 35-32. Forward Ed Head accounted for 16 points to take scoring honors.

Forward Bill Wilks of Ohio State led his team with 13 points. Jim Iverson and Dick Knotsman of Kansas each had 10 points.

The Kansas five averaged six feet, two and-a-half inches compared to Ohio's six feet, one inch. This gave the visitors an advantage especially in under-the-basket play, where they controlled most rebounds and managed to drop in 19 of 27 field goals by controlling the play there. AMES (AP) — Iowa State college took the lead with only 40 seconds gone and raced to an easy 77-44 basketball win over Simpson Monday night.

The Cyclones used their height and speed to keep Simpson shooting from far out. The Redmen got very few close-in shots.

CHAMPAIGN (AP) — Sophomore Clive Follmer scored 17 points and Captain Don Sunderlage added 15 to lead Illinois over Marquette 66-47 tonight in the Illinois' first basketball game of the season.

Illinois used 13 players and were in complete control throughout. Marquette jumped into a 2-0 lead but immediately lost it and Illinois remained ahead.

Cedar Rapids School Trips Ramblers, 51-37

CEDAR RAPIDS—St. Mary's High of Iowa City dropped their second game of the season Monday night losing to a strong Immaculate Conception team of Cedar Rapids, 51-37.

The Ramblers started slow and were never in the ball game although making a strong bid in the final quarter. The Cedar Rapids school moved away to a 15-3 quarter lead and never let up.

By halftime they had increased their margin to 27-11 mostly on the scoring work of Bob Michael and Sid Stelmur. Michael finished the evening with 13 points and Stelmur added 10.

St. Mary's fell behind 43-20 at the close of the third period and then fought back with a belated rally outscoring the winners 17-8. Gary Lenz led the way and was high scorer for the Ramblers with 12 points. Bob Suellep tossed in nine from his forward position.

The win marked the second triumph for Immaculate Conception over the Iowa City team. Last week they nosed out St. Patrick's, 51-47.

Charles Heavy Favorite To Keep Championship

CINCINNATI (AP) — The odds fellows had heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles a 5-1 choice Monday to retain his laurels in today's 15-round title scrap with rugged Nick Barone of Syracuse.

Overlooking the fact Barone has never been off his feet in 52 professional fights, the betting boys opine "the only thing Charles figures to lose is his mustache."

The Queen City boxing commission ordered the Champ to shave the adornment from his upper lip.

About 10,000 of Charles' home town fans are expected to put some $50,000 on the line to watch the Cincinnati man's fifth defense of the title in Ohio's first heavyweight championship scrap in almost 20 years. The payoff will be on the number of dollars they draw at the gate with Charles getting 42½ percent, and Barone 17½.

The boys offered a startling context at Monday's hand-shaking exercises. Charles, long and lithe, towered several inches over the chunky Barone who is built along the lines of a fireplug and appears as durable.

Barone's manager, Henry Andrews, told the commission that his boy is a bit of a bleeder and asked that festivities not be stopped should the Syracuse 24-year-old spring a leak from an eye or face cut.

A slashed eye cost Barone the only kayo on his record, a 1946 loss to Jim Rouse in a scrap stopped by the referee in the sixth.

Andrews insists Barone has a good chance to walk out of the ring with the championship, especially "if Charles elects to slug it out."

BIERMAN DENIES PRESSURE
NEW YORK (AP) — Bernie Bierman, the retiring Minnesota football coach, denied Monday that "university pressure" forced him to resign the 20-year gridiron dynasty he built up with the Golden Gophers.

Naval Reserves To Be Recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The navy announced Monday that 15,000 experienced enlisted reservists will be recalled to active duty next spring to "substantially complete" present naval expansion plans.

An additional unspecified number of recruits and apprentice seamen with less than six months' active service will be called up next July to replace trained reserves now serving involuntarily.

The navy said about half the April, May and June call will be for seamen and apprentice seamen with at least six months' prior service. The other 7,500 will be reserve petty officers in 32 specialties ranging from musician to torpedoman.

Wave reserves will be recalled only if they are communications technicians.

Red China Demands Voice in Jap Treaty

LONDON (AP) — Communist China Monday charged the United States with using Japan as "a tool in aggression against the Asian peoples" and demanded a voice in preparing the Japanese peace treaty.

Chou En Lai, Communist China's foreign minister, made the demand in a special statement on Japan authorized by the Red government and broadcast from Peking by the New China news agency.

The new propaganda blast unleashed by Chou also accused the United States of "using Japan as the war base to invade Korea and China" and "openly rearming Japan."

"I solemnly declare that the Central People's Government of the People's Republic of China is the sole legal government of the Chinese people, and that it must take part in preparing, drawing up and concluding the peace treaty with Japan," Chou said, according to the broadcast monitored here.

Chou said his government considered all preparations and drafting of a peace treaty with Japan, no matter what the contents, illegal and invalid unless it had a part.

SUI Libraries Receive Hinkley Manuscript

The manuscript, "The Stevensons: Louis and Fanny," by the late Laura L. Hinkley, has been presented to SUI libraries by Miss Hinkley's sister, Mrs. Blanche Howe, Pacific Palisades, Calif. In "The Stevensons," the author presented a picture of restless life led by the novelist and his wife in France, Scotland, America and the South seas.

Miss Hinkley previously gave SUI libraries the manuscript of an earlier book, "Ladies of Literature."

Near Agreement On German Army

LONDON (AP) — The 12 Atlantic pact nations — including warring France — were reported Monday nearing agreement on a fresh plan for agreeing on German troops in Western Europe's defense.

The plan, proposed by the Dutch, was said by diplomatic informants to contemplate appointment of a civilian high commissioner to supervise recruiting of German troops. The soldiers would be integrated as units into the combined North Atlantic treaty organization (NATO) army in Europe.

The proposed high commissioner's job would in no way interfere with the functions of the NATO supreme commander. But he would be called upon to make certain that the formation of German units would not mean the revival of German militarism.

World Traveler To Narrate Film On Italy at SUI

Clifford J. Kamen, photographer and world traveler, will narrate the Iowa Mountaineers fifth travelogue, "Italy," Sunday in Macbride auditorium at 4 p.m.

The color movie features scenes of historic and artistic landmarks and present living and tourist conditions. "Italy" is a carefully documented film which covers all the important phases of that country necessary to an understanding of it.

Kamen's unique combination of background, travel experience, photographic and art training and speaking ability, have made him outstanding among illustrated lecturers.

His travelogue describes most of Italy's scenic beauty, but the country's controversial political problems are avoided.

Travelogue memberships or an 80 cent ticket purchased at the door will serve as admission. The film will begin promptly at 4 p.m. and Mountaineer members are asked to be in their seats at least five minutes before then.

Margaret Truman Denies Engagement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Margaret Truman said Monday she is not engaged and all the rumors to the contrary are "playing havoc" with her social life.

Margaret firmly squelched as "strictly a newspaper idea" the latest report that her engagement soon would be announced to Marvin Braverman, 41-year-old Washington bachelor who often squires her about the capital.

"Mr. Braverman is a very charming and intelligent gentleman," she told reporters at a white house news conference. "But I am not engaged to him! I never have been and I never expect to be."

The young concert singer, who will present a program at constitution hall tonight with her parents listening from the balcony, said the news stories "certainly play havoc with my other dates."

She said when she got back to New York after the latest batch of Braverman rumors, the phone rang incessantly with calls from her other beaux wanting to know if their dates were "still on."

Talks with Husband — Iowa City to Okinawa

Mrs. Helen Montgomery, SUI Elementary school nurse, talked by telephone to her husband, Lt. Col. Albert E. Montgomery, chief of medicine at Ryukyus army hospital at Okinawa, Sunday.

Montgomery told his wife that spirit was still fairly high on Okinawa and the men feel there is hope for a peaceful settlement in the Orient.

Mrs. Montgomery and the two children, Jim, 17, and Jean, 15, had planned to accompany the Colonel overseas five months ago, but were ordered to stay here by the army.

Robert Crocker of the First Methodist church, Dr. Jacob Swisher, treasurer of Wesley foundation board, and the Rev. Robert Sanks of the First Methodist church.

Auto Crashes Result In 2 Minor Injuries, $885 in Damages

Two persons suffered minor injuries in auto accidents reported to Iowa City police Monday.

Norma Johnson, 17, West Liberty bruised her elbow when the car in which she was riding went out of control and struck a parked car at 2:45 p.m. Sunday.

Thomas Budreau, 211 E. Church street, driver of the car, said the car skidded on the ice after he had failed to stop at a stop sign on E. Court street at the Seventh avenue intersection.

Damages to the car driven by Budreau and the other car owned by Rolf Scheurer, G, Minneapolis, were estimated at $485. Budreau has been charged with reckless driving in Iowa City police court.

Kenneth Mahoney, 30, 930 N. Dodge street, cut his chin in a two-car collision Sunday at the intersection of Johnson and Bloomington streets.

Damages to cars driven by Peter N. Roskup, 901 Marcy street, and Margaret Meade, Parnell, were estimated at $400. Mahoney was a passenger in the Meade car.

School Suit Taken Under Advisement

District Judges James P. Gaffney took the Woodlawn play-school suit under advisement Monday and termed it one of the most difficult cases he has had to decide.

"Since it is the first case of its kind in Iowa, whatever decision I make will no doubt be appealed to the Iowa Supreme Court," the judge said. "The decision I shall have to make is bound to hurt one side very deeply."

The injunction suit would close the play-school operated by Mr. and Mrs. David C. Davis in their home at 1041 Woodlawn. It was brought by SUI history Prof. W. Ross Livingston and two other neighbors, Mabel Evans and Klara Robbins.

The plaintiffs charged that the school is a public nuisance and violates city zoning ordinances.

Briggs to Serve on Fulbright Committee

Prof. John E. Briggs of the SUI political science department has been appointed to the advisory committee that will help select Fulbright scholars in political science for 1951.

Briggs was appointed to the committee by the Conference Board of Research Councils committee. He will attend an advisory committee meeting in Washington, D.C., Friday and Saturday.

The committee will review the applications for Fulbright scholarships and recommend appointments at their meeting.

The advisory committee in political science as in the other categories of the scholarship operates under the direction of a committee of the conference Board of Associated Research Councils. The latter group presents a panel of applicants to the Board of Foreign Scholarships for final approval.

Applicants for visiting lecturer or for advanced study in political science in foreign countries are the only ones to be considered by the committee on which Briggs will serve.

Fulbright scholarships are given to American students to study in foreign lands. The money for this scholarship was derived from

Urge $3.1-Billion For Civil Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration Monday presented congress a $3.1-billion program for building bomb shelters and otherwise mobilizing the nation's civil defenses.

Nearly two-thirds of the money would go for "communal type" shelters, designed for protection against atomic warfare.

James J. Wadsworth, a top official of President Truman's newly created civil defense administration, said the federal government proposed to match the expenditures of cities and states on a dollar-for-dollar basis in the construction of the bomb shelters.

Whoops! My Mistake

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Howard Buchta, 44, ended a night of revelry and decided to head for home.

He was fined $25 in Milwaukee district court as a result.

He had mistaken a police car for his own and tried to drive away with it.

11 to Participate In Student Recital

Eleven SUI students will participate in a student recital at 1:40 p.m. today in North music hall.

Navy Lowers Standards For Easier Enlistment

It's easier to get into the navy now.

Minimum requirements in the mental test required for admission have been "lowered considerably," the navy recruiting office in Des Moines announced Monday.

Also, applicants for first enlistment may now have one dependent.

A navy spokesman said that this change in regulations would make eligible over 400 prospective enlistees who have been rejected in the last three months.

Dutcher Appointed To State Committee

Dan C. Dutcher, Iowa City attorney, was appointed last week by the state supreme court to serve on a 10-man advisory committee considering changes in the present rules of civil procedure.

The advisory committee will recommend to the supreme court changes or additions to civil procedure rules. The court may in turn send recommendations to the legislature after it convenes in January.

Dean Ladd to Speak To Law Associations

Dean Mason Ladd of the SUI college of law is scheduled to talk to the county attorneys' and sheriff's associations this morning in Des Moines on "Law Enforcement in Hours of National Crisis."

Wednesday, Ladd will meet with the Iowa bar association committee on uniform state laws, also in Des Moines. Thursday he will attend a meeting of the board of governors of the association.
