Truman May Order State Of Emergency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall said Saturday "the President is seriously considering a declaration of national emergency."

He made the statement to reporters after reviewing with the senate appropriations committee, President Truman's request for a $1.8-billion emergency arms program.

Some senators who heard Marshall and the joint chiefs of staff behind closed doors, said the defense secretary had urged such a move as an approach to all out mobilization and war production. But Marshall would not confirm that.

Several senators said the former army chief of staff believed the public could not be brought to realize the "deadly seriousness" of the world situation and the sacrifices required until a presidential declaration of national emergency is made.

Acting White House Press Secretary said Thursday there has been much discussion within the administration about the advisability of declaring an emergency but that no such action is expected in the immediate future.

Marshall said that, with the joint chiefs, he underwent "a long and detailed examination of general factors" dealing with the defense situation.

Sen. Elmer Thomas, (D-Okla.) and several others predicted such a presidential declaration would be made soon. Sen. Burnett R. Maybank (D-S.C.) said "it's a sin" not to declare a full state of emergency and put selective price and wage controls on the materials and goods the armed services need.

Maybank said a full state of emergency should be declared at once and wage and price controls clamped on because "no sooner does congress appropriate more money for the military than prices advance and the real value of the appropriation declines."

SUI Professor Wins Chemistry Award For Vitamin Studies

Prof. Henry A. Mattill, biochemistry department head, received a gold medal Saturday for winning the 1950 Iowa award of the American Chemical society for outstanding work in teaching, research or industry.

The award was presented to Mattill by Prof. Harold Boaz, of the SUI chemistry department and chairman of the award committee of the Iowa section of the society, at a dinner in the Iowa Union.

Mattill has made significant contributions to his field in both teaching and research, the society said. Much of his research has been concerned with tocopherol, or vitamin E.

He said vitamin E is essential to certain vital processes in animals, but its importance to the human being has not been established.

Vitamin E is the primary reason why vegetable fats, such as household oils, can be kept on the shelf without becoming rancid, while animal fats must be kept refrigerated, he said.

Prior to his 23-year career at SUI, which began in 1927 when he came to the campus as head of the biochemistry department, Mattill taught at the Universities of Illinois, Utah, California and Rochester.

Gold Receives 30-Year Sentence For Espionage

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harry Gold, Philadelphia research chemist, Saturday was sentenced to 30 years in prison for admitted espionage as courier for a Russian atomic spy ring during world war two.

Gold previously had pleaded guilty to charges of espionage in wartime and conspiracy to commit espionage in wartime. He was sentenced to a 30-year term on each count with the terms to run concurrently.

Specifically, he admitted serving as courier between Dr. Klaus Fuchs and a Soviet espionage ring. Fuchs now is serving a 14-year term in a British prison.

Gold's sentence—the maximum allowed by law—short of the death sentence—exceeded the recommendation of the federal government for a 25-year term.

Arms Spending Mounts Fast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The flow of military contracts to industry is proceeding steadily; "gigantic" will soon be the word for it.

Though months will pass before the arms program makes its major impact on the economy, the things that already have happened would be considered tremendous by peacetime standards.

Before the Korean war, the armed forces were planning to spend slightly over $3-billion for "major procurement and production" during the 12 months starting last July 1.

Instead, they obligated $8-billion for that purpose in only four months — from July 1 to Nov. 1. The November figures are not yet available at the defense department.

More than half of the $8-billion was obligated for aircraft production. However, it will be a long time before those dollars are converted into actual planes.

Airplane contracts are kept secret for security reasons, but here are a few examples of large army contracts since the Korean war began:

Last Wednesday the army announced the award of a contract to the American Locomotive company of Schenectady, N.Y., for 500 medium tanks costing about $100-million.

The Cadillac division of General Motors is working on a $110-million order for light tanks.

Truman to Ask $73 Billion Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman will ask congress next month to pass a fiscal 1952 budget of about $73-billion of which more than two-thirds will go into the fight against communism.

Coupled with current spending, it will fashion the economic strait jacket Americans will wear in the months or years ahead — higher taxes for certain, and perhaps price - wage controls, shortages, some rationing, and black markets.

Future war developments hold the answer but, even so, Mr. Truman has fixed his sights on a rearmament drive that makes the sky the spending limit. When these new billions hit an already-price-inflated market, economic experts believe sweeping home front controls no longer can be avoided.

Coder Recommended To Fill Vacancy On Draft Board

Two new members were recommended Saturday to fill vacancies created when two members of Johnson county's three-man draft board resigned effective Jan. 1, 1951.

The board classifies all men in the county registered under the selective service act of 1948.

Resigning were Ancher Christensen, chairman of the board since its formation in 1948, and Dr. Jacob A. Swisher of the state historical society. Swisher was appointed last year when Atty. William R. Hart resigned.

New members, who must be approved by Gov. William S. Beardsley and President Truman, are William Coder, director of SUI veterans service, and John Ward, a poultry farmer near Iowa City.

The men were nominated by chairmen of the county Democratic and Republican central committees.

Glenn F. Houston, a county abstractor, is the board's third member. Houston has been with the board since it was organized in 1948 and is its present secretary.

Christensen and Swisher said they resigned because they would not be in Iowa City during the winter months.

County Grand Jury Reconvenes Monday

It's back to work again Monday for Johnson county's grand jury for the November term of court after an 18-day layoff.

The most important thing on the agenda is a decision on whether or not to bring James Lons, Princess Cafe owner, to trial for murder.

Lons is accused of the fatal stabbing of Princess employe Andrew Davelis Oct. 12 and was bound over to the grand jury on an open murder charge by County Atty. Jack C. White.

Also to be decided is a charge of assault lodged against George Baculis, Lons' brother, as a result of fighting before the stabbing. Both men are free on bond.

Since grand jury sessions are secret, nothing will be known of their deliberations until they report to Judge Harold D. Evans, possibly at the end of the week.

3 Iowa Marines Wounded in Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Names of three Iowa marines wounded in action in Korea were announced Saturday by the department of Defense.

They were: Pfc. Arnold D. Brunk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Brunk, Burlington; Pfc. James A. Hall, husband of Mrs. James A. Hall, Des Moines, and Sgt. John R. Wheelan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Wheelan, Cedar Rapids.

Heigh Ho! Hobby Horse!, the Rustlers 're Comin'

By BILL MILLER
"I've never ridden a horse in my life," said Roy Rogers, "and from what I've seen of it, I wouldn't want to risk my physical attributes in the attempt."

But the Roy Rogers speaking doesn't even have a nodding acquaintance with Dale Evans. He is Roy E. Rogers, 20, Rock Rapids, a liberal arts sophomore at SUI. Rogers, christened Roy Eugene, has been using the name only since he left high school three years ago.

Call Me Pete
"When I was born, my father was listening to the song 'Piccolo Pete' on the radio and I was immediately nicknamed 'Pete.' I was called Pete until the day I was graduated from high school."

"At commencement when the name Roy Rogers was called, people, realizing for the first time who it was, reacted as if I was an all-American vaudeictorian."

He said it was then he realized how much fun he could have by using his real name, (joining the navy gave him no alternative) but he says it hasn't all been fun.

Reds Seek Korean Peace: India's Rau

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist China indicated Saturday that it wants to end the fighting in Korea "as early as possible."

The indications came from Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan, Peking delegate to the United Nations who conferred Saturday morning at his Waldorf - Astoria suite in New York with India's Sir Benegal Rau.

UN Secretary - General Trygve Lie had an appointment with Wu at the Communist's hotel headquarters after Rau had left. No details were available immediately.

After calling a brief meeting of the 13 Asian and Arab nations Andrei Is Short sighted LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky admitted publicly Saturday that he is near sighted.

After peering through his thick glasses for Philippines Foreign Minister Carlos P. Romulo, Vishinsky told the United Nations main political committee:

"Because of my myopia, I don't know if Mr. Romulo is here or not."

which sponsored the appeal, Rau told reporters:

"The Peking representatives have indicated to us that their government is giving careful consideration to the 13 - power appeal and is desirous to bring the fighting to an end as early as possible."

Rau's statement came shortly after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky made a formal demand that "all foreign troops" get out of Korea and the Korean people be left to settle their own problems.

Meanwhile in New York Ambassador Warren Austin, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, said Saturday "we are absolutely committed to a foreign policy which is world wide in scope. We can not turn back."

FIRE KILLS 8 PERSONS
CHICAGO (AP) — A flash fire killed eight persons in a crowded roominghouse in the Negro district Saturday. Firemen investigated the possibility of arson. Chief Lawrence Kroupa of the 10th battalion said he believed the fire was set deliberately.

Associated Press Managing Editors To Meet at SUI

The fall meeting of the Iowa Associated Press Managing Editors association will be held in Iowa City, Tuesday and Wednesday, at the invitation of the SUI school of journalism.

Marion Sheen, a general executive of The Associated Press, will be the principal speaker at the opening dinner meeting, Tuesday at 7 p.m., in the Iowa Union.

Approximately 25 managing editors and guests from practically every newspaper in Iowa subscribing to the AP will attend the banquet at which Prof. Walter A. Steigleman, school of journalism, will be toastmaster.

SUI President Virgil M. Hanchevich will address the editors at their business meeting Wednesday morning in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Harry Slichter, state chairman of the association and managing editor of the Dubuque Telegraph Herald will preside at the meeting.

The editors will discuss the continued study of the A.P. wire stories and will elect new officers at the sessions.

The Iowa A.P. photo contest, now on display at the Iowa Union, is being held in connection with the association meeting. Winners will be announced and prizes will be presented Wednesday morning at the business meeting.

A cocktail hour has been arranged for the visiting editors and guests by Edwin B. Green, managing editor of the Iowa City Press-Citizen, at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Hotel Jefferson.

Iowa Union to Show 'A Christmas Carol'

The movie version of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" will be shown in the main lounge of the Iowa Union today at 7:30 p.m.

It will be part of the Christmas activities at the Union this week sponsored by the Union board and is free to the public.

Christmas music will be broadcast over the amplifying system in the lounge Sunday from 1 to 2 p.m. and from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Monday, a string instrumental group from the SUI music department will perform in the main lounge of the Union from 4:30 to 5 p.m. Prof. Imre Waldbauer will direct the group.

BLACK ARROWS INDICATE lines U.S. marines and infantrymen took to drive together, enabling a stranded U.S. force to break out of Chinese encirclement. Chinese Reds (open arrows) increased pressure on the now joined American forces who still must fight about 40 miles to the coast where the U.S. navy waits to take them off Korea.

Navy Stands By At Hungnam For Evacuation

From the Wire Services
TOKYO (SUNDAY) — Twenty thousand U.S. marines and soldiers fighting a bloody retreat from Changjin reservoir today joined forces with a relieving army task force striking inland from Korea's east coast.

The combined force still faced a hazardous 39-mile escape drive along a road lined most of the way with Chinese Communist troops to the port of Hungnam.

Possible Dunkerque
The linkup took place six miles south of Koto-Ri as a vast naval armada stood by in the harbor of Hungnam ready for a possible Dunkerque evacuation of the troops.

The marines and soldiers thrust slowly through an ice-glazed winding canyon to the river. They fought Chinese Reds by the thousands all the way. The river crossing was under Red fire.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the U.S. Tenth corps, announced in a purposely delayed communique that the retreating First division marines and Seventh division soldiers linked up yesterday with the task force of the U.S. Third division.

Russian Jets
Fifth airforce headquarters said Russian-made jet planes took the initiative today in four separate attacks on outnumbered American fighters but in each case they turned and fled to their Manchurian sanctuary when fired on.

A total of 21 MIG-15s with sweptback wings streaked out from behind the Yalu river border to engage 12 F-80 Shooting Stars and four F-51 Mustangs in four separate battles near Sinuiju at the mouth of the Yalu. All American planes returned safely.

F-80 pilots reported that Chinese Communists above Pyongyang are now using camels to transport supplies and equipment.

In Tokyo the British commonwealth ranking military officer in Japan and Korea renewed his call for censorship on war reports from Korea, and American commanders tightened restrictions on news from the front.

Evacuate Troops
In London, the British admiralty announced that 7,000 soldiers and civilians had been evacuated from the Pyongyang area by sea in one of the most hazardous operations of the Korean war.

Under protection of planes and Allied destroyers, the force of wounded, non-military personnel, 2,000 port workers and refugees was removed from Chinnampo, principal west coast port of North Korea.

The exact date of the operation was not revealed, but the admiralty said there was no enemy opposition.

Pittsburgh 'In Dark' Without Newspapers

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Newspaper Publishers association said Saturday that Pittsburgh became a virtual "city in the dark" when its daily newspapers were shut down for six and one-half weeks by a strike of mailroom employees.

The ANPA's bureau of advertising prepared a full-page advertisement showing "what happens when newspapers don't hit town," based on the Pittsburgh shutdown from Oct. 12 through Nov. 17.

The ad contains a chart showing that Pittsburgh's department store sales in October were down 8.6 percent from October, 1948, although sales in the three preceding months of 1950 were running well ahead of 1948.

(The ad explained that 1948 statistics were used because major coal and steel strikes in late 1949 made 1949-1950 comparisons uninformative.)

"People tried other ways of getting the news," the ad said. "Business tried other kinds of advertising. But all the substitutes were found wanting. Nothing could take the place of newspapers."

White House Mum on Letter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House fought shy of any comment Saturday on the furors kicked up by President Truman's letter threatening to beat up a music critic who said daughter Margaret's voice was flat.

The President's secretary kept mum. There was every indication it hoped the incident was a closed one.

On Capitol Hill, the reaction was mixed. Some Democrats took the tolerant view that it was, perhaps, an understandable reaction from a proud papa who felt his daughter's talents were not being appreciated as much as they should be.

On the other hand, Senator Watkins (R-Utah) told a reporter: "This is in line with some of the comments the President has made before when his guardians were not there to take care of him."

There was no comment from the Washington Post or its music critic, Paul Hume, whose review of Miss Truman's recent concert in Constitution hall drew from Mr. Truman a threat of fist cuffs. The Post management indicated that Hume had made his attitude clear Friday and has nothing further to say.

Ralph Lewando, critic for the Pittsburgh Press, said after Miss Truman's concert debut there two years ago:

"... If her voice is properly developed within compass of limitations, she could become a very good singer. Her voice is small, not yet properly developed or well trained but has possibilities."

Lewando received a personal letter from Mr. Truman in which the review was described as "the most constructive I have ever read."

Agriculture Chief Fires Chemist

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Clyde Spry has discharged a state chemist who disapproved a salt base antifreeze solution which Spry has licensed for sale in Iowa.

The chemist, Clarence E. Miller, 33, of Des Moines, was discharged effective Dec. 31. He said his dismissal was "an outgrowth of the P-60 case." P-60 is the name of the salt base anti-freeze.

SUI Student, Candidate For Rhodes Scholarship

SUI graduate student Robert Shepherd, LaGrande, Oregon, was one of four students from the Middle West nominated as candidates for Rhodes scholarships.

Names of the four will be forwarded to the American secretary for Rhodes scholarships.

Names of the four will be forwarded to the American secretary for the Rhodes trust fund, Princeton, N.J., who will announce scholarship winners. The scholarship covers two years of study at Oxford, England.

The four were selected from 12 candidates. Shepherd said if he wins the scholarship he will study for the equivalent of an M.A. degree in Russian history.

He is now studying modern European history. He received a B.A. degree from SUI in June.

Also nominated: George C. Mohr, Luther college, Decorah, Iowa; Eugene Luschi, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, and Robert E. Shay, Yale university graduate student from Missouri now studying at Heidelberg, Germany.

On the other hand, Senator Watkins (R-Utah) told a reporter: "This is in line with some of the comments the President has made before when his guardians were not there to take care of him."

There was no comment from the Washington Post or its music critic, Paul Hume, whose review of Miss Truman's recent concert in Constitution hall drew from Mr. Truman a threat of fist cuffs. The Post management indicated that Hume had made his attitude clear Friday and has nothing further to say.

STRUMMIN' A TUNE TO "TRIGGER," the smartest horse at the Iowa City Firestone store, was Roy Rogers, who took time out from chasing down "rustlers" to do a little "horseplay" for his favorite mount. "Trigger" remained unconcerned, however, and wouldn't even smile for the camera. This Roy Rogers is an SUI student from Rock Rapids, not the guitar playing hero of the horse operas, Rogers, his father's name is Roy, and he has a cousin named Will.

From Human Heart to Human Heart: A Plea for Peace

Reprinted from
The St. Louis Star-Times

(This is the kind of speech we would like to hear somebody make before the United Nations.)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Please do not think of me as a person, a man or a woman, old or young, tall or short, a citizen of one country. I am trying to vividly myself of individuality and to be simply a representative of the human race. I ask you to hear me in the same role.

I am trying to avert another world war. Let us not ask who is to blame for bringing the world to the precipice. If we do, we will but revive old and sterile arguments, we will become the prisoners of past errors and quarrels, we will go together into the abyss. The judgment of history, will be brief and just: "The leaders were too small."

Let us, instead, ask how we may escape the doom that is almost upon us.

I speak first, not of solutions, but of attitude. With the right attitude, many solutions are conceivable. Without the right attitude, no solution is conceivable.

Each of us should guard against the conviction that he has all truth and all righteousness on his side. It is not given to man to grasp absolute truth or to be a disinterested judge in his own cause.

This does not mean that there is no truth. It does mean that there are many truths, each of which applies within its own framework, none of which applies beyond its own framework, all of which can be reconciled within larger frameworks. Small ideas may be adequate for small purposes. For most of our human ends it still suffices to assume that the sun moves about the earth. We still say, "The sun rises and sets." But for larger purposes larger perspectives must be used. Today for the first time in history, the full variety that the human race has evolved over eons in every nook and cranny of the planet has been brought together in intimate contact.

If we must wait until all peoples are the same before there is peace, there will never be peace. All nations cannot be forced into a single mold even if they all wanted to, and, rightly, none wants to.

We can destroy each other. This we will surely do if each of us continues to confuse his way with THE WAY, his truth with THE TRUTH and his sense of rightness with RIGHTNESS.

I do not think that we would eradicate the human race, for the human race is tough and persistent. Over the millennia mankind would crawl back up the road to civilization. It would be harder next time, for much of the planet's resources have been consumed, to a great extent in wasteful war. But mankind would come back. And when it came back it would one day face the same problem it faces today—that of having different ways of life exist peacefully together.

Our ancestors at various times have solved this problem in smaller ways. All of us expect that our posterity will someday solve this problem in larger ways. Can we not in our time keep faith with our fathers and build for our children?

If we do, we will discover that we will enrich each other. Every nation, every civilization in the world today is the product of a fruitful meeting of difference. We in this room hold it in our power to change the global meeting of East and West, of North and South from a time of great terror into a time of great creation.

Despite our differences, consider what we share.

Everywhere husbands and wives love each other, parents treasure their children, young people want to develop the powers they feel within themselves and yearn to found homes of their own. Wherever a human being does not have enough to eat he is hungry. Wherever he is inadequately clothed he is cold. Wherever he is in danger he is afraid.

The only natural enemies of man are death and hunger, sickness and the elemental forces. These enemies cannot be conquered by man's fighting man. War always means more death, hunger, misery, pestilence and pain.

Let us grant that the people of every nation will fight bravely and well if they feel it necessary. Let us make it unnecessary. Let us not exploit the faith and courage of humble people. If they were less trusting and less brave, their leaders would be forced to be more reasonable. Let their faith and courage inspire us to greater reasonableness.

Let each of us grant that the others feel they are acting in the right. Let us ask whether each of us may not be right only from his own limited point of view and wrong from a larger point of view. Let us seek that larger perspective to that we may hold it and be right together.

May God, whom we call by different names and who we worship and deny in different ways, give us humility and charity so that we may be equal to the greatness of the hour. And the first call should be for a truce, an end to the shooting and the dying, a transfer of the issue from the battlefield to the council tables where we sit. Then let us pledge ourselves to make from that truce a peace with honor for all the combatants, whether American or Chinese, Australians, British, Turkish, North Koreans and South. And from that peace let us go on to a settlement of all the many quarrels that threaten to engulf the entire world and the flames that consume Pyongyang.

Chinese Reds Break Century Old International Friendship

By SIGRID ARNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Chinese Reds flooded down into Korea to shoot American GIs they halted — perhaps only temporarily — a century-old international friendship almost unique in world history.

Long before the now defunct league of nations was established the U.S. was trying to get world agreements on behalf of China. Billions of dollars of U.S. aid was poured into China through World War II and after. Tens of thousands of Chinese have been educated through American help. Thousands of American missionary families have given their lives' work to China.

Many other powers through all this time were interested in China mostly for whatever special trading privileges they could wring from the huge and potentially wealthy land.

By the 1920s China had begun to waken. Unification of its loose governmental structure was started. Then, in 1937, the Japanese government opened fire at the Marco Polo bridge near Peiping in 1937.

War Years
For the next 12 years the Chinese lived with war — civil war and war with Japan — until they ended in the control of the Communists.

American policy on China has been simple. There are only two points.

1. The U.S. has pleaded time and again with other nations to help China keep its political independence and all its territory.

2. It has asked both China and all other major powers to permit all nations equal trading opportunities in China.

The first U.S. — China agreement was the treaty of Wanghia in 1844. It pointed the direction of U.S. policy has taken ever since. China granted the U.S. the same advantages in China granted to other nations. The U.S. asked for no special privilege.

But the international struggle to exploit China's wealth was strong. So in 1899 Secretary of State John Hay sent a round-robin to the other major powers asking an "open door" policy with equal opportunities for all foreigners in China.

China at that time was riddled with special concessions to various nations. Even whole provinces were "leased" to foreign nations.

Hay got answers to his round-robin, some less than whole-hearted — Russia's was the most evasive — but they gave Hay the chance to announce that the major powers had agreed to the open door.

Chinese Protest
A group of Chinese finally protested at all the foreign influence in their land and staged the Boxer rebellion in 1900. Foreign soldiers had to be sent in to rescue the diplomatic staffs at Peiping. China was asked to pay $333-million in indemnities to the world powers whose property and citizens had been harmed.

In 1931 Japan attacked Manchuria. Both the U.S. and the League of Nations tried to stop the war, and failed.

That led to the creation of another U.S. principle of foreign policy. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson announced the U.S. would refuse to recognize territorial changes through force. Today the U.S. refuses to recognize the Soviet grip of Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia.

U.S. Refuses
When the Japanese set up a puppet government in Manchuria Stimson sent another U.S. round-robin calling on other nations to refuse to recognize it. The League of Nations accepted the policy.

Japan opened its undeclared war on China in 1937. The U.S. continued to hound Japan and remind the world that the Japanese government had broken its pledges.

Even so, the U.S. continued to sell war materials to Japan for two and a half years after the war started. But in July 1939 the U.S. tore up its trade treaty with Japan and began to restrict shipments.

Even during World War II there were battles between Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist armies and the Chinese Communists. In 1944 President Roosevelt started efforts to help the two Chinese factions settle their differences, but reports from American military men and diplomats began to flood in saying the Communists were growing in strength.

Debate Grows
Here in the U.S., debate on China grew and this year broke into full fury over two possible courses the U.S. might take: (1) back China against the Communists, (2) make friends with the rising Communists in the hope they would declare their independence of Moscow.

By the end of 1949 the Communist armies had occupied all of China. Chiang was driven to Formosa with remnants of his old armies.

Now Communist China is on the war path, fighting men from many nations in the UN forces.

The U.S. has led the battle in the United Nations to name China an aggressor, even as President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee met in a grim search for some way to stop the undeclared war.

Truman, Attlee Do Not Reveal Korean Plans

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee have told the world as much as they felt they could discuss publicly about their historical conferences in Washington this week without really saying what they are going to do about Korea, beyond leaving it to the United Nations.

American and British delegates at Lake Success have been making speeches without being too positive, either, about anything except Russian — Chinese blame and their appeals for an end to war.

Even as the chiefs of staff wound up their conferences a British delegate at the UN was calling upon China to stop killing UN troops and place herself within the charter pale, whereupon there could be cooperation.

The British speaker, Kenneth Younger, and Prime Minister Attlee in a speech in Washington, did suggest, however, that unless the Chinese ceased fire, the war would continue as long as the allies were able to fight. Younger, referring to the "grim prospect which faces them (the Chinese) and all of us if they choose wrongly," seemed to hint that ways would be found to carry on the war indefinitely.

This followed an even stronger unit from Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky that allied persistence in Korea would result in a third world war.

The final communique from the Washington conferences suggests that insofar as coordinating American and British policy is concerned, and in adopting any sort of real program for the far east, little was accomplished.

Attlee did succeed in getting agreement to an international control program for vital raw materials. British industry is in a bad way, some important plants even facing closedowns, because the United States has been outbidding everyone for vast quantities of raw materials.

Attlee was also told he would be informed of any development which the U.S. might think called for the use of the atom bomb. But there was no suggestion that he got what he and France wanted, a real say in control of the bomb.

The other announced points of agreement actually cover only things in which there was little or no dispute anyway, such as the need for allied military strength.

We cannot know yet whether Britain is any more enthusiastic about continuing the fight in Korea than she was reported to be before the Attlee trip. But Attlee did say the British flag would fly at the front as long as the American, which is something.

Petition Conservative . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

The charge that the Young Progressives' three-fold peace petition is "Communist" is unfounded, illogical and ridiculous. As it stands, the petition is actually more conservative than those plans of action recently proposed by a group of Boston civil leaders and by former (Republican) Iowa attorney-general George Cosson of Des Moines.

To be more precise, the so-called "Dover group" of Boston, which consists of eminent educators, corporation heads, bankers and lawyers, went so far as to call for a "withdrawal of the Seventh Fleet from Formosan waters" as well as withdrawal of UN troops from Korea and recognition of Red China. Mr. Cosson demanded that we return Formosa to China; recognize "the (Communist) government of 470-million people" and China's right to a friendly buffer state on her border, and suggested that blustering Warren Austin be replaced by the famous mediator and educator, Dr. Ralph Bunche.

I am not, nor have I ever been, a member of the Young Progressives. Furthermore, I cannot countenance the extreme position as regards the Soviet Union into which this group, by a complex of factors, has been forced. Their peace petition is, however, a different matter . . .

Whether we justify our "get-tough" policy on moral grounds or admit that it logically follows from the gigantic East — West power struggle which has gripped the entire world, we, as a people, must wake up to the facts that we are ill-prepared for a major war with anyone, that our "civilian defense" is still, by and large, on paper only, that no American city is prepared for A-bomb raids, that our little second and third-rate "allies" could give us only token military support at best and that we are hopelessly outnumbered by the combined military might of the Communist world.

Dunnington to Speak at State Methodist Meeting

Dr. L. L. Dunnington, pastor of Iowa City's First Methodist church, will address a statewide meeting of Methodist church members at Des Moines, tonight.

The meeting, at which 35,000 persons are expected, will be the largest assemblage of Methodist church members in Iowa's history.

Just What I Wanted . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York investment firm of Allen and Company has started to distribute to its employees a Christmas bonus that makes their heads swim: It's a full year's pay.

Employees of six years or longer, representing more than 80 percent of those on the payroll, will receive a year's pay as a bonus, those with the firm one to six years will get an extra six month's salary and all other employees will receive a three months' salary bonus.

For The Record

By JOHN VOORHEES

If you're tired of greeting friends with some inane comment on the snow, why not ask if they've heard "The Thing"—(Boom! Boom! Boom!) "Molasses, Molasses" was bad enough but this one plumbs even greater depths of absurdity but perhaps if we ignore it, like Rudolph, the R.N.R., it will soon go away. However if "The Thing" happens to be one of those things you get a penchant for, it's available by Phil (Ptui) Harris, Teresa Brewer, and Arthur Godfrey.

During the late '30s and '40s, Frank Loesser turned out many a fine movie score. Now he's exchanged chromium-plated Hollywood and Vine for Broadway and the New York stage. Following up the successful "Where's Charley?" of two years ago is his "Guys and Dolls" which, according to all the reviews, is destined to be the musical of the year. With a book by comedian Abe Burrows and starring Robert Alda and Vivian Blaine, it looks like the production and the songs will be around for some time.

Many of the songs (it's not considered cricket to call Broadway numbers "tunes") from "Guys and Dolls" are well-recorded and you are probably quite familiar with some of them, especially "Bachelors and a Peck", already high on the Hit Parade, while "I'll Know", one of the better ballads, is available by Harry James, Georgia Gibbs, Tommy Dorsey, Billy Eckstine and Fran Warren.

Almost Dropped
The best rhythm number is "If I Were A Bell" and it almost didn't appear in the show. During try-outs at Philadelphia Loesser decided to pull the song from the show but under pressure from the recording companies the number was reinstated. Bing Crosby, Frankie Laine, Art Lund, Minky Carson, Georgia Gibbs and Doris Day all have bright versions of "If I Were A Bell".

The title song, "Guys and Dolls", has been recorded by Harry James, Connie Haines and the Andrews Sisters, while a pseudo-spiritual, "Sit Down, You're Rockin' the Boat", is available by Louie Armstrong. My favorite is "I've Never Been in Love Before" which has been put on wax by Ralph Flanagan, Margaret Whiting, Bing Crosby and Billy Eckstine.

In addition to this vast number of singles Victor has issued an album of all the songs played by Al Goodman but the vocals leave something to be desired. MGM has also issued their version of the songs both on 45 RPM and LP.

Maggie Sings
Margaret Whiting sings out a jarring note into the Christmas season with her latest disc, "A Man Ain't Nothin' But A Wolf". However, Maggie doesn't have the courage of her convictions for on the reverse side she tells how good life can be "Once You Find Your Guy". She sings them nicely, but unhappily neither of the songs are earth-shakers.

Speaking of the Christmas season, records are as pleasant to give as to receive (for you can always listen to them before wrapping) and there are plenty of albums of popular music to suit any taste. However, too many people tend to get carried away and buy albums of exclusively Christmas songs for gifts. They're fine on Christmas day but begin to pall a little around the middle of January.

A record and song good in the middle of January or June is Ray Anthony's "The Night Is Young and You're So Beautiful". The reverse, "All Anthony and No Cleopatra" (one of these "clever" titles) features some excellent trumpet work by Ray.

Porter Show Opens
Cole Porter's new show, "Out of This World", will close the musical year by opening in New York this month. Columbia's Doris Day does a pleasant enough job on three of the songs from the score: "I Am Loved" and "Nobody's Chasing Me" are treated rhythmically while the other is a ballad, "From This Moment On", and all of them have good melodies with typical Porter lyrics.

Contempt Charges Freed on $1,500 Bail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philip J. Jaffe, central figure in the controversial 1945 "Amerasia" stolen secrets case, and Communist organizer Steve Nelson pleaded innocent Friday to congressional contempt charges and were freed on $1,500 bail.

They were arraigned with two wartime atomic scientists — Giovanni Lomanitz and David J. Bohm — west coast union organizer Marcel Scherer, and William L. Patterson, executive secretary of the civil rights congress.

The defendants are accused of refusing to answer questions by congressional committees.

MOTORIST FINED $12.50

Reno J. Droll, 121 W. Benton street, was fined $12.50 by Judge Emil G. Trott in police court Friday on a charge of failure to stop at a stop sign.

Government Warns Egg Producers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Department of agriculture production and marketing experts said Saturday that if egg producers get hurt by withdrawal of government price supports, it is their own fault.

They said the department "used every weapon at its command" to force a cut in egg production this year but farmers "went right ahead and increased their laying flocks."

That is the department's answer to numerous complaints from producers that they will be ruined if the government continues to support prices of poultry feed but fails to guarantee the price of eggs.

Poultry producers say it is a losing game to buy feed at support prices and convert it into eggs for sale on an open supply-and-demand market.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan has abandoned the government egg price support program, effective Jan. 1, 1951 — action which is expected to cause a tumble in egg prices when the peak laying season starts.

Price supports on chickens and turkeys were dropped last year. Faced with a multi-million dollar loss on the government's egg purchasing program, Brannan dropped support levels on eggs from 47 to 37 cents a dozen this year in an effort to curb production. But it didn't work out that way. Farmers produced more eggs — and sold the surplus to the government.

Iowa Lawmakers Opposed to Loyalty Oath

By DWIGHT MC CORMACK
DES MOINES (AP) — A sizable number of Iowa's 1951 legislators think it would be a good idea to require state employees and teachers to take a loyalty oath.

But it isn't likely that such an act will be adopted, because the lawmakers are about 4 to 3 against it now.

They are stronger than that — about 3 to 1 — against enactment of a state anti-Communist law. So such an act also is unlikely.

These indications as of today are based on the biennial legislative survey by The Associated Press. Eighty in-coming legislators participated in the survey.

One of the questions asked was: "Do you favor enactment of a law requiring state employees and teachers to take a loyalty oath?"

Forty of the eighty who replied said they opposed any such requirement. Twenty — nine favored it, and 11 were noncommittal.

The vote was fairly close among the 56 house members who cooperated in the survey. But the 24 senators who participated opposed any such requirement by nearly 2 to 1.

Of the 56 representatives, 26 opposed loyalty oaths, 21 favored them, and 9 did not commit themselves. Of the 24 senators, 14 opposed, 8 favored and two declined to state their positions.

Another question asked was: "Is there a need for a state anti-Communist law?"

Forty-nine of the 80 legislators opposed enactment of such a law. Seventeen favored it and 14 were noncommittal. The breakdown between houses showed strong majorities against such a law in both the house and senate.

Of the 56 house members concerned, 34 opposed an anti-Communist state law, 12 favored it and 10 declined to state a position. Of the 24 senators, 15 opposed, 5 approved, and 4 didn't answer the question.

About two years ago several Pacific coast and northwest states joined in a conference and recommended that these and other states enact anti-Communist laws. Nothing ever was done about it in Iowa.

CHAINED — Sue Susman, A2, Fairfield, Gamma Phi Beta, to Jac Marris, M1, Ames, Delta Upsilon.

PLEDGES ENTERTAIN — The pledge class of Gamma Phi Beta, social sorority, entertained pledges and housemothers from other social sororities at an informal Christmas tea from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday at the chapter house, 328 N. Clinton street.

Customs of celebrating Christmas in different countries are varied and interesting. America has some too, such as the stockings Santa fills and decorations on the exteriors of homes. Here are some foreign customs:

It is customary in some French provinces for the father to march around the house, hitting it with a stick on Christmas to frighten away spoons.

Italian shepherds go from house to house, leaving a wooden spoon wherever a family is celebrating Christmas.

Danish children bring a bowl of rice and milk to the Christmas elf who lives in the attic. In the morning the rice is gone and the gifts are there.

In Sweden everyone cleans and polishes his possessions, because sinful thoughts and dirt are intolerable on Christmas.

A lighted candle used to be placed in English windows to tell carolers where to sing. Anyone who sought shelter where a candle was burning was always admitted in the name of the Christ Child.

In Brazil, as in many other lands, the people believe that animals are endowed with speech on Christmas Eve.

Each Spaniard tries to do a good deed before attending "cock crow" mass at midnight on Christmas Eve.

The Pennsylvania Dutch convert their living rooms into elaborate Nativity scenes during the Christmas season.

Norwegians have a myth that the spruce tree grew from blood-soaked ground where two lovers died. Lights on the tree symbolize their love, faith and hope.

Calabrian shepherds in Italy come down from the mountains and play before carpenter shops in special deference to Joseph at Christmas time.

The Swiss are extremely careful not to hear cattle "speak" during the Christmas season.

Doors are taken to church on Christmas morning in Naples.

In Lapland the Christmas season is the time for burials, christenings and marriages.

Christmas Concert Tickets Available

Tickets for the annual Christmas concert by the University orchestra and chorus are now available at the desk in the lobby of the Iowa Union.

The concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Main lounge of the Union.

The combined orchestra and chorus under the direction of Prof. Herald Stark, SUI music department, will present Johann Sebastian Bach's "Christmas Oratorio."

The concert will be broadcast over WSUI.

Canterbury Singers to Give Holiday Program

A program of Christmas songs will be presented by the Canterbury choir and the Canterbury quartet at Trinity Episcopal church at 4:30 p.m. today.

Included in the program will be "Angels From the Realms of Glory," "Smart," "Rosa Mystica," "Praetorius," "In the Bleak Midwinter," Holst, and "Nunc Dimittis," Gretchaninoff.

Local Delta Gammmas To Hold Dinner-Party

Delta Gamma Alumnae chapter will meet as part of a scholarship dinner Christmas party, to be given by the active chapter of the sorority at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the chapter house, 932 E. College.

Scholarship awards will be given at the dinner. An alumnae meeting will follow the dinner with a 50c gift exchange.

Members of the dessert committee are Mrs. John Hirko and Mrs. Richard Ilgen Fritz.

U.S. Lacks Wool For War Demands

WASHINGTON — Senate preparedness investigators reported Saturday the country lacks the wool to put warm uniforms on the backs of its fighting men and has none in a stockpile to meet the demands of war.

They put the blame for the shortage in wool and a list of other defense-essential agricultural products on the munitions board which, they said, "Clearly and miserably failed its responsibility."

The report was the third by an armed services preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas). Previous reports lambasted the munitions board for lagging in the $4-billion program of stockpiling strategic materials to meet an emergency.

Sharply, Johnson said "There is no real excuse" for the wool shortage, which the subcommittee classed as far worse than shortages of other vital commodities such as cotton, turpentine and other naval stores and alcohol.

Catholic Daughters To Give Christmas Party

Catholic Daughters of America will give their annual Christmas party at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Knights of Columbus clubrooms.

Members are each asked to bring a small gift to be distributed by the Rev. J. W. McElheney at Oakdale sanatorium. They are also reminded to bring coffee can key strips to be turned in for gifts for children at St. Vincent's home, Davenport.

Ella Kelly will be in charge of the entertainment.

Coburn to Give Last Major in Marriage Talk

The last lecture for the semester in the Major in Marriage series will be presented at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in the chemistry auditorium.

Dr. Frank E. Coburn, SUI associate professor of psychiatry, will speak on "Parenthood." He will be introduced by Chairman Arlyn Moeller, A2, Belle Plaine.

EARTH SHOCKS RECORDED

REGGIO CALABRIA, ITALY — Four strong earth shocks were recorded here Saturday. The shocks were preceded by a sea storm of exceptional violence, followed by a hail storm which caused severe damage to orange groves.

KILLED BY TRAIN

MOORHEAD, MINN. — Speeding Northern Pacific passenger train struck the auto of Elmer Gunderson, 57, Flyndon, Minn., farmer, at a downtown crossing Saturday, killing him and injuring another man.

Illinois Man to Talk To Marketing Club

The University of Illinois "Flying Professor," Hugh Wales, will speak Wednesday at a meeting of the newly-formed SUI Marketing club at 8:30 p.m. in conference room 2 of the Iowa Union.

Wales will speak on the current work of other student marketing clubs. He is chairman of the American Marketing Association committee on club activities. The SUI club is affiliated with the association.

The University of Illinois Marketing club has grown to be the largest of the 52 student marketing clubs in the nation. Wales is director of the Illinois group.

In addition to teaching marketing, Wales is his own travel bureau. He pilots one of the university-owned airplanes when he goes on speaking tours. He will fly to Wednesday's meeting here.

An informal coffee hour and student-faculty mixer will follow the meeting. All marketing majors may attend the meeting.

Prof. W. R. Smith, head of the SUI marketing department, is faculty advisor of the SUI Marketing club.

Junior Panhellenic Group Plans Tuesday Meeting

Members of Sigma Delta Tau, Chi Omega and Kappa Kappa Gamma will be in charge of the Junior Panhellenic meeting at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in 221 Schaeffer hall.

Program of the meeting will be "Campus Etiquette." Members of the panel discussion group are Joa Bordewick, A3, Vinton, campus etiquette; Jack Whitesell, L3, Davenport, date etiquette, and Sam Prichard, SUI communication skills instructor, class etiquette.

A question - discussion period will follow the panel discussion.

Catholic Daughters To Give Christmas Party

Catholic Daughters of America will give their annual Christmas party at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Knights of Columbus clubrooms.

Members are each asked to bring a small gift to be distributed by the Rev. J. W. McElheney at Oakdale sanatorium. They are also reminded to bring coffee can key strips to be turned in for gifts for children at St. Vincent's home, Davenport.

Coburn to Give Last Major in Marriage Talk

The last lecture for the semester in the Major in Marriage series will be presented at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in the chemistry auditorium.

Dr. Frank E. Coburn, SUI associate professor of psychiatry, will speak on "Parenthood." He will be introduced by Chairman Arlyn Moeller, A2, Belle Plaine.

Bridal Workshop to See Decorations

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS FOR A PARTY, such as those which will be shown Tuesday at Bridal Workshop, were being examined recently by Nancy Hunt, A2, Tipton, workshop committee member. At left is Harold Ruppert and at right is Frank Eicher, who will demonstrate decorations for tables, mantles and doorways. Those wishing to attend Tuesday's meeting are asked to sign up at the YWCA offices in the Iowa Union by Monday. The group will meet there at 7:30 p.m. before going to Eicher's floral shop for the program.

U-Hospitals Plan Festive Christmas

A merry Christmas is virtually assured the patients at University hospitals this year.

Even though the thrill of Christmas shopping common to most townsfolk cannot be brought to the wards, the peaceful Yule atmosphere that only Christmas carols, trees and decorations can bring will begin to settle through the corridors on Monday.

A special Christmas program by the 75-member Westlawn chorus will open the Christmas season at the hospitals at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Vesper Service — In a vesper service for patients and staff members, the chorus will present a selection of Christmas songs and carols in the medical amphitheatre. Mariada Mullenburg, G. Alton, will give several Christmas readings.

The chorus, directed by Marilyn Patterson, N3, Des Moines, will carol through the wards and on the west side of the river Wednesday from 7 to 10:30 p.m.

Trees will be decorated in all wards and recorded music will be played every day during Christmas week.

There'll be special parties at Children's and Psychopathic hospitals.

Religious services for those who wish to attend will be conducted on Friday evening before Christmas by Protestant and Catholic clergymen.

Santa to Visit — Christmas Eve will be highlighted with a candle-light service by all hospital personnel. Santa Claus will make a special stop to distribute gifts donated by Iowans.

A traditional Christmas dinner complete with holiday favors will be served Christmas day.

Town 'n' Campus

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION — Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Willis Mercer, 621 S. Summit street.

UNIVERSITY NEWCOMERS CLUB — University Newcomers club will hold a bridge party at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Iowa Union. Committee members for the meeting are Mrs. Elmer Lotshaw, chairman; Mrs. Bernard Lewis, Mrs. William McBride and Mrs. Charles Tanford.

After the program the Rev. H. F. McGee will preach at the regular evening prayer service. Carl Wickes will be the crucifer and Clyde Griffin will read the service.

Following the usual Canterbury supper in the parish house, the choir, under the direction of John Craven, G. New York, will sing carols at the Iowa hospital school for severely handicapped children.

The carolers will be entertained at the home of Prof. and Mrs. C.B. Righter, 419 Ferson avenue. Mrs. Righter is organist-director of the choir.

Members of the Canterbury quartet are John Heineman, A4, Dubuque; John Miller, A3, Newburgh, N.Y.; Harry Morrison, A4, Douds, and John Craven.

Stainless Steel and Whirring Blades — SUI Student's Brainchild May Boom 'Wonder Drug' Supply

By CHUCK LEEDHAM
An innocuous looking cylinder of stainless steel, the brainchild of an SUI graduate student, promises to speed and simplify the production of the "wonder drugs."

Conceived and developed by Ph.D. candidate George Madany, the "centrifugal liquid-liquid extractor" is a revolutionary development in separating and purifying liquids.

"Once it's done," Madany says, "it looks so easy that you wonder why it wasn't done earlier, since there is a need for it."

Measuring 3 1/2 feet by 8 inches, the Madany extractor looks rather like a small, shiny boiler, complete with fitted pipes running along the side, and lacking only a pressure gauge.

Inside Complications
Inside, however, the complication set in. Four connected chambers packed with rapidly whirling vanes simultaneously mix, separate, purify and extract solutions swirling through in opposite directions.

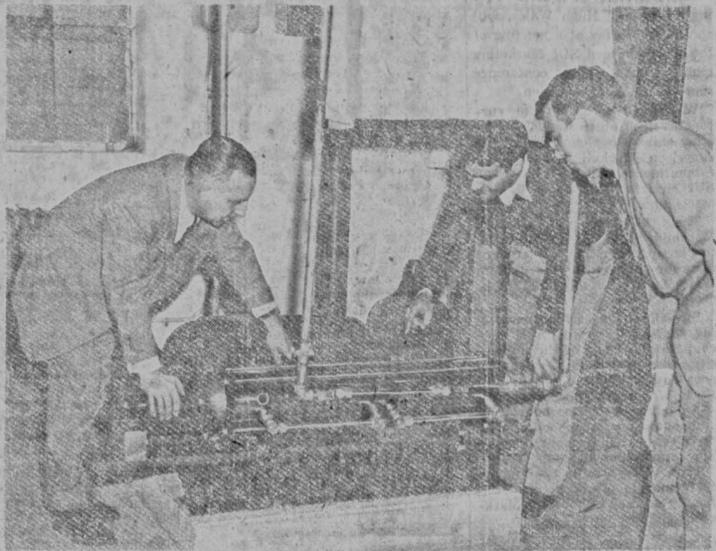

Madany, son of a tobacco exporter in Latakia, Syria, began work on the extractor in November 1948 when he was given separation of soybean oils as a research problem in chemical engineering.

With a B.A. in chemical engineering from the American University of Beirut, Lebanon, Madany came to SUI in 1946 to start work towards his doctorate. Taking his M.A. in 1947, he began work a year later on the project.

"There were so many difficulties," he said, "that often I thought it wasn't worth while. Very few people thought I should go on with it."

Previously, extraction and purification had been done in separate processes, with separation carried out slowly in a standing tower where gravity did the work.

New Process Needed
A much faster and simpler process was needed, particularly in the case of anti-biotics such as penicillin, streptomycin and aureomycin. Unless these liquids are processed quickly, they begin to decompose and are useless for medicine.

POINTING OUT THE FEATURES OF his extractor, George Madany, G. Latakia, Syria, explained its operation to Prof. Karl Kammermeyer (left), head of the chemical engineering division and Prof. James Osburn (right), Madany's adviser in the chemistry department. Installed in the basement of the chemistry building for extensive testing, the Madany extractor promises to speed and simplify the purification of anti-biotics. This pilot model was put through the last test runs last week and worked smoothly after three months of work and revision.

Hundreds of man-hours and an acre of blueprints after starting on the problem, Madany came up with a rough drawing of his extractor.

Prof. James Osburn, Madany's adviser, and Prof. George Glockler, head of the chemistry department, gave him the green light and he started the final drawings and plans for construction of the pilot model.

Financing of the model was handled through Vernon Jarvis, SUI graduate and friend of Madany. Because it was constructed of specially manufactured parts, the cost of the model had mounted to over $4,500.

Last September, it was put together in the basement of the chemistry building and exhaustive testing began.

Trouble at First
"On the first run, the results were bad," Madany said, "and I got so discouraged that I didn't look at it for a week."

Testing continued, however, until early last week, and the extractor proved itself by smooth functioning when the "bugs" were worked out.

In a process such as the purification of penicillin, the raw penicillin broth is piped into the No. 1 chamber of the extractor and a solvent into the other.

Working somewhat on the principle of a cream separator, the extractor mixes the two fluids in the four chambers, with the penicillin meeting stronger and stronger solvent as it passes from one chamber to the other.

The end product in this process is a liquid with the pure penicillin in solution, which is then evaporated and refined further.

Interest Shown
Already, several companies have expressed an interest in the extractor, and Madany looks forward to its extensive use in industry.

With a maximum speed of 7,600 revolution per minute, the Madany extractor can handle 800

'Fisz' to Effervesce On SUI Campus Beginning Monday

Fisz, a humor magazine, is scheduled to make its first public appearance Monday when 3,000 copies go on sale in Iowa City.

The 28-page magazine costing 20 cents will be sold by staff members on campus but outside of SUI buildings as required by university regulations, its editor said.

Fisz was printed by the offset method from typewritten material. It is independently published by the staff and is dependent on contributions from SUI students, alumni and friends, according to Editor Fred Elliot, A3, Iowa Falls.

The December issue was written entirely by the staff, but Elliot said he hopes to have other contributors for the next issue.

Fisz has offered prizes of $5, $3 and $2 for the best articles, stories, cartoons or jokes sent in, Elliot said.

Besides Elliot, the staff includes Dean Victor, A2, Ackley, art editor; Russell Miller, C3, Iowa Falls, advertising manager; Bryant Jensen, G, Iowa Falls, business manager.

WSUI Staffers Get Service Pins

Gold WSUI lapel pins for outstanding service were presented to ten WSUI-KSUI staff members at the radio station's annual Christmas party Saturday.

Receiving the pins of recognition for their work were Carolyn Covert, A4, Cedar Falls; Marilyn Johnson, A4, Galesburg, Ill.; Marilyn O'Brian, A2, Logansport, Ind.; Ann Thornberry, A4, Kansas City, Mo.; Winifred Wakefield, A2, Ames.

David Carson, E2, Iowa City; Richard Finn, G, Pittsburgh; Don Guthrie, A4, Iowa City; Boyd Workhoven, A3, Iowa City, and Woody Walters, A4, Whittemore.

The pins were presented by Richard Setberger, WSUI program director. Nearly 100 WSUI-KSUI staff members, guests, and faculty members attended the Christmas party held in studio E, radio building.

gallons of liquid per hour, a capacity, even in the small pilot model, far above previous processes.

When a large, commercial-scale model is put into operation, the capacity will be highly useful in the production of the anti-biotics as well as in such processes as the purification of lubricating oils.

Madany and his brothers, Ramsey and Bahij, have been familiar figures on the SUI campus for several years.

Ramsey, the tallest of the three, is working now on a Ph.D. in economics, and Bahij, the youngest, is working toward admission to medical school.

Talking to the three of them, who occasionally break into crackling Arabic among themselves, is an education in itself, with economic theory, chemical background and pre-medical advice all in the same family.

George, the eldest, talks volubly and rapidly, and still grins proudly when he looks at his shiny steel cylinder.

"There are two years of hard work in that," he says, "and it feels good just to see it sitting there."

'Santa's Helpers' Need Toys

Your broken toys are needed to fill Santa's pack when he visits University hospitals Dec. 22.

Santa's helpers have been busy for nearly two weeks repairing dolls and other toys but their supply is running low and more toys of all sizes and descriptions are needed, if Santa's pack is to be filled.

Mrs. Ray Culp, Mrs. Christine Ulibarri and Mrs. Robert Caruvtto, all employees at Rongner's cleaners, have repaired over 25 dolls so far. In fact, the cleaners look like a doll hospital or doll apparel shop.

The three women have dressed the dolls in gay plaid dresses, suits or flannel nightgowns of various hues. Coats, hats, and underwear have been made for nearly all the dolls.

The project is part of the Kiwanis club's second annual sponsorship of Santa's visit to University hospitals.

To date showy and broken dolls have been donated to the Kiwanis club by Woolworth's, Firestone, Ford Hopkins drug store, Sears Roebuck and company, and Aldens.

Rongner's cleaners has been supplying the materials for dressing the dolls in bright new outfits.

Co-chairmen of the project are Ray Culp, proprietor of Rongner's cleaners, and Prof. John Briggs of the SUI political science department.

They said Iowa City club scouts will aid in the repairing of other toys as soon as they are collected. Donations can be made by calling Ray Culp at 2717 or Prof. Briggs at 5515.

In addition to toys for child patients, Santa Claus will distribute roses to nurses and teenagers and cigarettes to men patients.

DOLL HOSPITAL. IOWA CITY, IOWA, seems to have been established at Rongner's cleaners. Mrs. Ray Culp, (right) wife of the proprietor, and Mrs. Christine Ulibarri, (left) an employee, are shown with some of the 25 dolls they have repaired and made clothes for in the past two weeks. The dolls will be distributed to child patients at the University hospitals by the Kiwanis club Dec. 22. The Kiwanis club needs all types of toys for their Christmas project. Those having toys needing repairs and who wish to contribute them to the campaign should contact co-chairman Ray Culp or Prof. John Briggs of the SUI political science department.

Two special programs featuring Jessica Dragonette and Lee Tracy will be aired by radio station WSUI during the Christmas vacation.

WSUI to Present Special Broadcasts

Tracy, star of stage, screen and television, will narrate "The Other Wise Man." This Christmas program, a part of the U.S. army and airforce "Proudly We Hall" series, will be broadcast at 10:30 a.m. Dec. 18.

Miss Dragonette stars as guest soloist and narrator with the airforce symphony orchestra in the transcribed Christmas show, "Celebration."

Miss Dragonette, concert and radio songstress, will sing "Ave Maria," "White Christmas" and "Silent Night" during WSUI's presentation Dec. 19, at 9:15 a.m.

Both programs will be 30 minutes in length.

Sentenced to Five Days On Intoxication Charge

Frank P. Burnett, Cedar Rapids, was sentenced to five days in the county jail by Judge Emil G. Trotter in police court Saturday on a charge of intoxication.

In another case Robert Glick, 223 E. Benton street, was fined $17.50 on the same charge.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED

DES MOINES (AP) — Authorities filed manslaughter charges and two lesser counts against Virgil H. Clark, 38, Des Moines, Saturday in the investigation of a fatal traffic accident.

Wapello Man to Speak To SUI Law Students

A graduate of the SUI college of law, W. O. Weaver, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol on "The Lawyer and His Public Relations" as a guest of the Law Students' association.

Weaver, who graduated in 1932, is a practicing attorney in Wapello. The lecture is the third in a series of five to be presented by the association.

AP MAN TO SPEAK

Marion Sheen, a general executive of The Associated Press, New York, will speak at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday at Hotel Jefferson. He will speak on "World Wide News Coverage."

Both programs will be 30 minutes in length.

St. Paul's to Hold Christmas Program

The annual Christmas carol singing of St. Paul's Lutheran chapel will be held today at 8 p.m.

Both the congregation and the choir will take part in the program. In addition, Janet Gutz, G. Hampton, will sing a solo, "He Shall Feed His Flock," by Handel. The Rev. John F. Choitz will read the Christmas story from the Bible.

Included in the choir's songs will be "I Wonder as I Wander," Appalachian carol; "O Come, O Come Emmanuel," arranged by Pfautsch, and "Shepherds Awake," Davis.

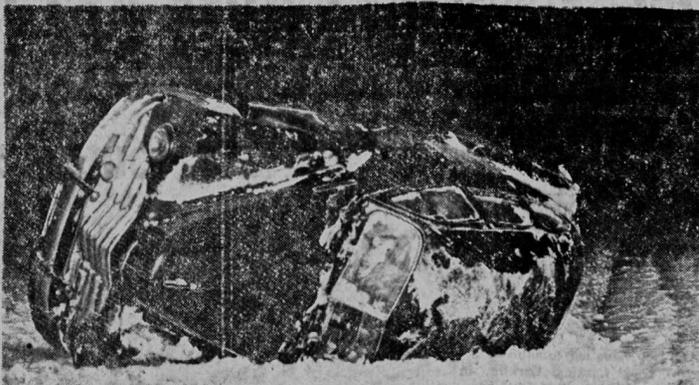

Mrs. Fred Brian is choir director, and Waneta Strackbein, A4, Correctionville, is organist.

SUI French Department Plans Christmas Party

There will be a Christmas party sponsored by SUI's French department in the university club rooms of the Iowa Union Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The program will include skits about classrooms and instructor put on by students taking French. Donald M. Anderson, graduate assistant in the French department, will be master of ceremonies at the program, which is free to anyone interested in attending.

Car Crashes North of Iowa City

LYING ON ITS SIDE IN THE SNOW after a flip through the air was the Chevrolet in which two SUI students suffered minor injuries early Saturday morning. The accident occurred four miles north of Iowa City on highway 218 when the car went out of control after hitting a small snowbank. The two students, Lowell Petersen, G, Buffalo Center, and John Humphrey, A2, Evanston, Ill., were treated at University hospitals and released.

NEW MONTANA U. PRESIDENT HELENA, MONT. (AP) — Gov. John W. Bonner said Saturday Dr. Carl McFarland, 46, Washington, D.C., attorney and former assistant U.S. attorney general, has accepted the presidency of the Montana university at Missoula. When McFarland will take over his new $10,000-a-year-job will be reported by letter, Bonner said.

2 Students Injured When Car Strikes Snowbank, Flips Over

The two SUI students who suffered minor injuries in an automobile accident early Saturday morning were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Injured were John Humphrey, A2, Evanston, Ill., and Lowell C. Petersen, G, Buffalo Center. The accident occurred at 12:30 a.m. on highway 218, about four miles north of Iowa City.

The car hit a small snowbank, flipped over lengthwise in the air and landed on its side. Damage was not estimated, but was described as heavy.

Two other SUI students and an SUI physician were involved in one of two more accidents reported to police Saturday.

Damages estimated at $72 resulted from a three-car accident at 8 p.m. Friday on the road to the Children's hospital, 20 feet north of Newton road.

Drivers were reported as Dr. Martin Leibovitz, resident surgeon in University hospitals; James Wold, A2, St. Ansgar, and Robert M. Hall, A3, Jefferson.

An accident at 4 p.m. Thursday caused damages estimated at $330 to cars driven by Raymond Vesely, 618 Dearborn street, and Mrs. Clarence Barnes, route 4.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Sheridan avenue and Roosevelt street.

Shoe Store X-Ray Machines May Be Harmful

X-rays may be helpful for fitting shoes, but shoe store X-ray machines may be harmful if improperly or too frequently used, according to an Iowa state department of health bulletin.

In a nationwide investigation of shoe stores, many of the older X-ray models have been found to release excessive amounts of uncontrolled X-rays during shoe fitting, the bulletin reports.

Dangerous radiation frequently received may eventually cause serious damage to the tissues exposed.

While most shoe salesmen know these hazards, the department of health suggests the following precautions:

"1. Follow all rules and instructions the shoe salesman for using the machine. He knows how to operate it with minimum hazard."

"2. Limit use of the machine to actual fitting of shoes. It isn't a toy.

"3. Limit each examination to one operation of the machine.

"4. Limit the number of X-ray fittings in any one day to a total of three, and to a total of 12 a year.

"5. Don't let children play around the machine. They may be affected by small doses of radiation emitted.

"6. Have shoes on BOTH feet at time of fitting.

"7. If it is necessary to hold children's feet in place at the machine it is best to have the parent or friend of the child do this, instead of the salesman who would get too many exposures a day doing it for all youngsters."

3 Here Appointed To Legion Posts

Three Iowa City American Legionnaires have been appointed to national committees for the coming year by Erle Cocke Jr., national commander.

Atty. Clair Hamilton, 1949 commander of the Roy L. Chopek Post No. 17, was named to the National Security Training committee.

Lou E. Clark, 518 S. Lucas street, was appointed to the Veterans Preference committee, and Republican Congressman Thomas E. Martin was named to the Distinguished Guests committee.

The appointments were announced in the Dec. 4 Iowa Legionaire, state publication of the American Legion.

Accountant Group Appoints Winter

Dean Sidney G. Winter of the SUI college of commerce has been appointed advisory member of the Iowa Society of Certified Public Accountants' committee on cooperation with the Iowa Bar association.

Winter's appointment was announced by Leonard W. Gallagher of Des Moines, the society's president.

Among the committee's major activities is to attempt to determine the proper roles of accountants and attorneys in such matters as income tax.

Other members of the committee are James C. Addison, Des Moines, chairman; M. G. Burbank, Des Moines; Edward Bock, Cedar Rapids and Ralph W. Pederson, Sioux City.

Y-TEENS TO SING

University High school Y-Teens will go Christmas caroling at Children's hospital at 8 p.m. Monday, Mary Ann Craft, A3, Hudson, YWCA advisor to the group, announced Saturday. Louise Hagler is president of the Y-Teens.

Navy Commissions Open

Reserve commissions in the navy are open now to college graduates between 19 and 26.

For commissioning as an ensign, graduates must meet certain mental and physical standards, and must not have received pre-induction notice from selective service. Further information may be obtained from the navy recruiting station in the Cedar Rapids post office.

LEADS HOTEL GROUP

WATERLOO (AP)—Merritt Hamilton, manager of the Bayless hotel in Elkader, Saturday was elected president of the Iowa Hotel association.

Hawkeyes Trail At Half, 34-13; Darling Hits 23

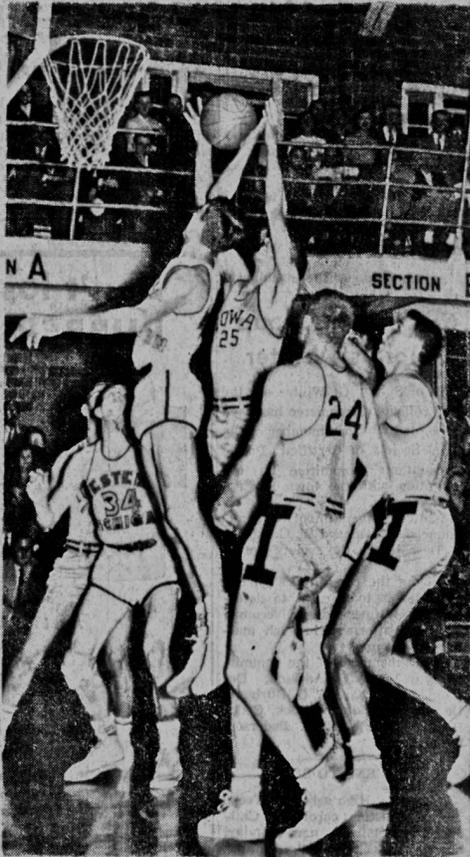

(Special to The Daily Iowan) KALAMAZOO, MICH.—A fast-breaking, sharp-shooting Western Michigan college basketball team upset the Iowa Hawkeyes here Saturday night, 58-49.

The Hawkeyes, favorites in the Big Ten race, were able to score but two baskets in the first nine minutes of play as they were visibly disturbed by the fast and ball-hawking Kalamazoons.

Chuck Darling, Iowa's six-foot, eight-inch junior center, was held to a mere two points in the first half, but he sparked a belated offense in the final 20 minutes and contributed 21 to bring his total to 23 for the evening.

34-13 at Halftime
A pair of junior aces, Joe Shaw and Bob Adams, paced the Broncos with 20 and 22 points, and were instrumental in guiding Western to leads of 17-2, 21-3 and 27-7 in the first half. The score was 34-13 at the intermission.

"Tug" Wilson Authorized To Punish Recruiters

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten commissioner, who formerly only policed conference athletic practices, Saturday was handed authority also to punish violations of recruiting and subsidization laws.

The conference athletic directors and faculty representatives voted to vest Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson with power not only to ferret out but also to crack down on individual athlete or schools involved in proselytizing. Previously, the commissioner could only investigate such cases after a formal complaint was filed by another party and submit his findings for action by the faculty representatives and athletic directors.

The conference also voted to support a motion to ban live television of Big Ten football games in 1951 if such sentiment develops at the NCAA national convention at Dallas, Texas, Jan. 12-13. Live video was barred by the Big Ten this football season.

The TV action by faculty representatives and athletic directors followed their meeting with presidents of six member schools who were said to be "sympathetic and understanding" of problems on TV confronting athletic directors.

Don Gehrmann Wins Longest Mile Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wisconsin's Don Gehrmann won the longest Wanamaker mile in history Saturday in the record-breaking time of 314 days, 12 hours and 23 minutes.

Although the race was run in 4:09.3 last Jan. 28 in the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden, Gehrmann wasn't officially named the victor until Saturday at the National Amateur Athletic Union's annual convention.

The AAU finally settled the squabble which arose when the bespectacled Gehrmann and Fred Wilt of the New York A.C. finished in almost a deadheat. The group's board of governors voted 314-108 to accept a report of the special committee named to investigate the decision.

It's Official; Goodman Wins Bating Crown

CHICAGO (AP)—William D. (Billy) Goodman, the man-about-the-field for the Boston Red Sox, Saturday officially was acclaimed the American league's 1935 batting champion with a .354 mark.

The league's official statistical review of last season's hitting activity also credited the Red Sox' finishing third in the pennant race, with the team batting title on a .302 average.

Professional Football Division Titles Can Be Decided Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears shoot the works today in a final fling at divisional titles in the National Football league races.

Both Cleveland and New York have a chance to win the American division championship outright. The best the Bears can do is tie the Los Angeles Rams for the National division flag. The regular season ends today.

The Giants and Browns are tied for first in their sections with 9-2 records. The Giants play the Eagles at Philadelphia and the Browns tilt with the Redskins at Washington. One contender will have to lose and the other win to settle the race. A tie by one of the teams could do it, too, as draws don't count in the standings.

A tie as well as a loss could ruin the Bears' hopes. The Bruins play host to the surging Detroit club and must win to even the Rams who already finished the season with a 9-3 record. Chicago is 8-3. If both divisions end in ties, playoffs will be held the following Sunday at Cleveland and Los Angeles.

Sugar Ray Wins, Fans Boo Victory

BRUSSELS (AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, world welterweight champion, knocked out Luc Van Dam of Holland in the fourth round Saturday night, but he left the ring with virtually all 15,000 spectators on their feet booing the victory.

The Dutch middleweight champion, who outweighed Robinson by a single pound, was holding his own until late in the third round when the American unceremoniously appeared to be a low blow. Van Dam, who scaled 157½, went down but was saved by the bell.

He was carried to his corner, came out for the fourth round and was flattened, this time by a left cross to the head. The end came at one minute of the fourth round.

Robinson, who next will box on a charity card at Frankfurt, Germany, on Dec. 25, received approximately $70,000 for his efforts.

Wes Fesler Quits At Ohio State

Ill Health Given As Reason

CHICAGO (AP)—Wes Fesler, on the verge of a nervous breakdown during the football season, resigned as head football coach of Ohio State in a surprise move Saturday night at the annual Big Ten winter meetings.

Giving his reason for quitting as "poor health," Fesler presented his resignation to athletic director Dick Larkins. Larkins, in turn, handed it to Ohio state president, Dr. Howard L. Bevis. It was accepted.

Gets Treatment
Fesler told a friend that "I was in the training room during the football season more often than the players—getting treatment for my head and neck."

Wilbur E. Snynn, athletic publicity director, said Fesler's decision to quit at this time came as a shock.

"The principal reason for his resignation," explained Snynn, "was because of ill health. He has been under a terrific nervous tension the last two years and attributed it to football. Another reason is that he has had the opportunity to enter the field of real estate with John Galbreath, millionaire realtor and president of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball club."

Rumors that the handsome 40-year-old coach would resign came a year ago when Ohio State was training for the Rose Bowl game. After the game, which his Buckeyes won from California, Fesler said he would stay as coach.

This season Ohio State was unbeaten and was pegged for the Big Ten championship. Then on successive Saturdays, the Buckeyes lost to Illinois and Michigan and finished in a tie for second place with 5 wins and 2 defeats.

No Successor in Sight
"His resignation has come as such a surprise, we haven't had a chance even to think of a successor," said Snynn. "And it will be some time before we do."

Minnesota also is seeking a new coach to replace Bernie Bierman. Its candidates include Paul (Bear) Bryant of Kentucky, Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma and Andy Gustafson of Miami of Florida.

In his college days at Ohio State, Fesler won nine letters, three each in football, basketball and baseball. He starred at fullback in 1948, '29 and '30. Upon graduation he played baseball briefly in the St. Louis Cardinal farm system.

Douglas, Turnesa Score Win in Miami Tourney

MIAMI, FLA. (AP)—Slender Dave Douglas and Jim Turnesa squeezed out a one-up victory over Cary Middlecoff and Ed Oliver Saturday in the tightest match of the Miami four-ball golf tournament. The victory put them into today's 38-hole final against Pete Cooper, Ponte Vedra, Fla., and Claude Harmon, Mamaroneck, N.Y.

In Presidential Cup Game —

Texas A&M Routs Georgia, 40-20

GEORGIA HALFBACK Zippy Morocco (23) leaped high in an unsuccessful effort to grab a pass Saturday against Texas A & M in the first President's Cup game at College Park, Md. Halfback Augie Saxe (46) of Texas A & M broke up the play. The Aggies swamped Georgia, 40-20.

Smith Runs 100, 81 Yards for Scores

COLLEGE PARK, MD. (AP)—Bob Smith, Texas A & M's great fullback, ran the opening kickoff back 100 dazzling yards for a touchdown Saturday to start the Aggies on their way to a smashing 40-20 victory over Georgia in the first Presidential Cup football game.

Just to show it was no fluke, Smith followed this up with an 81 yard run for another score.

Great as Smith was, he got a taste of competition from Billy Tidwell, a scampering Aggie halfback who ran six, five and 46 yards on three touchdown jaunts.

The outburst added to a 40-0 lead for the red hot Aggies before Georgia even got started. Late in the third period, when the Aggie reserves were in, Georgia finally pulled the range. Then Zippy Morocco, a 168-pound confederate from Youngstown, Ohio, plunged over from the two for Georgia's first tally.

Longhorns Smash LSU 21-6

AUSTIN, TEXAS (AP)—Southwest conference champion Texas smashed Louisiana State university with a three-touchdown flurry in the second quarter Saturday, 21-6.

Fullback Byron Townsend came within inches of claiming clear title to Southwest conference scoring honors for the season.

He smashed through LSU's line twice from the 1-yard line for Texas' first two tallies, running his 10-game total to 84 points, same as Texas A & M's Bob Smith. He missed a third tally by inches.

Quarterback Ben Tompkins turned in Texas' longest scoring run from scrimmage this year — 38 yards — and kicked three extra points to round out the Longhorns' 21 points.

It took a Texan to score for LSU. With a minute and a half remaining, Fullback Billy West broke into the Texas secondary and ran 24 yards before laterally off to right half Billy Baggett stumbled out of a tackler's grasp and sped the remaining 25 yards to salvage some consolation for Tiger rooters. Ken Konz' try for point was wide.

Travel Agencies Plan for Holiday Exodus

It's about time to stop dreaming of Christmas vacation and do something about it; namely, make your bus, train or plane reservations.

Reservations will be necessary for those leaving Iowa City by bus either Dec. 15 or 16. Phil Spellman, manager of the Union Bus depot announced Saturday.

Reservations are not necessary for those leaving the city by train. Eastbound passengers must have reservations from Chicago, however.

East and westbound persons traveling from Iowa City by plane should make reservations to assure themselves space on the flights leaving here.

Express Buses Scheduled. The local bus depot will provide express bus service westbound leaving Iowa City at 1:50 p.m. and eastbound leaving here at 6:48 p.m. on Dec. 15 and 16.

Westbound express buses will stop at Des Moines and Omaha only. Eastbound express buses will stop only at Davenport and Chicago. Connections for points east are made at Chicago.

Bus reservations can be made when tickets are purchased. Reservations will not be accepted over the phone, Spellman said. Passengers will be asked to specify their time of departure when they make their reservations.

This procedure assures adequate bus facilities at all times during the two-day vacation rush period, Spellman said.

Frank Meecham, ticket agent for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, said eastbound passengers can make their train reservations at the local railroad station and pick them up within two days after they have been made.

Extra Cars on Trains. This extra car will be put on all trains leaving here for Chicago Dec. 15 and 16. One car will be completely reserved for Iowa Citizens on the train leaving here at 9:15 a.m. Dec. 16 to Chicago.

Table Tennis Finals to Be Played Today. Finals of the mixed doubles table tennis tournament will be held today in the west foyer of the River room at the Iowa Union starting at 3 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners and cups to the losers. The tournament is sponsored by the Union Board games committee.

and through to New York. Westbound railroad passengers do not need reservations.

Meecham said all tickets on the Denver Rockets leaving Chicago through Iowa City to Denver are sold out for both Jan. 1 and 2.

Special trains will be run from Chicago to Iowa City at 2:30 p.m. on those days, he said. Reservations are needed for these special trains.

The train with the car reserved for passengers returning to Iowa City will leave New York Dec. 31 at 3:30 p.m.

Carl Williams, station agent for United Air lines, said nearly all the seats are taken on both east and westbound flights. At present, no additional flights have been scheduled, he said. However, additional flights will be scheduled if needed, Williams pointed out.

Extra Sections Applied For. The station agent of the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railway company said he had applied for extra sections to the regular schedule, but as yet they have not been confirmed by the supervisor.

Buses will leave Iowa City Dec. 15 and 16 at the following times:

Eastbound — 1:05 a.m., 3:55 a.m., 12:05 p.m., 4:25 p.m., 6:48 p.m., and 9:15 p.m. Westbound — 12:35 a.m., 3:41 a.m., 8:10 a.m., 1:50 p.m. and 6:42 p.m.

Northbound to Cedar Rapids, Waterloo and Minneapolis — 10:45 a.m., 12:10 p.m., 3:11 p.m., 7:20 p.m. and 9 p.m. Southbound to St. Louis — 9:55 a.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Ottumwa busses leave at 10:05 a.m. and 5:25 p.m.

Prof. Mosse's Book On England Printed

Prof. George L. Mosse, of the SUI history department, is the author of the book "The Struggle for Sovereignty in England," published Friday by the Michigan State college press.

It is the first lengthy analysis of the political thoughts of Sir Edward Coke, usually cited as one of the greatest common law lawyers of all times. He is treated in the book as a great "liberal."

Mosse spent two summers at the Henry E. Huntington library and did research in the British museum in London and the Earl of Leicester's private library in Norfolk while preparing the book.

Blacksmiths Meet, 'Streamline' Work

OMAHA (AP) — Members of the National Blacksmiths and Welders association from eight states were meeting here Saturday to streamline their organization to meet the needs of a mechanized age.

Secretary William Dobbs of Gladbrook said that while the "old village blacksmith" looks good in the story books, "his easy-going, haphazard methods of doing business have no place in this age. We found that out in the decade between 1920 and 1930, when our organization was at its lowest ebb."

Dobbs said the group will fight any curtailment by the government of materials needed in their shops. In the last war, the Iowan said, "Many a fine crop would have gone unharvested if the small, independent welders had not kept over-worked farm machinery in repair."

Evans Grants Divorce On Grounds of Cruelty. Judge Harold D. Evans granted a divorce Saturday in Johnson county district court to Mrs. Lorraine A. Lehman from Richard A. Lehman.

Mrs. Lehman charged cruel and inhuman treatment in that Lehman made her work to help support the two of them and finally said he did not love her. A property settlement was made but no alimony was granted.

Koser Investigates City Beer Permits; Says Sales Legal

Mayor Preston Koser this week said that his investigation of beer permit holders showed that there were no illegal beer sales in Iowa City.

Koser said he had met with three tavern operators, a representative of the Iowa City Ministerial association, Rev. John Craig; SUI Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce, and Police Chief E. J. Ruppert, to review all beer permits and their holders.

The results of the meeting, Koser said, will be incorporated into a report he will submit to the city council at its Monday night meeting.

Friday's meeting came in conjunction with a letter sent to Koser by Atty. Gen. Robert Larson several weeks ago asking the council to investigate the possibility of illegal sales of beer.

Larson said he had been notified of various infractions of the state's liquor and beer laws and called on cities to prove the laws can be enforced at the local level.

Skunk War

Smoke Bombs Used, Gun Used

DES MOINES (AP) — When a skunk moved under the house of Wayne Bullington and his family here last Thursday, they held a council of war and decided to play it safe.

Maybe if they waited, held their noses and did a little hopping the skunk would leave at its own volition. But the skunk thought otherwise. He stayed.

When his wife and two small children fled to a neighbor's house, Bullington decided it was time for all out war. Time to smell out the skunk.

He and a neighbor armed themselves with smoke bombs and a shotgun, put their noses to the ground and crawled under the house Saturday for a showdown with the skunk.

They coughed and sputtered when the smoke bombs were released, but the skunk scarcely budged. A single blast from the shotgun, however, did the trick.

The air was cleared at the Bullington home.

Navy Takes Seaman Reserve Volunteers

Volunteers for active duty are being accepted by the navy from among reserve seaman recruits and seaman apprentices who were in the reserve before Sept. 1, 1930.

A navy recruiting service release stressed that this is a voluntary program and that involuntary recalls are not expected in these classes until after July.

Most naval reservists in these two classes are eligible for the draft, but a pre-induction notice does not disqualify them from volunteering, the navy said.

When a reservist volunteers, the recruiting station will obtain his service record and issue him transportation to Des Moines for final processing.

Reservists may volunteer at any naval recruiting station. Nearest station to Iowa City is in the post office building, Cedar Rapids.

3 Iowa City Men Win Swine Award

Three Iowa Citizens were named Friday among the state's 25 master swine producers by E.L. Quafe, extension swine specialist at Iowa State college.

Arlo Jedlicka, route 6, and Paul and Robert Sladek, sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Sladek, route 6, were given awards Saturday in Des Moines.

Selections were made by the Iowa Swine Grower's association and the Iowa State college extension division. Selection was based on the number of pigs produced per sow, pounds of pork produced per sow and consistency of the hog raiser's record.

Wisconsin Professor Dies of Heart Attack

MADISON, WIS. (AP) — Prof. Philo M. Buck Jr., one of the University of Wisconsin's grand old men, died at his home here Saturday of a heart attack at the age of 73.

The specialist on literary criticism and India was born in Morristown, N.J., but grew up in India. He came here from the University of Nebraska in 1926 and organized the department of comparative literature.

The university hired him on contract to teach special courses after he reached retirement age in 1927. The courses were broadcast over the university radio station.
