Truman, Attlee Voice New Peace Hopes

Commonwealth Ministers Set Policy Goals

LONDON (AP) - Prime Minister Attlee told a closed meeting of commonwealth ministers Thursday "war is certainly not inevitable."

UN Forces Evacuate Inchon

TOKYO (FRIDAY) (AP) - The last UN personnel at Inchon Thursday pulled out by sea just as Chinese Red troops approached the flaming docks of that port for abandoned Seoul.

drawn from Inchon by sea were port service troops, accompanied by thousands of Korean civilian refugees. Their destination was not disclosed.

Shortly before the last Han river bridge was blown by the Allies, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Eighth army commander, visited the spot.

President Sees Total Price, Wage Control

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Truman Thursday voiced fresh hope for peace in 1951—but he refused to predict that war will not come.

And he made it plain that the nation's growing rearmament

Administration to Ask Increase Of Draft Service to 27 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) - The defense department is preparing to ask congress to step up the period of service for draftees from 21 to 27 months, Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house armed services committee reported Thursday.

He said that military leaders also are considering a request to raise the age limit for inductees, with the new maximum applying to single men and childless married men.

But Vinson declared there will be no draft of veterans whose past service now protects them from induction.

Enrollment Losses Due to Enlistment Decline to 10

Drops from SUI due to enlistments in the armed services declined Thursday, Assistant Registrar J. Harvey Croy announced.

Unofficial estimates put Thursday's cancellations at about 10 men.

Wednesday's total number of drops stood at 86, Tuesday 51 dropped.

Four Information Offices
Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce recommended Thursday that all men thinking of enlisting call at one of the four information offices that have been set up on campus.

Those information offices are the SUI registrar's office, University hall; the office of student affairs, University hall; the liberal arts advisory office, 109 Schaeffer hall, and Prof. William D. Corder's office, 110 Iowa avenue.

Faunce said these offices would be supplied simultaneously with the latest word on draft and enlistment regulations and deferments.

Airforce Enlistments Halted
In Des Moines Thursday the airforce induction station ordered its state substations not to send in any more airforce enlistees.

The station stopped the shipments of enlistees temporarily so that it could process a backlog of about 150 men.

National Guard Officers Not Affected by Call
DES MOINES (AP) - Brig. Gen. Fred C. Tandy, Iowa adjutant general, said Thursday that in most cases lieutenants and captains in the Iowa national guard would not be released for federal service.

The recent defense department order calling company grade officers to active duty specified that national guard lieutenants and captains would not be affected unless they volunteered and obtained releases from their units, Tandy said.

Marshall Nelson Named Daily Iowan Business Manager

Marshall Nelson, C4, Iowa City, was appointed business manager of the Daily Iowan Thursday by the board of publications at its regular meeting.

Nelson was appointed to fill the vacancy created when Robert Depew, former business manager, enlisted in the airforce during the Christmas holidays.

Nelson previously was the Iowan's assistant business manager. Also appointed at the board meeting was a committee of three students to work with the student council in planning the spring campus elections, when members for both the council and the board of publications will be elected.

Don Guthrie, A4, Iowa City, was appointed chairman of the committee and Greta Grossman, A4, University Heights, Ohio, and Robert B. Rozeboom, A2, Ames, were appointed members.

French in Indo-China Launch Big Offensive

TIENYEN, INDO-CHINA (AP) - French land, sea and air forces launched their biggest offensive of a four-year war in North Indo-China Thursday. They struck from coastal positions into the mountains near the Chinese border to engage Communist-led Vietminh concentrations there or drive them away.

Eight hours after the push started, the enemy had not been sighted.

Supported by artillery, a cruiser standing off shore and several squadrons of warplanes, ground troops pushed into the foothills from which Vietminh soldiers descended 10 days ago and overran the fortress of Binh Lieu, 32 miles north of Tienyen.

Panacea Tickets on Sale Wednesday

Tickets for "In the Pink," this year's Panacea show, will go on sale Wednesday at Whetstone's drug store, Racine's and Smith's restaurant.

Publicity director Dave Stashower, A4, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, said the tickets will sell for 75 cents each, including tax.

The show will run four nights, Jan. 17-20. Stashower said 1,000 tickets will be sold for the first two nights and 1,200 for the second two nights.

Performances will be in Macbride auditorium.

Bednasek Talks with Faunce

Robert E. Bednasek, acquitted last April of the strangulation death of his coed sweetheart, Margaret "Gee-Gee" Jackson, talked here Thursday with SUI Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce.

Both declined to comment on the nature of the meeting.

After his conference with Faunce, Bednasek, formerly a student here, was asked if he came here to apply for readmission to SUI. He smiled and said, "No comment."

To the same question, Faunce said, "At the request of Mr. Bednasek, I am not at liberty to disclose the nature of our conversation."

Bednasek also stopped at the office of the registrar.

Can Defend Europe If Nations Sacrifice: Ike
WASHINGTON (AP) - Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said Thursday he can defend Western Europe from Russian attack if other Atlantic pact nations will "match" American sacrifices in raising a unified military force under his command.

"I don't believe it is possible for 190-million backward people to conquer the great Western civilization," said the five-star general, who leaves for Paris Saturday to take over as supreme commander of pact forces.

Instructors React Favorably To Rating by Students: Ebel

Instructors' reactions to the faculty rating program sponsored by the college of liberal arts have been enthusiastic, Prof. Robert Ebel, SUI examinations service director, said Thursday.

Notices were sent to the instructors Wednesday and many favorable replies already have been received, Ebel said.

All liberal arts instructors have been invited to participate in the program on a voluntary basis.

The tests were developed by the college of liberal arts. The examination service is providing forms and grading facilities.

Students grade instructors in 10 categories - knowledge of subject, skill in presenting the subject, interest in subject, tolerance and emotional balance, helpfulness to students, sense of humor, distracting mannerisms, quality of examinations, value of subject to student and overall quality of subject.

Names of students grading their instructors will remain anonymous.

The 19 candidates, and the fraternity they represent, are: Carol Whitebook, A1, Iowa City, Phi Epsilon Pi; Marian Rees, A4, Carroll, Phi Delta Theta; Nancy Sweitzer, A1, Waterloo, Delta Tau Delta; Sue Manbeck, A3, Des Moines, Sigma Nu.

Senate Committee Summons Costello

NEW YORK (AP) - Senate crime investigators Thursday subpoenaed Frank Costello, reputed "prime minister of the underworld," to tell them what he knows about the nation's gambling and organized crime.

The subpoena, served in the offices of his attorney, calls for the appearance of the "partially retired" Costello later this month, either in Washington or New York.

But No Letter . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) - London tailors may outfit kings, earls and prime ministers, but they're not telling President Truman what to wear.

The President made that clear at his news conference Thursday when told the Saville Row outfitters were "horrified" over the clothes he wore.

That, said Mr. Truman with finality, is "none of their business."

program will bring just about total control of prices and wages.

The President hinted that he'll ask congress in his state of the union message next Monday to remove the curbs on his power to control farm prices. He already has strong power to control other prices, as well as wages, and he said he will use this power as soon as it is physically possible.

In a rapid-fire exchange with reporters at his weekly news conference, Mr. Truman said:

1. The United States is not at war but is carrying out an obligation for the UN. He won't predict the chances of avoiding war in 1951, but he sincerely hopes all the world's troubles can be settled by negotiation through the UN.

2. No consideration is being given to bombing Red China, and no such action will be taken without asking approval of the UN.

3. His staff is working on the tremendous job of setting up price controls all the time. He thinks it will be necessary eventually to have complete, across-the-board price and wage controls. As for rationing, the President said he'll cross that bridge when he gets to it.

4. He hopes to get his program through the new congress soon despite the success of Republicans and southern Democrats in restoring the power of the house rules committee to pigeonhole legislation. This action, taken Wednesday, was interpreted widely as a blow to "fair deal" legislation.

Red China Staging Vast Internal Purge

HONG KONG (AP) - Red China was reported Thursday in the midst of a vast internal purge of dissidents, matching in intensity the speed with which the Communists are expanding their war machine.

One reliable press report said "thousands" have been executed in the past two months, while thousands of others have been subjected to the rigors of "re-education" camps.

Reasons for the sudden purge, while not wholly clear, could well be these:

1. Pro-Nationalist guerrilla activity may have grown too strong for the Communists to handle except by the most stringent measures.

2. Peiping, perhaps having concluded that war is inevitable, may be "putting away" all elements which could disrupt the rigid internal controls the Reds would have to exert in wartime.

Crew's Cool Work Saves 48 Aboard In Take-Off Crash

CHICAGO (AP) - The cool work of the crew was credited Thursday with averting death when a non-scheduled airliner carrying 45 passengers crashed and burned on takeoff from Chicago's Midway airport.

All passengers and the crew of three escaped before flames destroyed the ship. Five suffered injuries, most of them minor.

Civil aeronautics administration officials began an investigation but said findings would not be made public for some time.

The plane, a twin-engine C-46 owned by Monarch airlines, failed on takeoff in the early morning when Pilot Marvin Staddon, Malbrook, N. J., was unable to get it more than 10 feet off the ground.

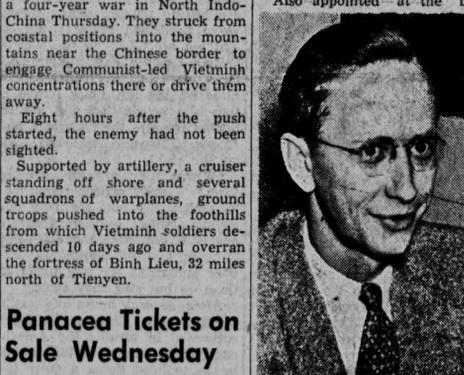

Witnesses praised Staddon's handling of the ship as he guided it to a wheels-up crash landing in two haystacks a mile and a half from the airport.

A fire broke out in the left engine and Staddon and Co-pilot A. J. Howarth, 38, Miami, Fla., scrambled out of their compartment windows to help free the passengers.

They found that Stewardess Thelma Dennis, 22, North Miami, Fla., already had the rear door open and was herding passengers to safety.

THE SCARRED SKELETON of a twin-engine chartered plane which crashed near Chicago's Midway airport Thursday is shown above. The plane, with 48 aboard, plummeted on takeoff, smashed into a haystack and burned into flames. All 48 persons escaped. The haystack remains are at the right, frames of the plane's seats in the center and houses which the plane missed are at the left.

Believes Russians May Start World War III Next Spring

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The possibility that Russia will not give the western world time to prepare the "position of strength" from which it hopes to negotiate peace seems to be an increasingly important factor in Allied thinking.

There is less whittling in the graveyard about "war is not inevitable," and more question of whether it may come in this very year of 1951.

As clues to the answer develop, they may produce a considerable change in the whole approach to rearmament. Weapons which have been held back for the sake of greater perfection may go into production. There seems little doubt that recruiting will be stepped up, both in the United States and Europe, just as fast as training facilities can be developed.

Russia has said she will not tolerate inclusion of Western Germany in Allied military defense, but the West, having no confidence that the proposed four power conference will have any good results, is going ahead.

Two out of three experienced observers have told me recently that war will come to Europe in the spring. The third said no; that Russia still clings to the idea that Communist forces in Italy and France will be able to deliver those countries into the Cominform sphere when the time is ripe.

One of the others bases his fear of early war on the belief that the Cominform can no longer permit the defection of Yugoslavia; that the Balkan satellites will attack; that they alone will not be able to handle what he calls "Tito's army of 800,000 men, the best in Europe," and that Russian troops will then have to move in. And direct Russian military action anywhere in the world is generally believed to mean World War III.

The other informant cites the general situation, with Russia being forced to attack before Western rearmament progresses to the point where she cannot, or else give up any hope of world conquest for years to come.

Washington correspondents were quick to note Wednesday the refusal of President Truman, who a few months ago was referring frequently to his confidence in ultimate peace, to express a view on the possibility of war in 1951.

It is obvious that there is a real emergency when Britain and France are actually placing their combat divisions in Europe under a foreign commander; when the United States is on the verge of universal military training; when Spain is about to be taken into the Allied fold and possibly into the Atlantic treaty organization with its arms combine; when France and Germany are negotiating for unity in a common cause; when national sovereignties are being subordinated to international unity at a hundred points.

In 1948, when East-West differences over Berlin sent a wave of war jitters across the continent, I wrote that there would be no war that year, and probably not in 1949. I wouldn't write that about 1951 or 1952 on the basis of present information.

See No Food Shortage in Year Ahead

By JACK R. RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — One thing Americans apparently don't have to worry about in the uncertain months ahead is a food shortage. Here's how the situation stacks up as the new year begins:

Crops in 1950 were the third largest on record, bigger than the average for the past eight years — "the most productive period in American agriculture."

And farmers with their new machinery, improved fertilizers and insecticides and greater skill in agriculture methods and animal breeding, seem well able to meet the government's call for the largest production in history for 1951.

Food manufacturers have modernized their plants and equipment since the last war, using many new packaging methods to reduce spoilage and waste, stepped up their food research, found short cuts in distribution.

The nation's cold storage stocks of perishable foods like meat, cheese, eggs, poultry, fishery products, fruits and vegetables are at a record high — 5.2-billion pounds as of Dec. 1, compared with 4.6-billion the year before. Surplus stocks of wheat, corn, dry beans and other commodities also are large, although increased military needs have been trimming them down somewhat.

Those are some of the reasons why Paul Willis, president of the Agricultural Trade Association, Grocery Manufacturers of America, can say in a year-end review: "The food and grocery industry is in good shape. We have enough supplies for military and civilian needs, and the farmers and manufacturers are equipped to step up production schedules if necessary."

Nobody, of course, can foresee to what extent this whole changing picture might be changed by a spreading war which could drain away our farm manpower, disrupt food distribution channels, and sharply increase the food needs of our allies.

However, some of the food industry's problems likely to accompany the nation's growing defense mobilization already are beginning to emerge. Manpower may be one. The labor expert of the National Canners association, R. B. Heiney, said in Chicago recently that about 2.5-million women not now in the country's labor force will have to be recruited in the coming year, and about 400,000 workers will have to be brought into the U.S. year's harvest.

Possible shortages of tinplate for cans and bottle tops, paper for packaging, railroad cars for shipping foods, and eventually, even tightening supplies of farm machinery and fertilizers, are other uncertainties.

The government already has cut back 20 percent beginning Feb. 1, and plans soon to limit or ban altogether its use in certain nonessentials. However, can makers say the use of substitutes, developed during World War II when the tin shortage became a serious problem, should prevent production from slumping much unless steel also becomes extremely tight. Most cans are made of steel with a thin coating of tin.

Prices, as any housewife knows, ended the year generally higher than a year ago — but still well below the 1948 peaks. War scare buying after the Korean war broke out, and a rush by the food trade to rebuild inventories after months of hand-to-mouth buying, had a lot to do with the rise in the second half of the year.

Just what effect the government's call for a voluntary price freeze will have on food prices is a matter of considerable controversy.

U.S. Children Undernourished

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three-fourths of the nation's children suffer from some degree of undernourishment, a nutrition study indicated recently.

It found that of 2,564 children surveyed, 75 percent didn't get enough energy and vital nutrients from their food.

And not one of them rated top health grades in strict medical examinations. Far too many had low legs, knock knees, fatigue, nervous habits, poor teeth and other faults.

Further, said Dr. Pauline Berry Mack, it takes a long time to overcome some of the "scars of the past poor food habits," and this may explain many of the physical ills of adults today.

Dr. Mack, director of the Elton H. Richards institute at Pennsylvania State college, reported the study to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"The percentage of children who have had their diets carefully controlled since birth is small indeed, and food habits tend to become poorer with an increase in age," she declared. "The matter of rehabilitation of children through better nutrition, therefore, becomes almost a universal problem."

The records on children come from the Pennsylvania mass studies in human nutrition, started seven years ago. The children represented every economic group, and averaged higher in economic status than the general population.

Yet, in over-all results, only

Outdraw Yank Stadium

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Museum of Natural History said Thursday that in its last fiscal year it outdrew Yankee Stadium.

Nearly 2.5-million persons visited the museum and its Hayden Planetarium.

"The museum attendance figure for the past year," an annual report said, "far exceeds that of Yankee stadium, and almost equals the combined attendance for the full year of 1949 at the Belmont Park, Jamaica and Aqueduct race tracks."

Chinese Communists Concentrate Attack on U.S. 24th Division

By JACK MACBETH

WITH THE U.S. 24TH DIVISION NEAR SEOUL, KOREA (AP) — It looks like the Chinese Communists really are picking on this U.S. division, battle-scarred veteran of the Korean war.

New Year's eve the Reds attacked the 24th in their renewed offensive. They did it again Wednesday.

Both times they succeeded in driving through American positions, but at tremendous cost in human lives — to which they attach little value.

One particular U.S. regiment bore the brunt of both thrusts. For the time being, security regulations prohibit its identification.

Wednesday morning's Chinese maneuver was similar to that of New Year's eve. Military tactics call it a double envelopment.

Shortly before daylight an estimated company of enemy soldiers — about 200 — hit the regiment's left flank. Then another company struck farther to the right.

When these attacks were launched, the division was holding positions eight miles northeast of Seoul. Front line officers at first considered the enemy action to be of a minor nature.

But as more and more Chinese were committed, regimental staff members soon realized they were in for another rough time.

"They know they hit us hard the other night," said one senior officer. "That's probably why they are hitting us now. They figure we're tired and under stress — and we are."

By noon the enemy plan had become obvious. Elements of their force on the left flank scored a two-mile penetration and got in behind some of the American positions. This also was the case on the right.

"Where they are all coming from," a staff officer remarked, "I can't figure out. We have put all our artillery on them, the air has been pounding the hell out of them, and our automatic weapons and rifles are still firing at them — but still they come."

After several hours of stiff fighting one Chinese regiment succeeded in turning the Americans' right flank and the enemy began to head down a gully toward Seoul.

Between Uijongbu and Seoul, through a failure in radio equipment, a column of American doughboys was strafed twice by Allied aircraft. Casualties were not known.

Just as I was about to leave a regimental command post for the trip back to Seoul, about 200 U.S. soldiers were brought in by truck. They looked young, clean and fresh.

One officer, asked who these men might be, snapped, " replacements." He added:

"If these kids only knew what they were getting into."

The officer said many of them had never before seen combat. It would not be long.

Letters to the Editor

Daily Iowan Attacked . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

I wish to express an immediate protest against the repulsive language which The Daily Iowan allowed to be used in an article entitled "Chinese New Year's Attack More Savage than Taejon."

This article, which appeared, found it necessary to run a verbatim report of a United Press article in which a certain Sgt. James G. Cumstey, in the true American democratic fashion, referred to the Chinese soldiers in Korea as "laundymen" and "Chinks."

It is a pretty sad commentary upon America in general when our troops find it necessary to repeat this vicious type of Ku Klux Klan language, but it's even more appalling when a student newspaper descends to these levels of indecent and obnoxious journalism.

In case the Iowan doesn't yet know it, we are now supposed to be fighting for democracy. Is that what the Iowan calls democracy? Isn't the Iowan aware that this summer another equally offensive word reached such widespread use among our troops in Korea that Gen. Douglas MacArthur himself had to issue an order forbidding its further use on the grounds that it was injurious to American policy in Asia?

Whether the Iowan is aware of these facts or not, God only knows. But one thing the Iowan ought to be aware of is that it is supposed to represent the student body on this campus, and even if no one else on that student body were offended by this crude terminology, I'm quite sure that the Chinese students themselves would find it rather annoying. And right behind the Chinese students would follow all the other foreign students, all colored students of American descent, and finally the large majority of white, native-born students who realize how vicious and incorrect this type of language is.

Now does the fact that this was a United Press story in any way alter the situation. The Iowan could, if it wished to, have adopted any one of three policies:

- 1. Run the story, but alter it slightly so that the debatable language was left out.
- 2. Run the article but substitute tute legitimate words such as Chinese, Reds, etc., for those that were used.

3. Not run the story at all. The law says that anyone who aids or abets a criminal is equally guilty with that person. The Iowan has aided the UP by printing this story and therefore must be considered equally guilty. It, therefore, owes the student body of this campus an immediate apology, and a promise to be more careful about what articles it runs in the future.

Charles Muhlstock

Editor's Comment:

Sitting in the warmth and security of The Daily Iowan office, we feel just as strongly about the words as does Mr. Muhlstock.

However, the sergeant's circumstances probably weren't conducive to broadmindedness. The sergeant probably would have found it difficult to put himself into a love-thy-enemy frame of mind for the reporter — so no one at home would be offended.

The bullets he dodged were fired by the persons he referred to in using the words. Those bullets might have killed him. As a matter of fact, the sergeant might be dead at this writing — because of more of the same bullets.

If he's alive, his chances of living are considerably fewer than Mr. Muhlstock's or ours. If he's alive, he's probably living in the open 24 hours a day — in near-zero weather.

And if he dies in Korea — a very, very real death — it probably will be at the hands of the persons he referred to in using the words.

Perhaps for the benefit of Mr. Muhlstock and the foreign students on campus, we shouldn't identify our enemy in any manner. There's no point in creating ill feelings against the enemy.

But even if we refrain from using the words which wounded Mr. Muhlstock's sensitivity, we'd feel a little embarrassed if we asked the sergeant to choose his words more carefully.

He might remind us of the warmth and security of The Daily Iowan office — in words stronger than those which offended Mr. Muhlstock.

Hawks Near Completion Of Drills For League Opener Against Purdue

Iowa's Hawkeyes concentrated on defense Thursday as they neared the end of preparations for Saturday night's first conference game against Purdue.

Purdue enters the battle one game to the bad in league play. Michigan nipped the Boilermakers 61-60 in a Tuesday night tussle at Lafayette.

Purdue a Fast Team
Purdue is long on speed this year and short on height and experience, scouting reports show. The Boilermakers lost four of seven non-conference games, but included in this schedule were such national powers as Kansas State, Kentucky and Bradley.

Purdue's top scorer is Carl McNulty, a junior forward who has scored 116 points for a 15 per cent average. A sophomore guard, John Dermody, is second highest scorer with 75, and another second year man, John Server is third with 60. Purdue is coached this season by Ray Eddy, former Boilermaker star now in his first year at the Indiana school.

Coach Rollie Williams is expected to stick with the starting lineup used in the past four straight victories. This has Frank Calsbeek and Herb Thompson at forwards, Chuck Darling at center and Fred Ruck and "Skip" Greene at guards.

Darling Leads Hawks
Darling is Iowa's leading scorer and seventh in the country with a 20.1 game average. Calsbeek has rallied to a 12.4 average after being crippled in early games with a now healed thigh injury.

The Iowa junior varsity plays the Wisconsin JV team in a preliminary game starting at 6 p.m.

JOCKEY INJURED
ARCADIA, CALIF. (AP) — Veteran jockey Johnny Gilbert was seriously injured Thursday in a spectacular spill that marked the running of the sixth race at Santa Anita park.

Iowa Wrestlers Meet Wisconsin

The first of seven Big Ten dual meets for Iowa's wrestling team will be held Saturday when the Hawkeyes meet Wisconsin at Madison.

Iowa opened its season Dec. 16 with a 23-3 victory over Omaha university at Omaha, while the Badgers hold an 18-13 win over Northwestern.

Coach Mike Howard has selected the same personnel who took part in the Omaha meet to compete at Wisconsin.

That will have Manual Macias, 123 pounds; Phil Duggan, 130; John Dermody, 137; Dick Hickentbottom, 147; Ralph Thomas, 157; Dick Peterson, 167; Bob Lage, 177, and Captain Joe Paulsen, heavyweight.

Iowa defeated Wisconsin last season, 15-11.

Michigan Named Homecoming Foe
Michigan, recent Rose Bowl winner and Big Ten champion, has been named as Iowa's homecoming opponent for the 1951 season.

The Wolverines will be making their first appearance in the Iowa stadium since 1937. The game is scheduled for Oct. 20.

Athletic Director Paul Brechler, who made the announcement, also said that the Minnesota game of Nov. 3 would be the Dad's day affair. It is the final home game on the Iowa schedule.

College Scores
Missouri 66, Houston 43
Texas A&M 59, Rice 39
Bradley 69, Detroit 63

In Training

ENGLISH CHANNEL SWIMMER Florence Chadwick, who last August set a women's record for the swim of 13 hours, 20 minutes, is now in training at Miami Beach, Fla. for another try next summer. Miss Chadwick swam from France to England in her record breaking jaunt. This time, just for variety, she plans to swim from England to France.

Bradley Wins, 69-65

DETROIT (AP) — Bradley university, the nation's No. 1 basketball team, stretched its winning streak to 14 games Thursday night by defeating the University of Detroit, 69-65, in a Missouri Valley conference game before 6,800 fans.

Led by little Gene Melchiorre, five-foot eight-inch guard who is a good bet for all-America honors, Bradley wore down a stubborn Detroit team in the second half to keep its season record clean.

After Improved Showing, Louis Faces Shortage of Opponents

DETROIT (UP) — Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing club, said Thursday that Joe Louis faces a shortage of suitable opponents to condition him for a second shot at heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles.

The Brown Bomber was a little too impressive in his technical knockout triumph over Freddie Beshore Wednesday night.

Serious Problem
"Louis realizes that he's confronted with a serious problem, of maintaining the fine edge he developed for Beshore," Norris said. "We are trying to arrange a program of a fight every three weeks for Joe. But now that he's improved so much, there are fewer suitable boys to match him against."

Norris explained that Louis showed so much more of his old savage punching in stopping Beshore with a severe cut over his left eye that fighters once considered as likely foes on the Brown Bomber's comeback schedule are "out of the question now."

"We've got to keep Louis busy against steadily better fighters or he not only won't be able to improve, but won't be able to hold the condition he's in now," Norris added.

Possible Louis-Charles Bout
The IBC director declined to make an outright announcement of a June outdoor bout in New York between Louis and Charles but admitted that a heavy schedule of tune-up fights is trying to be arranged for Louis to prepare him for such a title scrap.

Norris said that he is trying to sign worthy opponents for Louis to meet Jan. 21 in St. Louis and Feb. 7 in Miami.

All Local Teams In Action Tonight; Hawklets Play Clinton

Shooting for a possible first-place in the Mississippi Valley league cage standings, the Little Hawks of Iowa City meet Clinton here tonight. Game time is 8 p.m.

Iowa City dropped three straight games to the River Kings last season.

League - leading Davenport (3-0) faces the Dubuque Rams in the other key game to decide the top run team.

Paced by leading scorer Bob Witt, the River Kings have scored league wins over McKinley and Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids. Both Iowa City and Clinton have suffered their single loop setbacks at the hands of Davenport.

Coach Ed Raschke will send a rangy crew against the Little Hawks. The regulars include center Bob Hansen (6-2), Allen Marr (6-3) and Jim Fisher (6-2).

Iowa City will start the usual team of Forwards Gene Brawner and Jerry White, Center Jim Freeman and Guards Mickey Moore and Duane Davis.

Meanwhile, the city's three other high schools are also in action. University high entertains Junction while St. Mary's plays at Muscatine Catholic and St. Pat's plays St. Wenceslaus in Cedar Rapids.

Some Pleasant Moments —

Iowa Sports Review of '50

(This is the first in a series of stories reviewing Iowa athletics in 1950.)

By DICK JACKMAN

1950 — The mid-century mark — was a banner year in the sports world and a very full and exciting one for Iowa athletics. Hawkeye highlights stretched out over 12 months viewed several coaching turnovers, some pleasantly triumphant moments, and other moments not quite so pleasant.

January offered a touch of most everything in a sporting way. Football ushered in the year when Iowa sent two representatives to play in the annual Blue-Gray all-star game on New Year's Eve. Tackle Don Winslow and End Bob McKenzie were starters on the North squad which faded and lost, 27-13, to the Rebels.

Play Utah State
Iowa's basketball team, which flourished in an 8-1 record, "tuned-up" for the Big Ten season with Utah State. However, the westerners gave the Hawks all they wanted before falling, 62-58. Center Frank Calsbeek posted 32 points, Forward Bob Volders hit 18 and Guard Bob Clifton added 13 for 53 of the Iowa points.

After the game Coach Pops Harrison said he wasn't pleased with Iowa's play and five days later Michigan rudely welcomed the Hawks into the big show by hanging a 66-46 loss on the Iowa team at Ann Arbor despite Clifton's 25 points. Things changed Jan. 14.

Iowa entertained speedy Indiana here and the Hawks outlasted the Hoosiers 65-64 in the flashiest game of the season. For Calsbeek the ball went through the basket as if it appreciated the opportunity — he collected 32 points in his biggest scoring outburst of the season. Volders chipped in 20 while Bill Garrett paced the Hoosiers. The same day Iowa's swimming team got into action splashing to an easy win over Wisconsin. Rusty Garst showed the way in the free style sprints as the Hawks took first in every event except one.

Coach Mike Howard's wrestler's also opened their season beating Wisconsin, 16-11, on late decisions by Joe Scarpello and Joe Paulsen. The gymnastics squad lost to Nebraska, 54-42, while Clair Jennett accumulated 14 points for Iowa.

On Monday, Jan. 16, Pops Harrison stepped out of the basketball coaching job under doctor's orders to protect his health. Freshman Coach Bucky O'Connor took over the varsity post, taking the squad to Purdue and watching them beaten, 64-55, although Clifton again turned in a good road game, hitting 16 points. O'Connor used 11 men.

Wrestlers Rally
On Jan. 18, the Iowa wrestlers came from behind to defeat Wheaton, 16-14 when Scarpello scored a fall and Paulsen rallied to decision 280 pound Dick Simmons in the money match. Clifton and Calsbeek were tied for sixth in the Big Ten cage scoring race.

Iowa tripped Northwestern, 61-56, on Jan. 21 but two days later the Hawks couldn't dent Ohio State's title march and fell to the Buckeyes, 68-54.

By late January, Calsbeek led Iowa scorers with 207 points in 14 games. Marcellus Boston joined the Iowa track squad as it prepared for its indoor debut in February against Marquette. Russ Merkel and Duwayne Dietz equalled the 70-yard low hurdle fieldhouse record of .308 — a record Merkel already held.

Iowa saved its big news for Jan. 28 when Head Football Coach Eddie Anderson resigned to return to Holy Cross. Anderson turned in his resignation after coming to Iowa in 1939. His record at Iowa, interrupted by military service, was 35 wins, 33 losses and a pair of ties.

Rumors were like water as to who the new coach would be. The month ended with such names as Don Faurot, Paul Brown, Leonard Raffensperger, Howie Odell, Jim Tatum, Bud Wilkinson, Frank Carideo, Bernie Crimmins and every coach on both sides of the Mississippi being mentioned for the job.

Stassforth Member Of U.S. Swim Team

Bowen Stassforth, Iowa's all-American breast stroker, has been selected as a member of the United States swimming team for the Pan-American games in Buenos Aires, Argentina, Feb. 25 to March 8.

Stassforth did not enroll at Iowa this year but is expected to return next year.

In a letter to Iowa Coach Dave Armbruster from his home at Los Angeles, Stassforth said that he was chosen on the United States squad by Ohio State Coach Mike Pepe who is handling the team.

He said that he has started to workout at the UCLA pool and will come to Iowa City next month to complete his training under Armbruster's direction.

Crippled 7-Year-Old Presented Special Chair

By MARIAN PETKOVSEK
Seven-year-old Judy Ditmars was lifted from her hospital bed Thursday and flashing a smile as big as the hearts of Iowa City Press and Radio club members and the citizens of three states, relaxed in her new reclining-back wheelchair. She was confident there were good things in store.

Judy's story dates back to last June when Iowa City newsmen learned that in order for her to attend the hospital school for severely handicapped children here she had to have a special wheelchair. It would have to enable her to lie down without being consistently moved to her bed.

Crippled from polio in 1948, Judy, who lives in Malvern, Iowa, is able to sit up only three hours every day.

Fund Surpasses Goal
Members of the Iowa City Press and Radio club began a "Fund for Judy" drive which surpassed a goal of $150 within a month.

Publicized by the Daily Iowan, the Iowa City Press-Citizen, radio stations WSUI and KXIC, and The Associated Press, the drive received contributions from every section of Iowa and from citizens in Illinois and Wisconsin.

At the end of one month, $158.35 had been received to purchase the $150 chair which arrived Thursday from California. The additional money was given Judy with the special chair.

Judy Crippled Below Waist
Crippled from the waist down, Judy wears cumbersome leg braces and is learning to use her arms and hands, which were weakened by polio. She has been a student at the hospital school since September.

The chair will enable her to participate in activities without being moved to her bed, even though she must remain in a reclining position 21 hours of the day. The chair was presented to Judy Thursday afternoon by Eric C. Wilson, president of the Press and Radio club, and Roger Hipsley, A3, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, a member of the club's board of directors.

RAIL COMMITTEES MEET
CLEVELAND (AP) — Committees from two operating brotherhoods met jointly Thursday night to draw up recommendations on a proposed three-year pact with the nation's railroads.

(Daily Iowan Photo)
THE "FUND FOR JUDY" DRIVE started by Iowa City newsmen early last summer brought happiness Thursday to Judy Ditmars, 7, of Malvern, Iowa, a student at the hospital school for severely handicapped children, when her special reclining-back chair arrived. Citizens of three states contributed funds to purchase the chair which will enable Judy, crippled from polio, to participate in activities in a reclining position without being moved to her bed. She is shown here with Eric C. Wilson (right), president of the Iowa City Press and Radio club, and Roger Hipsley, A3, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, member of the club's board of directors. The two presented her with the chair and an additional $6.35 left in the fund.

Council-Manager Salary Increase Proposed

Iowa City councilmen may get a $200 a year pay increase under the council-manager form of government in March—should a proposal made to the state legislature Thursday be passed.

The municipal statutes study committee of the legislature made the proposal, asking that aldermen under the council-manager plan in cities of 15,000 to 30,000 population receive $500 a year, and $1,000 in cities over 30,000.

Iowa City now pays its councilman $300 a year under the mayor-council form of government, but will change to the council-manager form the last week in March.

On course, the "pay increase" may not apply to the present councilmen because a new city election will be held in March. Voters will elect only five aldermen rather than the present seven.

District Court Cuts Fine Levied Against Driver

An appeal to district court from police court saved J. W. Speers, Oxford, $27.50 on a charge of failure to have his vehicle under control. In police court he was fined $52.50; he was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty in Johnson county district court.

Habeus Corpus Hearing Set In Check Case

A habeus corpus hearing was set for Jan. 11 by Judge Harold D. Evans on a writ filed by Clarence Kriz of Cedar Rapids Thursday against Sheriff Albert J. Murphy.

Kriz, residing at the moment in Johnson county jail, first tried walking out of jail to freedom but didn't get very far for very long, so he had his attorney, J. Newman Toomey, file the habeus corpus.

(A writ of habeus corpus is a petition to the court to decide whether or not a person is being illegally restrained by someone else.)

Kriz was originally sent to jail by Judge Harold D. Evans last Sept. 16 when Kriz pleaded guilty to a charge of check forgery. "It appears to the court," the judge wrote in the sentencing order, "that the defendant has already been confined in Johnson county jail on this charge for a period of three months and he is hereby given credit for said three months, and at the end of three months he may be discharged on condition that restitution has been made for the amount of money involved in this case."

On the basis of this, Kriz walked out of jail Dec. 17 during church services, but was pursued by Sheriff Murphy and returned. Kriz claims in his petition that he was due to be released on Dec. 17 because he had served his six month sentence including the three months before trial even though he had not paid back the money.

His petition says the stipulation in the sentence is contrary to the Iowa Constitution which says a man may not be imprisoned for debt in any civil action (Art. I, sec. 19).

Reds Will Force UN To Abandon Korea, AP Writer Predicts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Don Whitehead, veteran Associated Press war correspondent, predicted Wednesday the Communists will drive the United Nations out of Korea but it will be a fighting withdrawal.

The Red manpower is just too much for the Allies, he said in an interview on his return from five months at the front.

"We can hold a beachhead in Korea indefinitely if we are willing to spend the manpower," he said. "But Korea isn't the place for a major effort against communism."

Not Enough Men

"We don't have enough men to fight the kind of Indian warfare we are fighting in Korea. We can't beat 'em on a manpower basis. We can only hope to beat 'em on a production basis — out-produce them and wreck their production facilities."

"Here's an example of the manpower odds against us: 'One American battalion killed 600 Chinese Reds in a single action and lost 31 of its own men. That sounds like we were winning, but the odds against that battalion were actually greater than the 20-to-1 casualties.'"

"We can't afford that kind of loss, a division commander told me afterwards."

Veteran of War II

Whitehead, veteran reporter of World War II action in Europe, arrived in Korea for a second frontline reporting job in July, when the Allies were pulling back from bloody Taejon to the Nak-tong river line.

He covered the heartbreaking withdrawal back into the Pusan perimeter in southeast Korea. The big allied comeback found Whitehead crossing the Han river with the U.S. marines fighting into Seoul.

He went north to Pyongyang with the Allied forces. The round-the-clock drive that a correspondent must undergo for days on end cost Whitehead 25 pounds.

Roberts Points Out Value of Economics

Many world problems, even the Korean crisis, can be better understood with an understanding of the economics involved, Prof. Hew Roberts of the SUI college of education, said in a talk at Fairfield Thursday night.

Roberts and Prof. Paul R. Olson and Clark Bloom, of the economics department, formed a panel in the first session of the Fairfield experiment.

Covering ten sessions, until April 5, the experiment is an attempt to bring increased understanding to Fairfield adults of economic affairs and influences.

Besides ideological conflicts of the Korean crisis, many powerful economic forces are involved, Roberts said.

He pointed out as an example Japan, which, as the "factory" of the Orient, figures into present considerations far more than for political reasons.

Four more auto accidents, involving five SUI students, were reported to Iowa City police Thursday as icy streets continued to bring motorists together. Damages totaled $481.50.

Damages estimated at $225 resulted from a collision at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of Clinton and Jefferson streets. Drivers were Gaylord L. Savelle, A2, Traer, and David M. Stanley, L1, Iowa City.

An accident of 5:05 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of Jefferson and Van Buren streets caused damages estimated at more than $50 to cars driven by Daniel D. Harbit, West Liberty, and James F. McEldeery, E2, Centerville.

Cars driven by Richard D. Kratetz, A1, Iowa City, and Montgomery Jones, 725 Fourth avenue, collided at 7:25 a.m. Monday at the intersection on Muscatine avenue and College street causing damages estimated at $82.50.

Damages estimated at $124 resulted from a two car mishap between 9 and 10 p.m. Monday on the Iowa avenue bridge 40 feet east of Riverside drive. Drivers were listed as Paul L. Carter, 808 E. Davenport street, and Glen Danielson, C4, Albert City.

50 Pick Up Cards For Alien Registration

At least 50 persons, most of them SUI students or their wives, had taken out alien registration cards by Thursday, the Iowa City postoffice announced. Twenty-five cards had been returned. The forms are due back at the postoffice by Jan. 10. From Jan. 10 to Jan. 24, an explanation of the filing will be required. After Jan. 24, an alien who has not returned a card will be subject to a $100 fine and 30 days in jail.

Post office officials reminded aliens who register to be sure to include their visa number on the registration form.

The registration is for aliens who entered the U. S. on immigration visas but have not taken out citizenship papers and for aliens with other types of visas who have overstayed the time limit.

UN Delegates Discuss Action Against China

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — Joint United Nations action against Communist Chinese aggression was reported favored Thursday by some delegates in consultations on what the UN should do about the Korean crisis.

These delegates were said to feel that the UN cannot be peeping forever for a cease fire. Worried UN delegates went through a round of intensive talks on the next step, with the United States reported seeking support for a move to declare the Chinese Reds the aggressors in Korea.

Delegates of 6 Nations Meet. Delegates of the United States, France, Britain, Cuba, Ecuador, and Norway met Thursday afternoon for the second time in two days on the problem.

UN officials and delegates noted without comment President Truman's statement at his news conference that the U.S. will not bomb Red China without UN permission, and is not considering asking for such permission.

U.S. May Ask Sanctions. There were reports that the United States wants the political committee — and eventually the general assembly — to declare Red China the aggressor.

After that step, the United States was reported not yet decided what to do, but there was a possibility the U.S. might ask for economic sanctions, which means a blockade of Red China.

Some delegates of smaller countries raised the possibility of UN action under the general assembly resolution approved Nov. 3, 1950.

Drake Fraternity Placed on Probation

DES MOINES (AP) — The Drake university chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, has been placed on probation for an indefinite period, it was learned Thursday.

Robert B. Kamm, dean of students, said that university officials took action against the fraternity in following up an investigation and report on a Sigma Delta Chi-sponsored humor magazine, the Jester.

A faculty committee ordered the Jester removed from newsstands last November. The committee found displeasure with the magazine's brand of jokes, cartoons and short stories.

Action against the fraternity was in the nature of an "official warning," Kamm said. He added that Sigma Delta Chi was still an approved organization, but that it had better beware of any future publications of "a similar nature."

SUI Library Director To Attend Board Meeting

Ralph E. Ellsworth, director of SUI libraries and a member of the board of directors for the Midwestern Inter-Library center, will attend a meeting of the board in Chicago Friday.

The center is a storage depot for 21 midwestern colleges and universities. SUI will store thousands of books at the center later this year when SUI libraries move into the new building at the corner of Washington and Madison streets.

Marketers See Goods Distribution Problem

The distribution of scarce consumer goods fairly and keeping everyone happy in the process are problems which the marketing profession must solve in 1951, Prof. Wendell R. Smith, college of commerce, said Thursday night.

Speaking at a dinner meeting of the Cedar Rapids chamber of commerce, Smith said marketers will face a new challenge in 1951 due to the problems created by "half-mobilization."

Half Mobilization Different. Marketers know how to work in either a completely free economy or in a wartime economy of total mobilization but "working in an economy of half-mobilization is something different."

Smith referred to plans proposed for 1951 by marketers at the meeting of the American Marketing association last month. He said one plan called for doubling up of salesmen as more and more of them entered military service.

The plan would include rearranging sales territories, using more women, finding new methods of paying salesmen, broadening product lines and encouraging more trade association and public relations work. Prof. William A. Knoke, of the college of commerce, reported a new high in retail sales was reached in 1950.

Persons dipping into savings in order to spend, widespread use of consumer credit, and the high level of business activity were responsible for the retail sales peak.

Selling Prospects Uncertain. Retail selling prospects will be uncertain in 1951 due to government tax and credit and saving policies which encourage saving and drain off income, Knoke said.

Prof. John V. Lund, head of the advertising sequence of the school of journalism, said that 2.5 percent of the nation's total income, or $5.2-billion was spent on advertising last year.

Over 36 percent of this sum went for newspaper advertising and 12 percent for radio advertising.

Prof. C. Woody Thompson, director of the bureau of business and economic research, was panel moderator for the discussion.
