Coal Industry, Lewis Agree On Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis and representatives of virtually the entire soft coal industry agreed Thursday on a voluntary pay increase of $1.60 a day—without a strike or a name being called.

'Not that Happy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — News photographers asked John L. Lewis to give them a smile Thursday after winning a $1.60 daily wage increase for his soft coal miners. The United Mine Workers' chief managed a smile of sorts. "Oh, let's have a great big smile," one of the cameramen called. "I am happy," Lewis glowered at him, "but not that happy."

The operators said it will have to be accompanied by an increase of five or six percent—maybe more—in the price of coal.

When price stabilization director Michael V. DiSalle heard of this he said: "Any general increase in coal prices will be referred to our coal experts for study in relation to our current voluntary standards. On the basis of this study, we might ask for a conference with representatives of the industry."

The "voluntary standards" were set forth by DiSalle's office a month ago. They are designed in general to avert any price increases that would enable a firm to make greater profits than it was making before the Korean war.

Neither Lewis nor the operators, however, appeared worried by the possibility that the agreement might not be approved under the government's wage-price controls when they are imposed.

Councilman Explains 'Service Charge' of New Book Exchange

Jim Fahrner, chairman of the student council book exchange committee, Thursday night explained at a council meeting the 10 percent "service charge" the council plans to deduct from the sale price of books.

Two percent will go to the SUI treasurer's office for handling the financial end, two percent to the state for sales tax and six percent to the exchange itself for expenses, he said.

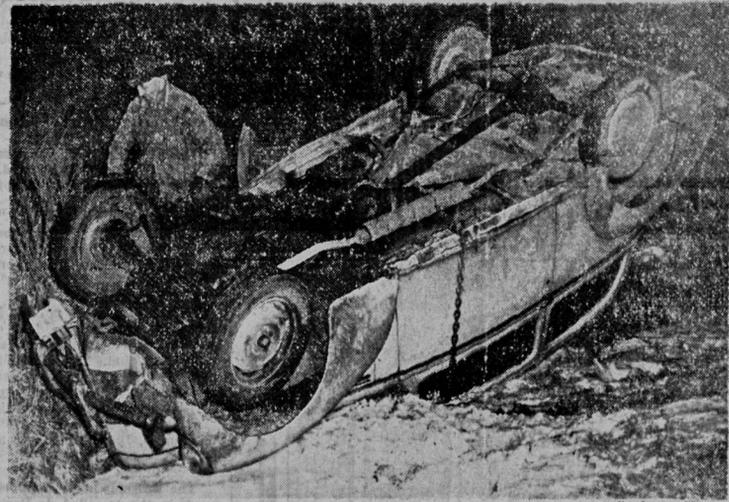

The exchange, a non-profit organization set up for students to buy and sell used textbooks, is scheduled to be open from Jan. 31 to Feb. 9. It will be located in the council office in Old Dental building.

The council left for its next meeting a final vote on an amendment that would provide a two week overlapping of terms for council members. This overlapping is to familiarize newly elected members with council procedure. The council's new public relations committee, headed by Bob Day, A3, Montezuma, was presented at the meeting. Also on the committee are Robert Levitt, A3, and Margaret McRoberts, A3, both of Des Moines.

1952 Tax Assessment To Include TV Sets

Television sets in Johnson county and Iowa City will be included in their owner's 1952 property tax assessments, at $3 to $12 per set.

Johnson county assessor Guy Moore and Iowa City assessor Frank Nesvacil Wednesday said the amount of the assessment will depend primarily on the cost and size of the set.

THE DRIVER OF THIS CAR was pinned inside for a short time following an accident on highway 218 two miles north of North Liberty early Thursday morning, but managed to escape uninjured. The driver, William G. Hauser, 1927 Sheridan avenue, was released from Johnson county jail on $1,000 bond after patrolmen filed OMVI charges against him. The man shown at left is Joe Soukup, North Liberty, employe of an Iowa City wrecker service.

Truman Would Like Approval Of Senate on Troops Issue

WASHINGTON — President Truman said Thursday he would welcome a declaration from the senate approving the sending of American troops to Europe for an international army of defense.

He repeated at a news conference that he has the constitutional right to order troops anywhere without congressional sanction. But, under questioning, he said he would appreciate highly an affirmative expression of support from congress.

10 Cent Charge on Local Phone Calls Effective Today

The nickel phone call in Iowa City will go the way of the five cent cigar and the nickel beer starting today.

Local phone calls made from pay telephones will cost 10 cents, Roy A. Williams, manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company here, announced Thursday.

Since certain adjustments must be made to each pay telephone, some early callers may make their calls for a nickel.

Williams said it will take most of the day before the change in rates will become effective at all pay stations in the city.

There will be no change in the manner of placing local calls from a public telephone, except that users will deposit either two nickels or one dime for each call. The deposit of one nickel will not operate the telephone.

Other Iowa cities will introduce the 10 cent charge for local calls from pay telephones as soon as adjustments are made. These cities include Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Council Bluffs, Waterloo, Davenport, Ottumwa, Clinton and Mason City.

Interfraternity Dance Tonight

Charley Spivak's band will play for the interfraternity dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. today in the main lounge of the Iowa Union.

The queen and four attendants, selected by the interfraternity council from candidates of the 20 fraternities, will be presented at the intermission.

An intermission coffee hour will be held for the queen and her court, housemothers, house presidents and guests.

Local Man Charged With Drunk Driving Following Accident

William G. Hauser, 1927 Sheridan avenue, Thursday was charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated following an accident at 1:24 a.m. Thursday on highway 218, two miles north of North Liberty.

Hauser was temporarily pinned in his car when it overturned in the ditch but managed to free himself by the time highway patrolmen arrived.

Patrolmen filed OMVI charges against Hauser and he was released from jail on $1,000 bond. He was fined $300 on the same charge in 1948.

Three other auto accidents were reported to Iowa City police Thursday.

Damages estimated at $100 resulted from a collision at 10:15 p.m. Wednesday on Madison street 100 feet north of Jefferson street. Drivers were John E. Green, 821 Iowa avenue, and James W. Smith, route 7.

Cars driven by Lola G. Selby, Woodlawn apartments, and Edward W. Paulus, 237 Ferson avenue, collided Monday at 7:40 a.m. in the 600 block on North Duquesne street.

Damages estimated at $60 resulted from an accident last week at the intersection of highway 218 and W. Benton street, involving Russell Poggenpohl, 307 S. Madison street, and Mrs. Edith Maher, route 4.

Eleven Killed In Mine Blast

KERMIT, W. VA. (AP)—Eleven men were killed Thursday in an underground explosion that ripped through the Burning Springs coal mine.

Eight bodies were located by rescue teams shortly after they dug their way through slides blocking the tunnel, and three more dead were discovered Thursday night by searchers combing the area.

Two others were injured in the blast, one critically. State Mine Chief Arch Alexander, who hurried here from Charleston, said the explosion was caused by a "gaseous condition" in the mine.

The blast occurred at 1:10 p.m. about 4,000 feet back in one section of the 32-year-old pit.

U.S. Calls On UN To Condemn Chinese Reds As Aggressors

French Back U.S. Action; Others Hesitant

LONDON (AP) — Many nations of the non-Communist world seemed unhappy and uncertain Thursday night over Red China's reply to the UN cease-fire proposal for Korea.

France officially said she was ready to brand Communist China an aggressor. But she advised caution — a look before you leap attitude.

The British cabinet met to decide what instructions to send its UN delegate, Sir Gladwyn Jebb. Nehru sticks by belief

Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru stuck by his belief that the Red Chinese reply "does not constitute a rejection, pure and simple," of the cease-fire proposal.

A similar view was expressed by Canada's external affairs minister, L. B. Pearson, who was a member of the original UN cease-fire committee.

He told a news conference in Ottawa, however, that there was considerable ambiguity in the language used and indicated he felt steps should be taken to get a clearer understanding of what the Chinese mean.

No Moscow Comment In Sydney, Australian External Affairs Minister Percy Spender declared it "will be a great tragedy for the free world if divided councils prevent the UN from presenting a united and determined front in the situation which has developed."

Peiping's suggestion that Egypt take part in a 7-nation conference on Far Eastern disputes brought from Egyptian Foreign Minister Salah El Din a cautious comment that the "international situation is in a state of crisis."

In Moscow, the controlled press published the reply from Peiping, but carried no editorial comment.

132nd Fighter Wing Called to Active Duty

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. William S. Beardsley announced Thursday that the 132nd fighter wing, which comprises most of the Iowa air national guard, has been ordered to federal service April 1.

The order affects the 132nd fighter group, 132nd maintenance and supply group, 132nd medical group, 124th fighter squadron and 124th weather station, all of Des Moines, and the 174th fighter squadron and 174th weather station of Sioux City.

Reds Move Ominously; Assault Expected Soon

TOKYO (AP) — An Allied patrol, testing Communist readiness for an expected new Red offensive, found jolting opposition Thursday on the Western front where none existed in three previous days of probing.

The Allied unit escaped entrapment by two companies of Chinese

Reds at Kunyangjang, 25 miles southeast of Seoul, after a fierce street fight of an hour and a half.

Red troops were reported moving ominously on the central front and in eastern Korea. U.S. Eighth army field commanders said they believed the presence of two Red companies in Kunyangjang Thursday and a battalion contacted east of the city the day before was an indication that the expected mass assault was not far off.

"All hell might break loose soon," one officer said. The Red units found in Kunyangjang were believed to be advancing elements of 100,000 Chinese Communists moving south from Seoul for a fresh all-out smash at the Eighth army.

Associated Press Correspondent Jim Becker reported from that front the Allied patrol suffered some casualties and some loss of equipment in the Kunyangjang fight. How many, censorship did not allow him to say.

There was an uneasy lull in other places along the front. The lack of opposition was similar to that before the other two Chinese offensives.

22 from County, Largest Group Yet, Leave for Induction

Johnson county's largest draft induction call, 22 men, left early this morning for Des Moines and ultimately Ft. Sheridan, Ill., to be processed into the army.

The men ranged in age from 22 to 25, the local board said. To date Johnson county has sent 67 men for induction into the armed services.

Those who left today are John Edgar Boyle, 335 S. Clinton street; Donald R. Calkins, 1318 I street; David R. Crain, route 4; Robert R. Gay, 506 S. Dodge street; Dale R. Hammer, route 1; Kenneth W. Hein, 117 Clapp street; Robert J. Laughlin, 811 S. Van Buren street.

Leo E. Lenz, route 6; Leslie L. Miller, 920 Ginter street; Kenneth R. Schnobelen, route 5; John J. Shrader, 209 Koser avenue; Francis J. Thomas, 403 S. Johnson street; Kenneth E. White, route 2; Robert E. Zeithamel, route 4.

Leroy B. Hall, who transferred his induction from Phoenix, Ariz., also left from Iowa City.

U.S. Casualties Rise to 45,137

WASHINGTON (AP) — Announced American casualties in the Korean war mounted to 45,137 Thursday, an increase of 2,424 over the previous week.

The department of defense said notification had gone to the kin of that many fighting men through Jan. 12.

The department said 6,509 were killed outright, 772 died of wounds, and 22 men originally listed as missing in action have been determined to be dead. Thus the death toll stood at 7,303.

Wounded totaled 29,951, including the 772 who later died. The missing total of 8,677 included 822 men who since have returned to American control and 108 known prisoners of war.

The casualties by services:

Service	Killed	Wounded	Missing	Total
Army	1,116	6,008	298	7,332
Navy	36	372	68	476
Airforce	129	27	197	353
Totals	6,509	29,951	8,677	45,137

Expect Formal U.S. Proposal To UN Today

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — The United States called on the UN Thursday to condemn the Chinese Communists as aggressors and to consider immediately what action to take against Peking.

American Delegate Warren R. Austin told the general assembly's 60-nation political committee that, with the UN's cease-fire offer rejected by Red China, the UN must now call the Communists' action in Korea what it is — "aggression."

However, the United States postponed introduction of a formal resolution — probably until today — to allow time to round up as many co-sponsors as possible.

Under the UN charter, punishment action against the Chinese Communists could range from economic and diplomatic sanctions to outright military measures against Chinese territory.

Austin laid the following points before the political committee:

1. Condemnation of Red China as an aggressor.
2. A call by the general assembly upon the Peiping regime to cease hostilities and withdraw its forces from Korea.
3. A re-affirmation of the UN intention to continue its efforts to meet aggression in Korea.
4. A call by the assembly upon all countries and authorities to lend their assistance to the UN and to refrain from giving any assistance to the aggressors.
5. Recommendations from the collective measures committee on the next steps. The U.S. is reported to be favoring economic sanctions but Austin did not say so at this time.
6. Organization of a UN group which will at all times be ready to use its good offices toward stopping the fighting in Korea by peaceful means and settling peacefully the problems of Korea.

Expect Sellouts for Final Panacea Shows

Panacea ticket offices are expecting sellout crowds for the last two shows tonight and Saturday. The offices reported Thursday that ticket sales have been "moving briskly."

The Panacea show this year is "In the Pink," a musical comedy written by Jack Brookings, A4, Wataga, Ill. Music for the show was composed by Phyllis Jordan Schneider, director of the WSUI "Listen and Learn" series, and Merrill Sparks, G, Mount Etna.

Performances begin nightly at Macbride auditorium at 8 p.m.

Airforce Calls 150,000 Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airforce Thursday summoned nearly all its organized reserves, some 150,000 men, for active duty between March 1 and May 15 as part of its drive to expand to 871,000 men and nearly 100 air groups.

The call went out as Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey endorsed the administration's "permanent" 18-year-old draft bill but suggested extending the draft term from 21 to 30 months. The defense department asked only for a 27-month draft.

The airforce called up 33 of its reserve wings — 12 air national guard wings and 21 reserve training center wings. It also summoned a "major part" of the 60,000 individual volunteer reserves not previously called and about 20,000 volunteer reserve officers.

The call to active duty will affect all recognized categories of airforce reservists. Active reservists, whether members of units or as individuals, will be called first as far as practical, air headquarters explained.

A spokesman added that reservists who considered themselves inactive, however, will be summoned to fill important assignments which cannot be filled by active reserve members.

The airforce already has called 10 national guard air wings and a tactical control group, four reserve wings and 50,000 individual reserve officers and airmen. An undesignated number of small reserve and national guard air units also have been called.

The draft bill, sent to the capitol late Wednesday, was introduced in the senate Thursday by Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) of the senate preparedness committee.

Hershey told the group the 18-year-old draft would gear the nation for the "possibility" of all-out war in the "immediate future" and enable it to face the cold-hot war crisis for an indefinite period.

Despite his statement, members of the house armed services committee, after a preliminary look at the bill, displayed a lack of enthusiasm. Reps. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) and Harry L. Towse (R-N.J.) said they would have to be convinced.

The measure will be introduced in the house today. The chamber was not in session Thursday.

Student's Plea Wins Deferment for Teacher

A SEVENTH GRADE PUPIL at Washington school in suburban Riverdale, Ill., Janet Smith (seated), shows a letter from Rear Admiral J. Cary Jones to her teacher, Perry J. Rockwell (left), 26, World War II veteran and a reservist. Rockwell was scheduled to return to active duty Feb. 1 but deferment was granted by Admiral Jones until the end of the school year because of the pleading letter from Janet. Students looking on are Debbie Maxwell (rear) and Barbara Webb (right).

A Step Forward —

SUI can be justly proud of the Gamma Eta Gamma professional law fraternity.

Education generally is considered one of the most effective methods of eliminating intolerance and racial prejudice. And on the basis of this, it is quite natural to expect greater progress in the slow and hard fight for equality to take place in educational institutions.

However, in many cases, we still find the fight to be as hard and long in colleges and universities as anywhere else. A number of court cases since the last war have pointed up the tenacity with which society holds to the old prejudices.

But on the SU! campus, we have a fraternity which today will defy those who hold to those prejudices.

The Gamma Eta Gamma professional law fraternity will initiate its first Negro member.

Victor Moore of Waukegan, Ill., will be initiated at the home of Albert McCallin, L3, here in Iowa City.

Mr. Moore's initiation will be a special one—not for segregation purposes, though. It will be special for a highly commendable purpose. The fraternity arranged the special initiation because Mr. Moore won't be here for the regular initiation later in the spring.

Mr. Moore will be serving his country. He recently dropped out of the law college after he received his call to service as a reserve officer.

This will be the first time in the 35 years legal fraternities have been active on the SUI campus that a Negro had been admitted to one of them.

Several times before we have pointed out in this column how we felt the acceptance of Negroes in each southern college hastened the day when all Americans would have equal rights in all of the nation's educational institutions.

Court action was necessary in the college cases. We could say this was too bad—too bad that it was necessary for one American to need court action in attaining the right to sit beside another American while receiving an education.

However, we're happy that the door has been opened as far as it has.

But in the case of Gamma Eta Gamma no court action was necessary. The initiation will be the result of the respect and admiration a group of Americans hold for another American—a member of their profession.

We salute Gamma Eta Gamma.

Recommends Increase of $600,000 for SUI

In his budget message to the state legislature Wednesday, Gov. William S. Beardsley recommended for SUI an increased appropriation of $600,000 over the total appropriation made in 1949. His recommendation was $5.8-million.

This total was $100,000 short of the appropriation asked for the university in its budget estimate for 1951. The 1951 estimate was $5.9-million; the 1949 appropriation was $5.2-million.

The governor also recommended an increased appropriation of $600,000 for Iowa State college whose 1949 appropriation was $5,200,000. This recommendation paralleled the difference appropriated for the two institutions in 1949, giving Iowa State college $56,000 more than SUI.

The same amount had been asked for both SUI and Iowa State college this year, $5.9-million.

Governor Beardsley recommended an increase over the 1949 appropriations for all the institutions connected with the university except for the lakeside laboratory at Lake Okoboji.

His budget for the laboratory was $3,000, the amount that had been asked for this year, and the same amount appropriated in 1949.

Sharpest deviation from the amount asked and the Beardsley budget recommendation for SUI institutions was for the hospital school for handicapped children.

The figure asked for the school was $304,200 and the amount recommended by the Beardsley budget was $95,000. The amount appropriated for the school in 1949 was $70,000.

Governor Beardsley recommended an increase of $213,000 for the University hospital over the 1949 figure. This was $823,628 short of the $3,616,628 which had been asked.

A $52,000 increase was recommended for the SUI psychopathic hospital over the amount appropriated in 1949. The amount asked was $412,000; the amount recommended was $312,000.

The total recommended for SUI and connected institutions was $9,138,750. The amount appropriated in 1949 was $8,246,750. The amount asked this year was $9,821,791.

Thus the Beardsley budget recommends an increase of $892,000 more than was appropriated in 1949 for SUI and its institutions.

This table shows the major items affecting SUI of the budget presented to the Iowa legislature by Gov. William S. Beardsley Wednesday. The first column gives the amount requested by the 1949 legislature, the second column the amounts requested by state departments for each of the next two years, and the third column the amounts recommended by the governor. All figures are for the state fiscal years starting July 1. Cents figures are omitted.

Sneak Aerial Attack On U.S. Would Bring Immediate Retaliation

By LEIF ERICKSON

TOKYO (AP)—A sneak air attack on the U.S. mainland would bring American aerial retaliation "almost immediately," Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, airforce chief of staff, declared Wednesday.

"Even in undeclared war there would be certain indications which, if properly utilized, should put up into a position to retaliate almost immediately," he told a news conference.

Later Vandenberg and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, took off by plane for Washington. They had visited the Far East command and the Korean battlefronts the past three days.

Vandenberg said it is an airforce maxim that offense is the best defense. "The whole proof of defense against an enemy power is attrition and destruction on the other end," he added. "The American strategic airforce is small but very efficient."

Asked whether the U.S. would not likely be hit by a surprise air attack if a Communist enemy, decided upon a direct assault, Vandenberg replied, "Yes, probably." He then went on to discount the element of surprise and speak of swift avenging action.

He referred to the record on keeping enemy planes out, and said there is a point of diminishing returns in spending for air defense and interceptors.

Britain and her best never knocked down more than eight percent of raiding German bombers during the battle for Britain, he emphasized. The Germans never were able to knock down more than four percent when the tide turned the other way.

The goal of the American air defense system is to achieve a 20 to 30 percent loss ratio against attacking aircraft, "but this would be extraordinary," he said.

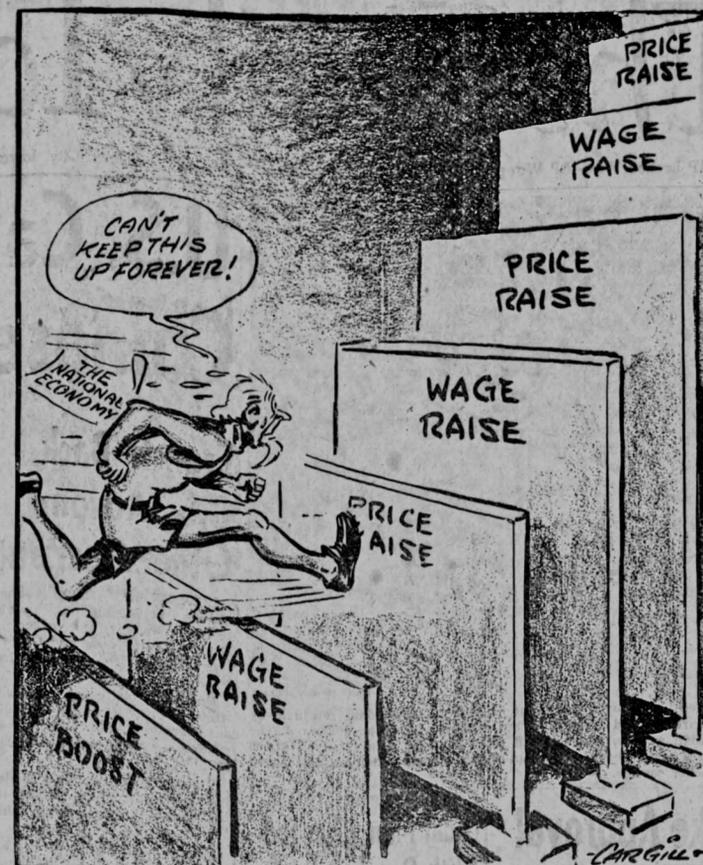

The so-called "radar fence" guarding the air approaches to the U.S. is just being built, he said.

He said it would be "most efficient" to launch strategic attacks on Chinese factories in Manchuria and China to cut their supplies off at the source, "but you understand we can't do that."

There probably isn't a worthwhile target in Korea for the atomic bomb, he said. Asked whether the A-bomb could be used effectively against the Chinese industrial center of Mukden, Vandenberg replied:

"I venture to guess we first would have to find out what military objectives were in the area, and then decide whether to waste an A-bomb. I say 'waste' because perhaps those targets could be destroyed just as well by weapons other than the atomic bomb. It is a weapon which should be used against war-making potential rather than against people."

'Pace That Kills'

Interpreting the News —

Nehru Can Learn from Czech Bargain

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

One thing can be said for the latest passage between the United Nations and the Communist bloc. It has knocked another prop from under the idea that peace can be negotiated when one of the parties actually does not want it.

Prime Minister Nehru of India now seems to be about the only important figure in the non-Communist world who still thinks you can do business with communism.

Nehru is one of the few Socialists left in the world who has failed to recognize the vast difference between socialism and the type of so-called communism which Russia imposes on her satellites and seeks, in one of history's greatest displays of cynicism, to use as a weapon for territorial aggrandizement.

It is Nehru who joins with the Soviet bloc in opposing UN condemnation of China as an aggressor.

It is Nehru who, unwittingly perhaps, encourages a certain element in both Asia and Europe to consider the conflict between the United States and Russia as merely another power fight between the big nations.

As Peiping was broadcasting its rejection of the latest UN ceasefire proposals, it was Nehru who said that, even so, China should not be branded an aggressor.

"All the trouble in the Far East arises from failure of the world to adjust itself to the changes which have taken place in Asia," he added.

That just isn't quite true. A big trouble right now is naked military aggression.

The world has been slow to recognize the inevitability and the meaning of Asia's revolution against Western exploitation. Asia has every right to complain. It has every right to be touchy about anything that might look like an attempt to railroad Western policy. India is the more subject to uncertainties because of differences between British and American Asiatic policies, too.

Many Chinese were willing to accept the aid of communism, to accept anything that promised change from Chiang Kai Shek and from Western interference in China's business.

Now the helper has become the tyrannical master.

Czechoslovakia's government in exile during the war made a treaty with the Communists designed for "live and let live," but again the collaborators became the rulers.

Nehru can learn much about the choice of evils, if he wants to put it that way, from the bare record.

Critic's Critic . . .

On reading your paper Thursday morning, I was completely dumbfounded to find a critical review of an all-campus musical comedy that had not officially opened.

Inasmuch as I have been quite interested in the progress of the Panacea show unofficially, (wholly as an objective observer of many rehearsals and technical developments), I felt that a gross injustice has been done to all those who are connected with the show in any way. I myself have worked and studied theatre and allied arts for many years, but this is the first time in my experience that I have ever known a supposedly theatre-wise "dramacritic" to blunder so miserably and erroneously into a criticism (and especially an adverse one) of a show that does not yet exist as far as the general public is concerned.

I am aware that Mr. Larsen was present by special invitation, but feel that this in no way excuses him for his lack of taste in critically attacking a show that for all intents and purposes was not 100 percent ready for a general public performance. Surely

Fear of Rearmed Germany Motivates Russian Policy

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP)—A foreign diplomat in Berlin tells this story of the days when he was stationed in Moscow:

Joseph Stalin, talking with several envoys of the ten friendly governments, commented with a sigh "Germany is the greatest problem in the world."

One of the diplomats, surprised, said: "You can't mean that. This is 1947. Germany is beaten and ruined."

"That's the way it appears now," the generalissimo said. "But wait a while. It will not stay that way. Before long Germany again will be our worry."

The official who tells this anecdote prefers to remain unnamed but it can be said he is not prone to exaggerate.

He concludes: "The entire Soviet policy in Europe is based on the fear of the Germans. Everything they do stems from that. The Kremlin knows how close the German armies brought it to disaster. Just about one more real blow and the Nazis would have destroyed the Communists, probably for all time."

He continues: "The Russians never indulged much in the so-called de-Nazification after the war. Why not? Because they think Nazism is Germanism and you can't knock it out of a German. All you can do is forbid it. That's what they do in the East zone."

"Now they see the moves to rearmed West Germans. To them that means rearming Nazis."

For what? Against communism. That is why, in this diplomat's opinion, the Soviet army's official newspaper, Tagliche Rundschau, often refers to the German problem as "the most burning question" before the world powers.

Some other foreign diplomats share this reasoning: 1. By pinpointing on Germany, the Kremlin is directing all its guns against rearming the West.

2. By skirting Asiatic questions, the Soviets lose nothing while American strength is being sapped in Korea. The only losers in that fight are the United Nations forces and the numberless Chinese Reds. These circles are pondering now whether Stalin's fear of Germans in uniform is so great that he would trade Korea and Indo-China for security on his European doorstep.

The picture of the giant Russian bear quivering over the divided, perplexed and embittered Germans appears contradictory on the surface.

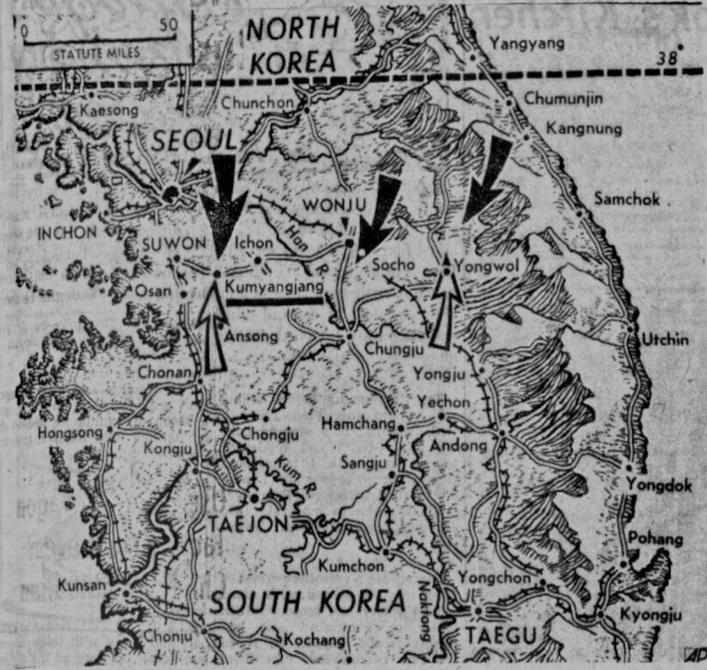

But those who share the belief point out one curious fact: the Soviets were the first to arm a police force of Germans. They built this quasi-infantry force quickly in 1949 into a 50,000-man force with light tanks and heavy artillery training. But since that time, Allied intelligence sources say, the figure of 50,000 has remained static.

Use Covered Wagon Tactics to Prevent Chinese Infiltration

ON THE EAST CENTRAL FRONT, KOREA (AP)—United Nations forces have adopted covered wagon defense tactics to protect themselves at night from a ghost-like enemy army that stalks through the rugged Sobak mountains.

This means that when darkness falls, convoys pull into a defense perimeter and park their vehicles in a circle, like the pioneers in the early days of America. This guards against attacks from any direction.

Mounting Communist Activity Encountered

REDS MASSING IN KOREA. Allied patrols (white arrows) Thursday encountered mounting Communist military activity that may indicate an expected mass assault by the Reds was not far off. Red activity (black arrows) was noted particularly at Kumyanganjang, at Socho in the Wonju area and west of Samchok.

Oriental Peoples Doubt Sincerity Of West, Koo Says

Oriental peoples doubt the sincerity of friendship offered by western countries because of the attitude of superiority shown by Americans and Europeans, Prof. T. Z. Koo said Thursday evening.

Koo, director of the SUI department of oriental studies, told a meeting in Old Capitol sponsored by the YMCA committee on racial equality that all peoples are guilty of such insincerity.

A native of China, Koo said that Europeans refer to the Orient as backward in culture and technology, not realizing the effect of this careless attitude on Far Eastern people.

In addition to maintaining a superior attitude, Koo said, "The west claims to be Christian and speaks as though honesty is not a virtue unless described as Christian honesty. This terminology cannot be well received in countries which embrace other religions."

The people of China have neither accepted communism nor forgotten the 50 or 60 years of close relations with the United States after one year of Communist government, according to Koo.

Friendship between peoples of the West and Far East can be secured only if each country tries to see the other objectively, he said.

'Hard Luck' for Whom?

TATTOOED LEFT HAND of killer William E. Cook Jr. is shown to deputies in San Diego, Calif., county jail. Cook was run to earth by Mexican police after one of the biggest manhunts in history. He is accused of killing an Illinois family of five in Missouri—Carl Mosser, his wife and three small children—and Robert Dewey of Seattle in California. He also reportedly boasted he killed two men in Oklahoma and hid their bodies in a snowbank. After his capture he denied ever hurting anyone.

Communists Shift Indo-China Attack

SAIGON, INDO-CHINA (AP)—Communist-led Vietminh forces—their five-day offensive halted before Hanoi—have struck again in local attacks both east and west of that northern Indo-China capital, a French army communique disclosed Thursday.

The rebels of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh shifted southwest of the Vinh Yen area, 30 miles northwest of Hanoi, and forced a French withdrawal Wednesday night from four outposts. French columns re-occupied the posts Thursday morning.

On the other side of the Hanoi defense line, the communique said, a Vietminh assault with heavy artillery support was launched against the post of Bancah in the Dongtrieu area, 50 miles east of Hanoi. The French withstood all efforts to seize the position.

Olson, Iowa City Rent Advisory Chairman Quits

Herb Olson, chairman of the Iowa City rent advisory board, has resigned from that position effective this week but will continue as a member of the group.

Mrs. Clair Hamilton has been named Olson's successor to the rent board chairmanship.

Olson, program director of station KXIC, told the board he could not continue as chairman of the group because his work made it impossible for him to devote full time to his work as chairman.

Mountaineers

Travelogue to Tell of Mountain Winters

The ruggedness and beauty of the Olympic mountains in Washington will be brought to Iowa City when Herb and Lois Crisler narrate the Iowa Mountaineers travelogue in Macbride auditorium Sunday at 8 p.m.

This color film will be the seventh of a series of 13 travelogues presented by the Mountaineers during the school year.

The Crislers live in a log cabin inside the boundaries of Olympic national park. They have taken many pack trips into the wilderness of the western Washington peninsula.

They have established supply caches so they need carry only their cameras when they leave the cabin for long photographic trips into the mountains.

The picture entitled, "Beyond the Trail," shows the scenes the Crislers view as they leave their cabin and head into the mountain. The cabin they call home for the entire winter, is a 13 by 13-foot building anchored to the top of a mountain.

Admission for the travelogue is by Mountaineer membership card or an 80 cent ticket that may be purchased at the door.

In Making Onion Soup — Diner Recipes Unusual — Or for Pork Chops

North Americans railroad lines serve dining car recipes just as varied as the areas they travel. Some of the more unusual dishes have been compiled into a calendar by the Gerlach-Barlow publishing company.

The recipes have not been standardized as to quantities and some are intended to serve 20 persons or more. For family meals, care and judicious tasting must be employed to get the proper number of servings.

One recipe used by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas line is called "Katy Special Onion Soup."

6 large onions.
1/2 cup flour
1/4 pound butter
1 gallon rich stock
1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
Cut onions into quarters and slice thin cross-sections. Sauté in butter to a golden brown. Add flour to the onion and butter and blend well. Then add hot stock and let simmer 20 minutes.

Season with a bunch of parsley, bay leaves and a touch of garlic. Boil for a few minutes and remove the bouquet. Season to taste with salt and pepper and add Worcestershire sauce. Serve with grated Parmesan cheese floating on top.

Another unusual recipe comes from the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for "Baker Pork Chops Normandy, B&O Style."

The recipe uses pork chops which are lean and from the rib end. They should be cut thick, about three to the pound. Place them in greased baking dish and season with salt and pepper. Place apple cider over chops until it covers them. Pare and slice firm tart apples and scatter over chops.

Two apples should be sufficient for six chops. Sprinkle cinnamon, a little ground clove and ground nutmeg over apples. Add two bay leaves and bake in a moderate oven about one hour and 15 minutes.

Candied sweet potatoes and green peas cooked in a little water in which a beef bouillon cube has been added will go well with the chops. One of these thick chops serves each person.

Home Baker Can Turn Out 'Lady Fingers'

Lady fingers have always been one tasty bit of baked food that the commercial bakers turn out best. Up to now, that is. For the delicate, fine-textured fingers of sponge-like cake—a party favorite when served with fresh fruits or filled with whipped cream—can now be made by the baker in the home.

A manufacturer of cookie presses has perfected a forming plate that turns out perfect lady fingers for the homemaker. Here is a recipe for lady fingers suggested in the magazine "Tracks," a publication of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway.

1/2 cup egg white (4 eggs)
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
5 tablespoons sugar
2 egg yolks
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
5 tablespoons sugar
1 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
Beat the egg whites until they are foamy. Add the cream of tartar and gradually add the first five tablespoons of sugar. Continue to beat this mixture until it is very stiff.

Now beat the egg yolks, salt, and vanilla extract until the mixture is light and gradually add the second five tablespoons of sugar. Beat the mixture until it is thick.

Fold the egg yolk mixture into the egg whites and then fold in the flour which has been sifted with the baking powder.

Put the dough into the cookie press, using the specially designed forming plate, and form three-inch fingers on well-greased cookie sheets. Bake the fingers six or eight minutes at 450 degrees. Sift confectioner's sugar over them as soon as you take them from the oven and remove the pastry from the baking sheet immediately. Makes about three dozen lady fingers.

Potato-Corned Beef Makes Hearty Dish

Corned beef and potato casserole is a hearty cold-weather dish that is inexpensive too.

Spread 3 cups warm seasoned mashed potatoes over bottom and sides of greased baking dish or pie plate. Mix well the following: 2 cups (one 12-ounce can) chopped corned beef
3 cups crushed corn flakes
1 cup milk
1/3 cup catsup
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon salt
Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 45 minutes. This serves six.
Serve with vegetable soup, sour cream cole slaw, fruit, bread and beverage.

VARY CAKE MIX

Packaged white cake mix may be baked fresh in a loaf pan and served hot, as with a cottage pudding, with a sweet sauce. Melt currant jelly for the sauce, or use chocolate.

SUI Student Struggles with Seafood — Crab Invades Male Cook's Kitchen

By FRANK SLATTERY
Could anybody use a crab — please? He won't give you any trouble. He couldn't. He's given it all to me.

This whole mess began when I got a letter from a friend in California which said, "And in case you should get a crab soon after Christmas vacation . . ."

Then the other day I got a call. It was from my former landlady and she sounded excited.

"Come Get It
"Frank," she screamed, "Frank, you'll have to come over here pretty quick and pick up your crab."

Crab? I'd left a dirty T-shirt when I moved, a can of sardines and a French book, but a crab? Never.

"Frank, the expressman left that crab here and he won't take it back."

Then the light burst in. My "friend," the letter, THE CRAB.

Grabs Crab
I climbed the porch steps, picked up a box which said "Iced Crabs" on the side, and departed. All the way home the box dripped crab blood or fishy water, or something.

I borrowed a shiny new cook book from a friend. On the cover it boasted all about 250 seafood recipes. With pictures, too.

It might as well have been a book on how to make gold out of lead slugs.

My room-mate and I finally chopped and pried the beast out of his icy box. I would swear that he was holding onto the sides.

The book said to boil the crab. We had every pan in the place on the floor before we decided that he wouldn't fit. Then, we spied the dishpan.

Big Feet
But we couldn't get all his feet in the dishpan at once.

I don't know how many feet, because every time I picked him up, another seemed to grow from somewhere. Except where he was all shell, that blasted cockroach was all feet.

I sat down and my room-mate slipped quietly out, mumbling something about brushing "his teeth or going to church. I think he was scared. He should have been.

Stares Coldly

The crab lay on the table and gave me a cold, glassy stare, but his cocked flipper seemed to say, "Okay, what next, buckwheat, it's your move."

I grabbed a leg and pulled. He followed right after it, of course, but I felt silly just sitting there doing nothing.
I pinned him down with an ice pick, so to speak. But he got even. Melted ice from his late home was running all over my fishy pants, then onto the floor.

We adjourned to the bathtub to have it out, the crab and I. Moving with the agility and speed of a drugged ground sloth, I grabbed a pair of legs and pulled.

They flew off, still in my hands. The crab grabbed what he could, minus two legs. But where?

I grabbed again. It was like the game, "She loves me, she loves me not . . ." There was crab everywhere but in the shaving cream.

Finally, with all the legs gone, I was forced to return to the cook book to find what else I could pull off.

There were 19 recipes and four pictures about crabs, but no more hand-holds. I planted a fishy, bare foot on his pink shell.
PINK SHELL? Unecooked crabs, it said somewhere, are gray or green. But this one was pink. Crabs, it added, turn red or pink when cooked. Crabs are funny that way.

But if this one was cooked, it certainly didn't act cooked, and the book seemed to assume that I could figure it out alone.

Then I thought about the letter. Yeah, why not get the word straight from the fiend's mouth. I fished it open.

"And in case you should get . . . take a nutcracker, old bottle or hammer . . . tear the body apart (SHE was telling ME?) . . . do an appendectomy on the interior . . ."

"Rinse it, and then you'll have what the gourmets get when they order cold cracked crab."

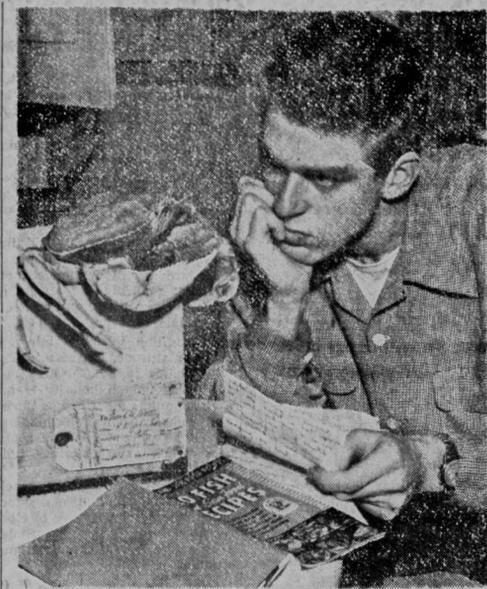

While He's Cold
COLD CRACKED CRAB! No cooking! Just don a swimming suit, strap a knife to your leg, slap on a pair of earmuffs and EAT. Great.

But for the love of a blubber-lipped sperm whale, will somebody show me HOW?

Editor's note: Frank later solved his problems and used some of the crab meat in the following recipe for crab meat casserole.)

1 cup cooked crab meat
3 cups thick white sauce
2 cups grated cheese (1/2 pound)
1 teaspoon celery salt
1 green pepper, chopped
1 (4-ounce) can mushrooms, sliced

Buttered cracker crumbs
Remove spines from crab meat. Heat white sauce and cheese in double boiler and stir until smooth. Add celery salt, green pepper, mushrooms and crab meat. Pour into casserole, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes or until browned. Serves 6 to 8.

Frank and 'The Thing'

One-Dish Meal — Stewed Chicken, Dumplings

Stewed chicken and dumplings is one dish as typically American as apple pie and cheese.

This recipe, combined with your favorite vegetables and a salad, will give a complete menu. Clean one stewing chicken and cut into serving portions. Place in a kettle and partly cover with water.

Add one small onion, 1/2 teaspoon salt and pepper to taste. Cook until tender, about 2 1/2 to 3 hours.

Mix 1 cup sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt and a sprig of minced parsley.

Add 1/2 cup milk to form a thick batter and drop from a spoon into boiling chicken broth. Cover tightly and cook for 20 minutes without raising lid.

Place chicken on platter and surround with dumplings. This serves six.

APPLE SALAD

Red-skinned Delicious apples make wonderful salads. Just core and dice them without peeling. The skin adds color to the salad. Team them with shredded cabbage, tuna fish or shrimp. Or serve over shredded lettuce with French dressing and crumbled Roquefort cheese.

Bran cornbread with bacon makes an ideal lunch for busy Saturdays. Beat 1 egg and 1/4 cup sugar together. Add 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 cup ready-to-eat bran, 3/4 cup cornmeal. Sift 1 1/2 cups sifted flour with 1 teaspoon salt and 4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder. Pour into a greased 9 by 9-inch pan and arrange 1/4 cup diced bacon over the top. Bake in a moderately hot (400 degrees) oven about 30 minutes or until crust and bacon are browned. Serves nine.

Try dressing up baked halibut with tomato sauce. Place 2 pounds frozen halibut in a greased baking dish. Mix 1 can condensed tomato soup with 4 tablespoons chopped green pepper and 1 small onion, finely chopped. Pour over fish and bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven one hour. Serves six.

Carrots are a versatile vegetable. They may be served with diced cooked celery and seasoned with butter or margarine, salt and freshly-ground pepper. Or shred the raw carrots and mix them with crumbled crisp bacon and mayonnaise. This may be served on greens for a salad or in a sandwich.

For a quick and easy dessert, split a plump doughnut and put a scoop of vanilla ice cream on the bottom half. Replace the top half and serve with thick chocolate sauce. It's hard on the figure, but worth it.

No Date Set For Freezing Wages, Prices

WASHINGTON — President Truman said Thursday wage-price controls will be invoked as rapidly as possible in an attempt to halt inflation.

Mr. Truman told his news conference he could not pin down the date of a price-wage "freeze" — widely expected in a matter of days — but he said the government will impose ceilings just as fast as it can.

The President endorsed Wednesday night's speech by Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson calling for "speed and forthrightness" in setting up controls over prices, wages, materials and rents. Mr. Truman said the speech reflected government policy.

Testifying before a senate small business committee, Wilson declared:

"I hate controls. I have hated them all my life. But I believe we've got to have them."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) asked Wilson when the nation could expect "effective wage-price controls" and other inflation curbs.

"I wouldn't like to express a timetable here this morning," Wilson replied. "But there is no more important thing before the country today. We must stop inflation—we must find a way."

Sen. George Tobey (R-N.H.) brought up the question of rationing and asked whether it might be forthcoming in the near future.

"Not in the near future," Wilson answered.

Turning to the defense production phase of mobilization, Wilson told the lawmakers:

"One of the worst things America could do would be to so plan production that the curve would be almost straight for two years."

He went on to say that all-out military production would amass a tremendous pile of war material, and commented:

"If we didn't shoot it away — if there were no war — where would we put it? Much would become obsolete. For example, a jet plane that I thought was a honey two years ago is now obsolete."

Wilson also cautioned that a sustained all-out program would jeopardize the nation's economy.

Legislators Draft Bill To Give State 'The Bird'

ST. PAUL — Two Minneapolis legislators Thursday set out to correct Minnesota's lack of an "avian symbol" — that is, a state bird.

They recommended, in a bill introduced in the house, that the "aix sponsa" — Wood duck, that is — be chosen, because it is "symbolic of Minnesota woods and waters."

Reps. Leo D. Mosier and Thomas N. Christie, the authors, pointed out that the state bird commission, established by the last legislature, to look into the problem, had decided that either the loon, pileated wood pecker or the wood duck was a suitable choice.

'Shot at Train,' Says Des Moines Youth

DES MOINES — Deputy Sheriff Wilbur Hildreth said Thursday a Des Moines youth admitted firing about 15 shots from an automatic .22 caliber rifle at a moving passenger train.

The shots were fired Tuesday at a Milwaukee road passenger train near here, shattering three coach windows. None of the 27 passengers in the coach was injured.

Hildreth said two youths were questioned about the incident and held for juvenile authorities. Only one of the boys shot at the train, Hildreth said.

The boys told Hildreth they had been shooting at random target on a farm nearby, taking turns with the gun. One of the boys spotted the train and blazed away.

Congressional Record Issues 'Report Card'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new congress Thursday was given a detailed idea of what it's in for.

The "Congressional Record" issued its final report card on the 81st congress, and two conclusions are inescapable:

Congress certainly has a lot of bills to talk about, and it certainly talks about them.

You never hear much of the ordinary, mine-run legislation before congress. Only the big, controversial bills reach the headlines.

During the last two years, the "Record" shows, 16,670 bills were introduced. That's an average of 22 a day, counting Sundays.

Of course, congress didn't meet Sundays, but it did pretty well. The senators met 389 times, the representatives 335 times.

Naturally, this opened the door — I almost said the floodgates — for conversation.

Senators talked 2,480 hours and one minute. Representatives talked 1,500 hours and 48 minutes.

From this came 1,986 laws. Explain each and every one of these for you.

Now most people, face to face with such formidable statistics as racked up by the 81st congress, from all indications, your congressman is manfully and womanfully meeting the challenge.

The new congress has been around about 15 days. Already it has collected 2,539 bills and resolutions, and the hopper into which the bills are dumped is still hot.

It looks like a long, talkative winter, would flinch and turn pale. But

Gen. O'Donnell Says Bomb Red Industries

MARCH AIRFORCE BASE, CALIF. — Airforce Maj. Gen. Emmett (Rosy) O'Donnell urged "putting the hex on" the Chinese by bombing their industrial cities yesterday, but the government said he was speaking only for himself.

The White House, surprised and disturbed at O'Donnell's statements that the country is in an all-out war and should use all-out measures, disavowed his views and feared they might lose UN support in the United Nations.

O'Donnell, who said he hates to fight a war "under wraps," said his bombers should have had a go-ahead to "smack hell out of" the Chinese Red armies when they were massing across the Yalu river.

He refused to comment, however, on whether the A-bomb should be used.

Directed Korean Bombing The flier, who directed the B-29 bombings of North Korea as commander of the Far Eastern airforce, returned here to resume command of the 15th airforce.

He said that in his opinion the war was now in its second round, "and we haven't lost the round yet."

"If our commanders want to hold a torch to Korea, there's no question that they can do it," he said. "It would help if we could strike at China's industrial cities. It's too bad to fight a war where you can't hit back."

"We could put the hex on them with either conventional - type bombing or A-bombs."

O'Donnell three times evaded questions about whether the A-bomb should be used against China.

"That is a question for higher commands. It is up to the United Nations," he said.

"I think all of us are in accord with UN aims," he added, "but I personally think the UN makes a very poor substitute for military headquarters."

"When we had them across the Yalu, I personally believe we should have cracked them and cracked them hard. In fact, we should have smacked hell out of them."

"You can't play by Marquis of Queensberry rules when the enemy is sneaking up at you with a lead pipe."

Taft Says Work With Europe But Limit U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON — Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said Thursday the United States has "got to work together" with western European nations, but said congress should put specific limitations on the number of U.S. divisions President Truman can send to Europe.

His statement, which appeared to be a softening of his stand against sending additional American troops to Europe, was made to reporters after a meeting of the senate GOP policy committee which he heads.

Taft said the Republican leaders had decided not to make a party issue over the troop question, and that senate Republican leader Kenneth S. Wherry of Nebraska would consult with interested Democrats on the subject.

The senate is due to act next Tuesday on Wherry's resolution which would put the senate on record as opposing use of additional troops abroad without congressional approval. Democrats claim enough votes to send the matter to the foreign relations committee, where they plan to substitute a resolution giving the President specific authority to send more men overseas.

Masterson Denies He Ordered Stall In Game With Irish

Former Iowa backfield Coach Bernie Masterson vigorously denied Thursday night that he ordered the stalling tactics which ended the Iowa-Notre Dame football game in a 14-14 tie.

A newspaper story Thursday afternoon quoted several Iowa players — including Glenn Drahn and Don Commack — as saying that Masterson ordered the 25-second stall which caused such a controversy.

In a telephone interview with Masterson at his Park Side, Ill., home he said, "Of course I didn't order the team to stall. Anyway, any order I could give the players had to be cleared through Raffensperger."

Raffensperger also denied the story Thursday evening when reached for comment at Lake Mills where he was scheduled to speak.

"I think the kids have been misquoted or misunderstood or something like that," Raffensperger said. "I know that no one of the coaching staff told any player to stall. It's perfectly ridiculous."

He added that "the whole incident was a minor matter and I don't see why they keep bringing it up."

Masterson also wondered why an incident he "considered closed" was brought up at this time. "What are people trying to do back there, start trouble?" Masterson asked. "No one wanted to win that game more than the coaches."

According to the newspaper report, Masterson instructed Drahn to stall on the last series of downs. Drahn didn't want to, so, according to the story, Masterson sent Commack in with instructions to hold the ball for three downs and kick on the fourth down.

Drahn threw two incomplete passes and then quarterback sneaked for seven yards.

Twenty-five seconds remained in the game when the Hawks huddled for what was obviously the last play of the game. The 52,000 fans in the stands fully expected a pass. Instead the arguing Hawks stayed in a huddle until the clock ran out thus creating a situation voted the nation's second greatest sports oddity of the year.

In spite of Masterson's and Raffensperger's denials, the testimony of Drahn, Commack and other players remains. One player who asked that his name not be used said:

"I was sitting on the bench and heard Masterson ask Raffensperger before the last series of downs if he wanted to stall. Either Raff didn't hear him or didn't want to answer because he didn't say anything. After a few seconds, Masterson sent Commack in with orders to stall.

"After the game, Drahn threatened to quit. He was later talked out of it by the rest of the coaching staff. There was never any resentment toward Drahn on the part of the players because they knew that he wanted to try to win. The same goes for Commack."

Masterson said Thursday night he still wasn't at liberty to reveal his future plans. When asked about the possibility of his going to the Green Bay Packers as backfield coach, Masterson said, "I'm not talking." Masterson resigned the Iowa job two weeks ago.

'I' Club Names Ris Secretary

Wally Ris, former Iowa swimming great, has been appointed full-time secretary of the "I" club, George Margulies, club president, announced Thursday.

Ris, who was graduated from Iowa in August, 1949, after compiling a brilliant swimming record, will assume the post early in February. He is currently employed by the Wilson Packing company in Chicago.

The "I" club is an organization of men and women interested in promoting the welfare of the University. It is not restricted to letter winners.

This will be the first time the club has hired a secretary on a full-time basis.

Ris will work with local clubs throughout the state in coordinating their activities.

While at Iowa, Ris won 15 different championships, including a record breaking victory in the 100-meter free-style at the Olympic games in 1932.

He was also the holder of 11 major records in individual events as well as nine marks held by relay teams of which he was a member.

Hawks Leave Today By Plane for Games With Illini, Gophers

A 14-man Iowa basketball squad is scheduled to leave by chartered plane this afternoon for games with Illinois Saturday and Minnesota Monday.

The Hawks won't return to Iowa City between games but will fly to Minneapolis from Champaign Sunday afternoon.

A loss to either Illinois or Minnesota would practically extinguish Iowa's remaining chances for the Big Ten title. Illinois, 72-69 winners over the Hawks at the fieldhouse, will be decided favorites in the Saturday game. Minnesota will be a slight choice in the Monday game because of the home court advantage.

Big Ten figures released Thursday show that Iowa's .319 shooting percentage in conference play is four points better than that of Illinois. But the Illini have won four of five games while the Hawks have split in four games.

Bob "Pinky" Clifton has been named by Coach Rollie Williams as a probable starter at forward in the Illinois game. Last week against Northwestern, Clifton tied a Big Ten shot percentage record for ten or more attempts when he made 9 of 12 shots. This mark of .750 was set in 1950 by Dick Means of Minnesota.

The statistics also show that Chuck Darling and Frank Calsbeck rank sixth and seventh respectively among the league's scorers. Darling has averaged 15.7 points, Calsbeck 15.2.

Colts' Owner Says Goodbye

WITHDRAWING HIS BALTIMORE COLTS from the National Football league-Thursday, Abe Warner (right) bids farewell to Bert Bell, commissioner of the league. The circuit now has 12 clubs for the 1951 season. The decision to withdraw was made after club owners met and decided they could not supply requested player help to the downtrodden Colts.

Baltimore Quits National Grid League; Rote Drafted by Giants

CHICAGO (AP)—The Baltimore Colts—an artistic and financial flop—quit the National Football league Thursday just before the loop's annual draft handed Southern Methodist's great Kyle Rote to the New York Giants as top bonus pick.

The Chicago Bears did perhaps the most effective mopping up in the draft a few hours after Owner Abraham Warner of the Colts failed in a quest for veteran player help from each of the other clubs and surrendered the Baltimore franchise. That left the league with 12 clubs.

The Bears parlayed two draft claims from previous player deals into these acquisitions: Notre Dame Quarterback Tom Williams, who was picked as No. 1 in the regular draft by defunct Baltimore in behalf of the Bears. Had the Colts stayed in the league and been able to retain Williams—a Baltimore boy, it might have been a big lift at the gate for the Colts.

Fleet Halfback Billy Stone of the Colts was first round choice of the New York Yank, who also owed the Bears a player.

The Colts' 23 active players were tossed into the hopper of 1950 collegiate seniors up for the 1951 draft.

Big news of the opening session of the league's four-day annual session was the folding of the Colts, who dropped $760,000 in four years of professional football.

Ray Ragelis Leads Big Ten Scorers

CHICAGO (AP)—Ray Ragelis, husky forward for fifth-place Northwestern, leads the Big Ten basketball individual scoring race with a four-game average of 19 points.

Ahead on a total point basis with 93 is Wisconsin's able guard, Ab Nicholas, but the Badger star has played five games and is second in the average column with 18.6.

Other leaders, according to official league statistics released Thursday, are: Minnesota forward, Maynard Johnson, who has a phenomenal shooting average of .508, with 18.5; Don Sunderlage, Illinois guard, 17.4; Bill Garrett, Indiana center, 17.3; and Chuck Darling, Iowa center, 15.7.

Trucks Won't Accept 25 Percent Pay Slice

DETROIT (AP)—Pitcher Virgil Trucks, cut of action most of last season with a sore arm, Thursday rejected the Detroit Tigers' reported offer of $15,000, a 25 percent cut from his 1950 contract.

He returned the unsigned 1951 contract to general manager Billy Evans.

Trucks said he didn't deserve the maximum pay cut allowed under baseball law.

Eliot Flies to USC To 'Discuss' Grid Coaching Position

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Football Coach Ray Eliot of Illinois flew toward Los Angeles Thursday to look over the coaching job at the University of Southern California, and presumably will take it if he wants it.

A spokesman for USC announced that Eliot was en route here from Champaign "to discuss the football coaching situation."

That was as far as he would go. But it was the first official inkling from the Trojan campus that the Big Ten mentor was under serious consideration for the position vacated just before Christmas by Jeff Cravath.

The possibility that Eliot was the leading candidate for the berth has gained strength here for the past few days, and fading from view were such purported possibilities as Paul Brown of the champion Cleveland professional club and Don Faurot of Missouri.

Athletic Director Willis O'Hunter of USC declined to say whether USC or the Illini mentor had reached any definite understanding.

One usually reliable source here said that no agreement has been reached, that Eliot arranged the trip to survey the rather turbulent scene at Southern Cal. This source said Eliot would talk to the athletic faculty committee and powerful alumni groups.

"I have a good business connection in Dallas and will talk to them first to see what can be worked out for the best interest of my family," Rote said.

Col C to Sponsor Contest on 'Iowa City's Greatest Need'

The Iowa City chamber of commerce will sponsor a contest for its members on the subject, "What is Iowa City's Greatest Need as of January 1951?" Roy A. Williams, chairman of the annual meeting committee, said that only one plan should be included in each letter. Programs may be long or short range ones and can be civic, commercial, educational or moral in nature. The contest will close Jan. 27. Letters will be judged on need, practicality, and presentation. Contest winner will receive a $25 war bond which will be presented the night of Jan. 29 at the chamber's annual meeting.

English Flu Epidemic Swamps Hospitals

LONDON (AP) — Medical authorities said Thursday the influenza outbreak which has raged over Britain for a month is waning in some areas, but still is of epidemic proportions in northern England. The prevalence of influenza along with an outbreak of smallpox and other diseases, has taxed blood transfusion services and hospital space. Doctors in the midlands said the influenza epidemic is the worst in 30 years. Health officials in Liverpool — one of the most affected cities — reported 894 deaths from all causes for the week ending last Saturday, more than four times the weekly average. A medical group, representing 6,000 London doctors reported one of every three emergency cases is being refused admission to hospitals. Maternity cases, with no complications were being urged to have deliveries at home.

U.S. Must Commit Troops to Atlantic Army: Hickenlooper

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said Thursday the administration has "a moral and perhaps legal obligation" to ask congress for authority to commit American troops to the Atlantic pact army. A question Hickenlooper asked Secretary of State Dean Acheson on April 27, 1949, and Acheson's reply have become major points in the current debate over use of American troops. Hickenlooper, a member of the foreign relations committee, asked during hearings on the Atlantic pact: "Are we going to be expected to send substantial numbers of troops over there as a more or less permanent contribution to the development of these countries' capacity to resist?" Acheson replied: "The answer to that question, senator, is a clear and absolute 'no'." In the intervening months, President Truman has said he already has the authority to send U.S. troops wherever they may be needed. He also has said there will be a "substantial" increase in U.S. forces in western Europe to be used as part of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's new defense force. Hickenlooper said Thursday he considers Acheson's 1949 statement as "a positive and flat response made in good faith." "I have no reason to say Thursday that there was a lack of good faith shown in that time," he said. "However, the response sold the pact to a good many people on the basis that troops commitments were not contemplated."

Cement Broken for Parking Lot

THUD — AND THE CEMENT FLEW. Everytime this 1,000 pound weight is raised and dropped on an old cement foundation, part of the former Hawkeye Lumber company at Gilbert and Washington streets, Iowa City's newest parking lot comes one step nearer completion. The weight is used to break up the foundation by hoisting it about 25-feet in the air with this derrick, then dropping it on the foundation. Contractor Ted Hall, who purchased the right from the city to remove part of the old storage sheds on the lot, found this device would save many man-hours in breaking-up the 30x50 foot foundation. The lot itself, expected to be completed sometime this spring, will accommodate from 80 to 90 cars.

Socialist Reuter Relected Mayor. Of West Berlin

BERLIN — The West Berlin council Thursday relected Socialist Ernst Reuter — a symbol of the city's resistance to Communist encroachment — to a four-year term as mayor despite the fact the Socialists no longer command a majority in the council. The 77-to-12 vote was a personal triumph for Reuter, a Communist in World War I days who broke with the Lenin - Stalin forces in 1919. The Socialist, who won 64 percent of West Berlin's votes in 1948, drew only 44 percent in a city election last Dec. 3 and now have 61 members in the council. The Christian Democrats and Free Democrats, both conservative parties, have 66. Reuter was elected mayor of all Berlin in 1947, just after he returned from Turkey and ended an exile imposed by the Nazis. The Russians vetoed him because of his anti-Communist activities over more than two decades. The city functioned with a substitute mayor and then split wide in the Soviet campaign that culminated with the blockade in 1948. West Berlin's American, British and French sectors promptly organized their own government and chose Reuter to head it.

Guard Call Hits 7 Des Moines Doctors

DES MOINES (AP) — Seven Des Moines area doctors and four staff members of the U.S. weather bureau in Des Moines are among those affected by Thursday's order calling the Iowa units of the air national guard to duty April 1. The alert, announced by Gov. William S. Beardsley, affects all Iowa units of the air guard except the 133rd air control and warning unit which has its headquarters at Fort Dodge and a detachment at Cedar Rapids. The Iowa units called up all are located in Des Moines and Sioux City. Top Iowa unit alerted is the 132nd fighter wing, headquarters in Des Moines, commanded by Col. John Holmes. The wing contains both Iowa and Nebraska units. Seven Des Moines area doctors affected by the call are Lt. Col. Byron Merkel, Capt. Eugene R.K. Leiter, Maj. Phillip Keil, and Capt. Robert E. Fitch, all physicians; Capt. Dean W. Darby and Paul Nelson Jr., dentists, and Capt. Donald Seeli, Mitchellville veterinarian. Weather bureau staffers include Capt. Charles High and Lt. William Hodge, both forecasters, and Sgt. Wayne H. Bartlett and Sgt. Ed Julich, both observers.

Lutheran Society To Meet Here

Iowa City's southeast branch of the Lutheran Welfare society, will hold its annual meeting on Feb. 6, in the First English Lutheran church in Iowa City. The local branch of the society is the only private welfare organization in Iowa City and is one of seven branches in the statewide society. Displaced persons, unmarried mothers and children in need of adoptive home placement, foster homes and counseling in their own home, are served by the local agency covering 18 counties in southeastern Iowa. Mrs. Dan H. Cooper, wife of Prof. Cooper, SUI college of education, acting director of the local branch, will speak on "Planning a Good Adoption Program" at the annual meeting. A banquet will precede the meeting. Tickets are $1.50 and may be obtained at any Lutheran church in the area.

Iowa to Supply $8-Million Bill To Pay Vets

DES MOINES (AP)—The senate appropriations committee Thursday night brought out for passage an $8-million deficiency bill to meet the unsettled claims of Iowa war veterans who have not yet received their World War II bonus.

Senator J. C. Colburn, (R-Harlan) chairman of the committee, announced that he would move to have the bill called up for action in the senate today.

Gov. William S. Beardsley has asked the legislature to speed the measure through final passage in the hope that the unpaid veterans, of whom there are approximately 22,000, will receive their bonus checks by the end of this month.

$7.5 Million Needed

The bonus board has estimated that around $7-million will be needed to meet the unpaid claims.

While this amount is less than the sum carried in the appropriation bill some money will be needed to pay expenses of the bonus board and whatever is left over will be returned to the state treasury.

The $8-million is in addition to $85-million originally provided from state funds and through state bond issues to pay the bonus. The latter sum proved insufficient because the bonus board had more claims than anticipated. It is available from balances in the state general fund.

The deficiency bill will settle all claims filed with the bonus board before last Dec. 31.

Committee Meets

The house appropriations committee also met this afternoon, but did not report on either of the bonus bills introduced in the lower house. The measures were given to sub-committees Wednesday for study.

Rep. G. T. Kuester (R-Grissold), house appropriations committee chairman, said the 15 bills prepared by Gov. Beardsley to carry out his budget recommendations would be introduced in the house as committee measures.

Eleven other house committees also met Thursday, but they confined their activities to routine organization and distribution of bills for study.

Infant Dies After Four Weeks Illness

Six-month-old Linda K. Bross died at 1:30 a.m. Thursday at University hospital after an illness of four weeks.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Bross, of Conroy, she was born in Iowa City on July 17, 1950.

Besides her parents, she is survived by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ball, of Tiffin, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bross, Van Horn.

Funeral services will be held today at 2:30 p.m. at St. Peter's church at Cosgrove. Burial will be in the St. Peter's cemetery.

Two Killed 43 Wounded In Red Anti-Eisenhower Riots

ROME (UP)—One person was killed and eight were injured Thursday in fighting between Italian police and Communist rioters protesting the presence in Italy of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

While the supreme commander of the European defense army was conferring here, a mob of 2,000 Reds, shouting anti-American slogans, fought police in the north Italian town of Comacchio. Police opened fire on the rioters, killing one and wounding two.

Later, five policemen and one Red were severely injured in a skirmish waged with hand grenades and guns in Piana Degli Albanesi, near the Sicilian metropolis of Palermo.

2 Days Toll

The day's bloodshed increased the casualty toll of two days of Red anti-Eisenhower riots to two killed and 43 wounded. One rioter was killed and 33 policemen and rioters were injured last night at Adriano, Sicily. Two policemen were injured fighting rioters in Naples yesterday.

In Rome, Eisenhower in a day of conferences on his quick fact-finding tour of Europe received a promise from Italy's leaders of the only three completely equipped divisions in their army, and a promise of more as soon as weapons can be procured for them.

The Reds did their best to show that Eisenhower, in his job of defending democracy against Communist aggression, was unwelcome in Italy.

'Flash' Strikes Called

Brief "flash" strikes were called in cities all over the country to protest against his visit and against the death of the rioter at Adriano. Police quickly broke up a Red rally at Naples and arrested 70 persons. In Venice Communists were dispersed before they could mass for a rally. It was estimated that 1,000 persons were arrested throughout the country for putting up anti-Eisenhower posters and trying to hold rallies in defiance of police.

A Communist-called one-hour general strike in Rome fizzled out dismally within a few minutes.

Mercer Plans Bill Allowing Iowa City 5 City Councilmen

Action by the Iowa legislature on a bill permitting Iowa City to elect five councilmen under the council-manager plan is expected within the next few weeks.

State Sen. LeRoy S. Mercer, Democrat, of Iowa City, plans to introduce a bill in the legislature which would allow the council-manager administration to have five council members despite the lack of official census figures.

Mercer told City Atty. William H. Bartley Wednesday that he has already asked Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson to draw up the bill for introduction in the senate.

Passage of the bill would mean five councilmen rather than the three announced by Bartley Tuesday, in a legal opinion handed down to Mayor Preston Koser, the city council and members of the zoning and planning commission.

Iowa City has not received official notification of a population increase, from 17,000 in the 1940 census report to 27,000 in 1950.

Under Iowa law, cities with less than 20,000 population elect only three councilmen under the council-manager form of government. Five are elected in cities over 20,000.

Official verification of census figures released several months ago, according to Bartley, is not expected to be available until "sometime this spring."

Bill to Increase Salaries Is Before Iowa Senate

DES MOINES (AP)—A bill to increase the pay of the clerks from and bailiffs of the municipal court of Sioux City and Des Moines was introduced Thursday in the Iowa senate. It would raise the pay of clerks $3,700 to $4,700 a year and that of bailiffs from $3,000 to $4,000. The bill was introduced by Sens. Charles S. Van Eaton (R-Sioux City) and George E. O'Malley (D-Des Moines).

Makes History at SUI —

Negro Initiated by Law Group to Return to Service

By MURRAY SEEGER

It may take a while, but Victor Moore expects to come back to SUI to finish law college after his second tour of duty in the army.

Moore, Lt. Waukegan, Ill., is the first Negro to be initiated into a professional law fraternity at SUI and one of the few to be initiated in the U.S.

Gamma Eta Gamma legal fraternity will hold a special initiation for him today at 2 p.m. at the home of A.C. McClain, L.S. Iowa City, so that Moore can become a member before he returns to the service Feb. 13.

Moore holds a first lieutenant's commission in the reserve and has been ordered to duty with the ninth infantry regiment.

At SUI in 1937

Moore, who is 31, started college here in 1937 after graduating from Waukegan township high school. He left after his first year to join the army.

He was in the "horse cavalry" for two years and the armed cavalry for five. He was a member of the first group of Negroes to be graduated from the armored officers' candidate school at Ft. Knox, Ky., in 1942.

He served in the Asiatic-Pacific theatre for four months and was discharged in February, 1947.

Moore returned to SUI that September. The communication and mathematics skills requirements puzzled him for a while but courses he had taken in 1937 fulfilled the requirements.

He changed his major from accounting to general business and received his bachelor of science degree in commerce last June.

He will have completed almost when he drops out in February.

Sympathy Not Motive

When the fraternity asked him to join, Moore said he was satisfied they asked him as a law student without any feeling of compassion or sympathy.

Bill Houseal, L.S., Washington, said that as president of the fraternity he felt it was an honor to have Moore join the group.

Dean Mason Ladd of the law college said he was very happy to hear that Moore would be initiated into Gamma Eta Gamma.

Moore's father is a registered power plant engineer and has worked at a YMCA in Waukegan for 33 years. Besides Victor, there were seven children in the family. One died but the others have all gone on to college.

Brothers, Sister Hold Degrees One brother earned his master's degree at DePaul university in Chicago and is now working as a statistician for the Bell Aircraft corporation.

Another brother is a dentist in New Jersey, and the third owns a taxi business in Washington, D. C., and holds a bachelor's degree from Morgan State college in Baltimore.

One of his sisters has her master's degree from the University of Illinois and the other is now a senior at Illinois.

Moore is married to the former Mary Johnson of Louisville, Ky., and lives at 426 Riverdale village.

He would like to practice law in the Pacific northwest after graduation. He says, "be the good Lord willing," he'll come back and finish after two years.

DENY COMMANDS TO PLANES

WASHINGTON (AP)—A house armed services subcommittee voted Thursday against giving the airforce chief of staff authority to issue commands to bombers en route to targets.

RECEIVING CONGRATULATIONS for being pledged by Gamma Eta Gamma, legal fraternity, Victor Moore, (right) Lt. Waukegan, Ill. Moore, the first Negro to be accepted to membership in SUI legal fraternity, is dropping from school to report for active duty Feb. 13. He will be initiated by the fraternity today in a special ceremony. Giving the group's welcome is President Bill Houseal, L.S., Washington.

Gustavson to Give Mayo Lecture Today To Medical Men

Prof. R. G. Gustavson, chancellor of the University of Nebraska and internationally known biochemist, teacher and research investigator, will present the 1950-51 Joseph Graham Mayo lecture in the SUI college of medicine today.

He will speak at 4:10 p.m. in the medical amphitheatre of General hospital on "The Next Fifty Years."

Gustavson is a member of the medical advisory committee of the U.S. Public Health service and a member of many honorary societies. He is among those listed in the "American Men of Science."

He has been professor and head of the department of biochemistry, dean of the graduate school and president of University of Colorado. He has also served as vice-president and dean of faculties at the University of Chicago.

Coffee Hour to Honor Journalism Seniors

A coffee hour, sponsored by Associated Students of Journalism and honoring February journalism BA, MA, and PhD candidates will be at 8 p.m. Thursday in the river room of the Iowa Union.

The coffee hour is open to journalism majors and faculty members.

Graduating seniors will present a skit. Glenn Urban, A4, Larrabee, president of the senior class and of the Associated Students of Journalism, will speak. Robert Nobel, executive secretary of SUI Alumni services, will speak on "Keeping Contacts." Refreshments will be served.

Paging — Women Want Page Girls Men Say — NO

MADISON, WIS. (AP)—Male members of the Wisconsin house of representatives loudly proclaimed Thursday that they want page boys to be boys, not girls.

Mrs. Ruth Doyle, one of the two female members of the house, had introduced a resolution calling for an end of the "illegal discrimination against women" in the hiring of pages.

Mrs. Doyle complained that the sergeant-at-arms had turned down the bid of a college coed for a page's job, although the girl was qualified under civil service.

Spirited debate broke out and flourished for 40 minutes. Some male members rose to assert their belief in equal rights, but not where pages were concerned. The job was too hard for a girl, they said.

Mrs. Sylvia Raihle, the other female member, acidly told her colleagues that "your morals will not be corrupted by the presence of a woman."

Finally the legislators had enough. They shouted down the resolution.

Michigan Sends Iowa Petition by Legislature

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa legislature Thursday received its first petition on world government from the Michigan legislature.

The petition, addressed to Iowa, opposes world government on the grounds that nations with slave state ideas would outvote the United States five to one and that American independence would be endangered accordingly. The resolution was read in the senate and was ordered printed in the journal on motion of Sen. Leo Elthon (R-Fertile). Communications of this type between states are unusual.

SUI Ph.D. Candidate Named Coe College English Instructor

Donald H. Minnick, G. M. Vernon, Ph.D. candidate at SUI, has been named English instructor at Coe college, Cedar Rapids, for next semester.

Minnick received his M.A. degree from SUI and has fulfilled all the major requirements for his Ph.D. except for completion of his dissertation.

A 1947 graduate of Cornell college, Minnick won the English club award of $25 for the best thesis written during the year. He was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society, and to Eta Sigma Phi fraternity for Latin and Greek students.

At Coe Minnick will teach freshman English.

Military Ball Tickets Go on Sale at Armory

Tickets for the 49th annual Military Ball are on sale today at the SUI armory, military officials said Thursday.

The annual ball will be held in the Iowa Union on Friday night, Feb. 16. Tickets are $3.50. The name of the band to play at the dance has not been announced.

The presentation of the 1951 honorary Cadet Colonel and his staff will be a highlight of the ball.

DUNCAN IN ASSOCIATION

S. Lyle Duncan, local real estate agent, is a new member of the National Association of Real Estate Brokers, the organization announced Thursday. He is one of four new members of the brokers association from Iowa. The group has 8,754 members in 35 states, Canada, the District of Columbia and the Bahamas Islands.

Holds Two Purple Hearts

Troops Hitchhike Ride on Tanks

RIDING BEATS MARCHING, or so think these troops jamming the tops of these British tanks as they moved south of Suwon in the Osan area of Korea. The soldiers appeared in good spirits as they took their ease on the steel tops and turrets as the Communist drive southward faltered momentarily and left United Nations troops wondering where the enemy would strike next.
