Reinstate Ruck, Greene On Basketball Squad

By HOBERT DUNCAN Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Herald "Skip" Greene and Fred Ruck were reinstated as members of the basketball team Friday evening after an investigation by Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce revealed that the two players apparently had not violated laws concerning parlay cards.

Greene and Ruck, however, were placed on a year's disciplinary probation. Faunce, in a prepared statement, said: "They (Greene and Ruck) apparently have not been in violation of the law concerning parlay cards but they have been guilty of very poor judgment and apparent lack of concern for their personal reputations and their obligations to their university."

"The entire matter is most regrettable and it is most unfortunate that Greene and Ruck placed themselves in such a position, but on the basis of these findings they are being placed on disciplinary probation for the period of one year."

"If at any time within that period, the conduct of either of these students is other than exemplary and comes into question before the dean of students, the young men will be subject to additional disciplinary action including possible dismissal from the university."

This statement was the first official university acknowledgement that Ruck and Greene were the players involved in the transportation of parlay cards from Iowa City to Davenport.

Provides No Reason
Athletic Director Paul Brechler said that Faunce's ruling "provides no reason for withholding these players from intercollegiate competition."

Herald (Skip) Greene, after being reinstated, said he and Fred Ruck felt they had "enough punishment" from bad publicity.

House Committee Considers Drafting World War II Vets

WASHINGTON (AP) - The house armed services committee Friday was reported considering opening the way to a draft of World War II veterans with brief service records and those who did not go overseas.

The law now automatically exempts all veterans. Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) told a draft law hearing it is hard for him to understand why a youth who served only 90 days in World War II should be given automatic deferment while another who didn't serve must be required (when drafted) to stay in uniform 21 months.

The committee, confronted with a defense department proposal for drafting of 18-year-olds, was reported reluctant to dip into this age group immediately. Friday it called on the department to bring in suggestions Monday on tightening the law to cut down deferments.

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, manpower expert and assistant secretary of defense, told the committee that selective service estimates between 75,000 and 80,000 of the nation's 4-Fs (men who have been rejected because of mental or physical reasons) can be put into full active service.

Thursday Mrs. Rosenberg roughly estimated that perhaps 150,000 draft-eligible could be obtained for limited service. This contrasted with Gen. Lewis B. Hershey's estimate that only half that many could actually be put on full duty.

Friday Mrs. Rosenberg added that lowering physical requirements might admit men for "very definite limited service."

'Worse Than Czars' Attlee Calls Stalin

LONDON (AP) - Soviet Russian imperialism is worse than that of the czars and Britons must be ready to defend themselves against it by force of arms, Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee said Friday night.

Attlee said Premier Josef Stalin is a more successful imperialist than any of the czars and that he and his fellow Kremlin leaders constitute "the one will inside the Iron Curtain."

Attlee spoke at a Labor party meeting. His speech was broadcast nationally afterward to prepare Britons for a stiffer rearmament program, as part of which he is expected to tell the house of commons Monday he will call up from 100,000 to 200,000 World War II reservists.

"Our way of life is in danger, our happiness and the happiness and future of our children are in danger," Attlee said. "And it is both our privilege and our duty to be ready to defend them if they are attacked."

"War would bring our standards crashing down. Defeat would destroy and obliterate them for ever. Make no mistake about that."

Report First Explosion At AEC Testing Grounds

CARSON CITY - The first explosion has occurred at the Atomic Energy Commission's new testing grounds in Nevada, Gov. Charles Russell disclosed Friday.

It was a "dry run" conducted on the night of Jan. 24.

"A detonation did occur in connection with the test," the AEC said in reply to questions. It refused to amplify.

The commission would not say whether the explosion was atomic in nature.

The test was described as "a complete success."

Canada Says Try Red China Cease-Fire Aims

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) - Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson suggested Friday a cease-fire conference here or at New Delhi, India, within a week as a conclusive test of Communist China's good intentions in Korea. He said the UN should give Peiping 48 hours to say whether it would take part in such a session.

American circles withheld judgment on Pearson's suggestions, made in a six-point compromise plan. But the Americans were firm in insisting that nothing should be allowed to hold up a decision by the 60-member United Nations political committee on a United States resolution convicting Communist China of aggression in Korea.

The political committee met for three hours for the seventh day of debate on the U.S. resolution and adjourned until today. It will be the third extraordinary Saturday session in as many weeks. No vote is expected until next week at the earliest.

The American resolution wants the United Nations to put the tag of aggressor immediately on Red China; let a 14-nation body made up of members of the collective measures committee study what to do next, and, finally, create a three-man good offices committee to seek ways of ending the fighting in Korea and achieving UN aims in that country by peaceful means.

Pearson, breaking with the British stand against calling Red China an aggressor now, said Canada favored that decision as merely making a record of the evident fact that Red Chinese troops are fighting in Korea.

Taft Warns U.S. Would Bear Brunt Of War with Russia

CHICAGO (AP) - Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) warned Friday that the U.S. would carry "probably 50 percent or more" of the burden in any war with Russia, and said he is opposed to "getting in so heavily."

He said the danger was that the nation might wind up doing 90 percent of the job.

Taft plunged anew into the heated debate over sending troops abroad by opposing too heavy a commitment of troops, or a specific number.

He told the Executives club of Chicago that President Truman has no right to "tie his own hands or those of his successor" by dispatching a certain number of American troops to the defense of Western Europe.

His own idea, he said, is that several U.S. divisions would be sent to Europe at the start of a war "to assure them of our real interest in their defense, and that would be doing a great deal more for them than they have done for us in Korea."

"In fact, in any war with Russia, we would be doing probably 50 percent or more of the entire job," he said.

"But I object to getting in so heavily that before we get through we find ourselves doing 90 percent of the job as we have been doing in Korea."

Taft said he believed congress should spell out the President's authority in sending troops abroad, and should determine the number to be sent "based on some percentage of the total land army we have."

Price-Wage Freeze Order Set Temporarily At Thursday Levels

Operation Blood Bank

SOME OF THE 750 CREWMEN of the aircraft carrier Boxer filled beds and lined up in the wardroom of the ship to give blood for wounded in Korea. A mobile blood bank was hoisted aboard the Boxer for the purpose. The 27,000 ton Essex class carrier has been considerable action in Korean waters and is presently undergoing an overhauling in the San Francisco naval yard.

Two U.S. Spearheads Slash Within 15 Miles of Seoul

TOKYO (SATURDAY) (AP) - Powerful elements of two U.S. corps stabbed within 15 miles of Seoul Friday, killing 474 Chinese in a savage bayonet charge up a single hill.

They found little opposition elsewhere in the South Korean area where the Red vanguard once was massed.

An army spokesman announced that the count of enemy dead in Friday's charge took hill 156 five miles south of Suwon. It was the biggest bayonet action of the war. In addition, 60 Chinese were captured there.

World Situation at a Glance

TOKYO - Powerful units of two United States corps stab within 15 miles of Red-held Seoul against little opposition in an area where vanguard of main Chinese Red armies used to be.

LAKE SUCCESS - Canada's foreign minister, Lester B. Pearson, suggests a cease-fire conference to be held at Lake Success or at New Delhi as a conclusive test of Communist China's good intentions.

WASHINGTON - The U.S. government freezes most prices and all wages at Thursday's levels, ending a period of dizzy uncertainty. Except for increases occurring Friday, no attempt was made to roll back the price-wage line which has been rising rapidly.

LONDON - Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee calls Russian imperialism worse than that of the Czars and calls upon his fellow Britons to be ready to defend themselves by force of arms. He is expected to tell the house of commons he will call up from 100,000 to 200,000 World War II reservists.

PARIS - France invites Western European nations to form an international army under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The plan would put the international army into one type of uniform. Britain's attitude may decide acceptance of the project.

BONN, GERMANY - Reports say that Eisenhower will set up an advanced army headquarters at Heidelberg in addition to his main headquarters near Paris.

WASHINGTON - The house armed services committee is reported considering the drafting of World War II veterans who have only brief records of service and who did not go overseas.

WASHINGTON - Selective service officials now say that only between 75,000 and 80,000 4-Fs may be drafted for limited service. Earlier estimates had placed the figure at about 150,000.

Officials Say Rollbacks May Be Made Later

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government, ending a period of dizzy uncertainty, Friday froze most prices and all wages at Thursday's levels.

Expect for any increase which occurred Friday, no attempt was made to roll back the price-wage line which has been rising so fast. But officials said some price rollbacks may be achieved later in certain industries.

The price order, signed by Price Director Michael V. Disalle, says that prices of goods and services—with certain exceptions—may not rise above the highest levels of the period that started Dec. 19 and ended midnight Thursday, Jan. 25.

Since few prices have fallen in that period that means they are frozen at Thursday's levels.

The exemptions to the freeze are important—many foods may continue to rise because the defense production act limits Disalle's power to check them. There is no freeze on food prices at the farm level.

The wage order simply freezes all wages and salaries as of Thursday. It was signed by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and given to the press by Cyrus S. Ching, chairman of the wage stabilization board.

Disalle and Ching announced the double-barreled action at a hurriedly-called news conference.

Ching said the wage freeze order was handed to him only ten minutes before the news conference. It was obvious that the order had not been approved by Ching's nine-man wage board.

Ching did not say so, but informants said he was unwilling to freeze wages without unanimous vote of the board and the labor members of the board wouldn't vote "yes."

But both the price and wage orders are temporary "stop-gap" measures.

The price freeze will be replaced as fast as possible by specific ceiling prices, industry by industry.

Flexible Wage Policy
The wage freeze will be wiped out as soon as Ching's board can complete a flexible wage policy, under which lagging wages will be permitted to come up to a certain standard.

Asked why didn't he roll back prices further than one day, Disalle explained that such a move would have delayed the effective date—the date when companies must start complying—by three or four weeks. Instead, the effective date of both the price and wage orders is Thursday midnight.

'Unfair to Labor...'

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. (AP) - William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, Friday termed the administration's wage-price freeze as "unjust and unfair unless labor is given a chance to overcome obvious inequities."

Green, who said he had not heard of the freeze until informed by The Associated Press, said "the matter would have to be looked into thoroughly" but on the face of it, it appeared unfair.

He commented that "prices have been steadily rising while wages have been pretty much standing still. Unless we are accorded the opportunity to work out inequities, the freeze is unjust to labor."

Four Testify Here in Suit Against Student

Jim Lauman, A4, Sioux Rapids, and three former SUI students testified Friday in the $25,000 damage suit brought against Lauman and two others by Clark M. Sexton, Oakville.

Lauman, Duane Khurts, Otto Anderson and Glenn Cullen testified that the car in which they and two others were riding slid out of control when the accident occurred in January, 1947.

Dr. Adolph L. Sabs, 605 Brookland Park drive, head of neurology at University hospitals, testified on Sexton's condition on the basis of an examination made this month.

A suit brought by Lauman against the driver of the car in which Sexton was riding has not yet come to trial.

Miners Unhappy...

PITTSBURGH (AP) - There were not any printable words to describe the United Mine Workers feelings toward the new government wage-price freeze.

They condemned it, one and all. They called it a "dirty trick," called for mass meetings and threatened to haul out the old banner, "no contract, no work."

5 Marys Confuse Sorority Sisters, Dates

Names are often a source of confusion — Notre Dame's for instance. But seldom has a name such as Mary given anybody trouble.

Not so at the Delta Zeta house. After the first visit, any caller knows better than to ask for Mary. Five coeds may answer the call.

They are Mary Lou Hemmingway, A3; Mary Ruth Offringa, A3, and Mary Jeannette Foster, A3, all of West Branch; Mary Jo Clark, A1, Iowa City; and Mary Lou Hoover, N2, Oskaloosa.

Their sorority sisters have worked out a solution to the problem. They call the girls by their first two names, or simply use the last names.

Three of the Marys are well acquainted with the problem of having identical first names. The Misses Hemmingway, Foster and Offringa went to school together in West Branch.

Besides themselves, two other Marys were in their class. This made a large proportion of Marys in a class of 14 girls.

Although it's confusing, the girls regard it as a source of good-natured fun. It hasn't happened yet, but they're a little afraid of the day when they get mixed up on dates.

Twin Cities' Strike Makes All Schooling Actually Home Work

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—All school work has become "home work" for 63,000 students in Minneapolis public schools since union janitors walked out on strike Tuesday.

Television sets and living rooms have replaced class rooms for the students. And students and parents alike are quite happy about the "tele-classes" which WTCN-TV started when the strike began.

Times Have Changed

Times apparently have changed, and students apparently don't consider school something bad like Tom Sawyer did.

The television station has gotten a flood of letters, postcards, and telephone calls since it started televising school work into the homes Thursday. But a spokesman said not a single student has called to protest against having the unscheduled holiday from classes interrupted.

Instead, when "school time" arrives, a big share of the city's pupils group around television sets, getting their education right at home.

Mrs. Robert Land said her two children, Jeffrey, 10, and Jennifer, 8, "look forward" to the tele-classes.

Early Start

"I have to move in the morning to get things straightened up around the house early so everything is cleared out of the way by the time classes start," she said.

Mrs. Land said the tele-classes are "really fabulous." She said they have turned "something bad (the strike) into something good."

"Besides showing what television can do in an educational way," she said, "the television classes have given parents a good chance to find out what goes on in the classrooms."

Jeffrey and Jennifer have seen several teachers from the high school near their home on television, but they haven't seen their own teachers on any of the programs yet.

He is a civil engineer for the Standard Oil company at Whiting, Ind. No date has been set for the wedding.

Divorce Rate Lower For Athletic-Minded Coeds, Poll Shows

The girl majoring in physical education at SUI has the best chance of getting by with only one marriage.

That's the word from Elizabeth Halsey, head of women's physical education at Iowa, who says that fewer athletic-minded girls get divorces than girls in other branches of school.

According to Miss Halsey the divorce rate for women holding a degree in physical education from SUI was less than three percent, while the nation's divorce rate in 1948 was 25 percent of all married persons.

These results were compiled from questionnaires returned by 422 alumnae of the physical education department who received their bachelor of science degrees in the span from 1923 to 1950. The department records show that there are 570 living graduates.

The survey showed that the average graduate of the department is a housewife with two children and, if things are running true to form, her husband is either a professional or business man.

The poll also indicated that the physical education degree-holder is most likely to get married than her sisters in other fields and that most of the graduates who are not married are teaching school.

Southeast Asia Mecca For Chinese, Indians, Geographer Declares

By DARLENE CROUCH

Southeastern Asia has served as an "El Dorado" for the people of China and India according to Prof. E. H. G. Dobby, visiting lecturer from Malaya at Yale university.

Dobby told approximately 50 persons Friday night in the senate chamber of Old Capitol that pioneering in commercial agriculture in southeast Asia had resulted in "hundreds of thousands of foreigners coming to this area to work."

"Nearly all the economic crops of this area are introductions from abroad," Dobby said. Rubber trees from the Amazon basin, and sugar cane from Cuba are only a few examples, Dobby said.

Another great pioneering area, according to Dobby, is the tropical swamp areas which have been cleared by the Burmese, Siamese and Chinese peasants.

"Their mastery of this formerly uninhabited area has increased the rice bowl area almost thirteen times, he said.

Dobby pointed out that "the urbanization and industrialization of China and Japan in the future will be possible only through these areas."

The lecture, which was sponsored by the University graduate college and the department of geography, was illustrated by two movies.

They were "A Topical Review of Affairs of Malaya," and "The Kinta Story," which concerns Chinese tin mines in the Kinta valley in Malaya.

Dobby is returning to Malaya where he is a professor of geography at the University of Malaya.

He was formerly associated with the British intelligence organization in India. The Asian expert received his doctor's degree at the University of London and taught at Raffles college in Malaya.

Ott, Foxx Named To 'Hall of Fame' By Baseball Writers

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Ott, former New York Giants player and manager and all-time home run king of the National League, and Jimmy Foxx, mighty slugging first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox for nearly 20 years, Friday were elected to baseball's Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Ott, 41, and Foxx, 43, are the 59th and 60th players to have their names enshrined in Cooperstown, N.Y., home of the Hall of Fame. The last player to be thus honored was Charley Gehringer, former Detroit Tiger star second baseman, who gained it in 1949.

Ott was named on 197 of the 226 ballots cast. Foxx received 179 votes. They needed only 170, or three-fourths of the total vote, to be elected. Ott missed making it last year by the narrow margin of 12.

Oddly enough, both came up to the major leagues the same year, 1925, and both began as catchers. Whereas Foxx was sent down to the minors for another year of seasoning, Ott never played in the minors. John McGraw, his manager, had him sit on the bench throughout the 1925 season, fearing to let the 16-year-old youngster with such great promise fall into the hands of another manager.

Foxx came to stay in 1926 and proceeded to knock down the big league fences for the next 20 years. When he called it a career at the end of the 1945 season, he had accumulated 534 home runs to finish second only to the immortal Babe Ruth.

Ott spent 22 consecutive seasons with the Giants. Ott became manager of the Giants in 1942, succeeding Bill Terry. He led the club until the middle of the 1948 season when he was replaced by Leo Durocher. In his long tenure as a Giant, Ott established numerous records.

In addition to his 511 homers, most ever hit by a National leaguer, he also holds the league record for most runs scored, most runs batted in, most bases on balls, most long hits, most total bases and a flock of others.

More than 100 players received mention in the poll. The selections were restricted only to those who performed during the years 1924 through 1949. No player still active in the majors was eligible.

Waner Trails
Paul Waner, "Big Poison" of the Pittsburgh Pirates in the late '20's and 1930's, ranked third behind Ott and Foxx. The former National league batting champion polled only 162 votes, only eight shy of the necessary three-fourths total.

Then, in following order, came Harry Heilmann, 153; Bill Terry, 148; Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, 145; Bill Dickey, 118; Al Simmons, 116, and Rabbit Maranville, 110, Ted Lyons, 71, rounded out the top ten.

Fesler Encounters Blizzard of Snow Instead of Protests
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Wes Fesler, who was swept out of a coaching job at Ohio State by a blizzard last November, landed here for a look at his new coaching job Friday and stepped right into another blizzard.

"Brrr," Fesler said when he stepped off a plane to visit the University of Minnesota where he has just signed up for three years as head coach. "This weather looks familiar."

Not as Bad
But he said the snow swirling around Minneapolis wasn't as bad as that which hit Columbus, last November on a day when his team got upset, 9-3, by Michigan. That loss set off a storm of protests from Ohio State fans which finally led to Fesler's resignation.

The snowstorm didn't stop Fesler from warming up immediately to the big job facing him as Minnesota coach. His first step was to try to get the ball rolling to stop a lot of the state's outstanding high school talent from drifting out of the state to play football at other colleges.

"I'm definitely going to work with the high schools," Fesler said. One of the things he said he intends to do to try to stop Minnesota talent from going elsewhere is to set up a series of high school coaching clinics. He said such clinics helped a lot at Ohio State.

A Troubled League
"This is a trouble league, and we have to have good players. No matter how good a coach is, you can't win without good players," he said.

Hogan Withdraws From Golf Tourney Because of Illness

PHOENIX, ARIZ. — Ben Hogan withdrew from the $10,000 Phoenix open golf tournament Friday because of an attack of intestinal influenza, and Chick Harbert grabbed the second round lead with his second sub-par round and a 36-hole score of 133.

The illness brought an abrupt halt to the first 1951 competitive appearance for Hogan, golf's man of the year.

Hogan had taken the 6,698-yard Phoenix Country club course apart with a six-under-par 65 Thursday to hold a one stroke lead.

Thursday night he complained of feeling ill and called a physician. He came to the course Friday morning but was too sick to report at the time.

After he was taken to his hotel room, his wife told reporters: "Ben is all right, but he has been terribly nauseated and weak. It was a blow to him not to be able to play. He tried and just couldn't go through with it."

Harbert, a 35-year-old former Ryder cup player, who tied for first during regulation play in George S. May's "World Championship" tournament at Chicago last year only to lose in a playoff, fired a 67 to go with his 66 of Thursday.

That left him two strokes in front of mustachioed Lloyd Mangrum and veteran Lawson Little. Mangrum fashioned a 68 Friday, and a total of 135.

Maxim Will Fight Charles for Title
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jack Kearns, manager of Light Heavyweight Boxing Champion Joey Maxim, said Friday night the International Boxing club has agreed to match his protegee against Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles in a 15-round title bout in June.

Kearns said a verbal agreement was made earlier this week in New York with IBC President James Norris Jr. He said the fight would be held either in Pittsburgh or Cincinnati, that the champion would receive 40 percent of the gate, while Maxim's cut would be 20 percent.

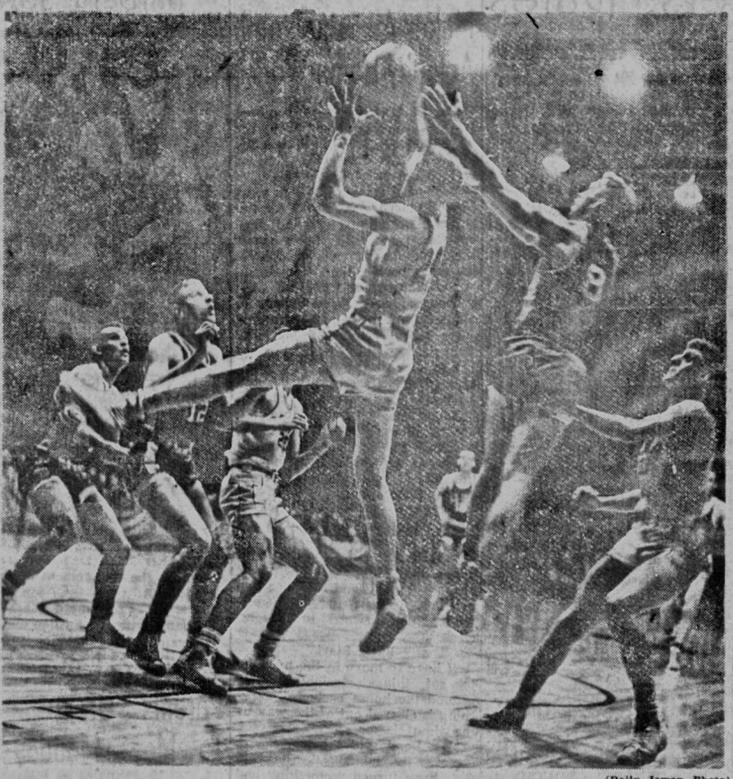

Kearns expressed the hope Charles would scale 175 pounds in order to make it a "double title" match, with both light-heavy and heavyweight division titles at stake.

Maxim opposes Hubert Hood of Chicago in a non-title benefit fight here tonight.

Pepper Martin Wants To Become a Sheriff
HARTSHORNE, OKLA. (AP) — Pepper Martin, infielder with the St. Louis Cardinals in the "Gas House Gang" era, wants to become sheriff of Pittsburg county when his baseball days are over.

Martin, owner of a ranch in this eastern Oklahoma county, now is manager of Miami, Fla., in the Florida International league. "I figure that a man with divine guidance of the Lord and an honest heart can make a good sheriff," he told the Rotary club here. "And I hope to be your sheriff when my baseball days are over."

A Successful Experiment

Iowa's Rusty Garst — Learns to Swim in Tub

— Becomes All-American
By RED BICKERS
Ed "Rusty" Garst, captain of the Iowa swimming team and Big Ten 50 and 100-yard free style champion, first learned the stroke that made him an AAU all-American in a bath tub.

Taking a plunge in the confines of a bath tub would be quite a difficult task for most people, Garst admits, but the size of the tub didn't restrict his early training. He was only three years old when he first paddled the length of the "pool."

By the time Rusty was the age most persons first learn to swim, he was well along the road to water fame.

When he was eight years old, he swam in the Madison, Wis., Centennial meet, scoring a double victory in the free style and back stroke events, and placing second and third in two other races.

"I'll never forget that day," says Garst. "They gave out medals as big as can lids. I was about the happiest kid alive."

His father's desire that Rusty be an outstanding swim star was responsible for his early start at the water sport. Although his father isn't much of a swimmer himself, he figured an early start on Rusty's training would do the trick.

Garst is the only swimmer ever to win all five classes of the Chicago Tribune Summer Swim Carnival. He started his swim streak in the 12-years-and-under class and went on to win the other four classes. Although it might seem that a 22-year-old person who had been swimming for 19 years would want to make some part of the sport his life occupation, this is not so with Garst. He's going to be a clothes designer after he graduates and spends a couple of years in the service.

As a home economics major, Garst takes a job of ribbing from his teammates, but he counters it by saying, "I can mend my own shirts and socks and cook a better meal than the rest of these guys, and that's nothing to laugh at with the woman shortage we have here at Iowa."

Familiar Setting — Wilt vs. Gehrmann

NEW YORK (AP) — My, how time flies! Seems like only a month ago they decided the 1950 Wanamaker mile, and now it's time for the 1951 race.

As a matter of fact, it was only a month ago that they decided the 1950 result. They awarded it to Don Gehrmann over Fred Wilt after 11 months of consultation.

Just in time, too, because Gehrmann races Wilt in the same event tonight at Madison Square Garden. His job is to accomplish in a little more than four minutes what it took the befuddled AAU officials 11 months to do — prove he can run faster than Wilt.

He's convinced a few folks — in addition to the AAU brass — already. He beat Wilt twice in mile races last weekend, the first time at Philadelphia on Friday and the second at Boston on Saturday.

As an FBI man, Wilt is pretty good at trailing fellows. The trick now is to catch up.

Oklahoma Aggies Beat Bradley, 49-48, In Overtime Game

PEORIA, ILL. (AP) — Oklahoma A & M, one of the nation's leading college basketball teams, Friday night swept to a season's 17-1 record with a dramatic 49-48 victory over Bradley university in an overtime game.

Keith Smith, Oklahoma guard, scored the winning point with a free throw with less than three seconds remaining of the overtime period.

The game, drawing a standing room crowd of 8,300 into Robertson fieldhouse, settled the leadership of the Missouri Valley conference basketball race. Oklahoma A & M has a 5-0 league record.

The defeat left Bradley, also one of the top college teams of the nation, in third place in the Missouri Valley conference race and a season's record of 18-3.

Norman Pilgrim, Oklahoma forward, and Bradley's Gene Melchiorre led the scoring with 13 apiece.

City High Whips Dubuque, 49-45

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
DUBUQUE — Iowa City's Little Hawks captured their fifth Missouri Valley league win of the season by whipping the Dubuque Rams, 49-45, in a rugged game here Friday night.

With Forward Gene Brawner leading their attack with 14 points, the Little Hawks led all the way.

The contest saw 41 personal fouls called as the game drew to a rough and tumble climax. Each team had a player rejected for roughness in the closing three minutes.

Dubuque rallied to within three points late in the fourth quarter. An Iowa City stall preserved the win over the last-place Rams.

Starting fast the Little Hawks mounted to a first quarter lead of 9-4. They built that into a 21-13 halftime margin.

Hitting well from the sides on long set shots Iowa City widened their lead to 35-24 by the third quarter.

Iowa City's sophomores dropped a 42-39 decision to the Dubuque sophs in the opening game.

CUBS SIGN WARD
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs have signed first Sacker Preston Ward and Pitcher Calvin Coolidge McLish to 1951 contracts. As a rookie last season, 23-year-old Ward showed considerable promise until he suffered a knee injury.

Gophers Challenge First-Place Indiana

CHICAGO (AP) — Undefeated Indiana should notch its sixth straight Big Ten basketball win tonight, but may have to hustle against a Minnesota team which will be pointing for the pace-setting Hoosiers.

Their meeting at Bloomington, Ind., is one of three conference tilts on tap for the evening. In other games, Northwestern (3-2), tied with Minnesota for fourth place, is host to Purdue (0-4) and Michigan State (2-3) is at Ohio State (0-5).

Lose to Bradley
The Hoosiers, rolling along with excellent team play, have averaged 66.8 points in brushing aside Illinois, Purdue, Michigan State and Ohio State (twice). For the entire season, Indiana has lost only once in 12 starts, a two-point setback by Bradley.

In Minnesota, though, the Hoosiers will meet a team which shared pre-season title favoritism with themselves. The Gophers have beaten Ohio State, Purdue and Michigan, while losing to Illinois and Iowa in league play. Thus, Ossie Cowles has to engineer an upset by his Gophers against Indiana, if he hopes to stay in the race.

In Forward Maynard Johnson and Guard Whitey Skoog are in top form, Minnesota could give Indiana a hard time. Johnson's 17-point average is better than the 15.8 with which Center Bill Garrett paces Indiana scorers. Skoog may be the match of Garrett in rebounding under both baskets.

Cats Meet Purdue
Northwestern, which can't be counted out of the title chase either, should win on its own court against invading Purdue, which still is seeking its first conference win. Ray Ragelis, sharp-shooting Wildcat center, will take a league-leading average of 20.4 points against the Boiler-makers.

Defending champion Ohio State will be trying to avert a repeat of last year's defeat. The Spartans, who rate as the loop's top defensive team with a five-game average yield of 48.8 points.

Second-place Illinois (5-1) is idle in conference play until Feb. 5 when the Illini invade Purdue. Wisconsin, third with 4-1, resumes Feb. 3 at Minnesota. Iowa (3-3) marks time until Feb. 5 when Northwestern visits Iowa City. Michigan (1-5) returns to loop competition Feb. 10 at Northwestern.

ZERNIAL, BAKER SIGN
CHICAGO (AP) — Two key players of the Chicago White Sox, outfielder Gus Zernial and third Sacker Floyd Baker, Friday, signed 1951 contracts.

So there were ties in both divisions, forcing playoffs from which the Cleveland Browns emerged victorious on Christmas eve.

Football Likes Bell Better Than Baseball Likes Happy Chandler

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball and pro football apparently have different and definite ideas about their commissioners — A.B. (Happy) Chandler and Bert Bell.

Baseball refused to give Chandler a vote of confidence last December but the football pros, far apart on how to run their business in 1951, agreed on a simple solution: "Let Bert fix it."

Bert Fixes It
So Bert is fixing it again and when he makes his next gravel-throated announcement on how it'll be, the rough and tumble club owners are bound to accept his terms.

The current problem is to set the line up of the league's two divisions into six teams each after a year's experiment with a 13 club league including the now defunct Baltimore franchise.

He'll make a few suggestions by mail and if none receives 11 favorable endorsements from the owners, Bert will fix the two lineups the way he sees it.

Bert is a football man and football men respect his judgment. At least they toss him all the tough jobs they can't settle themselves and this winter handed him a $10,000 raise to $40,000 for his efforts.

Bell is stocky and a scrapper. He had to be handy with his fists as a youngster because his square name is "Debenneville" and it took a lot of scrapping to get the other kids to call him "Bert."

Strong Man
The 57-year-old Philadelphian first emerged as a strong man when the pro war between the NFL and All-America conference finally came to an end a year ago.

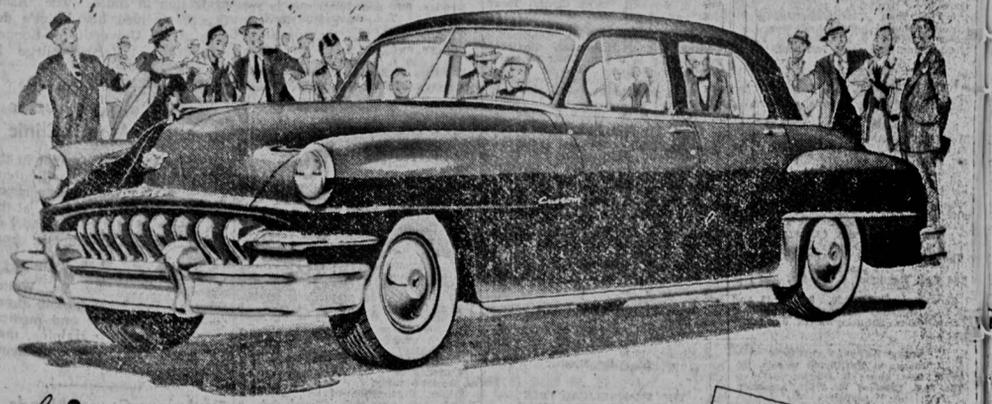

Into the wrangling over what teams would be admitted and what sort of a schedule would be played in 1950, stepped the squat commissioner of the old league.

Bert eventually drew up a schedule that virtually was a masterpiece. Like a handicapper for a horse race, Bell matched the teams so there'd be a showdown for a division lead almost every week.

"I hope we have ties in both divisions," he said at the time. "We can play all winter if we have to."

So there were ties in both divisions, forcing playoffs from which the Cleveland Browns emerged victorious on Christmas eve.

Release of Census Figures Please CMA

Atty. Clair E. Hamilton, chairman of the local Council-Manager association, said the association was "extremely happy" to learn that Iowa City's official 1950 census figures have been released and that the city may elect five councilmen in March.

The census figures, setting local population at 27,018, have been certified by the Iowa secretary of state and should be forwarded to Mayor Preston Koser within the next few days.

Iowa Law
Under Iowa law, Iowa City would be permitted to elect only three councilmen if the official 1950 figures were not released before city elections March 26.

Iowa City's population in 1940 was 17,000, and in Iowa cities with populations of less than 20,000 can elect only three councilmen under the council-manager form of government. Those with populations of more than 20,000 can elect five.

Hamilton said the announcement would not alter the association's plans for selecting its candidates for councilmen, since the group already had planned to endorse more than three candidates for the offices.

When queried of when the association would release its slate of candidates for the aldermen posts, Hamilton said, "No comment."

Received a Letter
Hamilton did say, however, that he had received a letter from Congressman Thomas Martin of Iowa City stating the census figures had been certified by both the census bureau in Washington, D.C., and the Iowa secretary of state.

Firemen Fight 2 Blazes; Moravec House Burned

Two fires were extinguished by Iowa City firemen Friday.

Extensive damage was caused to a house owned by Vince J. Moravec at 305 E. Prentiss street Friday morning. Firemen were called at 10:50 a.m. and found the basement ablaze.

Earlier, at 8:55 a.m., firemen were called to the yards of the Rock Island railroad. A motor car was nearly destroyed by fire. The engine and the gasoline tank were beyond repair, firemen said.

U.S. Troops Push North Again in Korea

U.S. Eighth Army troops jam tank tops as the armored giants roll toward the front in Korea. AFTER A FAST WITHDRAWAL below the 38th parallel into South Korea, U.S. troops are standing pat instead of continuing to fall back as first appearances indicated, these defense department photos show. The liquid front has been pushed farther north than it was a few days ago.

Cedar Rapids Family Rescued when Gas Fumes Filled Home

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — A tragedy was averted in Cedar Rapids Friday when four persons were rescued from their carbon monoxide-filled home.

Richard Schade, 28, his wife, Arlis, 27, the Schades' son, David, 2, and Schade's mother, Mrs. Edward Roddy, 60, were all reported in good condition in a Cedar Rapids hospital Friday night.

Doctor Called
Relatives, who went to the Schade home Friday morning, found the four apparently asleep. When efforts to arouse them failed, the family doctor, who had been treating the family for what everyone thought was the flu, was called.

The doctor advised they continue their efforts to awaken the group and try to give them some nourishment. He suggested the four were weak and said he would stop by after office hours at 5:30 p.m.

Ambulance Called
Another doctor was called who rushed to the house. He immediately diagnosed it as carbon monoxide poison and summoned an ambulance.

The gas came from a leaky furnace exhaust pipe that may have been leaking for at least three weeks.

Parking Ticket 'Fix' Backfires

A lot of people are always trying to figure out ways to "fix" a parking ticket, but Russell H. Kellogg, Boone, tried "fixing" one the hard way Friday.

Kellogg had accumulated five tickets, four delinquent and one current, on his car, so police drove it into the station.

Close on their heels, Kellogg went to the back of the station and drove the car away without permission.

A little disturbed, police found the car again and had it towed in. When Kellogg showed up to get the car, he was fined $20 by Judge Emil G. Trot. He was also assessed a $2 towing charge. Originally the tickets would have cost a maximum of $9.30.

Senate Defers Consideration Of State Anti-Gambling Law

DES MOINES (AP) — The state senate is going to take a look at Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson's new anti-gambling bill before it comes up for a vote Tuesday.

The bill proposes to do what Minnesota is now doing by cancelling for one year the business licenses of the owner of any tavern or other establishment who is convicted under the state's anti-gambling laws.

The senate decided to go slow on consideration of the measure Friday by putting it over until Tuesday as a special order of business. The vote on deferment motion, offered by Sen. Elmer Bekman (R - Ottumwa) was first announced in the senate as 27 to 14 for delaying action.

Later the official record was corrected in the senate journal to show that 25 senators favored delay on the vote and 19 favored immediate action. Six did not vote.

Before the bill comes up Tuesday, some amendments will be offered. The general purpose of these proposed changes, which will be sponsored by individual senators, is:

To decide whether fraternal organizations will be deprived of their beer licenses if they permit penny-ante poker games on the premises.

To determine whether the anti-gambling law should be applied to firms which offer giveaway prizes where no financial consideration is paid in advance.

To decide whether church groups and others who operate "bingo" games for charitable purposes should be allowed to do so without governmental restraint.

Meanwhile, the house committee on consolidation and coordination of state government recommended for passage the first of the proposals by the Little Hoover commission.

The measure approved by the committee would create a budget and financial control committee to take over and expand the duties and powers of the present legislative interim committee.

Charles City Oliver Workers Walk Out

CHARLES CITY (AP) — A general strike of workers in the Oliver corporation plant was voted by the local of the united electrical, radio, and machine workers union (Independent) Friday. Picket lines were established shortly afterward.

The strike vote climaxed unsuccessful efforts by the farm equipment plant's management and union representatives to reach a settlement of union grievances.

Union leaders said that a total of about 2,000 employees would be idled by this morning.

The dispute between the company and union had resulted in two walk outs in recent weeks.

The grievances originated over a union protest on a piece-rate re-timing study but the union complaints broadened later to include charges of speed-up, discrimination against union shop stewards, and discrimination against some office workers.

Names Ann Lawson, Paul Peterson to Hawkeye Positions

Hawkeye Editor Dan Miller, A4, Hagerstown, Mo., Friday appointed Paul Peterson, A4, Rock Island, Ill., an editorial assistant and Ann Lawson, A3, Iowa City, assistant photography editor.

Peterson, who was beauty editor, is also the newly-named editor of Frivol.

The 1951 yearbook should be ready for distribution about May 1, Miller said. He added the book would be different from previous Hawkeyes with a more modern format and layout, more pictures and student art work.

30 Drawings

About 30 drawings by Richard Martin, A3, Hamburg, will be included in the new book. Martin also designed an oil painting which will be reproduced on the covers by an offset lithography process.

Other features will be alphabetical arrangement of senior pictures, five main divisions and a short history of the University. The book will have 416 pages.

Flu Epidemic Spreads To East Europe, Spain

LONDON (AP) — Influenza appears waning in several nations of western Europe, but is flaring up in Poland and Czechoslovakia and gaining epidemic proportions in Spain, a survey showed. Britain still seems to be hardest hit.

Feeble and aged persons have made up most of the thousands who have died since the malady first appeared. Health officials have no exact information on the number of cases, but millions of persons are sneezing and running temperatures.

School Janitors' Strike Awaits High Court Ruling

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Efforts to end a strike of janitors which has closed Minneapolis schools since Tuesday were at a standstill Friday, while the state supreme court decided whether the strike was legal.

School Superintendent Rufus Putnam and members of the school board were waiting out a supreme court decision, hoping the high court would decide the strike was illegal and order the janitors back to work.

Life Amid Ruined Suwon

First Americans Died Near Place Where Heavy Fighting Exists

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Staff Correspondent

SUWON, KOREA (UP)—The Yanks stormed into Suwon for the fifth time Friday but Suwon is just a place on the map.

It was in this ancient walled town that the Americans first had their headquarters after the North Korean invasion.

It was on a hill just south of here that the first Americans died. American forces from the north and south linked up near here after the successful landing at Inchon.

Scarcely a building stands in the city which once housed more than 50,000 persons. One of those still standing is the Presbyterian church. Its windows are blasted, but its spire rises starkly amid the blackened ruins. Wires dangle in the muddy streets.

People Live Amid Ruins

Burned out, machinegun-riddled boxcars stand on the railroad tracks. But people still live amid the ruins.

A division commander's helicopter landed in a temporary headquarters in the midst of town Friday, and in what seemed an instant more than 100 children were gaping.

An old man with a wispy mustache and beard became a self-appointed traffic cop and did a good job of directing military traffic at a congested corner.

Five Waves

Despite the fact the war had swept back and forth across them five times, many of the Koreans smiled and waved at the Yanks as they came in with tanks, trucks and jeeps.

An old woman's kindly warning may have saved me and three other correspondents from plunging off a blasted bridge in our jeep.

Then there was the other side of the picture.

A young woman scarcely able to stand pulled herself to our jeep and attempted to paw through our duffel-bags. She was a case of starvation.

UN Forces Inch Forward

From a snowy hilltop southeast of Suwon, Friday I watched for two hours while other United Nations forces inched forward.

The unit cannot be identified for security reasons, but it has a reputation for loving a fight. And in the last 48 hours it has been proving it.

It was still in the thick of the fight this afternoon at Kumyang-jang, another ancient walled town 11 miles southeast of Suwon.

Should Have Retired

By all the rules it should have retired to the hills outside and waited for dawn before resuming its advance, but its commander sent back word he wanted to stay where he was.

He called for artillery and air strikes and division headquarters promised he would get it.

Thursday an enemy force held up the same unit on a hillside, resisting both air and artillery attacks. So the foot soldiers went in with their bayonets and took the hill.

Defense Class to Get Realistic Field Test

The civil defense class at SUI will put the finishing touches on their first semester's work with a realistic field test at 9:30 a.m. today in the south end of the stadium.

A full-scale test will be staged with the atmosphere scheduled to be as true-to-life as possible. It will represent what is to follow an atom bomb explosion.

Sealed units of radio-active cobalt will be buried throughout the area and radio-active iodine crystals will be sprinkled on the ground.

Construct Special Units

Those in charge of the course have constructed special structures representing various utilities such as a power plant, water plant, and telephone exchange, and one or more of these "buildings" will be set on fire.

Special protective clothing will safeguard class members from any harmful effects. Although the test will be extremely realistic, officials said that no one will be in actual danger.

Following the test, which is not expected to last over an hour, all persons within the area will be checked for radioactivity of clothing before leaving the testing ground. The radio-active materials will also be collected immediately after the test is completed.

The class members will have the job of moving through the contaminated area with Geiger counters and other detection instruments to determine the extent of damage done by the radiation. Their object will be to seek a safe path by which they can approach and repair the "utilities" which have been hit.

This is the first test of its kind to be held in this part of the country and will be patterned after a similar test made at the atomic center in Oak Ridge, Tenn., last summer.

Members of the class include law and engineering students at SUI and civilian defense leaders from Cedar Rapids, Davenport, and Iowa City.

Visitors to See Test

Iowa's Director for Civil Defense, Rodney Q. Selby, mayors from many of Iowa's larger cities, and civilian defense chairmen

Alumni to Receive Hygiene Honors

SUI alumni Bruce and Beatrice Gould will receive honors from the American Social Hygiene association for their courageous fight against venereal disease in the columns of the Ladies Home Journal next Wednesday at Philadelphia.

The Goulds, who are editors of the Journal, will be awarded the William Freeman Snow Medal for distinguished service to humanity.

The Journal has given women the facts about syphilis and has urged readers to support sound venereal disease control measures.

Gould, who edited the first Frivol here at SUI in 1919 is author of articles, fiction and books on aviation, and has written plays in collaboration with Mrs. Gould.

The awards next Wednesday will be part of the observance of the National Social Hygiene Day and regional conference at Philadelphia. More than 50 health and welfare organizations have promised attendance at the event.

Son in Korea Responsible For Boy Scout Super

DES MOINES (AP) — An air force sergeant in Korea unknowingly is largely responsible for a chili supper being given for 40 Norwoodville Boy Scouts next Monday evening.

He is S/Sgt. Forrest E. Howard, 22. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee E. Howard, living just outside Des Moines, are giving the supper for the scouts of troop 16 for two reasons.

They miss their son and they like boys.

The chili supper, they figure, will help in both ways.

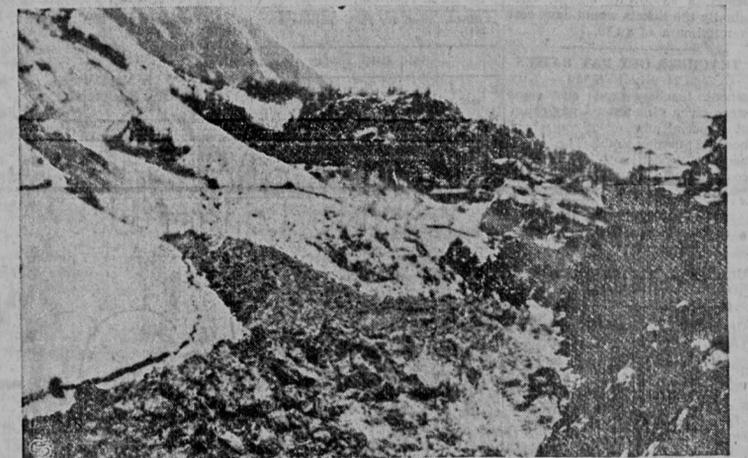

Norwoodville is a small community north of Des Moines.

New Yorkers Say 4 to 1 — Ale in Paper Cups 'Outrageous'

EDITOR'S NOTE: A test the Hackensack, N.J., health department scheduled for Friday, to determine whether beer tasted the same out of a paper cup as out of a glass was cancelled.

In the interest of health, sanitation and social tradition, a United Press reporter conducted his own test in Manhattan at McSorley's old ale house, established in 1854.

By RICHARD AMPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Veteran ale drinkers, outraged at the very thought of it, sneered four to one Friday at "suds" in a paper cup.

This is how it went:

A 235-pound man in a plain lumberjack waddled to the venerable bar at McSorley's 97-year-old ale house, nodded to bartender Willie Eulo to serve him and turned to talk to a friend.

The bartender, with the look of a man about to betray a sacred trust, put a paper cup into a metal container such as those used for ice cream sodas in a drug store. He poured the ale, the only drink served at McSorley's (no women allowed) and slid it to the elbow of 39-year-old Charlie Schlimmer.

Schlimmer turned from his friend to face the bar and the drink before him.

Schlimmer's initial shock gave way to revulsion, then disbelief, and finally outrage.

What happened?

"What kind of drink is that?" he roared.

With a sweep of his hamlike arm, he knocked the paper cup away as Eulo quickly filled a mug-like glass to pacify him.

"You've insulted him. You spoiled his whole day," said Robert Shanley, 40, Brooklyn, N.Y.

"It's a test," said chuckling Harry Kierwin, manager of McSorley's. "The health department at Hackensack was supposed to conduct it but canceled it because they said there was too much publicity and conditions wouldn't be normal."

He told the bartender to serve another customer.

Willie put the paper cup before Jim Welsh, natty in a derby, who sneered:

"If Stinks"

"I think it stinks. I'd sooner not drink."

He didn't.

"It's supposed to be more sanitary," one customer said.

Fifty-year-old Walter Gunderson scoffed:

"My father was 90 when he died and he never got any disease from a glass. You want to know what I think of ale in paper cups. Listen. I come 20 miles to this place once, maybe twice a week to drink 20 glasses.

"A man who drinks one or two is just thirsty. A man who drinks ten is a drinker. When they had china mugs here for beer, I drank 28 a day. When they switched to these glasses, 20. I wouldn't touch a drop in a paper cup. I'd say for every one who would 10 wouldn't."

3 Approved

Of 12 men tested, only three had a kind word for ale out of paper cups.

John Suren, 51, who has patronized McSorley's daily since 1915, smiled tolerantly at the paper cupful handed him, and said:

"I had three before this. Right now I can't tell any difference in the taste."

Pete Fedun, 42, who said he had been a patron of McSorley's for 20 years, sipped from a paper cup.

"I don't taste any difference," he said. "As long as it's ale, it doesn't matter what you serve it in."
