Hoosiers Keep Lead

Indiana's Hoosiers kept the lead in the Big Ten basketball race Saturday night with a 32-26 win over Minnesota in a low scoring game. The Hoosiers, who have a 6-0 record, stalled 10 minutes of the game. (Game story page 6)

Civil Defense Crews Fight Mock A-Bomb Attack Here

By JACK HOOK

SUI's football stadium was the scene of an atomic attack Saturday morning, and newly created civil defense crews fought fire and plotted out radioactive-free areas in a race against time—in a mock bombing, of course.

The mock attack and very real defense measures were the first civilian defense planning SUI and Iowa City have had since the world entered the atomic age.

The operation was under the direction of Carl Menzer, associate professor of electrical engineering.

Menzer was appointed by Governor Beardsley to attend a five-week course in civilian defense and practices last spring at the Institute of Nuclear Studies, Oak Ridge, Tenn., and participated in the Eniwetok atomic tests. Explosions, fires, smoke and radioactive elements attested to the realism of the mock atomic bomb attack Saturday morning in the Iowa football stadium.

Al Loveland Named Iowa Price Boss

DES MOINES (AP)—A price stabilization office for Iowa will go into operation in Des Moines Monday with Al J. Loveland, 57, former U.S. undersecretary of agriculture, as its chief.

Appointment of Loveland to the job of Iowa district director on a temporary basis was announced Saturday by the office of Price Stabilization in Washington. The OPS said most newly named district directors probably would become permanent district price chiefs.

State Democratic Chairman Jake More said that until the office can choose personnel it will borrow employees from other federal offices in Des Moines to begin operations.

Iver Christoffersen, 51, Cedar Falls lawyer, will be state attorney for the Iowa district office, More

AL LOVELAND said Donald Norberg, Albia editor, has agreed to act for at least 30 days as information officer for the Iowa district, More said.

Loveland, Democratic candidate for the U.S. senate in last fall's election, is a former director of the state production and marketing administration. The rate of pay for his new job was not announced immediately.

Loveland was one of three men nominated by the Iowa Democratic organization for the Iowa district price job.

Des Moines Grocer
The other two were Vincent Browner, Des Moines grocer, and Mayor Hershel Lovelless of Ottumwa, who asked that his name not be considered.

The OPS in Washington also announced appointment of Charles F. Curry of St. Louis as "regional consultant." This regional office is in charge of district offices in Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, and Omaha.

Guard St. Patrick's After Bomb Threat

NEW YORK (AP)—A score or more patrolmen and detectives were assigned to guard St. Patrick's cathedral Saturday, reportedly after archdiocese authorities had received an anonymous bomb threat in the mail.

Police officials would not immediately make any official comment.

An informed source said however, that the threat was contained in letters clipped from newspapers and pasted to a sheet of paper.

Atom Bomb Blast In Nevada Desert Felt in 4 States

LAS VEGAS, NEV. (AP)—A brilliant "sunburst-like" blast from the atomic energy commission's Nevada testing range was seen, felt, and heard by hundreds in four states Saturday.

But the blast, which could have originated from 40 to 60 miles away, brought no apparent fear to Las Vegas residents and visitors.

The AEC merely announced in Washington that "one of the periodic tests" of atomic explosions had taken place. The commission said Jan. 11 that such tests would be held.

Then the government announced that it was getting ready "to tickle the dragon's tail" in the vast, desolate Nevada desert. That is what atomic physicists call their trick of producing low-order nuclear fission bursts without provoking the atomic blast into a full-scale, death-dealing A-bomb explosion.

A "dry run" test was held the night of Jan. 24. The second test came with the dawn Saturday. It was quite a tickle.

In Gunnery Range
It was heard and felt in Cedar City, Utah, approximately 175 airline miles northeast of the testing area. The AEC testing grounds are in a 5,000 square mile airforce gunnery range. Boundaries start about 40 miles north-west of Las Vegas.

A spokesman for the AEC said the test was held under full security restrictions and that there had been no reports of "radiological hazards."

Plevin Flying Here For Monday Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Rene Plevin took off by plane Saturday night for here, where he will tell President Truman that France is doing well in arming and fighting the Communists.

Leading off a dramatic week of Allied strategy talks Monday, he also is expected to seek from the President a statement of America's plans for backing France's fight against communism in Indo-China, and to ask for more help to do a better job.

Specifically, officials say Plevin wants to know how much assistance France can count on if Chinese Communists launch a large scale assault in the south-east Asian land.

Mr. Truman is expected to give Plevin informal assurances of substantial help in the form of military supplies and diplomatic support, but no promise of any U.S. troops. In fact, Washington authorities said Plevin, knowing America's troop commitments in Korea and West Europe, very likely would not raise the question of troops at all.

World Situation at a Glance

KOREAN FRONT — Tank-led UN ground force smashes to within 13 miles of Seoul, and South Korean sailor - commando unit raids Inchon. Major Chinese opposition is mysteriously lacking.

UNITED NATIONS — American delegate Warren E. Austin rejects Arab-Asian proposals for conference with Red China on Far East and Korea. He denies U.S. stand slams door on any further peace attempts.

LONDON — Nation's press, almost unanimously, attacks government for new 20 percent cut in meat ration. Huge political storm seen brewing: Most of Britain's meat comes from Argentina.

HONOLULU — Liner President Cleveland arrives from Hong Kong with a near-capacity load of passengers from the war-jittery Orient. It was the first American passenger liner to leave Hong Kong since the U.S. consulate issued evacuation advice there early this month.

WASHINGTON — The United States has delivered a fleet of B-26 light bombers to French Indo-China for quick use in front-line fighting against the Communists, authoritative sources here disclosed.

Four Youths Injured in Crash

CRITICALLY INJURED was the driver of this 1950 gray Ford sedan late Saturday when it and a lumber truck met head-on about three miles south of Iowa City on highway 218. The driver, Edward Brophy, together with two of his passengers, Louis J. and George A. Gase, all of Riverside were in Mercy hospital. A third passenger, Cletus J. Waldschmidt was treated for minor injuries and released. Driver of the lumber truck, Nicholas Schoenberger, Winterset, was not injured.

U.S. Won't Press UN Sanctions If Reds Seek Peace: Austin

From the Wire Services

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. — The United States announced Saturday that if Communist China gave any "clean indication" of seeking an honorable Far East peace, the American government would not press for United Nations sanctions against the Chinese Reds.

However, Chief U.S. Delegate Warren R. Austin told the main political committee that his government would continue to press for UN condemnation of Chinese Communists for committing aggression in Korea.

Directly to Proposal

Referring directly to the American proposal, Austin declared: "We are not slamming the door. We are expressly holding it open, praying God that is what we can achieve—a peaceful settlement."

Austin aimed his address directly at the Asian-Arab bloc of 12 nations who submitted a rival resolution which would not condemn Peiping and which calls for a seven-nation Far East conference, including Communist China representatives.

State Board Accepts $13,313 for SUI

Five grants totalling $13,313.79 have been accepted by the finance committee of the state board of education for SUI, Pres. Virgil M. Hancher announced Saturday.

The largest grant, one of $8,213.79 from the W. K. Kellogg foundation, will enable college of nursing personnel to attend a five-month workshop in the administration of nursing services in hospitals. Dean Myrtle E. Kitchell, of SUI nursing college, is presently attending the workshop at the University of Chicago.

The Research corporation of New York granted $2,500 to support research under the direction of Prof. James A. Van Allen, head of the physics department, in "Interactions of the Primary Cosmic Radiations with Various Materials." Nutrition Foundation, Inc., gave $1,800 to continue research into the metabolism of amino acids by Prof. Clarence P. Berg, department of biochemistry.

After that date, tardy people will have to pay a minimum fine of $1 or five percent for each month that they delay getting the new tags.

Opposition to Drafting 18-Year-Olds Mounts

From the Wire Services

WASHINGTON — Opposition to drafting 18-year-olds mounted in congress Saturday and new alternatives were offered, including one to call up childless married non-veterans, 19 through 25.

The married non-veteran plan was advanced by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) chairman of the senate preparedness committee which is holding draft hearings. He said the people are "generally disturbed" by the proposal to draft 18-year-olds because other sources of manpower are available. Johnson advanced a three-point plan:

1. "Require that the standards of acceptability as regards mental and physical qualifications be adjusted so that a very considerable number of men — maybe as many as 100,000 now classified as 4-F — are used.

2. "The large pool of non-veteran husbands — some 290,000 in the 19 to 26 age group alone — must be brought into the picture."

3. The law should require that, "when and if it becomes necessary to take 18-year-olds, they must be taken in a definite priority so that the older ones will be taken first."

Claiming that 9 out of 10 draft-age men are escaping induction through "loopholes," Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) called on the defense department to help plug up the gaps.

Vinson, as chairman of the house armed services committee, says subjects:

1. The possibility of lowering present physical and mental standards by which 799,000 men have been deferred as 4-Fs.

2. The possibility of inducing some of the 2,862,000 World War II veterans now exempt by law from induction.

3. The possibility of inducing men now deferred by reason of dependents, particularly those who were married since the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Hint at Price Rollbacks, Easing of Some Controls

Fame of a Sort for Some

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Journal-Constitution's man-in-the-street poll got these identifications, among others of the "big three" who engineered the wage-price freeze: Cyrus W. Ching—A Chinese Communist. Eric Johnston—A Georgia labor leader. Michael V. DiSalle—Discoverer of the Fountain of Youth.

Bartley Says City Officials To Continue Office Under CM

Citizens serving on city boards and commissions should assume that their terms of office will continue under the council-manager form of local government, City Atty. William H. Bartley told city officials Saturday.

Bartley's legal opinion was contained in a letter concerning the future tenure of various commissions and officials after April 2, 1951, when the council manager plan will go into effect in Iowa City.

No Drastic Changes

No drastic changes are expected in terms of office or personnel, but it is not clear as to whether the city council or the city manager will appoint the city engineer.

Under the municipal code of Iowa City, the engineer is appointed by the council. All ordinances now in force will remain in effect unless repealed or amended. However, the city manager will take active control of the engineering department under section 419.55 (15) or the Iowa code.

The police judge, heretofore elective, will be appointed by the council under the council-manager plan, Bartley said. The council will also appoint the clerk and city solicitor.

The new council will have the power to abolish or alter the terms of members serving on the Iowa City Zoning commission. If the new council takes no action, the commission will continue to function.

Similarly, the airport commission, the board of adjustment, the board of electrical examiners and the board of plumbing examiners will continue to serve.

Park commissioners must be elected on the ballot in the forthcoming election for a term of six years as in the past. Bartley pointed out, however, that the commissioner's term may be legally altered after election by action of the council.

The chief of police and fire chief will be appointed by the city manager, subject to the limitations provided by civil service laws.

Bartley said that the terms of office of library board members will remain the same as under the present mayor-council form of government.

Insurance Agents Like Safe Car Test

The Iowa City Association of Insurance Agents voted Friday night to give their full support to a bill proposing that all Iowa motorists have their cars safety tested twice a year in licensed local garages.

The bill has been introduced in the Iowa legislature by Rep. Vern Lisle of Clarinda.

Under the proposed law, a fee of 50 cents would be charged for testing lights, brakes, and other equipment.

G. W. Buxton, of the Buxton Agency, was elected president of the association and Bill Welt was elected vice president at the meeting. W. J. Holland was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Bayonet Fighting Gives Allies Gains Against Firmer Reds

From the Wire Services
TOKYO (SUNDAY) — Bayonet-swinging shock troops of the U.S. 1st corps hacked out gains up to two miles against stiffening resistance Saturday in a west Korean offensive probing within 10 miles of Seoul.

A bold daylight raid on Seoul's port of Inchon found it almost undefended. A band of South Korean sailors entered the harbor in a tiny gunboat, landed at 7 a.m., and prowled the town for four hours. They killed 40 Communist soldiers, took two prisoners, and left without suffering a casualty.

Powerful UN forces rolled on northward all along the western Korean front.

The Allies' limited offensive ran into increasing Red pressure near the center of the 40-mile western front Saturday. But a U.S. Eighth army spokesman said today the Chinese Communists showed little inclination to fight even when in contact with UN troops.

Main units of the UN task force moved forward this morning from positions 13 miles south of Seoul. Patrols were two miles ahead.

Even without Red opposition the going was slow. Allied troops carefully combed the terrain looking for enemy troops screening the main Red defenses. UN officers believed these defenses were still ahead.

Cutback Use of Tin, Aluminum Order Given

From the Wire Services
WASHINGTON — The government hinted at eventual rollbacks of some prices Saturday. Harassed officials began working for a fast thaw of their rigid new price-wage freeze to fit it to the economy.

Amendments Due

First amendments were due Monday or Tuesday easing up on the all-embracing no-wage-rise order. These were expected to deal with John L. Lewis' new 20-cents an hour coal pay boost, among others.

On the price side of the picture, stabilizers pitched in on a series of general new controls orders to be issued during the next few weeks.

The stabilizers held emergency weekend meetings on the modifications in the orders which pegged most prices at the highest levels of the Dec. 19-Jan. 25 period and fixed wages as of Friday.

Hunts Formula
The wage stabilization board met to hunt a formula to replace the all-out pay freeze with something which will allow workers to meet at least partly the still-mounting cost of living—which the price freeze doesn't halt altogether.

A supplemental order was being drawn, too, to cover commodity markets. These were overlooked in Friday night's freeze announcement and some stopped dealings today to see what happens next.

In the other big field of action to get the nation under a controlled economy for the defense emergency, the government Saturday cut back the use of tin for civilian purposes such as beer cans and packing vegetables.

Troubles Starting
But its troubles were only starting on wages and prices. A loud cry came from many elements—housewives, labor leaders, businessmen and members of congress.

The government still has to organize the mammoth policing job for all its orders.

President Truman directed all the agencies of government to loan the stabilizers whatever men they can spare. He also authorized them to call on staffs enforcing other laws to run down wage and price complaints.

Stocks Up $1-Billion Under Price Freeze

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks gained $1-billion in value on the New York exchange Saturday as Wall Street learned that the wage-price freeze was milder than expected.

Some commodity markets, however, suspended dealings to await clarification of the government price order.

On the New York stock exchange gains ranged from one to four points. Steel stocks and heavy industrials led the rise.

Most investors had expected much stricter controls. Officials of the commodity markets said they suspended so they could have time to study the control order.

Dealings in cotton futures were suspended on both the New York and New Orleans exchanges. The New York exchange halted trading in both cottonseed and soybean oil futures. The Chicago board of trade stopped cotton futures trading, but the cotton market did business as usual.

'Dry Run' Defense

There's a tendency among many of us to resent "dry runs" of any nature when we're forced to participate in them. This is especially true among veterans. During the last war, GIs complained about these "dry runs" despite efforts to convince them that practice of that type would enhance considerably their chances of living when they came face to face with the real enemy. And bystanders often tend to smile or joke when a group of people are going through a mock situation. During a recent showing of a newsreel locally, some of the movie audience laughed when New York policemen, firemen and other rescue workers were shown "playing" at digging people from piles of rubble caused by a "make-believe" atomic attack. When it comes to the current efforts to train citizens in how to act in the event of an atomic war, we should do everything we can to encourage participation. There is no "forcing" factor involved, as there was in the case of the soldiers in their mock battles. These people will be volunteers and they deserve our respect. It is in regard to this that we wanted to comment on the demonstration in SUI's stadium Saturday morning. The university's civil defense class staged a field test representing the work which would be carried on after an atomic bomb explosion. The spectators numbered few more than 75, including newsmen. But these people conducted themselves as a group of sober minded, intelligent and mature individuals. There was no giggling at the men "playing" in the demonstration. The spectators asked questions about the activity going on before them. There was every indication that they viewed the program as a serious undertaking. This is the frame of mind we'd like to see at all "dry runs" of this nature. It's a frame of mind which will encourage more people to equip themselves with the knowledge which may become necessary to save their lives.

For The Record

By JOHN VOORHEES Columbia Records, with a flock of adding machines, was so engrossed in counting its checkbooks from "Kiss Me, Kate" and "South Pacific" that it neglected to sign up this year's two top shows, "Call Me Madam" and "Guys and Dolls," for "original cast" albums. But in deciding to recreate two hits from the past, 1931's "The Bandwagon" and 1934's "Anything Goes," it may have something just as good. And Mary Martin, who undoubtedly has the cleanest head of hair on Broadway since she is still washing that wonderful guy out of it each enchanted evening, seemed to be the logical choice to put the top songs from these two shows in album form. A good choice, too, for Mary seems to have the "show business" kind of voice one associated with musical comedy. In "The Bandwagon" she can become very romantic with Arthur Schwartz and Howard Dietz. "Dancing in the Dark" and yet noisily inject the right amount of fun into "I Love Louisa" and "New Sun in the Sky." "Anything Goes" is an even better album, probably due in part to Cole Porter's songs. Mary, who got her start singing his "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," knows the importance, as well as the cleverness, of Porter's lyrics and she sings them so each word is understandable — no small feat in songs like "Anything Goes" and "Blow, Gabriel, Blow." In addition to these, the album includes "You're the Top," "I Get a Kick Out of You," and one of the prettier but lesser heard ballads, "All Through the Night." Bill Farrell, who came to town with "Circus" over a year ago, sounds more and more like a parody on Vaughn Monroe and Billy Eckstine, combining the worst features of both. For people in Arizona and Minnesota, and points between, he has recorded "My Heart Cries for You," "Deed, I Do," and the new "You Love Me," the latter done at an annoyingly fast tempo. The orchestrations are by Russ Case and pleasant listening except that Farrell keeps coming in and drowning out the music. If you've been meaning to get some of those fine old Johnny Long records like "Sweet Sue," "Hawaiian War Chant," and "Last Night on the Back Porch," Signature Records has anticipated you and issued these and five others on an LP record called "Johnny Long Favorites." AFL Heads Urge 10-Point Program Opposing Russia

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The American Federation of Labor urged Saturday that "sufficient American military reinforcements" be sent to any country in Asia or West Europe which is "ready to fight Soviet despotism." "We must not permit Stalin — through diplomatic negotiations or indirect military aggression — to dominate the continental mass of Europe or the vast Asian treasure house of manpower and natural resources," the AFL executive council declared. "Hesitation Aids Stalin" "Any hesitancy to speed national rearmament... any refusal to lend timely and sufficient American military reinforcements to the members of the North Atlantic alliance or to any forces in Asia ready to fight Soviet despotism plays into Stalin's hands," the AFL said. To prepare for "grave eventualities," the AFL leaders offered a 10-point foreign policy program, calling for: 1. Complete mobilization. 2. Economic and military aid to foreign countries to prepare them against "Communist infiltration from within and Russian invasion from without." 3. Peace treaties for West Germany and Japan with a welcome as "sovereign members of the community of free nations." 4. Establishment of a Middle East defense bloc including the Arab states, Iran, Turkey and Israel. 5. A free - worldwide "economic prosperity conference" to promote trade and help underdeveloped countries boost their standard of living. 6. A UN brand of Communist China as an aggressor. The AFL would impose economic sanctions against Red China, and would deny it a seat in the UN "as a puppet quisling regime." 7. Equipping and training the Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa. 8. Aid to "democratic forces behind the Iron Curtain." 9. Strike "every vestige of imperialism and colonialism" from North Atlantic treaty countries and encourage "all democratic national independence movements." 10. Encourage the UN to re-examine itself "in the light of the experience of the Korean crisis."

Soviet Steel Output Second Only to U.S.

By HENRY SHAPIRO MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government has released statistics which enabled Western observers to estimate Russian steel production for 1950 at 28-million tons. U.S. 1950 steel production was 96,713,276 tons. "The Russian statistics — in percentages as usual — were contained in the government's annual announcement of industrial and agricultural production. But on the basis of the statistics, plus some recently announced exact figures and Marshal Nikolai Bulganin's Nov. 6 speech, foreign observers ventured to estimate absolute figures in Soviet steel, pig iron, rolled steel, oil, coal and electricity production. Although the five-year economic plan called for production of only 25.4-million tons of steel in 1950, this target was exceeded to about 28-million tons, making Russia Europe's first and the world's second producer of steel. If nothing interferes with the present rate of progress, observers believed Russia will attain Premier Joseph Stalin's goal of 60-million tons in 1960. (Russia almost invariably publishes her production achievements in percentages, shunning hard and fast figures, not only for production past, but for future estimates. It is most unusual for solid figures, even the estimates of unofficial observers, to emanate from Moscow. (Russia's estimated 28-million tons of steel in 1950 compared to 96,713,276 for the United States. The American Institute of Iron and Steel has said the U.S., at the end of 1952, will have an estimated production capacity of 117.5-million tons.) The increased steel output was viewed in Moscow as a notable accomplishment against the background of 1940 when production exceeded 18-million tons. It dwindled to almost half that during the war when the German armies overran the big steel plants in European Russia.

Reds Say UN Beaten

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communist radio Saturday described the United Nations forces in Korea as "a badly beaten dog yelping with its tail between its legs." The radio described events leading to what it termed the "Americans' fiasco in Korea" and said the U.S. was planning new adventures which would be met with "still more powerful counterblows by the colossal power of the 800-million people of China, the Soviet Union, and the people's democracies."

Communist Tide Sweeps Mexico

By EUGENE S. STAPLES MEXICO CITY (AP)—A tide of Communist - led agitation has swept through Mexico in the past 30 days but firm action by the government is checking the Red offensive. The wave of strikes, meetings and demonstrations followed warnings made to some foreign newspapers by intelligence sources that "big" Communist agitation was to start. It included: 1. A "hunger march" on Mexico City by between 700 and 1,000 "coal miners" from Palau in north Mexico. These miners had been on strike for 100 days before their march started. (Many of the marchers, according to press reports, are not miners but professional agitators.) They admitted were led by Communists, and the companies for which they worked are American - owned. The march is now passing through Monclova in north - central Mexico, and if it gets here at all, it will be in March. The federal government has refused to recognize the Communist leaders of the wildcat union leading the "hunger caravan," but has given food and shelter to the members of the march. Labor Minister Ramirez Vazquez called the action of the Communist leaders in this case "criminal." 2. A Communist - sponsored attempt to take over the strategic rail workers union. A gang of Communist leaders broke into union headquarters last week and forced the general secretary, Jesus Diaz De Leon, to resign under threats of physical violence. The labor ministry refused to recognize the forced resignation. The rail union is now split into factions, both of which today continued "national" conventions for the election of officers. The federal government has indicated it will not recognize the Communist-led faction, headed by Rodolfo Acosta. 3. A surprise withdrawal by the powerful and supposedly non-Communist Mexican Confederation of Workers (CTM) from the convention of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions here earlier this month. The convention formed a non-Communist inter-American regional confederation of workers, without the participation of Mexico. Labor ob-

Boyle Says Bombing Undecisive in Korea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bombing Manchuria might precipitate World War III but probably would not defeat the Chinese Reds in Korea, according to AP Columnist Hal Boyle. Returning to the United States after six months of frontline reporting, Boyle explained that the Chinese invaders relied almost exclusively on manpower, and that air attack had proved insufficient against men in the wild, broken terrain of Korea. Even artillery cannot mow down the enemy as effectively as in more open country, he added. Bases mean less to the Chinese than to an Occidental army, and men with rifles — or with back-packs of supplies — hide successfully under every bush and in every ravine, Boyle said. The current fading back of the Chinese armies in South Korea may very possibly be explained on political grounds, Boyle commented. At any rate, he said, that is the opinion of most American soldiers. They feel that military phases of the war are about over; that the Chinese still can push the UN army out of Korea if they are willing to pay the price in blood; but that the Chinese are angling for a victory by some cheaper means, the correspondent declared. Boyle, who won the Pulitzer prize for his reporting in Europe during World War II, added that men and officers of the UN forces were pretty generally agreed that against a determined Chinese drive, they could stay in Korea only with large reinforcements which are not in prospect. Boyle, in an interview, reported morale of the GI was basically good but was being hurt by apparent indecision on military policy in Korea.

Taft GOP's First Choice For President in 1952

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is the leading choice for the 1952 GOP presidential nomination by members of the Republican national committee willing to express their views. Of 65 members of the committee — or their proxies — who were interviewed by the Associated Press in a one-day meeting here last week, 29 said they favor Taft's nomination and 12 supported Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Other votes were scattered, with four for President Harold E. Stassen of the University of Pennsylvania, two for Gov. Earl Warren of California and one each were for Sen. Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the 1944 and 1948 presidential nominee. One committee member said he would take either Stassen or Taft, one said his choice was either Eisenhower or Taft, and one committee woman said she would be satisfied with Taft, Eisenhower, Stassen or Dewey. Four of those approached said they had no choice at present and nine refused for one reason or another to make their selection known. There are 105 national committee members but many of them were absent from the meeting here. The checkup covered about four-fifths of those who attended. National committee members are charged primarily with the duty of helping elect whoever is chosen at the presidential nominating convention for which the committee makes the arrangements every four years. The wide margin for Taft was attributed to his smashing reelection victory in Ohio last November and the prominent role he has been playing in the new congress. Taft has assumed leadership of the Republican group which has challenged President Truman's authority to send American troops to help man West Europe's defenses without the prior approval of congress. The Ohioan has insisted that he isn't interested in the legal question of whether Mr. Truman has that right, but is demanding only that congress make the final decision on what he says is a major national policy. He has said he expects this question to be an issue in the 1952 campaign. As commander of the North Atlantic defense forces, Eisenhower is in a position where he could not give any indication of his political views if he chose. All signs point to a recommendation from him next week, on his return from a European survey, that American divisions be sent abroad. Eisenhower hasn't even said he is a Republican and the vote for him among the GOP committee members indicated sentiment for a new type of nominee. As third man, Stassen was far behind the leaders, despite interest in his recent world trip in which he interviewed foreign ministers of many nations. The drop in Dewey sentiment evidently reflected bitterness over his defeat in 1948, plus his repeated declaration that he favors Eisenhower as the nominee. Taft's support was greatest among the committee members from the midwestern states. However, he made a strong showing in Rocky Mountain and western states and in the south. He was relatively weaker in the east. A New Englander said the 1952 party nominee ought to be someone who isn't even under consideration now. "I think we need a new face," this committeeman said. A midwesterner said he was convinced for the first time since Taft's victory in Ohio last November that the senator could win as a presidential nominee. * * * GOP Makes Plans For 1952 Convention WASHINGTON (AP)— Amid much lobby talk of Taft and Eisenhower for top place on the ticket, Republicans have organized a committee of seven to start looking for a city in which to hold their 1952 national convention. In anticipation of the convention, the Republican national committee has been entertaining ideas for a campaign. They have heard: 1. A plea that "state socialism" be made one of the main issues of the next campaign and a demand that "socialistic" proposals be eliminated from the Truman budget. 2. A criticism of the new price controls as an impediment to production needed for defense. 3. Recommendations for a 20-year drive to establish a "real" Republican party in the south. 4. A prediction that Republicans, needing a net gain of only two seats to control the next senate, will have a good chance of picking up six from the Democrats — in Rhode Island, West Virginia, Wyoming, Maryland, Arizona and New Mexico. Truman Boosts Seaway WASHINGTON (AP)— Guarded optimism has been expressed by backers of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway and power project after a White House conference called by President Truman. Mr. Truman urged an early hearing on legislation to permit a start on the nearly $1-billion seaway and power project. He emphasized the need of the seaway to bring in iron ore from Labrador and Venezuela to supplement the dwindling supplies of high grade ore. Stripper Outstripped NEW YORK (AP)—A strip-tease dancer charged Saturday that some women television performers "show more than I do." Brunette Juanita Patino complained that TV stars Faye Emerson and Eloise McElhone, among others, "get away" with more than "I can, and I'm supposed to be revealing."

'The Heiress' Opens Feb. 8; Tickets Go On Sale Thursday

"The Heiress," a two-act drama by Ruth and Augustus Goetz, will be presented by the dramatic art department at the university theater Feb. 8-16.

Tickets will go on sale Thursday at the box office, Room 8-A, Schaeffer hall. Students may obtain tickets by presenting ID cards at the office.

Prof. Harold Crain will direct the play.

Victor Ferris, A3, Sioux City; Mary Van Fleet, G, Upland, Calif.; Susan Wood, A1, Milwaukee, and Theodore Herstand, A1, Cleveland Heights, have been cast in the major roles.

Miss Van Fleet appeared last fall in "Goodbye My Fancy" and Herstand appeared in "Life With Mother" which was presented last summer.

Olivia de Havilland received an Academy award in the movie version of "The Heiress." The play is an adaptation of Henry James' novel, "Washington Square," and appeared on Broadway in 1947 under that name.

Olympus Yankee' Author Lambert to Speak At 'Day of Prayer'

Mrs. Catherine Drinker Bowen, author of "Yankee from Olympus," will speak in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 8 p.m. Wednesday under the joint auspices of the English department and the university lecture series.

Mrs. Bowen will speak on "Making a Biography." She will discuss the entire process of writing a biography from choosing a subject, to research and actual writing, to choosing the title.

The public is invited.

Mrs. Bowen plans to spend a week in Iowa City doing research in university libraries for a forthcoming book.

She has written eight books. The most famous of which, "Yankee From Olympus," has sold over one million copies.

Other biographies which have reached wide circulation were "Beloved Friends," the story of Tchezkovsky, and "John Adams and the American Revolution."

All of these biographies were distributed by the Book-of-the-Month club.

Lambert to Speak At 'Day of Prayer'

The "World Day of Prayer" to be held Feb. 9 at the Methodist church will feature Bud Lambert in the afternoon session. Lambert is in Iowa City after teaching in Japan for several years.

Mrs. L. L. Dummington will preside over the morning meeting which begins at 10:30. After a sack lunch at noon, an afternoon meeting will be held from 1 to 2.

Representatives of all Iowa City churches and members of the Iowa City Council of Church Women planned the observance.

Mrs. B. J. Lambert is the program chairman.

The public is invited to attend all meetings.

Southeast District Education Group Meets in Union

The southeast district of the Iowa State Education association met in the Iowa Union in an all-day session Saturday.

Presiding over the delegates from the 18 southeastern counties was Urban Harken, principal of the Burlington high school and Junior college. Those attending will be delegates to the statewide assembly to be held in Des Moines beginning Feb. 1.

Harken said the purpose of the meeting was to acquaint the delegates with proposed school legislation in the Iowa legislature and to present to the delegates the sentiment on the various bills.

Leading the discussion were the district chairmen of the National Education association, Joe Gettys, superintendent of the Osakalosa high school; Dortha Van Depte, ISEA board member and rural school teacher in Lee county; Raymond D. Stephens, ISEA staff member in Des Moines and Fred Messenger, member of the district executive board and principal of Muscatine high school.

Two Local Dentists To Attend Meeting Of Chicago Society

Two Iowa City dentists, Drs. Duane W. Lovett and Martha J. Spence, will take part in the 89th midwinter meeting of the Chicago Dental society in the Stevens hotel, Chicago, Feb. 5 to 8.

Spence will attend a clinic and Lovett will deliver an essay and participate in a special clinic.

A demonstration and discussion of a new technique of cavity preparation which under some circumstances would replace the dental drill will be on the agenda Feb. 8.

Approximately 12,000 men and women of the dental profession and representatives from the allied groups from throughout the U.S. and foreign nations are expected to attend.

More than 200 scientific, educational and commercial exhibits have been scheduled for the meeting.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) will deliver the principal address at the first general session on Feb. 5. Other speakers will be Dr. Harold W. Oppice, president of the American Dental society, and Dr. Arno L. Brett, president of the Chicago Dental society.

Women's Dance Group Initiates Eight

Orchestra, the university modern dance club, held its initiation last week in the mirror room of the women's gymnasium. Persis Zentmire, A4, Audubon, presided at the initiation. The ceremony was under the direction of the group's advisor, Miss Janet Cumming, women's physical education instructor.

The women initiated were: Sarah Irish, A2, Forest City; Beverly Johnson, N1, Cherokee; Leona Olsen, N1, Dow City; Ila Beth Larsen, A2, Waterloo; Gloria Stone, A3, Des Moines; Jean Witte, A3, Cedar Rapids; Donna Shrauger, A2, Atlantic, and Marilyn Le Mar, A3, Cedar Rapids.

Auditions Scheduled By University Bands

Auditions will be conducted for varsity and concert band members in the next two weeks, Prof. C. B. Righter, director of the university bands, announced Saturday.

All students are eligible for audition to fill vacancies in the band created by enlistments, Righter said. Base violin and woodwind players are especially needed.

Students interested in being auditioned are asked to report to Righter in his office in the Music Studio building, room 15. Instruments will be supplied to qualified members, Righter said.

Red Cross Worker To Conduct Program

Millicent Johnson, regional field representative of the American Red Cross, will be in Iowa City Monday to conduct a training program for instructors of the home nursing classes which will begin here Feb. 12.

Thirteen Iowa City women have enrolled in the instructors' course. The home nursing course is a 12-hour course designed to train women to care for the sick at home. The classes are being offered in cooperation with civilian defense authorities.

Any women who wish to enroll or who wish more information about the classes may stop at the local Red Cross office or telephone 6933.

Three to Represent SUI At Northwestern Meeting

Three students will represent SUI and the office of student affairs at a two-day conference on International Understanding at Northwestern university.

Student Council President Jack Whitesell, A3, Davenport; Daily Iowan Managing Editor Glenn Urban, A4, Larrabee, and Student Council Secretary Louise Beckman, A3, Ottumwa, will leave for Evanston, Ill. Monday.

Principal speakers at the conference will include Reinhold Niebuhr of New York Union Theological Seminary and George F. Kennan, counselor to the department of state.

Severely Handicapped Children Enjoy New Television Set

By MARTHA OVERHOLSER
Twenty-three children, patients of the Iowa hospital school for severely handicapped children, were spectators Saturday afternoon at the Army - Fordham basketball game, thanks to the generosity of 25 businessmen from Davenport, Rock Island and Moline.

At Christmastime last year, these men presented the school with a 16-inch screen television set and had it installed last week.

Son a Patient
Max Fisher, Davenport, initiated the idea and enlisted donations from other Tri-Cities businessmen. Fisher's son, Stephen, 7, is a cerebral palsy patient at the school.

The children gather after school hours in the afternoons and in the evenings to watch the programs. It is the first time that many of them have seen a circus, cartoon or musical movie. They have been hopefully watching for a western film.

A committee from the school staff supervises the choice of programs and the time the children view. Nurses care for the children in their television room which is set up in the recreation room.

Some of the children can wheel their wheelchairs into the room and some can walk, assisted by a nurse. One little girl watches from a reclining wheelchair.

Watch Intently
The majority of the children are afflicted with cerebral palsy, a few are affected by polio and muscular dystrophy. Their ages range from 4 to 14.

Most of the children watch the screen intently and are careful that their line of view is not cut off. Some of the little girls clutch their dolls in their laps. One young fellow of four stanchly sat in his nursery chair wearing his football helmet.

TELEVISION DRAWS VARIED REACTIONS from students at the Hospital school for severely handicapped children. The TV set was donated to the school around Christmas by a group of Tri-Cities businessmen and was placed in operation last week. Seven-year-old Steve Fisher turns up his lip as the screen begins acting up while Marilyn Batterson, 5, peers over her glasses at the photographer and all the excitement. Jimmie Sloan, 6, (lower right), and Dickie Harriman, 9, gaze in wonderment at what's going to happen next. Photograph was taken during telecast of the Army-Fordham basketball game.

'Main Street, U.S.A.' To Pay Last Honors To Sinclair Lewis

SAUK CENTRE, MINN. — A Sauk Centre will turn out in a "grave and fitting" manner today to honor the man who pulverized its "Main Street" provincialism in the 1920's and went on to become the first American novelist to win the Nobel prize for literature.

The ashes of the great red-haired Sinclair Lewis will be laid to rest in the Lewis family plot in the presence of many persons who knew him as a Sauk Centre lad with fire in his eyes and wings on his mind.

Memorial Fund
A memorial service to launch a Lewis memorial fund will be held in the high school auditorium. A poetic interpretation of his life and work will be given by a writer who once received advice from Lewis—Felke Felkema, a Minneapolis novelist with a growing reputation in American literary circles.

A silver urn used to bring the Lewis ashes from Rome, where he died Jan. 10, will be given to the Sauk Centre library where Lewis spent much of his youth gathering the "storm" he was to unleash against all the Sauk Centres of America.

Famous Novels
His famous novel, "Main Street," dealt with the hypocrisies of small-town life and sold 2-million copies.

Among his other widely-acclaimed novels were "Babbalanza," "Arrowsmith," "Dodsworth," and "Elmer Gantry."

A heavy reader, Lewis once inscribed a copy of "Main Street" to the local library, saying that "its books were my greatest adventure." After he became famous, however, Lewis was a rare visitor here, although he made an effort to spend most of his life in his native land.

U.S. Bans Imports Of Russ Crabmeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has banned imports of Russian crabmeat on the ground it is produced by use of "forced, convict and indentured labor."

It was the first time any Russian product has been barred from this country since Russia was given diplomatic recognition in 1933.

The order was issued by the treasury department under authority of the tariff laws. It was signed by Customs Commissioner Frank Dow and approved by Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder.

A state department official said the ban on import of Russian crabmeat is not an "economic sanction." He noted that the law requires the action whenever a determination is made that any import is produced with forced or convict labor.

PROVOST TO SPEAK
SUI Provost Harvey H. Davis will speak on "University Prospects for 1951" at the Kiwanis noon luncheon Tuesday.

8 Twins Already, Woman Has No. 18

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mrs. Arthur Griser, 36, whose children include four sets of twins and one set of triplets, gave birth to her 18th child Saturday at her home in nearby Pitcairn.

"It's the biggest baby I've delivered in a long time," the family doctor said. "I haven't weighed it in yet, but it's a fine girl—must weigh 14 pounds or so."

Both Mrs. Griser and the child are doing well.

Mrs. Griser's oldest child is Agnes, 16. The others in the order of their arrival are Arthur, 14; Sarah, 13, Samuel, 11; twins John and Deloris, 10; Harry, 8; twins Robert and Dorothy, 7; twins Mary and David, 5; twins Joseph and James, 4; Thomas, 2; triplets Joan, Roy, and Richard, 1.

The triplets, born Oct. 3, 1949, are in a hospital suffering from a mouth infection. But the other children all are well.

Mrs. Griser's husband has been employed as a pipefitter, but due to part time work the family has been receiving welfare assistance from the state.

Mrs. Griser said she hasn't named the new baby yet, adding: "I'm just about running out of names."

Ex-Red Prof. Hawkins Was Atomic 'Aide'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philosophy Prof. David Hawkins became an "administrative aide" at the Los Alamos, N.M., A-bomb plant in May, 1943, soon after he drifted out of the Communist party, the house un-American activities committee revealed Saturday.

The committee also revealed testimony of Kenneth May, former University of California teacher and now an associate professor of mathematics at Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., who admitted being a Communist from 1936 to 1942.

Now at Colorado
Hawkins, now at the University of Colorado, said he joined the party at the University of California in 1938 and left it in the spring of 1943. He said he withdrew from the party when he realized he did not want it involved in his life.

Hawkins' testimony before the house committee was taken in closed session Dec. 20-21. He was called in the committee's investigation of reported Communist infiltration at the University of California's radiation laboratory and atomic bomb project.

Refused to Name Others
The professor and his wife, who also testified, refused to name any persons they had known to be Communists, unless their names already had been cited by the committee.

Threats Against Truman On Increase This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced there has been a "slight increase" this year in the number of letters threatening President Truman.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short, in disclosing this in response to questions, said no additional security precautions have been taken as a result of the letters.

However, an increase in the President's secret service guard was approved by congress after the attempted assassination of Mr. Truman at the Blair house Nov. 1.

Kefauver Committee Reports Need of Special Legislation

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Chairman Estes Kefauver of the senate crime investigating committee said Saturday that organized crime costs the United States at least $17-billion a year, more than all national defense cost in 1947 and 1948.

And he said nothing will stop organized crime—which apparently works by association, cooperation and mutual assistance rather than as a master organization—except special legislation.

Erected Stumbling Blocks
"We feel that we (the committee) have accomplished this much: We have put a lot of stumbling blocks in the way of organized gambling and we hope that local law enforcement agencies will take full advantage of the facts that we have learned and the evidence we have brought out in hearings," he said.

"Many arrests have been made in various parts of the country and many rackets exposed. Police officers have been suspended in Chicago and at least half a dozen sheriffs have been suspended in Florida. Miami has a new sheriff as a result of the committee's investigation and hearings in Florida.

"We feel that we have accomplished our mission — to learn whether crime is organized and interstate—but the final accomplishment will not come until we can get legislation which will effectually destroy the octopus of crime."

New Orleans Worst
Kefauver left New Orleans Saturday after two days of questioning officials, gamblers and hoodlums about the multi-million dollar rackets around New Orleans. There were more refusals to talk in New Orleans than in all of the committee's other hearings in Florida.

"The most distressing thing about our inquiry here," he said, "was that sheriffs and other law enforcement officers, sworn to enforce the law, refused to answer questions on the ground of incriminating themselves."

Farmers to Hear Carnegie's Johnson

DES MOINES (AP) — Joseph E. Johnson, president of the Carnegie Endowment foundation for International Peace, will address the National Farm Institute to be held here Feb. 16 and 17.

He will address the banquet session of the institute Friday, Feb. 16.

Other speakers include Charles H. Malik, envoy from Lebanon; Helman Morin, AP war correspondent; Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.); and W. H. Ruffin, Durham, N.C., president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

A major panel of the institute will cover "needed changes in farm programs." Tom Cowden, head of the economics department at Michigan State college, and Kenneth Galbraith of the Harvard university economics department, will discuss the subject.

He's Got the 'Parole Blues'

Convict-Composer in Trouble for Not Reporting to Parole Board

FORT WAYNE (UP)—Ex-convict Frank Grandstaff, who gained fame as a composer while in prison, rebelled Saturday at reporting periodically to parole authorities in Michigan.

Informed that Michigan parole authorities wanted him, Grandstaff telephoned Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan Saturday morning to discuss his status.

Arrangements then were announced placing him under the jurisdiction of Indiana parole authorities instead. But Grandstaff was unavailable for comment and it was not known whether he would comply.

Wrote Cantata in Prison
Grandstaff gained musical acclaim two years ago when his "Big Spring cantata," written in prison, was played at a centennial celebration at Big Spring, Texas.

Pardoned from a life sentence and freed from prison at Nashville, Tenn., last month, he came here and married his old sweetheart, Mrs. Mildred McDonald, 46, Fort Wayne.

1930 Michigan Parole
All went well until Michigan authorities announced that he had failed to comply with terms of his parole. Grandstaff was released from a Michigan prison term in 1930, but never legally completed a one-year parole.

Michigan authorities subsequently filed parole violation charges against him in Wisconsin, New York and Texas while he was serving assorted prison terms in those states.

Thus, he said, he had three chances to arrest him in the last 20 years.

Good Citizen, Husband
"I do not owe Michigan anything," Grandstaff said. "I have one desire, to be a good citizen and a good husband. I do not think I should be so persecuted."

Grandstaff called Gov. Williams Saturday morning, but the governor told him he didn't know enough about the case to discuss it. He said such matters were handled by the parole board, but

Two Iowans to Receive Carnegie Hero Medals

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two Iowans will receive the Carnegie Hero Fund commission's bronze medal for acts of heroism, the commission reported.

They are Harrison L. Kelley, 61, Hedrick, and Peter Rumehr, 53, Inwood.

Kelley is cited for rescuing Martin S. Bowersock, a 62-year-old invalid, from a burning house in Hedrick, Nov. 12, 1949. Bowersock died later from burns sustained in the fire.

Rumehr pulled Elmer H. Reimers, 39, from a high tension wire at Inwood, Oct. 19, 1949.

'Variety' of Atomic Weapons

DISCUSSING "A VARIETY" OF NEW ATOMIC weapons "in addition to the bomb," were Sen. Brien McMahon (O-Conn.) chairman of the joint congressional atomic energy committee and Brig. Gen. James McCormack Jr., army chief of military applications division. The chat occurred after Gen. McCormack testified at a top secret meeting of the committee and AEC officials in Washington, Saturday morning the second atomic explosion ever set off in this country roared out on remote Frenchman flat in Nevada, casting a brilliant daylight glow over all of southern Nevada. It was the first of a series of periodic tests planned by the AEC. The commission probably will not make any announcements as to the exact nature of the explosion or of the results of the test.

Iowa Lawmakers to Study Civil Defense Suggestions

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa lawmakers will turn to a new subject next week — civil defense — in addition to the other problems that have been dumped in their laps.

Governor William S. Beardsley will return from a weekend conference with other governors in Chicago on a uniform plan of mutual assistance between states in the event of a war emergency.

He plans to send another message to the legislature on this subject. It probably will be delivered in writing along with the governor's recommendations. The legislature convened Jan. 8, and since then the governor has delivered three messages in person.

These dealt with the general condition of state affairs and the governor's proposals on financial and other legislative matter.

Both Houses Busy
Meanwhile, both houses of the general assembly have been busy. They have about 440 bills in the hoppers.

The house of representatives is in an investigation mood and the senate has scheduled a full-day debate Tuesday on anti-gambling legislation.

The house has authorized two investigations with the session only three weeks old, and is thinking about a third.

Anti-Freeze Probe
The first will deal with the question of regulating anti-freeze for motor vehicles and whether Secretary of Agriculture Clyde Spay exceeded his authority when he licensed a salt-base anti-freeze known as P-60.

Spay first licensed this product, sponsored by a Des Moines firm, against the advice of state chemists and later discharged the chemists. Still later he revoked the licensing permit.

The second house probe deals with the state liquor control commission. The commission and the P-60 case already have been investigated by the legislative interim committee.

Senate May Take Part
The house has pending a bill to create a committee of its own members to investigate the liquor commission but it also has sent to the senate a joint resolution asking that the senate take part in the probe.

Combined action by both houses would pave the way for an appropriation to finance the investigation but the field would be limited.

Under the proposal sent to the senate the two-house joint committee would concern itself only with the transcript of testimony taken from members of the commission and others by the legislative interim committee last month.

Russia Gets New Demand for Return Of Loaned Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States presented Russia Saturday with a new demand for return of 670 lend-lease vessels.

The vessels, including merchant ships and military craft, were loaned to Russia during World War II.

State department officials, disclosing the demand, also reported there has been another reduction in the amount this government is asking from the Soviets for civilian type lend-lease goods in an attempt to settle their old account.

Willing to Cut More
These authorities disclosed they would be willing to cut even more if there was any real evidence Moscow would agree to a reasonable figure.

But actually the lend-lease negotiations which opened here two weeks ago have produced no such evidence. Another meeting will be held Wednesday. Progress is the talks may end in stalemate at that time.

Less Than Billion
While officials declined to say what sum the United States has suggested the Russians should pay for lend-lease equipment having a post war civilian use, it is understood the latest American proposal is less than $1-billion for equipment such as machine tools and trucks that was estimated to have a minimum value of $2.6-billion when World War II ended.

Russia's counterproposal has not been officially made public either, but according to some reports it is less than $250-million.

Highway Commission Reports

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa highway commission reported today that in the last six months it approved 11 research projects which will cost $214,760. One of them will take until 1960 to complete.

The report was filed with the legislature. It was called for in an act of the 1949 legislature. The lawmakers wanted to know how the commission is disposing of its research funds.

The commission also submitted preliminary research information from a Maryland project to determine the effects of trucks on pavements, with comments and added that the commission initiated 20 research projects prior to July 1, 1949, on numerous subjects.

Rep. Carroll L. Brown (R-Oskaloosa), chairman of the house of representatives roads and highways committee, explained that the commission is authorized to spend 1 1/2 percent of its farm-to-market road funds for research. Fifteen percent of the state road use tax fund goes for farm-to-market roads.

Locations where the 11 research projects are being conducted were not given in the report. Various agencies are cooperating with the commission in doing the research.

One project which will take until 1960 to complete will cost $50,000. That will be the largest amount spent on one research. With three other exceptions, the 11 projects will be completed this year.

Two of the exceptions will take until 1953, and the other until next year. One of the two which will take until 1953, and the other until next year. One of the two which will take until 1953 will cost $45,000, the other $24,000. The costs of the other projects will range up to $25,000.

Under investigation in the projects are: stabilization of ground materials, flood frequency and magnitude, determination of flood discharge characteristics of small drainage areas, thickness of stabilized bases to use with bituminous surfaces.

Also, elimination of long bridges on streams with small drainage areas, highway embankments constructed to resist washout from overflow, accelerated testing of highway pavements and bases, origin and destination traffic surveys, thickness of concrete pavements for light traffic roads, durability of Portland cement concrete, and sources of highway materials in southwestern Iowa.

Woman Shop Lifter Uses Undergarments

MUNCIE, IND. (AP) — "Pillering panties" and "larceny lingerie," large size, were terms used by state attorneys in convicting a woman of shop lifting.

They said she used the bloomers as "carrying out pouches" in smuggling merchandise, and men's clothing at that, from stores.

To clinch their argument, they showed the over-size garment to the jury.

The sheriff's wife testified she removed the bloomers from the defendant.

The woman is Billy McNary, 39, of Indianapolis. She was sentenced to six months in prison.

Taft May Address Iowa Legislature

DES MOINES (AP) — State GOP Chairman Robert K. Goodwin said Saturday night that Sen. Reber Taft (R-Ohio) will not only address the Republican Lincoln day dinner rally in Des Moines Feb. 13 but that he also probably will arrive in time to address the Iowa legislature.

Goodwin described as "utterly without foundation" a report by State Democratic Chairman Jake More that Taft might refuse to fill his speaking date because the Iowa legislature has failed to invite him to address a joint session.

More pointed out that a joint resolution introduced in the legislature during the week has not been adopted.

Goodwin said the assembly had not voted on the resolution because Republican leaders in the house "did not know the exact time Senator Taft would arrive in Des Moines."

Taft will fly from Salt Lake City to Des Moines for his Feb. 13 appearance, Goodwin said.

Central American Plant For Newsprint Studied

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC (AP) — Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, said Saturday he is studying the possibility of setting up a newsprint plant in the Dominican republic.

The feasibility of the project would depend upon the extent of the country's forest and water resources, he said in an interview. A plant with a capacity of 200,000 tons annually is contemplated.

This noon he will leave in his personal plane for the Virgin Islands. He will visit Puerto Rico before returning to the U.S. Colonel and Mrs. McCormick were guests of honor at a reception given Saturday afternoon by the foreign minister.

Courthouse Janitor Collects License Plates

By WAYNE SHAW
"If you can't visit the 48 states, collect their license plates," seems to be the motto of Clint Stimmel, janitor at the Johnson county courthouse.

Stimmel, who has only been outside the state of Iowa once, has a collection of 56 license plates — one from each of the states plus plates from Panama, Alaska, Canal Zone, British Columbia, Alberta (Canada), Washington, D.C., a plate issued to American government cars in foreign countries, and a motorcycle license from England.

Visited Colorado
The 71-year-old janitor and his wife visited in Colorado five years ago. "We hope to visit at least some of the states sometime though," Stimmel optimistically declares.

Thirty-five of the plates in Stimmel's collection were obtained through the county treasurer's office. The plates are turned in in exchange for Iowa plates by new residents. The rest of the collection was secured through friends and exchanges with Al Miller of Wellman.

Stimmel's collection all began by accident about a year ago. He was helping Miller complete his collection and kept gaining interest in the hobby until he took it up himself at Miller's suggestion.

Stimmel Finished First
By an odd quirk of fate Stimmel has completed his collection while Miller still has four or five plates to go. Stimmel is now back in his previous role of helping Miller complete his collection.

Vermont was the late plate Stimmel added to his collection. He spent months talking to friends and keeping an eager eye on plates turned into the treasurer's office — but all in vain. Stimmel's search ended after he talked with a man working on the Coralville dam project and got the address of a man in Vermont who'd send him a plate.

Corn on Iowa Plates
Stimmel is an advocate of placing an ear of corn replica on Iowa license plates as a symbol of the state.

The collector's favorite plates are Florida, which has the slogan "Sunshine State" embossed on it; and Louisiana, which bears an embossed Pelican on it.

Stimmel is currently engaged in bringing his collection up to date by replacing old plates with 1950s. His California and Wisconsin plates are the oldest, both having been issued in 1947. He already has 1950 plates from 14 states.

THE LAST ONE'S THE TOUGHEST TO GET, Clint Stimmel says as he points to the Vermont license plate which he finally obtained after months of searching, and "third-degreeing" his friends. Stimmel, who is a janitor at the Johnson county court house, obtained the address of a man in Vermont from a workman at the Coralville Dam project. Stimmel wrote to the man and obtained the elusive plate. The license plate collection is in the basement of the county courthouse in the janitor's room. There are 56 plates in the collection and it took about a year to obtain them.

It's time we got working mad!

As we read about the latest tricks of Moscow and her Communist puppets, we're likely to get fighting mad.

Instead, we'd better use our heads and get working mad. For there's still a good chance that we can lick the Communists with more work instead of more blood. Here's why:

It is clear by now that Stalin and his gang respect just one thing—strength. Behind the Iron Curtain they've been building a huge fighting machine while we were reducing ours.

Now we are in grave danger. We must rebuild our defenses—fast.

As things stand today, there seems to be only one way to prevent World War III. That is to rearm—to become strong—and to stay that way!

This calls for better productivity all along the line. Not just in making guns, tanks and planes, but in turning out civilian goods, too.

Arms must come first. But we must also produce all the essential civilian goods we can at the same time. That is the challenge—because a needless shortage of civilian goods will boost prices and make our dollars worth less.

We can do this double job if we all work together to turn out more for every hour we work—if we use our ingenuity to step up productivity—to find the short cuts. America can do it!

All of us must now make sacrifices for the common good. But we're working for the biggest reward of all—peace with freedom!

FREE This important booklet tells you how our American System Grew Great

How Americans developed better machines, power and skills to build a great nation... Why we have been able to produce constantly more per hour... How this has given us the world's highest living standard.

How we can meet today's challenge—Why we must expand our productive capacity... supply arms and essential civilian needs, too. Read how this dynamic process works in free booklet "The Miracle of America," endorsed by representatives of management and labor. Send for your free copy today!

THE BETTER WE PRODUCE THE STRONGER WE GROW

It's Almost All Over —

To the happiness of almost everyone, the parlay card incident is about over, as far as university action is concerned anyway. Iowa City and Davenport police are still investigating to determine the source and distribution points of the cards.

The disclosure that Frank Ruck and "Skip" Greene had transported the cards from Iowa City to Davenport was tough not only on the players but also the university.

Ruck and Greene suffered a blow to their personal reputations which may never be completely erased. The university was placed in the awkward position of having to act on an incident that was ballooned out of all proportion by publicity.

Ahletic department and university officials couldn't ignore the player's act. Neither did they feel justified in penalizing Ruck and Greene too severely because it wasn't definitely determined that they had done anything legally wrong.

The university also had to act with speed. If the incident had been kept going for a week or so, all kinds of adverse speculation would have been made. Therefore, they disposed of the case in a little over two days after the story became public.

The whole thing probably wouldn't have attracted nearly as much attention as it did if it hadn't been for the recent Manhattan "fix" attempt. Now anything smacking of gambling by basketball players gets the full treatment in print and over the radio.

At first glance, it would seem this whole affair might upset the Iowa team for the rest of the season. However, we feel that it might have the opposite effect. It very easily could unify the team for the first time this year. Coach Rollie Williams has been saying all season that the team played too much as individuals.

The teammates of Ruck and Greene have expressed their complete confidence in the players. Capt. Frank Calsbeek summed up the team's attitude when he said, "We're behind Fred and 'Skip' all the way."

Greene married Jane Redden Saturday night in a ceremony at Davenport. Ruck was one of the ushers.

If there is total mobilization, it now looks as if baseball and other professional sports are doomed. During the last war, baseball players seemed to be granted 4-F classifications rather liberally.

Quite a few of the athletes were rejected because of injuries suffered in sports mishaps. A lot of people wondered how these players could continue playing if they were in such bad shape.

Apparently army and draft officials have been wondering the same thing. General George C. Marshall has announced that athletes are going to have to be actually unfit for service before being rejected during the present emergency.

This seems fair enough at first examination but there is also another side to the question. A lot of service men and civilians got relaxation and pleasure from following their favorite teams. This relaxation and pleasure has to be weighed against the need for manpower and the fairness in selecting those to be drafted. Even if there isn't an all out emergency, baseball is going to be hard hit this summer. Some of the younger players have already received or will receive greetings from the government.

This means that the sport is going to gradually return to a war time basis.

Maxim, Ike Williams Ordered by NBA To Defend Titles

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The National Boxing association's executive committee Saturday ordered two world's champions to defend their titles by March 31.

The orders went out to Joey Maxim of Cleveland, and the light heavyweight champion, and Ike Williams of Trenton, N.J., the lightweight title holder.

In both cases the committee put in the proviso that the opponent should be an NBA - approved "logical contender."

An Out for Maxim It also left an out for Maxim by specifying that the deadline applies only if "some promoter agrees to promote such a match."

Jack Kearns, Maxim's manager, appeared before the committee and was presented an offer from Phil Valley, promoted for the Wisconsin Boxing club of Milwaukee, for a title bout between Maxim and Bob Murphy, San Diego, Calif., southpaw. Valley guaranteed $50,000 and the privilege of 60 percent of the gate to be split between Maxim and Murphy.

The NBA lists Murphy as one of three "logical contenders" for Maxim's title. The others are Archie Moore of St. Louis and Bob Satterfield of Chicago.

Kearns said he had offers from England, California and Idaho for matches with Don Cockell, Harry Matthews and Murphy.

Williams to Fight Arch Hindman, NBA president, said he had a letter from Williams' manager, Frank Palermo, advising that Williams would defend his title in March against "a suitable opponent" and "for the best financial offer we can get."

A bout between Williams and Art Aragon to be held in Los Angeles in March has been reported in the making. But at Detroit Saturday Williams' trainer, Jimmy Wilson, said no Aragon fight has been arranged because of the challenger's insistence on a 30 percent cut.

Indiana Stall Beats Minnesota, 32-26

Wildcats Drub Purdue, 97-79; Bucks Dip Spartans

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (UP) — Indiana's Hoosiers, stalling nearly 10 minutes of the ball game, kept their Big Ten basketball slate perfect Saturday night by trimming Minnesota, 32-26, for their sixth straight conference triumph.

Leading by 10 points in the last stanza, 30-20, the Hoosiers elected to hold the ball. That stall in which Sammy Miranda held the ball six and one-half minutes, and Bill Tosheff another minute, decided the issue.

Minnesota refused to come out and "get" the ball as valuable minutes ticked off and a sell-out crowd of 10,283 roared.

Then with less than two minutes to go, the Hoosiers elected to "play ball," but it was Minnesota which cashed in on three fast baskets, two by Whitey Skoog and the other by Bill Holmes just before the final gun went off.

It was the first time this season that the Hoosiers, feared for their fire-wagon brand of offense, elected to freeze the ball.

Skoog fired Minnesota into a 4-2 lead, and John Wallerius' basket halfway through the first half sent the Gophers into a 14-8 lead.

Indiana then turned on the heat, and led by Jack Brown, the Hoosiers stuffed in 14 points while holding the visitors to a lone freethrow for a 22-13 lead.

Tosheff's two free throws shortly after the second half got underway gave Indiana a 10-point lead, and a minute later Miranoq began his stall.

Indiana Coach Branch McCracken, who usually substitutes liberally, used only one substitute — Guard Gene Ring.

Indiana hit 10 of 35 shots from the field for 286, while the Gophers hit 12 of 44 for 273.

Wildcats 97, Purdue 79

EVANSTON, ILL. (AP) — Northwestern ran up the biggest score of the Big Ten basketball season behind Ray Ragelis' 36-point shooting for a 97-79 swamping of Purdue Saturday night.

The win, which gave Northwestern sole possession of fourth place in the conference with a 4-2 record, produced the highest league score since Illinois scored

High School Coach Seeks Buckeye Job

ONE OF THE NUMEROUS CANDIDATES for the vacant Ohio State coaching job is high school Coach Chuck Mather (center) who met with the Buckeye screening committee Saturday. Mather explained the system he has used at Massillon high school where his teams have won the state championship the last three years. With him are Alfred B. Garrett (left), professor in the department of chemistry and the university's vice president, Bland L. Stradley. Paul Brown, former Ohio State coach now with the Cleveland Browns, was interviewed Saturday night by the committee. Several major schools would like to hire Brown who has had phenomenal success since leaving the Columbus school.

Exam Every Game — Question-Answer Period

— With I-Men Ushers — By RED BICKERS

The biggest question and answer session on the Iowa campus goes on at every home basketball game. The answers come from members of Iowa varsity lettermen's club who usher at the games. The questions come from the fans.

There's plenty of variety in the queries they make of the usher corps. The usual problem confronting the average fan is how to locate his seat in the reserve section or where he can get tickets to next week's game.

Some Tough Problems However, quite often, the lettermen ushers meet up with some tough problems. Finding a person in the audience who is wanted on the phone is usually accomplished with the public address system, but one night before the announcer arrived, it took the entire 40 man corps 10 minutes to locate a fan for a long distance call.

The men wear their "I" sweaters and are posted at various points around the field house so that they can be easily spotted by bewildered fans.

Bob Hoff, senior football end from Cedar Rapids, is in charge of the group. After each game, his men report to him, telling any problems they were confronted with which they did not know how to settle, and how to improve service.

One big task for the group is to prevent persons, mainly small fry, from throwing paper airplanes onto the court. As the spectators enter the fieldhouse, every one is given a program. Many of these end up neatly folded and launched across the fieldhouse.

Can Expel Anyone The ushers have the authority to expel anyone from the fieldhouse who fails to observe building rules. Few persons dare to defy "I" men ushers as they are all well-conditioned athletes quite able to carry out their orders.

It's the questions they have to answer that really keep the members of the club thinking. One usher reported that after answering five questions from a seemingly baffled young high school girl, she came up with a query which ended the conversation in a hurry: "Are you married?"

Low Worsham Sets Course Mark, Takes Lead in Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (AP) — Former U.S. Open Champion Lew Worsham smashed the course record here with an eight-under-par 63 Saturday and took the lead in the $10,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

The record round, which clipped a stroke off the former mark, gave Worsham 202 and a two-stroke lead over the man with the aching back, Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who fired a 69 Saturday.

Worsham scored a surprise victory in the U.S. Open in 1947, but seldom has been impressive since. Saturday he put together more birdies for a single round than he ever has before and sailed into the lead.

The previous course record of 64 was held by several, including Ben Hogan, the golfer of the year for 1950, who was forced to withdraw from this tournament Friday after an attack of intestinal flu.

Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., who led at the end of 36 holes, was in trouble Saturday and slipped to a 72. That left him in a tie with two others at 205.

Brown Huddles With Buckeye Athletic Board

COLUMBUS, OHIO (AP) — Paul E. Brown went into a huddle with Ohio State university's coaching athletic board Saturday night, as a student crowd estimated at 1,500 by campus policemen milled around the faculty club.

The throng started chanting "We want Brown" as the mentor of Cleveland's five-time professional champions left his car and started up the steps to meet the board. A four-piece drum corps added to the din.

Brown's reception was in direct contrast to that of other candidates for the berth resigned Dec. 9 by Wesley Foster. No demonstration has greeted any of the others.

As Brown weaved his way through the cheering, back-patting throng he halted on the faculty club steps, turned to the crowd and lifted his hat with a bashful smile. Then he turned and entered the club without a word.

Minnesota Coach Gets New Job

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — John Ronning, University of Minnesota backfield coach, Saturday night was named head football coach at Utah State Agricultural college at Logan, Utah.

Ronning's selection from a field of "more than 50" candidates was announced by Thorpe B. Isaacson, chairman of the Utah Aggies board of regents.

The Minnesota staff will succeed George (Mink) Melinkovich, one-time Notre Dame great, who has been ousted effective June 30.

Melinkovich then will end his second year with the Utah farmer squad. Neither of the two grid teams he fielded made a showing in the Skyline Six.

Gehrmann Beats Wilt; Richards Clears 15-Foot

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Richards became the second man in history to pole vault 15 feet and Don Gehrmann licked Fred Wilt in the mile run for the fifth straight time Saturday night in 4:07.5 to highlight the Millrose track and field games.

With 11,000 spectators howling in Madison Square Garden, Richards leaped 15 feet, one inch to win his event. Gehrmann came from behind in the last lap to overhaul Wilt and win the Wanamaker mile.

Fastest Race This was the fastest time the bespectacled Gehrmann has ever run the mile.

Wilt had hopes of setting too fast a pace for Gehrmann — of getting so far ahead that the slim young Wisconsin graduate would not have time to catch up. But Wilt, an FBI-man by trade, took the lead at the half-mile post by only three strides.

He was never more than five strides ahead of Gehrmann. And, when Gehrmann began his move in the final lap, the race was over. He soared past Wilt in the back stretch of the last lap and pulled ahead on the turn, winning by four yards over his puffing foe.

Trux Fourth Ingvar Bengtsson of Sweden was third, early pace setter Leonard Truex of Ohio State fourth and John Twomey of the Illinois athletic club fifth in the five-man race.

Richards realized a lifetime's ambition as he hauled his frame with strained muscles over the bar for his 15-1 foot vault feat. "A new pole from Finland did it," Richards panted breathlessly after his leap. "A new pole and faith. I knew all along I could make it, but for years I failed. It was a mental block — and I licked that mental block."

Only Cornelius Warmerdam, before Richards, ever had gone 15 feet in the pole vault. True, Warmerdam did it 43 different times — but Richards never bettered 14 feet, 11 1/2 inches.

Half Inch Shy Last year in this same Millrose meet Richards thought he had done 15 feet — only to have an official measurement show him a half inch shy of his dream. Saturday night he thought he'd done only 15 feet even — and the official measurement paid him back the agonies of yore with a 15-1 leap. It was still a half-inch short of Warmerdam's meet record, however. The world's record is 15 feet 8 1/2 inches.

Richards, in making the 15-1 mark on his last try, won the pole event for the fifth straight time in the Millrose games. Don Laz of the University of Illinois, also tried 15-1 on his last effort, but failed.

Middlecoff Golf's Leading Winner

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist, is off to a profitable start in yanking dollars off the fairways this year.

The Professional Golfers' association Saturday credited Middlecoff with earnings of $3,033 for slightly more than two weeks of the pro's winter tour.

That put Middlecoff slightly ahead of Lloyd Mangrum in the PGA's first money — winning list of the year. Mangrum has $2,731, followed by Henry Ransom with $2,675, Jimmy Clark with $1,573 and Manuel De La Torre with $1,400.

While Middlecoff officially has collected $3,033 for winning the Long Beach Open and tying for fourth in the Los Angeles Open, he also picked up $1,350 in Bing Crosby's Invitational tourney which doesn't figure in the PGA listing.

Walker New Manager COLUMBUS, OHIO (AP) — Harry (The Hat) Walker, former major league outfielder, was appointed manager of the Columbus Red Birds of the American association Saturday. Walker, brother of Dixie Walker, played with the St. Louis Cardinals, Philadelphia Phillies, Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds.

Oklahoma Aggies Rip DePaul, 73-57

CHICAGO (AP) — The Oklahoma Aggies, one of the top teams of the nation, blasted DePaul in the opener of a Chicago stadium double — header Saturday night, 73-57, for the 18th Aggie victory in 19 games.

DePaul led the game on free throws, making 17 and missing 23. Don Johnson, a six-foot, two-inch forward, was the big gun in the Aggie attack, netting 25 points, 18 of them in the first half and 14 of them in an eight-minute splurge which carried the Aggies to a 37-24 advantage at the intermission.

FIGHTING HOCKEY PLAYERS Ted Lindsay (left) and Bill Ezinicki (right) Saturday were suspended and fined Saturday by National Hockey league President Clarence S. Campbell (center). Lindsay and Ezinicki were punished for a high sticking and fist-throwing fight last Thursday in Detroit. Both players were fined $300 each and suspended for the next three games against each other. Lindsay plays for the Detroit Red Wings while Ezinicki is a member of the Boston Bruins.

Wage-Price Freeze Draws Mixed Reactions

CHICAGO (AP) — Mixed reaction greeted the wage-price freeze Saturday.

A spot check by the United Press elicited this reaction across the country:

Many industrialists and business leaders said it wouldn't stop inflation, and might create black markets.

Labor spokesmen said the wage freeze was unfair.

Housewives said the price freeze was all right as far as it went, but prices should have been rolled back.

Congressmen Approve

Congressmen approved the general idea almost unanimously.

Despite adverse comment from some business interests, the stock market rose sharply as Wall Street interpreted the move to control inflation as favorable.

Investors felt that the freeze was not as stringent as they had anticipated, and stocks moved upward one to four points on the New York exchange.

But a number of commodity markets were forced to suspend trading pending a clarification of the order. Cotton exchanges at New York and New Orleans halted dealing to permit a further study of the order.

Cotton Trading Suspended

The board of trade at Chicago suspended trading in cotton futures, while the New York produce exchange stopped trading in cottonseed oil and soybean oil futures.

President William H. Ruffin of the National Association of Manufacturers said the nation needs stepped-up production and a pay-as-you-go policy instead of controls.

The American Meat institute concurred, and said price controls on meat would raise "grave problems," including black markets.

But George Smith, president of the Norge division of Borg-Warner corporation, favored the controls, "even though they may be unpopular in many circles."

Recognizes Necessity

"I am sure that industry, sorely tried by inflation material costs and labor costs, recognizes the necessity for positive action," he said.

Some retail grocers and butchers, weary of listening to the complaints of customers, said they were "glad" the freeze had come.

President William Green of the AFL summed up labor's objections to the wage freeze when he said it would appear "unfair and unjust" unless labor is given a chance to "overcome obvious inequities."

President Michael Quill of the CIO transport workers, branded the wage freeze a "cowardly retreat on the part of an administration reeling under the blows of profit-mad Wall street lobbyists."

Coal Miners Unhappy

The reaction of John L. Lewis' coal miners came mostly in unprintable words. They were angered for fear the freeze would wipe out the $1.60 wage boost due to go into effect Feb. 1.

But it was believed they would get their raise anyway.

Other comments: Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) — The order "doesn't seem unreasonable."

Paul S. Willis, president of Grocery Manufacturers association: "So far as food is concerned, the order was approved... food processors don't make profits out of high prices."

Lincoln A. Warren, president of Safeway Stores: Meat might become scarce with growers and livestock feeders "squeezed" between prices and taxes.

Mrs. Shirley Orell, Los Angeles housewife: "The whole thing came too late."

Max Lesser, New York man-on-the-street: "The public is caught at the top of the market. That's a raw move."

The Minneapolis Tribune conducted a poll and reported that only 32 percent of the persons it questioned favored a price-wage freeze. The paper reported that 25 percent favored the freeze only if prices were rolled back, and 21 percent opposed the freeze completely. Ten percent had no opinion and nine percent qualified their replies.

Plans Outlined for MVA Transmission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reclamation bureau outlined today the network it plans to build for transmission of power from five federal hydroelectric plants on the Missouri river.

Service will be offered to points up to 250 miles distant from the plants—Garrison dam, N.D., Oahe, Big Bend and Ft. Randall, S.D., and Gavins Point, near Yankton, S.D.

More than 100 additional communities, rural electrification administration cooperatives and other preference customers in Minnesota and Iowa, not included in the initial and temporary marketing area, now are in the area ultimately to be served, the bureau said.

About 1.5-million kilowatts of federal power capacity are to be made available. The schedule for the start of service is 1954 for Gavins point and Ft. Randall, 1955 for Garrison, 1959 for Oahe and 1960 for Big Bend, the bureau said. Only Garrison and Ft. Randall are now under construction.

Parts of the network are already completed, under construction or already provided with construction funds.

ISEA to Nominate Erbe for President

DES MOINES (AP) — Wesley A. Erbe, principal of the Ft. Dodge high school is expected to be elevated to the presidency of the Iowa State Education association next Saturday.

Erbe now is vice-president of the organization and if custom is observed he will be nominated to succeed A. E. Lauritzen of Algona in the presidency.

The election will take place on the final day of the two-day annual ISEA delegate assembly Feb. 2 and 3. A total of 275 voting delegates are scheduled to attend the sessions at which business will include a progress report on school legislation.

Senate Committee To Investigate Airbase 'Mistakes'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) of the senate preparedness committee, disclosed Saturday night he is sending committee investigators to inquire into "inexcusable mistakes" at the Lackland, Tex., airbase.

He would not name the investigators but said they will arrive there next week. The airforce had announced earlier that Assistant Air Secretary Eugene Zuckert, now on the west coast, will arrive in San Antonio over the weekend to open another inquiry.

Mock A-Bomb Attack Here

The field test, first of its kind in the midwest, was quickly and efficiently executed by class members of SUI's first civilian defense course.

Staging a full-scale test, with an atmosphere simulated to represent an atom bomb explosion and its aftermath, class members carried out their particular assignments in the cold, crisp morning air.

Each was dressed in heavy army coveralls, a wool cap, overshoes, and all but a few were equipped with gas masks.

Film Badges

Film badges and pocket dosimeters, which measured the amount of radioactive exposure to the individual, were carried by each person who entered the "hot" or contaminated areas.

Sealed units of radioactive Cobalt 60 were placed within the "hot" area, and Iodine 131, also radioactive, was sprinkled on the snow.

Professor Menzer signaled the start of the test by igniting an aerial bomb which exploded high above the south end of the stadium.

Wooden structures serving as "public utilities" were placed in the radioactive area on the hillside behind the goalposts. The three "utilities" were marked WATER PLANT, TELEPHONE EXCHANGE and POWER PLANT.

Telephone Exchange

After the telephone exchange was set blazing, three crews of four members each entered the "hot" area with Geiger counters and ion chambers (Cutie Pies) to determine a safe path for firemen.

The crews marked the dangerous, radioactive area with red flags, the "hot" but not immediately dangerous areas with orange flags, and the safe paths with green markers.

Fires and smudge pots were lit in various parts of the contaminated area to add to the realism. The radioactive region, into which only class members equipped with radiation detection instruments were permitted, was a semicircle with a 112-foot radius directly behind the goalposts.

The safe or cleared area was a triangular plot of ground directly north of the contaminated region. All crew members were required to pass through this area and be declared free of radio-activity. Just in Time The telephone exchange crew reached the burning structure just in time to extinguish one small corner of the "utility."

"This serves as a reminder to our student crews," Menzer said after the test. "We've got to obtain a safe path to the burning objective in the least time possible."

Water and air samples were taken from the area and hurried under the stands, where their amount of contamination was recorded. The water was checked by a "Scaler" which determines when it may be safely used again.

Approximately 75 persons watched the test from the east grandstands. Prof. Richard Holcomb, police science bureau chief in the institute of public affairs, explained to the public and newsmen, the various functions of instruments used by the class members.

He stated that the ion chamber differs from the Geiger counter in that it has a much longer range although the Geiger counter is more sensitive and can detect weaker points of radiation.

The Geiger counters are not reliable in a "hot" area because they "block out" easily.

Geiger Counters

The class used five ion chambers and three Geiger counters in the test. They were borrowed from the SUI hospitals and physics department.

After the test, Menzer glanced at his pocket dosimeter and noticed that he had been exposed to 10 milliroentgens (units) of radioactivity.

He explained that this was relatively safe, as "we may receive up to 300 milliroentgens a week without harmful effects."

The highest radioactive reading was registered by a crew member who slipped and fell among some red flag areas while putting out the "telephone exchange" fire. His reading was 20 milliroentgens.

Menzer said the Japanese in Hiroshima and Nagasaki (atom bomb targets in World War II) probably were exposed to from 300,000 to 600,000 milliroentgens of atomic radiation. "There is no chance for survival if you happen to be right under the blast," he said.

When all of the fires were under control and the test completed, the class and the public retired to a room under the stands used by football players for half-time talks.

Question Session

A general question session was conducted by Menzer while photographers were busy "shooting" various course members operating the detection instruments.

When asked what he thought of the test, Menzer said, "We made a few mistakes, but that was only natural on the first test. On the whole it was highly successful and proved that a civilian defense course such as this, should be taught in the bigger schools."

The Iowa test was held as a part of the class work for SUI's course, "Defense Measures with Special Emphasis on Radiological Effects."

The course will be offered during the second semester under the title, "Civil Defense Problems in Iowa." Classes are held on Saturday mornings.

Members of this semester's class included law and engineering students from SUI; three foreign students from Mexico, Panama and Norway; and community leaders from Cedar Rapids, Davenport and Iowa City.

Faculty Members

Menzer was aided by SUI faculty members who taught various special sessions of the course. Most of these faculty members were from science departments.

Civil defense officials who attended the demonstration Saturday included B.F. Bristow, deputy director, state civil defense, Des Moines; C. L. Campbell, state health department, Des Moines; Francis Anderson, civilian defense

$743 Damages In 3 Accidents

Three automobile accidents, one involving a student, were reported to Iowa City police Saturday, with damages totaling $743. Carl Sweeting, 1105 Highland avenue, and Hugh Williamson, Corralville, collided at Fairchild and Lucas streets at 9:45 a.m. Saturday. Damage was estimated at $600.

An accident involving Dale E. Seydel, 618 Jefferson street, and Thomas Newzill, Tiffin, occurred at Jefferson and Gilbert streets Friday at 4:30 p.m. Damage was estimated at $143.

Damages estimated at $60 were done to cars driven by Edwin V. Zahorik Jr., C4, Cedar Rapids, and Mrs. Robert Knarr, 116 Stadium park. The accident happened at 7:30 p.m. Thursday on Newton road near the SUI medical laboratories.

council for Lee county, Ft. Madison, and Clem Werner, director of civil defense, Davenport.

Holcomb announced that another field test with radioactive elements will serve as a completion for the second semester course in June.

Auto Manufacturers Expect Price Increase

DETROIT (AP)—Auto manufacturers will not rush to Washington seeking price increases under the "relief" clause of wage-price freeze, it was indicated Saturday.

But this attitude is based on the premise that the government is planning to permit them to boost car prices anyway. The only questions to be answered are "when" and "how much."

One spokesman said "we are acting in good faith and we assume the government was acting in good faith when they called us to Washington to work out equitable price adjustments."

"We're willing to wait and see what happens," he said. Friday night's freeze did not mention automobiles specifically. However, car prices were rolled back Dec. 18 to Dec. 1 levels.

The nationwide price freeze, in effect, was additional penalty for auto makers. For while other prices were permitted to rise until Friday night, prices on 1951 models were frozen to the 1950 levels by the economic stabilization agency.

Alger Hiss Appeals Perjury Conviction; Again Hits Chambers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alger Hiss appealed his perjury conviction to the supreme court Saturday, renewing his attack on Whittaker Chambers, his principal accuser.

The 46-year-old former state department official cited alleged errors of the U.S. circuit court of appeals in upholding his conviction by a New York district court jury.

He was convicted Jan. 21, 1950 on two counts of perjury, and sentenced to five years in jail on each count, the sentences to run concurrently. The government charged that he lied twice to a grand jury investigating his case: Once when he denied turning over any secret government papers to Chambers, an admitted member of the Soviet espionage organization, and again when he said he had not seen Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

Since his conviction he has been at liberty on $10,000 bail. Concerning Chambers, who pulled microfilm copies of state department documents out of a hollowed-out pumpkin on his Maryland farm in one of the most dramatic developments in the sensational investigation, Hiss told the supreme court in his petition:

"Chambers' motive in fabricating evidence for future use against petitioner (Hiss) may have been to cover his actual espionage sources in the state department in the event of discovery, or to protect himself with evidence designed to incriminate an alleged accomplice, or he may have suffered from the mental ailment of 'psychopathic personality' in which case no rational motive need be sought."

Champ Sow Costs $460

DES MOINES (AP)—W. A. McMahon of West Liberty, showed the champion sow Saturday at the Iowa State Chester White breeders association bred show and sale held in the cattle barn at the state fairgrounds here.

The McMahon entry, Supreme Lass, sold for the top price of $460 to Otto Danneman of Amber.

FIND FARMER DEAD

MANCHESTER (AP)—The body of Francis Coleman, a bachelor farmer, was found in the farm home where he lived alone seven miles southwest of Ryan, Delaware County Coroner Paul Meyer said death apparently was due to natural causes.

'Telephone Exchange' Burns

TWO UNIDENTIFIED MEMBERS OF THE CIVILIAN DEFENSE CLASS move uphill toward the burning simulated telephone exchange building with ion chambers, in search of a safe path for firemen. The area was mined with scattered deposits of radioactive Cobalt 60 and Iodine 131. The ion chambers are not as sensitive to radiation as the Geiger counter, therefore permitting the class-members to plot the danger spots.

Class Gets Checked for Radiation

CHECKING CLASS MEMBERS FOR RADIATION after they returned from the "Hot Area" were Iowa City attorney William M. Tucker and Marilyn Schmitt, SUI graduate student from Chicago, Ill. Professor Carl Menzer, instructor of the Civilian Defense Class said none of the students picked up more than 20 milliroentgens of radiation. Menzer said they would have to pick up more than 300 milliroentgens of radiation before it becomes harmful. Tucker and Miss Schmitt used Geiger counters to check with.

75 Watch First Iowa Civilian Defense Class Test

PART OF THE GROUP OF ABOUT 75 spectators that watched the Civilian Defense class test. The spectators consisted mostly of fire-chiefs, police-chiefs and other interested persons from eastern Iowa communities. One car-load of officials made the trip from Fort Madison in a police car. Professor Carl Menzer, said this was the first test of its kind to be conducted in the midwest. Menzer attended a five-week short course on Civilian Defense at Oak Ridge, Tenn. last summer, where the first defense test was held at that time.

Check Water Plant for Radioactivity

CHECKING A SIMULATED WATER PLANT for radioactivity and also taking samples of water to be tested. The unidentified members of the Civilian Defense Class approached the water plant to obtain water samples. A testing laboratory was set up in the ready room of the football stadium where the water underwent actual tests for radioactivity.

Demonstrates Ion Chamber

DEMONSTRATING THE ION CHAMBER during the simulated atomic blast test Saturday morning, at the University football stadium, is Engineering Professor M. C. Boyer. Boyer is wearing a special gas-mask that gives him the "Man from Mars" appearance. Watching Boyer were Cecil O'Day, engineering graduate student from Iowa City (center) and Torstein Lundsgaard, also an engineering graduate student from Oslo, Norway.
