U.S. Seeks Court Order To Halt Railroad Strike

The government sought a federal contempt of court order Wednesday to halt the fast spreading strike of railroad switchmen and ordered the shipments for the armed forces be given priority.

The defense transport administration (DTA) ordered the railroads to put an embargo on freight that cannot be moved through yards tied up by the current walkouts.

The DTA also directed that military shipments be given preference over the freight to the extent that such shipments can be gotten through.

The two day walkout of switchmen has crippled rail service in all major sections of the country.

Headquarters of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the key union involved in the work stoppage, said in Cleveland that telegrams have been sent to all affected points urging local chairmen to get switchmen back on the job.

Way Cleared for Assembly Action on Aggressor Indictment

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP) — The way was cleared Wednesday for the full UN general assembly to brand Communist China an aggressor in Korea and a study of punitive measures to be directed against Peking.

The security council removed the last barrier to final indictment of Mao Tze-Tung's regime and expected to vote today or Friday.

American delegates revealed that consultations on what specific sanctions might be imposed have been going on in Washington for several days.

They could take the form of economic boycott, diplomatic breaks or even new military steps against Chinese territory.

But American spokesmen made clear that the emphasis now was on economic or diplomatic measures, and a "go slow" policy was in effect on anything along military lines.

Observers felt the United States would have a much tougher time mustering support for a resolution actually imposing sanctions than it did getting the 44-7 majority for the resolution naming Peking an aggressor.

SUI Grad Found Shot to Death

A 1950 SUI law graduate was found shot to death Tuesday in a rest-room near the FBI office in San Diego, Calif., according to The Associated Press.

Jack R. Quigg, 29, formerly of Davenport, FBI agent assigned to the San Diego office, was reported killed by his own revolver. Coroner A. E. Gallagher said it could have been either an accident or suicide.

Quigg was married and his family lives in Davenport.

Registration Schedule Change for Engineers

The SUI college of engineering announced a change in its registration schedule Wednesday.

Seniors will register from 8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., juniors from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and sophomores from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 5.

All new students entering the college of engineering for the first time will register Tuesday.

The revised schedule is included with the registration materials for engineering students.

The names of the five men it will support in the election of councilmen under the new councilman form of government were announced Wednesday by Iowa City's Council - Manager association.

The candidates were selected by a committee from names proposed by the general membership and approved by the board of representatives of the association.

Their names will be circulated on a petition by the permanent citizens' organization before the city election, March 26, he said.

The candidates are Prof. Walter L. Daykin, SUI economics professor; William J. Holland, insurance agency head; Dr. James M. Hottel, former Coralville councilman; Clarence A. Parizek, grocery store owner; and W. V. Pearson, drug store owner.

Anyone desiring the material may pick it up at the chamber's office, Gage said.

Waitresses Give Tips to Dimes Drive

Waitresses at the Hotel Jefferson Huddle contributed the tips they received Tuesday night to the Johnson county March of Dimes.

The waitresses, Vera Davis, Barbara Smith, Novella Good,

A March of Dimes collection box was stolen from Lubin's Pharmacy, 132 S. Clinton, Iowa, City police reported Wednesday.

Proprietor Jack Lubin said the box was "almost full." It was taken, he said, between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Alla Teeters and Nancy Smith, received $25 in tips that night.

They plan to send the money to Tait Cummins, sports director for radio station WMT, Cedar Rapids, who is trying to double the weight in dimes for the March of Dimes drive.

Another $251 was pledged to the Dimes' drive during the WSUI March of Dimes party Tuesday night.

Government Okays Miners' Wage Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government Wednesday eased its five-day-old wage "freeze" for 475,000 coal miners and perhaps many thousands of others caught in the federal crackdown on inflation.

Simultaneously, the wage stabilization board prepared an order lifting the price lid on coal prices to match the wage boost.

By a 6-3 vote, the board approved all wage raises agreed upon by the Jan. 25 "freeze" date — providing the raises apply to a pay period beginning Feb. 9 or earlier.

At first, board officials were undecided whether the new order would apply only to a $1.60-a-day wage hike for 400,000 soft coal miners or also take in a similar raise for 75,000 hard-coal miners.

Wednesday night the board's executive director, W. Willard Wirtz, ruled that it applied to both.

Control Data Sent To Local C of C

Materials pertaining to wage and price control have been received by the chamber of commerce office, 104 S. Linn street.

Robert L. Gage, secretary of the group, said the office had received all material sent out by the government, including controls and other regulations dispensed by the national production authority.

Anyone desiring the material may pick it up at the chamber's office, Gage said.

Famed English Showman Dies from Burns at 78

LONDON (AP) — Sir Charles B. Cochran, a symbol of show business to the English-speaking world died Wednesday from burns accidentally received last week. He was 78.

In a career dating back more than 50 years, Cochran's production efforts were spread over practically the entire field of public entertainment. His interests ranged from big-scale musicals to wrestling matches, from boxing to ballet, from the circus to straight plays.

It's Miserable Out — Any Way You Look at It

THE WEATHER LOOKED MISERABLE THROUGH THE WINDOW of the SUI student's car Wednesday as cold and snow continued to plague Iowa City. A new cold wave is reported on the way from Canada but weather forecasters said Iowa is so cold now that "we won't notice it." More than an inch of new snow fell here Wednesday. Wednesday's low reading was a minus 5. Some relief from the arctic-like air is expected by Friday.

Reds Rush Up Reserves To Halt Allied Offensive

TOKYO (THURSDAY) (AP) — Seoul. Chinese reinforcements today were rushing into the lines in western Korea in an effort to halt the UN offensive.

Elements of three Chinese armies were pushing into the hills north of Suwon and Kumsang-jang, where Allied air strikes, artillery barrages, and bayonet and grenade attacks were taking a punishing toll.

Twenty thousand Reds were spotted moving up in the Kumsang-jang sector, one source said. Kumsang-jang is 23 miles south-east of Seoul.

The U.S. 10th corps in central Korea also jumped to the attack, joining the U.S. First and Ninth corps already engaged to the west. The 10th moved ahead about 500 yards against light opposition and then ran into heavy fire.

There was little change in front line positions Wednesday as the two great forces in western Korea locked in flaming combat. One Allied patrol last was reported but seven miles south of

14 Killed in Ireland As Gangway Collapses

BELFAST, NORTHERN IRELAND — A gangway leading to a ship collapsed Wednesday night, killing 14 workers and injuring 48 others.

More than 60 workers crowded ashore at the end of a shift fell 50 feet. Some were thrown into the water and others onto the dock beside the ship — the Juan Ponce being outfitted as a whale factory ship for an Argentine firm.

Charges Dismissed Against Three Men For Second Time

Three Iowa City men were freed on criminal charges Wednesday by District Judge Harold D. Evan's order holding that the court had no right to reinstate charges after they had been dropped last Dec. 20.

Glen R. Rummelhart and Martin Shebetka had been charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Shebetka was charged with second offense. Walter Kadera had been indicted for driving while his license was suspended.

Evan's ruling that under the decisions and statutes of the Iowa supreme court the court had no right to reinstate the charges once they had been dismissed.

The charges had been dismissed earlier on the recommendation of former County Atty. Jack C. White, but were reinstated six days later on the recommendation of the county sheriff and highway patrol.

The three men filed motions last Monday contending that the court had no jurisdiction over them after the cases were once dismissed.

Entertainment for the 9:30 to midnight party will include dancing, movies in the north lobby conference room and games in the ping pong room.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Pilot Spans Atlantic In New Record Time

LONDON (AP) — Charles F. Blair Jr., veteran American commercial pilot, set a new trans-Atlantic speed record Wednesday by flying nonstop from New York to London in 7 hours, 48 minutes.

The 41-year-old American flying a souped-up Mustang fighter, looped 1 hour and 7 minutes off the record of 8 hours, 55 minutes set Nov. 21 by a four-engined Boeing Stratocruiser.

Blair took off from New York at 3:50 a.m. (Iowa time) and landed at the London airport at 11:35 p.m.

Blair said he plans to fly back to New York today or Friday in a commercial airliner, and take off for London again on Saturday, with a plane load of passengers. He is a Pan-American World airways pilot.

He handles the auditing and book work for the Iowa City Sales company. He graduated from St. Patrick's high school and the SUI college of commerce.

James M. Hottel was born in Wyaconda, Mo., 1906, and has lived in or near Iowa City since 1937. He graduated from Northern Illinois College of Optometry, Chicago and has practiced since 1931.

Hottel served on the Coralville council about seven years before and after spending two-and-a-half years in the army during World War II.

Clarence A. Parizek, owner of Parizek's grocery store on East Fairchild street, has been in business about 20 years, at first in connection with his father.

He was born in Iowa City, 1902, and is a graduate of City High school.

W. V. (Pat) Pearson, owner of Pearson's Drug store, corner of Market and Linn streets, has also been in business for the past 20 years.

Born in Wayne county, 1905, he is a graduate of the SUI college of pharmacy.

Pearson is a member of the Iowa City chamber of commerce.

Truman Unveils Record $16.5-Billion Tax Plan

Scudda-Hu! Scudda-Ha!

George Louvar, farmer near Swisher, was fined $300 Wednesday in Johnson County court for being kicked by a mule.

The "mule" was a Moscow mule, a rather potent beverage containing vodka, ginger beer and lime. Louvar told the judge that four of those dorned mules kicked him so hard that he was unable to conduct his car properly on highway 218 near Shueville last Nov. 2.

It was the same old charge, though, and besides the fine Louvar had his driver's license suspended for 60 days for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Say Militarists Haven't Proved Need for Draft of 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key members of the house armed services committee said Wednesday that military leaders have failed to prove they need an 18-year-old draft to meet President Truman's goal of 3,462,000 men in uniform.

Acting chairman L. Mendel Rivers (D-S.C.), said it is "entirely possible" the goal can be met by taking some 4-Fs and others deferred in the present 19 through 25 age groups.

Similar sentiments were voiced by Reps. Dewey Short (R-Mo.) and Charles H. Elston (R-Ohio).

Their statements pointed up growing dissatisfaction within the committee over the defense department's proposal to draft 18-year-olds, lengthen the draft term to 27 months and set up a universal military training program after the present emergency.

The senate preparedness committee apparently was reconciled to some form of an 18-year-old draft. But it is expected to specify that 4-Fs and other deferred men be called before the younger men. The committee began drafting sessions Wednesday that are expected to last for several weeks.

Short, ranking Republican on the house committee, charged that the defense department already has called more men than it can handle.

Thirty Johnson county men will go to Des Moines today to take pre-induction army physical examinations. The group is the first of two physical calls for February.

Thirty more men will take pre-induction examinations Monday.

The draft board also announced that 21 men from this county will be inducted into the army on Feb. 14. The men will report to Des Moines for assignment to army bases.

Bad weather and final exams were blamed for the low number of students who used the student council's book exchange in its first day of operation Wednesday.

About 100 students visited the council's office in the Old Dental building and 200 books were received for sale.

The committee in charge expressed disappointment in the turnout, and much better patronage is expected if the weather clears. They added that the project is entirely for the students and that volume is the key to success.

Books will be received the rest of this week and Monday. The sale will start the following day and run four days.

McChesney girls say they intend to stay.

McChesney house residents will remain there until SUI officials "force us to move," a spokesman for the group, Joanne Davidson, A2, Corydon, said Wednesday.

Several of the 12 women living at the non-boarding dormitory threatened a "sit-down" strike Tuesday if forced to move from the house.

They have been asked to leave by next Tuesday, Ted Rehder, head of the SUI dining and dormitory service, said Wednesday.

SUI decided to close the dormitory, with a normal capacity of 20 women, because of its physical condition, Rehder explained. Its residents have been ordered to move to other SUI housing units.

Sabotage Claimed in Bridge Loss

THREE RIVERS, QUE. (AP) — Nearly half of the new $3-million Duplessis bridge dropped with a thunderous crack into the St. Lawrence river Wednesday.

Four persons, caught in their cars on collapsing spans, fell to an icy death. Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis charged the bridge was "sabotaged by subversive elements."

Mayor J.A. Mongrain said the catastrophe "could have been avoided" and called a special meeting of the city council to look into the loss of the broad steel and concrete structure.

Aimed at Pay-as-You-Go Defense Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman unveiled to a congressional group Wednesday the biggest tax-boosting program in history — $16.5-billion to put the defense effort on a pay-as-you-go basis. He asked that it be split into two packages, one a $10-billion "quickie" bill.

This might mean an early increase in individual income taxes, possibly by about 20 percent. But there was no suggestion of a retail sales tax.

The President made an extraordinary bird by bipartisan support, inviting the 10 house ways and means committee Republicans, as well as the 15 Democrats, to the White House to see the wraps taken off the program.

From discussions on Capitol Hill, newsmen got indications the President will ask for a two-package approach, with the first bill to collect some $10-billion in about this manner:

Individuals — Increase by about $4-billion the income levies on over-50-million taxpayers — an overall rise of about 20 percent, although not all taxpayers would have that size increase. The money may come from a boost of 4 percentage points in each income tax bracket.

The first $2,000 of taxable income would bear a 24 percent rate, instead of the present 20 percent; the second $2,000, would go at 26 percent instead of 22, and so on up. There was no indication that the President is thinking at this time of lowering the present $600 personal exemption to $500.

Corporations — Increase by about $3-billion, raising the present 47 percent on corporation income to perhaps about 55 percent and probably adjusting the present 77 percent excess profits tax. The corporate normal rate has been boosted from 38 percent to 47 percent since the Korean war commenced. The highest it got in World War II was 40 percent.

Excises — Pick up more billions by broadening the levies and raising rates in the excise tax field. Some tax writers believe this might cause an increase in the liquor tax from $9 to $12 a gallon, and boosts in wine, beer, cigarettes, gasoline and some other excises, as well as putting the levy on new items.

War, Traffic Deaths To Pass Million Marks This Year

NEW YORK — The millionth American soldier to die in all United States wars will fall on the Korean battlefield in the next few months if the current casualty rate there continues, the Association of Casualty and Surety companies estimated Wednesday.

A few months later the millionth person to be killed in U.S. traffic accidents since 1900 will die on a highway, it said.

The association said the millionth dead soldier — GI-X — may be killed during the spring or even sooner if Korean casualties become heavier.

"His unknown civilian counterpart — Victim X — will die next December if street and highway fatalities continue at the present high rate of 35,000 a year," the association said.

Military deaths in all American wars, including Korea, reached a total of 994,000 near the end of January, while the 50-year toll of traffic deaths topped 966,000 at the same time, the association said. Prior to the Korean war, all U.S. wars had cost 986,000 lives.

The association said that since Pearl Harbor alone traffic accidents have killed 284,300 persons, 500 more than the deaths caused by disease in the Civil war, which accounted for nearly a third of the nation's total war dead.

Julien H. Harvey, manager of the association's accident prevention department, estimated that nearly 30-million persons have suffered non-fatal injuries in traffic accidents since 1900 — some 25 times more than the number of men wounded in all U.S. wars up to the present time.

"Last year's toll of traffic injuries alone nearly equalled the total of non-fatal casualties in every U.S. war to date, including Korea," Harvey said.

Don't look now, but the University theater's most significant action since the holidays has been to make a change of program. "John Loves Mary" will follow "The Heiress" on its schedule, cancelling out "The Little Foxes," originally planned for April.

Now don't mistake the tardiness of an official announcement from the dramatic arts department as gull on its part, just because the decision was made nearly a month ago and the play has been cast for two weeks. Gull, like a season of worthwhile plays, has no place in our theater department.

You see, the University theater is frankly commercial. It depends upon the financial support not just of the university, but of the people of Iowa City. That a college theater should present the classics of historical and literary value as well as successful modern plays is to be expected — except in Iowa City.

Because the theater desires to come out in the black at the season's end as much as it can, the majority of plays this year are "box-office."

It is understood that the chief factor involved in scheduling "John Loves Mary" instead of "The Little Foxes" ran something like this: "In these trying times, the public wants to forget its troubles. It wants to laugh. It wants a comedy..." That's debatable, to judge by the continued success of war films and crime dramas; and for a university theater, it's deplorable.

Having a comedy at midpoint in the semester precludes ending the season with one; the department knows from experience that featuring anything but lighter fare late in the spring is "sure death." Now, about their only passable alternative for May will be a chilling melo-at the Englert. The most amazing feature of this year's proposed program is the complete omission of "Harvey," which fills all specifications. Next year, no doubt.

Should our theater continue on its present course, we'll find our seasons consisting of such sterling trifles as "June Mad" and "Ever Since Eve." "Janie," "Junior Miss," and "Kiss and Tell" might also be expected, although these would have to be cleaned up here and there.

In fact, it might be a good idea to have a new production of "You Can't Take It With You," not given here since it opened the season with a thud in 1949. I'd like to see them do a tip-top job of it this time, and really show our secondary schools how a comedy can go over.

But it would gross community theaters for 25 miles around, too!

Atom Test Results To Be Kept Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Gordon Dean of the atomic energy commission has announced that all information about the Nevada test explosions will be withheld in order to keep the Russians from finding out about them.

Dean used the term "atomic bomb" in referring to the blasts, two of which were set off last week-end, but later said that wasn't exactly what he meant.

There has been speculation that the Nevada blasts are small-scale atomic explosions which may find a military application in such weapons as guided missiles or shells with atomic warheads.

UN Survives as Arena For World Maneuvers

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A man asked me the other day why I didn't write the obituary of the United Nations.

He was thinking that, by marching up the hill and then down again on matters of principle regarding Korea; by sidestepping such questions as the Allied crossing of the 38th parallel; by failure to subscribe sufficient armies to do the job; by the split over Chinese aggression and sanctions, the UN left the non-Communist nations with no alternative but to center their search for unity outside the organization.

Well, there's something to that. But I'm not ready to write the UN's obituary yet, both because there's still real life, and because I think it is essential that mankind maintain a focal point for its hopes.

Despite the bitter split which has developed over China, the UN seems stronger than it was before the Korean crisis. It did serve as a vehicle for demonstrating that the free nations will fight Communist aggression, and thereby may have dulled the appetite of Russia and her satellites for more of the same. We won't know for sure about that until later.

In the days of summer solstice the UN was receiving only lip service from Washington and other capitals, was called a mere debating society. Then, suddenly and very effectively, it became a prime weapon of U.S. policy. That demonstration of the importance of having the UN available will not be soon forgotten.

It is sad, of course, to see India, greatest outpost of the British commonwealth in Asia, voting with the Soviet bloc on the Chinese aggression resolution, a matter of fact in which honest indignation seems almost incredible. Britain was kind enough to abstain as India's own resolution was beaten, but India did not reciprocate. She voted with the Kremlin and its captive delegations.

But diplomatic observers still expect India to be convinced, by the Communists' own actions, that the world cannot live half slave and half free, that the men of Peking are Russia's tools, and that you can't do business with Stalin.

The UN is one vehicle through which this message can be carried to India and all the vacillating states.

The UN is a coordinating center for the interests of the West,

'Dimes' March Lags

The Johnson county March of Dimes campaign has, in all frankness, failed badly so far.

We don't know where the trouble lies. We don't know if it's simply a case of the goal being too high, a lack of interest on the part of our local citizens or some other reasons.

We do know that certain isolated cases have proved that if there is a lack of interest it is not on the part of everyone.

The cast and staff of the Panacea production, "In the Pink," gave up what amounted to an entire evening during the week prior to final exams to present a benefit performance of the show.

All the proceeds went to the local March of Dimes campaign.

We have reports that the waitresses in the Huddle restaurant donated all the tips taken in Tuesday night to the campaign.

There may be other cases similar to this one—cases in which other waitresses have donated tips.

Radio station WSUI stayed on the air from 10:15 p.m. Tuesday until 1 a.m. Wednesday, playing request records for persons who called the station and pledged to make donations to the campaign.

Movie patrons have donated $1,214.28 while attending movies here in Iowa City.

No, we can't say that a lack of interest exists here. But we do feel that more Iowa Citizens and residents of Johnson county should get behind this campaign.

The cause is worthy of anyone's dimes.

Moving Day? ... TO THE EDITOR: You think you've got troubles! What do 11 girls do when they are without adequate living accommodations? Well, that is just the situation the girls at McChesney house are up against. The university insists on depriving us of our right to a decent place in which to live and study.

Here we are comfortably situated in a house with adequate facilities and space in which to live and study, and the university is trying to throw us together in an overcrowded house and overcrowded rooms—rooms that are each barely large enough to hold one girl. Yet, they expect to fill single rooms with two, three, and even four girls—which should provide standing room only if we are lucky.

These cubby holes consist generally of two beds, one desk and enough space in which to turn around. In Hutchinson house, some of the girls are even living in a sun porch with sheets at the window to keep out the cold. Can you truthfully agree that girls should be forced into conditions like this? Would you live under these conditions? Ted Rehder, the director of dormitory and dining service, says that McChesney house is the most unfit. We have found no complaints about it in all the time that we have lived there. At least, we have large rooms, large closets and plenty of space in which we can study and live comfortably. This is more than we can say for either Hutchinson or Howard house.

Rehder also says that there are not enough girls to keep the house going — to make a profit. Tell me, what is the minimum number needed? Wasn't the maximum — as it is today — set up on a wartime basis when there was a housing shortage? How much is needed to run the house adequately? Won't $230 a month adequately pay the expenses? Is profit more important than the welfare of the girls? If grades and physical and mental health are the important factors of an education, how can they be achieved in a residence with inadequate facilities for storing clothing, studying and living in general? We have plenty of room to live as we should — but not to go. So here we are. We want to stay at McChesney house. What do we do? Vicki Walton, A2

Democrats Receive Price Jobs; Political Pressure Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most of the $7,800 to $10,000 field jobs in the office of price stabilization have gone to Democrats, but Price Director Michael V. Disalle said Tuesday no political pressure is being brought on him to appoint anyone.

He denied to a reporter that new employees of his agency need any clearance from the Democratic national committee. But he acknowledged that the national and state Democratic committees have made recommendations.

This was confirmed by the Democratic national committee after a check showed that of the 13 regional price enforcement directors announced last week-end, nine described themselves as Democrats, one as an Independent Democrat, one as having "no politics," and one could not be reached. These jobs pay $10,000 a year.

The Democratic committee said it asked Democratic senators and state committeemen for recommendations for these field jobs and they were passed on to the stabilization office here. It said the committee simply acted as a medium to suggest names of qualified men.

One Republican national committee official had this to say on the filling of the field jobs with Democrats: "This is lovely. Let the Democrats run it and take the blame for it. It's going to be a mess anyway." Disalle told an interviewer that in hiring new officials "it makes no difference whether a man is a Democrat or a Republican."

Who's Going to Be Backfield Coach? —

Right now it looks like one of the members of the present football coaching staff may get the backfield job vacated a month ago by Bernie Masterson. If freshmen are declared eligible for competition because of the draft, Wally Schwank, present freshman boss, is in line for the job. Another possibility is Ben Douglas, varsity assistant on last season's staff. Head Coach Leonard Raffensperger talked with several prospects from other schools at the NCAA meeting in Dallas. Several coaches are still under consideration but with the unsettled conditions, no immediate decision will be reached, Raffensperger said. At present, most observers seem to feel that freshmen will be declared eligible in the Big Ten next season to bolster draft riddled teams. A wholesale exodus from campuses to service of athletes as well as other students is expected this summer. This means that college sports will return to a war time basis such as existed from 1942 to 1946.

There's been a lot of criticism this year both on a high school and college level of control type basketball. Iowa fans had one taste of this when Michigan State played here and from the comments, they didn't like what they tasted. Earlier this week, two high schools in northern Iowa, Rudd and Nora Springs almost set a record for a low scoring first half. The score was 2-1 at the end of the first quarter and 4-1 at the end of the half. Rudd finally won the game with a total of 20 points but not before Nora Springs had slowed things down to a point as to make a travesty of the game. The fans were thoroughly disgusted. As we see it, one of the fundamental appeals basketball makes to spectators is speed. When you take this out of the game, something valuable has been lost. The National Basketball association was confronted with this same problem this year when Fort Wayne stalled its way to a victory over the Minneapolis Lakers. There was so much agitation following this that the association made it illegal for a team to stall, even in the closing minutes. The professionals, who have to rely entirely on spectator interest, recognized that the average fan just didn't like this form of basketball. We don't feel that the average high school or college fan likes it any better. A rule resembling that of the NBA could be used to advantage in both high school and colleges. We don't have any quarrel with the team that plays a deliberate style. We consider that basketball. What we don't like are the deliberate stalling tactics being used increasingly by teams. Southern California's selection of Jess Hill as football coach parallels quite closely Iowa's pick of Leonard Raffensperger. Practically every name coach in the country was mentioned as a possibility for the Trojan job. The same happened when Iowa was minus a coach. After much speculation both schools selected members of their own staffs. Maybe both institutions realized after a long search that they grow them just as good as home.

'Boy, If I Had Those Arms'

With Joe Lapchick's Arms, Yank's Phil Rizzuto Would Be a Human Vacuum Cleaner

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Phil Rizzuto looked up at Joe Lapchick, the leaping tower who coaches pro basketball, and said "Boy if I had those arms."

If little Phil had, it would be just too bad. It's tough enough for the other American league teams to get a hit through shortstop the way Scooter covers ground and gets that ball away. With Lapchick's arms, he would be the closest thing to a human vacuum cleaner. No ball would ever get past him. Yank's Iron Man The New York Yankees' great shortstop stands five feet, six inches, and weighs 150 pounds soaking wet. Yet he was the New York club's iron man, playing in all 155 games, was named the American league's most valuable player and the pro athlete of the year. Rizzuto and Lapchick, the 6-7 "pilot" of the New York Knickerbockers, were swapping stories with writers the other day when one of the scribes asked the 32-year old shortstop how long he expected to play. "That's a hard question," said Phil. "Maybe you lose a little speed as you go along but you gain more by experience."

"Yeah," agreed Lapchick. "You know when I was 36 I was playing the best basketball of my life. You learn and you need take only one step where you used to take two before. This little guy has learned to play the batters and he doesn't have to move much. When he has to, he has the strength and energy to do it. Simply by saying it on most of his other plays."

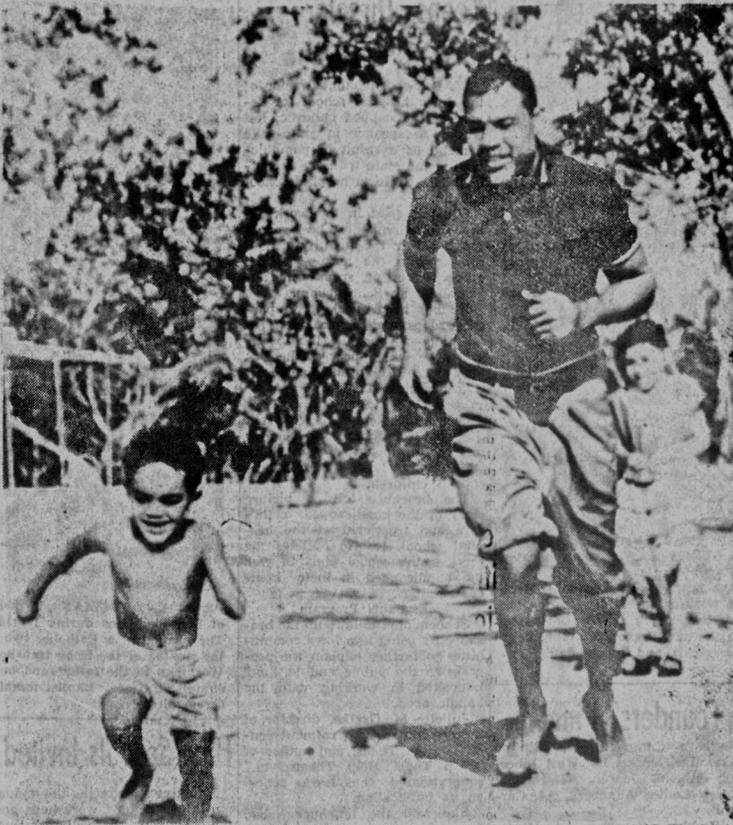

"Take My Hitting" Phil nodded. "Joe's right," he said. "You take my hitting. I hit 324 last year, my highest in the big leagues."

"Of course luck and the percentages had a lot to do with it," Phil added. "You know one year you have those handle hits going for you and the ball going between the outfielders. The next year you can't buy a hit."

"But when I first came up I used to swing at balls this high—" He raised his hands to his top shoulder level, or just about even with Lapchick's belt buckle.

Somewhere It's Warm

A COUPLE OF JOES had a little romp in the sand at Miami Beach Wednesday when Joe Louis Jr., three-year-old son of the former heavyweight champ, paced his famous father. Louis fights Omello Argamonte in a ten-round bout at Miami Feb. 7 in his third bout since losing to Ezzard Charles in September. Louis' daughter Jacqueline, 7, is shown in the background. It was 15-below in Chicago when the Louis children left Tuesday for Miami.

Phillies Pay 'Fantastic' Sum For Texan

PHILADELPHIA — The National League Champion Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday announced the signing of Ben Tompkins, star University of Texas athlete, for a "fantastic" bonus that exceeded $50,000. A club spokesman said the bonus paid the 21-year-old college junior was "only slightly below" the record $65,000 which the Phillies paid to sign ace Southpaw Curt Simmons, now in training with the 28th infantry division at Camp Atterbury, Ind. The spokesman refused to disclose the exact amount guaranteed Tompkins, who is 1-A in the draft and could possibly be called to service this year. Tompkins will leave school to join the Phillies. Phillies Owner Bob Carpenter said the 21-year-old youth was signed to a contract with the Phil's Class B farm club at Wilmington, Del., of the Interstate league. The young infielder is better known right now as a football player. He starred as quarterback on the Texas Longhorns' south-west conference championship team last season. Phil's Scout Hap Morse said at Dallas, "I want it definitely stated that we did not go after Tompkins out that he called the scouts in and talked contract. I don't want anybody to start saying we raided the campus."

Williams Gets TKO Over Vic Cardell

DETROIT (AP)—Lightweight champion Lee Williams ran into a mighty tough customer Wednesday night and had to hit young Vic Cardell of Hartford, Conn., with everything in the book before stopping him via a TKO. Cardell failed to answer the bell for the ninth round. Williams, a prohibitive 4-1 favorite over his young and less experienced opponent, closed Cardell's left eye and bloodied his right but was unable to floor him. A battered Cardell was unable to answer the bell for the ninth round of the scheduled non-title 10-round after absorbing a truckload of punishment in the seventh and eighth rounds. A small turnout of 2,603 fans — held down by a heavy snowstorm — saw the lightweight champion vent some of his anger over the NBA's action in threatening to take his title away if he does not defend it by March 31.

Blue Devils Meet Little Hawks Tonight In City High Gym

Davenport, unbeaten in Iowa and ranked as the state's No. 1 high school basketball team, tangles with Iowa City's Little Hawks here tonight. Game time for the varsity is 8 p.m., with a sophomore contest scheduled for 6:45 p.m. It will be the Blue Devils first Iowa City visit since winning the state basketball championship here last March. Iowa City has a 5-3 mark and is in fourth place. Rangy Carl Widest (6-3) has been leading Davenport with a 16.6 point per game average. Howard Moffitt, City high coach, announced that he will stick with his veteran lineup of: Jerry White, Gene Brawner, Jim Freeman, Duane Davis and Mickey Moore. He also reported that Jerry Platt, junior forward, has transferred from Oelwein. Platt, a regular there, will not be available for the Davenport game, but will be ready to play against Ft. Madison. City high's next opponent, Moffitt said.

George Kell Rejects Detroit's Terms

DETROIT (AP)—Hard-hitting George Kell, third baseman and sparkplug of the Detroit Tigers, returned his unsigned contract to Briggs stadium Wednesday with a "friendly request" for a conference on salary terms. Kell reportedly was offered a boost of $3,500 over his last year's $33,000 pay check, but he turned down the offer. He asked for a meeting with Tiger General Manager Billy Evans sometime this week, but Evans was due to leave for the major leagues meeting in New York Wednesday. "I wired George at his Swifton, Ark., home and we agreed to get together in my office early next week," the Tiger general manager said. Kell said in a telephone interview Wednesday that he was not a holdout. "I don't even like the sound of the word," he added. Kell continued, "This is the first time in my major league career that I turned down a contract. The Detroit ball club and Mr. Evans have been very kind to me and we're only a little apart on terms. We should be able to get together without too much trouble."

Murray, former Duke university football star and director of athletics and head football coach at the University of Delaware since 1940, was named head football coach at Duke university Wednesday. Murray-coached squads at one time went 32 games without defeat.

Ragelis Slightly Under Wier's Record Average

CHICAGO—Ray Ragelis, Northwestern's high scoring senior center, is within a fraction of a point of the 22.6 average set by Iowa's Murray Wier when he established the Big Ten basketball scoring record of 272 points for 12 conference games in 1948. Official conference statistics released Wednesday disclosed that Ragelis, at the halfway mark in the Big Ten schedule, has scored 155 points in seven conference games for an average of 22.1.

21 Nazi War Criminals Saved from Execution

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP)—U.S. officials Wednesday saved from the gallows 21 convicted German war criminals, including six involved in the notorious Malmédy massacre, and freed the imprisoned arms king, Alfred Krupp, and eight of his aides.

The sweeping revision of U.S. war crimes sentences means no German will be executed for the Malmédy massacre, in which several hundred unarmed GI prisoners of war and Belgian civilians were murdered in the battle of the bulge.

Fifteen of the 21 saved from death were ordered to serve life terms and the others from nine to 25 years.

The greatest mass clemency by any Allied power since the war came in the midst of efforts to woo Germans into Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's European army and German demands that the "honor of the German soldier" be restored before Germans take up arms again.

U.S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy and Gen. Thomas T. Handy, U.S. military commander, also:

- 1. Confirmed the death sentences of seven.
- 2. Granted immediate freedom to 33 prisoners, including Krupp

U.S. Agents Arrest 83 Chinese Aliens in Raids

NEW YORK (AP)—Eighty-three Chinese aliens were arrested here Wednesday and a "great amount" of Chinese Communist literature seized in three raids by U.S. immigration agents.

Edward J. Shaughnessy, district director of the immigration and naturalization service, said many of those arrested are believed to be active Communists.

The aliens, members of a Chinese seamen's organization, were removed to Ellis island only a few hours after the early morning raids. They will be held there pending deportation proceedings.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath said individual warrants are being placed against the Chinese, mostly seamen who entered the U.S. illegally by "jumping ship."

Shaughnessy said his immigration agents, aided by New York police, found a "great amount" of Communist literature printed in Chinese in the headquarters of the Kang Jai association in Brooklyn.

Simultaneous raids were also made at the association offices at Brooklyn and at the Kang Jai dormitory, nearby.

The attorney general said most of the Communist propaganda was found in the office of the president, Poon Gee Dattan. Dattan is an American citizen.

The federal agents had members of the organization under investigation for some time, Shaughnessy said.

Student Involved In Car-Truck Crash

Three automobile accidents, one involving a student, were reported to Iowa City police Wednesday.

R. D. Stoltenberg, Cedar Rapids and Frank G. McClun, 510 Finkbine street, were involved in an accident at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday. The collision occurred on Riverside drive 200 feet south of Newton road. Damage was estimated at $60.

Dodge and Church streets was the scene of a car-truck collision at 2:14 a.m. Wednesday. Drivers were Howard E. Lauderbaugh, G. Ogallala, Neb., and William D. Claus, Monicello. Damage was not estimated.

Damage estimated at $125 was caused in a collision between cars driven by Duane Anderson, 225 W. Denton, and Harry Donaldson, Winfield, at 9 a.m. Tuesday. The accident occurred at Benton street and highway 218.

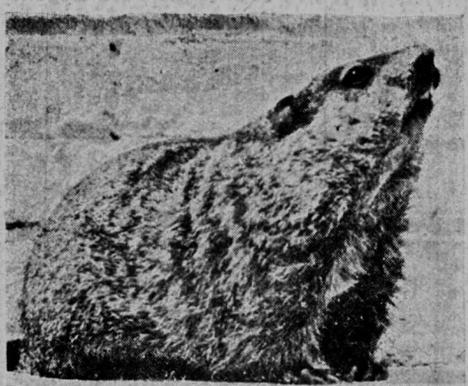

Postum Promises No Bad Words on Coffee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The makers of Postum have promised that their future ads will not hint that drinking coffee increases the divorce rate, starts fires, or puts children on the road to crime.

General Foods corporation filed a voluntary agreement with the federal trade commission in which it also promised Postum ads will not suggest coffee drinking might cause business failures, factory accidents, or home foreclosures.

The FTC approved the agreement "in accordance with its policy of encouraging law observance through cooperation in certain types of cases where there has been no intent to defraud or mislead."

Maybe He Walks in His Sleep

LEGEND HAS IT that if the groundhog comes out of his hole on Groundhog's day, Feb. 2, and sees his shadow, he will be frightened back into his burrow and will have six more weeks of winter. Hooley, says the National Geographic society. The groundhog sleeps until the middle of March and is credited with powers beyond his abilities. The society also says the animal's appetite for farm legumes and garden vegetables is so great he is a "menace to America's food supply" and deserves no singular honors.

Acceptance of First Title Greatest Victory, Biographer Declares

Mrs. Catherine Drinker Bowen said Wednesday night the greatest victory she had achieved in the writing world was the acceptance of her original title for her last book, "John Adams and the American Revolution."

Many people have commented upon the rather dull title of the biography, Mrs. Bowen, author of "Yankee from Olympus," explained to about 75 people attending her lecture in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Her publishers felt the title wouldn't sell and demanded she change it. After submitting various titles and having them rejected, she was informed that the Book-of-the-Month club had accepted her book with its original title.

"It is not the business of biographies to show how different men were who lived in the times of Adams, Holmes and Tchaikovsky, but to show how much they were like the people of today," she explained.

To illustrate her discussion Mrs. Bowen gave an account of the time she spent and what she did in writing her last biography, "John Adams and the American Revolution."

It took me five years to complete the book," she said. "The first two years I spent in reading and taking notes for five to six hours a day."

"The next year I spent in making out a chronology of Adams' life and dividing it into years, months and weeks. Then I studied the chronology until I felt the person become alive and real to me," she continued.

"When the character had become real to me, then I was ready to begin writing. That job took me two years," she said.

'Junior Miss' City High Class Play Full of Laughs

"Junior Miss," the Iowa City junior class play provided a near capacity audience in the high school auditorium with plenty of laughs Wednesday night.

Judy Graves, played Dorothy Borts, kept the crowd well amused with her semi-sophisticated antics. Fuffy Adams, played Maurine Ashby, was Judy's side-kick and her tomboy replies and actions provided her share of laughs.

When Judy sees her father kiss his secretary the action begins to move. She arranges for a meeting between the secretary, who is the daughter of her father's boss, and her uncle whom she thinks is an ex-convict.

When J. B. Curtis learns that his daughter is married to a disbarred lawyer and an ex-con he fires Mr. Graves.

Everything ends happily when J.B. thinks Judy's caller is his wealthy customer. But before he learns his mistake, he had offered Graves a partnership.

Kent Braverman plays J.B. Curtis, the mean old boss who yells and shouts his way through the play. His chewing of an unlighted cigar and his casting curses about provided the audience with plenty of excitement.

SUI Law Graduate Dies in Davenport

James W. Bollinger, 83, graduate of the SUI law school in 1889, died in his Davenport home Tuesday night after a 10 day illness.

Bollinger, a former district judge, owned one of the finest private collections of books on Abraham Lincoln. Before his death Judge Bollinger announced that SUI would receive his 3,000 volume Lincoln library worth $50,000 upon his death.

"The judge was one of the best liked members of the bar," Mason Ladd, dean of the SUI college of law, said Wednesday.

Senate Passes Anti-Gambling Bill; Measure Goes to House

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa senate passed a much debated bill Wednesday that was designed to put new teeth in the state's running campaign against gambling.

Senators voted 46-3 to approve the measure, which carried the blessing of Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson and was patterned after the so-called Minnesota gambling law.

The bill specifies that licensing authorities may withdraw permits from business places where gambling equipment is found. Such licenses would be revoked for one year.

Heated Debate

Final passage on the measure came after two days of heated debate, which included wrangling over several proposed amendments. The bill in its final form was sent to the house of representatives.

The three senators voting against the anti-gambling bill were Paul McCarrville (R-Fort Dodge) Arnold Utzig (D-Dubuque) and Devere Watson (R-Council Bluffs). McCarrville and Watson were the authors of amendments which the senate turned down.

Before adopting the measure, the senate approved an amendment eliminating playing cards from the bill's definition of gambling devices—a broad definition that includes most other kinds of gambling equipment.

The senate bill provides that any of the business licenses of an establishment where gambling equipment is found can be revoked by the authority that issued them, with a provision that such revocation can be appealed to the courts.

Intoxication Tests Valid License-issuing authorities granted such powers would include the state tax commission, liquor commission and agriculture department, as well as city councils and county boards.

In the house, representatives passed a bill, 68-32, that stipulated juries may "presume" that defendants are intoxicated if chemical tests show their blood contains at least 15 hundredths of one percent alcohol.

The bill, like the gambling measure in the senate, aroused heated debate. It was introduced by Reps. Fred Schwengel (R-Davenport) and Jack Schroeder (R-Davenport).

Rep. Wendell Pendleton (R-Storm Lake) objected vehemently to the measure, contending that it disregarded the "time-honored presumption of innocence" by law.

House Committee Urges 60 M.P.H. Night Speed Limit

DES MOINES (AP)—After much controversy, the house motor vehicle committee Wednesday recommended passage of a bill to set a 60 miles per hour night speed on Iowa highways.

Rep. John A. Walker (R-Williams) said an alternative proposal to set the limit at 55 miles per hour was defeated. Nothing was said about establishing a day speed limit.

Other Recommendations

Other house committee meetings Wednesday afternoon resulted in recommendations for passage of bills to:

Require the county pay the cost of a deputy county treasurer's bond.

Give non-highway users of motor fuel six months instead of three months to file for refund of the motor fuel tax.

The committee also recommended indefinite postponement of bills to eliminate the requirement of publishing a quarterly summary of warrants by school districts, exempt from property taxation any house a school district maintains for a superintendent or teacher, and to authorize insurance companies other than life to invest in securities of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Beer Permits The police regulations committee got into an argument over a bill which would give city and town councils discretionary power on issuance of beer permits. The committee did not take final action on the measure.

The same committee decided to take more time on a proposal to increase the size of the state highway patrol from 163 to 275 patrolmen.

Former State Chemist Hurls Accusations At Agriculture Heads

DES MOINES (AP)—A former state chemist hurled a long series of accusations Wednesday against the present and last previous administrator of the department of agriculture.

He is Clarence E. Miller, who first was fired by Secretary of Agriculture Clyde Spry. The action later was rescinded but Miller quit anyway.

Testifies Before Committee Miller testified before an Iowa house committee which is investigating the department.

Another witness was Mrs. Esther M. Johnston, former acting state chemist, who also was fired last month.

She said after Miller had given his testimony that Miller had covered the situation "pretty well."

Complaints Start Probe

The investigation arises out of several months of complaints voiced against Spry for approving a salt-base anti-freeze. The solution is P-60, a product of the Producers Technical corporation of Des Moines.

Miller said P-60 was very damaging to motor vehicle radiators and that this was the conclusion of himself and of Mrs. Johnston and also of the U.S. bureau of standards. Miller said he was certain that he and Mrs. Johnston were fired because they refused to approve P-60.

Film Star's Suit Cut $300,000 by Judge

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Film star Ann Sheridan had her damage suit against RKO Radio studios pared from $350,000 to a mere $50,000 by Federal Judge James M. Carter Wednesday.

The red-haired actress charged she was signed to play the starring role in a picture called "Carriage Entrance" but the studio fired her before the film was started.

Judge Carter ruled a clause in the contract stated Miss Sheridan was to receive $50,000 in event the studio violated the agreement and the most the federal court jury can grant her is that sum.

Gordon E. Youngman, RKO vice-president in charge of contracts, testified he sent Miss Sheridan a letter saying she was no longer employed on the picture because work had been delayed by the inability of the studio to get a leading man acceptable to her.

Casting director Fred Schussler testified numerous actors were sought for the part opposite Miss Sheridan but they turned it down either because they could not be available at the time or did not like the part.

DRAWING IN HIS ARMS IN FUTILITY is Bonzo, a movie-acting chimpanzee who doesn't think much of intelligence tests. He tried hard to please his psychologist friends by fitting testing blocks together, but failed. Prof. Luther Jennings (left) and David Cole of Occidental college, in California, with a bit of urging from the press agent at Bonzo's Hollywood studio, gave the five-year-old star the test Wednesday. He flunked because he insisted on putting the square blocks in the round hole.

Everything from Harpooning Whales to 'Ghosts for Sale' - New Books Available in Macbride Library

By DARLENE CROUCH

SUI students with deflated pocketbooks should investigate the contents of one of the new books available in Macbride library. The book, "How to Raise Funds by Mail," is a 335-page lesson on making money via the postal system.

Another new book tells of harpooning whales, collecting carriage lamps and ancestral soup tureens and growing cranberries all in rapid fire order. According to its author, Edwin Valentine Mitchell, "It's An Old New England Custom."

"The propaganda departments of the USSR employ 1,401,000 full-time, paid, professional workers." This statement was found in the book, "Behind Closed Doors," also available in Macbride.

The book is by Rear Admiral Ellis M. Zacharias, a recent lecturer in the Iowa Union. Zacharias is widely known as an analyst of international political affairs and was once deputy head of the office of naval intelligence.

One book will be appropriate for students to keep at their bedside when exam grades start coming back. The title: "Your Sense of Humor."

The author, Rabbi Julius Gordon, counsels the reader with the line, it's never too late for humor.

Probably one of the world's oddest saleswomen is the elderly Negro woman who wanders the New Orleans streets calling her wares, "Ghosts for Sale."

This is one of the unusual stories Robert Tallant writes of in his book, "The Romantic New Orleans."

Another story tells of a famous soiree at which a huge auditorium took on an appearance of a vast cave of ice. It seems the guests used huge, fur-covered ice cakes to sit on in lieu of chairs or sofas.

You've all wondered where your parents picked up your name. Alfred J. Kolatch has written a book to provide the answer.

His book, "These are the Names," explains the origin of names today and the changes they have undergone from early biblical days.

Man is no longer content to remain classified as simple "homo sapiens." The late Prof. Johan Huizinga devoted an entire book to man, the player. His book is appropriately titled "Homo Ludens."

The book treats the elements of play as a shaping factor in the culture of man.

Navy Won't Tell How Carrier Was Sunk

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The navy refused Wednesday to discuss the secret weapons used to send the Bikini atom-bombed aircraft carrier Independence to the bottom of the deep Pacific last week.

In an official description of the long voyage of the once "Mighty I" of the Pacific fleet, the navy said merely that the battered wreck, still radioactive from the Bikini tests, lay under 3,000 feet of the Pacific ocean, some 215 miles at sea.

The 10,000-ton ship, on which observers noted mysterious long poles affixed horizontally from the hulk as she was towed last Thursday through the Golden Gate, went down stern-first at 11:50 a.m.

(Iowa time) the following day, the navy said.

Official pictures of the sinking showed that the Independence first rolled over onto her port side before plunging to the bottom. Whatever the weapons or explosives used, the hulk appeared more or less intact and some of the antenna-like poles were still visible as the bow protruded skyward.

The navy announcement said that a flight of navy planes dipped wings in last salute over the final resting place of the aircraft carrier, but officers refused to discuss the possibility that bombers participated in the sinking. Nor would they say how many ships were involved in the operation.

Ike to Report To Congress On Trip Today

WASHINGTON—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Wednesday gave President Truman and the cabinet a preview of his report to Congress today on Western Europe's will to defend itself against Russian attack.

His report, based on a three-week flying trip to Atlantic Pact capitals, is expected to insure congressional support of Truman's hotly-debated plan to commit American troops to the unified Western European defense force Eisenhower will command.

Eisenhower will address a joint meeting of senate and house members today, and on Friday he will make a nationwide broadcast (9:45 p.m. Iowa time) outlining his findings on his tour of Western Europe.

In addressing congress members today, Eisenhower is expected to deliver a two-fold report:

1. On the ability and will of the Western Europe nations to unite against the threat of Soviet aggression.
2. On the question of American troop reinforcements to bolster Europe's defenses.

Two Students Injured In Des Moines Fire

DES MOINES (AP)—A two-alarm fire swept through the American Technical school Wednesday, causing slight injury to two students and an estimated loss of $250,000.

Thomas England, 23, and Arnie Hicks, 23, students at the school, suffered minor cuts in fleeing from the burning building. They were treated at Mercy hospital and released.

Judge Orders $500 Bond Forfeited

Joseph M. Mast's $500 bond was forfeited Wednesday in district court after he had failed to appear Monday for trial on the charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.
