Allies Grind At Heart Of Korean Reds

TOKYO (THURSDAY) (AP) - Allied ground and air forces today opened a powerful attack against 25 miles of Chinese Red defenses in central Korea - the enemy's military heart.

A primary purpose was to make the Chinese either stand and fight or withdraw from the one sector best suited for any enemy counter-offensive.

The new thrust also hopes to cut enemy supply lines north of Hoengsong to two Chinese divisions and to imperil Hoeng-chong. That Chinese assembly center is 15 air miles northwest of Hoengsong.

The five being sponsored by the organization are SUI commerce Prof. Walter L. Daykin, 438 S. Dodge street; Clarence Parizek, 430 N. Dodge street; W. V. (Pat) Pearson, 8 Rowland court; William J. Holland, 325 Melrose court, and Dr. James M. Hottel, 1604 E. Court street.

Deadline Today For Petitions Of SUI Council

Candidates for delegate-at-large to the Student Council must file petitions by 3:30 p.m. today, when a meeting will be held at Old Capitol to instruct them on the rules of campaigning.

The petitions are available at the office of student affairs and must be returned there with the required 100 signatures. A student may sign as many as three petitions, contrary to the instructions on the sheet.

Active campaigning for the election will begin Friday. Four delegates-at-large to the council, two men and two women, will be elected in the all-campus election March 14. Less than ten petitions have been received, compared to a total of 18 who campaigned last year.

Bob Rozeboom, A2, Ames, chairman of the student board of publications election committee, said Wednesday that prospective candidates for his group are also invited to attend today's meeting, since they are governed by the same rules as the Student council candidates.

The deadline for petitions for the board is March 7 at 5 p.m. Petition forms are available in room N-2, East hall. Another meeting is planned for board candidates at 4 p.m. Monday to explain the functions of the board and its members.

Ed Diekmann, E4, Ottumwa, and Bill Eads, A4, Ida Grove, are co-chairmen of the election committee. Any questions about the rules should be referred to Diekmann.

March Enters Like a Lion; Heavy Snow Hits State

As February made its exit, Iowa Citizens suffered snow, sleet rain and hail. The rainfall reported in Iowa City was .55 inches. The low was 28 and the high was 46.

March came in like a lion. Partly cloudy skies and colder temperatures were forecast for Iowa today. The low for southern Iowa was predicted from 20-25 and the high was 22-30.

According to the old saying if March comes in like a lion it will go out like a lamb. If this holds true, then the 31st of March should be a pleasant day.

But local residents thought the weather was bad here, they should have been in the Dakotas and Minnesota where the worst storm of the winter was raging.

Rock Rapids, Iowa, received 14 inches of snow but only the extreme northern edge of the state got snow. The southern part got rain, sleet and hail.

Want 'Healthy' Man To Replace Bevin

LONDON (AP) - A Laborite, a liberal and a conservative peer each called Wednesday night for the resignation of ailing Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to make way for a man in good health.

Gen. Collins Hints Call Of 2 More Guard Units

WASHINGTON (AP) - Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, told congress Wednesday it is "wholly possible" that he may be forced to order two more national guard divisions to active service before the end of the year.

But he emphasized that there are no present plans to mobilize any new national guard divisions or any major organized reserve units before July 1 although "we definitely will call up" additional smaller units of both the guard and reserve.

Advanced Notice If the additional guard divisions are called, he says, they will receive at least 30 days' advance notice. He said they would be chosen on the basis of geography and relative condition.

Pleven, Cabinet Resign Posts

PARIS (AP) - Premier Rene Pleven's middle-of-the-road government fell Wednesday night plunging France into an internal crisis that threatened to weaken seriously the defense front of the Western nations.

Pleven and his cabinet, which had served for seven months, submitted their resignations to President Vincent Auriol shortly after 7 p.m. (Iowa time) after unsuccessful efforts to break a deadlock over proposed reforms in the French balloting system.

The issue itself was purely an internal political affair, but the resulting crisis was expected to set back the chances of Big Four conferences here to organize a European army and establish a Western European coal - steel pool. It also was expected to delay major decisions in current talks, as well as seriously affect France's own economy.

YMCA Readies UN, Capitol Trip

Students interested in taking the "know your government" trip to Washington, D.C., and Lake Success, N.J., may now obtain application blanks at the YMCA office in the Iowa Union.

All SUI students are eligible to make the tour which will last 12 days, from March 22 to April 2, publicity chairman Al Giotoflety, C3, Batavia, said Wednesday. The entire trip will cost $90.

The students will spend five days in Washington and three days in New York observing and studying the governmental actions.

Labor Leaders Order Boycott Of U.S. Mobilization Program

Gaming Profits Could Finance U.S. Overthrow

(From the Wire Services) WASHINGTON - Mobsters are using fantastic crime and gambling profits to finance an underground government that could turn subversive and wreck the United States, the senate crime committee reported Wednesday.

The crime investigators said the czar of a vast American underworld lives in Italy and is Charles "Lucky" Luciano, deported New York vice overlord. And there is evidence the Mafia, "black hand" Sicilian society, also operates here, the report said and may be the "adhesive" holdings gangs together.

$20-Billion Yearly The 35-page report is a preliminary one. But it said if American ever had any doubt that U.S. crime is organized, that doubt is now dispelled by facts the committee has uncovered "over ten months of the most intensive investigation of its kind ever attempted."

It estimated "conservatively" that $20-billion changes hands every year in organized illegal gambling.

The report added that there is evidence of corruption and complicity at all levels of government and this was the most shocking revelation of all the testimony.

Luciano Denies Connection In Rome, meanwhile, a lieutenant of Charles "Lucky" Luciano Wednesday night branded as "plain bunk" the U.S. senate crime committee's charge that the former New York vice king inspired American underworld disputes.

Ralph Ligouri, who was deported from the U.S. in 1945 after serving a 10-year jail term for working with Luciano in vice rackets, commented in an interview that "I'm clean and so is Charlie."

Want 'Healthy' Man To Replace Bevin

LONDON (AP) - A Laborite, a liberal and a conservative peer each called Wednesday night for the resignation of ailing Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to make way for a man in good health.

A similar thread of argument was noted in the statements of all three. The conservative and liberal positions were more or less expected. Observers were surprised, however, by the statement of Lord Chorley, Laborite and a former junior minister in Attlee's government.

'Not for the King of England'

BURY, ENG. (AP) - Mayor William Heaton of Bury turned down Wednesday an invitation to meet King George VI because he couldn't bring his wife.

Heaton said the invitation, to a country council luncheon next Wednesday, which the King, Queen and Princess Margaret will attend, was "discourteous" in not including Mrs. Heaton.

The luncheon will bring together the mayors and clerks of Lancashire's 18 county boroughs. It is intended as a royal tribute to good local government.

Lancashire officials, noting the Bury mayor's withdrawal, admitted that several other mayors have protested but they weren't worried. One said, "The invitation must be limited by the accommodation."

Early Vote

Simultaneously, senate Democratic leaders pressed for an early vote on the 18-year-old draft. The chamber began debating the measure Tuesday and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) said a final vote may be reached next Monday or Tuesday.

Adm. Forest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, and Gen. Hoyt H. Vandenberg, airforce chief of staff, joined Collins in opposing a provision to lower induction standards to the lowest level of World War II. Committee members indicated it would be junked.

Troops to Europe

Also in Washington Wednesday Gen. Lucius D. Clay said that if full speed ahead is maintained in building up Western European defenses he's convinced that within a year Russian aggression will "seem unprofitable."

Testifying before the senate foreign relations committee, Clay predicted Western Europe will build a defense force adequate to prevent a Russian attack "within a year" if congress doesn't kill its spirit by limiting U.S. troop contributions.

OPS Chief Opens Nationwide Probe Of Meat Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) - The office of price stabilization (OPS) Wednesday night threw "all available enforcement manpower" into a nationwide investigation of meat prices to see whether packers and wholesalers are complying with price ceilings.

Edward P. Morgan, the OPS director of enforcement, who ordered the investigation, announced that the agency has received complaints from a "substantial portion" of the meat industry, consisting chiefly of wholesalers, jobbers, and non-slaughtering processors.

Prices Above Base Period According to Morgan, the companies have complained that they are being compelled to pay prices from 3 to 5 cents a pound higher than those which they paid during the "base period," Dec. 19 through Jan. 25, while their own selling prices have remained frozen at their "base period" levels.

Morgan's announcement came on a day when the OPS already had announced that "it won't be many days" until price ceilings are ordered on livestock.

Live Animals Not Controlled How many days, the agency wouldn't predict. An OPS spokesman said the job of fixing livestock ceilings is "tremendously complicated."

Meat is under price controls, but live animals aren't. Slaughterers have been complaining that rising prices for live animals have caught them in a squeeze.

'The Newspaper Thief'

MONTREAL (AP) - Antonio Beaudet landed in court Wednesday accused of stealing a five-cent newspaper.

Complainant Peter Carol said the alleged theft was not as petty as it might sound. He accused Beaudet of having stolen a five-cent paper from his restaurant every morning since 1944.

Say Business Dominates Defense Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Top labor leaders Wednesday night ordered a sweeping boycott of the home front control program, directing union men to "resign immediately" from every government mobilization agency.

The momentous decision dashed hopes that labor's three members will rejoin the disputation wage stabilization board, and indirectly raised the threat of future strikes in industry.

The united labor policy committee-14 top officials of CIO, AFL and other major union groups - announced its unanimous decision after a 4 1/2 hour session Wednesday.

Acknowledging "the gravity of this decision," the policy board charged anew that "big business" dominates the mobilization effort, and that the several labor men in top federal jobs are used merely as "window dressing."

Labor men accordingly are resigning from 24 advisory posts and other positions in the defense agencies, including the military, the committee announced. They include AFL President William Green and CIO President Philip Murray, who have advisory roles.

Explaining its action, the committee declared the new 10 percent ceiling on wage increases is "unfair, unworkable and unjust." It was issued Tuesday night simultaneously, the labor head said, with a price order under which "business is being allowed to write its own ceiling prices."

Labor will not resume its place on the wage board, the committee decreed, until the board is entirely "reconstituted." And that, some officials said, means that Chairman Cyrus S. Ching and the other two public members must be replaced.

Two congressional investigations immediately were called for. Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said he will seek an immediate inquiry by the senate-house watchdog committee on mobilization. Sen. Murphy (D-Minn.) promised that his senate labor subcommittee will dig into the situation "as soon as it is humanly possible."

World Situation at a Glance

LAKE SUCCESS - UN officials announce that there are 35,322 troops from 10 nations in addition to American and South Korean forces committed to the Korean war. The troops have taken 2,812 casualties, a ratio of about one to 12. U.S. high command recently said there are 250,000 ground troops in Korea.

KOREAN FRONT - U.S. Seventh Infantry makes six-mile push through disorganized Communist forces in east central Korea, deepest penetration since start of the Allied offensive, Jan. 25.

WASHINGTON - The house foreign affairs committee approves the administration's bill for famine relief to India. The program provides for an American gift of 2-million long tons of grains to relieve India's food crisis.

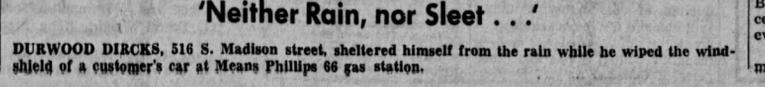

WASHINGTON - Ambassador John Foster Dulles protests Russian seizure of the Habomai islands off the coast of Japan and other officials said the U.S. may challenge the Kremlin to give them up.

PARIS - Premier Rene Pleven and his cabinet resign, plunging France into an internal crisis which threatens to seriously weaken the defense front of the Western nations.

BELGRADE - Western diplomats disclose that their countries are considering requests from Yugoslavia for an urgent speed-up of additional economic aid to bolster that nation's economy.

WASHINGTON - France turns down a U.S. plan to ease allied controls of West German industry.

WEST-CENTRAL FRONT, KOREA - Intelligence sources say that Red China's 100,000 man Third field army, supported by Russian built jets may drive south this month in what may be the biggest Communist offensive of the Korean war.

Movie Ratings . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

(Regarding Reviewer Jack Larsen's Herky Awards.)

After reading the selections of best films, etc., there are a few things that come to mind that cause me to wonder over your tabbing of evaluative categories.

First of all, lauding Mr. Peck. It seems to me Mr. Peck is most adept at looking intent and flexing his jaw muscles. I think you ought to consider that he has been given some of the widest variation of roles, from westerns to frustrated lawyers, to a gambler, and bear that in mind when you evaluate his performances.

Personally, I don't think any of Mr. Peck's speeches can be compared to those rendered by James Stewart, either in narration or conversation as in "Broken Arrow" or even "Winchester '73," in spots. Peck has been given some of the widest variation of roles since the Bergman "Spellbound," "Saratoga Trunk," "Bells of St. Mary's" series, hasn't he?

Going back to Mr. Stewart, who was found disappointing, I would like to grant that perhaps he didn't give the rendition Frank Fay might have, and perhaps as Time has said, some of his movie personality showed through in his characterization of Elwood Dowd, but nevertheless, I felt that the scene outside the bar in the alley where he explains to the doctor and nurse how he found Harvey, was a speech to establish more empathy with an audience than I have seen in any other American film. It ranks in my mind with the scene around the brazier in "Henry the V," and the scene after Falstaff dies and Pistol and friends go off to the wars. I'm not talking about artfulness of performance, but the establishment of empathy.

What more could have been wanted from George Sanders in "All About Eve" — more acid, less venom, and was he in other reviews, "overrated?" I don't think he was.

In conclusion, I would like to agree with you about Betty Hutton in "Annie Get Your Gun." I was violently disappointed and thought the performance must have lost a great deal in being made into an action-packed movie, but I would have wished you had rated "The Winslow Boy" just a little higher.

As a parting shot, why let us be so hard on "Macbeth"? Are we so avid Shakespeare lovers that we can be too severe with Wells and company?

Any Iowa Food? . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

Why is it that customers of Iowa eating places get a free travel folder with every meal? Virginia baked ham, southern fried chicken, Harvard beets and Boston baked beans are common examples on the menu we see. We had Creole spaghetti, Mexican ground beef and Bavarian pudding at the Quad last week. There are more.

Is the proud name of Iowa attached to any of America's food favorites? It is not. Iowa is the greatest agricultural state in the union, and it is entirely neglected by the menu makers.

Virginia baked ham. Why is that name so romantic and appealing that it is revered by half of the cooks in the country? The finest hogs in the land romp on rich Iowa soil and munch on golden Iowa corn before they ever grace a table. A sturdy Iowa farmwife can bake a ham that would make the saliva boil in any Virginia gentleman.

What is southern fried chicken except ordinary chicken ensnared in soggy batter? Any decent Iowa cook can fix chicken in a dozen ways that are better than the southern fried variety.

Still, Iowa cooks go blithely on advertising faraway foods and foolish fancies. Our homegrown palate — pleasers remain unpublicized.

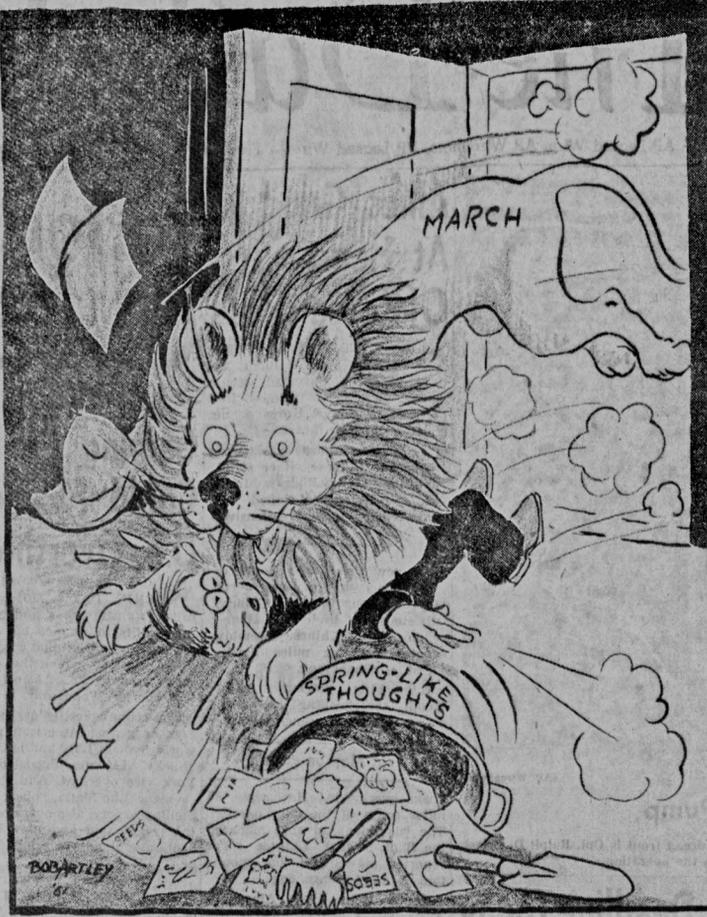

Another favorite practice of the food providers is amusing in a disconcerting way. A local restaurant which I patronize has perfected the euphonious method of menu making. One entry on their list of tantalizers is sirloin tips with fresh vegetables. Lips quivering, my mind mulls over delicious thoughts — tender sirloin, succulent tomatoes, crisp celery and bright carrots. What does the waiter bring? Beef stew.

Interpreting the News —

Communists Rally for Spring Drive

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., AU Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Communists in Europe are rallying for a great spring offensive.

Premier De Gasperi of Italy set the keynote recently when he said that this would be the spring of crisis; that there would be some hope of escaping immediate war if the next months are safely passed.

The return of Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti from Moscow to Italy, the activity of recently returned William Pieck to East Germany and the expected return of Maurice Thorez to France set the stage for the next act in the East-West conflict.

The great question is whether the European Communists will merely continue their long-term campaigns with some new twists, or whether fifth columns are being mobilized for their customary part in war.

A year ago they began to slough off their early postwar role as contenders for political office through which they had expected to take control of governments in France and Italy as they did in East Germany and the satellites.

At that time they began concentrating on subversive action, trying to scuttle the plans of the Western democracies rather than put over their own.

One of their great activities has been the "peace offensive," in the hope of consolidating European fear of war into an international movement which would leave the countries weak and open to the revolutionists.

So far this has failed, although still a highly complicating factor in mobilizing the West for resistance to Moscow.

But at the same time there has been a terrific purging of the party, with less interest in the non-Communists who once voted Communist tickets and more on the preparation of airtight cadres quickly adaptable to the will of the Kremlin.

This also has resulted in wholesale defections from the party by those Leftists who still put their own countries first.

Now we are to see whether the peace offensive is to be augmented by physical as well as political sabotage. The war factories are starting up. The ships begin to arrive from America with military supplies. Tension is rising.

Tito has announced that Yugoslavia will be in any European war. France has just issued a statement of its support for Yugoslavia, joining Washington and London.

If Togliatti, Thorez and the other leaders who have been conferring in Moscow have returned home with orders to start physical sabotage, beyond the labor strikes and political sabotage to which the Communists already are committed, the fear of war will be immensely heightened.

It is still doubtful whether a rearmored autonomous Japan is more valuable than a rearmored controlled Japan. But the powers seem headed toward the former.

Allies Prepare for Japanese Peace Treaty

By The United Press

President Truman, after receiving a report from John Foster Dulles on his trip to Japan and other Pacific countries, has authorized the preparation of a proposed Japanese peace treaty.

There had been talk of unilateral treaties, the U.S., Britain, Australia and the other wartime allies making their own deals, but this now seems to be discarded. The idea seems to be to work out a general treaty, but through negotiations between all the nations involved rather than through a peace conference.

This sidesteps a lot of argument about Russian participation, with its corollary fight over Chinese representation.

The United States seems to be primarily interested in two things — military security and release from part of the Japanese economic burden.

Australia and the Philippines take much the same position toward Japan that the French do toward Germany—they are afraid of revived militarism.

Britain's chief worry seems to be economic. She seeks some compromise between the U.S. desire to rebuild Japan's economy, involving increased exports, and her own trade interests. Britain and Japan are direct competitors in the Far East market in several lines, and particularly in textiles.

Everyone is interested in seeing Japan take her place in the Pacific defense line against communism. Japan herself seems willing.

In fact, Japan seems willing to make any sort of agreement which will give back her lost face. Any treaty, rather than a particular treaty, seems to be her main interest.

In the military field, Japan is represented as being quite willing to rearm and become an active part of the Allied defense system in the Pacific. She is quite willing to have Western military power remain.

It is still doubtful whether a rearmored autonomous Japan is more valuable than a rearmored controlled Japan. But the powers seem headed toward the former.

In Absence of Sight, More Sound, Please —

Thanks to the long-playing, 33 1-3 r.p.m. record, the dissemination of American musical comedy culture has been given a shot in the arm (by an LP needle, of course) and the original cast show album has proved a bonanza (which even rated space in Time magazine last week!)

This means that if you can't get to see the show, you can now learn for yourself what the shouting is about just by plunking a platter of the latest Broadway hit on your turntable and letting your speaker take over from there.

And if you have seen the show, a recording of it is worth 1,001 nights' worth of souvenir programs, even if each of them is autographed by stars, composers, and the almost-unapproachable men who snarled at you from a battery of ticket windows.

While you can thank Columbia for giving us the long-playing disc which gives us an entire show's tunes on one plastic record, instead of on six or more breakable shellacs, you can thank Decca for really setting the disc rolling as far as original cast recordings are concerned.

The idea was a smart one, and when "Oklahoma" came along, a tremendously profitable one, too. For a while Decca had the bulk of pickings to itself, but by the end of the war Victor and Columbia put their fingers in the pot of gold too, with the result that these three major companies now split the majority of recording rights to the latest Broadway successes.

I'm keeping my fingers crossed that Columbia will prove the most aggressive in contracting for rights to the many shows planned for Broadway unveilings in the near future. My hopes are based on the fact that Columbia consistently turns out the best results.

For one thing, Columbia's engineers have recently gratified my own passion for fullness and resonance in the matter of actual recording. For another, the company's recording directors have, it seems to me, captured more successfully the spirit of the actual performances.

With respect to sound, I have always wondered why people have raved about Ethel Merman, Decca's pride and joy on the distaff side. I have seen Miss Merman in movies, but that was back in the Thirties. Any subsequent contact has been confined to recordings and it has been contact which assaulted my eardrums.

I have now seen Miss Merman. I have seen her open her mouth, smile, and send out clear, ringing tones which bounced off the farthest walls of the Imperial theater and landed in the audience's laps. She never yelled, she never once screeched or buzzed.

And yet when I heard Decca's album of songs from "Call Me Madam" (not the original cast album, since her bosses declined to loan her to Victor, which had the rights to the show and which has, by the way, given it a happily spacious recording) there was that old Screaming Merman again.

My conclusion was that it just isn't Ethel's fault, a conclusion which was reinforced when I played my copy of the original cast recording of "Guys and Dolls." All the songs of the show are there along with its performers, and Vivian Blaine stands out just as she did in the show.

But the whole thing sounds as though the entire group had somehow assembled in her dressing room to sing into a mike. This doesn't diminish the "Guys and Dolls" record's value as a beautiful buy, any more than it did with "Oklahoma" or "Carousel." It does suggest that Decca might profit from its competitors by putting its engineers to work on better technical developments.

Capturing the actual spirit of performance and the personality of its stars is a matter I'll discuss on Saturday, except to add here that fullness of sound contributes to the suggestion that you are hearing the selections in a theater.

When the impression is one of performance rather than of recording session, a musical hit is just that much closer to being enacted in your living room.

Physiologist Calls Shivering 'Warming-Up'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Chattering teeth, tense muscles and quivering knees really are beneficial. Shivering from the cold actually is nature's way of trying to warm you up.

It's the contraction of muscles that produces shivering, according to Dr. Allan Hemingway, professor of veterinary medicine and physiology at the University of Minnesota. Shivering in turn generates heat in the body.

Though shivering is warming, it also is fatiguing, and that's what Hemingway is measuring in his research.

The more heat being generated, the more oxygen is needed. While shivering, Hemingway said, a man may consume four times as much oxygen as his normal metabolic rate.

Shivering is automatic. When the body temperature falls only two or three-tenths of a degree below its normal 98.6, the quivering starts. It will stop as body temperature drops to 80 degrees Fahrenheit, but that temperature is deadly. The heart and lungs usually quit working then.

Besides the shivering, nature also has other methods of trying to keep the body warm when it's subjected to a blast of cold. Constriction of blood vessels in the skin causes the blood to retreat to deeper areas. Thus the heat loss is cut down.

This constriction is a cousin to "goose flesh," Hemingway said. Contraction of muscles around hair roots produces the bumpy flesh.

Hemingway's findings have disrupted one old popular chill remedy — a swig of liquor. Alcohol may create a warmth for fellow man, but it stops shivering. That causes body temperatures to drop rapidly. You'll simply be colder if you take a drink.

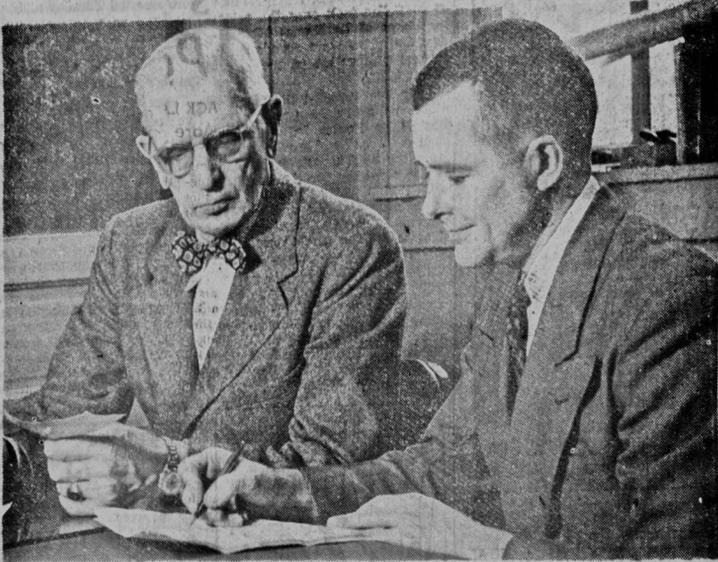

Red Corpuscles Blamed For 'Flying Saucers'

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA (AP) — F. S. Cotton, professor of physiology at Sidney university says people will continue to see flying saucers. His theory is that hundreds of people who thought they were seeing saucers were, in fact, seeing red corpuscles of the blood as they passed across the retina of the eye.

Planning Red Cross Drive

MAYOR PRESTON KOSER, and Richard Sidwell, right, local businessman, Wednesday looked over an official proclamation of March as Red Cross month in Iowa City. Sidwell is chairman of the business division of the Johnson county 1951 Red Cross fund-raising campaign opening today. The campaign goal for the county is $21,074.

Red Cross Drive Opens Here Today

This is the first day of Red Cross month in Iowa City as proclaimed Wednesday by Mayor Preston Koser. Iowa City residents Wednesday were urged by Koser to contribute to the 1951 Red Cross fund-raising campaign which has a goal of $21,074 for Johnson county, including Iowa City. "I further urge that all men and women of good will remember that in these critical times this great humanitarian organization must be maintained at full strength," Koser said. The American National Red Cross, under its congressional charter, is serving the armed forces, the mayor said, and is mobilizing for defense for the protection of the family, the community, and the nation. Victims of natural disaster, Koser said, are also being given aid through the services of the Red Cross.

Professor Coleman To Be Honored For Work in Publishing

Prof. Carroll Coleman of the SUI school of journalism will be honored for his "achievements in book publishing and printing" by the Muscatine Business and Professional Women's club March 14 in Muscatine.

Coleman, university typographer in the department of publications, operated his own publishing house, the Prairie Press, in Muscatine for 10 years prior to his coming to SUI in 1945.

In addition to doing commercial printing, Coleman published 70 books and pamphlets, many of which were written by midwestern authors.

A collection of these works will be loaned by the Muscatine library to the BPW club for their annual guest-night dinner March 14.

Coleman said he would tell the group some of the anecdotes and incidents peculiar to the operation of a small, regional publishing house.

Ministers Oppose Bill Permitting Child Labor

The Iowa City Ministerial association passed a resolution Tuesday evening opposing a bill in the Iowa legislature permitting children under 16 to be employed in bowling alleys.

The association voted to inform Sens. LeRoy S. Mercer (D-Iowa City) and Arthur H. Jacobson (R-Waukon), who is the chairman of the senate committee considering the bill, of their opposition to the bill already passed in the house.

The association said the bill would be a break in child labor protection and could be capable of abuse.

Pearls Featured In 'New Jeweled Look'

The latest in the new "jeweled look" this season is baroque pearls which demonstrate their versatility by being effective on evening gowns or cashmere sweaters.

Fashion authorities advise that these irregularly shaped pearls from American fresh-water mussels are currently enjoying a revival in jewelry, as part of the increasing popularity of all pearls, including Oriental and cultured varieties.

One necklace displayed in New York recently was a creation of Nadja Buckley in multi-colored baroque pearls, strung in palladium and platinum.

Forty-seven "rosebud" pearls were strung together in graduated sizes. They ranged in colors from pink, gold and beige to deep brown and mauve. The clasp was a small palladium disk studded with minute diamonds.

New Twists for Springtime in Paris

DID YOU EVER SEE a dream walking? You will if these examples of Paris spring fashions catch on. Reading from left to right (or should it be back to front?) are "Black Angel," black satin evening dress with a winglike black satin "collarete" in the back, a Schiaparelli creation; "Fancy Dress" is what Jacques Fath calls his trouser and blouse combination of blue linen adorned with multi-colored patches, and for that "backward" look is blue-grey wool suit by designer Alwynn which features buttons and lapels in the back. Pockets, however, are normal and in front.

Photographic VIEWS and NEWS by "Dutch" Louis

It's no longer a secret and by the time you are reading this I hope we have Eastman's new Kodak Signet 35mm. camera in stock.

I have seen this camera and for the critical worker in Kodachrome . . . for the one who demands maximum sharpness in his "miniature negatives" . . . for the exacting picture taker who requires accurate, yet simple operation, this camera is the answer — Its lens is a Kodak-Ektar-44mm, f3.5 luminized — Diaphragm stops f3.5 to f22 — Shutter-Kodak Synchro 300 . . . in cocking type. Flash Synchronized at all speeds — Focusing and Viewing finders are both sighted through a single window — the price will be $95.

Another new item that I have seen, but so far none have been shipped, is the Brownie 8mm. Movie Camera — This camera will be to the movie field what the Box Brownie Camera is to the still photographer — Just a good picture taking camera that's simple to operate — it will sell for only $47.50.

A new item that we do have in stock is the new Leica Manual . . . 432 pages . . . 24 chapters . . . 345 illustrations . . . all new text — "A one-volume library on photography with a 35mm. camera" . . . $5

We have a counter full of used cameras that we have taken in on trade or unclaimed cameras that have been left for repair — You'll find all kinds from 15c to $50.

It's hard to know how to buy — Sometimes I don't buy enough and sometimes I buy too much — On another table at HALF PRICE are photographic paper, roll films, movie film and professional film of which I bought too much.

P.S. The Brownie movie camera is now in at the Photographic Department

Rewards for Uranium Raised

WASHINGTON (AP)—The atomic energy commission provided powerful new incentives for domestic uranium exploration and mining Wednesday by sharply increasing its prices and offering bonuses of up to $35,000 for new strikes.

Printer Testifies He Was 'Taken for Ride' In Election Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Baltimore printer, testifying in the senate investigation of the 1950 Maryland election, said Tuesday he was "taken for a ride" by three men who "threatened to put me through a McCarthy investigation."

He identified one of them as Don Surine, who is an investigator for Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) and the others as Ewell Moore and George Nilles.

William H. Fedder, the printer, said for hours the men tried to recover from him a letter he said he received from Sen. John Butler (R-Md) guaranteeing payment of about $12,000.

Fedder said the money was owed him by Butler headquarters for printing bills and distributing about 500,000 copies of a tabloid, "From the Record."

Butler defeated Tydings, then U.S. senator and Butler's opponent. Butler defeated Tydings, a long-time Democrat, in the election.

Tydings said the law prohibits senatorial candidates from contributing more than $2,500 of their personal funds.

He said, verified a "breach of the law" and "was to be recaptured at all hazards." Butler replied that Tydings was resorting to "reckless and unjustified attacks on me."

Slager's Hardware Sued

The Bi-State Distributing corporation, Omaha, Neb., petitioned in Johnson county court Wednesday for $186.71 from T. F. Slager, operator of Slager's Hardware and Implement company, Iowa City.

The Omaha company claims the money is due for merchandise delivered to the defendant.

HUB CAPS STOLEN

Thomas D. Ghrist, 31, Des Moines, reported to Iowa City police Wednesday the theft of all four hub caps from his car, which had been parked near the field-house for several days.

Russia Says Prices Of Consumer Goods Cut 10-22 Percent

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union announced Wednesday night it was cutting the prices of 137 types of consumer goods from 10 to 22 percent — the fourth such general price slash since the war.

Radio Moscow said increased production on the part of Russian industrial and agricultural workers and the lowering of production costs had made the price cuts possible on a wide variety of goods from bread to bicycles.

As in all statistics from the Soviet Union, there was no actual announcement of prices, but simply a report of percentage decreases in the cost of bread, coffee, macaroni, eggs, cheese, matches, vodka, gasoline, radios, bicycles, watches, sewing machines, tobacco and other consumer items.

(Only yesterday, a Polish delegate to the UN economic and social council meeting at Santiago, Chile, said it took a Russian worker 340 minutes to earn a bottle of vodka. Under the average American industrial wage a worker would earn a pint of whiskey in 90 minutes.)

Broadcasts of the price reductions to the Western world — at a time when prices in the United States and most other Western countries were rising — was seen as part of the Soviet "peace" propaganda campaign.

Premier Josef Stalin, in his recent interview in Pravda, asserted that it was obvious the Soviet Union could not be building and maintaining huge armed forces and "continue the policy of systematic price reductions for consumer goods, which also demands scores of thousands of millions in budget expenditures."

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. (AP)—Bosomy Denise Darcel, the French actress, said Wednesday that "my heart is broken" and announced she will sue her socialist husband, Peter Crosby, for separation.

The "last straw" in two months of quarrels in a four month marriage came last week end when Crosby threw a "glass of whiskey in my face for no reason," she said.

It wasn't the whiskey so much as the "public embarrassment" of the quarrel early last Saturday morning at the swank El Morocco night club in New York.

Miss Darcel said she had instructed her attorney in New York, Aaron Frosh, to file suit for separation at once.

She admitted that she and Crosby had been quarreling for the last two months.

Miss Darcel's press representative in New York indicated the quarrels involved personality and temperament clashes but there "definitely was no sex maladjustment involved."

He said Miss Darcel had leaned over to talk to friends from the "west coast" at a table adjoining hers at El Morocco and had been offered a glass of champagne when Crosby whipped the whiskey at her.

"He's a jealous type," the representative said.

A $150 damage suit brought against the operators of Schuppert and Koudelka, furnace repair shop, was dismissed Wednesday in Johnson county district court on petition of Phil Connell, 228 E. Bloomington street.

Connell, secretary to SUI President Virgil Haneher, had claimed that dust and ashes from a repair job on his furnaces had caused damage to his home furnishings. A settlement between the parties was reached out of court.

Transplanted Kidney Keeps Woman Alive

GLENDALE, CALIF. (AP)—A kidney borrowed from a dead man and fastened to the arm of a 44-year-old woman kept Mrs. Millie McCauley, 44, alive Wednesday and may save her life.

The rare operation was performed "as a last resort" when Mrs. McCauley's kidneys stopped functioning because of an infection. The third kidney was obtained from the body of a man who died and the transplanting was completed 20 minutes after the donor passed away.

The externally-attached kidney started functioning immediately.

Dr. H. W. Merrill, who performed the surgery, said the borrowed kidney was attached to Mrs. McCauley's nerves and blood vessels in her right arm. The organ is kept in a saline and glucose solution and has taken over the functions of Mrs. McCauley's kidneys.

The surgeon said the transplanted kidney gives the women's diseased kidneys a rest and a chance to eliminate toxic matter from her system. He said the borrowed kidney would be kept attached to Mrs. McCauley's arm for about a week.

Farmhand Gets 8 Years for Killing

SPIRIT LAKE (AP)— Archie Lee Henry, 25, Milford, farmhand was sentenced to eight years in Fort Madison prison Wednesday after District Judge D. W. Stillman accepted a written plea of guilty to a charge of manslaughter.

Stillman also imposed a fine of $1,000, and ruled Henry must serve one year in county jail in addition to the prison sentence if the fine is not paid.

Henry pleaded guilty to the manslaughter charge after he was permitted to withdraw a plea of innocent to a murder charge.

Henry was accused in connection with the Christmas eve slaying of Henry Wieskus, whose frozen body was found in a field one and one-half miles west of Milford Christmas morning.

Paul Cooksey, state representative and Henry's defense attorney, said "Many things are not known and never will be known about the case. The defendant was so intoxicated the night of the slaying he had genuine amnesia."

Cooksey said insanity tests and administration of a truth serum has upheld the amnesia theory.

Congressman Calls TV 'Lewd and Suggestive'

WASHINGTON (AP)— Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass.) complained Wednesday that television programs "are abusing the hospitality of American homes with lewd images and suggestive language."

He told the house that the federal government "must step into this mess and clean up the house of television" by creating a censorship board within the federal communications commission.

"In the feverish rush to capture and monopolize attention, video has thrown all standards to the winds," Lane said. "Because it is utterly without self-discipline, it must be restrained."

Argentine Police Shut Down 'La Prensa'

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA (AP)— Police took over the printing shops of La Prensa Wednesday, and plans were abandoned to resume publication of the newspaper today.

As police occupied the printing plant, publisher Alberto Gainza Paz of La Prensa led a funeral cortege over a five-mile route from the newspaper's main plant to the cemetery for the burial of a La Prensa worker who was killed by mob violence in Tuesday's attempt to reopen the newspaper.

Crowds in the street cried "liberty, liberty" as the cortege left the newspaper plant.

The independent daily has been closed since Jan. 26 by a boycott of the government — sponsored news vendors' union.

Nearly 400 employees of the newspaper were released by the police early Wednesday. They were arrested Tuesday night while preparing Wednesday's edition of the paper. Their arrest followed the mob-killing of one of La Prensa's workers.

Three others were injured and five of the newspaper's trucks were damaged as the workers passed picket lines in an attempt to reopen the plant.

Police Hunt Car

Iowa City police Tuesday were looking for a car that was apparently driven through the yard of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority house, 828 E. Washington street, Monday night damaging a car owned by Peggy Witzeleben, A3, Quincey, Ill.

Damage to the car, parked in the driveway, was estimated at $26.50.

Like Pouring it Down a Rat... Hole

(Daily Iowan Photo)

DRINK THE MILK, YOU RAT, would have been a suitable comment for Mrs. John Edwards to make in this situation as she offered a drink to a new mother rat. Hidden in the back of the cage were eight new baby rats. They will grow up and be used for experiments in the psychology department. Mariam helps her husband, John, feed about 175 rats every day in East Hall.

It May Not Be Love, But — Student, Wife Care for Rats

By ARLO WAGNER
When John Edwards first told his wife, Mariam, about his new part-time job last fall, she refused to help him.
Now, she spends at least a half hour feeding and watering about 175 rats which are being raised by the psychology department. She thinks the four week old baby rats are especially cute and delights in tickling their stomachs as they climb about the inside of their wire cages.

John, a physical education junior, got the job last fall when a fraternity brother left for the service. Most of the rats he takes care of are being raised as prospective parents, although some will be used for experiments.
"I haven't been bitten yet," John said, but indicated he was rather careful. The pure white rats are being displaced by black and white ones because the white rats are more vicious.
Anywhere from one to 10 rats may be kept in about 50 cages in the small room. Each rat is allotted one and a half pieces of special food daily. This is just enough to keep them healthy, not over-nourished, and prevents fighting.
Prospective mothers are put in individual cages and are fed evaporated milk after the babies are born. New babies have no hair and are only about three quarters of an inch long. Their eyes are not open and they are very feeble.
Some rats are shipped to other laboratories and many new ones are bought to prevent in-breeding.
After the psychology department is done with them, many are given to other laboratories on campus for experiments.
"Rats are very wise," John said, "they seem to know just what to eat." If there is anything lacking in their diet, they can pick it out in other articles. This accounts for much destructive gnawing.

Jurisdiction Argued In Woodlawn Case

Argument on motions in the Woodlawn pre-school case Wednesday centered around whether the district court still has jurisdiction in a case which has been appealed to the supreme court by both parties.
The attorney for the plaintiffs, Clair Hamilton, contended that Judge James P. Gaffney's jurisdiction ended when the case was appealed earlier this month.
Atty. William L. Meardon, representing the play school operators, David and Madeline Davis, argued that the court can rule on their motion for rehearing of the trial in district court.
The motion asks for modification of restrictions placed on the school by Gaffney's decision in January. The ruling held that the school was a nuisance, but then put in a hat and drawn for prizes. Larson said it was his opinion such operations would be considered gambling under the new law and would place the establishment's licenses in jeopardy.

Playing Bowling Devices May Be Called Gambling

DES MOINES — Atty. Gen. Robert Larson said Wednesday he has advised Des Moines Police Chief Frank Mabee coin operated bowling machines might be considered gambling devices under the new Iowa anti-gambling law if used for gambling.
Larson said Mabee had asked if the machines would be gambling devices if the names of high scorers were kept during the week, then put in a hat and drawn for prizes. Larson said it was his opinion such operations would be considered gambling under the new law and would place the establishment's licenses in jeopardy.

Ministers Move to Ban Sunday Funerals

Seven Iowa City ministers said Wednesday they will refuse to conduct Sunday funerals and will officiate only at simple weddings on Sunday.
The Iowa City Ministerial association met in the First Presbyterian church Tuesday night and voted on the resolution which had been proposed at the January meeting.
The Rev. John R. Craig, pastor of the First Congregational church, said the Sunday funerals created an imposition on the morticians, their assistants, florists, the cemetery workers and others.
The florists who supported and signed the resolution are Aldous Flower shop, Curtis Florists and Flowers by Eicher.
Hohenschuh mortuary, Beckmans, McGovern funeral home, Oathout funeral home and seven employees of the Oakland and Memory Gardens also signed the resolution.
The seven churches represented in the resolution were the Baptist, Christian, Congregational, English Lutheran, Methodist, Nazarene and Presbyterian.
The ministers said weddings which do not require elaborate floral and catering services are not affected by the resolution.

The resolution also invited other clergymen, funeral directors, florists, cemetery employees and caterers to join in supporting the resolution.

Legion of Merit Awarded

Lt. Col. Wayne Hardman, serving with the Eighth army in Korea, has been awarded the Legion of Merit, according to word received by his wife who lives at 1808 E. College street.
Hardman previously was awarded the first and second bronze oak leaf cluster to the air medal for meritorious achievement last summer.

Lady Godiva

Hunt Spreads to U.S.; Stripper Applies

HOLLYWOOD — Stripper Lili St. Cyr applied Wednesday for the job of recreating the ride of Lady Godiva but she blushed that she'll be "shy and embarrassed" to do it.

Luscious Lili, who recently graduated from a skid row burlesque house to stripping for the movie mob in plushy Ciro's nightclub, said she'd be happy to add the gallop of Godiva to her laurels.

The mayor of the real lady's home town, Coventry, England, is in the market for a modern miss to re-enact that famous horseback ride of 700 years ago. As every lover of history knows, this means riding through the streets of Coventry wearing a smile and long hair.

"I said she could fill the bill since by nature she is shy.
"The girl who plays Lady Godiva must have chastity, great dignity and a natural talent for registering embarrassment," she explained.

"I am naturally so sensitive about exposing myself anywhere except upon a stage that I think I would faint if my husband accidentally opened the bathroom door while I was taking a shower.
"And to ride through Coventry with everyone watching! I definitely would like to do it, but I'll be embarrassed.
"Taking off one's clothes is as much an art as learning the four basic positions in ballet. When executed with deftness and shyness, disrobing becomes an artistic achievement."

At Ciro's Lili wears transparent panties and a breastplate the size of two quarters. As Lady Godiva, she said, she'd leave those off.

All movie actresses politely refused to apply for the job. Some showed commendable restraint, some were huffy and others were stunned.
"Lady Godiva? Are you kidding?" gasped Jane Russell.

Korean Vet Calls Home

"MOM, I'M IN TEXAS—just flew in from Japan." Cpl. Bob Cronin's free phone call was put through by the Red Cross hospital worker at his bedside, and the wounded Korea veteran enjoyed a happy "reunion" with his mother in Hastings, Nebr. Wounded flown to Lackland Airforce base, Texas, are met by the Red Cross, official welfare agency of the armed forces, which provides many services for the evacuees at their first stateside stop. The Red Cross free phone call rates tops with these men.

PAROLES SOUGHT

DES MOINES (P)—Among 12 life-term prisoners in Iowa penal institutions recommended for parole Wednesday were a man and a woman who pleaded guilty in the "hillbilly" murder case at Elkader in 1936.
Mrs. Pearl Shine 42, and Maynard Lenox, 34, branded as "illicit lovers" in a sensational investigation, were sent to prison for slaying her bridegroom of a week to obtain a deed to his farm.

Thinclads Enter Conference Meet

Iowa Title Hopes In Hurdles And Dashes

A 13-man team will represent Iowa in eleven meets at the Big Ten indoor track championships at Champaign this weekend.

Preliminaries are set for Friday evening and finals for Saturday afternoon in the University of Illinois armory.

Captain Francis Cretzmeier commented Wednesday on Iowa's chances, "We might score anywhere from five to 20 points. Competition will be extremely even and if some of our athletes are at peak of their form they can score well. But the margins will be close."

Iowa is in contention for individual conference titles in two events.

Hopes rest with Gary Scott, quarter miler, and Iowa's pair of low hurdlers, Dean Deuel and DuWayne Dietz.

Scott Wins Twice
Scott has won two of his races at 440 yards, losing a third by inches at Illinois early in the season. All six of his quarters, including the three on the mile relay, have been in the 50 bracket. His time of :06.2 in the 60-yard dash also put him among the leaders in that event.

Both of Iowa's low hurdlers have posted a time of :08, to equal the best in the league this year. Their final places in the conference will depend upon the outcome of the flash finish which accompanies the short races.

Virgil Von Ahsen is a Hawkeye capable of placing in the two mile run. His best time this season is 9:34.6.

Have Advantage
Since Iowa competed at Illinois earlier in the season, they hold a slight advantage over some Big Ten schools. The armory track is odd-shaped, some 300 yards around the oval instead of the usual 220. This change of laps is apt to throw visiting runners off their pace.

In the field events two low-ans could bring home high point medals. They are Bob Henard and Jack Weik.

Henard is a sophomore and will compete for the first time under the pressure of a conference meet. He leaped 23 feet, 2 inches last week for his best jump of the season.

Weik, a veteran high jumper, tied for third in the Big Ten outdoor meet last spring. He displayed good form when he jumped 6 feet, 2 7/8 inches last week against Northwestern.

Other athletes and their events: Len Sykes, dash; Craig Harper, 440; Ed Moore, 440 and broad jump; Jack Davis, 880 and mile; Al Meyering, pole vault; and Don Steffen, high hurdles.

Iowa will have a mile relay team which might score, with Sykes or Moore, Harper, Dietz and Scott.

The first contingent of the Iowa team will leave Thursday by car.

High Average Rests On Illinois Game For NW's Ragelis

CHICAGO (AP)—Northwestern's Ray Ragelis probably will be the fourth man in Big Ten history to average over 20 points per game for a conference cage season.

The Wildcat center has one game remaining, against Illinois Saturday, and boasts 263 points for 13 games and a 20.2 per game average. He needs to hit only 17 markers against the championship bound Illini to average 20 for the season.

In past years only three players, Murray Wier, Iowa, 22.6 in 1948; Don Rehfeldt, Wisconsin, 22 in 1950; and Andy Phillip, Illinois, 21.2, in 1943, have hit 20 or more points per game.

Illinois' Don Sunderlage trailed Ragelis by nearly two points on the averages. He has an 18.3 mark for 12 games with two remaining, against Northwestern and Michigan State.

The two conference records already have been established. Minnesota's Myer "Whitey" Skoog, connected on 31 of 35 free throws during the season for an .885 average, eliminating the old mark of .875 set in 1950 by Don Page of Wisconsin.

Bill Toshoff, Indiana, sets a new conference mark each time he hits another free throw. Toshoff has hit 25 in a row to eliminate the old mark of 20 held by Sunderlage.

The individual scoring leaders:

Player	Team	TP	AVG
Ray Ragelis	Northwestern	263	20.2
Don Sunderlage	Illinois	229	18.3
Carl McNulty	Purdue	232	17.8
Ab Nicholas	Wisconsin	187	15.3
Charles Darling	Iowa	183	13.7
Frank Calsbeek	Iowa	181	15.0
Leo VanderKuy	Michigan	180	15.0
Myer Skoog	Minnesota	291	14.3
Bill Garrett	Indiana	158	13.1
Neil Schmidt	Purdue	166	12.7

Gary Scott

ATHLETE of the week selected by radio and press men was Gary Scott, sophomore 440 and 60 yard dash man who captured wins in both events against Northwestern in the last indoor meet of the season as well as running the final 440 of the winning relay team. In the 440, he bettered the meet record by one-tenth of a second with a :50.5. He equalled the meet record in the 60 with a :06.2.

Louis May Lose April Title Chance

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Louis may not get another shot at the World's Heavyweight title until late summer if Joe Walcott upsets Champion Ezzard Charles here next Wednesday.

If Charles wins—as he is expected to — Louis probably will get a crack at the crown in April. But if Walcott, the 37-year-old challenger who came close to beating Charles in June, 1949, does the trick, he would be forced to give Charles a return match within 90 days. Charles could waive his right to step aside in favor of Louis, but probably would not.

In this case, Louis would have to wait perhaps two or three months after the return go—which would make it July or August.

Sperry, Hansell, Deep River And Winterset Advance

DES MOINES—The first round of the Iowa girls high school basketball tournament closed tonight with Sperry, Hansell, Deep River and Winterset gaining the last four quarter-final berths.

Sperry made the grade the hard way, winning in the last three seconds over Melvin, 47-45, on a basket by Martha McLaughlin.

Hansell had an easier time downing Guthrie Center, 45-40. Hansell went in front early and stayed there. Joyce Bennett, Guthrie Center, and Alberta Van Dyke, Hansell, highlighted the slow moving contest with a scoring duel. Van Dyke tossed in 26 points; Bennett 25.

Deep River, held even for three quarters, broke loose in the final period to whip Sloan 53-42. Sensational Ruth Badger rammed in 23 baskets and a free throw for Deep River to equal the 47 point total recorded by Norma Schulte of Monona in another first round game Tuesday.

Winterset and Lowden fought a listless, one-sided contest. Winterset moved into a six-point lead in the first quarter and held a fairly safe margin all the way, winning 61-48.

Sperry, rated as the top team in the Southeast, boosted its record for the season to 25 straight wins. Trailing most of the game, Sperry rallied late in the fourth quarter. The two teams traded baskets in the closing minutes but the unbeaten Sperry club remained that way as McLaughlin pushed in the clincher.

Hansell went in front early in its game with Guthrie Center and went on to hold a nine point lead with three minutes to go, but Guthrie Center clipped that to three points, 43-40, before Van Dyke led the contest with her last basket.

Deep River turned down 17 and Sloan 23 free shots to gamble for goals as the two teams matched point for point in the first three periods. Deep River's defenses suddenly stiffened at the start of the final quarter to hold their opponents scoreless in the last eight minutes.

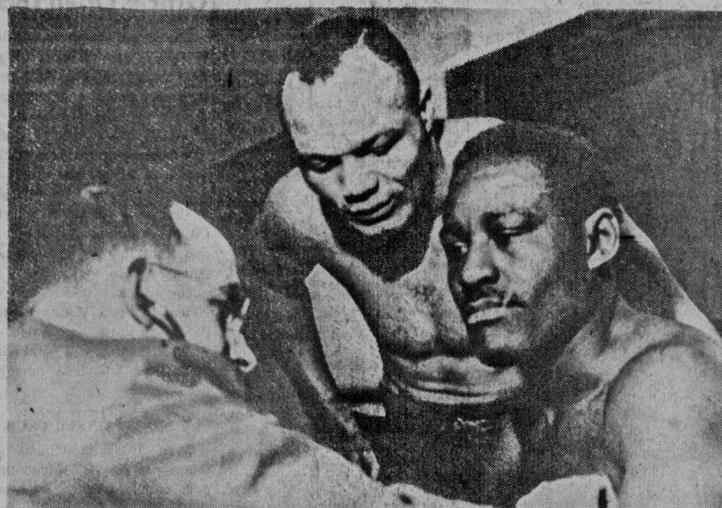

The Winterset girls kept a steady hammering at the basket in their 71-49 win over Lowden. The win kept Winterset's record unblemished with 22 consecutive victories.

Either Deep River or Winterset will fall out of the undefeated ranks in the quarter-finals as the two teams meet each other in the final game of that division. Other pairings put Churdan against strong Monona, Moravia against Steamboat Rock, Sperry will meet Hansell.

Garden May Cancel Basketball

NEW YORK (AP)—Madison Square Garden revealed today that it may give up its college basketball program as a result of the bribery scandals.

Executive Vice-President Ned Irish said that the board of directors of the huge 18,000-capacity arena has discussed "every phase" of the scandals, including elimination of basketball.

But he was quick to point out that no decision has been reached. The impression is that the Garden will keep basketball if it can see its way clear.

Irish, who rose from a $42-a-week sports writer to head of the Garden because of his shrewd basketball promotions, said, "We discussed the basketball situation at our regular meeting Tuesday. Nothing was decided."

"We discussed every phase of it, including the possibility that we might give up our college basketball program. We will continue to discuss it. Of course, a lot will depend upon the stands taken by the colleges themselves."

The Garden season already is over except for post-season tournaments, so far as college basketball is concerned. Two colleges accomplished that.

Long Island University cancelled its entire intercollegiate sports program after four LIU players confessed taking gambler's bribes to throw games. City College of New York canceled the last two games of its current season when Floyd Layne Tuesday night became the fourth CCNY star to confess bribe-taking.

The CCNY cancellations ended the regular Garden season.

Training Camp Briefs

VERO BEACH, FLA. (AP)—Second-baseman Jackie Robinson checked into the Brooklyn Dodgers' base Wednesday and immediately dispelled fears that his waist-line might be a problem by scaling only 205 pounds.

"I am lighter and more eager to play ball than I have been at any time since I came to the majors," Robinson said.

CLEARWATER, FLA. (AP)—Third-baseman Willie Jones signed Wednesday, leaving Pitchers Bubba Church and Milo Candini as the National League Champion Philadelphia Phillies' only unsigned players.

Rifle Teams Leave For National Meet

Both an advanced and a basic ROTC rifle team will leave this afternoon for Camp Perry national invitational indoor rifle meet scheduled for Friday and Saturday at Boonville, Mo.

The men will be firing for both team and individual honors at the match, to be held on the Kemper Military academy range.

The following men, accompanied by Capt. William B. Southwick, rifle team director and Bob Best, assistant coach, will make the trip.

Freshmen Distance Men

WHEELER AND EBERT, freshmen cinder hopefuls, have been timed in outstanding performances in time trials during indoor work-outs this spring. In a recent postal meet with the Wisconsin freshman, Wheeler grabbed first in both the mile and the two mile while Ebert winning the 880. Wheeler hails from Evanston, Illinois while Ebert is a former Iowa City high school star.

Three Small Teams Receive N.I.T. Bids; Five More Pending

NEW YORK (AP)—Three small school powers — Beloit, Dayton and Lawrence Tech—joined the National Invitation Basketball Tournament field today and the final five teams may be named by Saturday.

If all the little pieces fit into the Madison Square Garden jigsaw puzzle, Oklahoma A&M, St. Louis, La Salle, Cincinnati and either New York U. or Fordham will round out the 12-team field. Beloit (16-4), Dayton (23-4), and Lawrence Tech of Detroit (20-2) followed North Carolina State, Brigham Young, Arizona and St. John's of Brooklyn into the 14th annual N.I.T. which begins March 10 and concludes March 17.

LaSalle (21-6) and Cincinnati (15-3) are rated prime possibilities.

Oklahoma A&M (25-2), the second ranked team in the country, and St. Louis (21-6), the tenth rated quintet, are understood to be willing to compete unless they tie for the Missouri Valley Championship. That could happen if St. Louis beats the Aggies Saturday. Thus a playoff series would keep them from coming to New York.

Fordham (19-6) and NYU (11-4) wind up their seasons against each other Saturday.

The acceptances of Beloit, Dayton and Lawrence Tech were announced today by Asa Bushnell, chairman of the N.I.T.'s selection committee.

Duggan's Got the Right Idea —

One of the most promising young wrestlers on Coach Mike Howard's 1951 squad is a former Davenport star, Phil Duggan. You may not know much about him yet, but here's a bet that he'll be following in Joe Scarpello's footsteps as an all-time Hawkeye grappler.

He already has a good start, placing fourth in the National AAU tourney his senior year in high school.

So far this year the 5-foot, 7-inch who wrestles in the varsity 130-pound spot has won six matches and lost only two. The defeats were close, 2-1 and 10-8.

At the end of last season Phil was selected as the outstanding wrestler in the freshman tournament. The selection was made arbitrarily by four varsity regulars with the approval of Mike Howard.

Incidentally, Phil has some predictions of his own about the outcome of this year's tournament. "Tom Fischer of Council Bluffs will probably run away with it, although he doesn't have that 'air' about him yet concerning his chances," he commented.

Some of Duggan's outstanding accomplishments in high school include winning the Mississippi Valley titles three years in a row at 112-pounds, 118 and 123, respectively. He also beat three state champions from Illinois, two of them by falls.

He once beat a state champ seven consecutive times the year after he had won the Illini title. "I wasn't that much better than he," Phil explains. "After a couple of times he just laid down for me."

"Laying down" is one of Phil's pet peeves in wrestling. Many wrestlers, after getting beat once, seem to think they have two strikes against them when they meet the same opponent again. This defeatist complex is responsible for the losses some of the state's outstanding wrestlers suffer when they reach the state tournament.

However, you can be sure that the level-headed Phil Duggan won't be guilty of "laying down" and that he'll be doing what he can to better Iowa's wrestling fortunes in the next three years.

Wheeler, Ebert Show Promise As Freshman Track Hopelings

Track coach Francis Cretzmeyer has two freshman prospects who may greatly improve Iowa's chances in the Big Ten next year. They are Leroy Ebert, former Iowa City high sensation, and Ted Wheeler, from Evanston, Illinois. Both freshman runners consistently post respectable times in any event from the quarter mile to the six mile cross country event. Wheeler, fourth in the National Junior AAU 5,000 meter run last spring, demonstrated his distance ability last fall by capturing the annual Hawkeye cross-country turkey run.

During the indoor season, Wheeler has breezed the half-mile in 1:56 and ground out a 4:23 mile. These two marks are the lowest ever posted by a SUI freshman.

One of the best races in practice sessions this year came between Wheeler and varsity distance ace Virgil Von Ahsen. They finished a few yards apart with Wheeler in the lead for a 9:35 mark in the two mile run.

Ebert, anchor man of Iowa City's 1950 state champion two mile relay, has clicked off a 1:57.3 effort in the half-mile. The freshman flash also ran a 51. flat 440.

With such runners as Ebert and Wheeler in the line up next year, Cretzmeyer believes the Hawkeyes could field a strong distance medley relay team capable of placing in some of the major relay meets in the nation.

This year's freshman team is one of the best Cretzmeyer has had under his direction since coming to Iowa in 1948.

Fresh Bernie Lainson, Council Bluffs, has shown promise by turning in a 2 flat half-mile in a recent practice meet.

The broad jump is another event where the yearlings are strong. Loranzie Williams jumped 22 feet recently, a distance usually good for a first in the frosh meets.

The first year men plan to hold several telegraphic meets during the indoor season. Since freshmen cannot compete against each other, they hold time trials at home and compare the results with other Big Ten freshmen.

Two U.S. Favorites Lose In Pan-American Meet

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—United States' track prestige was dealt a heavy blow when two of its favorites were beaten for championships today in the rain-plagued Pan-American games.

The American sprint champion, Arthur Bragg of Baltimore, was beaten by inches in the 100 meter finals by the surprising Rafael Chacun Fortun of Cuba.

A few minutes earlier Jaime Aparicio of Colombia had captured the 400 meter hurdles, defeating the favored Don Halderman of Los Angeles.

However, the United States did rack up its fourth title of the meet on the rifle range and send a flock of its track stars nearer titles in the sprint and middle distance eliminations.

Michigan Tankers Are Final Home Foe For Iowa Swimmers

By JACK SQUIRE
Another traditional foe—Michigan—will provide the opposition here Saturday night as the Hawkeye swimmers conclude their dual meet season.

The meet—always one of the season's highlights—brings together two perennial Big Ten powers who are ending mediocre campaigns.

For the Hawkeyes, who bowed to Northwestern and beat Minnesota last weekend, Saturday's meet offers the chance to rise above the .500 mark for the season. Their current record is 3-3 in conference dual meets.

Final Meet for Seniors
It will also be the final home appearance of Captain Rusty Garst and freestylers Herb Lehman, and Bill Hark, only seniors on the squad.

Garst, beaten again in the 50 against Northwestern, has yet to shake off the cold which has hindered his efforts throughout the season.

He came back against Minnesota with an excellent 23.4 for the event but then lacked the stamina to compete in the 100. Fortunately for the Iowa cause, Dick LaBahn has taken up the slack and was the key man for the Hawks in the weekend meets. LaBahn's victories in the 100 and 200 in the 220 gave Iowa 16 points. He also competed in the 400 relay against Northwestern.

Also performing well for the Hawks was Diver Otto (Bunny) Broeder, who has captured that event in five of six meets. His lone setback was by Ohio State.

Endorsement Ad Ban Asked by Senator

ST. PAUL (AP)—A picture of basketball star George Mikan in a beer ad and a bill to give liquor inspectors power of arrest held the stage today in the Minnesota senate.

Waving the picture of the Minneapolis Lakers' professional basketball team star around, Sen. Clifford Lovgren, Alexandria, declared "This kind of promotion is sabotage to our young people."

Lovgren said "This is a good bill" and added he had no objections to including tobacco ads in the proposal.

"It's misleading for advertisements to imply that George Mikan got his muscles from drinking beer," the senator said.

Lovgren said liquor is glorified when pictured in an advertisement with a national hero or a "Man of Distinction" and appeals "to youngsters who have no fear of liquor."

Committee Picks 5 Candidates For School District Elections

Five Iowa Citizens have been chosen by the bi-partisan nominating committee to serve as candidates for three school board positions in the school district election here March 12.

In addition, the committee nominated Glenn R. Griffith to run for school district treasurer, a position he has held since 1922.

Those endorsed for three-year board terms were:

Atty. William H. Bartley, who is completing his first term on the board. An SUI graduate, Bartley is the present city attorney.

H. Kenneth Cline, manager and part-owner of the Cline Farm Equipment company. He is a for-and the American Legion.

Two present board members, Clark R. Caldwell, chairman and Chan F. Coulter, whose terms expire this year, have declined nomination for re-election.

Citizens wishing to run for school board positions and school district treasurer must file nomination papers with Charles Gähler, board secretary, by noon Friday. The papers must be signed by at least 10 qualified voters of the school district.

The bi-partisan nominating committee is comprised of eight Democrats and eight Republicans.

School board members whose terms do not expire this year are Irving Weber, Alba B. Oathout, Mrs. Kenneth Greene and Atty. Robert Osmundson.

Election Polls

All citizens wishing to vote in the school district election March 12 and who have not been listed in the permanent registration system must register by Friday in City Clerk George Dohrer's office in city hall.

Two polling places will be set up for the election:

1. Hawkeye Awning company, 29 W. College street, for voters in the first and second wards and those living outside the city limits but inside the school district west of the Iowa river.

2. Mann Auto market, 221 E. College street, for voters in the third, fourth and fifth wards, and those living outside the city limits but inside the school district east of the Iowa river.

mer chairman of the city recreation commission and served during World War II as head of the local rationing board.

Elbert E. Beaver, insurance agent. He formerly directed the war veterans guidance service at SUI and was chairman of the local 1951 Community Chest drive.

'Sweet Adeline' Composer Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Barry Armstrong, who wrote a song that set millions of Americans to warbling — whether they could sing or not — died Wednesday. The song — "Sweet Adeline."

Armstrong, 72, died at his home in the Bronx.

"Sweet Adeline" was a total flop when Armstrong first tried to sell it nearly 50 years ago. The tune was called "My Old New England Home" when Armstrong set out to sell it to Boston music publishers after writing it in 1903. For five years one publisher after another turned it down.

Then Armstrong got Richard Gerard to write some new words to it and they called it "My Rosalie, My Rosalie." But it still didn't quite click.

Then at 3 o'clock one morning they strolled past the Metropolitan Opera house and saw posters advertising the appearance of the great star, Adelina Patti.

Gerard quickly knocked out new words and "Sweet Adeline" rocketed to fame and an indestructible place in barber shop quartet harmony.

Seven Pay Total of $97.50 in Police Court

Seven people paid fines totaling $97.50 in Iowa City police court Wednesday. All but three of the fines were for violation of traffic laws.

Allen D. Lynch, A2, Des Moines, was fined $12.50 for failure to stop at a stop sign. Thomas Quigley, Cedar Rapids, drew the same fine for a similar offense.

Two men were fined for intoxication. James Rock, Van Meter hotel, drew a $27.50 penalty and Andrew Mussen, Chicago, was fined $7.50.

Mabel Y. Hora, route 7, was fined $12.50 for driving without a driver's license. Leo D. Frazier, route 1, South English, was fined $12.50 for improper passing.

A fine of $12.50 was levied against Harvey M. Miller, Kalona, on a charge of loitering.

George M. Schrieber, Cedar Rapids, forfeited a $105 bond when he failed to appear in court on a charge of reckless driving.

Lubins Appeal Suit To Iowa Supreme Court

Operators of Lubin's pharmacy, 132 S. Clinton street, Wednesday filed notice of appeal to the Iowa supreme court of the damage suit decision which awarded $8,687.15 to Leona Young, West Branch.

The sum was awarded for injuries to her heel received when a plate glass window was blown from the front of the pharmacy last May.

A motion by the defendants, for a new trial was overruled in district court Feb. 2. Defendants asked for a supreme court hearing during the May term of court.

Yesterday in Washington

JAPAN TREATY — Ambassador John Foster Dulles said Wednesday the United States is making another effort to get Russia to go along on a prompt peace settlement with Japan.

If Moscow refuses, Dulles said, the U.S. and friendly governments will make separate settlements with the Japanese.

Dulles, who is President Truman's special treaty envoy, said he has asked for an early meeting with Jacob Malik, Soviet representative at the United Nations. He added he still hopes Russia will take part.

COMMUNISTS — The Communist party lost an effort to get a court order barring the government from trying to force the party to register and file a membership list with the justice department.

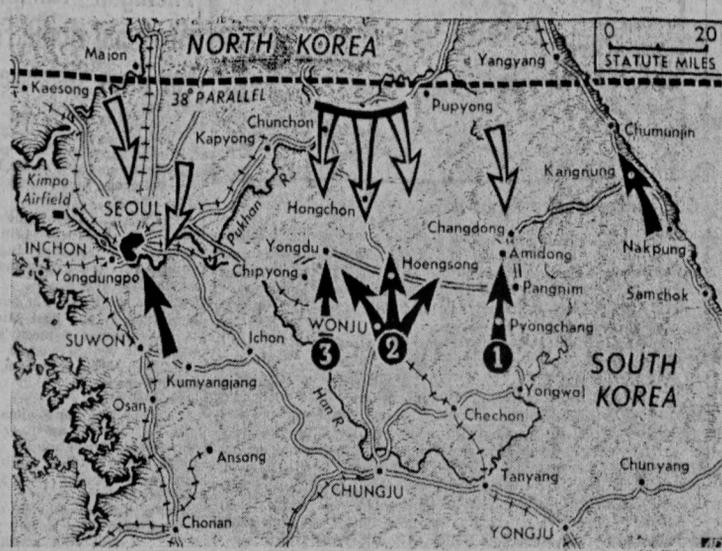

A special three-judge constitutional court unanimously turned down the party's petition for an injunction restraining enforcement of registration provisions of the 1950 internal security act. That law, sometimes called the McCarran act, requires registration by the Communist party.

Asking for an injunction, the Communist party contended the law violates the Bill of Rights and is an unconstitutional "blueprint of Fascism."

MARYLAND ELECTION — A Republican called a senate investigation of the Maryland senatorial election "silly business." Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa) replied that written charges had been filed and the senate has a constitutional duty to investigate them.

Senator Kelker (R-Iowa) urged the senate, in a speech, to halt "this whole silly business" as subcommittee members questioned a principal witness for the second day.

Allies Surge Ahead

COMMUNIST FORCES (open arrows) were speeding their defense efforts Wednesday as the Allies (solid arrows) were gaining in Central Korea. Main action was in the mountainous area (1) at east end of the front where patrols penetrated to within sign of Amidong. In Hoengsong area (2), U.S. Marines fanned out in three directions probing for Red defenders. U.S. First cavalry and Canadian Princess Pats (3) neared Yongdu. On east coast South Koreans pushed north from Kangnung.

Station Wagon Seized From Income Tax Evader

MT. VERNON (AP) — Walter Gormly, Mt. Vernon, said Wednesday federal income tax authorities have seized his station wagon because he refused to pay taxes on the ground that "the money would be used for war and the preparation of war."

The federal internal revenue bureau office at Des Moines confirmed that it will sell the station wagon at public auction March 2. Frank Halpin, acting collector of internal revenue for Iowa, said the proceeds would be applied against Gormly's unpaid taxes for 1947, 1948 and 1949.

Gormly said he first refused to pay taxes on his 1943 income and spent three years in a federal penal institution during World War II because of his "opposition to war and the conscription system."

SUI Club to Visit Alaska

Mountaineers Will Climb Mt. McKinley During Their 4-Week Summer Tour

Ever had the desire to climb a mountain, or to go to Alaska and push yourself to within an arms reach of the highest peak in North America?

Well, right here on the SUI campus there is a group of persons whose objectives are right along these lines. They are the Iowa Mountaineers, an organization of SUI students and faculty members who have one common trait—the love of exploring the highlands of this hemisphere.

Annual Trips

Each vacation since 1940 the group has packed up and taken off for open spaces on a summer expedition.

Last year they went north to Canada and got a look at the rest of the world from the peaks of the Canadian Rockies. In previous years the SUI hikers traveled to Mexico, Idaho, Wyoming, British Columbia, Wisconsin, Colorado, and California.

But this year John Ebert, president of the organization, boasts that "we're making our best trip." They are not stopping until they reach Mount McKinley National Park, Alaska, which is a long way from Iowa City.

The Mountaineers will bid good-bye to cornstalks and all that goes with Iowa on August 11 and they won't return until the second week of September. They plan to take a route through South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, and then into Canada and up through the Yukon.

This trip will be made in the club-owned bus and by train.

For the next week or so, after they set up their basecamp at the National Park, the climbers will show their stuff. It's here that they will make their climb to within a stone's throw of lofty Mount McKinley.

They will spend about a week at a high camp and then they'll start rounding up their gear. The camp will be dismantled and the Mountaineers will pile on a train for Anchorage, Alaska, head to the coast, board the passenger liner S.S. Baranoff and take in the scenery on their way to Seattle, Wash.

They will scale Mount Shuksan, Wash. and then head for home with another summer's climbing over.

Founded in 1940

The Iowa Mountaineers were founded in 1940 by a handful of students and staff of the university who had a desire to develop the sport of mountaineering at SUI. In ten years the club expanded to the point where its active membership exceeded 1,000. The group was incorporated in 1943.

Annually the club sponsors anywhere from a dozen to a dozen and a half travelogues featuring the film and narration of some established American or European traveler. These films are offered to anyone and everyone interested.

When summer rolls around the Mountaineers stage their biggest show, however, with their annual trip.

SUI Doctor's Wife Sues Ex-Landlord

Joann McMurray, 128 Westlawn park, Wednesday filed a damage suit petition in Johnson county court asking $5,400 for injuries received when she slipped on the ice last March 3.

Mrs. McMurray claims that she received a multiple fracture of her right ankle when she slipped on the ice and snow covered sidewalk in front of 1025 Keokuk street.

She and her husband, Dr. W. R. McMurray, a resident in orthopedics at SUI hospital, were living in a second floor apartment leased from the defendant, S. A. Neumann.

Mrs. McMurray claims that she was pregnant at the time of her fall, and that because of her condition, she suffered severe shock and prolonged nervous distress.

She asks $5,000 for physical and mental suffering, $100 for hospital expenses and $300 for loss of time on her job as secretary in a doctor's office.
