Scene of Injury to Iowa Citian

(Daily Iowan Photos)

Massacre Remains Found By Marines

ON THE HOENGSONG FRONT, KOREA (AP) — "It was a massacre."

Still shaken at the sight, a tough frontline marine officer thus described the burned-out remains of an Allied army convoy that was ambushed and wiped out by the Chinese three weeks ago two miles northwest of Hoengsong.

"It hit them without warning. Some of the GIs were dead in their trucks, cut down by the first shots," the officer said. "Some of the others had grabbed up machine guns to fire from the hip without tripped. We found the guns by the bodies. None of them had been wounded. "It must have been all over in a matter of minutes."

For a mile and a quarter nearly 40 American trucks and several field guns were scattered along the road.

In, under and beside them were burned and decomposed bodies. There were many dead Americans, a number of South Korean soldiers and 112 Red Chinese bodies.

Some of the dead Americans had their feet tied together and had been shot in the head.

The convoy was ambushed when American elements of the Second division were trapped north of Hoengsong after the Eighth (Republic of Korea) division fell to pieces Feb. 12 under the Chinese central front offensive that was stopped a week later.

To the marines moving up the road from Hoengsong Saturday, the sight of the smashed convoy came as a sickening surprise.

"There were bodies scattered everywhere—in the trucks, under them and on both sides of the road," said Lt. W. R. Abell, of St. Louis, Mo., one of the first officers on the scene.

"The first truck had been carrying field kitchen. Four men were in the back. They had been killed before they could begin to move."

"You could see how the Chinese had done it. On one side of the road a dike went out at almost right angles. On the other side there was a wall that served for the same purpose. The Reds had got behind these barricades and simply waited for the convoy to

Iowa Citian Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Andrew A. Chukalas, 23, Iowa City, was hospitalized with minor injuries, and five other persons escaped injury Saturday afternoon when two cars sideswiped seven miles east of Iowa City on highway 6.

Chukalas underwent surgery at Mercy hospital for lacerations on his foot and was listed in "good" condition Saturday night. He also suffered facial abrasions.

The accident occurred at about 2:15 p.m. in front of the Frank Krehlik farm home as Chukalas, driver of one of the cars, was on his way to Rock Island, Ill., with Edward M. Pratt, Rock Island.

Chukalas told highway patrolmen his car hit a patch of ice and then rammed an auto traveling toward Iowa City.

Driver of the other car was Albert Newton, West Liberty. His passengers were his wife; Howard Kingsbury, Muscatine, and Mrs. Winifred Jehle, West Liberty.

Chukalas' car traveled 75 yards and the Albert car 50 yards after the collision. Highway patrolmen estimated $600 damage to the two autos.

Chukalas is employed in Rock Island and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Chukalas, 124 1/2 Iowa avenue.

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa State Education association executive board Saturday said it was concerned over the Iowa legislature's delay in voting increased state aid to local school districts.

Archbishop Flays 18-Year-Old Draft

BOSTON (AP) — The Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, the Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, Saturday voiced wholehearted opposition to the drafting of 18-year-olds because "many will come out immoral, dishonest, irreligious, heavy drinkers, gamblers and plain 'no good'."

But the archbishop, in an article written for the Boston Sunday Advertiser, conceded "I am firmly convinced that 18-year-olds will be drafted."

He suggested to leaders of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths that they plan for pre-induction religious and moral indoctrination.

U.S. Dares Russia To Arms Count After Reds Say West Has More Men

Red Headquarters Faces Threat by Battling Marines

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. marines stabled at the Chinese Red army in its central Korean mountain lair today, driving within nine miles of the Red headquarters town of Hongchon.

The leatherneck infantry and tanks, moving north from Allied-held Hoengsong along a narrow canyon road, were running into moderate to heavy resistance.

Hongchon, headquarters of the Chinese 66th army corps, is the center of an important road network that the Reds need to mount their threatened spring offensive. It is 22 miles south of the 38th parallel.

Red Division Shattered

While the marines advanced in the center, artillery fire and bayonet-charging infantrymen of the U.S. Seventh division farther east completely shattered one North Korean Communist division Saturday.

British and South Korean troops also slashed forward with a bayonet action to gain more than a mile Saturday in the ninth corps sector, west of Hoengsong—key center position in the Allied line.

Heavy fighting also raged on the far eastern end of the line, in the wilderness five miles northwest of Pangnim.

Battle 3,000 Koreans There, U.S. Seventh division troops pulled a classic one-two punch against some 3,000 Reds of the North Korean third corps.

After the action, a Seventh division field officer declared flatly "The North Korean 15th division no longer exists as a fighting force. It is now a weak, disorganized group, incapable of putting up a real fight."

Three British warships hit Songwha on the western Korean coast, 24 miles north of the 38th parallel.

South Korean commandos also were disclosed to have made hit-run raids Feb. 28 on the west coast town of Haeju, north of the parallel.

Reds Massing

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported that Chinese Communist troops were organized "in some depth" along a 60-mile front between Seoul and Hoengsong, and that intense enemy activity had been observed behind that line.

The communiqué said the Communists had made "thorough defensive preparations" in the Seoul sector during the last several weeks, while delaying actions on the central front gave them time to replace personnel and regroup reserves.

Most of the enemy force appeared to be concentrated north of Hoengsong, MacArthur reported.

ISEA Says Schools Need Increased Aid

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa State Education association executive board Saturday said it was concerned over the Iowa legislature's delay in voting increased state aid to local school districts.

Acheson Replies to 'Rebellious' GI

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "rebellious" marine corporal who wrote that he and his friends can see "no cause to fight" in Korea has been told by Secretary of State Dean Acheson that the struggle against Red aggression is an attempt to prevent World War III.

Acheson's letter was released by the state department Saturday as part of one of the most extraordinary exchanges of correspondence in which the secretary of state has ever been involved.

The correspondence began when 24-year-old Cpl. John B. Moullette, wrote his father a bitter letter last Jan. 16 expressing the belief that the American people are "fed up with the administration and its foreign policy."

Acheson used two weeks to draw up a 1,000-word reply to Moullette's father who had asked him to answer the boy. Summed up, it was: "There are many terrible heartbreaks in this course of action, but there is no easier way to peace."

At Camp Pendleton, Calif., young Moullette said that Acheson's letter convinced him that the United States has to fight in Korea. He said it came as "a complete surprise" to him. "Acheson's letter has convinced me and I'd like it to get across to all those people who don't think so."

Marines Observe Next Target

READY FOR ANOTHER HILL, these Marines used a vantage point atop a hill they had just captured on the central Korean front a week ago. From this point they surveyed enemy positions on the next objective. The leathernecks climaxed their hill-sweeping job Saturday by capturing Hoengsong and surrounding enemy hill positions.

Winter Returns to Iowa To Ruin, Kill and Chill

Winter weather was scheduled to return to Iowa City today with the mercury hovering between 15 and 20 degrees, reaching its highest point at nightfall.

Saturday's temperatures reached a high of 42 at 6 a.m., but tumbled to a low of 22 late last night. The 40-mile-an-hour gusts which whipped through Iowa City Saturday were scheduled to stay wherever they had gone, leaving the city tranquil today.

Meanwhile ice storms had isolated 12 southeastern Iowa towns and nearly 200 long distance telephone lines in the state were knocked out.

Six deaths in Iowa, caused by over-exertion, fires and traffic accidents, were attributed to the bad weather.

In the cold northwest corner of Iowa, 35-mile-an-hour winds were filling the highways with snow as rapidly as the big plows could open them.

While part of the midwest was digging itself out of the eight-foot drifts, the south was basking in balmy weather which had penetrated as far north as Chicago where the mercury rose to 59 before the cold wave started to move in.

The two have had several meetings for that purpose and Dulles said in Washington Feb. 28 he expected them to continue.

Denies Shooting in East Germany

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) — American soldiers killed two men of the militarized East German Communist people's police in a gunfight near the East-West German border Friday night.

U.S. army headquarters denied Russian press reports that the shooting occurred in Soviet-occupied East German territory.

"The incident happened on the U.S. side of the border," said a terse army announcement.

NEW YORK (AP) — Independent slaughterers of New York City announced Saturday they will cut their meat production by 50 percent next week because of a rise in uncontrolled livestock prices.

Will Sacrifice Part Of Nation's Defense For World Security

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States Saturday offered again to let the United Nations count its armed forces and non-atomic weapons and dared Russia to do the same.

Such an independent census, the U.S. said, would settle once and for all whether Russia or the Western powers had the biggest military establishment.

Renewal of the offer was occasioned by Russia's note to Britain last week charging the Western powers had twice as many men under arms as the Soviet Union.

It was made in a statement by Frank C. Nash, deputy U.S. representative on the UN commission for conventional (non-atomic) armaments and onetime assistant to former defense secretary James V. Forrestal.

Nash said the U.S. is ready to start work on the count Monday if the Soviet government will agree. "Willing to Give Security."

He told reporters the offer is not propaganda and was made after full consultations with military leaders. Nash quoted Gen. Omar N. Bradley as saying America is willing to "give up a chunk of its national security to obtain a measure of international security."

The U.S., Nash said, probably will try to get plans for a UN supervised military census on the agenda for the proposed Big Four foreign minister's conference.

To Stress Man Count Russia has rejected all previous demands for such a count. One of the reasons given was the U.S. refused to include a tally of atomic weapons.

He said the U.S. placed particular stress on a count of the number of men under arms because of Russia's claim that she has only 2.5-million soldiers and sailors, compared with 5-million for the Western powers.

Reds Hint Surprise At Paris Meeting

PARIS (AP) — Western diplomats speculated Saturday that Russia may suggest a peace pact with Communist China and a peace treaty with Germany at Monday's Big Four deputies conference.

Aware the Soviets nearly always stage surprises at international gatherings, they think that Paris may be no exception.

The "World Council of Peace," which met recently in Berlin, urged the four great powers to make peace with China, and in Paris Saturday the politburo of the French Communist party came out for the same thing.

In a communique, the French politburo said that a peace treaty with a "unified, de-Nazified and de-militarized Germany" should be a principal piece of business for the deputies of the foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, France and Britain.

The deputies are supposed to arrange an agenda for a later conference of Big Four foreign ministers in Washington.

For the Record

No Apologies for Ella, Fran and George

By JOHN VOORHEES

Perhaps we're heading for a musical binge of penitence, or else it's a manifestation of that American fear of hurting someone's feelings; whatever it is, one of the songs record companies are pushing these days is "I Apologize." There's no need, however, for with better than average lyrics and melody, it's been done very well by Tony Martin, Billy Eckstine, Anita O'Day, the Hollywood Hucklesters (including Benny Goodman and Charlie Shavers), and Champ Butler.

Chimp does a very tortured version and it's easy to see why he should apologize if you flip the record. The other side carries a song that I feel safe in predicting will not become popular except at Sing Sing or Fort Leavenworth. Called "There'll Be Mourning in the Morning," it's a song to be sung on the way to the gallows and the lyrics include wailing women and the staunch chaplain. They'll record anything these days and it won't be surprising if someone comes up with "I Murdered My Mudder" in time for Mother's day. (Think what fun Durante would have with that alliteration!)

Another odd American mental quirk is the desire to play pop songs like marches during peace time (witness "Stormy Weather March," "St. Louis Blues March," and "Blues in The Night March") and then to swing marches in war time. Last year it was "Stars and Stripes Forever" by Flanagan; now it is "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," first done by Ray Anthony for Capitol, and now by Les Brown on Columbia.

The reverse of Brown's has Butch Stone singing the culinary praises of some delicacy called "Choy-Choy-Hoy-Toy, Ch' Boon Ch' Bem." I gathered it has something to do with the Chinese (Nationalist, naturally), but I'm sure it would be just as confusing and distasteful to them. I wonder if Butch eats this with "Fim Fram Sauce."

Woody Herman should apologize for his latest offering, "Jet" and "Lonesome Gal." Woody, who has recorded at various times for Coral, Decca, Columbia, and Capitol, has now switched to MGM. This record proves we can now truthfully label him "Herman and the Herd" for he has definitely joined it (the common one, that is), and there's nothing distinctive or reminiscent of the old Herman band about this disc.

"Jet," in no way connected with airplanes, was written by Harry Revel to promote a new perfume. Now with lyrics added, it's also been done by King Cole who seems to have discarded the Trio somewhere along the way and is doing vocals with the Les Baxter orchestra and chorus these days.

The "King" proves he's keeping up with the rocket age in his newest release, "Destination Moon," which includes sound effects. It may also become known as the "Disc with the Built-in Swoosh." King Cole handles it in his pleasant, bouncy manner, however, and it's far superior to the reverse, "Always You," another of those adaptations from the classics. This time it's Tchaikovsky's "Romance," and with Peter I a national hero, the Russians may demand an apology through the UN for a desecration like this.

No apologies are needed for Ella Fitzgerald whose new Decca album, "Ella Sings Gershwin," is one of the best things to arrive in the music stores in a long time. The songs are excellent, and in choosing things like "But Not For Me," "I've Got A Crush On You," "My One and Only," "Maybe," and "Someone to Watch Over Me," Ella gets a chance to display, to the best advantage, not only her talents but the Ira Gershwin, for their songs superior abilities of George and make most present day tunes sound like singing commercials by comparison.

As if this wasn't enough, Decca has foregone the usual temptation to soul things up by forcing Ella to sing with Louie Armstrong, the Ink Spots, or Mills Brothers, and provided her with only a piano for backing. Capturing exactly the right piano moods, Ellis Larkin gives her a capable and intimate setting for each song. All in all, it's quite an exceptional piece of recording.

Not quite on the same level, but needing no apologies, are the six sides Fran Warren has done in the Victor vocal series. All by Harold Arlen, who, though he's no Gershwin, manages to turn out some pretty acceptable stuff, the songs are tenderly treated by Hugo Winterhalter. Fran's best are "Stormy Weather," "I've Got A Right To Sing The Blues," "Over The Rainbow," and "One For My Baby." With discs like these, Fran won't need to record "I Apologize."

Power by Student Government Will Have to Be Won

An Editorial

Some real pretty speeches were made in Old Capitol Thursday night. There also were some meaningless speeches—filled with hollow and cliché-laden expressions, but the meeting as a whole left us with a feeling that our generation isn't as near the dogs as many of our elders contend.

Most of the individuals who offered their views and suggestions reflected a maturity in thinking which we feel speaks well for the present college generation.

This meeting, the second in a series, was planned to give students an opportunity to sound off on what they think student government should be and do at SUL. But the get-together resulted in little more than a conglomeration of opinions and suggestions—nothing definite was planned.

Most of the discussion had to do with the possibility of creating a super-body of some sort—super in the sense that it would be above the other student organizations on campus.

Much of the discussion also had to do with the word "power." How much power should the new super-body have? What is meant by power in this case? Power with the administration? Power over the other organizations?

Power! There's a word which, oddly enough, might bring nothing but impotence to a student government of any kind unless a very calculated and practical approach to the question of power is taken by the members of the government.

The university, the administration and the faculty are here to serve the students—not to be served by the students. But inherent in the obligation to serve is the power to lay down rules and regulations which appear necessary to the servers for the students to benefit from the service.

Students are not educators; they are here to be educated. And the parents of students probably would side with the educators (who are serving the parents just as are legislators) in cases where the educators' efforts stood to suffer from the students' desires.

This is not to say the students should have no voice, because in some cases they have legitimate gripes in matters of considerable significance. And sometimes their gripes probably reflect attitudes which might be those of the parents, too.

A case in point was the request by the students, through the student council, for an additional day at the end of the Christmas vacation—which was denied.

We feel safe in saying that parents disapprove as much as students of their sons and daughters having to leave home on New Year's day. And in this case we feel the parents would have sided with the students against the persons they pay to educate their sons and daughters.

But what this all adds up to is that members of any student government (whatever it's called) should exercise mature wisdom in deciding to exert any power.

We say this because we believe the desire for a new type of government stems from the desire for a stronger and more representative type of government.

Strength in such a body will have to be built up over a period of time. And strength will come as a sanction—a sanction which will be given by the administration after the student governing body has proved its wisdom, maturity and responsibility.

And we feel the parents would stand behind the administration in demanding these qualities in return for strength.

Someone suggested at Thursday's meeting that the group should decide in what realm the proposed governing body would have or seek power.

We disagree. Abuses might crop up at any level of our educational set-up here. Students might have legitimate gripes at any level—from sidewalks not being sanded in the winter to inadequacies on the parts of certain faculty members.

And if any of these gripes is found by the student government to be well-founded, there should be no hesitation in presenting the complaint to the administration—with demands that remedial action be taken.

But we feel the important thing to be remembered during this planning stage is that power should be attempted only when the governing body knows it has the right to make a demand.

When any government, federal, state or city, passes a law which is unenforceable, it meets defeat on that specific issue and reveals a weakness for all to see.

If any student government runs to the administration, shouting demands, every time a problem arises, that government, too, will meet defeat.

And frequent defeats will bring weakness—not power.

Modernized Dress For Catholic Bible Has Family Appeal

CHICAGO (AP) — A young priest has brought out one of the oldest printed books — the Bible — in colorful modern dress.

His aim was to make the volume as eye-catching and easy to read as 1951 style newspapers and pictorial magazines.

The result is the new Holy Family edition of the Roman Catholic Bible.

The publishers wanted an attractive book. What they got, in their words, was "the first Catholic Bible in many decades that escapes the somber, forbidding appearance so typical of most editions of the scriptures."

The priest who bossed the thorough-going transformation task is strapping, sandy-haired Father John P. O'Connell, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, head of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Chicago, assigned him to the editor's job in 1948.

Father O'Connell, then only 31, was assistant pastor at the Immaculate Conception church in suburban Highland Park and taught biblical subjects at Barat college in Lake Forest.

The youthful priest moved into an office, took off his coat and went to work. He labored, usually six days a week, for two and a half years.

"Up to 30 years ago every family had a Bible," Father O'Connell says. "It was a fixture in the furnishings of every home. But it was somber in appearance and funeral in tone."

Father O'Connell's mission, as he saw it, was to put the Good Book back in its once-honored place in the parlor.

"We wanted a Bible for family reading," he says. "We wanted one every member could read and understand."

So he took the best available Catholic translation of the scriptures and set out to present them in a popular form.

There is no change in the text, but there is a radical change in format, typography and illustration.

The text is printed in large-size type. Biblical verses are grouped into paragraphs. Each paragraph has a subhead.

Many of the biblical episodes — such as the stories of Moses or David or the crucifixion — take the form of picture stories — sequences of colored paintings. They are presented in rich hues. Each has a caption explaining the action portrayed.

The paintings — 335 in all — were selected from the works of James Joseph Jacques Tissot, nineteenth century French artist, who made a pilgrimage to the Holy Land to obtain realistic detail. Father O'Connell and his advisors fancied his paintings because they seemed to have an "archaeological accuracy" and a photographic quality.

The Tissot pictures were photographed in color. Full color plates were made and the captions set in type. Editor O'Connell says the cost of reproduction, added up to about $200,000.

War-time techniques of newspapers and news magazines were used in drafting the 43 two-color pictorial maps. They not only show the geographic features — towns, countries and seas — but also the travels of the chief characters.

Besides the old and new testaments, the book contains a 300,000 word dictionary of biblical and general Catholic information. The ready reference material ranges from data about Adam to the church's attitude toward such down-to-date social problems as "mercy killing," sex education and divorce.

The single, six-pound volume runs 1,732 pages. It bears the imprimatur of Cardinal Stritch. It is published by the Catholic Press, Inc., of 153 N. Michigan avenue, Chicago. The price is $27.95 a copy.

Reuther Requests Price Roll Backs

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the million-member UAW United Auto Workers, has said that his union wants a reduction in the cost of living, and "is prepared to accept a corresponding roll back in wages."

Most UAW members are protected by cost-of-living escalator clauses which boost their pay whenever prices increase. Their wages were expected to go up another five cents an hour on the basis of the latest bureau of labor statistics figures released Friday.

Reuther wrote a letter to Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont.), chairman of the senate labor committee, and asked him to hold public hearings "on the problem of inflation and its relationship to defense mobilization."

He said, "The real answer to the problem of inflation is to roll back the cost of living and freeze it through the institution of effective price controls."

Florida Proposes New 'Retirement Villages'

TALLAHASSEE, FLA. (AP) — Florida is hoping to give thousands of America's pensioned workers an inexpensive place in the sun.

Gov. Fuller Warren and the state improvement commission are working out plans for "retirement villages." These would be privately financed communities of dormitories and small homes especially built to meet the needs of the aged.

Improvement Commission Director Walter Keyes points out that industrial pension plans are just beginning to benefit large numbers of retired workers. That creates a new class of unemployed but income-drawing citizens.

These incomes aren't very big, though. They average around $125 a month. So a definite danger to Florida exists if thousands of elderly and not very well off pensioners flock to the state — as they're confidently expected to do — to spend their last years in the sunshine.

If they have to spend $50, $60 or $70 a month for rent, it would leave very little for other living expenses. That would mean a tremendous added burden on Florida's welfare rolls once the oldsters had been in the state long enough to establish residence.

The state wants to see dwelling places provided which would rent for as little as $19 a month, not including utilities. Warren and the improvement commission envision communities of about 1,000 family units each.

The state itself would not build or control such settlements. It merely offers the benefit of special research and suggests an investment of $6-million in one of the settlements could draw 2-1/2 percent interest and be repaid in 40 years at rentals of $19 a month. The state hopes large industries with big retirement funds will adopt the plan. Keyes said engineers for at least one internationally known concern are in the state making studies which may lead to establishment of such a community.

PLANS CIVIL DEFENSE
KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — The government of the Federation of Malaya is planning to train 30,000 to 40,000 young men for home guard duties. G. W. Somerville, the Federation's civil defense chief, has been named home guard commissioner. Somerville said the country's civil defense plans were well under way. He said a call for home guard volunteers would be issued as soon as questions of service and pay were settled.

Hawks' Fast Break Tips M.S.C., 65-52

Calsbeek Leads Team With 17-Point Total

By ROBERT DUNCAN
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

EAST LANSING, MICH. — Iowa ran, Michigan State walked and coach Pete Newell chewed his towel here Saturday night as the Hawkeyes used a second half spurt to beat the Spartans, 65-52.

Newell, who chews the towel as a nervous reaction, had plenty of cause for it Saturday night as his slower moving Spartans were left far down court by the fast breaking Hawkeyes.

Trailed at Half Time
Even with the fast break springing men open for close-in shots, the Hawks trailed at half time, 21-16, and it looked for a while as if their errors of omission and commission were going to catch up with them.

The combination of Iowa's win and Wisconsin's loss at the hands of Purdue boosted the Hawkeyes into third-place. The Hawks have an 8-5 record against fourth-place Wisconsin's 7-6 mark.

The Hawks couldn't shoot, pass, dribble or rebound for pass, dribble or rebound for the whole first half. While Iowa was mired in this slump, Michigan State was methodically building up a lead with a calculated style of play.

But the Spartans couldn't amass a big enough cushion to protect themselves against the second half thrust of the Hawkeyes. Where Iowa had missed shot after shot in the first half, they started hitting with regularity in the second period.

Coach Rollie Wilfams outlined a plan of offense and defense for the Hawks, which after one half of testing started clicking. The defense consisted of checking the Spartans just past the time line and holding them out there as far as possible.

Offense Fast
The offense was simply to fast break everytime the Hawks got possession of the ball. And fast break they did, oftentimes leaving Michigan State wondering a little over six thousand fans resisted the temptation of two high school basketball tournaments in the city to watch Iowa strengthen its bid for a clear claim to third place in the Big Ten.

The Badgers play Indiana Monday night while the Hawks meet Michigan at Ann Arbor.
If the Hawks do end up in highest finish for a Williams coached team in 15 years at Iowa.

Frank Calsbeek, playing his next to the last game in Iowa colors, led the Hawks with 17 points on seven field goals and three free throws. Calsbeek led the scorers but it was again aggressive Ev Cochrane who gave the Hawks the idea that the basket didn't have a lid on it after all.

The Des Moines player looped in 15 points, most of them coming on his one-handed push shot from the side. He was the one who started the big second half push and Calsbeek was the one who kept it going.

Chuck Darling got 13 points to fall three points behind Calsbeek in the Big Ten scoring race. Surprising enough, Calsbeek didn't get any of his 17 points on the book shot which has been his trademark for three years. Most of them were gathered on tip-ins, lay-ups and push shots.

The game started out as if to set a modern record for low scoring. After half the first period had been played, the teams had scored a combined total of 15 points, 10 of which belonged to Michigan State.

After that, the teams hit at an equal but slow rate for the rest of the half.

Then Iowa started its second half flurry that left Michigan State far behind. The Hawkeyes are scheduled to leave East Lansing at 2:30 this afternoon for Ann Arbor. The team will return to Iowa City immediately after the Monday night Michigan game.

Hawk Swimmers Win 43-38 Victory Over Michigan U Here

By JACK SQUIRE

Michigan's swimming team found the fieldhouse pool the same old unlucky place Saturday as the Hawkeyes concluded their dual meet season with a 43-38 victory. Just as in their last appearance here two years ago, the Wolverines were denied the win by disqualification in one of the relays.

This time it was a missed turn by backstroke Bernie Kahn in the 300-yard medley relay that upset the apple cart and gave Iowa its second win the 16 meet series.

Kahn's Error
Were it not for Kahn's error in an event which Michigan had seemingly won with ease, the final score would have been 44-40 in favor of the visitors.

As it was, Iowa could not claim the victory until the last event of the evening, the 400 relay.

Leading by only one point as the relay came up, the Hawkeye quartet of Koo Mana, Dick LaBahn, Wally Nicholson, and Rusty Garst left no doubt of their intentions as they blazed to a new pool and SUI record of 3:28.7.

Highlight of the relay was the effort of LaBahn who turned in a spectacular 51 for his 100. LaBahn had previously come through with a first in the 220 and a second to Garst in the 100.

Garst, as usual, was a key man for the Hawks, picking up 10 points in winning the 50 and 100. The Iowa captain recorded a 51.9 in the latter race, his best mark of the year.

Hawk Sprinters
The achievements of the Iowa sprinters in building up a 32-10 lead after five events provided the crowd a false sense of security for once Michigan's backstrokers, breaststrokers, and distance men were to go to work, the huge margin was to dwindle to 35-34.

Led by Kahn, John Davies and Wally Jeffries, the Wolves took the first two spots in the 200 breast and backstroke and the 400 free style.

DiMaggio Says He May Retire at Season's End

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (AP) — Joe DiMaggio broke the calm of the New York Yankees spring training camp Saturday by saying this may be his last season in the lineup.

The statement in an interview came as a sharp surprise to the club management.

The great centerfielder who draws $100,000 a year, tempered his announcement by adding: "That's the way I feel now. Maybe I'll feel different later on."

"I'd like to hang up my spikes while I'm on top," he said. "I don't intend to stay in baseball when I do quit. I'm not interested in managing or coaching. I have many offers to go into other lines of business when I'm through as a player."

DiMag, who was 36 last November and has been with the Yankees since 1936, is a proud man. He doesn't want people feeling sorry for him at the end of his baseball days, as they have for many others who didn't know when to quit.

Manager Casey Stengel was equally surprised.
"What do you want me to do, get a gun and keep him playing?" He said to reporters.
"The man has a right to do as he pleases. After all, I don't own him. The club does and it's for them to settle with him. All I know is that I hope he has a wonderful year and will be back. I'm not looking for a center fielder right now."

Iowa Fencers Lose Twice in Chicago

CHICAGO — The Iowa fencing team won only one of six bouts as they suffered a double-defeat at the hands of Chicago and Ohio State here Saturday.

Ohio State swamped the Hawkeyes 19-8, winning all three weapon classes. The Buckeyes won the foil 5-4, and both the epee and sabre by identical 7-2 scores.

Iowa gave Chicago more of a battle before losing 16-11. The Maroons took the foil and sabre from Iowa by 6-3 scores before the Hawks won their only bout of the meet, 5-4, in the epee.

In the triple dual meet, Ohio State also whipped Chicago 15-12.

Iowa Finishes Sixth In Big 10 Wrestling; Paulsen Loses Final

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

EVANSTON, ILL. — Joe Paulsen, the lone Iowa entrant in the Big Ten wrestling finals here Saturday, was pinned in one minute flat by Bill Miller of Ohio State.

The Iowa squad finished sixth, tied with Wisconsin, each team earning eight points. Ohio State rolled up 26 points to replace Purdue as conference champs.

Scores Quick Take
Miller, the Buckeyes' 240-pound heavyweight, won the championship for the second straight year and added to the strength that gave Ohio State the team title.

The Iowa heavyweight was the victim of a near-fluke pin when Miller scored a quick take-down in the first period. The force of Miller falling on Paulsen caused Joe to flip out his arm.

Miller took the advantage grabbing Paulsen's arm and had a pin before Joe even knew he was on the mat.

Five Iowans had advanced into the semi-finals, but only Paulsen was able to move to the finals.

Joe had a string of nine straight dual meet wins as background for a title bid, but the Iowa heavyweight had been hampered recently by injuries. He missed the Purdue meet on Monday because of a bad shoulder.

Lost In Semi-Finals
Iowa's Manuel Macias, Phil Duggan, Ray Steiger and Ralph Thomas had all lost their semi-final bouts on Friday night.

Bill Buckingham of Michigan State decisively defeated Macias, 5-4. Duggan, one of the Hawks most consistent winners, lost his match in the semi-finals to Michigan's Jack Gallon.

Defending champion Chuck Farina of Purdue beat the Hawks' 147-pounder, Ray Steiger, 3-0. Bill Stopp of Michigan pinned Thomas in the 157-pound class.

Ohio State Wins Wrestling Honors
EVANSTON, ILL. — Ohio State Saturday won its first Big 10 wrestling crown, ending Purdue's three-year reign.

Ohio State took two individual crowns and racked up 26 team points at Northwestern's Patten gym.

Michigan was second with 20 points and one champion. Michigan State, a Big 10 newcomer, followed with 19 points and two champions.

Buckeye Bill Miller, voted by coaches the outstanding wrestler of the tourney, successfully defended his heavyweight crown by pinning Iowa's Joe Paulsen with a cradle in 1:00.

Bryce Keough, 147-pound runner-up last season and champion in 1949, gave OSU its second victory. Keough nosed out defending champion Jack Moreno of Purdue, 1 to 0.

The Bucks added two second places, a third place, and a fourth.

Ron Lay, 137-pounder, lost to last year's champ Chuck Farina, Purdue, in the finals, 3 to 2, and 167-pounder Fred McLean bowed to Michigan State's George Bender, 5 to 2.

Larry Nelson captured the 123-pound title for Michigan by edging Michigan State's Bill Buckingham 3 to 1. Dick Pickard, Illinois, turned the tables on another Wolverine, Jack Gallon, to win the 138-pound division, 5 to 3.

Michigan State's Gene Gibbons defeated Marty Schwartz, Illinois, 3 to 2, to become the new 175-pound champ.

Team points: Ohio State 26, Michigan 20, Michigan State 19, Illinois 16, Purdue 11, Iowa 8, Wisconsin 8, Minnesota 6, Northwestern 5, Indiana 0.

Hansell Wins Girls Meet, 70-59

(From the Wire Service)
DES MOINES — Pointy-happy Hansell, the comeback team of the 1951 tournament, won the Iowa High School Girls Basketball title Saturday night, trouncing Monona, 70-59.

Hansell, champion in 1940, and making its seventh appearance in a title meet, ran away from the Monona lassies after overcoming an 18-8 early Monona lead.

The new champ, paced by Alberta Van Dyke, who missed a new tournament scoring record last five minutes and 45 seconds. She missed a short shot that would have broken the record, with 17 seconds left.

Norma Schoutle, the 6-4 Monona star who went into the game with 108 points, got 29 to boost her four-game total of 137.

But the tall girl was held in check by the tight guarding of Evelyn Rust and Helen Wilkinson. Evelyn Rust had virtually clinched the title with a dazzling third quarter burst that hoisted the score to 58-42 at the start of the fourth session.

Deep River took a 34-28 half-time lead and once held an eight-point third quarter margin before Catherine Kolthoff sparked the Steamboat Rock team to a 44-40 lead. The victors never trailed again.

It was a double disappointment for Deep River fans. Ruth Bauger, Deep River scoring ace, missed in her bid for a new tournament scoring record. She hit 25 points for a four-game total of 139, three short of the mark set in 1949 by Arlys Van Langen of Kamrar.

Both Illini, Indiana Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Powerful Illinois clinched a Big 10 basketball title Saturday night with an 80-76 verdict over stubborn Northwestern as the Wildcats' Ray Regalis set an all-time season scoring record before a capacity 18,000 at the Chicago stadium.

The Illini have a 12-1 league record with only Michigan State to face Monday night. Second place Indiana defeated Michigan, 57-52, Saturday night. The Hoosiers, with an 11-2 record, close against Wisconsin Monday.

With Don Sunderlage and Ted Beach hitting with deadly accuracy, Illinois put the game away with a surge late in the first half after being tied 16-16 with eight minutes gone.

Regalis closed Northwestern's 14-game loop campaign with 14 points, giving him 277 for the season. That topped the previous modern conference season record of 272 points by Iowa's Murray Wier over 12 games in 1948.

The Wildcats closed the season with a 7-7 record.

Purdue Comes Back To Whip Wisconsin

MADISON, WIS. (AP) — After leading most of the way, Purdue had enough left for a last minute spurt which overcame a brief Wisconsin lead and gave the Boiler-makers a 64-61 Big 10 basketball victory Saturday night.

Purdue was tied several times but never was behind until reserve Wisconsin Forward Pete Henderson dropped one in to make it 55-54 for the Badgers with six minutes to go. The Boiler-makers came back with a bucket but Anderson made two more for a 59-56 Wisconsin lead.

Then Purdue turned on the heat, made eight quick points and effectively stalled out the remaining three odd minutes to close its season with four victories in 14 Big 10 starts.

Candidates Ask for 'Representative' Council

(This is the second in a series of articles explaining the platforms of Student Council candidates in the all-campus elections, March 14.)

To return representation as a function of the Student Council is a part of the platforms of Marian Guy, A3, Aledo, Ill., and Bill Skaife, A2, Dubuque, candidates for delegate-at-large to the student council.

Miss Guy, a history major, said, "There is no reason why the student council could not be a more effective governing body." She proposes several ways in which this could be accomplished.

Wants Community Conference
She asks for a community conference composed of representatives of students, faculty and administration, and a student voice on the calendar committee.

She added that the omission of students on the Code of Student Life committee shows a lack of respect for the council.

Miss Guy uses the book exchange as an example of what can be accomplished by student-faculty cooperation, and would like to see a temporary building reserved for the exchange.

Miss Guy's Activities
She is a member of the freshman council of the University Women's association, the orientation council, the vocational conference council, and is president of Pi Beta Phi social sorority.

Skaife said that his main reason for seeking office is "to help make the council truly a representative body in an effort to guard students' rights." He lists the council's obligations as two-fold, to investigate, and, if necessary, to take action.

MARIAN GUY

Skaife's Platform
He says that investigations should be made into such student problems as "parking, faculty meddling in activities such as campus committees and The Daily Iowan, the controversy over Frivol, and seating arrangements at athletic events." If some injustice should be found, he calls for the council to exert its weight and to organize the student body.

Skaife feels that due to lack of leadership, the council has become a figurehead, "concentrating on such relatively unimportant matters as orientation and Panacea, while ignoring important student problems."

He is a member of the University singing committee, varsity band and is active in oratory competition. He appeared in the Panacea show and was master of ceremonies for the Dolphin show.

Lawmakers Return to Legislature

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa's lawmakers return Monday to do the job they were sent down here Jan. 8 to do.

That is to make the appropriations necessary to operate the state government and its various agencies for the next biennium. This must be done before the 1951 legislature adjourns for good.

The lawmakers spent the first seven weeks of the current session going through the preliminaries, passing a number of important bills, and working up the appropriations measures. Then they took the usual 10-day spring recess.

Work Farmed Out
It usually takes several weeks to get the appropriations bills in shape for action on the senate and house floors. This work is farmed out to subcommittees which deal with group appropriations — such as those for the board of control institutions, board of education institutions, and state departments.

Corresponding subcommittees of the house and senate work jointly on their projects. They hold numerous hearings of interested persons. Once a subcommittee comes up with a proposal, it usually is accepted by the senate and house appropriations committees and placed on the calendars for debate.

The house has made the most progress on the "must" appropriations. It has passed a bill to provide funds for operating the state highway commission and maintenance of the primary road system in the next two years.

It has on its calendar a measure to appropriate funds with which to operate the 14 institutions under the jurisdiction of the board of control for the next biennium.

The senate has not taken action on any of the big money bills and has none on its calendar yet.

Education Appropriations
A wrangle over board of education institution appropriations is reported holding up the work of the joint subcommittee on funds for those agencies. The group which is handling state department appropriations is about ready to report to the respective appropriations committees.

Sandwiched in with work on appropriations bill is expected to be completion of legislation on a number of the municipal code study committee recommendations and some of the Little Hoover governmental reorganization commission proposals.
For the most part committee work has been completed for the session.

In the house, a steering committee will take charge of the calendar beginning Monday. Committees will continue to operate, but for only a couple of weeks, when a sifting committee will take over all bills except those in the appropriations and two or three other committees.

To Sift Measures
In the senate, a sifting committee is expected to take charge soon of all measures except those in the appropriations and a couple of other committees. These things follow the usual legislative procedure.

Legislative sessions usually last about 100 legislative days. This legislature has been in session nearly 40 days. How long it lasts will depend largely upon how soon the "must" appropriations bills are passed.

TROOPS-TO-EUROPE—A bipartisan revolt within the senate foreign relations and armed services committees threatened Saturday to force changes in the administration's troops-to-Europe resolution.

Senator Walter George (D-Ga) told a reporter he is not satisfied with a proposal by Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex) and Senator Richard Russell (D-Ga) of the combined committees to put the senate on record as favoring American foot soldier contributions to the North Atlantic defense force.

COTTON PRICES—The government Saturday fixed ceiling prices for raw cotton based on 45.76 cents a pound in an effort to get a resumption of trade in the commodity without fresh rises in the cost of cotton goods.

The figure is a basic price which may vary slightly in different sections. It is one of the highest levels for cotton in history. Spot cotton was about 45 cents a pound when the markets suspended on Jan. 26 after price controls were announced.

Stepfather Arrested After Stabbing Son Who Protected Mom

NEW YORK (AP)—A Hungarian-born artist, arrested wearing a woman's beige sports coat, was charged with homicide Saturday in the fatal stabbing of his military cadet stepson.

The tragedy occurred in the bizarre Park avenue apartment of the artist, Laszlo Pinter, 40, during a quarrel with his estranged wife, Christine, 40, over money matters.

She was slightly wounded in the neck and ear. The stepson, MRS. PINTER Leonard Aller Fleming, 17, tried to shield his mother as Pinter menaced her with a knife — one of three kept in a crocodile-head sheath.

The knife flashed.

The youth stumbled down the stairs, clutching his abdomen, and died in a nearby doorway. Bloodstains covered the uniform he wore as a student of Oakland Military academy at Oakland, N.J.

The stepfather, barefoot, clad in trousers and undershirt, fled from the apartment.

He went to the home of a friend, Mrs. F. Grassi, 35, also an artist, and borrowed the coat and a paint-stained pair of shoes.

Police learned this and broadcast a description.

Patrolman James Mann spotted Laszlo in the woman's coat early Saturday, walking from the ferry in Staten island, where the artist was in the habit of going on weekends. Hundreds of commuters witnessed the arrest.

Pinter expressed surprise the boy was dead.

Police said his wife was not seriously wounded but that she collapsed when she learned that the boy, her son by a former marriage, was dead. She was taken to a hospital.
