Council Limits Bridge Traffic to One-Way

The Iowa City council passed a resolution Friday night providing for one-way traffic across the city park bridge.

In the resolution, the council asked the city engineer and the street commissioner to meet with SUI Prof. Ned Ashton, the council's consulting engineer, to provide for limited use of the bridge and to make minor repairs on the bridge.

The council did not specify how the traffic across the bridge was to be regulated. It left the regulation of the traffic and the enforcement of the one-way rule to the chief of police.

If feasible, the council suggested that traffic signal lights be erected at each end of the bridge to give equal opportunity to traffic from both directions to cross the bridge.

Another alternative would be closing the bridge to all traffic from one direction, either east or west.

The resolution passed Friday night also provided that the pedestrian walk on the north side of the bridge be removed and a new pedestrian walk constructed on the vehicular-traveled portion of the bridge, thus making necessary the provision for only one-way traffic.

Ashton declared the sidewalk was the most dangerous part of the bridge.

The only repairs to the bridge provided in the resolution were the building of a new guard rail and the "sandwiching" of the ends of the present wood flooring between two six-by-six inch timbers to keep the present flooring from "flopping around."

Ashton said the bridge could be put into a "safe condition" for less than $10,000, but this would be only temporary reconditioning.

$50,000 Investment Unsound Ashton said at the last council meeting the bridge could be repaired for $50,000 or a new bridge erected for about $350,000, but at Friday night's meeting, he asserted a $50,000 investment in the bridge would be unsound.

The $50,000 repairs would provide for a new flooring on the bridge to replace the present wooden one, Ashton explained. He said if a new floor were put on the bridge it would probably have to be a steel one designed especially for reconditioning such old bridges as the park bridge.

The main objection to repairing the bridge is that no matter how much work is done on it, the end product will still be a very narrow bridge, Ashton said. Councilmen agreed.

Red Cross Drive To End Today

Johnson county's 1951 Red Cross fund raising campaign is nearly $15,000 short of its $21,074 goal. At 5 p.m. Friday, Red Cross campaign officials said they had received well over $6,000 in contributions. The drive is scheduled to end today.

Red Cross officials said the goal this year is nearly double last year's, principally because of increased expenses for home service, civil defense work, and general administration.

The Red Cross this year has entered into an enlarged blood procurement program for the armed forces and civil defense needs; has increased its services to the expanded armed forces in Korea and elsewhere, and has begun a larger training program in first aid, home nursing and nurses aides.

To Set Date For Circulating Petition

Four SUI student groups are scheduled to meet Sunday to set a date for the circulation of a petition in regard to SUI admission and housing applications.

The groups, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Young Progressives, Hillel foundation and Young Men's Christian association (YMCA), were granted permission Thursday to circulate the petition.

A special committee for the organizations, which is seeking to remove from the applications student photographs and all information regarding race, color and religion, issued the following statement Friday:

"In answer to statements from the (SUI) administration to the effect that questions of race, religion and photographs are not used for discriminatory purposes, the committee offers the following points of clarification:

"1. The committee holds that if the university finds it necessary to have the information on race and religion these items should be removed from application blanks and made available after the student has been accepted.

"2. The committee believes that if the university does not discriminate, questions on race and religion have no bearing whatever on a student's qualifications for admission to a democratic college. Removal of the questions would underscore the university's professed policy through concrete action."

Bevin Quits; Morrison New Foreign Minister

LONDON (AP) - Ailing Ernest Bevin resigned as Britain's foreign secretary Friday night and turned over the job to his oldtime rival in the Labor party, Herbert Morrison.

The switch was the most important in the British cabinet since the Labor government took office in 1945.

The announcement from Prime Minister Clement Attlee's office said Bevin will remain a senior member of the cabinet with "specific duties that are now being arranged." His title will be Lord Privy Seal.

Bevin gave up the job he loved on his 70th birthday, resigning because of illness - piles, heart disease, asthma and a recent bout with pneumonia.

Dimeolodian

KANSAS CITY, MO. (AP) - The campaign to discredit the nickel got another spin in Kansas City this week.

Nick Evola, president of the Music Operators association here, said that juke boxes were being changed to play their platters for a dime.

"Our costs are going up," said Evola.

ENJOYING THE LUXURY of a back scrub as a Korean moppet works for her food is Australian Pvt. Ian Robertson. The child, who wandered into the Aussies' lines on the Korean front, has made herself indispensable as troop laundress and back scrubber.

Signs of Red Retreat

TOKYO (SATURDAY) (AP) - Allied forces attacked today in mountainous east-central Korea and built up a bulging bridgehead near Seoul in the west against reeling Chinese Reds.

There were some signs of a general Communist withdrawal under whiplash blows which have cost the Reds more than 20,000 men in three days. Allied gains up to four miles were registered Friday.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said the hard-pressed foe also was being plagued by disrupted supply lines as increasingly active guerrillas friendly to the Allies struck behind Red lines. In the west, the U.S. 25th division strengthened a bridgehead north of the Han river eight miles long and five miles deep after linking it up firmly with the main Allied line to the east.

Pentagon Orders ROTC Story Killed

BERKELEY, CALIF. (AP) - Whether the army plans to call up 10,000 American university ROTC graduates at the end of the college year was a moot issue here Friday night.

The military science department of the University of California, where some 130 ROTC students will be graduated in June, announced at 6:30 p.m. (Iowa time) Friday that an order had been received from the army department advising that all June ROTC graduates would be taken into active service immediately rather than into the reserve.

Half an hour later the university department called the Associated Press again and said that "the army has ordered the ROTC story killed."

The army public information office in San Francisco, which transmitted the "kill" order, said the Pentagon had wired Friday afternoon ordering the story killed and that issuance had been held up "by regular military channels."

The ROTC story was a hot issue because they really wanted to help out. Needless to say, I'm heartily in favor of any such project."

Two members of the fraternity, Bob Neel, C3, Grand Junction, and Eugene Hagen, C4, Guthrie Center, first conceived the idea when they heard that Oakdale needed help.

They presented the plan to the chapter, then seeking a constructive project to round out its "constructive week," and it was approved unanimously.

Members of the fraternity have spent the first part of their "constructive week" working on the chapter house. Half of it has been redecorated.

Speaking of the project, Neel, spokesman for ATO, said simply, "We consider this the formal burial of the old hell week in our chapter."

Chinese Reds facing this Allied threat to Seoul 12 miles to the west were unable even to muster a single counterattack Friday night.

Allied officers reported signs of a general Red withdrawal in west and central Korea - so fast in spots that small arms and even cooking equipment were abandoned.

A field dispatch said however, that Allied troops bumped into hard-fighting Reds when the east-central drive was resumed this morning.

The massive UN offensive rolled ahead in the center over craggy, snow-capped peaks littered with bodies of thousands of enemy dead.

Only on the extreme eastern end of the 70-mile line were the Reds able to hold their own. There the North Korean Second Corps threw a reinforced regiment against Republic of Korea (ROK) lines. One South Korean regiment gave ground, but fresh troops came up and contained the Red attack.

Jury to Probe RFC Findings

WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal grand jury will open an investigation Monday into possible law violations brought out in the senate's inquiry into the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The measure, filed in the senate by Sen. Leroy S. Mercer (D-Iowa City), provides that the addition be financed through mortgages and borrowed funds, a manner comparable to which construction of SU's dormitories has been financed.

The bill would authorize the purchase of needed land and construction of the addition. The addition would not require an appropriation from state funds.

The state board of education voted last year to help finance the addition through an increase in student tuition fees. Construction of the new addition is scheduled to begin this fall.

Urge Congress Break $20-Million Liquor 'Bootlegging' Ring

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate crime investigators received testimony Friday that a $20-million a year "bootlegging" ring with headquarters in Cairo, Ill., is running illegal liquor into the south, particularly the dry areas.

Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) of the senate crime committee promptly urged congress to break it up. Another member, Sen. Charles W. Tobey, (R-N.H.) demanded that the liquor distillers cooperate by cutting off supplies to the ring.

The bootlegging operations - reminiscent of the prohibition era with such trappings as faked invoices, false-bottom trucks, midnight loadings and high-powered automobiles equipped with special springs - were described to the senate committee by tax officials of several southern states.

Some of them said that two wholesale houses in Cairo, Ill. - the Southern and the M and B - are the primary sources of the illicit liquor traffic.

They said the interstate nature of the operation, plus lack of cooperation by Cairo and Illinois authorities, defeated their efforts to break it up and federal help is needed.

Bill Would Authorize Iowa Union Addition

A bill to allow SUI to complete its $3.5-million addition to the Iowa Union was recommended for passage Friday by the schools committee of the Iowa senate.

Story of a Parking Ticket

BATTLE CREEK, MICH. (AP) - Army Cpl. Francis J. Dailey will never park his car illegally in this city again.

And even if he could, no cop would give him a ticket. Last December, the Battle Creek traffic violation office received a letter from Dailey, from "somewhere in Korea."

The letter was in answer to an overtime parking summons which his former Fort Custer post here had forwarded to the fighting front. Dailey's home address is not known.

"Honestly, I believe that's the first time in history that a man was ever tagged for night parking in a fox hole," he wrote.

"The summons also states that an officer will be sent for me if I don't answer the summons. Tell him to please hurry so we can make it home for the holidays."

Mrs. Marion Middleton, traffic clerk, bought a big Christmas card and everybody in the city hall office signed it before she mailed it to the corporal who said "many a time I have wished I could be parking overtime in Battle Creek."

The holiday greetings came back unopened to Mrs. Middleton this week. The envelope was dirty and muddled.

One word was written across it: "Deceased."

Lons Trial Rescheduled; Outside Judge to Preside

The murder trial of James Lons, 53, Iowa City cafe operator, Friday was set for April 17 in Johnson county district court. A judge from outside the eighth judicial district will preside.

Judge James P. Gaffney rescheduled the case, originally set for March 19, after overruling a defense motion asking for postponement until the May term of court.

Judge Paul H. McCoid, Mt. Pleasant, of the 20th judicial district comprising Henry, Des Moines and Louisa counties, was appointed by the Iowa supreme court Friday to preside over the case.

The appointment was made at the request of Gaffney and Judge Harold D. Evans, judge of the eighth judicial district which comprises Johnson and Iowa counties. (The two judges alternate between the two counties.)

An outside judge was called to try the Lons case because: 1. Of the difference in court terms in Johnson and Iowa counties.

2. Evans had disqualified himself from serving as judge. Gaffney, judge of the present term of court here, will technically be eliminated from trying the case since he must open the April term in Iowa county. A new term does not begin in Johnson county until May.

The supreme court said Evans had legally disqualified himself as judge in the Lons case, but did not explain why.

Both County Atty. William L. Meardon and Defense Atty. A.C. Cahill have agreed to the new date of the trial.

Indicted Last December Lons was indicted last December by a Johnson county grand jury in connection with the fatal stabbing in Iowa City of Andrew Davelis, 40, former waiter in Lons' Princess cafe, 114 S. Dubuque street.

Both Lons and his brother, George Baculis, 47, chef in the Princess cafe, who was charged with aiding and abetting in the alleged murder, have been free on $50,000 bonds. Trial of Baculis has not yet been set.

Following Gaffney's first scheduling of the trial, Cahill last

Cancer Victim Wants Mail

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The San Francisco Call-Bulletin said Friday it has been informed that atomic artillery shells - able to destroy entire armies within their blast and radiation ranges - may be under secret test in Nevada.

The newspaper's aviation writer, George Rhodes, revealed the dramatic possibility of such shells in an interview with Gene May, 46, famed California test pilot.

In Washington, the atomic energy commission declined comment on the newspaper story, standing by its policy of withholding all details on the Nevada tests. The AEC has referred to them only as "experimental nuclear detonations."

Trees for Iceland?

REYKJAVIK, ICELAND (AP) - Trees of Brazilian origin may decorate gardens and parks in the capital of treeless Iceland in a few years. Kaj A. Svanholm of Rio de Janeiro has offered the city 5,000 eucalyptus plants from Brazil. He visited Iceland last summer and thinks they might grow well.

Last fall the Iceland government sent a special envoy to Alaska to gather seeds for Iceland's forestry program.

Provides for 18-Year Draft, UMT Later

WASHINGTON (AP) - The senate, by a smashing 79-5 vote, Friday passed a bill providing for draft of 18-year-olds now and universal military training later. It goes to the house for action.

The overwhelming size of the vote for these bitterly debated defense proposals took even supporters by surprise. On final passage only five Republican senators voted no.

Battle Over UMT The day's big battle centered on universal military training, which would take hold after the present emergency and affect all boys as they reach 18. Opponents

Students Still Deferred

The senate rejected an amendment which would have eliminated special deferments for 75,000 top college students per year for the next three years.

declared it would head the nation toward militarism. Supporters pictured it as a necessary method of building up and maintaining a trained defense reserve.

The 18-year-old draft issue had been settled in an earlier heated debate. The bill lowers the present minimum of 19 years by a whole year. Efforts failed to have the bill stop at 18 1/2.

In the house, the armed services committee has shown a strong inclination to recommend 18 1/2, but it has delayed action on its own legislation while the senate debated.

Extends Draft Service

The senate bill, however, specifies that the draft of 18-year-olds cannot start until the draft boards have gone completely through the ranks of those eligible among the 19-through-25 year olds. And in drafting boys of 18 they must start with the ones nearest 19.

Another major feature of the bill extends draft service from 21 months to 24.

The senate bill was drawn up to replace the selective service act due to expire July 9.

Tito Protests Soviet Arms, Troops on Yugoslav Borders

BELGRADE (AP) - Premier Marshal Tito's government protested officially Friday against the movement of Soviet arms and troops around Yugoslavia's borders.

The Yugoslav people were warned to gird themselves against the possibility of an invasion from the Russian-led Cominform states.

The warning came from Deputy Foreign Minister Ivo Vojvodica. He delivered it in issuing a 481-page white paper in which the government accused Russia of applying "direct military pressure" against this independent-minded Communist nation.

The white paper itself traced the developments of the widening breach between Tito's government and the Moscow-dominated Cominform since their break nearly three years ago.

It said there had been nearly 2,000 border incidents between Yugoslavia and her eastern neighbors - Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary - since June, 1948. Others were attributed to Albania.

The white paper itself constituted probably the toughest document Yugoslavia has issued officially since its break with the Cominform.

Queuille Confirmed As French Premier

PARIS (AP) - Parliament ended France's nine-day cabinet crisis Friday night by confronting Henri Queuille, a 66-year-old retired country doctor, as premier.

The vote was 359-250. Queuille needed at least 311 to win.

Queuille is a member of the Radical Socialist (conservative) party and served as premier in 1948-49.

DOWRY MURDER

Climax Today with Donated Day's Work at Oakdale Sanatorium

SUI Fraternity Turns 'Hell Week' into 'Constructive Week'

By JACK JORDAN

Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity will climax its sacrifice of "hell week" today when the 40 members donate a day's work at Oakdale tuberculosis sanatorium.

The fraternity replaced hell week, condemned by the national ATO council last summer, with "constructive week." The new program substitutes a week of useful and constructive work for the traditional hazing and pranks used annually in the initiation of new members.

Sigma Nu fraternity was placed on social probation Feb. 23 for a year by SUI as a result of traditional hell week activities. It was the second time in three years that Sigma Nu has been disciplined by the university.

One of the fraternity's members was fined $102.50 by Judge

Emil G. Trott. At that time Judge Trott advised the members of the fraternity to replace its hazing activities with something constructive.

Graham Marshall, SUI fraternity counsel, Friday said that to his knowledge this is the only time in recent years that a fraternity has changed its hell week into something constructive.

"The officers and members of ATO are to be highly commended for carrying out such a project," he said. "It displays the type of activity we hope all our fraternities will carry on in the future."

Dick Pahre, G. Des Moines, president of the interfraternity council, said that the move is typical of "the type of community and civic life we would like to see in all our organizations."

The fraternity will go as a group, both actives and pledges, to the tuberculosis rest home today to serve as handy men in cleaning up work that piles up in an institution of that size.

Included in the list of jobs are washing windows and hanging drapes in the new auditorium, taking down snow fences, cleaning up the yard and power plant and scrubbing down a steam tunnel.

All available hands will work from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. under the direction of Milo D. Wynn, business manager of the sanatorium. They will receive a noon meal in return for their efforts.

Wynn said, "I think this is a wonderful idea. Those men have the right slant on things and I'm sure that they are sincere. When they called me they said to make sure that they'd get nothing too easy, because they really wanted to help out. Needless to say, I'm heartily in favor of any such project."

Two members of the fraternity, Bob Neel, C3, Grand Junction, and Eugene Hagen, C4, Guthrie Center, first conceived the idea when they heard that Oakdale needed help.

On Its Way —

During the squabble over Frivol last fall, we weren't quite sure what the student's wanted in their "magazine of collegiate life," although we did feel, and went on record as feeling that most of the complaints against the magazine were justified.

Today, we're still not sure what type of magazine, if any, would satisfy the entire student body.

But it's our guess that the March issue of Frivol was accepted with more satisfaction than any issue in many months.

It was a nice, sparkling little book.

There seemed to us to be no preponderance of material directed at any particular group, one of the greatest weaknesses of which the magazine was accused last fall. And the cartoons drawn by SUI students, while hardly the type seen in Sunday school pamphlets, were still well within the realm of good taste.

There was another nice thing about those cartoons: they were funny.

Editor Paul Peterson's editorial was a sincere-sounding piece of writing, and we hope he'll receive good response to his request that students here contribute the fruits of their talents for use in his "magazine by and for" SUI students.

The volume of the uproar over Frivol last fall surely must have been indicative of a high reader-interest on campus. Where such an interest exists, there should be many persons who would be willing to help the editors of the magazine put out a good product.

We feel Frivol is on its way. With patience and help from the student body, it'll soon be there.

Slam at SUI Manners —

(Reprinted from the Manson (Iowa) Journal)

Memorandum to administration of the University of Iowa:

I am convinced that you should immediately add another course to your curricula in all colleges. This course should be compulsory.

I am referring to a course in courtesy, fundamental manners in public and even public relations. The acute need for this course became very evident when members of the Iowa legislature were being introduced at the Iowa-Michigan game Friday night. The announcement was met with a loud, vehement booo. I don't believe the introduction was even completed.

Adults in the game crowd and those listening to the broadcast were stunned by this insult to Iowa's law-makers. It is needless for me to explain to you that in our representative government our legislature is basically fundamental. Its members should be respected, not necessarily agreed with.

I also realize that many of your undergraduates are at that age when it is a token of their wisdom to belittle, even to sneer at, established customs or modes. Certain young instructors and professors are still juvenile enough to join in with them, I hear.

I am not too critical of this characteristic because from it, I know, come many of society's advancements. Yet nothing should replace good manners.

The University's public relations were badly dented by this one incident. Your student body can only correct it by re-learning "its manners."

At the Movies: 'Orpheus,' with Mirrors —

Once more adopting legend as the genesis for one of his excursions into fantasy-romance which have established him as the most consciously creative of screen artists, Jean Cocteau has fashioned still another striking film.

With his customary photographic ingenuity, the camera once again showcases the fluidity, variety and outright magic which gave "Beauty and the Beast" pictorial fascination.

A Gallie Orpheus - Eurydice romance with present-day accoutrements, the Capitol's new feature (starting Sunday) is the handiwork of skilled, imaginative artisans, since from the standpoint of production it is just about as satisfying cinema as anything we've seen from France.

Its cast contributes to the qualities expected of Cocteau. In Jean Marais, the picture has a perfect figure for its Orpheus, a godlike bard of bobby-soxers here. Marais performs with all his usual sensitivity and once again is given one of those by-now-anticipated crying scenes.

Maria Dea is a lovely, sympathetic, capable Eurydice. Francois Perier delivers staccato acting as the chauffeur Heurtebise, and the exotic Maria Casares is an enigmatic and restrained Death.

But "Orpheus" has one more major player — the mirror — which in Jean Cocteau's poetic lingo is the gate through which we pass between our life and death. So as the picture builds up toward its climax, the film's chief figures pass through mirrors with great abandon and much greater frequency. The consequence is absolute bewilderment in the audience.

As if assuming this might be the case, Cocteau has Death declaring midway in the picture that it not necessary for us to understand, but "only to believe."

This may be fine in theory, but it does not excuse Cocteau's neglecting to make sense. Confusion means distraction; so involved become the journeys back and forth 'twixt life and death, 'twixt France and Hades, that keeping one's credulity is plain impossible.

This means that "Orpheus" fails in its ambitions to re-create an ancient story, but for all its failure it remains a treatment of unusual fascination and vitality. Its photography, performances and music (composed by Georges Auric) are assets much too precious to dismiss. It is a movie to be seen from curiosity alone.

Verdict: A noble try deserves a B.

Government Gives U.S. Auto Industry Cut-Back Reprieve

By NORMAN NICHOLSON

DETROIT (AP) — The threat of mass unemployment in the auto industry this spring due to sharp cut-backs in civilian production has been averted, at least for the foreseeable future.

Two months ago, worried management, labor and government officials predicted that the jobs of hundreds of thousands of auto workers would fall temporary victims of the defense mobilization program.

Competent sources warned that the army of jobless workers might climb as high as 500,000 until car companies, their suppliers and allied industry could get going on the growing number of military contracts.

The picture has brightened considerably and unexpectedly, but spokesmen for auto firms and the CIO united auto workers union say over-optimism would not be realistic, either.

Complex switchovers of assembly plants and factories to manufacture of tanks, guns, jet engines and planes are bound to cause widespread dislocation of jobs, they point out.

But the industry, with a big assist from UAW Chief Walter P. Reuther, believes it has convinced defense planners in Washington that it would be foolish and dangerous to reduce civilian output of cars and trucks drastically at this time.

It will be 12, 18 and 24 months in some cases before the huge war goods orders are in anywhere near peak production stages. A few of them, such as Cadillac's tank contract at Cleveland, will be running sooner.

The Michigan unemployment compensation commission admits its surprise at the turn of events. "Outstanding development in the labor market," the MUCC reports, "is the strong and unexpected comeback after the December layoffs (in Michigan)."

The mass unemployment spectre was raised by reports the government planned to cut civilian steel usage 40 percent and the 35 percent chop now in effect on aluminum use.

But after a series of meetings with national production authority officials in Washington, the orders were issued in much milder form.

Steel will be cut 20 percent April 1. This is not expected to have a drastic effect on auto output, already lower than levels of last November.

And the aluminum order was revised to give auto makers relief. They can use it in such functional parts as engine pistons now.

Reuther recently told his local union presidents that the steel revision "will avert mass unemployment that would have resulted from a 40 percent cut."

The big three auto companies—General Motors, Chrysler and Ford—report their production forces are lower than at peak periods in 1950, but not as much as had been feared.

Stripper Prefers 'Runway' to Campus

OAKLAND, CALIF. (AP) — A shapely blonde said Thursday that two weeks as a strip tease to finance a college career had convinced her that a burlesque ramp is a faster road to dramatic stardom than the campus classroom.

Jacque Ezra, a 20-year-old local girl of genteel French Huguenot background, adopted the name Collette when she switched from books to bumps and has already achieved rank of second billing under Gay Dawn, queen of the strippers in local burlesque circles.

Bruck Brooks, who doubles as producer and comedian of the El Rey theater, said that Jacque brought natural talent as well as beautiful physique into the show. "I have never seen a rank amateur who was so professional," Brooks said. "Everything she does is natural. I've been in the business 37 years and have seen only one other performer who had such control over her movements."

As one connoisseur of the burlesque described one of her performances, "She made artistic capital of the resilience inherent in the pectoral muscles of healthy young women."

Jacque said that she found her routine on the runway a harder and more exacting task than any she had ever encountered in school, but once over her first stage fright, "It was much more fun than studying Shakespeare or Tennyson."

The new sensation on the undress-for-pay circuit said she still wants a dramatic career on the legitimate stage, "but meanwhile I am going as far in burlesque as it will let me. My ambition now is to be a top feature stripper."

Jacque said she took up strip teasing after trying a series of other jobs to get enough money to pay her way through college. She said her family ran short of funds just after she registered for dramatic courses at the University of California and that until her trip down the ramp, she had been determined to get back in school.

Cynical . . .

TO THE EDITOR:
You have a choice between not printing this and proving yourselves to be a complete pack of crumbly or printing this note and proving yourselves to be lacking only in good taste and ability.

I believe that when a candidate is running for the student council, he deserves to enjoy the impartiality of the school newspaper.

But when The Daily Iowan prints a picture which would scare off any potential voters without asking the student to have a re-take, I have violent suspicions that there is not only injustice, but also outright blackguardism.

Since Bill Ayers is my roommate, I doubt that he very often poses with his tongue sticking out. He hasn't said anything to me about it, but I would guess three things: 1. the photographer is utterly incompetent, 2. the editor of photography is either partial or ignorant, or 3. Bill should have some plastic surgery.

Since Bill is my friend, I do not find much credence in the last supposition.

It is always a good test of a newspaper to see if they have the integrity to print such a complaint as this. This will be an excellent test.

Charles B. Marshall, A3
(Editor's Comment: The photographer is not utterly incompetent. The editor of photography showed no partiality — nor is he ignorant. And Bill needs no plastic surgery.)

As for the possibility of our not printing your letter, Mr. Marshall: Please don't tempt us.

Cooperation . . .

TO THE EDITOR:
I wish to compliment Marian Guy on her proposal for a community conference composed of representatives from student council, faculty and administration. I think this is a good way to alleviate future misunderstandings between these important campus groups.

The purpose of the body would be to make recommendations on campus problems. If no decisions could be reached immediately, subcommittees would be appointed to investigate problems further. This all would necessitate close cooperation among the various members. The point of view for each group would not only be voiced but also would be given the closest consideration. The final recommendation would be a general consensus. No more unfortunate circumstances such as the much discussed "Christmas vacation incident" suddenly seen and heard candidates for student council. We should remember not to make our judgments too quickly, with no thought put on the matter. The one key word which has become the focus of attention is "rely."

A representative of the student body should be reliable above everything else. Someone who has shown us through previous campus activities, scholarship and general qualifications that she will fill our bill. The someone who has fulfilled these measures is Marian Guy. She has been on campus long enough to realize what we, the students, want and she has the enthusiasm to go after what we want. We KNOW we can rely on Guy. Next Wednesday, let's show her we appreciate her reliability.

DETROIT (AP) — Auto industry scientists are nearing a cure for a strange new ailment sweeping unchecked through the ranks of the nation's car owners.

Name of the disease is left-foot-itis, guardedly referred to as "lazy leg" in top-secret automotive laboratories. And it's about as time it was brought under control.

Engineers themselves created the epidemic when they came up with automatic transmissions, which put the clutch pedal out of business and motorists' left feet out of work.

With elimination of the clutch pedal, all you need to drive a car is a right foot, for the accelerator and brake. Your left foot stands by idly, getting badly out of condition.

But the resourceful auto men have decided to put left feet back on the job, to head off the danger of atrophy, final symptom of "lazy leg."

Engineers plan to re-educate the public and teach new generations of motorists to brake with their left feet. To accomplish this goal, they are going to work on the brake pedal, quietly moving it further left and in some cases doubling its size.

GENERAL NOTICES

GENERAL NOTICES should be deposited with the city editor of The Daily Iowan in the newsroom in East Hall. Notices must be submitted by 2 p.m. the day preceding first publication; they will NOT be accepted by phone, and must be TYPED OR LEGIBLY WRITTEN and SIGNED by a responsible person.

KAMPUS KAPERS auditions will be held in Macbride auditorium at 7:30 p.m. March 14 and 15. Singers, dancers, comedians and those interested in committee and crew work are urged to attend. Students may audition with their own material.

Interpreting the News — 'War Scare' Intended To Solidify Yugoslavia

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Does Cominform military activity in the Balkans mean that war is coming to Europe this year? No categorical answer can be made this side of the Iron Curtain.

Marshal Tito's charges that Russia and her satellites are making aggressive preparations along Yugoslavia's borders certainly add a somber overtone to long-standing fears.

There are domestic circumstances which could cause the Belgrade dictator to make such charges at this time for his own purposes.

Tito's official family has not been unanimous in approving his recent steps toward Western friendship, his appeal for outright food aid and loans, and his final break with Russia. Until last Christmas, Tito kept up the myth that his differences with Russia were with a regime which was itself probably deviating only temporarily from true communism. Since then Yugoslav propaganda has charged that Russia was out and out Fascist. Some of his lieutenants haven't been too enthusiastic about that.

All this year Tito has been trying to overcome opposition among his own people with seeming steps toward democracy, obviously in the hope of creating greater unity.

Right now he is negotiating for the purchase of war materials from the United States and Britain, and it is to his interest to create an atmosphere of urgency in this connection. It is to his advantage to intensify the attitudes already taken by Britain and America that any Cominform attack on Yugoslavia would almost certainly set off World War III.

Regardless of Tito's motivation, the facts to which he calls attention are incontrovertible and critical. Whether they mean that the Cominform has decided on war cannot be said. That it is preparing for war, in fear or by design, is sure.

George Perkins, U.S. assistant secretary of state, said after a conference with Tito recently that the Yugoslav ruler does not believe an attack will come this spring.

That does not agree with the impression received from Tito by others in recent months. Some who have talked with him have been convinced that he does expect such an attack.

Now Yugoslavia says that Russian troops are deployed along her border after a fashion entirely unconnected with their peace treaty rights to guard their supply lines to occupied Austria. That trenches are being dug, mortar emplacements made, and airfields being built. That new military roads are being built. The well known charge of mobilization beyond peace treaty limits is repeated.

Tito is obviously laying the groundwork for an appeal to the United Nations if an attack occurs. He will expect the same response as was given to Korea — direct military aid.

GI Amateurs Entertain Troops in Korea

WITH U.S. FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION, KOREA (AP) — The trumpet blared a hot lick that echoed across the Korean valley. Then the piano, slightly out of tune, joined in the chorus, followed by the bass fiddle, clarinet, snare drums and trombone.

A voice, rich with the inherent mellowness of America's Dixieland troubadours, began "Caledonia, what makes your big head so hard?"

In the background came the booming of artillery. Overhead four fighter planes loaded for bear roared toward the battle front only a few miles to the north.

This was the setting for a United States army entertainment unit strutting its stuff before some appreciative GIs at a battalion command post.

This touring unit—the first to be formed for service in Korea—was making its 150th appearance. Led by Lt. John McCarthy of Syracuse, N.Y., the 25 enlisted members of the troupe have entertained units of every division in Korea but one. That division is next on the list.

The entertainers are soldiers—four of them wear the Purple Heart for battle wounds. Only two had had any previous entertainment experience before the unit was activated at Guam.

One of the two—Cpl. Garfield Casey of Cleveland, Ohio—formerly played trumpet with Benny Goodman. Cpl. John Britt of Detroit played piano and organ for a number of Negro church organizations before he entered the army.

Pfc. Grover Cleveland Allen of Atlanta, Ga., who does the Caledonia number wearing a loud green-stripped suit and a great beret, never has appeared before a civilian audience.

A second touring unit has been activated. Before long five such units will be in the field making periodic visits to each frontline outfit.

The GIs love this unit's entertainment. More than 150 of them stood in the biting cold and cheered every number the group played.

The entertainers themselves were clad in gray flannel civilian trousers and light sports sweaters—an unbelievable attire for Korea in winter. Four members of the troupe already have been hospitalized with cases of frostbite.

But amateurs though most of them are, no entertainment troupe was ever appreciated more.

In New SUI 'Music Appreciation' Group - Jass, Bop, Swing Are King

Not many organizations on the SUI campus or in Iowa City can boast of having as a staunch booster and leader one of the roughest linemen to play in the Big Ten last fall.

The big exception to this rule, however, is the Jazz Club, a group of music lovers who have as their purpose the appreciation of jazz, be-bop, swing and dixieland as a form of American art.

One of the members of the committee which has been elected to handle the affairs of this club is Harold Bradley, A4, Chicago, Iowa's most valuable player during the 1950 season. The big guy who smashed his way around the Big Ten on the gridiron shares the responsibility of making the group a success, along with Les Madison, G, Washington, D.C., Jim Nielson, G, Kearney, Neb., and Dorothy Fig, 121 Riverside park.

Sunday Meetings - Sunday afternoon at 3 they will hold their fourth meeting since organizing. The subject will be "Dixieland." All students and townspeople interested are asked to bring their records and come down to the Amvets club, 112 S. Capitol street. Here they can spend a couple hours listening to and discussing dixieland music.

The Jazz club grew out of the desire of a handful of students to organize for the purpose of enjoying swing, jazz, and their related versions of music. They wanted to swap records with each other and get the best out of this type of music.

A little over a month ago, the SUI YMCA started to give these people a helping hand in getting organized. The council on racial equality, an outgrowth of the YMCA, kept the ball rolling.

No Restrictions - The founders of the club, which is still in its infancy, decided to run their meetings on a seminar basis and to invite all who enjoy listening to jazz. There are no restrictions on membership and

Hormonized Chickens Harmless to Humans

WASHINGTON - An agriculture department scientist has hastily assured a congressman that humans are not affected by the diet which is keeping minks from mating.

The reassurance was offered by Dr. Theodore Byerly of the bureau of animal industry. He was called before a house judiciary subcommittee to explain why a lot of mink are going childless.

Mink ranchers blame the agriculture department. They said the department recommended that they feed their mink ground up chicken heads from chickens that have been injected with artificial sex hormones.

The hormones made the chickens fat and tasty. But it only made the older mink lazy and uninterested in each other.

Somewhat alarmed by the possibilities, Rep. Thaddeus M. Machrowicz, (R-Mich.) asked Byerly if human fertility could be affected by eating hormonized chickens - known commercially as capons.

Byerly said humans were not in danger as long as they ate only the parts of the chicken they normally consume. He said they should contain no more hormones than are present in any healthy, red-blooded, non-injected chicken.

Friends to Hold Shower For Burned Out Family

A "Back to Housekeeping" shower will be held Saturday night at the Lone Tree auditorium for the Harry Attig family whose farm home was nearly destroyed by fire March 1.

The Lone Tree chamber of commerce will furnish entertainment and movies at the shower. Attig, his wife and two children, Shirley, 8, and Larry, 5, escaped from the blaze by ladder from a second story bedroom. The interior of the farm home, located two miles southeast of Lone Tree, and the family's belongings and furniture were completely wrecked by the fire.

NEW YORK'S EDDIE STANKY went through a familiar act for the benefit of a bunch of young fans Friday. The Giants' second baseman is shown tossing his bat away as if he had just drawn a base on balls. Stanky holds the National league record for being walked by opposing pitchers.

Garst Places Third In Freestyle Event

MINNEAPOLIS—Two third places were the best Iowa swimmers could do here Friday in the second day of the Big Ten swimming championships.

Rusty Garst placed third in the 50-yard freestyle and the Hawkeye 400-meter free style relay team finished in the third spot behind Ohio State and Michigan State who lead the meet in that order.

The Buckeyes, behind until the 200-yard backstroke event, pulled ahead as Jackie Taylor, flashy young junior, set a new conference record in the race. He covered the distance in 2:08.7 as he rang up his second record in the past two nights. Taylor set a new mark of 18:43 in the 1,500 meter free style race Thursday night.

In the 50-yard free style match, Clarke Scholes of Michigan State defeated Jack Rebnay of Minnesota. Rebnay pulled an upset Friday afternoon in the semi-finals by setting a new record of 22.8 in the event. But Friday night he lagged behind and only rang up a time of 23.1 for the race.

Bert McLachlan of Michigan State won the 220-yard free style race in 2:10.9. And Jack Davies of the University of Michigan won the 200-yard breast stroke in 2:18.4.

In the 400-yard free style relay, Ohio State came in first, with Michigan State and Iowa close behind. The winning time was 3:27.6.

The summaries: 50-yard freestyle — Scholes, Michigan State; Rebnay, Minnesota; Garst, Iowa; Peterson, Northwestern; Whiteleather, Ohio State; Eckert, Northwestern. 200-yard backstroke — Taylor, Ohio State; Sommer, Ohio State; Meyer, Indiana; Leaf, Ohio State; Prata, Ohio State; Brooks, Purdue. 220-yard free style — McLachlan, Michigan State; Dooley, Ohio State; Wallen, Northwestern; Hoogerhyde, Michigan State; Jeffries, Michigan; Hoffman, Michigan State. 300-yard breast stroke — Davies, Michigan; Holan, Ohio State; Balmores, Ohio State; Omas, Michigan State; Dunlop, Purdue; Elliott, Michigan. 400-yard free style relay — Ohio State, Michigan State, Iowa Indiana, Michigan, Northwestern. 1-mile diving — Clatworthy, Ohio State, Chingeneel, Purdue; Coffey, Ohio State; Marino, Ohio State; Hubley, Purdue.

Laz, Richards Both Vault Over 15-Foot In Historic Leaps

CLEVELAND (AP) — For the first time in track history, two men cleared 15 feet in the pole vault in one night Friday night when Don Laz of Illinois and the Rev. Bob Richards turned the trick in the 11th annual Knights of Columbus meet.

By clearing 15 feet, 3-4 inches, Laz became the third man in history to surpass that height.

For Richards, the national vaulting champion who cleared the same height, it was the fourth time he had turned the trick, all this season.

Both Laz, who is a protege of Richards, and the "Vaulting Vic" were tied after clearing 14 feet, 8 inches.

Laz then easily cleared the pole at the 15' 3-4" mark — the first time he had done it officially. He previously cleared 15 feet in practice.

Richards hugged Laz in the sawdust pit after his epochal leap, then tried it himself, and barely made it. The bar quivered, but stayed put to make it the first time on record that two men in the same meet cleared 15 feet.

Immediately after Laz and Richards had performed their record feats, Big Ten champion Len Truex of Ohio State defeated Don Gehrman in the featured mile run in 4:13.8 to hand the Wisconsin whipper his second consecutive defeat in 40 starts.

Hawkeyes Tie Chicago In Gymnastics, 48-48

By DICK CHRISTENSON

Iowa's gymnasts scored a sweep in the trampoline event to gain a 48-48 tie with Chicago university Friday night at the field-house.

A much more balanced Iowa team came within a single point of winning their first match in five starts. Injuries and sickness, however, dealt the 'Hawks a severe blow.

Rex Brooks, who was injured in the Indiana meet a week ago, was unable to compete in the horizontal bar event. He was able to take a first in flying rings, however.

A second, and probably greater loss, was that of Paul Williams. An almost certain bet for first place in tumbling, Williams was ill and could not participate.

The Hawkeyes, beaten in their previous three matches, showed considerable improvement by taking four first places in six events.

Bill Harris was a double winner for Iowa. He won the tumbling and trampoline events in succession.

Iowa will be in Chicago today for the Midwest Open triangular meet against Northwestern and Friday night's opponent, Chicago.

Side Horse: 1. O'Toole (C); 2. Wilson (C); 3. Lewis (I); 4. Fienup (I); 5. Laik (C).

Horizontal Bar: 1. Fienup (I); 2. Jackson (C); 3. Tie between Crosby (C) and Hickey (C); 4. Westfall (I).

Parallel Bars: 1. Baskin (C); 2. Fienup (I); 3. Halperin (C); 4. Dugan (I); 5. O'Toole (C).

Flying Rings: 1. Brooks (I); 2. Halperin (C); 3. Baskin (C); 4. Westfall (I); 5. O'Toole (C).

Tumbling: 1. Harris (I); 2. Jackson (C); 3. Sorenson (I); 4. Crosby (C); 5. Baskin (C).

Trampoline: 1. Harris (I); 2. LaDue (I); 3. Sorenson (I); 4. Jackson (C); 5. Herndon (C).

Final score: Iowa, 48; Chicago, 48.

National Invitation Meet Opens Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight unseeded hopefuls open the National Invitation basketball tournament in Madison Square Garden today.

Lawrence Tech plays Dayton at 2 p.m. (EST), and Seton Hall meets Beloit in the second game of the afternoon doubleheader. Cincinnati meets St. Bonaventure at 7:45 p.m. and La Salle plays St. Louis in the evening doubleheader.

The four seeded teams — St. John's, North Carolina State, Brigham Young and Arizona — all draw boys and do not see action until the quarterfinals are reeled off in a pair of doubleheaders Monday and Tuesday nights. The semifinals are Thursday and the finals next Saturday.

Official Reports Say Sollazzo Threatened 'If He Leaves Prison'

(From the Wire Services)

NEW YORK — A threat has been made against the life of Salvatore Sollazzo, it was reported officially Friday as he was held without bail for his own protection on an indictment charging him with bribing basketball players.

"We know that a warning has been sent to Sollazzo with respect to his life if he leaves prison," assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor told the court.

There was no indication of the source of the warning.

O'Connor also said that Sollazzo was "an intimate of notorious underworld figures such as Salvatore and Willie Moretti and Salvatore Spitalo" and that he might try "to reach witnesses" if allowed bail.

Sollazzo stood quietly with an occasional grin during his arraignment.

He is accused of paying out approximately $45,000 in bribes to players of three colleges so he could win "sure thing" bets on point scores.

The players have been suspended from Long Island university, the City College of New York and New York university and are under arrest.

Meanwhile, the 43-year-old jeweler's troubles mushroomed. The Rev. John Flynn, president of St. John's university, revealed that St. John's player Bob (Zeke) Zawulok was promised "a nice present" if St. John's won the CCNY game by a sizeable score.

Zawulok, who received a clear bill from the district attorney Thursday didn't make any promises.

One day 12 years ago Dolph Stanley, coaching the high school basketball team at Taylorville, Ill., was talking with Bontemps' father, Carl, when the lad, 12, strode up lugging a violin case.

"What does he do?" the coach asked.

"He's the county violin champ," replied the father.

"I can make a basketball player out of him," said Stanley. "Musicians are good athletes. They have rhythm."

Ron stored his fiddle, put himself under Stanley's wing and later became an outstanding star of the Taylorville team. It was natural when Stanley shifted to Beloit six years ago, the youngster should follow when he reached college age. Since that first day, Bontemps has never played the violin again.

Beloit Tops Near Sighted Violinist Paces Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Little Beloit stepped out Friday as the highest scoring college basketball machine of all time, paced by a near-sighted former violin champ.

Official statistics for regular season's play showed the Wisconsin college with an average of 86.6 points per game for 22 games, capped off by their 141-53 triumph over Cornell (Iowa) last Monday.

Spearhead of Beloit's fire-engine attack is Ron Bontemps, 24-year-old, six-foot-three forward from Taylorville, Ill.

A couple of years ago Bontemps' eyes were so bad he couldn't see the basket from the free throw line but he did pretty well by instinct. Since his junior year he's been wearing contact lens and he says he can see pretty well.

He saw well enough to average 22 points a game himself, highest on the team, during the past season. He has scored 1748 over his three-year varsity period.

Bontemps became a basketball player purely by chance, thanks to a violin case.

Exhibition Play Starts Today

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. (AP) — All major league teams except the Detroit Tigers open their exhibition baseball schedules today with nervous rookies slated to see the most action.

Five games will be played in Florida, two in California and the world champion New York Yankees will begin their exhibition at Tucson, Ariz., against the Cleveland Indians.

Manager Casey Stengel is opening serious preparations for the Yankees' bid for their third straight pennant and world series triumphs.

In other grapefruit league openers, the Cincinnati Reds meet the Boston Red Sox at Sarasota, Fla.; the Washington Senators and Philadelphia A's tangle at Orlando, Fla.; the New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals play at St. Petersburg, Fla.; the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves meet in a night game at Miami; and another section of the Braves squad plays the Philadelphia Phillies at Clearwater, Fla.

On the west coast, the St. Louis Browns and Pittsburgh Pirates meet at San Bernardino, Calif.; and the Cubs and White Sox play an all-Chicago exhibition at Pasadena.

Despite a Bad Cold —

Gehrman Says He's 'Got to Run'

MILWAUKEE, WIS. (AP) — Slim Don Gehrman, Milwaukee's king of the mile, sniffled with a bad cold Friday, but said he has "got to run" in the Milwaukee relays tonight and make a comeback against his old rival, Fred Will.

The former Wisconsin star, who chases rabbits to keep in shape, lost to the New York FBI agent in the Knights of Columbus games last week. It was his first loss to Will in 11 races and it snapped his victory string at 39.

"I just got a terrible cold," he said. "But I've got to run. There's nothing I want more than to win at home and I'd like to break 4:06."

Stewart Ray, Will's teammate at the New York athletic club, also entered in the Journal mile. In the Columbia mile a week ago,

Ray ran in spurts and kept Gehrman from passing him while Will ran on to win.

"He won't keep me behind him this time," Gehrman said, "I'm sure of that."

Five Big Ten champions and four central collegiate champs will compete in other individual events at the meet, which is a sellout of nearly 10,000.

In the 50-yard dash, Big Ten champion Joe Gonzalez of Illinois will meet Jim Bibbs, Michigan Normal, Central winner. In the 50-yard high hurdles, Don Hoover of Michigan, Big Ten title holder, will face Jim Philbee, Central champion of Bradley.

Jim Lavery of Drake, another Central winner, and Henry Cryer, of Illinois were favored in the 600-yard run, and the two-mile event sized up as a wide open contest among John Stearns, Marquette, Central winner; Bob Dillinger, Indiana; Jim Urquart, Wisconsin and Ted Wheeler, Iowa.

Two of the world's best will try for pole vault honors. Don Laz, Illinois, cleared 15 feet in a varsity-freshman meet last year and won the Big Ten title this year, and Bob Richards of La Verne, Calif., has vaulted 15 feet 1 inch.

The high jump looked like a tossup. Big Ten co-champions Tom Floyd of Illinois and Jim Harper of Indiana and six other contenders have cleared 6 feet, 3 inches.

The mile relay held the spotlight in relay events. Illinois, Michigan and Purdue, who finished one-two-three in the Big Ten meet last week, will meet in one of the four heats.

Small Grocers Dominant In Iowa, Survey Shows

Of the 4,061 grocery stores in Iowa, the independent, non-affiliated retail grocery is still dominant in terms of numbers and sales volume, according to a recent survey by SUI marketing Prof. William A. Knoke.

The survey, which appeared in the March issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, concludes, "the small-scale distributor is still dominant in terms of number of stores and sales volume."

"Despite the trend toward large-scale distribution," Knoke concludes, "the small-scale distributor is still dominant in terms of number of stores and sales volume."

Another group of independent retailers is affiliated with wholesale houses, the study says. In 1949 a group of 660 stores owned a Des Moines wholesale house. The idea behind such ownership is to gain a price advantage by large scale group purchases.

Another 656 outlets are affiliated with wholesalers under a voluntary chain arrangement, where the wholesaler sponsors the chain and participating members use uniform brands, group advertising and gain accounting assistance. But, Knoke declares, there is little price advantage in this operation.

Of the 92 national chain stores in Iowa, 40 are located in cities of more than 10,000 population and nearly all the rest are in towns of more than 2,500 population.

Many of these chain outlets are large supermarkets which

Heart Diseases Kill Girls, Non-Whites Most Frequently

More girls than boys die from rheumatic fever and heart diseases, Dr. George Wolff of Washington, D.C., revealed in the March 10 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The study, taken from statistics compiled from 1939 to 1949, also showed a distinct rise in the mortality rate as children grow older.

The study showed that more non-white children died of the disease than white children. Dr. Wolff suggested that this was due to a more unfavorable environment.

The article bears out a frequent observation that the rate is higher and more severe in the northeast and mountain areas of the nation.

Rheumatic fever and heart disease have become two of the leading killers of children but Dr. Wolff explained that this is due to a decline in other childhood diseases. The decline is not so apparent in non-white children where tuberculosis mortality is highest.

GOP Moves To Keep Check On Troops

(From the Wire Services)
WASHINGTON — House Republican policy makers voted Friday to seek an amendment to the draft law barring any further shipment of U.S. troops to Europe until both the house and senate approve such action.

Their action came as Sen. Tom Connally (D - Texas) said the troops-for-Europe resolution approved by two senate committees Thursday might force congress to pass an enabling act before President Truman can send four more American ground divisions to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic pact army.

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) who has demanded that congress set a ceiling on troop shipments, called the resolution a "step in the right direction." He said he is willing to make "some concessions" in the interests of a unified GOP stand, but did not indicate what "concessions."

Harold E. Stassen, another prominent Republican, endorsed the resolution and urged Taft and other GOP leaders to get behind it. The house GOP policy committee approved a resolution recommending an amendment to the draft bill "providing that no troops shall be committed to the European area as proposed under the Atlantic pact arrangement until the necessary authorization for such commitment is approved by both bodies of the congress."

'Burma Surgeon' Seagrave, Acquitted Of Treason Charge

RANGOON, BURMA (P)—"Burma surgeon," Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave was freed Friday when the Burmese high court reversed his treason conviction.

The court acquitted Seagrave on his appeal of the main charge of aiding and abetting the Karen rebels and upheld only a minor count.

In view of his service to Burma, the six-year sentence imposed by a lower court was reduced to the time already served in prison since his arrest on Aug. 15, 1950.

The 53-year-old medical missionary has given a lifetime of service as spiritual and physical healer among the tribesmen of Burma. He served as a lieutenant-colonel in the United States army medical corps during World War II, accompanying the late Lt. Gen. Joseph B. Stilwell on the 1942 jungle retreat through Burma to India.

Seagrave's book, "Burma Surgeon," a popular account of his war adventures, brought him world-wide fame in 1943.

The high court acquitted Seagrave on a charge of writing a letter in connection with the Karen uprising around Namkhan, in the northern Shan states, where he is in charge of a Baptist mission hospital run by the American medical center in Burma.

America Has Produced 'Best Looking Women'

NEW YORK (P)—Actresses Faye Emerson, Virginia Mayo and Rhonda Fleming, Metropolitan opera star Blanche Thebom and artists' model Madelon Mason were named Friday as the "overall beauties of the decade."

Burry Stephens, director of the International artists committee which picked the beauties, said this country has produced the best looking women in the world. The five women cited, he said, top "any beauty our artists have encountered since the days of Praxiteles," a Greek sculptor renowned for his statues of the female form.

Moslem Terror Group Threatens Officials

TEHRAN, IRAN (P)—Fadayan Islam, fanatical secret Moslem terror society, threatened Friday to kill Shah Reza Pahlevi and other government officials if the assassin of Premier Ali Razmara is not freed in three days.

Leaflets bearing the threat were distributed during a demonstration by some 8,000 persons demanding nationalization of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company.

The Fadayan Islam leaflets said the man jailed as the killer, who gave the name of Abdulla Rastegar, "sent to hell the greatest of criminals" in putting a bullet through Razmara's head at a mosque Wednesday.

Donald M. Courtney is in charge of the group.

13 Arraigned, Four Guilty of Drunken Driving

Four of the 13 men arraigned Friday in Johnson county district court pleaded guilty to drunken driving charges while the rest were given until March 16 to enter pleas.

Judge James P. Gaffney fined three of the four $300 each and revoked their drivers licenses for 60 days. The men are Leo E. Miller, 522 N. Dodge street; Joe M. Skarda, 904 Clark street, and Jesse S. Witwer, from Indiana. Witwer also had his Iowa liquor permit revoked. Skarda told the judge that he had torn his up.

William G. Hauser, 1027 Sheridan avenue, was charged with drunken driving, second offense. He was fined $500, and his driver's license was revoked for four months.

Others now in jail and the charges on which they were arraigned Friday are:

- 1. George Kost, charged with endorsing two forged checks.
- 2. Bernard Woods, charged with forging two checks endorsed by Kost.
- 3. Raymond Shoulders, charged with intent to do great bodily injury. He is accused of attempting to choke his wife.
- 4. Clarence Kriz, charged with breaking jail twice. The state claims he walked out of the county jail last Dec. 17 and attempted to escape from Sheriff Albert J. Murphy on Jan. 11, this year.
- 5. Robert L. Seaton, charged with child desertion.

Four Die in Chair; Only Estate: 2 Cents

OSSINING, N.Y. (P)—Sing Sing prison officials said Friday that of the four persons electrocuted Thursday night only 22-year-old John King left an estate. It amounted to two cents.

Lonely hearts killers Martha Beck and Raymond Fernandez left no money, jewelry or property. The lovers died within eight minutes of each other, vowing their undying love. King and 22-year-old Richard Power were electrocuted shortly before for a holdup murder one year ago.

Relatives were expected to claim the bodies of all four persons, prison officials said.

Big 4 Deputies May Have Agreed

PARIS (P)—The Big Four deputies — trying to arrange an agenda for a foreign ministers meeting — agreed Friday night that an agreement may have been reached on something.

United States, British and French deputies agreed on all points in the draft of issues proposed by the Russians for discussion could be included on the draft they had submitted.

The Soviet delegate, Andrei Gromyko, agreed with his earlier remarks that all points in the Western draft could be included in the proposed Soviet agenda.

Their five meetings of the week reached a total elapsed time of 17 hours and 30 minutes. They will meet again today.

DICK LAREW
Wants Council Revamping

Council Must Mirror Opinion To Administration: Candidates

(This is the seventh and last in a series of articles explaining the platforms of student council candidates in the all-campus election, March 14.)

George Lawton, A4, Fort Dodge, and Dick Larew, E3, Iowa City, candidates for delegate-at-large to the student council, say that letting the administration know the opinions of students is a must for the new council.

Lawton, a political science major, wants recognition of student opinion in such matters as seating at athletic events, women's hours, holiday schedules and parking problems.

He also proposes "that the council again investigate the reasons for the high prices charged by the university dining services." He would demand that it be clearly shown that the facilities are being operated in the best interests of the students.

Lawton believes that the book exchange sponsored by the student council should be extended to include operations in the spring and fall as well as at mid-year.

He added, "I do not believe that the council should be obliged to deal with problems which are the business of other branches of the university. Prompt attention to important problems will greatly improve the prestige of the council."

Lawton is a member of the YMCA and Wesley foundation, and is vice-president of the Gables dormitory.

Larew supports several measures to increase the strength and recognition of student government here. Included in these is reorganization of the council's constitution to include members from leading campus organizations.

He calls for continuation and extension of the leadership training program of the National Student association committee on the council, in the belief that leadership in quantity is the key to good student government.

"I would like very much to see fuller coordination of activities and responsibilities of the student council, union board and the student board of publications," he said. His platform also asks for student representation on the calendar committee and Code of Student Life committee.

Larew is a member of union board subcommittee; Phi Eta Sigma, honorary freshman scholastic fraternity; Westminster fellowship; Associated Students of Engineering and Pontoniers. He is also active in forensics and was a member of the Military Ball committee.

Truman Keeps Busy While on Vacation, Press-Aide Asserts

KEY WEST, FLA. (AP) — "Wherever the President goes, the President works."

That was the winter White House's answer Friday to Republican suggestions that President Truman is away from Washington too much to do his full quota of work.

By way of proving that Mr. Truman keeps busy even when he is on a vacation such as the present three-week sojourn, White House Press Secretary Joseph Short said the President spent 3 1/2 hours working this morning on a new and full pouch of documents from Washington.

Contents of the pouch provided "considerably more work" for the President and his staff than on any day since the presidential party arrived here March 2, Short said.

The day's activity was climaxed by the President's announcement that he will nominate Dr. Alan T. Waterman as first director of the National Science foundation.

Mr. Truman started working on state papers immediately after he arose at 6:30 a.m. Then he took a 10-minute walk, breakfasted with W. Averell Harriman and canvassed the international situation with him.

Afterwards he also discussed the latest intelligence reports with his naval aide, Rear Adm. Robert L. Dennison, read more documents and signed commissions of officials whose nominations recently were confirmed by the senate.

Senate Passes $9-Million Highway Bill

(From the Wire Services)

DES MOINES — The Iowa senate passed and sent to Gov. William S. Beardsley Friday an appropriation bill for the state highway commission that topped the 1949 allocation by nearly $1-million.

One of the major appropriation bills before the legislature, the measure would give $9,897,516 a year to the highway commission. The figure was $922,516 above that set aside for the commission two years ago.

Of the total amount, $8-million a year would be designated for primary road maintenance. The rest would go for normal highway commission expenses.

Meanwhile, the house passed, 98-0, and sent to the senate, a bill to appropriate $9,585,711 a year for support and maintenance of the 14 state board of control institutions.

The proposed amount exceeded Beardsley's recommendation by $217,571 and at the same time topped the 1949 figure, which was $8,654,235.

Meanwhile in the senate the senate committee on compensation of public officers gave the green light to the first of the house bills which would pave the way to increase the salaries of county officials.

The committee placed on the calendar with a recommendation for passage a bill to double most of the fees now collected by county offices.

Higher revenues from the fees would be used to help meet the house-approved increases of $800 a year in the salaries of most county officials.

Sign-Language Fight Ends in Wife's Death

CHICAGO (AP) — A young deaf church elder admitted Friday that he strangled his pretty deaf-mute wife at Omaha after a violent argument in sign language and then tried to kill himself when he read she was dead.

John R. White, 27, strode into police headquarters and said he choked his wife with his bare hands in their Omaha apartment early Wednesday when she refused him a morning kiss.

The refused kiss, he said, climaxed an argument Tuesday night in which attractive Katherine White, 24, wanted to take a taxi-cab home from the movies and he preferred a street car.

The bruised body of Mrs. White, clad in a night gown, was found in the apartment Thursday. White's suicide attempt was revealed when he was searched in the lockup and a patch bandage was found on his abdomen.

Break-In, Coat Theft Reported to City Police

A break-in and a minor theft were reported to Iowa City police Friday.

C.J. Blades, Chicago, told police his overcoat was stolen from a local restaurant while he was eating lunch. Blades said the coat contained $3 in stamps and the keys to his car.

Thieves who removed the door of the Hillcrest cafeteria from its hinges sometime after midnight Friday stole an estimated $5 in cash.

They also forced the door to the post office, located on the same floor, but apparently took nothing police said.

Confessed-Spy Turns State's Witness, Incriminates Relatives

NEW YORK (AP) — Confessed-Spy David Greenglass denounced his brother-in-law in federal court Friday as a traitor who seduced from him American A-bomb secrets for Russia.

Greenglass, on the government's side in America's first atom spy trial, also put the finger on his own wife as the go-between in his betrayal.

The brother-in-law, Julius Rosenberg, 34, the latter's wife, Ethel, also 34, and Martin Sobell, 33, are on trial on a charge of conspiring to give atom secrets to Russia.

Becomes Government Witness

Greenglass, awaiting sentence after pleading guilty to the same charge, turned on his relatives and became a government witness at their trial. His own wife, Ruth, is named as a co-conspirator but not a defendant in the case.

He told a jury Friday that he was working at the Los Alamos A-bomb project in 1944 when his wife came to visit him. Mrs. Greenglass had visited the Rosenbergs a short time before.

Greenglass quoted his wife as saying the Rosenbergs asked her to get from him A-bomb data to pass on to Russia.

"I told my wife I would give her the information and she then asked me for specific information," Greenglass said.

That hooked, Greenglass said he turned over to his wife for the Rosenbergs an estimate of how many people worked at Los Alamos. He also listed some of the famed atomic scientists then perfecting the potent A-bomb — Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, Dr. George B. Kistiakowski and Dr. Neils Bohr, among others.

U of Illinois Probing Liquor Violations After Student Death

CHAMPAIGN (AP) — The University of Illinois began two investigations Friday to determine if beer and liquor regulations were violated in a fraternity house party in which a student suffered a fatal head injury.

Harold J. Colton, 21, Chicago, died of injuries received in a scuffle at the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity house Feb. 24. A coroner's jury Thursday returned a verdict of accidental death in the case.

Two Groups to Investigate

Witnesses testified at the inquest that beer was served at the fraternity's formal dance Feb. 24.

Fred H. Turner, dean of students, said the testimony "indicates there were violations of university regulations" and that two university bodies will investigate.

These are the board of fraternity affairs and the university senate committee on discipline.

Struck Several Times

The inquest established that Colton was struck several times by Clark Dean, a fraternity brother, who testified with others that the victim was in a "drunken stupor" and became abusive.

Dean said Colton went "wild" when he sought to quiet him, and that he was forced to strike the victim twice in self-defense. Colton had not appeared, at first, to suffer ill effects, but later was taken to a hospital where he died Wednesday of a brain hemorrhage.

The jury held that the death was accidental and there was no homicidal intent on the part of Dean.

Vandenberg's Condition Remains Unchanged

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. (AP) — The condition of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican foreign policy leader, was unchanged today after he suffered a relapse in his recovery from a serious lung operation.

The 66-year-old former newspaper editor had a comfortable day, Dr. A.B. Smith reported.

UNDERWORLD TAX EVADERS — The treasury asserted Friday that it is making "real efforts" to nab underworld tax evaders — congressional claims to the contrary — and offered to give the law-makers proof it is achieving "impressive results."

Simultaneously, a house administration subcommittee approved $50,000 for a ways and means subcommittee headed by Rep. Cecil R. King (D-Cal.) to investigate the government's tax policies, including its treatment of gamblers and racketeers.

Ways and means committee chairman Robert L. Doughton (R-N.C.) said it will be up to King whether to accept the treasury's offer.

COMMUNIST FUND PROBE — The house un-American activities committee dug Friday into testimony that the National Farmers union for "a number of years" received funds from what was purported to be a main source of Communist-front financing.

Probing Communist money-raising tactics, the committee recalled Clement C. Harris, identified by the committee as the Harvard-educated director of the party's national farm commission. Harris, who said he once worked on a Soviet state farm, previously had told the committee the farmers union received about $60,000 from the Marshall foundation.

BROWDER CONTEMPT TRIAL — A federal court jury Friday heard the story of Earl Browder's refusal to answer questions put to him by a Senate foreign relations subcommittee.

It was told by Edward P. Morgan, who served as the subcommittee's chief counsel during its investigation last year of charges by Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) that Communists worked for the state department.

Morgan, now enforcement chief of the office of price stabilization, described the circumstances of Browder being called as a witness.

PRICE INDEX UP — The government's wholesale price index, halting a one-week decline, rose again during the week ended Feb. 27 to a new all-time record, the bureau of labor statistics reported Friday. The bureau's index of all commodities increased three-tenths of one percent of 183.5 percent of the 1926 base-year average.

CEILINGS ON PORK — The office of price stabilization announced Friday it expects to issue soon a new regulation setting specific dollars and cents ceiling prices on ham, pork chops, sausage and all other pork products.

At the same time OPS said it also expects to issue a regulation shortly establishing ceilings on the prices of live hogs.

The plans were made known after the OPS officials discussed terms of a tentative pricing regulation with more than 40 hog slaughterers, processors, wholesalers and peddlers.

SOAP ROLL BACK — Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle ordered most soap manufacturers Friday to roll back their prices to December levels and called on merchants to pass along at least part of the cut to retail customers. Officials hoped that the action, effective Monday, will result in retail price cuts of about one cent a bar for most brands of soap, and two cents a box for most brands of soap chips and powders. If not, the agency will force a rollback.

It'll Buy a Lot of Soap

CAPTOWN, SOUTH AFRICA (AP) — Rear Adm. John Weston left his wife, two daughters and one son a fortune of 75,035 pounds ($170,318) in his will probated Friday provided they do not:

Smoke, drink, gamble, indulge in loose sex conduct, wear ostentatious clothing or adornment such as jewelry, resort to artificial beautifiers such as face powder, cream, rouge, lipstick, perfume, nail lacquer or hair oil.

"Good soap and water," Weston said, "are permissible."

Navy Invades Army; Partition to Be Built

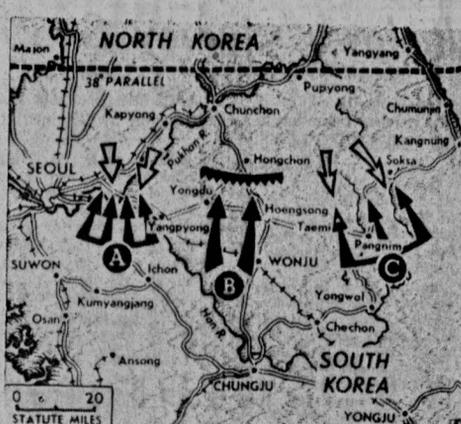

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — The unification of the armed forces became a fact here Thursday.

The navy recruiting station was moved into the army reserve headquarters.

The unification, however, will be only temporary from an office standpoint — a partition will built to separate the two agencies.

The navy move was made necessary by the condemnation of the federal building.

Panicked Freshman Dies Fleeing Scene of 'Joke'

NATCHITOCHEs, LA. (UP) — A big, good-natured college freshman who was thrown into panicky flight by a "hot date" joke March 1 was found dead in a Red river whirlpool Friday.

The freshman was Allen Kaplan, 18, of Chelsea, Mass. His body was caught in the whirlpool and was spinning rapidly, just below the surface of the river.

When the body was found, it became obvious how the "joke" had ended:

Upperclassmen in the Northwestern State college athletes' dormitory — Kaplan was a basketball player — told him a "hot date" was waiting for him in the dark at Grand Ecore bluff on the river.

Five or six upperclassmen volunteered to take him to the rendezvous in an automobile. But as they approached the bluff, a student playing an "outraged husband" burst out of the woods.

"Husband" Shoots

The driver hastily stopped the automobile. The "husband" with a flashlight in one hand and a shotgun in the other shouted that he knew where Kaplan was going and fired into the air.

All the students leaped out of the automobile and fled into the woods. The upperclassmen quickly returned, so they'd be present to laugh when Kaplan discovered he had been tricked and came back.

But Kaplan never came back alive. In terror-stricken flight, he plunged 40 feet from Grand Ecore bluff into the waters of Red river, deep and swift from spring freshets.

The body was discovered by two brothers — Carl and Walter Durham — five miles below the bluff. They towed it to the bank and telephones for a bigger boat to come get it.

Father Collapses

Kaplan's father, Norman, a 41-year-old plumber, arrived Tuesday night of help look for his son. He fainted in the home of H. Lee Prather, the college president, when he heard the body had been found.

College officials declined to say what they would do to the pranksters. J. W. French, the college public relations director, said 15 or 20 were in on the "joke" although only five or six were with Kaplan.

"It's out of my hands," dean of men Dudley Fulton said. "It's now in the hands of higher authorities."

Oakdale Patient Dies; Funeral Plans Set

Funeral services will be held today at Canton, S.D. for Mrs. Evelyn Violet Kooiman, 35, wife of William Kooiman, 121 E. Burlington street. Burial will be at Fairview, S.D.

Mrs. Kooiman, a resident of Lester, died at 1:45 a.m. Thursday at Oakdale sanatorium. She entered the sanatorium in April, 1949.

Surviving are her husband, William, and son, Jimmy, 7, who have lived in Iowa City since she became a patient at Oakdale.

City to Sell Cars Impounded 60 Days

MOST OF THE CARS IN THIS IMPOUNDING lot south of the Iowa City community building at the corner of Linn and Burlington streets have been there for at least 60 days. Jan. 8, the Iowa City council passed a resolution setting up the parking lot for cars found stored on city streets. The resolution provided that the cars could be sold for $5 to vint fee and $1 per day storage after being held 60 days. Saturday, City Atty. William H. Bartley said the owners would be given every opportunity to move their cars but that after Thursday, he would begin action to clear the cars held the legal limit.
