The Weather

Cloudy with light snow, strong northerly winds today. Thursday cloudy with not much change in temperature. High today, 30; low, 15-20. High Tuesday, 32; low, 23.

ALL-CAMPUS ELECTIONS HELD TODAY

Record Snowfall Blocks All Roads

The heaviest March snowfall in the history of Iowa, whipped by winds of about 20 miles-per-hour, blocked every road in Johnson county by 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The 26-inch snowfall exceeded the record March snowfall of 1912 by almost six inches.

Cradle Late

Truck traffic into Iowa City from the west ended shortly after 7 p.m. The Cradle, which should have arrived at 3 p.m., didn't get in until 6:30 because of heavy drifts it encountered near North Liberty.

Street and highway maintenance crews were called in Tuesday night after a three-day losing battle against the snow and wind. However, they were expected to be out on the job again this morning.

City crews spent Monday night cleaning up alleys and plan to work on the streets tonight. However, in many cases, snow drifted back almost as fast as it could be cleared away.

Two Buses Arrive

Two buses arrived in Iowa City from Chicago Tuesday, but were unable to go further west. Their passengers were transferred to trains which have been running almost on schedule.

Mail service was almost back to normal as much of the truck traffic was rerouted to trains. Many of the trucks which carry the mail in rural areas were reported snow bound and unable to reach Iowa City.

In Iowa City, only one casualty was reported as a result of the snow. Frank Slattery, A4, Des Moines, slipped near East hall and broke his leg.

After 90 hours of almost continuous snowfall, the best the weatherman could predict for today was light snow accompanied by rather strong northerly winds and drifting.

A snow bank stopped a passenger train near Greene, Iowa, Tuesday morning. The steam train consisted of three cars and engine. By late afternoon, however, crews had sidetracked the train in order to let a Minneapolis-bound streamliner pass.

Most of the six hundred snowplows which have been in constant use across the state since Saturday were still battling snow drifts Tuesday night.

At New Hampton, Iowa, two snowplows won a close race with the stork after they battled eight miles of drifts for three hours. A physician who followed the plows delivered a baby girl at the farm home of Mrs. Robert Drewelew within 15 minutes after he arrived.

By evening Tuesday, there were no cross-state highways in the state which were open.

GOP Moves To Abolish RFC

(From the Wire Services)

WASHINGTON — House Republicans launched a concerted drive Tuesday to abolish the Reconstruction Finance Corp. which has been accused by a senate subcommittee of bowing to "influence and favoritism" in its multi-million-dollar loans.

Several bills were ready in both houses to liquidate the multi-billion-dollar federal lending agency.

Demos Join

Democrats and Republicans alike joined in the attack. The house GOP committee adopted a resolution declaring the RFC has "degenerated into an instrument for the peddling of influence" and now engages in distributing gratuities and rich political plums.

GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., Mass., said the house Republican policy committee agreed to oppose President Truman's RFC reorganization plan, which comes up for a house vote today. Martin called the plan a "phony" which would give the White House "greater power" over RFC.

He said the 29-member committee voted to back legislation to abolish the lending agency and transfer its remaining duties to some other agency for liquidation program.

DUKE ELLINGTON, composer, orchestra leader and pianist, will appear with his band at SUI April 6. Tickets for the concert, which will be given at the Iowa Union, will cost $1.25, central party committee chairman Norman Matulef said Tuesday. Ellington also appeared here last spring for two concerts, both of which were sell-outs.

Korean Leader Says 38th Parallel is Cause of Conflict

The creation of the 38th parallel is the cause of the present war in Korea, Col. Ben C. Limb, chief of the South Korean mission to the United Nations, told a small audience in the Iowa Union Tuesday night.

Limb, who is also foreign minister of South Korea, termed the parallel an "imaginary dividing line" which has turned brother against brother in Korea.

"There is no such thing as a North Korean and a South Korean," he emphasized. "The Koreans are all one people."

The people in North Korea are not communists, he pointed out, and are fighting only at the point of a gun. During the war, five million people have deserted the Communist tyranny in the north and have escaped, seeking warmth and friendship of the free Koreans under democracy.

"They have given up their homes in North Korea and have braved the bitter cold of winter because they hate communism," Limb said.

By fighting aggression in Korea, the U.S. is protecting herself against possible attack, he said.

Korea, he explained, is a two-way bridge to the Pacific islands and to the Asian mainland. From Korea, an attack could also be launched against the U.S.

Limb said he believed the UN forces should cross the 38th parallel and establish a "watchdog" force in the country to discourage further aggression. The Republic of Korea also has, he said, an army of 230,000 fully equipped men and a reserve of one million men, who with the proper arms, could prevent attacks in the future.

To Hold Concert In Music Building

The University symphony orchestra concert, originally scheduled to be held in the Iowa Union, will be held in North Music hall at 8 p.m. today.

Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, conductor of the orchestra, urged the audience to listen to the concert over WSUI because of the limited capacity of North Music hall.

Weather conditions were blamed by Clapp for the change in plans.

Gustav Mahler's "Seventh Symphony" and Nikolai Rimsky-Korsakov's last opera, "The Golden Cockerel" will be included on the same other agency for liquidation program.

President Will Ask Overhaul Of Mobilization

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman will send a special message to congress about April 1 asking for a major overhaul of the nation's defense mobilization laws, it was learned Thursday night.

It is expected the message will offer an omnibus program covering all phases of the stabilization effort, including controls for prices, wages and rents.

Incorporate Lessons

Changes suggested in the defense production act, parts of which are due to die June 30, would incorporate lessons learned since controls were invoked.

It is uncertain whether Mr. Truman will attempt to buck the congressional farm bloc and try for changes in the parity program, which sets a "fair" standards of prices for agricultural products.

As now written, the controls act forbids price ceilings for farm goods until they reach the parity level. Some have charged this makes for more inflation, since it leaves room for various price rises.

Rent Controls

While rent controls are not included in the present act, it is known that administration officials believe they should be strengthened and incorporated with the other controls programs.

Rent controls now are due to expire March 30. However, the senate passed a bill Tuesday to extend the ceilings for 90 days.

A similar measure has been introduced in the house and is expected to win approval. Adoption of the stop-gap measure would make the rent controls expire the same time as the wage and price sections of the defense production act.

World Situation at a Glance

KOREAN FRONT—Chinese Red forces, retreating toward new mountain line, break contact along most of 70-mile front. Allied air and artillery hammers retreating Communists as UN ground forces move to within 22 miles of 38th parallel without stiff opposition.

LONDON — Britain urges Italy to negotiate Trieste settlement with Yugoslavia. Attlee says Italy and Yugoslavia should negotiate a lasting settlement on Trieste in a spirit of conciliation.

FRANKFURT — Gen. Thomas T. Handy says that fighting units, are included in reinforcements steadily swelling U.S. armed strength in Europe.

WASHINGTON—Former President Herbert Hoover says that sending four more American army divisions to Europe would be an "unwarranted risk," and might lead to a war which would mean the "end of civilization as a whole."

PHILADELPHIA — Unless Western Europe's defenses are built up rapidly it "might surrender" to Russia when its cities become subject to the hazard of Soviet atomic attacks, Harvard University President Dr. James B. Conant says.

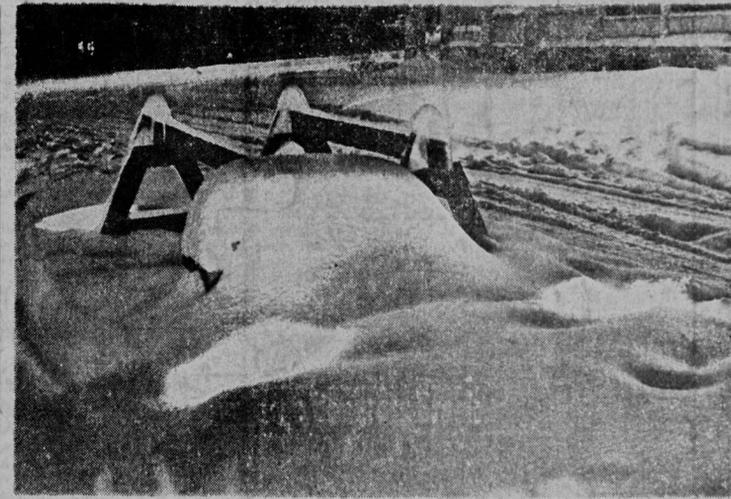

HONOLULU — Lt. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, commander of the U.S. army in the Pacific, says 5,000 infantry trainees will arrive in Hawaii next month to open new training center at Schofield barracks.

ROME — Communist or Fascist terrorists trying to revive the touchy issue of Trieste bomb American embassy and the foreign office and hurl dud bomb at Yugoslav legislation during early rush hour.

VIENNA — Hundreds of anti-Communist leaflets urging Soviet army soldiers and officers to plan the "liquidation" of Soviet Premier Josef Stalin scattered Tuesday night in vicinity of Soviet headquarters.

BARCELONA—Armed marines land from warships to reinforce police and crack civil guards after cost-of-living riots in which at least three persons were killed and 200 arrested.

UNITED NATIONS. — High United Nations officials say they approved Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's statement that ending the Korean war at the 38th parallel would constitute a UN victory.

THIS EERIE EFFECT WAS CREATED after snow and wind failed to extinguish four flare type lanterns which mark the corners of a hole in the pavement at the intersection of Linn and East Market streets. This night picture was taken after a blanket of more than two feet of snow piled up around the lanterns in one of the heaviest snow storms in more than half a century.

Reds Continue Retreating

(From the Wire Services)

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) — The Red army abandoned a mile-wide belt across Korea Tuesday, trading space for time to pump new life into its ranks riddled by 171,000 casualties in six weeks.

The retreating Chinese and North Korean Communists all but disappeared from the battlefield. Almost 200,000 Allied troops moved cautiously into the undefended no man's land, and patrols ranged ahead in search of the enemy's new defense line.

Faded Out of Reach

The Reds faded back out of reach of the Allies practically everywhere on the 140-mile Korean line, save for scattered rear guards fighting small scale delaying actions.

Allied air and artillery hampered the retreating Reds. Allied ground troops moved up to within 22 miles of the 38th parallel without determined opposition.

The Reds pulled out of their front line so rapidly Tuesday they abandoned pack animals used to haul artillery and supplies to the front.

Front dispatches indicated the Reds had decided not to defend Hangeong — once headquarters for the Chinese 66th army corps.

Supply Movement

A heavy Communist supply movement from both northwest and northeast Korea toward the battlefield was reported, however. More than 1,500 vehicles were sighted in the past 48 hours, hinting that a big new battle still may be brewing just south of the 38th parallel.

Front dispatches said the Reds seemed intent on defending an east-west lateral highway running from the battered Communist-held capital of Seoul in the west, through the central Korean base of Chunchon to the east coast.

Allied authorities had no doubt the enemy had only pulled back, not out, and was getting ready to fight again.

Outlook Optimistic

Maj. Gen. Claude B. Ferenbaugh, commander of the 77th division, said:

"The outlook is optimistic, but we are still keeping our guard up. We've got the enemy reeling back, but he is still not knocked out."

A tenth corps spokesman said the Red Koreans were using roadblocks and land mines in an effort to stall the Allied advance northward.

The Eighth army announced a revised toll of 3,200 casualties, inflicted through ground action Monday. This brought the total casualties inflicted on the Reds by ground forces to 35,657 in six days. Since Jan. 25 when Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway headed the Eighth army back north in a limited offensive, his troops and big guns have accounted for 171,017 Communists dead, wounded, or captured.

7 More Iowans War Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense department Tuesday night announced seven new Iowa army casualties in the Korea area, including one killed in action and two who died of wounds.

The list includes: KILLED IN ACTION: Pfc. Lee D. Decker, son of Mrs. Zoleta T. Defess, Muscatine.

DIED OF WOUNDS: Cpl. Raymond Bennett Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Chapman, Letts; Pfc. Olaf Peter Pulver, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson Pulver, Delhi.

WOUNDED: Pfc. Raymond Sebastian Nece, husband of Mrs. Virginia Bell Nece, Milford; Pfc. Arnold J. Newsum, son of Mrs. Margaret L. Newsum, Waterloo; Pfc. Clell Edward Van Dorin, husband of Mrs. Augusta L. Van Dorin, Albia.

INURED: Cpl. Collier Newton Chase Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Collier Newton Chase Sr., Sioux City.

House Group Rejects Republican Rider

(From the Wire Services)

WASHINGTON — The house armed services committee refused Tuesday to tie onto the draft and universal military training bill (UMT) a rule against sending American troops to Europe without the direct consent of congress.

The committee agreed Tuesday to let as few as 110 house members or 25 senators kill universal military training as Democrats sought a 4-million man ceiling on U.S. armed strength.

The committee rejected 21 to 14 a Republican attempt to amend its 18 1-2 year old draft bill by barring further troop shipments to Europe without advance approval of congress. In addition to lowering the draft age from 19, the measure would increase the draft term from 21 to 26 months.

The troops "rider" offered by probably will be offered again Rep. Harry L. Towle (R-N.J.) when the draft bill reaches the house floor. House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) has predicted it will be defeated.

The committee failed to complete action on the modified administration draft bill. Southern Democratic members probably will try to add a segregation clause today.

Western Delegates' Big 4 Conference Proposals Rejected

(From the Wire Services)

PARIS — United States, British and French delegates announced Tuesday that their talks with Russia on a program for a Big Four foreign ministers conference were "completely deadlocked."

Russian Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko scornfully rejected a compromise program draft submitted by the three Western delegates.

Gromyko insisted that the program contain a separate item on forbidding the militarization of Germany—an item which would be so worded that it would constitute in itself an indictment of the Western powers for planning to rearm Western Germany.

Alexandre Parodi of France told Gromyko plainly that the Korean war and a "great fear of the Soviet Union" are the real causes of world tension.

It was the first time the Korean war had been brought up at these polite meetings.

But Parodi took time to give Gromyko a forthright lecture. "It is essential for the Soviet Union to understand," officials quoted him as saying, "what effect the events of last June (the Korean attack) had on the world."

Gromyko replied that the Soviet Union already had "unmasked" the people who accuse Russia of creating war. He said the Soviet Union and the "peoples democracies" stand for peace, while it is the "warmongers" of the West who are frightening the world by indulging in huge arms programs.

Ask State Finance Medical Expansion

The Iowa State Medical society expressed its confidence in the SUI college of medicine Tuesday and asked the legislature to give the school "adequate" funds to train more doctors.

In a resolution sent to the legislators, Governor William S. Bardsley and members of the state board of education, the society commended the college for increased freshmen enrollment.

The resolution affirmed the society's "confidence in the ability of the college of medicine to train more physicians." It asked the legislature to appropriate funds which will allow an expansion of buildings, equipment and personnel to train more physicians.

The society made it apparent that the state of Iowa should assume the financial responsibility for much expansion rather than federal aid grants "because it is probably that the supreme court of the United States would rule the government has the power of control when it supplies the funds."

SUI students will begin voting this morning in the all-campus elections to elect delegates to the student council and members of the student board of publications and union board.

The seven polling places are located at Currier hall, the Quadrangle, Iowa Union, Macbride hall, East hall and two at Schaeffer hall. They will remain open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Two women and two men are to be elected to the student council as delegates-at-large. Eight students will be elected to the union board, three men and three women from the college of liberal arts and one man and one woman from commerce. Two persons are to be elected to the student board for two year terms and one for a one year term.

Council Candidates Student council candidates are: Tom Olson, A3, Red Oak; Joyce Horton, A3, Osage; Marion Guy, A3, Aledo, Ill.; Richard Lawry E2, Iowa City; Bill Ayers, A3, Lombard, Ill.; George Lawton, A4, Fort Dodge; Marilyn McMillen, A2, Dubuque.

Price Limits Off Restaurants, Clubs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Restaurants, night clubs, soda fountains and other eating - and - drinking places will be removed from the general price freeze April 1, allowing some prices to go up, it was announced Tuesday.

The Office of Price Stabilization said the new order, which puts such places under a flexible price system geared to their actual food costs, will lead to increases in some menu prices and to rollbacks in others. It applies to alcoholic beverages as well as foods.

The action coincided with a warning from the agriculture department that meat prices probably will remain high throughout 1951. While bigger meat supplies are in sight, the department said, consumer demand also is growing.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle said the new restaurant order is designed to stabilize menu prices "automatically" when the cost of food is stabilized. He has said previously he hopes this can be achieved by summer.

Time for Thought - With Action -

During this academic year, we've heard all sorts of complaints. They were directed at individuals, the student council, the faculty, the administration - somebody, it seems, was always doing something wrong.

According to these complaints, the student council was weak, misled, indifferent and worthless. The faculty and administration have been charged with losing sight of the students' needs by forcing students to travel on New Year's day, and of constructing and administering poor examinations.

Today is an important day in connection with those complaints. Today is the day the all-campus elections will be held. And today is the day every student should vote for the candidates he believes can bring about a year of fewer complaints - or a year in which complaints will bring about better results.

We're not saying that placing any particular combination of candidates in office will be the answer to all campus problems, or that doing so would mean we would have a year of no problems.

We don't say this any more than we say electing either Democrats or Republicans would assure us that we could escape war.

But we do say that an intelligent, well-thought-out vote will come nearer assuring us of an intelligent and effective representation in the student council, the board of publications, and the other groups to which members will be elected.

And we hope that between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. today there will be a big turnout of students at the polls - armed with these intelligent, well-thought-out votes.

Council Needs Power, Candidate Gladly Says

(The Daily Iowan has invited candidates for student council to write 300-word statements on their platforms and views. Today, The Iowan is printing Charles Gladly's article.)

By CHARLES GLADLY
Today you are going to vote for something that doesn't exist. That something is a student council. This may seem like a startling fact, but nevertheless it is true.

One of the basic theories behind any type of student government is a foundation of legal authority delegated to the student body by the administration. That essential foundation does not exist at the University of Iowa. The student council's authority has yet to be clearly defined.

According to its constitution, the purpose of the student council here at Iowa is to improve the status of student life. GLADLY and to present student attitudes on matters of student affairs which are not now within the jurisdiction of other properly constituted groups. There is no power in that statement.

Therefore, one of the chief objectives of my campaign is to work for a statement from the administration a statement which will set down exactly what authority is to be vested in the student council. Only then can we look with pride to a student council that exists, a council that is an integral part in student life on this campus.

Since a task such as this cannot be accomplished overnight or even in a year's time, it is imperative that we maintain a strain of continuity within the council itself. This can be done by revising the election procedures so that some experienced members are left in to assist the newly elected members. This will prevent the repetition of past errors and will provide a more workable system.

Naturally, I am in favor of the book exchange, the investigation of Frivol and the parking problem, and all other things which arise out of student opinion. But to insure the completion of such benefits we need a living council based on a sound and sure foundation.

1950 Census Gives GOP New Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) - The 1950 census has turned up a mathematical - legal problem for the GOP. The Republicans allot one delegate to their national convention for each district that cast 1,000 or more votes for the GOP president or house nominee in the preceding election, two if the vote reached 10,000 and none at all if it fell below 1,000.

Some states must reapportion house districts on the basis of the latest census. Will votes be counted as from old districts or new?

Communist Gestures Of Peace to Turkey Expected by U.S.

WASHINGTON - Expert analysts of Russia's current "good will" tactics have advised top state department officials to watch for a change in Soviet pressures on Turkey.

One speculation is that the Soviets may go through the motions of waiving their claims on the Turkish provinces of Kars and Ardahan, may soften their long-standing demands for military bases in the Dardanelles and may suggest a Soviet-Turkish non-aggression treaty.

Reasoning along this line grows out of two facts:
1. Beginning last November with their proposal for a Big Four meeting on Germany, and with Stalin's Pravda interview more recently, the Soviets have been trying to present themselves to the world in a more peaceful light.

2. Turkey more than any other single country is the strategic key to the Middle East and the eastern Mediterranean.

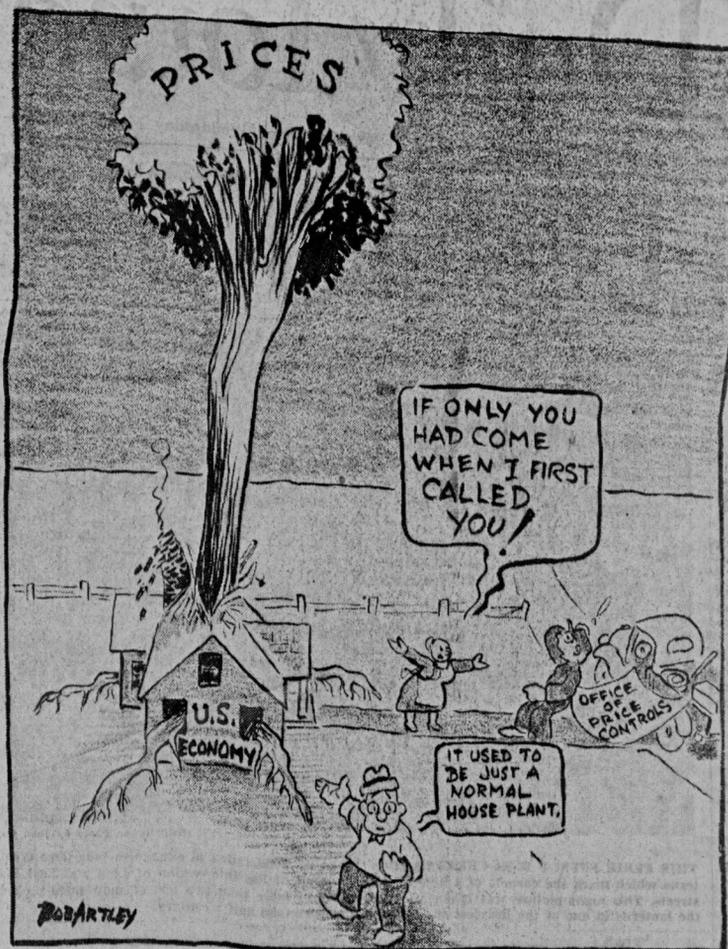

Practically, the Russians may hope under the cover of this overall propaganda-diplomatic policy to ease the fears and win the confidence of some of the uncontrolled nations on their borders.

This appears particularly true of their attitude toward Iran in recent months, characterized by greater willingness to negotiate with the Iranians on issues between the two countries.

What Comes of Putting Things Off

Interpreting the News -

Allies Must Discard All Colonialism

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

If the United States does go into a real development program for undeveloped areas of the world she's going to have to do some plain talking with some of her best friends.

Any plan such as that outlined by the President's International Development Advisory board for the implementation of point four is doomed to failure unless it escapes all the appearances of aid and sympathy with colonialism.

U.S. Lost Face
The U.S. already has lost face among the underdeveloped peoples because, through the urgencies of her connections with Britain, France, Holland and other European countries, she has been trying to straddle the fence on this subject ever since the war. Peoples who had grown to look to America for sympathy in every movement toward independence have become disillusioned.

Nationalism, the fight for independence, is growing in all of the so-called colored areas - from the southwest Pacific to the Atlantic shores of Africa. Anti-British and anti-American feeling is strong throughout the Moslem world. From the western border of Russia to the farthest tips of Asia the word for Westerners is either stay out or get out.

The U.S. proposes to go in. It proposes to send in the food and raw material producing techniques, and some of the industrial benefits, of the West. The government seeks through aid for increased food production, tax incentives and arrangement of sound relations with other governments, to send in Western free enterprise. In return it wants stable, non-Communist political conditions and good customers.

It sounds like the underdeveloped peoples would have everything to gain and nothing to lose. But convincing them of it may be another story.

Not Ready to Forget
They are not by any means ready to forget the "developers" which the colonial powers once sent out as the spearheads of empire. In the light of their own times these may not have been so bad. It is possible to argue that in many ways the old colonial system contributed to ultimate progress. But it brought servitude and exploitation, and its immediate product was hatred.

The U.S. reaped a similar harvest from early commercial activities in Latin America. Even today it cannot call on Latin America to testify before other peoples that development by U.S. enterprise is always altruistic.

First, America will have to keep out all tinges of colonialism and exploitation. Then she will have to convince the aided peoples that she is really doing so. The latter is perhaps more difficult than the former.

Include Arrangements
This will have to include arrangements, such as those the U.S. made with the Philippines years ago, for independence when the ability to accept responsibility has been attained.

That means telling France, Britain and the others that, in the interest of world security, they must give up all colonial-type interests as time goes on; that the U.S. will work for this whether they agree or not; and that their actions and agreements with submerged peoples now must be convincing of this ultimate intent.

This may be hard. Unity is a vital need among the Allies. But unity without principle cannot win this war in the long run. And one thing you can put in your book: Where the U.S. does not help in the aspirations of peoples, Soviet Russia will do a beautiful job of pretending to.

Plea for Quaker ...

TO THE EDITOR:
This is a plea in behalf of Robert Michener, the young Quaker conscientious objector, who on Feb. 23 was sentenced to a 10 year prison term in Topeka, Kan., for his refusal to fill out the selective service questionnaire, for failure to report for his physical examination and for refusal to report for induction. It should be noted that at the time of his conviction Michener was on parole for having served a previous year and a day conviction for non-registration. Both sentences were given by Judge Delmar Hill, of the United States district court at Topeka.

One of the most unfortunate aspects of the Michener conviction is not only the 10-year sentence - the longest, by the way, given a selective service violator since the original draft law was passed in 1940 - but the fact that his is one of the numerous cases of individuals rearrested for the same "crime"; namely, the refusal to cooperate in any way with the selective service act. Right here in Iowa the trials of Donald Mott and Roy Knight are due to take place at Des Moines soon. And as with Michener, they are both Quakers and both have served prison terms for refusal to register and are now up for second prosecutions.

The deplorable part of this whole second prosecution procedure is that young conscientious objectors taking the Michener position, will either be in prison or on parole most of the time from their eighteenth through their twenty-sixth birthday, and perhaps longer if the draft age is extended. Certainly this is unfair, and though it is a problem the department of justice is supposedly considering, as yet no action has been taken. Just as a matter of policy, the department of justice could decline to prosecute a second time.

Whether one is in sympathy with the conscientious objector, or not, one must admit that the rights of conscience are a part of our democratic heritage. Admitting this, it will seem to many that a ten year prison term is an unnecessarily harsh sentence for a person who has committed no other offense than the compulsion to follow his own inner religious beliefs.

Judge Hill has until March 23 to reduce the sentence of Robert Michener. Those who feel he should do so are urged to write to him at Topeka. Letters of protest may also be sent to District Attorney Lester Luther (same address as Judge Hill) and to Howard J. McGrath, Attorney General, Department of Justice, Washington, D.C. Prescott Harmon Jr., 453 Riverdale street

Be Tricky ...

TO THE EDITOR:
Mickie McMullen's plan for a continuation of the work of the council from year to year is to me one of the best plans thus far presented by any candidate. Mickie has a definite plan to accomplish this while the other candidates do not. Her plan is to set up sub-committees. Then after working a year on a sub-committee these people would be eligible for election to the student council.

This seems to me to gain what the present council now lacks - that of continuation of the work of the council from year to year. If SUI wants a better council "Be tricky - Vote Mickie."
Bobbie Campbell

Original ...

TO THE EDITOR:
JIM MERGEN has presented the only original idea that I have heard throughout this campaign for student council delegate-at-large. Jim's idea about setting up a room reservation bureau for visiting parents is an example of what is needed on the student council. We need someone with new ideas - someone who will do more than talk - someone who will act. That man is JIM MERGEN.

Be sure to vote today for a better student council to speak for you as the student body. I believe that Jim would do just that. If you want a strong student council, vote for a strong candidate who will represent YOU. Vote for JIM MERGEN today.
Bill Ebert

Qualified ...

TO THE EDITOR:
If I were in a position to do so, I would gladly offer to drive timorous students to the polls Wednesday, mind babies, shake every hand on the campus, and write out excuses for students' cutting classes to vote. But the unfortunate truth is that these things are out of reach. Therefore, I appeal to the readers of The Daily Iowan to reflect on the qualifications of Richard Larew for student council and vote so as to permit him to carry out his program to strengthen the council and expand its usefulness.

Dick was a member of the freshman men's honorary, last year was the secretary of the Associated Students of Engineering, has been an active debater, a student adviser, a Union board sub-committee member, and an active participant in the Westminster fellowship.

As the first step toward making the council more effective, Dick Larew proposes expanding the number of delegates-at-large and giving the new members longer terms. Thus the council elected each year will have some experienced members on hand who know the problems to be faced and know the faculty members who have contacts with the council.

Secondly, the council must strive to obtain membership on the committee on student life. Dick Larew feels it is stretching a point to devise the regulations which govern student life without the help of the group of students selected by the students as a whole to represent them.

Another point of friction in the past which Dick Larew will work to eliminate is the lack of student representation on the committee which draws up the university calendar.

In addition, Dick feels it would be a good idea to revise the council constitution to include representatives from the many leading campus organizations now denied representation on the council. Let's eliminate the second-class citizenship imposed on these groups.

When you vote Wednesday, and please do, remember to cast your ballot for Dick Larew, delegate-at-large to the student council.

Blarney ...

TO THE EDITOR:
The rumor has been spread, undoubtedly by engineers, that a guard of engineers will be selected, to protect the Mecca queen candidates from would-be abductors, presumably students of law. This is a gross misrepresentation; the guards are to keep the Mecca queen candidates from running off with law students and going to the local pubs for a tall glass of the green.

A recent independent survey (source unknown) found (or should have found) that university women prefer law students to engineering students, two to one. But be heartened, EEs, MEs, CE, HES, and just plain engineers! For the college of law will allow students to matriculate even though their only undergraduate work is in the field of engineering! (It has been rumored that the real purpose of hunting for the Blarney stone is to kiss it and so become qualified to enter the study of law.)
George Pavlik, L3

Responsive ...

TO THE EDITOR:
In order for the student council to serve the students effectively, it is necessary that the council represent the student body rather than special groups.

I think the students should take special care when they vote for candidate who clearly is not at delegates-at-large to vote for a candidate who clearly is not attached to any group which might influence the council or try to get publicity through the council. This is very important, for many students believe that the council is only a debating society which seldom takes any real action on behalf of the students.

I think students will want to cast their votes for GEORGE LAWTON, for George realizes what the students want.

George is in favor of having the council be responsive to student opinion. George knows that the book exchange was a good beginning, but he thinks the council can serve the students on a much broader scale. George sees the problems which affect many students, and he proposes that the council take note of student interest and inform the administration of student opinion. If you are not completely satisfied with the council's accomplishments, and if you want a truly representative student council, I urge you to vote for GEORGE LAWTON.

Greater Glory ...

TO THE EDITOR:
Being well aware that you have the greater honor and glory of SUI constantly in mind, I respectfully submit the following suggestions with the request that you act upon it immediately.

Call our distinguished mendicants home from Des Moines and worry no more about the university budget! Let us enlist the services of the university printing service for a truly worthy cause, namely, that of setting our beloved school on its financial feet for all time to come.

My project is this. With available facilities we can print a clean-up version of practically every piece of English and American literature of any consequence for sale in and about Dubuque - and farther, if the madness spreads. The market seems endless, particularly when you consider that some sly rascal has inserted some very doubtful material into the Bible and that this work must be replaced in thousands of homes and libraries.

With highly commendable loyalty I have given you people the first chance at this unparalleled opportunity. Of course, if you do not take instant advantage of it, I shall be forced to submit it to some eager publisher in the vicinity who will gladly make his fortune in a matter of days.

Can't Go Wrong ...

TO THE EDITOR:
Perhaps all students aren't familiar with Mickie McMullen's qualifications for election to student council. First and most important, she is sincerely interested in S. C. and what it stands for. She has been active at Iowa during the two years she has been here. Among other things, she has been and now is a Highlander; she is a sub-vision editor of Hawkeye; house chairman for Campus Chest and a Union board sub-committee member. She is a well qualified person for the job. You can't go wrong by electing Mickie McMullen.
Diane Hawes, A2

Organized Prodding ...

TO THE EDITOR:
In looking over the articles which have appeared in The Daily Iowan explaining the platforms of the candidates for the student council, I have noticed that only one candidate mentions specifically the prices charged by the university dining services.

GEORGE LAWTON calls for renewed investigation of these high prices, and to me that indicates that George is keeping the interests of the students clearly in mind.

Of course, many people say that the previous investigation was all that could be done. However, the student council should apply itself to determine if students are getting their money's worth in food and not paying for waste or poor business management.

The dining services at this university have little competition, since they serve either boarding dormitories or cafeterias in such places as the Quadrangle, where there is a tendency to neglect efficient business management. As long as the customers have no real choice, it can scarcely be expected that the dining services will pay real attention to efficiency unless the students do some organized prodding.

George Lawton recognizes this need for council action. If we want a council which really represents the student body, we should vote for GEORGE LAWTON.

From the Heart

(From the Wire Services)
"Opera has nothing here (in the heart)," according to Yma Sumter, the Peruvian singing marvel with the five-octave voice.
"I like music that makes me cry or makes me laugh," the 23-year-old Inca explained. "I like our old Inca folk songs. I like your Negro spirituals and your hillbilly music. That is from the heart," she said.

21 High Schools to Attend Final Music Workshop

Twenty-one Iowa high schools will be represented at the final music workshop for brass and woodwind ensembles in North Music hall Saturday.

H. D. Harmon, who received his doctorate degree at SUI, will discuss the performances of the high school brass students during the morning performances. Harmon is now head of the music department at Moorhead Teachers college, Moorhead, Minn.

While attending SUI, Harmon was first trumpeter in the orchestra. Directing the woodwind section of students' ensembles will be Donald A. Lentz, director of the bands at the University of Nebraska.

Lentz, a flutist, is widely known in the Midwest for his judging and clinic work with woodwind instruments. Prof. Himie Voxman, director of the workshop program, said.

The brass and woodwind workshop is the final in a series of three workshops conducted by SUI to interest high school students in music education, Voxman said.

A workshop for vocal music students was held last Saturday, and one for string ensemble students on March 3.

High schools planning to send student ensembles and music instructors are Anamosa, Victor, Iowa City (University High), Williamsburg, Tama, Davenport, De Witt, Centerville, Hampton, Monticello, Iowa City, Creston, Burlington, Monona, Grinnell, Oelwein, Chariton, Marengo, Washington, Marion and Center Point.

City High Students To Present Revue

"Paint-and-Patches" drama club and members of the instrumental and vocal departments of Iowa City high school will present a revue at 8 p.m. Friday in the school auditorium.

The Thursday night performance was cancelled and those holding tickets will attend Friday. Bufford Garner, Iowa City high school principal, said Tuesday. He also said a performance may be scheduled next week.

Anne Baker, Marianna Harriot and John Larew are cast in "The Sisters McIntosh," by Richard Corson. Roles in "The Valiant," by Robert Middlemass and Halworthy Hall, will be played by Kent Braverman, Gordon Beals, Dean Michel, Geraldine Oldaker and Paul Harris.

Donna Ebert, Julie Rate, George Nagle and a group of students portraying a "crowd" will take part in "The Slave With Two Faces." Ted Dunnington, Don Lubin, Wayne Welcher, Gene Warton, Dick Guthrie and Keith Jones are cast in the workman scene of "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Musical selections will be varied to fit the mood of the several presentations. Miss Lola Hughes, Mrs. Edith Frey and Miss Helen Opsahl, Iowa City high school teachers, are directors of the revue.

New Members Assume School Posts Monday

Three newly-elected members of the Iowa City school board will assume their positions Monday at the final meeting of the old school board.

The new board consists of three women and four men. Those elected to three-year terms in Monday's election were Atty. William H. Bartley, incumbent, Mrs. E. W. Paulus and Mrs. George Horner.

Other members whose terms did not expire this year are Irving Weber, Alva Oathout, Mrs. Kenneth Greene and Atty. Robert Osmundson.

Van Dyke to Talk On Philippines Trip At Union Saturday

"Observations in the Philippines" will be discussed by Prof. Lauren A. Van Dyke director of University high school, at a luncheon meeting of the American association of University Women at 2:15 p.m. Saturday in the University club rooms, Iowa Union.

Van Dyke was sent to the Philippines as a part of the teacher exchange program of the national government. He is chairman of the North Central Association of Secondary Schools.

Mrs. Paul Huston, program chairman, said that the Philippine talk will complete the five programs of the AAUW dealing with governmental, cultural and charitable relations of the national government with other countries.

Courtesy and dining-room hostesses for the luncheon will be Mrs. T. M. Rehder, Mrs. G. B. Strayer, Mrs. Alice Kemp, Mrs. Francis Irelan, Mrs. Vernal Bennion, Mrs. Robert Munn, Mrs. F. E. Coburn, Mrs. A. M. Barch, Mrs. H. L. Harbison, Miss Georgia Black and Miss Elizabeth Hunter.

Reservations for the luncheon must be made before Thursday with Mrs. Robert Kennedy, 7920, or Mrs. Harold Shiffler, 2988.

Iowa City Women Attend Coffee Hours For C-M Candidates

Approximately 350 women attended the neighborhood coffee hours sponsored by the Iowa City Council-Manager association Tuesday afternoon and evening.

The women discussed the five candidates who are being endorsed by the association and listened to transcribed interviews with these men over station KXIC.

Mrs. C. M. Kos, 906 S. Lucas street, chairman of the coffee hours, said 135 groups were set up in homes throughout the city and that each gathering was attended by 5 to 15 women. A few meetings were cancelled because of the weather, but most of them were held.

Women working under Mrs. Kos were Mrs. David Braverman, 615 S. Capitol street; Mrs. L. J. Ruzicka, 308 W. Benton street; Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher, 102 E. Church street; Mrs. H. L. SUI Water Works Course to Feature Fluorine Possibilities

The question of adding fluorine to drinking water and the problem of safeguarding water from atomic radiation will be considered in the annual Water Works short course to be held at SUI April 10 and 11.

The course is intended primarily for water works personnel of Iowa. It is expected to attract a number of medical and dental specialists as well. Prof. Phillip F. Morgan, SUI sanitary engineering department said.

Both the American Dental association and the Iowa Dental association have approved the addition of fluorine to drinking water as a preventive for tooth decay, Morgan said. Its adoption in many midwestern cities has created considerable interest in the project in Iowa.

State Defense Director Rodney Q. Selby and other civil defense authorities will discuss the problems of protecting municipal water works in the event of an atom-bomb attack. Devices for measuring radiation in contaminated water will be shown.

Prof. Berg to Head Holy Week Services

Prof. C. P. Berg, SUI bio-chemistry department, is in charge of Holy Week services to be held for the first time in Iowa City at noon March 21, 22 and 23 in the Englert theater.

These services are being sponsored by the interdenominational committee of local Christian laymen. Dr. L. L. Dunnington will speak March 21, Rev. P. H. Pollock will speak March 22 and the Rev. John G. Craig will speak on March 23.

The services are planned to run from noon to 12:30 p.m. and service clubs are requested to suspend noonday programs so members can attend the services. Iowa City employers were also asked to arrange lunch hours so employees can attend the services.

SUI Speech Professor To Address Churchwomen

Prof. James F. Curtis, SUI speech department, will speak at the meeting of the Pollock circle of the First Presbyterian church at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Grace Olmstead, 518 Oakland avenue.

Sub-State Tournaments Delayed Again By Storm Conditions

If the snow storm continues much longer, Iowa City's sub-state tournaments will be finished sometime around the end of the baseball season. Tuesday IHSAA Secretary Lyle Quinn ordered another days postponement in tournaments around the state.

This marks the second straight postponement of tournaments because of the storm and resulting bad roads.

The changes in schedule have a greater effect on Iowa City's tournaments than any others because four meets — classes B, A, and two AA — have been assigned here.

As the schedule now stands, two finals will be held Saturday and two Monday. Play is supposed to begin tonight at 6:30 when Muscatine Catholic meets Birmingham in a B game. The Solon-Keswick game, another class B battle follows at 7:45 and the evening's card will be completed with an AA game between Fairfield and Muscatine at 9 p.m.

In the other AA class, Davenport is scheduled to meet Cedar Rapids Franklin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and Iowa City will play Clinton at 8:45 on the same night.

As things have turned out, it's fortunate that a week interval between the sub-state and state tournaments was provided by the state commission. In the past, the sub-state ended Saturday and the state started the following Tuesday.

This year the interval was provided so the tournaments would not conflict with Easter holidays.

Expect New Baseball Commissioner in July

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. (AP)—Baseball expects to elect a new commissioner at Detroit in July.

The four-man screening committee set that target date Tuesday as it began anew its search for a man to succeed A.B. Chandler. The committee has been in business for three months, but its hands were tied until Chandler's bid for reelection was beaten finally Monday.

The committee now has a list of 30 names under consideration for the job. Eight of them already have been approached. However, until Chandler was defeated, the answer was always the same—"I can't either accept or turn down a job you aren't even sure you could offer."

Big Ten Trampoline Champ —

Harris Gets a Bounce Out of Life

By RED BICKERS
Can you imagine carrying on a conversation with a vertical ping-pong game? That's about what I ran into when I went to interview Bill Harris, Iowa trampoline expert and Big Ten champ.

A trampoline is a piece of gymnastic equipment resembling a table with the cloth too small and no bottom under the cloth. The edge of the table is attached to the cloth with a series of elastic cords. The performer bounces on the apparatus, executing gymnastic stunts while in the air.

"Got time to answer a few questions, Bill?" I asked. "Sure thing, go right ahead," he grinned and took another bounce.

Not wanting to interrupt the practice of the top-rated trampoline artist in the conference and not suspecting the difficulty I was getting into, I said "OK" and he did a back somersault.

"I started this when I came to Iowa three years ago," Bill told me as he spun around a couple of times about eight feet above the tramp. "I had some diving experience, but not too much. I came down here and tried some tumbling and the trampoline and just took a liking to it."

Bill did a triple twist and continued: "I've learned all except two of the stunts possible on this tramp. This is a 'web-bed' tramp made of interlaced elastic webbing. It gives you about twice the height you get from the plain canvas bed. The best kind is a net-bed which gives even more height than this one."

"The last trick I have to learn on this tramp is a quadruple twist. I've tried it, but I can't get it finished." He stopped doing back flips long enough to fall flat on his face on the web and then bounce back up into standing position.

"After I learn the stunts, it is then a problem to put them together into a series. Some people believe that the length of the series and the condition of the performer is the important thing, but I believe that I can score better with a short series of more difficult stunts."

The human jumping jack calmed down for a minute's rest and I asked him if he didn't get out of condition during the summer. "No, or at least not last summer. I rented a trampoline from a sporting goods firm and worked out in our back yard all summer."

"I guess it all comes from a kid's desire to bounce on the bed," Bill told me. "It's the same thing except you go higher and get zizzier and when you bounce on the bed, your mother always came in and stopped you before you began to get tired."

"What's the toughest stunt you can do?" I asked him. Jumping back on the tramp he yelled, "I'll show you." In about three leaps, he was going two-thirds of the way to the ceiling in the big North gymnasium of the Iowa fieldhouse. His feet were about 12 feet off the tramp. "Watch," he said as he came

ST. LOUIS FIRST BASEMAN Don Bollweg tagged up and scored from third base on a fly ball Tuesday afternoon in an exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds. Cincinnati Catcher John Pramesa received the throw from the outfield too late to retire Bollweg. Umpire Frank Dascoli made the decision. The Cardinals won the exhibition, 7-3.

Psi Omega Takes First In Intramural Wrestling

Bill Vance's victory in the 157 pound class gave Psi Omega professional fraternity first place in the all-university intramural wrestling championships.

Phi Kappa Psi gained second place, and third was shared by Psi Kappa Sigma, Delta Chi, Central Hawkeye and Hillcrest C.

Individual champions:

Iowa Baseball Team Scheduled To Open Season at St. Louis

Iowa's baseball team is scheduled to open its spring season Saturday at St. Louis against Washington university. The Hawks are scheduled to open the season that is unless they get snow bound enroute to the game.

Coach Otto Vogel's team will go into the game without the benefit of an outdoor workout. The squad has been practicing in the limited quarters of the fieldhouse for two months but Vogel is concerned about the failure to get outdoors.

Nine Lettermen
Iowa has nine lettermen returning from last year's team which placed third in the Big Ten and was good enough to receive an invitation to participate in the NCAA tournament.

Filling the places of Pitcher Dick Hoeksema and Infielder Jack Dittmer will be the major problems facing Vogel now in his 24th season as Iowa baseball coach.

Last summer Hoeksema pitched for the Quad City Quads in the Three-I league while Dittmer played with Denver of the Western league. Dittmer is now in spring training with the Boston Braves.

Major letter winners Glenn Drahn, Dick Orth and Bruce Marsh are expected to be Vogel's top three pitchers this season along with some promising minor lettermen and sophomores.

Other major lettermen back are: John Dinzole, catcher and this year's team captain; Chuck Cebuhar, outfielder; Bob Christoph, shortstop; George Hand, outfielder; Merlin Kurt, first base; Brush Kurt, first base; Brush Marsh, pitcher, and Rex Vana, outfielder.

Minor letter winners include: Bill Andrews, pitcher; Frank Bok, outfielder; "Skip" Greene, second baseman; John Miller, pitcher; Tom Stenger, infielder and Bill Vana, catcher.

Louisiana Tour
After Saturday's Washington game, the Hawk traveling squad will leave for warmer Louisiana and games with Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette, La., and Louisiana Tech at Ruston, La.

The team then plays Arkansas and Bradley at Peoria, Ill., before returning to Iowa City for April 5 and 6 games against Luther.

Bad Weather Also Hampers Washington

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
ST. LOUIS — Washington university's baseball forces were hoping for a quick weather change Tuesday but the fickle heart of spring and its rain and cold winds probably won't allow the Bears a great deal of outdoor work this week in preparing for Saturday's baseball opener here against Iowa.

Weekend moisture caused Coach John Palchett to call off last Saturday's scheduled intra-squad game, and with a cold wave moving in Tuesday, Palchett figures he won't be able to get in a decent day of practice until Thursday.

"This weather hurts the hitters," says the sophomore Bruin mentor whose team turned in 12 wins in 18 games in his first season last year.
"The pitchers can develop their arms as well in the fieldhouse."

Illinois Plays Columbia In Eastern NCAA Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — The draw was completed Tuesday for the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament, opening next week with most of the nation's ranking teams on the firing line.

Seven of the top ten teams in the final Associated Press poll and 11 of the first 20 are in the field of 16 which will begin play at Raleigh, N.C., and New York March 20 and at Kansas City March 21.

The final placement of the six "at large" teams added to the ten major conference champions was made in a pre-noun transcontinental telephone conference of scattered tournament committee members.

It was announced by A. C. (Dutch) Lonborg, NCAA tournament chairman and University of Kansas athletic director.

Here's the draw, with conferences designated and team records in parentheses:

Eastern Tournament
March 20, at New York — Columbia (22-0), Ivy league champion, vs. Illinois (19-3), Big Ten; St. John's (23-3) vs. Connecticut (22-3).

March 20, at Raleigh, N.C. — Kentucky (27-2), Southeastern vs. Louisville (19-6), North Carolina State (28-4), Southern vs. Villanova (24-5).

(Semi-finals in New York March 22 and finals in New York March 24.)

Western Tournament
All games at Kansas City.
March 21 — Kansas State (21-3), Big Seven, vs. Arizona (24-4), Border; Brigham Young (24-7), Skyline Six, vs. San Jose (18-11).

March 22 — Oklahoma A and M (27-4), Missouri Valley, vs. Montana State (22-12); Washington (22-5), vs. either Texas A and M (15-11) or Texas (13-11).
(Semi-finals March 23, finals March 24.)
Eastern and Western survivors will clash for the championship at Minneapolis March 27.

Bratton Favored To Whip Fusari For Welter Title

CHICAGO (AP) — On Jan. 20, 1950, a slick-boxing Chicago Negro lad stumbled dejectedly to his corner, his jaw broken a second time and his ring career seemingly ended.

Tonight, 23-year-old Johnny Bratton climbs into the same Chicago Stadium ring where his jaw was twice shattered, a favorite to whip Charlie Fusari of Irvington, N.J., and win the NBA-version world welterweight title.

Considerable luster has been rubbed from the 15-round championship bout by the claim of Sugar Ray Robinson that he still holds the welterweight crown as well as his newly-acquired middleweight title.

Then, too, there is only a $10 ticket top and tonight's televised and broadcast bout is expected to attract only between 8,000 and 10,000 fans contributing a gross gate under $50,000, rather weak testimony to a title fight.

But Bratton, at least, is not quibbling with the mechanics of a National Boxing association manifesto which stamps his meeting with Fusari as the start of a title series which later will include Cuba's Kid Gavilan and perhaps England's Eddie Thomas.

It's another rag - to - riches chance for Bratton, the fancy "brat" who once teased Chicago fight fans with show-off capers and zoomed around town in a chauffeured limousine, but who took a bus to his workouts for Fusari.

C-M Council To Serve Without Remuneration

Iowa City councilmen who will serve under the council-manager form of local government beginning April 2 will probably receive no pay even if a bill now pending in the Iowa legislature providing for salaries up to $250 a year is passed.

An ordinance amendment which would have allowed the new councilmen to receive pay if the proposed bill in the legislature becomes law was defeated Monday night in the Iowa City council meeting.

Alderman Wayne E. Putnam introduced the amendment. He pointed out that another state law prohibits councils from increasing their own salaries.

Putnam attempted to amend an ordinance introduced by Alderman Frank Fryauf Jr., setting salaries for some city officials and providing that the mayor and council under the council-manager form of government will receive no pay.

Fryauf's ordinance, which has been given two readings, provides for an annual police judge salary of $1,800 plus $600 in fees $280 a year for park board members, and $920 a year for the city treasurer.

With the amendment defeated, even with passage of the bill now before the Iowa legislature, the new Iowa City council could not provide itself with a salary. The earliest a salary could be provided would pay councilmen who will be serving two years from now.

OK Ice Cream Store On Riverside Drive

An ordinance to allow operation of a retail ice cream business on the west side of South Riverside drive near the hydraulics laboratory met no objections in public hearing Monday night during the city council meeting.

Mrs. Anna Bosten and Mrs. A. O. Heltibride asked that the tract of land be re-zoned from class A residential to a business district.

Atty. Clair Hamilton, speaking for Mrs. Bosten, said the proposed business would not hinder plans for enlarging Burlington street bridge.

In February, the Iowa City planning and zoning commission recommended that the Bosten-Heltibride petition be denied because proposed enlargement of the bridge might be jeopardized and the rezoning of a tract for business within a residential area would constitute spot zoning.

FILIPINOS ABANDON VILLAGE
CAGAYAN, MINDANAO ISLAND, PHILIPPINES (P) — A village where 2,000 Filipinos lived more than five months ago has been completely abandoned on Camiguin Island since the eruption last September of Hibok Hibok volcano. The village of Agoho, on the slopes of the still smoking volcano, has been entirely evacuated. Boulders cover the remaining houses and a huge crack splits the ground through the site of the village school, reports the provincial governor.

ROTC Instructors Win Praise for Aid At Lone Tree Crash

Maj. Charles A. Birk Jr. and M-Sgt. Doris R. Garner, of the SUI military department, were praised for outstanding services following the Feb. 10 air crash near Lone Tree, in a letter from the commanding general, Chanute Field, Ill., Tuesday.

The letter was received by Col. George A. Bosch, SUI professor of air science and tactics. Colonel Bosch said their actions were particularly commendable since they acted on their own initiative and not upon the request or suggestion of any civilian or military authorities.

The commendation was signed by Brig. Gen. B. E. Gates, commander of the 3345th Technical training wing stationed at Chanute Field.

"Even before the arrival of air force investigators, Major Birk and Sergeant Garner had made arrangements for proper disposition of the injured and deceased involved in the crash," the letter said.

It also praised the two men for their cooperation with the investigators and for transportation provided by Birk and Garner in their private cars.

The two SUI men each took a survivor of the crash into his home until he could return to his home base, the letter added.

Most of these services were performed while the men were off duty, the commendation said.

Major Birk is associate professor of air science and tactics and Sergeant Garner is air force records clerk of the SUI ROTC detachment.

Lost Hydrants

Fire Chief Al Dolezal Tuesday issued a plea to Iowa City residents to shovel the snow away from fire hydrants in their neighborhoods.

Dolezal said the record snow storm has covered up nearly all hydrants in the residential areas. He pointed out that firemen answering calls may have trouble finding the hydrants unless residents uncover them immediately.

ROK Foreign Minister Visits Here

Col. Ben C. Limb Secretary to Syngman Rhee 30 Years

In Struggle for Independence — Korean War Another Chapter

To Col. Ben C. Limb, the struggle against communism in Korea is just another chapter in a long struggle for the independence of his nation.

The battle began in 1919 when he worked with Syngman Rhee as personal aide in the Korean revolution against Japan. He became Rhee's private secretary when Rhee became president of the provisional government of the Korean republic in exile in Shanghai, China.

Limb served as Rhee's secretary for 30 years. His work took him through Europe and America promoting Korean independence through the unofficial embassy of his country.

He attended the organizational meetings of the United Nations in San Francisco and later attended the general assembly meetings at Lake Success, N.Y., in 1947. In 1950, he was made chief of the Republic of Korea mission to the UN.

He arrived in the U.S. in November 1950, with two other

Costello Balks; May Be Deported

NEW YORK (P) — Underworld Kingpin Frank Costello balked at questions fired at him by senate crime investigators Tuesday and was threatened with possible deportation to Italy or an indictment for perjury.

They may also cite the gambler for contempt of congress for twice refusing to say just how much he is worth.

The crimebusters asked Costello about his 1925 citizenship papers and Sen. Charles Tobey, (R-N. H.), said that if Costello had broken U.S. laws and later applied for citizenship under false pretenses, "I suspect he would be liable for deportation as undesirable and a falsifier."

Sen. Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn.), hinted at possible perjury charges when he told newsmen "he's changing his testimony an awful lot," compared with previous testimony before the senators.

Costello, whose voice is said to direct the comings and goings of politicians and bookmakers, lost his inclination to speak when asked what he was worth. He flatly refused to say, despite an order to talk before the senators.

SUI, Iowa Citizens Robbed By Thieves

Iowa City police today were searching for thieves who Monday night stole a variety of articles ranging from a windshield wiper to a $200 adding machine.

The adding machine was reported missing from the SUI printing service. C.V. King, assistant manager of the service, told police the machine was a portable type.

A soft drink machine in the Standard service station at Burlington and Clinton streets was reported robbed. Police said $4 in nickels was missing.

Two thefts of auto accessories were also reported to police. A.C. Marks, 6 Kirkwood circle, reported the theft of a windshield wiper from his car while it was parked in the downtown area.

An exhaust pipe extension was reported stolen from a car owned by Kenneth Casey, 254 Black Springs circle.

Mexico 'Escape' For A-Bomb Spies

NEW YORK (P) — The Russian embassy in Mexico City was linked in testimony to a spy ring accused of stealing some top United States atom bomb secrets.

Former Army Sgt. David Greenglass, 29, a confessed member of the ring, described the embassy as the key point in an escape route for spies when the FBI got too close on their trail.

Greenglass said he was instructed specifically by his brother-in-law, Julius Rosenberg, an accused spy, in the procedure for contacting the Russian ambassador in Mexico last June.

Rosenberg, 33, an electrical engineer, is on trial in federal court with his wife, Ethel, 35 (Greenglass's sister), and radar expert Morton Sobell, 33, on a charge of conspiring to spy for Russia.

Heaviest Snow In 55 Years Buries Iowa City

IT LOOKS LIKE PLENTY OF WALKING IS AHEAD for the owner of this bantam car, unless Iowa City gets a drastic change in the weather. The snow completely buried the small car and, no doubt left the owner with a terrific desire for a Mack truck. Sights like this were a dime-a-dozen Tuesday to Iowa Citizens who had the unwanted job of digging themselves out from under the heaviest snow here in 55 years.

ART CROSMAN, G. DEMAREST, NEW JERSEY, was only one of many Iowa Citizens who grabbed hold of the nearest shovel and started digging earthward Tuesday. From the looks of things it will be quite awhile before Hawkeye Village will be cleared of the four-day blanket of the white stuff.

I CAN DREAM, CAN'T I? That's probably the refrain this Iowa City girl is humming as she scans the show window of a local clothing store Tuesday afternoon. Those spring dresses definitely are a long ways off, if the weatherman continues to snow-in Iowa City. But the first day of spring, March 21, is really not too far off.

Iowa House Votes to Raise Minimum Wages for Teachers

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa house Tuesday voted to put into the law higher minimum wages for teachers.

The vote on the bill, which earlier had survived an attempt to kill it, was 90 to 3.

Present minimums vary from $70 to $90 a month. The house bill, which now goes to the senate, provides for:

1. A minimum salary of $1,350 a year for a teacher with less than two years of college training. That's $150 a month.

2. A minimum of $1,800 a year for teachers with two years of college.

3. A minimum of $2,200 a year for teachers with four years of college credit.

For those with one year of graduate work, the minimum would be $2,500.

The house heard considerable discussion over whether the bill means anything at all. For one thing, salaries being paid teachers now generally are far above the minimums. For another, one section of the law allows county boards of education to suspend teachers minimums during hard times.

Recommended Passage

Half a dozen Iowa house committees turned over to the steering committee Tuesday 12 more bills to add to the approximately 200 in the hands of the steering committee.

Before action can be resumed today on the steering committee calendar, the house will take up several appropriations measures, including those which would keep state aid to schools at present annual figure. The committees are striving to complete action on all bills in their hands.

Among the measures recommended for passage today by the standing committees were those to:

Yesterday in Washington

LABOR-MOBILIZATION — A formula for bringing union leaders back into the mobilization program has been approved by union representatives and is being studied by management, informed sources reported Tuesday.

The compromise was described as a proposal to double the strength of the wage stabilization board, giving it 18 members and empowering them to settle a broad field of labor disputes. At present the board is only a policy-making group.

Acceptance has been voted by the United Labor Policy committee, the sources said. This body speaks for the CIO, the AFL and some other major labor groups.

HAT-IN-THE-RING — Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Republican leader of the senate, said Tuesday, "I am not seeking the job of president of the United States."

The Nebraska senator made his statement in a letter to a constituent who launched a presidential boom in Wherry's behalf.

STABILIZATION RAW — Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston has scheduled separate meetings with labor and industry representatives for today in an effort to win their acceptance of his compromise plan for expanding the powers of the wage stabilization board.

His chances for getting a clear-cut answer from either side in the dispute did NOT appear promising.

RENT CONTROL — Top mobilization chiefs were reported Tuesday to have okayed a proposal to ask congress for a strong rent control law. The program would eliminate "local" option and bring new construction and commercial rents under controls.

IOWANS VOTE AGAINST TRUMAN — All 8 Iowa's house members voted Tuesday with the majority which defeated a bill to give President Truman emergency powers to re-shuffle executive agencies.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDACY — Sen. Paul H. Douglas, (D-Ill.), shrugged off the idea of running for president Tuesday by saying he doubts that he could live a month under "the crushing burdens" of the job.

Dubuque Jury To Get Aid Of 2 SUI Men

DUBUQUE (AP) — County Atty. John Duffy said Tuesday copies of modern novels under fire from women's groups for "obscenity" have disappeared from newsstands and "gone underground."

The storm prevented two SUI professors from appearing as "expert witnesses" to help jurors draw the line on how much sex an author should put into his book.

Duffy said he had not been informed yet who the professors would be, but they would definitely testify comparing erotic qualities of the classics with modern novels.

(In Iowa City, Prof. Baldwin Maxwell, head of the English department, said names of the professors could not be released until they appear before the Dubuque grand jury. He said that their testimony before the grand jury would be of a confidential nature and that no further statement could be made at this time.)

Duffy said he had checked on sales recently and found most of the novels under attack were not displayed for sale. "They've gone underground," he explained.

He said he had looked for one novel in particular without success. He refused to identify the book because: "If I name it, everybody in town would want a copy."

Duffy said he had not received any more complaints from women's groups who seek to ban the sale of works by Erskine Caldwell, John Steinbeck, Somerset Maugham and other well-known authors in 25-cent reprints.

City Council Attacks Police Shifts; Chief Plans No Changes

Iowa City Police Chief Ed J. Ruppert said Tuesday he planned no changes in the present shift schedule now being used by the police force.

The permanent shift schedule for police officers, in effect here since September 1950, came under fire at the City council meeting Monday night.

Alderman Wilber Teeters questioned Ruppert about the plan of placing new men on the force on the night shifts.

"If I didn't think our present system of placing men on shifts was adequate, I would be the first one to ask for a change," Ruppert said Tuesday. As far as he's concerned, our permanent shift basis, which is in use by many police departments around the state, is working out fine."

Ruppert said before the permanent shift basis was adopted officers rotated on the three shifts. He explained that the council passed a resolution in 1949 directing the police and fire departments to respect the seniority rights of their men.

"This means that the men who have been on the force the longest are put on the day shift on a permanent basis," he said. "The newer men," he added, "are usually placed on the night shifts."

Motel Owner Files Suit For $403 Damages

G. L. Isensee, owner of the Pine Edge motel on the west edge of Coralville, Tuesday filed a $403.90 damage suit in Johnson county court. He charged that Herbert W. Brant lost control of his car last Dec. 15 and ran into two neon signs and three Mughu pine trees on his property.

Draft Physicals Delayed for 63

Local draft board officials Tuesday announced postponement of induction and pre-induction physical examinations at Des Moines for 63 men originally scheduled to leave here today and Thursday.

Bad weather and poor road conditions were responsible for the delays. Groups originally scheduled to go Monday and Tuesday of this week have been delayed for the same reason.

Twenty-seven Johnson county men were to have gone to Des Moines for induction into the army today. They were to have been followed Thursday by a group of 36 SUI students scheduled for pre-induction physicals.

Plans now call for a group of 26 SUI students to go for the pre-induction examinations Friday as scheduled.

No date has been set for sending those groups which have been postponed.

Postponed Play Resumes Today

University play, "John Loves Mary," will be performed as scheduled at 8 p.m. at the University theater today after its cancellation Monday and Tuesday due to weather conditions.

Holders of tickets for Monday and Tuesday may either exchange them for tickets for later performances this week or use them on the corresponding nights next week.

A number of tickets still remain for all of the remaining performances. They may be obtained at the theater box-office, room 8-A Schaeffer hall, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Skilled Hands

Those special hands... the guiding, teaching hands of the occupational therapist or the physical therapist... the strength-giving hands of the hospital dietitian... are the ones Air Force men in hospitals look to with admiration and respect.

Those mending hands are hands to fly with... the skilled fingers that bring the flying and supporting men of the Air Force back to duty strong and healthy. Graduates and prospective graduates in occupational or physical therapy, or dietetics, can now have interesting, challenging careers as commissioned officers with good pay and allowances in the Women's Medical Specialist Corps of the U. S. Air Force Medical Service. Opportunities for further professional education are also available.

Regular and reserve commissions are offered to qualified specialists in these fields. Write for details to The Surgeon General, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Car Ownership, Maintenance Up 6 Percent

Rising costs of car operation in Iowa and elsewhere in the nation will force motorists to spend about six percent more this year to own and operate their automobiles, J. L. Pinter, division manager of the Motor Club of Iowa, said Tuesday.

This estimate, based on costs of operating cars in the lower price brackets, means an average increase of $45 over last year's outlay, Pinter explained.

Figures from the American Automobile association, with which the Motor Club is affiliated, indicate the average total of car operation costs this year will be $860, compared with $815 last year.

Annual fixed costs of such items as fire and theft insurance, property damage and liability insurance, license fees and depreciation for cars driven under 18,000 miles will average $533, or about $1.46 per day. Last year's costs were approximately $506.

Gasoline, oil, maintenance and tires will cost about $328 for a 10,000 mile year, an increase of $19 over last year.

With these totals in mind, Pinter recommended the following formula for estimating the cost of driving a car any number of days this year for mileage up to 18,000:

Allow $1.50 per day for each day the car is used, plus 3.5 cents per mile for each mile traveled.
