Senate Group Votes $5.7-Million for SUI

The appropriations committee of the Iowa senate Wednesday recommended a $5.7-million operating budget for SUI for each of the next two years.

Although the proposed appropriation is an increase over the present SUI budget, it is lower than requests made by Gov. William S. Beardsley and far below the $8,053,000 asked by President Virgil M. Hancher.

A house committee is also discussing SUI budget proposals, and sources in Des Moines have reported that the committee has so far agreed to only $5.5-million a year for SUI.

The $5.7-million proposed Wednesday by the senate committee does not include funds for capital improvements at SUI. Action on that appropriation is still pending.

Increase for Hospital The senate committee allowed an increase from $2,793,000 to $2,860,750 for University hospitals but followed Beardsley's recommendations of $312,000 a year for psychopathic hospital, $135,750 for the bacteriological laboratory and $95,000 for the hospital school for severely handicapped children.

The appropriation proposed for SUI is included in an $18,382,065 budget for board of education institutions as recommended by the senate committee Wednesday.

Appropriations voted by the committee for other state schools include $5.6-million a year for Iowa State college and $2,334,000 a year for Iowa State Teachers college.

The proposed budget for ISTC, an $100,000 increase over the last appropriation, was the only amount voted that was higher than what Beardsley had recommended.

Beardsley Asks $5.8-Million Beardsley had requested $5.8-million for SUI, and $5,850,000 for ISC.

Sen. J.C. Colburn (R-Harlan), chairman of the appropriations committee, offered no explanation for the reduction under Beardsley's recommendations.

He did say, however, that the committee had not even considered a proposed figure of $300,000 for a television and communications center for SUI.

Kampus Kapers Tryouts To Continue Tonight Tryouts for Kampus Kapers were held Wednesday night and will be held again tonight at 7:30 in Macbride auditorium, Director Gil Pearlman, A4, Des Moines, said Wednesday.

There is need for singers, dancers, comedians and crew committee workers for the musical revue sponsored by the Newman club. The show is scheduled for sometime in April.

Four Groups To Circulate Petition Friday

Four student groups are scheduled to begin circulation of a petition on campus Friday calling for the removal of photographs and all questions on race, color and religion from SUI admission and housing applications.

James Joseph, G. Forest Hills, N.Y., chairman of a coordinating committee of the four organizations, said Wednesday the petition will be circulated in at least five campus buildings and four dormitories.

It is expected to be circulated Friday, Monday and Tuesday in Hillcrest, Quadrangle, South Quadrangle and Currier hall.

Tables are scheduled to be set up Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Schaeffer hall, University hall, East hall, Chemistry building, Iowa Union and possibly other campus buildings.

The four campus sponsors of the move are the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Young Progressives, Hillel foundation and Young Men's Christian association (YMCA).

The petition, approved for circulation by the office of student affairs and the four dormitories, states in part that "acceptance or rejection on the basis of race, color or religion is in contradiction to the traditions and democratic frame of our nation."

SUI officials have said the information on the applications is pertinent to student records and that no discrimination is involved.

The twin actions came as the house armed services committee voted to give President Truman broad powers to set draft deferments for college students and to determine standards for job and dependency deferments.

The committee also wrote into its 18-1/2-year-old draft bill a provision requiring local boards to postpone induction of college students until the end of any academic year - as at present. College graduates in the ROTC are not subject to the draft.

The airforce said students in its ROTC who were graduated at mid-term in January or February will be ordered to active duty within 90 to 120 days of their graduation date. June graduates will be called as soon as practicable after school ends, but in any case within 90 days.

They will be offered a chance to volunteer for flight training of for a limited number of one-year courses in meteorology at several colleges. If they qualify, they must agree to serve for three years after completion of training. They will be commissioned second lieutenants.

The house committee's draft bill provides that local boards may grant college students only one automatic deferment to finish an academic year. But the students can seek other deferments under the deferment powers which would be granted the President.

Mr. Truman would have wide powers to set occupation and dependency deferments.

The water content of the Iowa City snowfall measured 2.34 inches, the highest in the state. Johnson county roads and highways were open Wednesday night but in many places there was only one-way traffic. Motorists were advised by the state highway patrol to use chains.

Trucks and buses resumed operation Wednesday but drivers reported that highways north and west were badly packed with snow and extremely rough in spots. Buses were running about an hour late.

Highway 218, south, was fair as far as the Washington county line and from there on "extremely slippery," the highway patrol reported. Highway 6, west and east, and highways 261 and 151, north, were slippery and full of holes.

A semi-trailer headed south on Dubuque street became stalled on the hill north of City park bridge and tied up traffic for several hours.

Airforce Calls ROTC Grads No Word Here

WASHINGTON (AP) - The airforce Wednesday called up all of its 8,100 ROTC college students who will be graduated this year and simultaneously activated 28 air bases across the country to train air national guardsmen already summoned.

The two actions came as the house armed services committee voted to give President Truman broad powers to set draft deferments for college students and to determine standards for job and dependency deferments.

Snow Ends; Warmer, Thaw Predicted

Iowa's worst snowstorm of the winter appeared to be ended Wednesday night with prospects of warmer weather and thawing by Friday.

In Iowa City, where it snowed for 96 hours - the longest continual snowfall reported in the state (Weather Pictures on Page 8) - a total of 28 inches fell, the weather bureau said.

However, there was never more than 26 inches of snow on the ground at any one time during the storm.

Insanity Commission Commits Cavarretta To State Hospital

Former SUI student Francis J. Cavarretta, 27, charged with attempting to strangle a coed here, was committed Wednesday to the state hospital at Mt. Pleasant.

Sheriff Albert J. Murphy indicated he may take the Lawrence, Mass., man to the hospital today. Cavarretta was committed to the state hospital by the Johnson county insanity commission on recommendation of SUI psychopathic hospital authorities.

He had been under observation at the hospital since Feb. 9, after being charged with attempting to choke a coed in the Currier hall lobby Jan. 24.

Cavarretta had been sent to the Mt. Pleasant hospital in 1948 for the same reason, but was released after several months.

Court records show that after his release from Mt. Pleasant, Cavarretta went to North Dakota. Another attempt to molest a girl prompted his commitment to the Jamestown hospital, N.D., for a month.

Since then he has attended the University of Nebraska and St. Ambrose college, Davenport. He was enrolled at St. Ambrose when he was accused of the assault on the SUI coed.

County Atty. William L. Mearson said Wednesday the assault charge will not be tried until Cavarretta is declared cured.

Sen. Vandenberg Sinking Fast GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. (AP) - Hope faded Wednesday for recovery of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) who lay near death at his home here.

The 66-year-old foreign policy leader, his strength sapped by a series of operations during the past 18 months, was perceptibly weaker. He was only sem-conscious at times.

His personal physician, Dr. A. B. Smith, said that the senator's condition was "getting worse."

Garbage Collection Due to Be Resumed Garbage collection in Iowa City, halted because of deep snow, will begin as soon as possible.

"We're planning to work Saturday and Sunday straight through in order to catch up," Clifford Esterday, city garbage collector, said Wednesday.

Few complaints have come from Iowa City residents because garbage has not been collected. Esterday said only three calls had been received this week.

House Vote Fails To Abolish RFC

WASHINGTON (AP) - The house approved President Truman's plan to reorganize the RFC Wednesday when Republicans failed by 18 votes to sidetrack it in favor of abolishing the hotly criticized lending agency.

In the senate, however, bills to abolish the RFC were introduced by Sens. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) and Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.). The senate has taken no action on the reorganization proposal.

Mr. Truman's reorganization plan will take effect April 30 unless rejected by the senate. It provides for replacing the present five-man RFC board with a single administrator, and erecting new "safeguards" around loans.

Prof's Testimony Date Still Unsure Dean Mason Ladd of the SUI college of law said he would name the date today that two SUI professors will testify in the Dubuque obscene literature probe, the United Press reported Wednesday night.

The two professors have been asked to testify as "expert witnesses" by Dubuque County Attorney John Duffy before a grand jury investigating obscenity in modern literature. Jurors will start their reading chores today, Duffy said.

Highway conditions have prevented the SUI professors from making the trip. Dean Ladd told The Daily Iowan Wednesday night he would not name a date until highway conditions are satisfactory.

Call 100 More Jurors For Lons Trial District Judge James P. Gaffney has ordered the selection of 100 more petit jurors to assure enough jurors for the murder trial of James Lons, proprietor of the Princess cafe.

Of the regular panel, only 33 now available for jury duty. Some of these will serve as jurors next Monday if the lawsuit against Bohum Meka, Liberty township begins on schedule.

The new jurors will be drawn March 21. They will report for the first time at 10 a.m. April 17 when the Lons trial is scheduled to begin.

Allies Recapture Seoul Without Fight

TOKYO (THURSDAY) (AP) - Seoul fell bloodlessly today to Allied troops driving north toward the 38th parallel against retreating Reds.

U.S. Third division and South Korean troops began entering the ancient capital Tuesday night unopposed.

It had not been completely occupied Wednesday, but AP correspondent Jim Becker, with the Americans in Seoul, said there were no signs of the enemy anywhere in the buzzed-out city.

South Korean First division troops raised the republic's flag over the capital building - marking the fourth time Seoul has changed hands since the Korean war began last June 25.

Allied forces gave up Seoul Jan. 4 during a retreat from Chinese hordes who intervened in November.

In central Korea, the U.S. First cavalry division crossed the Hongchon river in force behind tanks ranging within 18 miles of the 38th parallel.

There the motorized cavalrymen outflanked the Red assembly center of Hongchon in what AP correspondent William C. Barnnard described as a new offensive by the division. East of Hongchon, the U.S.

P. Olson, Hunting, Wells Ahead for Board Posts

Marion Guy, Marilyn McMullen, Jim Bullard and Tom Olson were leading at 1:30 a.m. today in the all-campus election race for delegate-at-large to the student council.

Votes from the Quadrangle and Schaeffer hall, estimated at more than 1,000 total, were not yet counted. Total votes were from Macbride hall, East hall, University hall, the Iowa Union and Currier hall.

Paul Olson seemed sure of winning the one year term vacant on the student board of education with Ann Wells and Ed Hunting well in front for the two contested two-year board terms.

Voing was heavy. An estimated 2,800 votes were cast or about 34 percent compared with a 30 percent turnout last year.

Frank Calsbeck was far on front for the Tailfeathers' annual award for the senior who contributed most to SUI athletics.

All other votes were complete figures from all polling places. Senior class officers for the college of liberal arts elected were Charles Darling, president; Hellen Hayes, vice-president; Tom Moffit, secretary, and Louise

Friendly Peoples Must Be Promised National Freedom

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

American cooperation with the national aspirations of peoples, which must be undertaken if any aid program for undeveloped areas is to produce the desired results, is complicated by vital problems in the conflict with Russia.

It's easy enough to say that France should get out of Indo-China, that she never had any right there in the first place, that it is anti-French rather than pro-Communist feeling which sends men into the rebel army of Ho Chin Minh, that the costs of suppression have for years more than offset France's profits from the coal and rice. But that isn't the whole story. We leave it there only for purposes of argument.

But when should France get out? Not now, certainly. Not before local authorities have the arms and men for complete self-defense, which probably would require a mutual defense treaty with France or one of the Western Allies. Not before Indo-China could give assurances that, going it alone, she should not be an easy prey to the Communist forces which are advancing across Asia.

The peoples of the underdeveloped countries, and especially those which are or have been recently under direct colonial control, are willing to risk anything, even communism, to cut the European strings.

India was willing to divide herself into units with poor economic bases to do it. She even now prefers to do business with communism rather than take a stand which could create new ties with the West.

Everyone has seen the results of factions vying for control and of Burma's divorce from Britain, with several Communist factions vying for control and none of them boding much good for Western cooperation. The present government does stay fairly well in line under the persuasion of American money, but with little assurance of friendship in principle.

The Arab countries want to be left alone, yet are in no position to defend themselves from the shadow which Russia casts across their oil wells. Africa is beginning to rebel against colonialism, yet the creation of a new string of independent small countries would be merely an invitation to Russian expansionism.

The United States government, and the free enterprise which it sponsors, can spend and spend on these peoples. But if they are to give in return the friendship and trade with which American interests must be repaid, they must have either independence or the sure promise of it when world

Probe of Hollywood To Cover Donations, Movie Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the house un-American activities committee have revealed they want two questions answered in their investigation of Hollywood beginning March 21:

1. Did the Communist party get any propaganda into movies?

2. Did it get any money out of the film colony?

But members differed on which is the primary aim of the investigation.

Rep. Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.), ranking Republican, said he favored stressing a study of the public influence on possible Communist writers and stars through the movie medium.

"People can be misled by cleverly written propaganda," Velde said, "and Hollywood has writers who know how to use it."

Rep. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) said the primary aim as he sees it is to reveal any financial support of the Communist party from the film colony.

Potter said he had heard rumors that "several million dollars" had been contributed to the party from Hollywood sources.

"There are high-salaried people there who are able to kick in quite substantially," he told newsmen.

Chairman John S. Wood (D-Ga.) said committee subpoenas have been served on at least 20 witnesses on the west coast and six in New York. He said "less than 35" subpoenas in all were issued, thus implying that investigators are looking for about four more witnesses.

Wood said the hearings will open with "preliminary witnesses" March 21. The committee probably will not run the hearings during the house's Easter holiday March 22 to April 2, he said.

PReviews... and Postscripts

By JACK LARSEN

Part One: The Magnificent Hoax —

Whenever discussion gets around to "Sunset Boulevard" and I happen to mention that I thought the whole thing was a hoax, though probably not an intentional one, people look at me the same way they looked at me when I told them I found "South Pacific" embarrassing.

I don't like to be looked at that way, and if you've ever been given that oh-he's-just-trying-to-be-different look, you know what I mean.

The only way out that I can see is to print a criticism of the film written last fall after I had seen it a second time and still found it wanting, even if it takes me three days of Postscripts to do it.

For despite reviews which amounted to panegyrics, and despite country-wide word-of-mouth enthusiasm, "Sunset Boulevard" was a tremendous let-down.

I could concur with critics who called the picture "disturbing," one of many adjectives applied to the film to indicate its unusual merit, but I found it "disturbing" because I felt I had seen a shockingly inept motion picture.

I was troubled not only because I doubted the film's quality but also because I suspected its sincerity. I felt that I had just sat through a grand and glorious celluloid leg-pull — a hoax. Though "Sunset Boulevard" had been praised for being "frank" by contrast with the usual accusations against Hollywood product as wanting veracity, what was actually most disturbing to me was its apparent speciousness.

The fact that "Sunset Boulevard" did not live up to its promise does not obscure the fact that it is one of the most spellbinding films to have come from Hollywood.

Surely it weaves a spell at once frightening and electric, drawing interest by the inherent magnetism of its unconventional subject — a magnetism which at once attracts and repels.

But the producers of the film for which Paramount hopes to win an Oscar this year betray themselves through repeated obviousness and contradiction in execution.

There's a great deal of paradox in "Sunset Boulevard," in fact. While its writers seem to be taking their story very seriously, they somehow leave the impression that they set out to put something over on the public.

While they have dressed the picture in the guise of ultra-realism, they have clothed their plot with artificialities, designed to dazzle. And while they seem to be making a direct appeal to adult intelligence, they are so successful in not doing just that that they insult intelligence.

It is a gripping film, true enough, because of the odd hold it wields. But it achieves that hold by an aura of calculated fascinations, intravenously injected from the outside.

It left me with the feeling it had been written in installments as production advanced, more an illustration of afterthought than of forethought, as if certain ideas and tricks were hit upon right on the sound stage just as shooting on specific scenes was about to begin. (I have since learned this was frequently the case.)

Producer Charles Brackett and Director Billy Wilder, who collaborated on the screenplay, have not been unaware, of course, that the ingredients of their story are risky. Insanity and venality are not the most palatable stuff of which movies are made, but "Sunset Boulevard" isn't too much of a daring venture since its ingredients are safe at the box-office when seasoned with sex, while not violating the gospel according to the Johnston office.

A Hollywood story itself is a good guarantee of public interest anyway — and "Sunset Boulevard" is probably the first movie since "A Star is Born" to present a partly credible picture of the film colony. (It is strange — but very true — that the place Hollywood most misrepresents time and time again in the movies is Hollywood.)

But I'm afraid this latest story of Hollywood is like a well-worn tuxedo: It betrays occasional weaknesses at the seams. For all its craftsmanship and high quality cloth, it threatens to fall apart in places. It has worn areas which are nearly transparent and, if there are no actual holes there are at least some well-sewed patches which become visible after a certain amount of scrutiny.

And "Sunset Boulevard" cannot withstand scrutiny. That damns it as art, for all its immediacy as entertainment. Tomorrow's column will examine in detail some of the judgments made above.

Wasted Manpower?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Byrd committee on reduction of non-essential expenditures is going after the military for the way it uses its civilian manpower.

The committee has ordered Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense, to dig into the situation and report to it. One thing the committee wants to know is why the armed services have 26,000 civilians working in the Pentagon.

CZECHS PLANT MULBERRIES PRAGUE (AP) — Sixteen million mulberry trees, important in silk culture, were planted in Czechoslovakia last year and the country now has 40-million of them.

Iowa Gets Mental Screening Centers

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — A screening center to be opened at the state hospital here within a month will round out the latest Iowa board of control program for aiding the state's mentally ill.

The Mount Pleasant center will be the fourth to be established at state hospitals within a 12-month period.

Like centers established at the state hospitals at Independence, Clarinda and Cherokee, the Mount Pleasant center will provide psychiatric consultation and treatment for any Iowan needing it.

It will not be necessary to be a patient at the institution to receive the service.

The board of control calls the program "the most forward-looking step in treatment of mentally ill in Iowa history."

"For the first time," says board member Robert C. Lappen, "private-type treatment will be available for all patients in the state."

Iowa legislators apparently are impressed with the value of the state's screening center development. The state senate this week passed and sent to the house a bill to require treatment and observation in a screening center at a state mental hospital before a person who has gone before a county insanity commission can be formally admitted as a state hospital patient.

The screening centers mark perhaps the most important phase of the board of control's efforts to bring a modern and advanced viewpoint to the whole broad problem of mental illness. Another phase of this is the board's move in the legislature to have the state hospitals called "state mental institutes" instead of "hospitals for the insane" as they now are designated on the statute books.

Iowa's first screening center — the one set up at the Independence state hospital — will be a year old in April. It is the control board's "prize example" of the work it is trying to do. The centers at Clarinda and Cherokee are just getting into full operation.

The screening centers provide both "out-patient" and "in-patient" treatment. An "out-patient" is a person from outside the hospital. An "in-patient" is a person who has been committed to the institution.

The "out-patient" treatment is designed to aid mentally disturbed persons whose illness has not reached a point where commitment is advisable. Dr. Charles C. Graves, the board's consulting psychiatrist, says the new system of "out-patient" treatment will be especially valuable in getting persons to the proper doctor as soon as possible. He compared the importance of this with that of early diagnosis of cancer.

Under the "out-patient" program, a patient may be examined by qualified screening center personnel without necessity of legal commitments. They may be referred to the center by their private physicians, by courts or other authority, or they may come of their own desire.

The centers operate on a fee basis. The size of the fee will be based on ability to pay and those who are unable to pay will not be charged. Fees go to the state and not to the doctors in charge. The screening center is set apart from the portion of state hospitals where patients reside. At Independence, the screening center's "out-patient" department has aided more than 350 persons in the past 11 months.

The state, in its screening center work, is finding that many of the persons who come for help do not have any fundamental mental illness at all.

"There are far more cases of neuroses and psychoses due to maladjustment, worries, social problems and the like than of real mental illness," Dr. Graves says.

Senator Truman?

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are some indications Sen. James P. Kem (R-Mo.) may be taking seriously the reports that President Truman may run against him for the senate next year.

Long an administration critic, Kem cut loose shortly after the Truman — senate reports began to circulate with an unusually sharp blast against the reconstruction finance corporation. He said Mr. Truman apparently was "unwilling to clean up" the loan agency.

A couple of days earlier he had accused the President of leading the nation down the road to military dictatorship in sending troops to Korea without consulting congress.

MACBRIDE HALL, the only safe place for a bird in this weather.

Not for the Birds, Either —

The weather has brought out as many quotations and original phrases as it has boots and rubbers. Some are worthy of Bartlett's "Quotations" but others might have to be apologized for if they were printed here.

It doesn't take much listening to hear some Iowan say to another: "When it starts snowing it doesn't know when to stop."

"Think it will snow?"

"The farmers will love this."

"Think it will hurt the rhubarb?"

And then there is the classic of them all. Full of frustration, dissatisfaction and bitterness:

"THIS WEATHER IS FOR THE BIRDS."

Those who use this phrase perpetually usually use it as a release for angry energy. When examined thoughtfully, a snow storm leaving over two feet of snow is never "for the birds."

Birds will have a hard time during the next few days. A crust of bread which doesn't mean too much to some Iowa City stomach may mean the difference between life and death for some bird.

This weather just ain't for the birds!

Airforce Gets Fighters for U.S. Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airforce has disclosed it is now receiving delivery of new all-weather F-89 "Scorpion" twin-jet fighters and will have them operating in the air defense command before long.

An airforce spokesman said a "few" have been delivered and now that the planes are in production it should not be long before they are put into operational units.

The Northrop F-89 is the plane Airforce Secretary Thomas K. Finletter is depending on as the backbone of continental air defense.

He said the F-89 is a better all-weather plane than the present Lockheed F-94, which is a modified version of the F-80 "Shooting Star."

"What we are doing, of course, is to make the whole air defense all-weather, and this Northrop F-89 is part of that program," Finletter said recently. "Both the F-94 and the F-89 will be in the fleet, the F-89 gradually edging in and taking up as much of a part of it as possible."

The airforce disclosed in February, 1949, that it had 48 "Scorpions" on order. It now has a "substantial number" on order.

Aircraft experts generally consider the F-89 superior to the F-94 because it was especially designed for the job of flying in all kinds of weather and for night fighting while the F-94 is a modified type built for day fighting.

The F-89 also has more electronic equipment, more fire power in its two Allison J-35 turbojet engines and a two-man crew compared to the F-94's single Allison J-33 jet and lone pilot. The two-man crew consists of pilot and radio operator.

Both planes are listed as having speeds in excess of 600 miles an hour and operating ceilings above 40,000 feet. But the F-89 is listed as having a combat radius in excess of 600 miles while the F-94 was listed as having a combat radius in excess of 500 miles.

The F-89 apparently is similar to Canada's CF-100 "Canuck" twin-engine, two-man crew, all-weather fighter which has been claimed to be the fastest of its kind in the world.

Taking Form

Red Withdrawal Puzzles UN Leaders

By LEIF ERICKSON
U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA (AP) — The Chinese Reds have given up some of the best defensive positions in central Korea. And that puzzles the generals of the Allied command.

In 20 days of slow, steady advance the U.S. Eighth army has moved into its straightest front and the most promising positions since the Chinese intervened in Korea four months ago.

UN Crossed Crest
United Nations troops now have crossed the crest of the mountains and ridge lines from which the Chinese struck in their ill-fated offensive of February.

Gave Up Good Line
In that pullback the Reds gave up what Ridgway called "a good line of departure" for an enemy offensive through the Wonju and Chechon gateway to southeast Korea.

Counter Blows
If the Communists strike out with one of their quick smash attacks again, the Eighth army should be able to counter faster than at Wonju and Chipyeong last month. And that proved fast enough.

Perhaps the Chinese Communist commanders are waiting a new chance to exploit Mao Tze-Tung's doctrine of strategy.

That strategy, used against Chiang Kai-Shek on the Chinese mainland called for a high degree of mobility in difficult terrain and was featured by swift attack and withdrawal.

That strategy worked in November when the Chinese Communist struck in North Korea. It hurt too in February, although that Chinese drive ended in bloody failure.

That is why there will be no racing pursuit of withdrawing Reds by the Eighth army.

Ridgway's mutually supporting front divisions will stay in line ready for the next blow.

Why are the Reds pulling back? The most likely reason is they are back-tracking for a chance to throw another of their massive punches.

Yet why did they back-track in the center from the good line of mountain ridges easily defended?

They may be back-tracking to retrace their steps to the old line of mountain ridges from which the Chinese struck in their ill-fated offensive of February.

Why are the Reds pulling back? The most likely reason is they are back-tracking for a chance to throw another of their massive punches.

Yet why did they back-track in the center from the good line of mountain ridges easily defended?

That puzzles observers, among them Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the Eighth army commander.

Ridgway said he had expected a bitter battle in the center between Yangpyong and Hoengsong on the front east of Seoul. The Chinese offered only rearguard opposition.

There also are reports of a Communist withdrawal from the Seoul area, but night bombers have reported considerable vehicle traffic to Seoul as well as away from the old Korean capital.

The first phase of the Eighth army's current push straightened the deep bulge in the Allied line in central Korea. Ridgway used all seven U.S. divisions on a single front for the first time.

Then Ridgway last Wednesday launched the second phase. This second phase won the vital high ground.

The result was a line straighter and tighter than last summer's Pusan perimeter.

Men selected will be assigned to the first officer candidate course, slated to begin at Paris Island marine base, S.C., April 23.

Additional classes will be formed in July for college men who receive baccalaureate degrees in June.

Resident Sues City for Sidewalk Fall Injuries

Mrs. Sophie Amrine, 427 S. Van Buren street, Tuesday filed notice of a claim against the city of Iowa City for injuries suffered Jan. 17 in a fall on a public sidewalk.

Mrs. Amrine said she fell on a broken walk 25 feet south of the west end of the Ralston creek bridge on Burlington street, suffering an injured left shoulder, broken and lacerated left arm and other bodily injuries.

2 Men Sentenced Here on Criminal Charges

Raymond Shoulders and Donald Melvin Courtney, both of Iowa City, Wednesday pleaded guilty in Johnson county district court to criminal charges on which they were arraigned March 9.

Shoulders was paroled to Sheriff Albert J. Murphy for one year after pleading guilty to charges of attempting to choke his wife March 2.

District Judge James P. Gaffney continued judgment for the parole period unless Shoulders fails to conduct himself properly during that time.

In his order, the judge warned that if Shoulders drinks any intoxicating liquor or assaults his wife again, the charge will be brought up immediately for judgment and sentence.

Courtney was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail or a $300 fine after he pleaded guilty to drunken driving.

He elected to serve the time in jail, and the judge gave him credit for the 54 days he had been confined since he was arrested on the OMVI charge Jan. 19.

Kitts' Robbery Trial To Start Today

MASON CITY (AP)—The government said Wednesday night it was ready to proceed today at 10 a.m. with the trial of Kenneth A. Kitts and Yancy D. Hardy for the $38,000 robbery of the Laurens State bank.

The trial had been scheduled to start before federal Judge Henry M. Traven Wednesday but snow-locked roads delayed arrival of a sufficient number of jury panel members to permit opening the formal proceedings.

Late in the day the government said presence of 47 members of the panel was assured for today. Court officials said that a minimum of 46 was needed to pick a jury.

Other late arrivals included Mrs. Kitts, wife of the 33 year old Omaha defendant, one of the couple's two young sons, and Defense Atty. Hugh Boyle and Bernard J. Boyle, both of Omaha.

Kitts arrived by train early Wednesday under heavy guard. When the train was held up in Sheldon for two hours while en route here the Sheldon police chief and a 25-man civilian guard marched Kitts to the jail until the train was ready to resume its journey.

Blarney Stone Hunt is On; Mecca Week Opens Today

By DON WHITE
The hunt for the "Blarney Stone" is on, and the entire SUI college of engineering is taking part in one of the oldest customs of Mecca week.

The stone was hidden by the engineers' class of 1950 and it's up to the men of the present senior class to uncover it before the annual Mecca smoker starts at 8 tonight in the Community building.

Tonight's meeting is the kickoff for the 1951 holiday of the college of engineering. Besides the smoker, the Mecca celebration will include the ball and the open house.

Long History
Mecca week has a long history and has become a tradition at SUI. The first official observance was held in 1910 and for the past 41 years it has been a yearly custom of the engineers to set aside a period for celebrating.

It was called "St. Patrick's Day" for the first two years in honor of the accepted patron saint of engineers. They staged the hunt for the "Blarney Stone", held a big parade, and presented a vaudeville show.

In 1912, some enthusiastic engineering student devised the name of Mecca week for the homecoming. The name was arrived at by taking the first letters of the five major branches of engineering: Mechanical, Electrical,

Civil, Chemical, and Architectural. Graduating students of the college of engineering, then the college of applied science, adopted the name of Knights of Meccasacius to supplant the Knights of St. Patrick's.

Grew to Week
Gradually the celebration grew from a one-day "blow-out" to a full week of jubilation for the student engineers and alumni. In 1926, the week was begun on Wednesday instead of Monday to avoid an overflow of cutting classes and this meant a more concentrated celebration.

The parade was dropped from the list of events of Mecca week in 1926 and replaced by the Mecca ball. Ten years ago the practice of staging the vaudeville show was also discontinued.

Other than that, the past 25 years of Mecca week have been very similar except for the addition of a Mecca queen to reign at the ball.

Labs Open
The open house came into existence in 1913. During these days, all engineering laboratories are open to the public and visiting alumni of the college of engineering. Experiments are made, equipment is displayed, motion pictures are presented and explanations are given on every phase of engineering work.

School Board Okays $2,900 for Supplies

The purchase of nearly $2,900 worth of school supplies for the 1951-52 year was approved at a meeting of the Iowa City school board Tuesday night.

This was the last regular meeting for Board President Clark R. Caldwell and Chan F. Coulter, who did not run for reelection in Monday's election. Mrs. George L. Horner and Mrs. E. W. Paulus will replace them on the board next Monday.

At the meeting, Coulter urged the textbook and supplies committee of the board to get its order for next year's books to the local stores by early summer. He said in the past some books have not been available to the students.

Company Offers Pamphlet On Plastic Sewing Hints

NEW YORK (AP) — Housewives get a helping hand from some of the top new products on the market this week.

Home sewing of vinylite, plastic piece goods is the money saver offered homemakers by McCordi corporation of New York. The line consists of seven high-style patterns, almost all available in any one of seven colors, and they come in four gauge thickness, 54 inches wide, and 25 yards long. Each piece weighs eight pounds.

Featured is the new pamphlet on home sewing of vinylite plastics giving step by step directions for sewing by hand or machine to make shower curtains, slip covers, drapes, table covers, bibs, ponchos, laundry bags and other such items.

And right along with that for the housewife is the new color file box made by the Martin-Seour Paint company of Chicago. The company got tired of people bringing in Cocker spaniels, bird's eggs and live canaries to match paints with, so the color file was devised.

Color Samples

It is a box about 8 by 4 by 4 inches with separate compartments for color samples, decorating ideas from newspapers, fabrics, paintings, wall paper, fabrics or anything else that the housewife wants to file away and later match with the proper paint. And besides the box is filled with color harmony ideas and a lot of color samples.

A bath in ultra-violet rays is given the new beauty tissues made by Pond's Extract company of New York all during the folding and packaging process. The company says the process "provides a supercleanness and safeguard for immaculate complexion care."

A new six tube hearing aid, described as the world's most powerful, has been introduced by Sontone company of New York. It is intended for use by persons with extreme hearing impairment and can overcome hearing losses up to 100 decibels, the company says. It features an automatic power cushioner that suppresses very loud noises while permitting customary sounds to be heard properly.

For children allergic to dust, the Ideal Toy company of New York has brought out a line of allergy-inhibiting toys. The first is a teddy bear named Algy. He is treated inside and out with dust controlling oil and has a rubber bladder inside instead of conventional stuffing.

Muscatine Edges Fairfield, 41-40 For Class AA Win

Birmingham, Solon Win

Muscatine, Birmingham and Solon all won first round tests in the Boys Sub-State basketball tournament here Wednesday night.

Undefeated Birmingham continued their winning ways by sweeping Muscatine Catholic out of the running, 56-39 and Solon defeated Keswick, 52-45 in Class B games. A last second free throw gave Muscatine a win over Fairfield in the Double A pairings, 41-40.

Today pairings in the snow-delayed tournament send Class A Marion against Dubuque (St. Columbkille) at 6:30, Grinnell against Mt. Pleasant, and Double A Keokuk against Okaloosa.

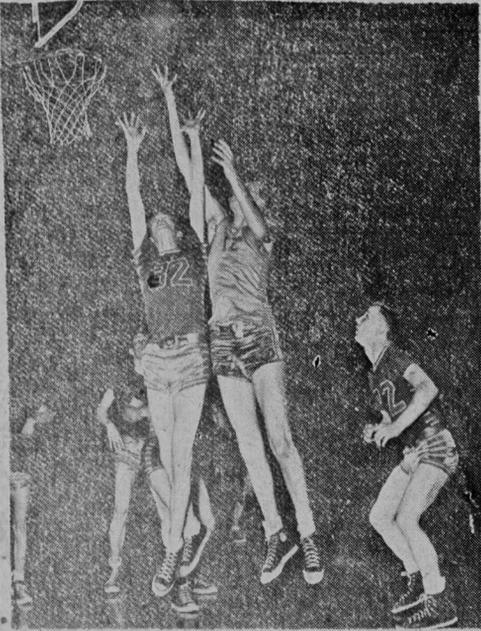

Muscatine Upsets Favored Fairfield

By KEN CESSNA

Muscatine needed a free throw in the last 12 seconds to record an upset, 41-40, victory over Fairfield in the finale of the sub-state triple-header case tournament here Wednesday night.

Guard Jon Rakow sank the free shot to break a 40-40 knot, and end a terrific fourth quarter see-saw struggle.

The Little Muskies owned an unimpressive 5-14 record heading into the game, compared to Fairfield's 14-7 mark. But a

OVER THE TOP OF THE OUTSTRETCHED HANDS OF Muscatine Catholic's Jerry Fuller, 32, Delbert Crafton, 12, Birmingham center grabbed off a rebound early in the Class B first round game in the fieldhouse Wednesday night. toppers 20-6 in the final period, after leading by a 36-33 count heading into the fatal fourth.

Muscatine Close

At the outset of the closing quarter, Muscatine cut the Eagles' margin to 36-35, but then the unbeaten Birmingham crew went into action.

Crafton flipped in three points, but had that matched by Bill Bond of Muscatine, to make the score, 39-37, in favor of Birmingham.

The Eagles then fired in 11 straight points, rolling up a 50-37 lead before Muscatine could break into the scoring with 1 minute, 12 seconds left in the game. Birmingham added three insurance buckets in the final 21 seconds.

Muscatine started as if to tip the Eagles from their 25 game winning streak as the Hilltoppers banged in four straight baskets to open the game.

Strong First Quarter

The Hilltoppers took varying margins of 12-4 and 16-3 in the first quarter, before ending the period out in front, 16-11.

Taking their first lead of the game Birmingham went ahead, 27-25 at halftime and by the third quarter the Eagles led, 36-33.

lengthy scoring lapse by Fairfield ruined the Trojans' chances to make it three in a row this season over Muscatine.

Fairfield went without a field goal through the eight minutes of the second period and four minutes of the third quarter. In this time the Trojans scored only on five free throws, as Muscatine built varying leads in the third session.

Staging a comeback from their release Fairfield tied the count, 27-27, at the end of the third period.

From a narrow lead with two and one-half minutes left, Muscatine added a free throw before Fairfield tied the score at 33-33. That tie came about when Nick Martin of Fairfield hit two free throws with one minute remaining.

Muscatine took a 40-38 lead when Rakow counted a jump shot in the closing 49 seconds. Intercepting a Muskie pass Jim Stewart of Fairfield scored in the last 14 seconds to tie the score, 40-40. Rakow followed two seconds later with his game-winning free throw.

Eagles Continue Undefeated Record

By KEN CESSNA

Birmingham, on the strength of a torrid fourth-quarter attack, rolled over Muscatine Catholic, 56-39, in a Class B sub-state contest Wednesday night.

The Eagles, with a total school enrollment of only 69, tagged win No. 26 onto their unbeaten record in the opening game of the twice-delayed tournament.

Delbert Crafton, 6-foot, 3-inch Birmingham center, led all scoring with 23 points, 13 of them coming in the Eagles' fourth-quarter rout of Muscatine.

Kansas State Smashes Illini In NCAA Warm-Up Tilt 91-72

MANHATTAN, KAS. (AP) — The high-flying Kansas State Wildcats romped over the University of Illinois 91 to 72 in a post-season game that was a warmup for the NCAA playoffs.

Jack Stone hit 29 points for Kansas State to set a new individual scoring record for a K-State player here. A crowd of 12,000 saw the contest.

Coch J. Gardner used all 14 of his Kansas State men and they all turned in a near-perfect ball-handling job after a rather jittery start.

The lead changed hands six times in the first half before Kansas State tied the count at 29-all after 13 minutes, then the Wildcats moved ahead and stayed there. The halftime score was 51-45.

Ernie Barrett of K-State hit 21 points to help Stone. Don Sundelage paced Illinois with 18.

Kansas State, Big Seven Conference champion, and Illinois, champion of the Big Ten, obtained special permission from their conferences to play the game so they could keep in shape for the NCAA playoffs next week.

Illinois goes to the Eastern playoffs at New York City, meeting Columbia March 20. Kansas State will take on Arizona in the Western playoffs at Kansas City March 21.

Baseball Heads' Quarrel Exposed

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. (AP) — A personal feud between lame duck Commissioner A. B. Chandler and Walter Mulbry, the secretary-treasurer of baseball, came to light Wednesday as an aftermath of Chandler's failure to win reelection.

The United Press learned that Roger Douens, a publicity representative for Pan-American Airways in Washington, D.C., conducted Chandler's campaign for re-election and in return was promised Mulbry's job if Chandler won.

But now that he has failed in that, the United Press learned that the commissioner is going all out to let Mulbry before he resigns to let his successor take over. If he succeeds, he will appoint Douens to the post to serve so long as he remains in office.

Bratton Captures Welterweight Title

CHICAGO (AP) — Battling Johnny Bratton smashed Charlie Fusari with a two fisted attack with an injured left hand Wednesday night to win a split-decision in the Chicago stadium and take the National Boxing association's world welterweight championship.

It was Bratton's first title test, and he proved equal to the venture. He started slow, but when he had backed up for two rounds and had figured out Fusari's nifty style, he unlimbered with both hands.

That kept the easterner off balance and puzzled for a time. But then Bratton, who has twice suffered a broken jaw in the ring and who culminated his second comeback with a title Wednesday night, sloped up.

Fusari was floored twice, once for a four count in the fourth round when Bratton still was battling with two solid fists, and again for a nine count in the tenth.

Despite the handicap of fighting one handed he managed to win three of the last nine rounds while Fusari took five and one was even.

Referee Tommy Gilmore's ballot was the deciding vote in Bratton's victory. He scored the battle 78 points for the new champion and 72 for Fusari. Judge Ed Hintz also called it for Bratton, 77 to 73, while Judge John Bray gave Fusari a 76 to 74 edge.

State, Federal Pension Combination Proposed

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa house voted 97 to 2 Wednesday to create a special 110 member committee to investigate whether the Iowa old age and survivors insurance (public employees pension) program should be combined with the federal social security program.

The committee, which is given $10,000 with which to conduct its study, would submit recommendations back to the 1953 legislature.

The resolution now goes to the senate. It is the house social security committee's temporary answer to literally thousands of letters asking various changes in the present system.

Rep. Arch W. McFarlane (R-Waterloo), social security committee chairman, said complaints fall into four main categories.

1. Persons under it think the 4 percent deduction from their pay check is too high.
2. Persons affected want a shorter time set up for becoming fully qualified under the system.
3. Employers want the amount of benefits increased.
4. Other employes want provisions made for refunds of amounts paid in when they don't remain in public employment.

School Aid

Also the house passed and sent to the senate four state-aid-to-schools bills that would appropriate $17,347,500 annually, which is the identical figure enacted two years ago.

The Iowa state education association had asked almost twice that amount, but Chairman G. T. Kuester of the house appropriations committee said any increase in funds would have to be backed up by an unwise tax burden.

The house bill would set aside $12-million a year in general aid, $2-million in supplemental aid, $2-million in transportation aid and $647,500 in special aids.

Anti-Subversive Bill On Senate Agenda

The proposed Iowa "anti-subversive" bill, under which all government employes including teachers would have to file written statements of their loyalty was recommended to the state senate Wednesday for passage.

The bill is labeled in the preamble as an anti-Communist measure and is designed to force out of public employment any persons who entertain subversive ideas about the American form of government.

It would be a felony for anyone to become or remain a member of a subversive organization and the penalty would be a fine of $1,000 or a year in prison or both.

Commission of a disloyal act would subject a person to a fine of $10,000 or 20 years in prison or both.

No subversive person would be allowed to become a candidate for public office and every public employe of the state or any political sub-division would be required by next August 1 to make a written statement that he is not a subversive person.

County Salaries

The county officers salary bill under which the house had agreed after two days of work to grant increases of about $800 a year for all county officials, was riddled by the senate committee on compensation from public officers.

Under the committee plan, the proposed raises would range from $800 annually for officials in the smaller counties to $400 for those in the top brackets.

Business Rejects Johnston Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Business leaders rejected Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston's proposed compromise for returning labor to the wage stabilization board Wednesday and Johnston said he has "no intention" of acting without their approval.

Simultaneously, Johnston refused to approve a negotiated 11-cent hourly wage increase for some 220,000 AFL and CIO packing house workers because it would pierce the new 10 percent wage ceiling.

The meat workers have threatened to walk out March 25 if the increase is not granted by then. Johnston said that to grant the raise on his own, however, would amount to setting a new wage policy.

Orchestra Performs —

Mahler's 7th Symphony

By TERRY RINK

The seldom-heard Seventh symphony of Gustav Mahler was performed Wednesday by the SUI symphony orchestra in its fourth concert of the season.

The orchestra under the direction of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp was performed in the north hall of the music building instead of its usual place, the Iowa Union, because of difficulties caused by the weather.

The only other selection presented was the orchestral suite from "The Golden Cockerel" by Rimsky-Korsakov.

The titan Mahler work was performed as a psychological study in five movements. Through out the work variations on a theme of laughter unified it. Mocking laughter at the beginning, bitter, perhaps, because of its own unresolved conflict, changes to a gentle satire in the second movement.

The third presents a farce of instrumental color and rhythm; the fourth thumps its nose cheerfully at life, and the fifth finds joy in being.

Of particular interest in the symphony are the numerous percussion instruments and the lengthy timpani part called for in the score.

Particularly enjoyable was the third movement with its incongruity adroitly placed to relieve the building tension. The obvious was avoided and a refreshing, wide-awake composition resulted.

The agitated strings in the first movement are answered with derisive brass statement of disbelief. There are movements of occasional rest but no real surcease.

This adds up to power-plus music.

Russian Policies Forcing U.S. Arming Truman Declares

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—President Truman bluntly accused Soviet Russia Wednesday of forcing the United States to help rearm the free world by its own aggression and "ruthless program of rearmament."

He cited repeated Russian refusal to agree on a "foolproof" program for control of atomic and other weapons. This, he said, makes it vital for the United States to build up its defenses "as quickly and vigorously as possible."

The president declared American rearmament is "above all, an effort to prevent a world conflict." But he added it is also "an effort to prepare our defenses to meet such a conflict if it is forced upon us."

Mr. Truman voiced his new indictment of Red Russia in a letter to a bi-partisan group of senators and representatives who had urged him to make a series of concrete proposals to the Russians for disarmament in the interest of peace.

Russ Control of Asia 25-Year Plan: Dulles

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles said Wednesday night that Moscow is seeking to carry out a 25-year-old plan to clamp Soviet control on Asia by violence.

That is why, he said, Russia recently broke off discussions looking toward a peace treaty with Japan.

Dulles, President Truman's special envoy for Japanese treaty negotiations, said Moscow's immediate purpose apparently is to spread anxiety in Japan and other areas now protected by Western forces.

Predicting failure for this effort and for a Communist campaign to "immerse Asia in a bath of blood," he declared that the power of fraud and terrorism is waning.

Clinic Stresses Disease Prevention

Prevention problems of cancer, heart and blood vessel diseases, chronic arthritis and rheumatism, and polio are being studied in a three-day national conference on chronic diseases in Chicago.

The meeting began Tuesday with a discussion of reports from the various associations in the nation, dealing with the particular diseases.

A report to the conference from the national cancer associations stressed the importance of early detection of cancer, which has a mortality rate of 200,000 Americans a year.

Further Use of X-Rays Early detection may reduce the death toll and has resulted in cure for some types of cancer such as skin, breast and cervix cancer. The conference is studying whether chest X-rays for detecting tuberculosis may be used for detecting lung tumors or lung cancers.

The report stressed the importance of periodic physical examinations for people over 30 years old as a means of discovering conditions preceding cancer.

These conditions are irritated skin moles and small tumors of the thyroid, stomach or intestines. Early treatment as a result of physical examinations may eradicate the disease.

Study Role of Heredity Statistics suggest that heredity plays a role in the development of arthritis, which cripples about 800,000 persons a year in the U.S. Acute infections, physical or emotional strains, menopause, pregnancy or endocrine crises and ex-posure to dampness and cold are believed to be causes for the disease. Children, adolescents and young adults are the chief victims of rheumatic fever and heart disease. About 750,000 Americans under the age of 50 have damaged hearts as a result of the disease.

The fever and heart disease usually sets in after other infectious diseases have weakened the body. Heredity, poor housing and nutrition are also believed to be contributing factors.

Drugs Effective Penicillin and sulfa drugs are effective in prevention of the disease if the persons exposed to the disease or children whose immediate family have had the disease are inoculated.

Rheumatoid arthritis may be treated in most cases by skilled physical therapy and other medical techniques if they are instituted at an early age. Again, the necessity for early detection is necessary.

Good medical care during the acute phase of polio is the best known treatment for patients in the prevention of deformities. Any effects of polio may be decreased by reduction of the infected muscles after the active stage has passed.

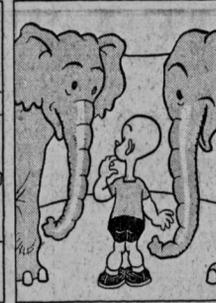

Polio Report Cited A report by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said that about 50 percent of the polio victims recover completely. Only five to 10 percent die and about 40 percent show slight defects after contracting the disease.

The conference meeting at the Edgewater Beach hotel is sponsored by the National Commission on Chronic Illness. The Commission was founded jointly by the American Medical association, American Public Health association and the American Public Welfare association.

LAFF-A-DAY

1951: The Year Of The Big Snow In Iowa City

IOWA CITY'S 26 INCHES of snow tossed imaginations back to childhood snowballs, snowforts, and this snow-Harvey. Roger J. Newton, C4, Conrad, posed with Harvey, creation of married students of Mansie house, 4 E. Market street.

CARS PARKED FRIDAY RESEMBLED IGLOOS by Wednesday, and unless a person remembered just where in a parking lot he'd parked his car it was conceivable to shovel your way behind the wrong steering wheel. (Daily Iowan Photos)

CAR CHAINS that a few days earlier hung in garages or rattled in car trunks were suddenly found useful on rear wheels and even then many motorists wished for more than chains which was simply no snow.

THE SNOW WAS SNOWING, the wind was blowing, but SUI coeds weathered the storm. The girls of Currier hall found shovels and went to work, having fun at the same time. After all, class assignments come every day but the big snow of March, 1951, was deeper than mother and dad could have seen on the SUI campus in 55 years.

NOBODY LOSES FAITH in the U.S. postman however deep the snow, but even the mail carrier needed signs this week.

AN END-LOADER went to work on E. Washington street tossing snow into a city truck and although some people scolding walks worried about heart attacks no one really worried about the end-loader succumbing.

THE JOB NO ONE IN IOWA CITY ENVIED was the task of clearing downtown streets of the most snow in 55 years. City workmen, however, using a snow-loader, end-loader, graders and ten trucks labored day and night to uncover the business district.

THE BIGGEST SHOVEL IN TOWN helped dig out Iowa City's business district. The white stuff could be pushed to the curb in residential areas, but downtown the snow had to be trucked away. Nobody really cared where city workmen took the snow. In fact, snow was one thing all Iowa City had—and few people cared for more.

MAYOR PRESTON KOSER took shovel in hand on downtown streets. The city had every available man at work showing the rest of the state that Iowa City just can't be snowed under, that is, for long.
