DAVENPORT KEEPS TITLE, 50-40

Beats Tiny Roland For Sixth Crown

(Keokuk Wins Consolation, See Page 4)

By HOBERT DUNCAN
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

If a two minute chunk could have been sliced out of Saturday night's championship game at the fieldhouse, tiny Roland could well have gone home today with the title instead of Davenport.

As it was, the Blue Devils broke the heart of the Roland team and 14,000 of the 15,000 fans at the fieldhouse with a 10 point last quarter burst which pulled them out of Roland's reach and to a 50-40 win.

Davenport thus becomes the second team in the history of state tournaments to repeat as champions.

Crowd Thrilled

For three and a half quarters, Roland thrilled the capacity crowd with a stubborn efficiency which had the Blue Devils committing errors in their frenzy to stay ahead.

Then Davenport righted itself and scored 10 straight points in two minutes for the victory.

Twice before in the tournament, Roland has beaten favored opponents with a mixture of great rebounding and shooting in plus a coolness uncommon in class B teams.

Naturally Roland entered the championship game the overwhelming sentimental choice. But Davenport remained the basketball choice and the Blue Devils justified this choice with the fourth quarter rally just when it began to look as if Roland was going to climax a great tournament.

Big Push

Davenport was ahead 39-37 with 2:59 left when the big push started. Ed DePooter made it 40-37 with a free throw and then Carl Widseth, Davenport's great center, added a tip in for a 42-37 ball game. DePooter hit two straight baskets and Widseth tipped one in and got a free throw to make it 49-37.

The big crowd suddenly quieted down when it realized that Roland would never recover from this barrage. To them and to the Roland team it was bitter disappointment after the Rockets had so successfully stayed with the champions.

The two Roland players who had carried the team to the threshold of one of the great basketball upsets in Iowa history again sparked the Rockets Saturday night. Gary Thompson, a 5-6 kid with a deadly long shot, and Ralph Johnson, a rebounder who apparently doesn't realize anyone is taller than he is, kept the Blue Devils off balance practically the entire game.

Davenport started off in typical fashion, taking a 9-3 lead in the early minutes. Fans began to tear that Roland, like many teams facing Davenport, might crack. But the Rockets kept playing their deliberate game to pull within five points at the end of the first quarter, 17-12.

The two teams battled evenly in the second quarter until near the end of the period when Roland began hitting. Dave Peterson, a reserve forward, came into the lineup and hit three straight baskets that brought Roland to within two points of Davenport, 22-20.

The Blue Devils added three more points and Roland two before the intermission to make it 25-22 at the half.

Roland's best quarter was the third. The little boys pulled even with Davenport at 29-29 with five minutes to go in the period. This was the first time Roland had been even with the Blue Devils all night.

Davenport went ahead momentarily but Roland was hot and exploited the fact with six quick points for a 35-31 lead at the end of three quarters.

Davenport tied up the game at 35-35 early in the fourth quarter and then went ahead 39-37 before it started the final burst which beat Roland.

Saturday night's defeat was the first suffered by Roland this season and doesn't leave an undefeated team in the state.

Gary Thompson, a guard, led the Rockets with a total of 16 points.

Blue Devil forward Carl Widseth led his team with 12 points.

Refugees Jump Into Albanian Fight: Tito

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA (AP) — Albanian refugees based in Italy are being parachuted into combat against the Soviet-backed Albanian government, Premier Marshal Tito's official newspaper said Saturday. From abroad came reports, unconfirmed here, that Soviet Russia has sent both jet planes and fresh men to her isolated satellite.

Denouncing "Albanian feudalists and other hotheads" for actions it said might touch off the Balkan powder keg, Tito's newspaper, Borba, declared "armed groups are being parachuted into Albania and they are fighting there."

Yugoslav sources in London declared about a dozen MIG Russian jet fighters were sent into Albania early this month. A Paris diplomatic source who has a representative in Albania said two Soviet fighters have been patrolling daily for several days over Tirana, the capital.

Rome newspapers quoted refugees from Tirana as saying the Russians have boosted their controlling personnel in Albania — meaning military, naval, police and technical men — from 3,000 to 5,000.

As much as they hate the pro-communist regime of Albania's premier Enver Hoxha, Yugoslavs stressed that the growing troubles of their Adriatic neighbor might give Russia an excuse to launch an attack against the Moscow-hating Tito.

Albania is land locked by Yugoslavia and Greece.

Always a hot spot in the Balkans, Albania's strategic importance lies mostly in the fact that it guards a vital section of the Adriatic sea. It has only 1,175,000 inhabitants, but its army is reported relatively large.

Since the split with once-friendly Yugoslavia, Albania's affairs have been reported placed more and more under direct Russian control.

Diplomatic sources elsewhere said there is little doubt that Albania, hungry under a dictatorship, is seething with unrest.

But American officials in Washington were skeptical that the unrest had or soon would reach the proportions of a general revolt, in view of the tough action a modern police state can take against dissident elements.

38 Students to Get Pay, Enrollment For Advanced ROTC

Thirty-eight students who have been taking advance ROTC without pay, will now receive their money.

The men have been attending classes, but have not been officially enrolled pending the announcement of a quota by Tenth airforce headquarters.

Quota Received
Now the SUI military department has received their quota and the men will be enrolled formally. They will be paid retroactive to the day they registered for the course.

Twenty-four seniors and 14 juniors were affected. The seniors are taking one semester advanced ROTC and receive reserve commissions as second lieutenants after they attend a six-weeks summer camp.

Juniors Get 3 Semesters
Juniors will complete three semesters, plus the summer camp before being commissioned.

The regular ROTC program requires four semesters of advanced study. This new one or three semester program was set up for the first time this regular program.

U. S. Issues Regulations For Student Deferments

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Saturday issued regulations providing for deferment of college students from the draft on the basis of scholarship and aptitude tests.

Mr. Truman authorized the establishment of aptitude tests for students now in college. Deferments will be granted on the basis of the scores made. Mr. Truman left it to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey to establish the rating students must attain in order to remain in college.

In addition, students who attain a scholastic rating in a certain upper percentage of their class—the percentage to be specified also by Hershey—will be eligible for deferments.

The new regulations did not authorize aptitude tests for high school students or anyone else not now in college. There had been some discussion of a plan to test all young men about to enter college to see if they would be eligible for a deferment.

Hershey announced that the aptitude tests will be given to present college students May 26, June 16 and June 20. Those not now in college will be permitted to take the tests after they have been admitted to college and commenced their studies.

There now are about 1-million draft-eligible young men in colleges. Hershey said it is impossible at this time to estimate how many will rate deferments.

Purpose of the new deferment plan is to assure the nation of a continuing supply of specialists, scientists and technicians who must be trained in colleges.

The Educational Testing Service, a non-profit organization with headquarters at Princeton, N.J., will administer the aptitude tests at 1,000 examination centers in the United States and in U.S. territories. The student must pay his own transportation cost to and from the testing center.

The aptitude tests upon which draft deferments for college students will be based will be a three-hour examination featuring multiple choice answers to four basic types of questions.

The educational testing service, a non-profit organization chosen by selective service to give the examinations, said a bulletin with sample questions and answers will be available through local draft boards to every student eligible for the test.

To be eligible to take the selective service college qualification test, an applicant:

- (1) Must be a registrant who intends to request occupational deferment as a student;
- (2) Must be under 26 years old at the time of taking the test;
- (3) Must have already begun and plan to continue his college or university studies. (The applicant need not be in a four year college but his entire course must be satisfactory for transfer of credits to a degree granting institution);
- (4) Must not previously have taken the test.

While there was no estimate of how many students will be deferred under the system, the White House acknowledged that the new plan is intended as a "liberalization" of existing regulations.

Local Reaction . . .

Two SUI officials Saturday expressed general approval of newly announced government plans to grant draft deferment to certain qualified college students.

Registrar Ted McCarrel said "the plan makes sense." McCarrel was among educators who recently met with selective service officials to discuss plans by which an adequate number of promising students could continue their education.

McCarrel said the plan as announced is substantially similar to recommendations made by many educators.

SUI Liberal Arts Dean Dewey Stuit called the new plan "a good move in the right direction." He said it should assure a flow of students into all branches of learning.

Although no definite figures were available, it was estimated that approximately 2,500 SUI men students would be affected by the new plan.

New City Government Takes Over Monday

Beginning at noon Monday Iowa City will be under a council-manager form of local government.

At that time Iowa City's new five-man council will take office. The five who will be sworn in by the city clerk are Prof. Walter L. Daykin, W. V. Pearson, Clarence A. Parizek, William J. Holland, and Dr. James M. Hottel.

The council-manager system will replace the mayor-council form of government in Iowa City. Retiring Mayor Koser and the old council of seven members will hold their last meeting at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

The new council will elect a mayor from its own members. An acting city manager could be appointed until a permanent manager is selected.

Spring Floods Near Peak

Iowa's 1951 spring floods neared a peak Saturday and forecasters indicated the worst was over.

The rampaging Raccoon river, which apparently claimed the life of a prominent woman golfer at Des Moines Saturday, crested there about mid-afternoon. The stage was three feet below the record high of 1947, the state's worst flood year.

Clarence Lamaureaux, head of the Des Moines weather bureau, said the state has escaped any extensive flood damage so far this season.

"Most of the flooding has been on low-lying farmland, although several families have been forced from their homes in the hardest hit communities," he said. "We expect those who evacuated their homes will be able to return to them next week."

UN Forces Push Across Parallel, Strike Outposts

TOKYO (SUNDAY) (UP) — A second South Korean division crossed the old 38th parallel boundary into North Korea in force Saturday, extending the Allied bridgehead on the Communist east coast to a salient 10 to 15 miles wide and at least 8-1/2 miles deep.

A front dispatch said the crossing was made along the east coast Taebek mountain range, not far from the point where the South Korean capital division crossed the parallel last Wednesday.

It was the fourth border crossing by United Nations troops. Two American tank-infantry teams drove across the parallel north of Seoul earlier Saturday and shot up Communist outpost positions before withdrawing to Allied lines south of the boundary.

The task forces rolled ahead of other Allied forces poised with striking distance of the boundary all across the 140-mile Korean front. They encountered light opposition, but one task force fought its way through an enemy ambush and set fire to a Russian T-34 tank.

The crossings were the first by Americans since the Allies retreated into South Korea exactly three months ago before a massive Chinese offensive that drove them as far south as Osan, 50 miles below the border. South Koreans on the east coast were last reported eight and a half miles above the boundary.

Another Allied tank-infantry patrol on the east central front ran into two Communist battalions near Sachiri, three miles south of the 38th parallel and about 35 miles in from the east coast. The Allies withdrew after a 45-minute battle.

On the extreme western end of the front South Koreans crossed the Imjin river above Munsan, 21 miles northeast of Seoul, and tore into an enemy battalion. Air and artillery attacks drove the Reds northward at this point only a few miles below the border.

WARNED OF SOLICITORS
Iowa Citizens were warned Thursday to be on guard against the wave of unauthorized solicitors who usually hit Iowa City during the spring.

Second-Rate Education for Iowa? —

From the time we're pushed out the door with apple in hand to meet the school bus until we're adults, we have pounded into our heads the thought that education is one of the greatest and most important things in our lives.

And then after we become adults and have families of our own, we take up the same tune and sing it to our own children, telling the youngsters who rebel at going to school that "You want to grow up to be a big, smart man, don't you, Son?"

Education is a wonderful thing. And we'd guess that every member of the Iowa legislature would agree with us.

We know the state's interested in its educational facilities. Just last May, the board of education entered into a contract with George D. Strayer, wherein Dr. Strayer was to conduct a survey of conditions and needs at SUI, ISC and ISTC.

Dr. Strayer is professor emeritus of education and former director of the division of field studies of the Institute of Educational Research, Teachers college, Columbia university.

Among other things, Dr. Strayer and his staff of experts in the field of education were to conduct a study of the adequacy of the support provided for the institutions of higher education in Iowa and the ability of the state to finance the program.

The people of Iowa paid about $20,000 for this survey. This surely would indicate that Iowa is concerned about its educational facilities.

But we have a rather paradoxical situation in the legislature now. Dr. Strayer made a number of recommendations concerning the needs of education in Iowa, and our legislature is, from all indications, ignoring them — along with SUI President Virgil M. Hancher's appropriation request.

It's rather difficult to understand the legislators' attitude. We've contended all along that the people of Iowa ARE willing to pay the taxes needed to give SUI the $8,053,310 the president says is needed to keep the university a top-flight institution.

And we've had a number of reports from students who say that while they were home during the Easter vacation they found that the citizens felt the university should get the money.

We believe the people realize that SUI will become a second-rate institution if the university has to survive on a figure one and one-half to two million dollars less than that requested by the president.

Why SHOULD Iowa permit its educational institutions to drop in the nation and the mid-west?

Dr. Strayer pointed out in his report on the survey that for the past twenty years Iowa has had a higher proportion of all youths aged 18 to 21 in college than the average of the midwest and the nation as a whole.

He also pointed out that there is much evidence to indicate that Iowa's economic ability compares favorably with that of neighboring states and of the entire nation. One of the best measures for judging the economic ability of a state to support higher education, he said, is the average per capita income of individuals.

And in 1948, for example, the average per capita income for the entire country was $1,410. For eight mid-western states, not including Iowa, the average was $1,451.

And for Iowa that year, the average per capita income was $1,491.

Why, then, does the legislature continue to go on its false economy saving way, with action which promises to give SUI one and one-half to two million dollars less than the president has requested?

We believe that Iowa has the money and that Iowans are willing to spend it for the education of their youth.

Why, then, should the people's representatives in Des Moines refuse to appropriate the amount needed?

Duke Scientist Finds Truth in 'Prophecy'

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — After 17 years of testing, J. B. Rhine of Duke university believes that prophecy is a real human faculty.

"It does occur," he says, "in some people and under some conditions. It is not reliable. It is only a trace of an ability."

"Whether precognition (the scientific name for prophecy) can ever be controlled is a question for research."

Rhine established the parapsychology laboratory here for testing human perceptions that go beyond the recognized senses. For prophecy, mind-reading and clairvoyance, the ability to see or sense at long distances things about which no one else knows, he has mathematical proof. Many other scientists have confirmed this.

The proof for mind-reading and clairvoyance rests on success that has odds of thousands to millions to one that it is not the result of chance alone.

For the newer prophecy experiments, the mathematical evidence is less compelling; but the odds are still hundreds that such results would not occur by chance alone. The scoring rate, the average above the chance average, is really small. The average person tested does well to improve on the chance score by as much as five percent. That takes thousands of trials to mean anything conclusive.

"Just enough," Rhine says, "to convince us we are not dealing with chance alone."

No reputed prophets were hunted for trials. The prophets were hundreds of persons, mostly Duke students, with no known abilities different from the rest of us.

of cards not yet dealt, and in some cases of symbols not yet in existence. They were called not longer than one year in advance. Also used were colors of cards, the names of flowers printed on cards, or personal names on cards.

In all tests there was one basic similarity. There were five different cards, five of each kind, making a pack of 25. Twenty-five is the standard because the generally accepted mathematics of probability have been most exhaustively tested for a series of 25.

The cards were dealt by machines and by other methods designed to produce a random sequence which could not be inferred in advance.

One man, a European doctor, illustrated them all. For several years, while living in Europe, he predicted the future fall of cards at Duke, up to one year ahead. He showed the ability by consistently beating the chance average for years. He wrote his predictions and mailed them here. On one day's predictions he wrote: "This is the worst I have ever done." The cards proved he was right. Such a low score had a chance of one in a thousand.

Since he came to Duke several months ago his predictions have been failures. He is worried about failing to get a position in the United States, without which he cannot bring his family here and must return to Europe. Rhine says this state of mind may explain the European's failure.

"Everybody," Rhine says, "has bad spells. The trouble, in fact, is to get good spells. The good spells are short, they are rare and they always have played out."

Farm Prices Decline as Farm Costs Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average price of farm products declined nearly one percent from Feb. 15 to March 15, while the cost of things the farmer buys rose 1.5 percent to set a new record, according to the agriculture department.

These figures could have the effect, temporarily at least, of taking some of the steam out of demands for more drastic controls on farm prices.

The report represented a break in an upward trend which had boosted farm prices 26 percent since the Korean war broke out. The only other exception to the trend occurred last October when there were rumors of peace in Korea. Prices then fell off 1.3 percent.

Some administration officials have been suggesting tighter controls on farm prices. Under existing law no ceilings can be applied at less than parity, which is a standard declared fair to farmers and consumers alike.

The report showed that farm prices as a whole averaged 111 percent of parity in mid-March, as compared with 113 percent in mid-February and 95 percent a year ago.

However, when commodities are considered individually, it is found that there are only nine major products selling for parity or more. These nine, which also were at or above parity a month ago, are hogs, beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, wool, cotton, cottonseed, soybeans and rice.

Among those below parity are wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, peanuts, potatoes, butterfat, milk, dry beans, grain sorghums, citrus fruits, sweet potatoes, apples, chickens and eggs.

Compared with the 1910-14 average, farm prices at mid-March averaged 311 percent; at mid-February 313 percent, and a year ago 237 percent.

What farmers paid for their own needs stood at 230 percent of the 1910-14 average, compared with 276 in mid-February and 249 a year ago.

The month's small drop in farm prices was accounted for by declines in food grains, dairy products, hogs and truck crops. Increases were registered in poultry and eggs, cotton and cottonseed, meat animals other than hogs, and wool.

Special Iowa Center To Collect Blood For Emergencies

DES MOINES (AP) — Plans for a defense blood center for Iowa will be made at a meeting here April 6 of representatives from 49 Red Cross chapters and county medical societies in Iowa.

Des Moines has been selected by the national security resources board as one of about 20 large cities in the nation to establish a center for the sole purpose of collecting blood for defense needs.

The center is tentatively scheduled to open in June.

Blood procured here will be shipped overseas for the armed forces and will be processed into plasma stockpiles for the department of defense and civil defense. Frank Burns, Polk County Red Cross chapter chairman, reports.

About 250 Red Cross chapter leaders, physicians representing their medical societies and officials from the Red Cross mid-western area office in St. Louis are expected to attend the meeting here.

Speakers will include Dr. Robert Hardin, assistant dean of the SUI college of medicine.

"The Des Moines defense blood center will be staffed by a qualified administrator, doctors, nurses and trained volunteers," Burns said.

Chapters asked by the Red Cross to participate in the Des Moines blood center are in these Iowa counties: Benton, Black Hawk, Boone, Butler, Calhoun, Cerro Gordo, Clarke, Dallas, Franklin, Greene, Grundy, Guthrie, Hamilton, Hardin, Iowa, Jasper, Jones, Keokuk, Linn, Lucas, Madison, Mahaska, Marion, Marshall, Monroe, Polk, Potosi, Sae, Story, Tama, Wapello, Warren, Webster and Wright.

Burns said other chapters will be asked to participate in the program when staff and equipment are available and the center is able to handle an added volume of blood.

Fourteen Iowa chapters are already participating in the Iowa-Nebraska blood center at Omaha. The Iowa-Nebraska center is one of 40 in Red Cross national blood programs now serving civilian hospitals and the defense program.

Third Grade Numbers Taught 'Electrically'

FORT DODGE (AP) — Third graders in Riverside school here are operating a numbers board as part of their education in arithmetic.

Their teacher, Mrs. Ray Studley, had the board made in connection with an experiment in teaching arithmetic as a means of meeting real life situations.

The board is electrical and it lights up when students plug in the right answers. It makes a game of the four fundamental processes in arithmetic — adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing.

The pupil "plugs in" the problem he wishes to do and then places another plug near the answer he thinks correct. A red light flashes on if the child associated the problem with the right answer.

The numbers board is one of several devices in use in the Riverside third grade class. These devices give students concrete experience with an arithmetical process before the symbols actually are written.

For the Record

By JOHN VOORHEES

Getting the Bird —

Twiddle de dee dee, Twiddle de di di — No, I'm not quite ready for section 8, but I soon will be if they don't stop playing "Mocking Bird Hill" everywhere. When the song first appeared, I decided to ignore it in the hope it would go away but it's already in a top position on the Hit Parade and Ford's for Capitol are topping the lists of best-selling records.

Incidentally Les, his git-far, and Mary have conspired against "How High the Moon." You might as well get out the seckcloth and ashes for they do "How High" as a hill-billy song on their latest Capitol release.

HHM has survived hop as well as Dixie-land and Jazz at the Philharmonic but their version tells the death knell. It's a crime Kefauver should know about!

Why not drop into your nearest record store and give a listen to Morton Gould's new Columbia album, "Music At Midnight." He lends his exotic touch to two Ellington songs, "Mood Indigo" and "Caravan," as well as great standards like "Moon Glow," "Swamp Fire," and "Deep Purple." The only trouble will be that someone will get in the booth first and then you'll hear Patti Page singing —

"It gives me a thrill to wake up to the Mocking Bird's trill . . ."

March 1951, not only climatically infamous, will also be remembered as the month THAT song became popular and it's just one more good reason to play songs like "I'll Remember April." Probably George Shearing's MGM disc and June Christy's Capitol release are two of the best available versions. June has a fine cutting of "Get Happy" on the other side.

Another way to get happy is to put a nickel in the juke box to hear "Too Young," that new song with possibilities.

In spite of Xavier Cugat and ensemble (that's French for Xavier plus band, ee, wives, maracas, etc.) every musician in South America doesn't perform Latin-American music. On Victor's Black Label Series came a record this week by "Luis Arcaez y su Orquesta" playing a song called "Embrujado" — which turned out to be "bewitched." Not a fastener within mile distance, Luis plays one of the finest bumpers around and "Embrujado" and the reverse, "Johnson Rag," are done by his hand in a wonderfully relaxed, polished manner that should start American band leaders running down to Mexico to take lessons.

Especially band leaders like Tex Beneke, whose first MGM release, "Sentimental Music," and "Down in Nashville, Tenn." is the height of mediocrity. Turn on the radio, you might hear it on a record program. Chances are, however, if it's a request program you'll hear Russ Morgan singing —

"There's peace and good will on Mocking Bird . . ."

All right, go ahead and go to Mocking Bird Hill. I'm going to Mexico and listen to Luis Arcaez y su Orquesta. Vive la Good Neighbor policy!

Life and Events

On Other Campuses

Civil Liberties

Seventeen of 33 university and college newspapers participating in a survey on academic freedom reported violations of civil liberties in their campuses.

Included in the survey, conducted by the American Civil Liberties union, were reports that:

1. Student groups at eight schools ran into difficulties when controversial speakers were invited to address them.

2. Student papers at most of the schools enjoy almost complete freedom of the press.

3. Six schools (Universities of North Carolina, Maine, California, Michigan, New Hampshire and Smith college) require loyalty oaths from their faculties. Attempts have been made at five schools, including the University of Wisconsin, to penalize faculty members for their political views.

4. Five schools (Northwestern, Florida State, Harvard, New Hampshire and City College of New York) were special committees by subject committees on charges of subversive political activity.

The Daily Iowan did not participate in the survey.

Michigan

Two Chicago striptease artists have offered their services in a mock law case at the University of Michigan to prove that professional undressing is a legitimate art.

Dardy Orlando, who calls herself "Anatomy Award Winner," and Ann Arbor, a gal with equal proportions, said they are willing to uphold the morality of the strip routine, about which four Michigan law students are arguing.

Said Dardy, "If those college boys are really leveling, I'll gladly go up to Ann Arbor and put on my dance to prove that nudity is not necessary to the art of the exotic."

The law students said they aren't interested.

Big 10 Parley

Twenty-nine student leaders from eight Big 10 schools including SUI, Saturday concluded a two-day conference on student government at Northwestern university.

Among the topics discussed was the problem of racial and religious discrimination on campuses.

Brief Stops

Ten members of the Japanese diet spent two days at Iowa State college last week in their tour of agriculture and education in the United States.

The only woman ever to be initiated into a men's fraternity recently celebrated her 89th birthday at the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity at the University of California. She is Mrs. H. H. Camper, who was officially initiated into the Pi Kappa house there in 1938.

Universities and colleges across the nation are protesting moves to deport some 500 of 3,400 Chinese students in the United States for security reasons. Among those affected are 16 students at the University of Illinois, 12 at the University of Chicago, and three at the University of Wisconsin.

The Daily Northwestern, student paper at Northwestern university, printed this announcement of a puppet performance of Goethe's "Faust": "For 50 cents you can watch Faust go to Hell."

Art Show Features Modernistic Furniture

ABSTRACT MODEL built by Floyd Starr, A2, Fort Madison, gives a modernistic touch to the Third Annual Design show now being held in the main gallery of the SUI art building. The entire theme of the show emphasizes modern designs in furniture, textiles, metalwork, and wood carving. Such designs as this are useful to teach a student what he can do with various materials under different conditions.

LIGHTWEIGHT CHAIR weighing only 16 pounds, designed by Morris Racker, A4, Waverly, upholstered in nobby-textured material and has a tubular steel frame. About 14 ounces of plastic support the entire weight of the seat. The table is built of square iron bars and has a brass rod grid top. It was designed by Harlan Holladay, G, Girardeau, Mo. The metal bowl is an example of the metalwork exhibited in the show.

THIS MODERN BOOKCASE AND CHAIR are designed to fit in equally well with modern or conventional furnishings. A new feature of the bookcase, designed by Leo Marolf, A4, Davenport, is correct height to reach easily without stooping. The swing-seat chair is upholstered in luggage-finished cowhide leather and is hung in a tubular steel frame. It was built by John B. Strack, former student of SUI.

Modern design, with the purpose of making the furnishings in the modern home more comfortable and pleasant, is featured in the Third Annual Design show now being held in the main gallery of the SUI art building.

While most of the articles on exhibition are not drastically different at first glance, nearly all of the exhibits have special features of design and construction which make them more functional, useful or add to their eye-appeal.

The furnishings, textiles, metalwork and utensils are designed to fit in equally well with both conventional and modern home furnishings. Simplicity in production and relative cheapness in final cost are considered in the design of the furniture.

Exhibits in the show are the work of architectural, industrial, metalcraft and advertising design classes in the SUI art department. Profs. John Schulze and Raoul Delmare of the SUI art department were in charge of setting up the show.

A modern styled bookcase by Leo Marolf, A4, Davenport, is a typical example showing the modern touches and innovations which have been incorporated into the newly designed furniture.

Before designing and building his bookcase, Marolf made a study of the faults of the conventional bookcases and then set out to eliminate as many of the faults as possible.

As a result of this study his steel and plywood exhibit is the correct height to permit easy access to the books without excessive stooping. The shelves are tilted at the correct angle so that book titles can be read without stooping. The shelves are also rounded in front so that books can be "rolled" out easier.

A few abstract models built by basic design students add a modernistic or futuristic note to the show. These models, while sometimes confusing at the first glance, are useful to the student in design.

'They Played Our Game For 4 Minutes,' Moon Says

Second Team in History To Repeat as Champs

By KEN CESSNA
Davenport coach Paul Moon, the age-old Blue Devils in 15 state tournament battle cry that has backed the appearances, reigned supreme over the Iowa high school basketball field for the second straight year.

Coach Paul Moon added the sixth championship trophy to the already bulging award case as his Blue Devils came from behind 35-31 heading into the final quarter, to win over "the people's choice" Roland, 50-40.

Unbreakable Spirit
The Imps, their poise at times upset by the unbreakable Roland spirit, showed true title — holding megal as they staged a torrid comeback that even swayed the majority of the crowd who rooted for Roland from before the opening tip-off.

"They played our game in the last four minutes," said graying Paul Moon, the spats-wearing Davenport headman.

Roland benchchief O. M. "Buck" Cheadle said, "My boys just ran out of gas."

Carl Widseth and Ed DePooter, the senior 18-year-old Davenport "reliever" spearheaded the Blue Devils fourth period spurt that started with the Imps on top 38-37 with 3:47 remaining.

Davenport unleashed its fast-break as Roland came out to press the Imps and sent Widseth and DePooter in for 11 straight points before Roland could recover, and then it was too late.

8 Minutes Too Soon
Cheadle, Roland's popular red-shirted coach, said, "That horn went off eight minutes too soon."

But Cheadle had plenty of consolation from his loyal supporters and those won over during the little Story County darlings long tourney haul into the title fight.

"You're the champs at our house," said Mrs. Cheadle as she planted a long kiss on her husband, who outwardly during the game's most heated moments showed no emotion, but you can bet the family jewels Buck was burning plenty inside.

"I was afraid I'd have that nightmare — the one where Class B teams beats me in the state championship game," grinned

Moon, the Davenport coach who finds time to teach bookkeeping and office machine courses in between turning out title contenders.

Wonderful Record
"Buck," Moon shouted when he and the Roland coach met to shake hands, "that 35 straight is a wonderful record, boy."

"And that little Thompson," Moon said, "can play on my team anytime." And well Gary might too, for the 15-year-old Roland sophomore just about put the torch to Davenport as he had done to Hull, West Waterloo and East Des Moines.

Moon bent his basketball-wise head down to whisper to the youthful Thompson and said in all earnest, "You played some wonderful ball in this tournament, and I hope to see you back in the next few years."

"Gary," Moon asked, "what does your dad do?" Upon hearing that he was a carpenter, Paul said, "Well, we'll find him a house to build in Davenport and you can come along."

Turning to meet a long line of hand-extending admirers, Moon said, "That's the third time we've beaten a team with 35 straight wins." Davenport did it to Ottumwa in 1928 and to Holstein in 1942 when they were unbeaten, and now Roland.

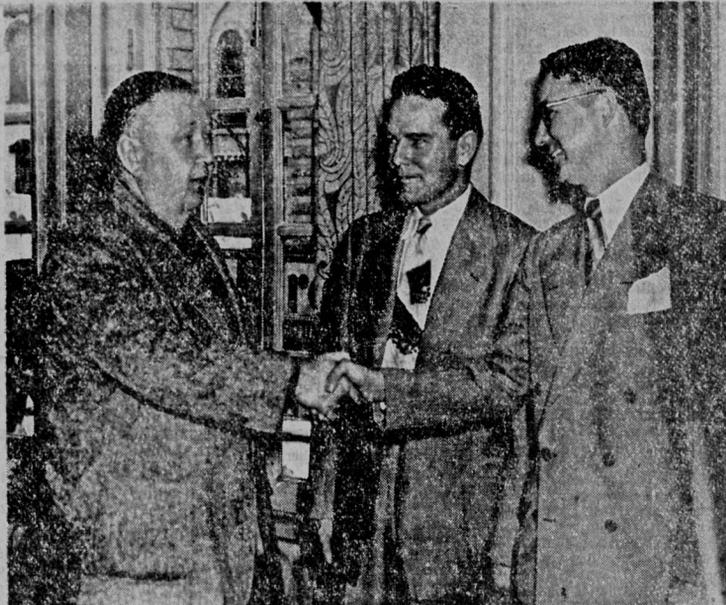

"And," Moon added, "we're still undefeated in Iowa. But for a while I wasn't sure."

Moon said, taking a deep breath, probably his first since the Blue Devils had come from behind.

Moon pushed his way through the crowd on his way to the dressing room and told a friend, "I've got to send a telegram to my wife (she's in Birmingham, Ala.). I'm going to say, 'Guess who is the state champion — AGAIN.'"

Rizzuto Injured
PHOENIX (AP) — Phil Rizzuto, star shortstop of the New York Yankees, pulled a muscle in his side during batting practice Saturday and was removed to a local hospital for X-rays. The 32-year-old infielder was voted last season's most valuable player in the American league.

Mr. Quinn, Meet Mr. O'Connor

IOWA'S NEW BASKETBALL COACH, Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, (right) was introduced to the executive secretary of the Iowa High School Athletic association, Lyle Quinn (left) by Athletic Director Paul Brechler at a luncheon Saturday. The luncheon was sponsored by the Iowa City chamber of commerce to honor the 16 teams in the state boy's basketball tournament, their coaches and members of the state board of control.

Iowa Athletic Officials Praise This Year's Tournament Field

More than 200 players, coaches and officials of the boy's basketball tournament were guests of the Iowa City chamber of commerce Saturday at a luncheon in the Hotel Jefferson.

Chamber President Del Wareman was toastmaster for the meeting and he introduced Paul Brechler, Iowa athletic director. Brechler presented the members of his staff who were present.

Brechler told the players that he thought the 16 teams in this year's championship play-off made the tournament outstanding this year.

Head Football Coach Leonard Raffensperger said he felt this year's group was "the finest field I've ever seen." He added that he had seen at least part of every tournament in the last 23 years.

Raffensperger brought two teams to the tournament in his high school coaching career. He brought Reinbeck to the tournament in 1929 and East High of Waterloo in 1937.

Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, newly appointed Iowa basketball coach, said he felt the group represented the "greatest group for sportsmanship and ability" he had ever seen in the tournament.

O'Connor brought his Boone high school team to the tournament in 1948.

Also introduced were Mike Howard, wrestling coach; Maury Kent, Waddy Davis, Ben Douglas, Pat Boland, Bob Fitch and Wally Schwank, of the football staff, and Rollie Williams, assistant director of athletics.

Lyle Quinn, executive secretary of the Iowa High School Athletic association, introduced members of the Iowa Board of Control and the coaches of the teams at the meeting.

Dean Deuel Scores Upset Triumph in Purdue Relays

LAFAYETTE, IND. — The underdogs had their way Saturday night in opening final events of the ninth annual Purdue university relays, as Dean Deuel of Iowa upset the field in the 60-yard high hurdles and Miami's Jim Bailey captured the 60-yard sprint.

Deuel closed with a rush to capture the low sticks in :6.9, one-tenth of a second off the meet record; to beat out favored Jesse Thomas of Michigan State.

Big Ten Champion Don Hoover of Michigan tripped over the second hurdle and finished last in the six-man field.

Bailey edged Arthur Ingram of Michigan State to win the sprint in :6.3, also one-tenth of a second off the record.

Michigan's brilliant Big Ten and national intercollegiate Champion Don McEwen led the Wolverines to an overwhelming victory in the university distance medley, taking the lead from Indiana's Bob Dellinger with six laps to go and pulling away steadily.

The time of 10:17.8, however, was 9.5 seconds off the record.

Logan's 86 Sets Record For Tournament Scoring

Keokuk defeated East Des Moines, 45-43, on a basket in the last 30 seconds to win the Iowa high school tournament consolation title here Saturday night.

The game was a lackadaisical affair until the closing quarter as two tired, disappointed semi-finals losers battled for what they could salvage from the tourney, the consolation title.

But both teams came alive in the stretch battle that left team supporters shrieking.

Keokuk led throughout the first half and into the third period before East Des Moines rallied. Keokuk sagged and its chances all but vanished until the aggressive spark was struck.

East led 41 to 38 with less than two minutes left but could not stall successfully as the smaller Keokuk players swiped the ball often enough to gain a 43-43 tie. Then Bob Williams hit a jump shot with 11 seconds for his second and most important basket of the night.

Des Moines East blew one final scoring chance.

Bill Logan, Keokuk center, hit 21 points to set a new tournament record. He poured in 86 points in four games. Erasing the 81-point mark set by Ray Fontana, Ankeny, last year.

The boxscore:

Keokuk	G	F	P	East	D.	M.	G	F	P

Johnson to Work For Civil Defense Office in Washington

Prof. Jack T. Johnson has been granted a six month's leave of absence from the political science department to work with the federal civil defense office in Washington, D.C.

He will aid in setting up an educational program to train leaders for civil defense. At present, he is expected to return to SU Sept. 1. However, he may be required to remain on the job in Washington after that date.

Johnson was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, and Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity, upon graduation from SU in 1935.

He received his Ph. D. in 1938 and was appointed instructor in SU's political science department three years later. He was appointed assistant professor in 1943 and associate professor in 1947.

Johnson was a consultant to the Carnegie Foundation and the National Research Council in 1946. He served in the naval intelligence from 1944 to 1945.

Johnson taught Man and Society, problems of teaching political science and government, and social welfare at SU.

Gen. Ridgway Praises U.S. Troops in Korea

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA (AP) — Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway says the American soldier in Korea "has arrived."

The U.S. Eighth army commander said American fighting men "have now acquired poise and self-reliance, born of confidence, which gives them pride in themselves."

He added, "it isn't confined to our men alone, but it is also true of all United Nations fighting forces."

New Wheat Disease Threatens Nation's Bread Grain Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southerly winds will blow the midwestern wheat farmer no good this year.

Government plant disease specialists said Saturday a new, virulent wheat stem rust which cut bread grain production 25 percent in the Dakotas and Minnesota last year is ready to strike again — if conditions are right.

The dread fungus, known as "Race 15 B," is lying dormant in the barberry infested areas of the deep south. By the time Northern Great Plains wheat is ready to head, winds will be laden with billions of death-dealing spores which sap food from wheat stalks and shrivel the grain.

A prevailing south wind during this period could spread the rust like wild fire through lush fields in Nebraska, South and North Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota and Montana — which produce the bulk of the nation's bread grain.

Unfortunately, there isn't anything plant scientists can do about it right now. They are confronted with the job of producing a Race-15-B-resistant wheat and it takes 12 years to produce a new variety of grain.

The fact that nature is constantly busy creating new and more virile types of wheat stem rust makes the task more difficult.

Plant scientists recall that the last great rust epidemic occurred in 1935 when "Race 56" became a menace. Subsequent research produced a wheat resistant to No. 56. Now comes Race 15 B and the job has to be done all over again.

Recognizing the threat to the world's bread supply, scientists of three nations — the United States, Canada and Mexico — have joined in an effort to speed production of a wheat variety resistant to the disease.

Wayne was hit by a car driven by Frank Neff, Wayland. The boy suffered only minor bruises in the mishap.

Dulles Reveals Plans For Jap Rearmament

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ambassador John Foster Dulles disclosed Saturday night American plans for a series of Pacific pacts designed to let Japan reararm against Asian communism and still guard against a revival of aggressive Japanese militarism.

In the center of a three part system of agreements is a Japanese peace treaty which the United States is now negotiating with its Pacific allies.

Dulles described its key provisions officially for the first time. He called the proposed pact "a peace of reconciliation."

Ugliest Man on Campus Election to Feature Many Corrupt Practices, Letter Reveals

By JIM MACNAIR

The most corrupt election in the history of this nation has been uncovered on the SU campus. Electors don't have to prove they are 21 years old or that they are citizens of the country in order to vote.

And this will probably make Sen. Estes Kefauver quake in his boots. Votes in the election can be bought. In fact, they must be bought.

These facts were revealed in a letter sent out to all SUI organizations by the Omicron chapter of the Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, sponsors of the first "Ugly Man" contest ever to be held at SU.

The letter invited all SUI units to select a candidate for this election, and listed the rules and regulations governing the contest.

The winner, Ugliest Man on campus, will be presented to the public and awarded a trophy at the all-university carnival, Saturday, April 21 at the fieldhouse. Qualifications for candidates are simple. He "must be a male member of the student body or faculty."

Each organization may submit one candidate. Two pictures (5" x 7") of the candidate and a letter of application must be in the mail by midnight, Tuesday, April 10, to qualify the nominee for election.

These letters must be addressed to Chairman, Alpha Phi Omega Ugly Man Contest, Iowa Memorial Union, Iowa City.

Polls will be set up in the Memorial Union Wednesday, April 18 and will remain there until 4 p.m. Saturday, April 21.

During this period anyone may vote, if he has the money. Votes cost one cent each, or ten for a dime, and ballot-stuffing is permitted.

For this reason, it appears obvious that the "moneyed interests" will be able to win the election with a minimum of advertising. However, so far as advertising is concerned, the sky's the limit. The infamous letter which revealed this information also declared that "checks, thousand dollar bills and Confederate war bonds are acceptable."

All and any means of falsifying the appearance of the candidates may be used to better his chances of being Ugliest Man on Campus. Proceeds from the election will be spent for a good cause. They will be used to subsidize the services of the Alpha Phi Omega in its work on the campus.

Services Monday For Mr. Michael

Funeral services for Fred Harry Michael, 69, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Oathout funeral chapel. Burial will be in the Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Michael died at his home four miles north of West Branch, Saturday. He had lived nearly his entire life in Newport township in Johnson county, moving to West Branch about two months ago.

Church Membership In U.S. Increases 51.5% from '26-'49

NEW YORK (AP) — American church membership is at an all time high both in actual numbers and in proportion to the population, the National Council of Churches reported Saturday.

Church membership increased 51.5 percent between 1926 and 1949 while the nation's overall population increased only an estimated 30 percent, the council said.

Total membership in the 14-year period increased from 53,203,413 to 80,682,575, a council survey showed. Approximately 54 percent of the population belonged to a religious body in 1949.

The report included membership of 54 religious groups, all with a membership of more than 50,000 which account for 97 percent of total church membership in the U.S.

Protestant groups increased 16,954,322 or 54 percent; Roman Catholic membership increased 9,005,305 or 48.4 percent; and Jewish congregations increased by 918,758 or 22.5 percent.

The Southern Baptists made the largest increase among Protestant groups — 3,236,887. Methodists were second with 2,031,927; the National Baptist Convention U.S.A., Inc., third with 1,188,583; and the United Lutheran Church in America fourth with 738,229.

SUI Grad Draws Korea War

Marine Corporal Depicts Fighting Men Realistically in Battle Cartoons

By MINOR BARNES

A former SUI student, Jack Nelson, may be the Bill Mauldin of the Korean war.

Nelson, now Cpl. John G. Nelson of the 2nd division, United States Marine Corps, has created a cartoon character called "Mac" who shows a realistic view of the American fighting man in Korea.

He enclosed several of these cartoons in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Nelson, 210 1/2 East Washington street, Iowa City.

Jack drew most of his cartoons while serving with the marines at the front near the 38th parallel, Mrs. Nelson said. He has been in Korea since Feb. 21.

Jack attended SUI for two years, 1948-50. He majored in art here and took newspaper cartooning under Dick Spencer, creator of "Herky the Hawk."

Several of Nelson's cartoons appeared in The Daily Iowan. He applied and was accepted by the Hollywood Art Institute in California last summer. While attending school there and living in Santa Monica with his wife, he was called into the reserves.

He had previously been in the marines two years, having enlisted after graduation from high school in 1946.

"Jack received his notice the day of the Iowa-Southern California football game," his mother recalled. "Some of the Iowa players who saw him out there told me the news before he was able to write," she said.

Mrs. Nelson said she didn't know when Jack first became interested in cartooning. "He has liked to draw pictures since he was a little boy," she said.

Jack also did a little commercial cartooning, creating "Flattop," a personified milk bottle for a new carton advertising campaign for Swansons dairy in Iowa City, his parents said.

In California, he hoped to get a job drawing ads on television. Some of his sketches were accepted by a station there before he was called into the service and prospects of a job were promising.

COST OF WINTER

CLEVELAND (AP) — It cost Cleveland $850,000 to remove snow this winter, four times the normal amount.

U.S. Medal of Honor Given Posthumously To American Indian

WASHINGTON (AP) — The medal of honor was awarded posthumously Friday to an American Indian — Cpl. Mitchell Red Cloud Jr. — who sacrificed his life to save his comrades from a Chinese Communist attack in Korea.

Red Cloud was the eighth soldier in the Korean war to be awarded the nation's highest military decoration.

The 26-year-old Indian gave his life last Nov. 5 to slow down a surprise enemy attack near Chonghyon long enough for his company to re-group and evacuate the wounded.

Red Cloud first saw the enemy attack — forming and opened fire with his automatic rifle on a large group of Chinese Red troops who rushed his position. A burst of fire from an enemy "burp" gun cut down Red Cloud.

Severely wounded, he pulled himself to his feet and held himself erect by wrapping his arm around a tree. Completely exposed to the enemy, he continued firing until the Communists overran his position and killed him.

His medal will be presented to his mother, Mrs. Nellie Red Cloud of Friendship, Wis., at a ceremony at the Pentagon next Tuesday by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Oxford Man Enters Innocent Plea to OMV

George R. Scanlon, Oxford, Friday pleaded innocent in district court to the charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

County Atty. William L. Meardon's information charges Scanlon with drunken driving Sunday west of Tiffin on highway 6. Scanlon was released under $500 bond.

Another information filed by Meardon charges Gale E. Parker with drunken driving in Iowa City on March 19. He has not yet appeared in court for arraignment.

Yesterday in Washington

SHIP DEAL — Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) moved for wide-scale investigation of richly profitable dealings in war surplus ships, to show whether political influence and income tax avoidance are involved.

Johnson said the inquiry should start with a deal in which former Rep. Joseph E. Casey (D-Mass.) and associates ran a $100,000 investment into a $2.8-million profit. The maritime administration has said Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey, the late former secretary of state Edward R. Stettinius Jr., and others were associated with Casey in the transaction.

TROOPS-TO-EUROPE — Four-way split in the senate kept even the most expert forecasters in doubt about the final form of the troops-to-Europe resolutions.

Almost the only certainty when the senate begins voting Monday on the issue is that it will approve President Truman's plan to assign four U.S. divisions to the North Atlantic Defense army under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), a critic of the troop venture, told reporters: "The administration has the votes."

REOPEN CRIME PROBE? — Terrific public pressure may force a reopening of the sensational public hearings by the senate crime investigating committee.

Sen. Lester Hunt (D-Wyo.), one of the five members of the crime hunting group, told a reporter this, adding that he personally believes "additional hearings are not necessary."

Hunt said he and most other senators are "under terrific public pressure to continue the public hearings."

TAX INVESTIGATION — Congressional investigators have called for a full accounting of $3-billion in tax concession granted to war contractors in the past five months.

Informed sources said Defense Production Administrator William H. Harrison has been asked for complete data on the grants as the starting point of a congressional investigation that will reach into every phase of the mobilization program.

NLRB RULING — The national labor relations board ruled unanimously that an employer may lock out his workers after a strike if the threat of further walkouts would hurt his business.

In its first decision approving lockouts in strike situations, the board interpreted the Taft-Hartley law as giving employers an economic weapon that could be as strong under certain conditions as a union strike.

A board spokesman said the effect of the ruling would be "of the first magnitude."

TAX DOGBERS — Secretary John W. Snyder pledged to congress that the treasury will work closely with the senate crime committee in a general crackdown on tax-dodging racketeers.

At the same time, Sen. Herbert O'Connor (D-Md.), a committee member, called for a "continued federal crime inquiry" to stamp out the narcotics traffic.

Snyder said in a statement that he was gratified that the life of the committee was extended 30 days beyond its original expiration date of Saturday. He said he was particularly anxious to see "tax-dodging gamblers and racketeers meet the full force of federal penalties."

TAX INCREASE — House tax writers believed the administration is ready to back-track on its demand for a tax increase totalling $16.5-billion a year.

Members of the tax-framing house ways and means committee expect Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder to tell them Monday that the government can remain "on a pay-as-we-go basis next year without so big a tax rise."

Warn A-Bombs Might Drop On 20 Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil defense officials have warned congress that A-bombs may rain on 15 or 20 American cities at once if war comes, it was disclosed Friday.

They said any Russian air attack probably would come over the polar region, and big cities in the northern half of the country are in the greatest danger.

Civil Defense Administrator Millard F. Caldwell and his top aides issued the warning at a closed hearing of the house appropriations committee recently. Carefully-edited sections of the testimony were made public Friday.

Vaccine Stockpile — It included a request for $14-million to stockpile unusual vaccines, such as yellow fever serum, for widespread use in case of germ warfare attack.

Caldwell said there is some "pretty responsible thinking" that a Soviet atomic attack would be directed at 15 or 20 major cities simultaneously.

He did not list those considered most likely to be attacked. But in addition to major northern cities, he said, Washington, Baltimore, Richmond, Atlanta, Birmingham and St. Louis are regarded as "critical target areas."

The other cities mentioned by name as possible targets were Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Industrial Centers — It was clear this was not intended as a list of the cities in greatest potential danger, however, since it did not include New York, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Boston, Philadelphia and other northern industrial centers which are known to be listed as high priority targets.

Death

Last Mailman Comes For Little Bobby

DETROIT (AP) — Death, the last mailman, came Friday for little Bobby Hiltline.

He knocked for Bobby as the six-year-old cancer sufferer slept in an oxygen tent at Ford hospital in Detroit.

They rode off together then, it seemed, down the lonely farm road near Adrian, Mich., where Bobby had watched so long for another mailman.

That mailman had brightened the last days of Bobby's short life by bringing him more than 300,000 letters and packages from well-wishers.

He liked to watch for the mailman, his mother said, and was thrilled when he stopped. So she asked a "few kind people" to drop Bobby a card. The story was carried by the Associated Press, and within a day, or so, the first of the 300,000 letters began arriving.

The mail (much of which Bobby never saw because he was returned to the hospital March 19, weakened from excitement) included many gifts.

Mrs. Hiltline says that they will be given to charitable organizations so that other little boys and girls may enjoy them.

TV Sets Ruled 'Not Furniture'

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa attorney general's office ruled Friday that a television set is a "complex instrument or appliance" that cannot be considered a piece of furniture.

Television sets therefore cannot be exempted from state property taxes under a statute that excludes various household articles up to a certain value, the attorney general ruled.

Henry W. Wormley, special assistant attorney general assigned to the state tax commission, drew up the opinion at the request of George Cosson Jr., director of the property tax division.

Dulles Doubts Russ Will Sign Liberal Japanese Peace Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Permanent Russian title to South Sakhalin and the Kuriles Islands should be dependent upon Moscow's willingness to sign a liberal Japanese peace pact, Ambassador John Foster Dulles said Saturday night.

Expressing faint hope that Russia would join the peace treaty, Dulles said it was fortunate that Soviet participation was not "indispensable." He said the Russians have no legal power to veto peace.

The Soviet Union, he added, "has no moral due-bills, for its vast takings in Manchuria, Port Arthur, Dairen, Sakhalin and the Kuriles repay it a thousand-fold for its six days of nominal belligerence" near the end of World War II.

In an address at White college on U.S. aims for peace in Japan, Dulles conceded that South Sakhalin and the Kuriles were allotted to Russia at Yalta. But, he said, this country might balk at a formal agreement on the transfer.

"Any peace treaty validation of Russia's title should, we suggest, be dependent upon Russia's becoming a party to that treaty," he said.

He said the Russians "seem to have taken fright" now that a Japanese treaty is near.

Russia Shuns Peace
"When peace is far off, the Russian leaders speak lovingly of peace," he added. "But when peace comes near, they shun peace like a plague."

Dulles' speech was remarkable for its clear outline of U.S. draft treaty proposals submitted in Washington this week to Russia and 13 other nations.

Asks UN Trusteeship
He said Japan should renounce "all rights, titles and claims" to Korea, Formosa, the Pescadores and the Antarctic area. He said the treaty should place the Ryukyu and Bonin Islands under a UN trusteeship administered by the United States.

On other aspects of this government's views on the treaty, Dulles:

1. Disclosed that discussions on security in the Pacific are "well advanced" between Washington and Pacific nations fearful of Japan. He said a "series of arrangements" are being considered that would enable Japan to defend herself without undertaking "unbridled rearmament which could become an offensive threat."

2. Called on nations demanding heavy reparations from Japan to drop or scale down their claims. He said heavy claims, if fulfilled would prompt "widespread social unrest" in Japan which might become "explosive" and result in "joyous" Communist exploitation.

3. Rejected proposals advanced by Britain and other countries that Japan's industrial and shipbuilding capacities be reduced.

The Japanese peace formula proposed by this government, he explained, is "one of reconciliation."

They Say He Died at Custer's Last Stand

ARMY RECORDS LISTED RYAN, 94, as one of the fallen heroes in Custer's Last Stand 76 years ago, but he is still lively enough to regale Jay Ryan, 14, with some tall tales during a visit from Custer, S. Dak., to Los Angeles. Ryan has been a gold prospector most of his life. He says he wasn't killed in the battle because he was ordered to remain behind with an ill comrade.

Reuther to Launch Guaranteed Annual Wage Campaign

CLEVELAND, OHIO (AP) — President Walter P. Reuther of the CIO United Auto Workers will call the union's 13th annual convention to order here today with one eye on a guaranteed annual wage in 1955 and the other on more immediate problems, including gambling in Detroit factories, the mobilization effort and union dues.

In the annual president's report to the 2,500 convention delegates representing 1,250,000 UAW members, the 43-year-old labor leader outlined the union's next major step in collective bargaining — a guaranteed annual wage.

Economic Necessity
Reuther said the guaranteed annual wage, which he called, "a matter of economic necessity to our nation," will be a third step in the UAW's fight to better the standard of living of its members. The two preceding phases, already in force in most of the union's contracts, call for cost-of-living, escalator clauses and the betterment of wages and working conditions through technological improvements.

To facilitate the eventual adopting of the guaranteed annual wage, Reuther suggested the establishment of a labor-industry commission to work out the problems involved. The guaranteed annual wage, Reuther said, will probably not be feasible before the major contracts expire in 1955. He also said this issue would probably not come to the convention floor until after the election of officers.

No Political Ambitions
Repeating his disinterest in political office, Reuther planned to plunge into the race for reelection. He, along with his three top officers, secretary-treasurer Emil Mazey and vice-presidents John Livingston and Richard Gosser, will run on one slate. No serious opposition was expected. It has been rumored that Reuther would be named to fill a senatorial vacancy in Michigan should Sen. Arthur Vandenberg die, or resign because of illness.

Michigan Defense Contracts Highest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan with $699,917,544.39, leads all other states in dollar value of defense contracts awarded from Nov. 15, 1950, to Feb. 15, 1951, U.S. BLD information, a private organization, said Saturday.

The report was based on data made public from time to time by the office of small business of the department of commerce.

Michigan companies during that period received 554 contracts, 481 of which were for the army. New York state stood first in the number of contracts — 1,204 — but the dollar value was only $398,420,487.66. California also led Michigan in numbers but lagged on dollar volume with $301,478,571.95.

Only four states did not receive any awards. They were Arizona, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Strong La Prensa A Must, Editor Says

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Alberto Gainza Paz, editor of La Prensa, told the St. Louis Post-Dispatch Saturday that he is convinced La Prensa "must reappear, strengthened by the support of a people who love liberty and condemn injustice."

The Buenos Aires newspaper was closed down by Argentine President Juan Peron.

Gainza Paz gave this statement to Donald Grant, of the Post-Dispatch, in Uruguay.

"The Argentine people know that a sacrifice of principle to monetary, material or political convenience always has proved to be prejudicial if not indeed disastrous. The Argentine people are fully conscious of their rights to have truthful and complete information about events inside or outside the country, and to read the newspaper of their own choice."

SWING FOR SYMPHONY
HANNOVER, GERMANY (AP) — America and Germany are in the midst of a musical trade: swing for symphony. German record dealers report they are doing a land-office business filling American orders for Bach, Beethoven and Wagner. They are also keeping cash registers busy ringing up sales of American swing to Germans. They think that many Germans have had a surfeit of the muscular music of Wagner and the heavy fare of Beethoven.
