... Some Flowers for Mommy

BUYING FLOWERS JUST FOR MOTHER Saturday at the Curtis flower shop, 117 S. Dubuque street, were Tim, 4, and Stephen, 2, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Miles B. Manchester, 302 Stadium park. Manchester is a graduate student in political science from Omaha, Neb. The youngsters were planning to make today "Tim's and Stephen's day for Mother"...

... WITH KISSES, TOO, in addition to the flowers, Mother appears to be both taken back by and mighty proud of her boys. For her it is "Mother's day for Tim and Stephen" — and for Mrs. Manchester's other boy, 10-week-old Tommy.

Marshall Calls Russia 'Real Enemy In Korea'

Art Professor Resigns, Says Chinese Couldn't Fight Without Help

An SUI assistant art professor, described by Look magazine as "a modern violent Michelangelo," this week resigned his position here because of what he termed professional incompatibility with the art department.

Howard Warshaw, member of the department since last September, said he resigned because his belief that art can be taught objectively is in opposition with the theory of some SUI art instructors that art cannot be taught, it can only be inspired.

Warshaw said he will remain in Iowa City until August to complete work in which he is now engaged and to advise graduate students now working under him.

Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the art department, had no comment Saturday on Warshaw's resignation.

SUI art students have scheduled a meeting Monday afternoon in the art building to discuss Warshaw's resignation. He delivered his last lecture in his class, pictorial design, Wednesday.

Warshaw came to SUI from the Jepson art institute in Los Angeles, Calif., where he had taught for two years.

"At the Jepson school," he said, "we were firm in our belief that the teaching of art can best be accomplished by a general education rather than by a craft education."

"We believed art was a set of values and any human being was eligible to explore them."

Warshaw said at SUI he tried to relate art to other fields of human activity rather than to teach it as an isolated subject.

Warshaw said he tried to condition his students with the human values of art. He brought in lecturers from outside the art school to discuss their fields in relation to art.

He said he was happy to come to SUI because he wanted to teach art in an art school in context with a university. The Jepson school is not connected with any university.

Warshaw was selected recently by Life magazine as one of the 19 most promising young painters in the nation. His work has won him national acclaim.

Professor Longman was a member of a three man jury that awarded Warshaw a first prize in both oil and casein painting at the California centennial exhibition in 1949.

It was through this meeting that Warshaw first became interested in coming to SUI as an instructor.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall bluntly named Russia Saturday as "our real opponent" in Korea and he warned of a Soviet invasion of Western Europe that could plunge the United States into war.

The 70-year-old soldier-statesman told senators that Moscow could make the Chinese Reds call off their aggression "in a moment" if they desired — and that the Chinese couldn't fight without the direct support of the Russians.

Questioned by Sen. Henry C. Lodge (R-Mass.), Marshall said the bulk of Red China's war material is coming from Russia.

Marshall also said he feels there is "a great threat to Japan" from Russia's build up of forces in the Far East.

"It was that reason in particular," he told senators, "that caused me to exercise considerable pressure to have the two divisions of national guard sent out to Hokkaido. General MacArthur had asked for four divisions at an earlier period when there were none available."

Russian Build Up in Asia
Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) had questioned him about his testimony earlier this week that Russia recently has been building up its forces in Sakhalin and in the vicinity of Vladivostok, Port Arthur and Dairen.

Hokkaido is the northern most island in the Japanese chain. Sakhalin is a Soviet island near Hokkaido.

Marshall said his own fear was "very great that our hazard was there, and we should terminate it as quickly as we could do it."

At that point the censor knocked out 20 words of Marshall's testimony.

He testified he believes the United Nations Allies now are contributing an increased number of troops to the Korean fight and "I think we have good prospects for further increases."

War 'Not Inevitable'
Previous testimony has indicated the UN members have about 30,000 troops in Korea while the United States may have some 250,000 in the entire theater. But censors deleted about 80 words of Marshall's remarks after he spoke of the prospect of troop increases.

Marshall repeated that he feared the program proposed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur — to widen the war against Red China with bombing, blockade, and use of Chinese Nationalist troops — would risk a third world war.

But, he said, while a full-scale war with Russia is a "very dangerous possibility" — he does not think it "is inevitable."

SUI Employees to Get Shorter Work Week, Pay Increases July 1

President Virgil M. Hancher announced Saturday pay increases for all SUI employees and a reduction in the work week from 44 to 40 hours.

The increases and the new work week will become effective July 1. Both moves were recommended by SUI and approved by the state board of education.

Full-time non-academic employees will receive an increase of $50 a month over salaries and wages before April 1. Regular part-time non-academic employees will receive proportionate raises.

Mr. Hancher said that salary boosts to academic, research and administrative personnel have not been fully worked out, and that these raises will be determined after the next board of education meeting June 28 and 29.

Mr. Hancher said that the establishment of the 40-hour work week will be made without a reduction in salaries and wages.

Work schedules will be announced after they are set up in all SUI operating units.

Union Asked 20c
The pay boost to non-academic employees followed a 10-cent hourly wage increase for the period from April 1 to July 1. The SUI employees union had previously asked for a 20-cent an hour pay boost.

In announcing the pay raises and new work week, Mr. Hancher said the necessity for salary and wage adjustments "has been widely recognized for some time."

"These adjustments," he continued, "are being made only as a result of a most stringent prying of the budget and by the transfer of as much of the university's working funds to the budget as can be spared without jeopardizing the day-by-day operations of the institution for the coming year."

He also declared that the new budget would be "based upon and limited by" the $6-million appropriation for operations from the legislature, the anticipated income from student fees and the "substantial transfers" from the balances estimated to be available July 1.

McCarthy Predicts Acheson's Ouster

MARSHFIELD, Wis. (AP) — Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) predicted Saturday that Secretary of State Dean Acheson will be fired within three weeks and that President Truman will try to find "a Republican stooge" to replace him.

He asserted that the administration made the decision after Democratic National Chairman William Boyle Jr., wrote the state department that Democrats in congress were being bombarded with demands that something be done about the department.

McCarthy said in a prepared address to the Marshfield chamber of commerce that "unfortunately, President Truman is searching for a Republican stooge to replace Acheson, who will promise to keep on the Acheson-Hiss lieutenants."

The senator did not reveal where he got his information.

Clifford Kelly Dies Saturday

Clifford Kelly, 51, 220 S. Linn street, who had been paralyzed from the waist down since he was shot in an Iowa City restaurant two years ago, died at the Soldier's home in Marshalltown Saturday.

Kelly had been in precarious health since he was shot April 22, 1948, by Oscar Anderson, 60, an Iowa City steeplejack, in the Strand cafe, 131 S. Dubuque street.

Anderson was committed to the criminal insane ward at Anamosa state men's reformatory after the shooting. He was sentenced last year to a 10-year term arising from the shooting.

Last year he was released from Anamosa and was sentenced to a 10-year term at the Fort Madison state penitentiary on charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm and carrying a concealed weapon.

Kelly remained in University hospitals for more than two and one-half years after he was shot. Funeral services for Kelly have not been completed but authorities at the Soldier's home said he would be buried in Iowa City.

Iowa-Nebraska Guard To Hold Maneuvers

DES MOINES (AP) — The 34th infantry division of the Iowa-Nebraska national guard will hold what is believed to be its largest peacetime maneuver, aside from summer encampments, next weekend at Camp Dodge, Iowa.

At least five hundred officers and men from the two states will participate in the tactical exercise. Most of the guardsmen will come from Iowa.

The two-day encampment is part of the guard's stepped up preparedness training program.

Three SUI Students Win Excellent Ratings In Big Ten Debate

Three SUI students received overall excellent ratings in the Western conference debate league meet held Friday and Saturday in the house and senate chambers of Old Capitol.

They were Ben Crane, A4, Upper Mountclair, N.J.; Gil Pearlman, A4, Des Moines, and Louise Bekman, A3, Ottumwa.

The debaters were separated into nine groups consisting of only one student from a school. The groups competed in two categories, committee discussion and individual advocacy.

Nine Big Ten universities sent representatives.

German Rearmament
The question under discussion was "Should the United States support the rearmament of Western Germany?"

Richard Larew, E2, Iowa City, received a superior rating in the discussion groups. Miss Bekman, Don Guthrie, A4, Iowa City, and Natalie Hennessy, A4, Iowa City, received excellent ratings.

Recommend Arming Germans
In individual advocacy, Crane and Pearlman were rated superior and Miss Bekman and Anne Howard, A3, Masontown, Pa., were rated excellent.

During the debate congress, the participants of the nine schools adopted legislation recommending the rearmament of Western Germany, including the Schuman plan and the incorporation of German combat teams into the Western armies.

Expect Reds To Attack In 72 Hours

(From the Wire Services)
TOKYO (SUNDAY) — American troops, planes and artillery hammered Saturday at Chinese troops streaming by the thousands into the central Korean front to renew their costly spring offensive.

Allied forces guarding the central invasion corridor through Chunchon were alerted for the second round of the Red drive "at any moment." Front dispatches forecast it within 72 hours.

The brewing onslaught by up to 500,000 troops bore the label of the supreme Communist effort to destroy or oust the Eighth army. The Allies were outnumbered 2 to 1, but were able to inflict 10 to 1 casualties.

Miles-long convoys of Chinese troops and trucks poured southward toward Chunchon under cover of a 40-mile smoke screen. The massive shift shaped up as the opening move of the second round attack.

Three Die as Plane Crashes in Sioux City

SIoux CITY (AP) — A civilian training plane crashed in a field near the municipal airport Saturday, killing its three occupants.

The BT-13 trainer, owned by the Sioux City flying service, went into a spin and plunged to the ground from an altitude of 500 feet shortly after taking off from the airfield.

"They didn't have a chance," Robert Volin, a partner in the flying service said. "The plane was a mess when I got to it. The fuselage was split in the middle and parts were splattered all over the place. The bodies were pretty badly mangled."

The victims were Velmer Dickinson, 29, of Sioux City, who was piloting the plane; Robert Coffie, 23, Sergeant Bluff, and Raymond Sawyer, about 20, also of Sergeant Bluff.

Volin said Dickinson took Coffie and Sawyer up for a flight, "going nowhere in particular."

Appeasement or Negotiation?

The great debate over our Far Eastern policy at times resembles nothing more than a rock fight, with the word "appeasement" serving as ammunition. "Appease" has become as much of a catch-all as the word "Communist," and it's being ascribed more and more frequently as a synonym for "bad policy."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur used the word "appeasement" to describe the administration's and the United Nations' policies in Korea. Others use the word to describe any peaceful approach to solving the world's diplomatic problems.

The bad connotation of "appeasement" today probably finds roots in the memory of British Prime Minister Chamberlain returning from Munich in 1938 with his umbrella and a pledge from Hitler that he would not wage war. Chamberlain thought he had "peace in our time." But Chamberlain wasn't alone. There were many others who also thought the prime minister had secured peace for Europe. When Chamberlain was proved wrong for believing Hitler, he was branded as an appeaser.

Now General MacArthur says President Truman is using a policy of appeasement toward Red China, and that his policy will lead only to a larger war than the Korean conflict.

But who is to say when a policy is one of appeasement and when it is a diplomatic negotiation? If the policy succeeds and prevents, or at least postpones until we're better prepared, a major war, it can hardly be called appeasement in the sense the word is being used. If it does cause war, it is appeasement.

But it isn't too safe to label a policy as one of appeasement until there is time to analyze the success or failure of that policy.

We feel we must avoid labeling a person as an "appeaser" in this critical period just because he does not agree with our own beliefs — just as we should avoid a careless use of the word "Communist."

While I certainly can't say that I liked it more than "The Men," I believe that in some respects the Capitol's current "Try and Get Me" is a better picture even though it also falls down toward the end. Notwithstanding its bogus excuse for mob outbreak, it has been directed throughout, and as brought to life by the performances of Frank Lovejoy, Lloyd Bridges, and one Katherine Locke in particular, it presents some of the most profound examination of character I can recall in a Hollywood product. I urge that you see it, and then sue me if you want to.

How in blazes the Pulitzer Prize committee could pass up giving a drama award this year I'll never know. If I were like "South Pacific" can be Pulitzerized, the committee has no call to turn fussy on us.

U.S. Foreign Policy Debate Is a Deadly Guessing Game

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The historic dispute between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur is a grim case of trying to probe the minds of the men behind the gray walls of the Kremlin. The argument revolves around the great riddle: "Will Stalin and his lieutenants plunge Russia into war if Red China is attacked by American bombers?" This is the basic question that has emerged in the hearing by the senate armed services and foreign relations committees studying the reasons behind U.S. war moves in Asia and the MacArthur ouster. It runs through thousands of words of testimony like a blood-scarlet line across a dark tapestry. It has shaped American policy in Korea and in effect, brought about the general's dismissal. Wrong Guess . . . War A wrong guess could mean World War III. And only the men in the Kremlin know the answer.

General MacArthur General Marshall
Old Soldiers Disagree

MacArthur has proposed a program to end the Korean war by bombing Red China and Manchuria, blockading the Red-held coast (including Russia's Port Arthur), and using Chinese Nationalist troops in the fight. He told senators last week he is convinced this action alone would NOT bring Russia into the war. He said his plan should be accepted — the risk of war with Russia taken — if there is to be an end to the bloody conflict.

But Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall, another "old soldier," says the best way to win is to inflict "terrible casualties" on the Chinese in Korea — and to avoid any spread of the fighting which might bring Russia into the war.

He rejected the MacArthur program because he said it might launch a world struggle which would bring atom bombs hurtling down on American cities. President Truman has said the same thing. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) put his finger squarely to the heart of the debate when he said to Marshall:

"I have listened to all of General MacArthur's testimony, and all of yours, and it appears to me that the differences between the administration's policy, as stated by you, and General MacArthur's opinion, really boils down to a clash of opinion as to the Soviet's intentions and the Soviet's capabilities for waging war in the Far East. Do you agree . . . ?"

The Proper Course Marshall replied: "That is the principal basis of the difference of opinion as to what is the proper course to follow."

Here are some of the arguments in the game of guessing what the Russians might do: MacArthur believes Russia's airforce could not stand up long in an all-out war in Asia because of the supply problem over the vulnerable trans-Siberian railroad.

"How long she would be able to maintain an air effort in an all-out war out there is, of course, speculative," he said. "My own opinion is that it would not be too long. I believe that their efforts would deteriorate from the beginning of hostilities." He said there were Soviet ground troops in Siberia — adjacent to Korea and Manchuria — but they were disposed largely in defensive positions and not for attack.

Then he gave the opinion that if the Russians already have made up their minds on a future course of action "I do not believe that anything that happens in Korea, or Asia, for that matter, would affect this basic decision." And he gave this credo: "I believe that it (the war) can be brought to a decisive end without the calamity of a third world war. "I believe if you let it go on indefinitely in Korea, you invite a third world war. "I believe the chances of the terrible conflict that you so rightly dread — and all the rest of us dread with you — would be much more probable if we practice appeasement in one area . . ."

On the other side, Secretary Marshall gave these views: The Soviet have strong land, air and sea forces massed in Asia which they might throw against our forces in Korea and Japan without any notice. He argued such an attack would be a "serious thing" and would mean heavy assaults by air on Japan and all the UN bases in that area.

No Quick Decision He said: "The feeling has been that an extension of the present war, under the terms proposed by General MacArthur, would NOT only hazard the development of a very much enlarged and probably a third world war, but would NOT lead to a quick decision (in Korea)."

At another point he said: "He (MacArthur) would have us accept the involvement NOT only in an extension of the war with Red China, but in an all-out war with the Soviet Union."

"He would have us do this even though the effect of such action might expose Western Europe to attack by the millions of Soviet troops poised in Middle and Eastern Europe."

In support of this argument, Marshall produced the text of a treaty between Red China and Russia. One article of the treaty says: "In the event of one of the high contracting parties being attacked by Japan or states Allied with it and thus being involved in a state of war, the other high contracting party will immediately render military and other assistance with all means at its disposal." Now, Marshall said, the Russians could interpret this treaty any way they choose. He was asked if the bombing of Red China's bases would invoke the pact. And he answered, "That was the fear and the thought of the chiefs of staff and others in the government . . ."

For Peace . . .

TO THE EDITOR: The following letter appeared in the April 28 issue of "The New Statesman and Nation."

We writers believe that our civilization is unlikely to survive another world war.

We believe that differing political and economic systems in the world today can exist side by side on the basis of peacefully negotiated settlements.

As writers we want peace and, through our work, will try to get it; and we pledge ourselves to encourage an international settlement through negotiation. We condemn writing liable to sharpen existing dangers and hatreds.

As signatories, we are associated with no political movement, party, or religious belief, but are solely concerned with trying to stop the drift to war. We invite all writers to support this declaration, and to tell us of their support, by sending their names to A.E. Coppard, "Hillside," Dutton Hill, Dunmow, Essex.

Though not a writer myself, I found it refreshing to come upon this sane and civilized faith in a peaceable solution to the present world conflict. Contrast it with the monomaniacal rantings of a MacArthur whose only solution is to bludgeon the enemy into submission even if it means the bloody destruction of another world war, and one can still hope that such a catastrophe may be prevented.

This plea for peace suggests to me what a wonderful thing it would be if a similar petition could be circulated by the people of America. Such a petition, with a few million signatures, sent to Washington and the UN, should and would, I believe, have a tremendous psychological effect, and would indicate, openly, that at least we THE PEOPLE are FOR PEACE. For in the end, of course, it is not just a few writers or a few scattered individuals who can prevent another world war. They can help. But only by the overwhelming pressure of the people themselves for peace can peace be had and war averted.

Ideal Time . . .

TO THE EDITOR: Right now is the ideal time for Russia to strike in Europe. She has Communists in Korea tying down America and other Allied troops. She has tied the British down in Malaya; the French in Indo-China; a strong Communist party in Italy; uncertainty in Germany, and in all Western countries unpreparedness for war. Rearmament in the West has just started. Iranian Communists are in hot pursuit of the oil for Stalin's war machines. Unrest is being stirred up in other Middle East countries and Africa.

Could the war in Korea have been started purposely to draw us in a war in Asia to tie us down? If Russia strikes, then we will have at least two fronts and maybe three — Europe, Asia and Alaska.

Western war production is just getting under way. Armed forces are now beginning to be built up. The Korean war, and our leaders, have played down the importance of the atomic bomb. If Stalin feels there is some chance of our not using atomic energy, he will be more likely to strike. Soviet Russia has at least 35 divisions of infantry troops and 2,000 planes in East Germany plus remilitarized East German troops. She has armed her satellite countries and Russian troops in those countries are ready to move.

The Germans had 267 divisions fighting the Russians in the last war. How much chance will the West have in Europe against all the troops Russia and her satellites can muster together to push toward the Atlantic?

The West would have to have, at the very least, 200 divisions in order to hold ground in Europe, unless we used atomic artillery.

We should not underestimate the Russian troops. They can match the West in fighting ability and power, soldier for soldier.

Russia has been preparing and planning for this war ever since World War II ended and undoubtedly has large war supplies in reserve, especially if she has had a long range plan mapped out for years.

Is it feasible that we should try to match all Communist troops man for man in Europe? Why are we depending so much upon airplanes? What has happened to the scientific developments for war? Remember in the last war, Germany had V-1's and V-2's that traveled a few hundred miles and landed within a block of their destination.

Russia now has many of those German scientists and has developed these weapons in the Baltic states and surely in their satellites and along the coast line facing the American continent and Japan.

Campus Life

Are college students a generation of draft dodgers and jellyfish? Emphatically not, asserted the students at Kansas State college.

"If real danger develops," the paper declared, "you would see long lines at recruiting stations, fraternities and organized fraternity houses would be deserted, a campus practically devoid of men who volunteered to aid their country."

The paper maintained that students will continue to seek deferments until they know what they are fighting for.

College Man The college man is a serious-minded youth with little interest in dances, football games and fraternities.

At least that's the opinion of Clifford J. Craven, assistant dean of men at Syracuse university. He bases his claim on a survey he made of 284 male students.

The main interests of most collegians nowadays are personal contacts with fellow students and professors and academic preparation for a vocation, according to the survey.

California Girls at Alpha Epsilon Phi sorority possess the heaviest practical joke on record at the University of California.

Somboldy sneaked into their house and filled a bathtub with cement.

Minnesota As student elections swept the University of Minnesota last week, the campus advised students how to approach candidates: "Always remember that the candidate is basically a nice fellow, although slightly bewildered. Treat him courteously, as you would an ordinary person."

Student Revolts Rise in food prices on college campuses has brought student revolts at two schools.

About 300 dormitory students at the University of Houston have voted a "starvation or inflation" boycott of the campus cafeteria.

Several students said cooks and cafeteria owners have held them prices at the school are higher than in commercial establishments.

A university official said the cafeteria is not making profit and that he believes its prices are in line with costs.

At Rice institute, a student group said a survey among other colleges indicated food prices in dormitories costs a student an average of 40 cents more a day.

Brief Stops Ten students at Ohio State university were suspended for the rest of the school year after they vandalized two university buildings and attempted to enter a women's dormitory . . .

University of Colorado President Robert L. Stearns, in an attempt to beautify the appearance of the campus, has asked male students to keep their shirts in their pants . . .

A PHOTO FINISH AND A COLLISION was the result of the race in the men's division of Canoe Capers Saturday morning. The two-man teams of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity (left) and Hillcrest raced neck and neck most of the way and collided just before they reached the finish line. Judges said that the two canoes wound up in a dead heat. Jim Stith, C3, Kansas City, Mo., and Gene Coon, D2, Des Moines, were at the oars of the SAE entry, while Jim Ryan, A3, Jewell, and Ambrose Updegraff, A2, Sigourney, handled the paddles for Hillcrest. The race was held on the Iowa river from University high school to the Iowa Union footbridge.

For the Record

By JOHN VOORHEES

THE FORMULA: FOUL OR FINE?

Baby isn't the only thing getting a formula these days. Everybody's trying to get into the act—radio, TV, and magazines go for it in a big way. And don't you wish you had a dime for every formula "B" picture you've popcorned your way through?

Even the recording companies have the bug. They seem to feel if an artist has had success with a certain record or type of song, then the only way to keep coin jingling into the cash box and the juke box is to duplicate it. Take King Cole's new Capitol release, "Song of Delilah." Done with much gusto on the part of chorus and violins, it mightily resembles his "Nature Boy" and "Mona Lisa"—both big successes. The only drawback is that "Song of Delilah" isn't much of a song. The reverse, "Because of Rain," is a lot less pretentious—and a lot better.

Red Hot Style
Or Buddy Morrow's "Rose, Rose, I Love You," done in march tempo as a "Blues in the Night," "Stormy Weather," and "St. Louis Blues." That style was red-hot a couple of years ago but this version manages to spoil the song. Gordon Jenkins' Decca version of "Rose," which looks as though it's going to be a hit, is far superior.

Take Peggy Lee. (Gladly!) She had the country going wild with "Manana" a short time ago and now she's trying again with "It Never Happen" to Me. "Manana" was a take-off on Spanish dialect while this one sounds like a take-off on the take-off—and it's

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
MINNEAPOLIS — Minnesota defeated Iowa, 3-2, in a 10-inning Big Ten baseball game Saturday to sweep a two-game series. The Gophers won, 6-1, Friday.

Then Minnesota collected two runs in the sixth on three hits, a walk and a fielder's choice.

Iowa came back in the top of the seventh when Drahn hit a homer with Merlin Kurt, who had

Illini Here For Two

The Iowa baseball team returns home following double defeats at the hands of Minnesota to face rugged Illinois in two games on the home diamond.

Game time for the Monday and Tuesday Big Ten contests is 1:30 p.m.

Illinois warmed up for the Iowa series by swamping Notre Dame 20-3 Saturday while the Hawkeyes were dropping a pair of weekend games 6-1 and 3-2 to Minnesota.

Illinois singled on base. That tied it up. Minnesota scored the winning run in the 10th. Tom Warner led off with a double, Jim Anderson singled Warner to third and then Charles Bosacker ran for Anderson and stole second.

Lloyd Lundeen walked to load the bases. Vern Schultz singled to center field, driving in Warner. Ken McGonagle, who came in the eighth, got credit for the victory.

Browns Lose — Again

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Seven doubles, two of them misjudged flies, helped the Detroit Tigers pin another defeat — this one 5-2 — on the St. Louis Browns Saturday.

An error by Johnny Bero, a double by Myron Ginsberg and two walks by Lou Steiner gave Detroit the leading run in the eighth.

Ashburn Ruins Giants 6-5 In 10

NEW YORK (AP) — Richie Ashburn, fleet centerfielder, drove home three runs, including the payoff marker, as the Philadelphia Phillies edged the New York Giants, 6-5, Saturday in ten innings.

Ashburn singled home Ken Silvestri from third with two out in the tenth to break up the game. Earlier, Ashburn climaxed a four-run inning rally with a two-run single.

The Giants blew a great chance to win in the ninth when they loaded the bases with none out. Bob Thomson opened the ninth with a triple off Jim Konstanty. Phil Manager Ed Sawyer ordered Konstanty to walk the next two hitters so set up a possible force play at the plate. The strategy worked perfectly, as Konstanty got Ed Stanky on a short fly ball and made Al Dark hit into a double-play.

General and Mrs. Douglas MacArthur were among the spectators. The general wore civilian clothes in public for the first time since 1940.

Senators Down Bosox

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little Con Marrero posted his fourth victory of the season without a defeat Saturday night as he pitched the Washington Senators to a 5-4 victory over the Boston Red Sox before 17,557 fans. Marrero scored the winning run in the ninth from third base after Gil Coan filed out.

Walker Cup Trophy Won Again By U.S.

BIRKDALE, ENGLAND (AP) — The United States gave the British their once — every — two — years glimpse of the Walker Cup Saturday, then wrapped up the big golf trophy to return it to its perennial American home.

The British fought with amazing strength to prevent that recurring trip, but they bowed in the end, six matches to three, with three halved.

The three British victories and one of the seven breaks came in Saturday's singles.

In the best British showing since the one time they won the cup, in 1938, they knocked off three of America's finest players — Frank Stranahan, twice British Amateur Champion; Charlie Coe, former U.S. amateur king, and Willie Turnesa, the American captain and a former British and American amateur champion.

Three of the four American victories were lopsided. The three American losses were close ones.

Dick Chapman turned in the quickest job, a 7 and 6 decision over John Morgan. His victory was followed by Sam Urzetta's 4 and 3 verdict against Max McCready, and Big Bill Campbell's 5 and 4 triumph over Cecil Ewing. These were the first three results of the day.

Jim McHale brought in the fourth American victory, a hard-won two up decision over John Langley.

H. F. Simpson, Captain (President) of the Birkdale Club, went through the formality of giving back to the Americans the cup they brought over with them.

But he gave the British crowd of 15,000 a brief look at the mug on the terrace of the modernist clubhouse.

"The Americans are our dread competitors — and fine sportsmen," Simpson said. "The United States is a worthy winner."

Then he handed the huge silver cup over to Turnesa.

BIRKDALE, ENGLAND (AP) — The United States gave the British their once — every — two — years glimpse of the Walker Cup Saturday, then wrapped up the big golf trophy to return it to its perennial American home.

The British fought with amazing strength to prevent that recurring trip, but they bowed in the end, six matches to three, with three halved.

The three British victories and one of the seven breaks came in Saturday's singles.

In the best British showing since the one time they won the cup, in 1938, they knocked off three of America's finest players — Frank Stranahan, twice British Amateur Champion; Charlie Coe, former U.S. amateur king, and Willie Turnesa, the American captain and a former British and American amateur champion.

Three of the four American victories were lopsided. The three American losses were close ones.

Dick Chapman turned in the quickest job, a 7 and 6 decision over John Morgan. His victory was followed by Sam Urzetta's 4 and 3 verdict against Max McCready, and Big Bill Campbell's 5 and 4 triumph over Cecil Ewing. These were the first three results of the day.

Jim McHale brought in the fourth American victory, a hard-won two up decision over John Langley.

H. F. Simpson, Captain (President) of the Birkdale Club, went through the formality of giving back to the Americans the cup they brought over with them.

But he gave the British crowd of 15,000 a brief look at the mug on the terrace of the modernist clubhouse.

"The Americans are our dread competitors — and fine sportsmen," Simpson said. "The United States is a worthy winner."

Then he handed the huge silver cup over to Turnesa.

Iowa's Track Team Tops Gophers 81-51 In Loop Dual Meet

By JACK DAVIS
(Special to The Daily Iowan)
MINNEAPOLIS — Iowa broke Minnesota's 12 year winning streak against the Hawkeyes in dual track competition Saturday as the Hawks massed an 81-51 triumph over the Gophers.

The only athlete to win two events was Iowa's Len Sykes. He came from behind to win the 100 yard dash, beating Minnesota's Gregory by two yards in the afternoon.

Sykes coasted the last 10 yards of the 220 dash to win that event in 22.2.

Iowa's ace quarter miler, Gary Scott, had a busy day. He won the quarter mile in 49.9 and coasted to a second place in the 220 dash, and overcame a 15 yard deficit in anchoring the mile relay to victory.

Virgil Von Ashen won the two mile run for Iowa. The lead changed several times between Von Ashen and Torp of Minnesota with the Iowa taking the front on the final lap.

The Gophers met disaster in the low hurdles when their leading contender crashed to the cinders on the curve. Dean Deuel and DuWayne Dietz, running for Iowa, coasted to the tape, resulting in the slow time of 25.0.

Iowa managed to outscore Minnesota by four points in the field events.

Big Chuck Darling collected eight of the points for the Hawks with his 46 feet, 1 1/2 inch toss in the shot put, and a second place effort of 137 feet in the discus.

A bruised heel kept Al Meyerling out of the pole vault results, although he attempted to clear the bar for Iowa several times.

Jack Weick and Bob Henard easily won the high jump and broad jump respectively.

Gluttons for Punishment

Hawkeye swimmers Herman Lehman and Ron Johnson proved to be the biggest gluttons Saturday, as they tied for the Dolphin club's annual ice cream eating contest at Sunday's ice cream party.

Both ate seven pints. The frosh winner, John Thompson, did almost equally as well as Lehman and Johnson, stowing away six pints of ice cream before retiring for the day.

Publishers Urged To Save Newsprint

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national production authority (NPA) has told the newspaper industry there should be no need for federal newsprint controls if newspapers undertake an "aggressive" paper saving campaign.

The newspaper industry advisory committee, made up of a score of publishers, agreed unanimously that the conservation effort is "the most practical and effective" method of avoiding restrictions.

The publishers were told that if domestic and Canadian production continues at the present rate, about 5,939,000 tons will be available for the U.S. this year. Allow- ing for an estimated 6.5 percent increase in consumption, NPA predicted that 5,889,000 tons would be consumed—a deficit of 55,000 tons.

The agency said a vigorous conservation program could offset this deficit. The publishers agreed that one important method would be to limit the printing of excess copies, narrowing the gap between the press run and the net paid circulation.

The publishers raised the question of construction of newspaper plants. Until this week newspapers were exempt from the requirement that they obtain NPA authorization before building. In last Friday's tightening of building regulations, the exemption was removed.

Captain Reaches SUI

— Now ROTC Instructor

By JIM MAYER

After nine months in the Korean war, Capt. Victor Crepeau assumed his duties as an SUI infantry ROTC instructor last week. Transferred to SUI last June, Crepeau was aboard ship ready to sail for home when the Korean conflict broke out. He was ordered off the ship and assigned to the First cavalry division in Korea.

The United Nations forces had been pushed down almost to Pusan when we landed, the captain said. Later he was transferred to the 24th division, but was attached to the Ninth corps headquarters before being relieved under the army rotation plan.

He arrived in the United States in March and in Iowa City last week, 11 months after he had been assigned here. Crepeau received his B.A. degree from SUI in 1942 and received his reserve commission through the ROTC department here. He has been on active duty since his graduation.

He had completed two and one half years with occupation forces in Japan when he was ordered to Korea.

Crepeau said the standard of living in Korea is very poor, and the country has suffered heavily from the fighting. The captain will serve as an infantry instructor in SUI's military department. His wife and family plan to move next month to Iowa City from their present home in California.

All Engineer Grads Have Been Offered Jobs

One hundred percent of this year's engineering graduates from the State University of Iowa are either placed in jobs or are considering several offers of employment.

Prof. J. Wayne Deegan, director of personnel for the university college of engineering, said Wednesday, "We are nowhere near meeting industry's demands for engineers this year." "This year's graduates have enjoyed greater job opportunities and higher starting salaries than those of several years past, he indicated. This is despite the fact that a record 1950 national class of 50,000 engineers was placed last year. Next month the university's 57 engineering graduates join more than 32,000 others graduating throughout the nation. Faced with increased business activity and mobilization needs, industry has been making a scramble for all of them.

"We are telling companies not to send any more interviewing teams to the campus," one placement official stated. "So far this spring we have had more than one interviewer for each of our graduates." Starting salaries are far above last year's average of $265 a month, Deegan said. This year the average is around $310 a month with some offers going as high as $416.

With demands for engineers skyrocketing and college enrollments dropping, Deegan said, engineering graduates will be in heavy demand during the next few years.

Dorroh Wins National Notice During War —

Circulation Manager Opens Bond Campaign

By JEAN SHARDA

A newspaper carrier boy who won national recognition selling defense bonds during World War II is at it again, just 10 years later.

He's Charles Dorroh, G. Iowa City, circulation manager of The Daily Iowan.

He is one of the 500 circulation managers of daily newspapers throughout the country who will send his carrier boys out Monday to begin a one-week nationwide defense bond sales campaign.

Dorroh sold more than half a million dollars worth of bonds and stamps as a carrier boy for the Louisville (Ky.) Times and Courier-Journal in 1941. Because of this accomplishment he will be shown with one of his Iowan carriers in a picture to be used for national campaign publicity.

Charles E. Grayson, circulation manager of the Davenport Democrat and state chairman of defense bond promotion in Iowa, came to Iowa City Friday to arrange for the picture.

Starting when he was 13, Dorroh delivered for the Louisville papers for five years. After two years in the navy, he entered the University of Kentucky, being graduated in 1950.

Dorroh worked for the Louisville papers for three more years while attending the university. First he was a street sales manager in Lexington; later, he was assistant district manager.

In June, 1950, he received the International Circulation Managers association's scholarship for a year's graduate study. He chose the SUI school of Journalism after he attended a short course in circulation management here last May.

He began work on the Iowan in September as assistant circulation manager and on Jan. 15 he became circulation manager.

Dorroh is married and has two sons, Tommy, 2, and "Linky," 9 months. Following completion of his M.A. degree next February, he said he would like to manage the circulation department of a small daily newspaper.

"I've already got a good start," he said. "I'm raising my own carrier boys."

Move to Clarify Drafting of Seamen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The maritime industry is embarking on a plan to straighten out some troublesome difficulties between local draft boards and merchant seamen.

Hereafter, selective service announced Friday, there will be a concerted effort to:

1. Make sure all seamen provide their draft boards with full information, including facts on their sea experience, rating etc.
2. Try to sign up for ships' crews only those seamen who are not subject to the military draft.

The government is cooperating through selective service and the maritime administration; maritime unions also will help their members in the situation.

Business Activity In Iowa Increases

Business activity in Iowa at the end of February was 270 percent higher than it was in 1939, the May issue of the Iowa Business Digest reported Friday.

This activity, as measured by SUI's economic index, was at 100 in 1939, had climbed to 336 at the outbreak of the Korean fighting and stood at an estimated 379 at the end of February.

The Digest's companion index for national business activity also began at 100 in 1939, was at 319 at the start of the Korean war and was an estimated 343 at February's end.

Turning to the upward climb of the two indicators in the first two months of this year, the Digest reports a rise in all six components making up the indicators.

Average daily sales of department stores during these months were nearly 25 percent above the same period last year. Part of this rise is in the form of inflated prices, the Digest says.

Bank debits in 11 Iowa cities were 27 percent over a year ago, reflecting more spending through checking accounts by Iowans. The value of construction contracts awarded during these two months was 22.5 percent higher than a year before.

Residential construction, being cut back by government policy, fell from 33 percent of all building in the first two months of 1950 to only 16 percent in the same period this year.

Sales and use taxes collected by the Iowa state tax commission late in 1950 were up nearly 11 percent, the Digest states. Early reports for March show nearly a one percent drop on the wholesale food index — the first dip since April of last year.

Midwest Least Safe From Atomic Attack

CHICAGO (AP) — East coast cities are better protected from a Soviet atom bomb attack than Chicago and other midwestern points, Adm. William H. P. Blandy said Friday.

Blandy, who commanded the Bikini bomb tests, told the executives' club of Chicago that east coast cities are better protected by potential fighter interception.

"The middle west could be reached over the north polar regions and Canada, vast portions of which are unprotected wasteland," he said.

"By such a route, Murmansk is only 3,600 miles from Chicago, whereas a souped-up B-29 such as the Russians are known to have can do 4,400 miles."

Blandy, who retired last year, as commander of the Atlantic fleet, said such an attack would be a one-way flight.

"But we can be sure that, just as the Japanese had no shortage of Kamikaze pilots, the Russians would find plenty of crews to fly suicide missions," he said.

Prospective Graduates Receive Booklet Telling Requirements

The registrar's office has mailed a leaflet to all prospective SUI graduates explaining what they must do to receive a diploma in June.

Diplomas can be withheld for any of the following reasons:

1. If you do not attend the last meeting of the class.
2. If you miss the final examination.
3. If you neglect to submit required work or "fail to do as well as you can on the final examination."
4. If your preliminary grades "are lower than you need for graduation."
5. If you have any unpaid accounts with the university treasurer.

Grade requirements may be satisfied for graduation with a minimum average of C or 2.0 on all college work attempted and by earning a C or 2.0 average in the student's major.

Alternative Named
Students who do not meet this requirement have an alternative. If they have a cumulative grade point of 1.8 on all college work and a 2.0 average in the major, they may satisfy the requirement "by earning sufficient grade points to equal or exceed a figure obtained by multiplying by two, the number of hours required for graduation at the time of entrance."

Preliminary grades will be submitted by the instructors to the registrar's office May 23. Preliminary grades, however, may be changed by the instructor when final grades are reported.

Can Change Grades
The diploma and certification of graduation will be withheld for any student if a report is received by the registrar by 5 p.m. Thursday, June 7, indicating that the student has failed in any of the requirements. Instructors are obligated to report violations to the registrar.

The convocation will be held in the fieldhouse at 9:45 a.m. June 8.
