1,500 ROTC Cadets In Parade Before Governor Here Today

Gov. William S. Beardsley will review SUI's 1,500-man ROTC department at 10:45 a.m. today on the athletic field west of the fieldhouse.

SUI's marching band and Scottish Highlanders will take part in the 67th annual Governor's day review.

Following the parade, the governor will present awards to individual ROTC members.

At 1:15 p.m. he will speak at a luncheon meeting of graduating ROTC cadets, military department instructors and SUI officials. The meeting will be held in the Iowa Union. WSUI will broadcast the speech.

President Virgil M. Hancher has invited the public to an open house at 2 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol in honor of Governor Beardsley.

Guests and members of the governor's party will include Lt. Gov. William H. Nicholas; Brig. Gen. Fred C. Tandy, Iowa Adjutant general; Sen. Leroy S. Mercer, Iowa City; Col. James W. Clayburn, representing Fifth army; Lt. Col. H. H. Schwane, commander of airforce ROTC, Iowa State college, Ames; Col. Granger Anderson, chief of the Iowa military district; President Hancher; SUI officials; and members of the ROTC staff.

ROTC cadets will wind up the year's activities with the observance of Armed Forces day May 19 and the SUI President's day review May 21.

As their part in the observance of Armed Forces day the military department will set up a special exhibit on the campus in cooperation with local national guard and reserve units.

The military department also announced that there will be no drill classes held Friday.

Luncheon Guests

Mrs. George Bosch and Mrs. Walter Sewell will be co-hostesses at a luncheon given for Mrs. William Beardsley at 12:15 p.m. today in the River room of the Iowa Union.

Military wives, faculty wives and honorary cadet colonels will be guests at the luncheon.

General Lifts Ban On Texas Paper

FORT WORTH — A five-day-old news ban against the Fort Worth Press, imposed by the commanding general of the Eighth airforce because of "sensational" coverage of a B-36 crash, was lifted late Monday.

The order by Maj. Gen. Samuel Anderson, who termed the paper's coverage of the Albuquerque, N. M., B-36 crash as "sensational," had barred the paper's reporters from Carswell air base — home of the Eighth airforce and the B-36 atomic bomber.

The national furor created by the "news lockout" and the protests of the press to Washington resulted in the American Society of Newspaper Editors demanding a "prompt explanation by General Anderson."

The general, however, could not be reached for comment after the statement lifting the ban was issued by the Carswell public information office. He was reported in a staff conference, where officers said he "could not be disturbed."

UN Committee Votes Arms Embargo On Communist China

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The United Nations special Korean sanctions committee Monday recommended a world-wide, airtight arms embargo against Communist China.

It was the first step in applying economic sanctions against the Communist powers in the Far East, although both Britain and France stipulated, in voting for the measure, that it was their understanding that the embargo would not extend beyond a ban on shipments of war materiel.

The embargo, urged on the UN by the United States, was recommended by an 11-0 vote in the committee — technically known as the additional measures committee. Egypt abstained.

Ernest A. Gross, chief U.S. delegate who introduced the embargo resolution two weeks ago, told the committee Monday that he believed it would help the UN's good offices committee which has tried vainly to negotiate a peace settlement with the Peiping government since Feb. 1. It was a foregone conclusion, however, that Russia and her Communist partners would pay no heed to the arms ban even after it finally is approved by the general assembly.

Move to Finish Building Soon

DES MOINES — The state building committee Monday supported a move to speed completion of the new state office building.

The committee voted to ask contractors to employ as many plasterers and lathers as possible to speed completion.

The committee, made up of house and senate members, organized at the same time and elected Sen. Stanley Hart, (R-Koosauk), chairman.

Architects told the group contractors have been making satisfactory progress but were losing workmen to higher-paying jobs. "We use pressure but other contractors use bonuses," said one.

Sea Accident Takes 11 Lives

NORFOLK, VA. — The navy reported that 36 men were dead or missing Monday night after the U.S. seaplane tender Valcour collided with a coal ship off Cape Henry, Va., touching off roaring high test gasoline fire aboard the vessel.

The navy said, however, that some of those listed as missing might possibly have been on leave at the time of the fiery accident. It was impossible to check immediately because the leave records of the Valcour were burned.

Eleven seamen were known dead and 25 were listed as missing.

Sheets of fire entombed men below the Valcour's decks. Rescuers wearing gas masks entered the blackened engine room as the listing Valcour was towed toward Norfolk and found nine charred bodies.

Four lower compartments could not be searched immediately. They were believed to hold the bodies of many of the missing.

World Situation at a Glance

KOREAN FRONT — Stiffer Communist resistance and slow drizzle concealing enemy operations quicken prospects of another massive Red offensive. Front line officers believe Communist assault could come within two days if rain, restricting use of United Nations planes and heavy equipment, continues. B-29s drop 120 tons of bombs on Hamhung rail yards and Sondok airfield. One UN F-80 Shooting Star is lost behind enemy lines.

UNITED NATIONS — Sanctions committee approves global embargo on shipments of arms and other war materials, including elements of atomic bombs, to Red China. Measure goes to general assembly's political committee Thursday.

FORMOSA — Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, chief of new U.S. military mission to Formosa indicates he will recommend a big increase in economic as well as military aid to Nationalist China.

PUSAN — Cabinet crisis threatening South Korean government advances when national assembly accepts resignation of Lee See Yung, 82, vice-president of the republic. Lee complained he had no powers under the constitution.

Red Supply Depot Goes Up in Smoke

PUTTING AN END TO A RED SUPPLY DEPOT, U.S. B-26 bombers dropped napalm fire bombs on an enemy supply collection point near Hanchon in North Korea. Allied planes have been out in force recently to hit installations near the Manchurian border.

Chinese Ready Attack; Rains Mire UN Forces

TOKYO (TUESDAY) — Heavy spring rains drenched the Korean battlefields today shielding the movements of thousands of Chinese who streamed boldly southward without fear of air attacks to three major jump off areas north of the Allied lines.

It was "enemy weather" — the kind that floods foxholes and gun emplacements, mires Allied artillery and trucks, and brings Allied air strikes to a virtual halt. It was the kind of weather the Chinese may have been awaiting to unleash their new offensive.

Northern Targets — The Fifth airforce mounted 800 sorties before the day had ended yesterday, but clouds and drizzling rain kept them away from the front lines and most of their strikes were directed against North Korean targets. Allied planes flew 1,075 sorties against the buildup Sunday.

Marine fliers in the Kypong area hit the enemy with 10,000 gallons of Napalm and 11,925 rounds of fragmentation bombs, and Communist groups of 1,000 and 2,000 were raked with artillery as they moved into a line northeast of the city.

The bulk of the Red armies — estimated at more than 500,000 in all — appeared to be set for attack. Many were observed in zig-zag slit trenches northeast of Seoul.

"Like Ants" — One pilot said they were "crawling like ants" on a hillside after a Napalm air attack on a Red position northeast of Seoul.

The Allies were ready and waiting for anything the Red

Boat Swept Over Coralville Dam; Man Swims to Safety — A 19 1/2-foot inboard motor boat, owned by Leo Maske, 1405 Broadway street, was swept over the Coralville dam Sunday and smashed to pieces in the backwash at the foot of the dam.

One of Maske's neighbors, Clark Tharp, 1407 Broadway street, narrowly escaped serious injury or death when he dove into the water in an attempt to keep the boat from going over the dam.

The two men launched the craft, valued at nearly $1,500, from a trailer. As it slipped into the water a guide rope snapped and the boat was carried into the current toward the dam.

Tharp jumped into the river, hoping to get the boat's motor started or pull it to shore. He stayed with the craft until it was only a few feet from the dam and then abandoned it to swim to shore.

Tharp had difficulty in swimming against the current and narrowly missed being swept over the dam.

He lost his trousers containing his billfold and identification papers. He also suffered a minor cut on his leg before reaching safety.

Final Attempt Fails — Maske made a last minute attempt to save the boat by attempting to hold it from going over the dam with a board. He failed, however, and the craft was swept over into the backwash below the dam. Maske said he would probably make an attempt to salvage the motor from the water in the next few days.

Marshall Disagrees With Mac, Urges U.S. Adopt Form Of UMT

'A Bit Racy' — Girlie Shows Irk M'Lord

LONDON — The public morality council coked a jaundiced eye at Britain's "naude revues" Monday and announced that Americans and other tourists should be protected from such going on during the festival of Britain.

Showgirls in Britain are allowed to appear on the stage completely nude, provided they do not move. Dialogues with double meanings are the rule rather than the exception. Some Britishers feel visiting "colonists" from the United States may find things a bit racy.

George Tomlinson, secretary of the public morality council, said the chatter in some of the girlie shows has left his ears burning.

Tomlinson has compiled a list of shows which his agents will examine with a view to possible protests to the Lord Chamberlain, chief British censor.

But he hasn't much hope of success. No action was taken against the Follies Bergere or the Latin Quarter in which paying customers can study the famed British complexion from head to toe.

Tomlinson's list is secret, but in the last few months shows have been cropping up all over Britain with titles which at least hint at the unusual.

Many of the shows have French-type names, the British believing that Americans believe anything French is naughty.

Among the touring revues are "Bon Soir Mesdames," "Fig Leaves and Apple Sauce," "Follies a la Parisienne," "Grin and Bare It," "Legs, Laughter and Loves," "Neat and Naughty," "Night Life in Paris," "Sizzingly Saucy," "Strike a Nude Note," "Strip, Strip Hoopay," "Toujours L'Amour," and—franker than most—"Why Go to Paris?"

Extend Deadline on Draft Deferment Test

The deadline for submitting applications for the college draft deferment tests has been extended to May 25, the selective service testing division announced Monday.

The test will be given May 26, June 16, June 30 and July 12. Those whose religious beliefs prevent them from taking the test on a Saturday may take it on July 12.

Extension of the deadline, however, applies only to the last three testing dates, the testing service emphasized. That means applications are no longer being taken for the May 26 test.

The deadline had previously been set for today.

Postcard application forms for the deferment tests can be obtained from the draft board at the courthouse.

The Goal Is Still 10

Iran Warns Oil Ruckus May Start World War III

TEHRAN, IRAN — Iranian officials warned the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company Monday to hand over its facilities to Iran peacefully or "this will mean the beginning of the Third World War."

The warning came from members of the 11-man parliamentary oil committee, charged with carrying out Iran's oil nationalization law.

Meanwhile, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, suffering heart ailment and upset nerves, barricaded himself behind locked doors in the parliament building. He said he would stay there to await the showdown on oil nationalization and to thwart death threats from "fascists."

Faints, Falls — The emotional Nationalist leader fainted and fell headlong on the floor of parliament Sunday after announcing he would stay inside the building until the oil nationalization law is carried out.

He hinted that his personal danger originated from Fedeyan Islam, the fiery Moslem Nationalist movement, as well as from leftists. But later he announced through a spokesman that he believed the British-owned Anglo-Iranian company instigated the death threats.

Mossadegh had his bed and food brought to his second floor committee room where he lived and worked behind locked doors.

A four-hour cabinet meeting was held in the rooms, but no details of the discussions leaked out.

Full Control — Committee Chairman Alahayar Saleh, a member of the national front which led the campaign for oil nationalization, said:

"By whatever means possible we must secure full control over our oil industry and I personally hope the British will employ sufficient good sense and judgment to realize the situation in its proper perspective.

"If the AIOC refuses to hand over, we will take the necessary measures."

Minburn Suspect Returned to Iowa

DES MOINES — Edward Wiese, 26, Elbow Lake, Minn., was brought here Monday from Kansas to face federal bank robbery charges in the $11,000 looting of the Dallas county savings bank at Minburn, Iowa.

Deputy U.S. Marshall Jack Gallagher brought Wiese from Kansas City, Kan., to Des Moines and the prisoner was placed in Polk County jail to await further federal action. Wiese earlier waived extradition.

The robbery suspect was captured at Erie, Kans., May 3, two days after the robbery. Police said he had signed a statement admitting the robbery.

Marshall: That Would Be My Conclusion

WASHINGTON — A condensed transcript of Monday's hearings into the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, with Defense Secretary George C. Marshall making his seventh appearance as a witness:

Chairman Richard B. Russell: General Marshall, I would like to have you furnish in writing . . . the text of all of General MacArthur's statements which are regarded as having significance in connection with his dismissal. I would also like you to furnish in writing a full explanation as to why it is contended that each of these statements was considered to be in violation of directives or in conflict with known policies of the United States.

Sen. Tom Connally (D-Texas): General Marshall, do you believe our air power and navy could win a war against Red China and keep them from making an invasion of Korea?

Marshall: I do not believe they could, sir.

Connally: I believe it is contended by General MacArthur that he would not favor sending a single . . . ground soldier to China. If we become involved in a war with Red China, and Russia should intervene, would we have to send ground troops, would we not?

Marshall: Well, we would have to accept the fact that we could not reach the ground in China proper except by air or close naval action otherwise.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.): You think that the state department was justified in its opposition to certain congressional demands for aid to China? . . . If you remember, the 80th congress did take rather a forthright position on aid to China.

Marshall: We asked for $575-million, and as I recalled . . . the congress appropriated $400-million.

Bridges: . . . Do you think the statement that Senator (Pat) McCarran (D-Nev.) made in the . . . senate recently, when he said, "Thanks to General MacArthur, Japan, who was our enemy is now our friend, while thanks to the state department, China, who was our friend is now our enemy," is correct?

Marshall: I do not think it is. In part it is correct; in part it is not, in my opinion.

Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.): . . . Do you believe that the bombing of a single American city would unify this country against the Soviet forces everywhere instantly and to a higher degree than they have yet been unified?

Marshall: I would assume that would be the case, exactly as it was with Pearl Harbor.

George: It would mean if Russia should bomb a single American city, she would have decided upon all-out war; is that right?

Marshall: That would be my conclusion.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) brought out in questioning the Marshall-MacArthur area of agreement.

Saltonstall noted that MacArthur "stated emphatically that we should never let Formosa get into the hands" of the Communists and asked if Marshall agreed.

Marshall: Yes.

Saltonstall: Mr. Secretary, Gen-

Most Important Step to Build Strong Forces

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary George C. Marshall urged congress Monday to ignore Gen. Douglas MacArthur's recommendations on universal military training and pass a draft law with UMT provisions immediately.

He told senators investigating MacArthur's dismissal that the draft-UMT bill, now stymied in a joint conference committee, is the most important step which could be taken to beef up the military forces. He said he is "concerned" over MacArthur's "go slow" advice on UMT.

In his testimony before the armed services-foreign relations committee, MacArthur endorsed UMT in principle but suggested congress postpone a final decision on it until the present emergency is over.

"I was concerned by General MacArthur's statement in regard to it (UMT)," Marshall said. "As to the part that gave me most concern, it was the implication, if NOT the direct statement, that is was a matter that must have very, very serious consideration."

"He had said almost the same words before the 72nd congress, and I think ever since then we have been giving it very, very serious consideration; and I cannot think of much else that can be said on the subject."

Marshall made these other points:

1. A Soviet build-up is going on in both Europe and the Far East, and he "assumed" that the United States and its Allies would go to war the moment aggressive Russian Communist troops occupied Western Berlin or any other place in Western Europe.

2. There are "good prospects" for fresh additions to the UN forces in Korea by the Allied nations.

3. Restraining the Korean war "possibly" means a good chance for winning it, thus undercutting the Soviet Union with all its satellites if it fails to come to the aid of the Chinese Red regime to save it from military sacrifice.

4. The Russians could do "quite a little bit more" to help the Chinese if they wished. Bombing the Red supply centers across the Manchurian border might "work considerable damage" but Marshall would not say it would stop the Reds altogether.

5. Some 20,000 additional fighting men each month will be available within a few weeks for the Korean fighting, not as reinforcements but as "freshening" material for the units there under a rotation program possible without stripping down units elsewhere.

6. The UN command in Korea has all the military equipment to restore peace "except as to air action."

7. Casualties a week in Korea from January to April ran about one man for every 333 in combat. This includes those killed, wounded or missing in the fighting, but not the sick. Marshall said this was very low and compares with a rate of 1.4 percent per 100 men a week from June to December last year.

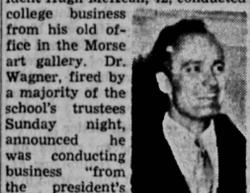

8. He thought the "time has not only come, but arrived some time back," for all nations fighting in Korea to "enforce absolutely a strict embargo" on goods to China. The U.S. is taking steps in the UN to that end.

Marshall said that military leaders feared the Russians were building up a false case about the use of Japanese troops in Korea as an excuse to invoke a mutual aid treaty with Communist China. This was another thing which made the U.S. reluctant to expand the war by bombing Manchurian bases, he said.

Jimmy Stewart's Wife Reported 'Out of Danger'

HOLLYWOOD — Mrs. Jimmy Stewart, wife of the film star, was reported "out of danger" Monday after having undergone two operations since she became the mother of twin daughters last week.

Mrs. Stewart, the former Gloria Hatrick McLean of Washington, will have to remain in the hospital for at least two more weeks, her physician said.

DR. WAGNER

WINTER PARK, FLA. — Two educators claimed the presidency of fashionable little Rollins college Monday amid indications that the three-months-old fight over young Dr. Paul A. Wagner would end up in the courts.

Newly-appointed Acting President Hugh McKean, 42, conducted college business from his old office in the Morse art gallery. Dr. Wagner, fired by a majority of the school's trustees Sunday night, announced he was conducting business "from the president's office as usual."

He arrived at his office at 1 p.m.

Each "president" had a publicity man issuing press releases. Rollins' 620 students ended their four-day-old strike quietly, their demands for a decision on the ouster of 33-year-old Dr. Wagner having been met. They accepted the announcement of Dr. Wagner's dismissal peacefully — although Mayor William McCauley had ordered five policemen to protect the Wagner family and his supporters.

Fitch Case Taken Under Advisement

DES MOINES (AP) — A district court hearing on Fred W. Fitch's suit to remove his two sons and two sons-in-law as trustees of the Fitch trust was completed Monday after 19 days of testimony.

Judge O. S. Franklin took the case under advisement and indicated it may be several weeks before it gives a ruling. He will be busy for the next few weeks with jury trials, Judge Franklin said.

Tar Heels Face Wide World in Bare Feet

Every year at this time, students graduating from colleges all over the country begin hearing speeches reminding them that they soon will be out in the cold, cruel world, shifting for themselves. The obligations of a citizen are impressed upon them. They are warned of the competition they will encounter. The importance of using their talents for the good of humanity is emphasized to them. And all of this usually begins at about the same time a few of the seniors are trying desperately to pull up grade points which suffered back when there was "plenty of time."

The poor graduating students have it pretty rugged for several weeks prior to receiving their diplomas. But there's at least one place in this country where these hard-pressed people have one day of relief. Our southern brothers down at the University of North Carolina observe "Barefoot day" every year — a day when all seniors walk around on their naked feet.

The 15-year-old tradition was designed "to give members of the graduating class a last fling at carefree youth before assuming the dignities and troubles of the grown-up world they will face when handed a diploma."

The senior class president this year issued an ultimatum and warning to all would be senior shoe-wearers that "such orthodox antics would not be tolerated and delinquents would not only be displaying their lack of sporting blood but would be snubbed as social outcasts."

There's a certain amount of pride involved in the tradition, too. The Tar Heels at the university boast that they have bigger and better feet than the students in any of the surrounding schools.

We don't know how we stack up here on that count in comparison with the feet which tread the campuses at ISC and ISTD. And we don't know if walking barefooted across the SUI campus would be particularly exhilarating for our graduating seniors this year.

But we'd bet that two or three round trips from the Old Capitol block to the other side of the river by tenderfooted and shoeless seniors would help them considerably to forget, at least for one day (and maybe several more days for foot baths), the impending difficulties of the business world they will face in a few weeks.

PReviews . . . and Postscripts

By JACK LARSEN

At the Movies: 'Trio' —

To say that "Trio" is as good as "Quartet" is to state the case accurately. Since this reviewer was not entirely taken with the first group of short stories by W. Somerset Maugham to be filmed, that statement involves no extravagant praise.

But it does mean that a formula has been repeated with success, an event rare in movie chronicles. Introduced once more by their author, the three stories make an entertaining package which bodes still more of the same in the future.

"Trio" consists of two episodes in the comic vein running about 20 minutes apiece and a third running about 50 minutes, by contrast with "Quartet" with its four tales of approximately equal length.

The first, "The Verger," is the chuklesome account of a man whose unwillingness to learn to read and write at an advanced age costs him his job — and makes him his fortune. It is told with a quiet competence, acted with warmth, and ends on a good punch line.

The second, "Mr. Know-All," also directed by Ken Annakin, has to do with a brassy, talkative jewelry salesman who forces his company on his fellow steamship passengers. A switch in behavior at the end gives the audience a kind of point, but I'm afraid I found the central character a little too obnoxious to be amusing — the same difficulty I had with the family in "The Kite" sequence of "Quartet."

Parallels Sanatorium
The final story, "Sanatorium," concentrates on several patients at a TB rest home in the north of Scotland, one of them the British agent Ashenden, whose book adventures parallel some of Maugham's in real life.

While several story threads run concurrently here, each allowing ample room for characterization, the dominant plot touches upon two young people who fall in love and hope to marry in spite of their illness. The whole sequence is a worthy sample of deft writing, marred only by an unduly hasty conclusion. I liked "Sanatorium" so much I'd have preferred remaining with it a little longer.

Featuring Roland Culver, Finlay Currie, Marjorie Fleming, and as the lovers, Jean Simmons and Michael Rennie (both of them now Hollywood properties), "Sanator-

Supreme Court Rejects Plea By Maragon

(From the Wire Services)

WASHINGTON — John Maragon, one-time Kansas City shoe-shine boy who climbed to high White House circles, was all but doomed to jail Monday by an eight-to-nothing supreme court decision.

The high court refused to upset Maragon's conviction for lying in 1949 to a senate subcommittee investigating "five percenter" — men who sought government contracts for a commission.

The 59-year-old Maragon, who worked for a time as a state department employee, faces a sentence of eight months to two years. Presumably only a presidential pardon or parole could spare him from prison.

A jury a little over a year ago found Maragon guilty of perjury when he told investigating senators:

1. He had no other employment when the state department hired him as a member of a mission to Greece in 1946. The government charged he was also getting $1,000 a month from a perfume company.

2. His only bank account in 1945-46 was one here. The prosecutors said he deposited $26,000 in 1945 at a bank in San Antonio, Tex.

Must Sign Affidavits

In another case the court ruled that top officers of the CIO and AFL must sign non-Communist affidavits under the Taft-Hartley act, if their unions are going to come under the national labor relations board (NLRB).

The NLRB had said officers of separate unions have to sign — not the big labor federation officials. AFL and CIO officials have signed anyhow, since the court case started.

State Jurisdiction

The supreme court ruled, 7 to 2, Monday that states have authority over direct sales of natural gas to local consumers by interstate pipe line companies.

The ruling specifically involved proposed sales by Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company, to the Ford Motor company, Dearborn, Mich.

New Nazi-Like Party In Western Germany Bothers Bonn Regime

BONN, GERMANY (AP) — Are the Nazis making a comeback in West Germany?

This question is being asked by alarmed Allied and German officials since the startling election successes of a new political party, which openly backs Nazi ideas.

Nearly 400,000 West Germans May 6 voted for the radical right-wing Socialist Reich party and gave it 16 seats in the Lower Saxony state parliament. Similar success on a national scale would give them more than 2-million supporters.

The party won 11 percent of the state vote by calling for the restoration of the "many good features of Nazism," rule by the 10 percent elite of the nation through the Hitlerite "leadership principle," and the neutralization of Germany between East and West. Now it is planning a drive to spread these doctrines into other states.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has reported to the Allied high commission that the new party is a serious threat to the democratic order in West Germany. But he says his government can cope with it.

Thus a vital political battle will be fought in the next few months between the Bonn regime and the Nazi-like party.

Atom Tests Prove A-Weapons Useable

SEATTLE (AP) — Explosion of an atomic weapon on Eniwetok atoll this month proved that such weapons can be used for tactical war purposes with no danger of after-effects to advancing troops "minutes" after the blast occurs, according to Rep. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.).

Jackson returned from the Pacific atomic proving grounds on remote Eniwetok where he served as congressional observer during the most recent secret test of the United States' advanced atomic weapons.

He said the discovery that there are no after-effects from an atomic blast "within minutes" is "most significant to future military tactics and civilian defense."

"As a result of the most recent test," Jackson said, "the way is now paved for the tactical use of atomic weapons in war."

Faculty Section Fills Cancer Crusade Quota

The SUI faculty and staff section of the Johnson county cancer crusade has reached its quota of $1,000, Chairman Helen Focht, assistant to the dean of men in the office of student affairs, said last week.

Johnson county drive chairman J. Newman Toomey said that no other returns on the Iowa City drive have been made.

Spies Had Plans For Inchon Attack

TOKYO (TUESDAY) (UP) — An American army prosecutor disclosed today that top secret plans for the Allied landing at Inchon were in the hands of a North Korean-Japanese spy ring when it was smashed one week before the operation.

Military Inferiority Forces UN Powers To Stall for Time

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The MacArthur hearings have brought out officially for the first time the extent to which a feeling of military weakness influences the administration policy in the Far East.

Three-Year Wait
Officials have indicated plainly before this that it will be two to three years at the present rate of rearmament before the United States and its allies are prepared to risk any global showdown with Russia.

But administration testimony in the MacArthur hearings emphasized the degree to which this belief in Russia's military superiority has influenced government strategy.

Top authorities take the position that in the next couple years or so the Allied powers will have to accept whatever risks Russia forces on them but avoid taking long chances where there is a choice. In administration thinking, Korea is one place where there is a choice.

The testimony of Secretary of Defense George Marshall and a heretofore secret letter from President Truman to General MacArthur brought this feeling of relative weakness out into the open. It is one of two chief restraints on broadening the fight in Korea to strike directly at Red China and thereby, the administration believes, gravely risking war with Russia.

UN Allies Hesitant
The other main restraint, which the administration has never hesitated to emphasize, is of course the opposition of this country's United Nations allies to any extension of the conflict beyond Korea even though justified by China's intervention.

What stands out, however, in a study of Marshall's testimony is that even on the Korean issues raised by General MacArthur the attitude of the Allied nations might have been different if they had possessed more military might.

Marshall's position is that the U.S. has been willing to take a calculated risk of a showdown with the Soviet Union only where the Red challenge to American security interests was so great as to pose equal danger if the U.S. did nothing.

Cases in point include the Berlin airlift of 1949, in which the Western powers risked war to keep the Communists from taking over the German city; and the resistance to Red aggression in Korea, which transformed the cold war into a partial "hot war."

What American strategists hope and believe, is that though the Communist bloc is superior in manpower under arms, in the size of airforces and probably submarines and other weapons, this country's assumed great superiority in atomic bombs will be a restraining influence on Russian strategy.

Milk Deliveries Resume As Chicago Strike Ends

CHICAGO (AP) — Milk flowed to Chicago homes and stores Monday at the end of a two-day strike that had shut off 95 percent of the city's supply.

Officials of the major companies said they expected to satisfy most customers Monday and be back on normal delivery schedule by today.

Penny-A-Pack Tax Boost For Cigarets

WASHINGTON (AP) — House tax writers Monday tentatively approved a penny-a-pack boost in federal cigarette taxes and voted to hike federal excise taxes on autos and other items.

$600-Million More
The decisions by the house ways and means committee, subject to final action by the committee later, would bring in about $600-million a year more in defense revenues.

The committee plan would hike the federal tax on cigarettes from seven to eight cents a pack. The treasury had asked for an increase to 10 cents.

The committee rejected a request by Rep. Boggs (D-La.) to exempt "economy" price cigarettes from the cigarette tax hike.

It also turned down a proposal to increase the federal excise gasoline tax from the present one and one-half cents to two cents per gallon.

Auto Tax Increase
The committee voted to increase the manufacturers' excise tax on passenger cars and motorcycles from the present seven percent to 10 percent. The treasury had asked that the rate be raised to 25 percent.

The cigarette tax hike would bring in an estimated $117-million a year in additional revenue and the auto increase about $196-million a year.

The increases voted Monday would bring committee-approved tax hikes to a grand total of about $6,325,000,000 so far. This includes a $2-billion yearly boost in individual income taxes and a $2,080,000,000 hike in corporation levies.

The committee approved a five percent increase in the tax on radios and television sets, bringing it to 15 percent instead of the present 10 percent. The treasury had asked an increase to 25 percent. Experts said the five percent hike would raise about $55-million yearly.

Trucks and truck trailers — Increase from the present five percent to eight percent; estimated yield, $61-million a year.

Automobile parts and accessories — Increase from the present five percent to eight percent; estimated yield, $56-million a year.

Diesel oil — Make diesel fuel used on the highways subject to the one and one-half cents tax now imposed on every gallon of gasoline; yield, $7.5-million a year.

Electric, gas and oil appliances — Leave the tax at the present 10 percent; the treasury recommended an increase to 25 percent. However, the committee voted to extend the tax to cover many new items.

Photographs — Photographs and phonograph records would be covered by the same five percent increase that applies to radio and television sets.

Photographic apparatus and films — The present 25 percent tax on apparatus and 15 percent tax on films was rejiggered to make a straight 20 percent tax apply to both a revenue gain estimated at $9-million.

Sporting goods — The tax rate on sporting goods was increased from 10 to 15 percent, but a long list of items previously subject to tax were dropped.

Jewelry tax — The committee voted to apply the 20 percent tax on jewelry to cigarette and cigar lighters, fountain pens, ball point pens and mechanical pencils. The revenue yield would be about $38-million a year.

Baby powders — Oils, powders and lotions for use by babies would be exempt from the 20 percent tax on toilet preparations.

Patrols Meet Resistance

COMMUNISTS STIFFENED RESISTANCE to United Nations patrol actions Monday. Black arrows show where Allied patrols probed northward, meeting increased resistance north of Seoul on the western front and south of Yangju on the eastern side. At Chongju on the central front they moved across the Pukhan river without finding any Reds. A slow drizzle hid Red operations and increased prospects of another massive Communist offensive.

Reds Use Paris Conference for Propaganda

By The Associated Press
There seems to be a great deal more to the Russian attitude at the Paris four-power conference than a mere attempt to get the West to suspend its defense program at the expense of the hoped-for balance of power.

This attempt, which has been described by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, really has a dual objective in which the surface manifestations are less important than the hidden effect.

Even the isolated Kremlin could hardly be so ignorant of world attitudes as to expect direct success for such a proposal.

The attempt may have had some effect, although hardly a decisive one, amid the many complicating factors which have put the brake on the German rearmament idea. But even the Russians know that the West is not going to disarm while she maintains armies in her satellite and pursues her present aggressive policies.

The main Russian objective at the stalemated Paris agenda conference, which was supposed to be the forerunner of a full-scale foreign ministers' conference, is probably a part of her great world-wide "peace offensive."

This latter is being conducted on a scale hardly attained by any other Communist program since abolition of the old Comintern. Its first purpose is to win the cold war without fighting, by winning the minds of the world's gullible people.

Setting itself up as the great campaigner for peace, the Russians have already persuaded a great many confused people that in order to obtain this most greatly desired of all human objectives, they should support Russian foreign policy.

The Western powers entered the Paris conference convinced that no good could come from it. It has now become axiomatic that there can be no real peace with the present Russian regime or any other which seeks to control the whole world.

Russian Science Doomed: Conant

WILMINGTON, DEL. (AP) — Science in Soviet Russia has been operating on "borrowed momentum" of the free world and Soviet science in the future is doomed, according to James B. Conant, president of Harvard university.

Conant cautioned that the immediate industrial know-how of Russia should not be underestimated, but said: "Soviet science cannot succeed in the long run, because the system denies the scientist freedom of inquiry."

He said that a new world war was not inevitable.

IMPREGNABLE DEFENSE

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Assistant Army Secretary Earl D. Johnson said Monday the United States must always keep sight of its main goal — building an "impregnable defense" — despite sharp debate over policy.

Clifford Kelly Services Today

Funeral services for Clifford Kelly, 49, will be held at 9 a.m. today in St. Patrick's church. Kelly died Saturday at the Iowa Soldier's home in Marshalltown as a result of a gunshot wound sustained here April 22, 1948.

Kelly had been paralyzed from the waist down since he was shot in the Strand cafe by Oscar Anderson, 60, a steelpacker.

Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery. The rosary was recited Monday at Hohenschuh mortuary and members of the Knights of Columbus recited a rosary later in the evening.

SUI Library Receives Laird Novel Manuscript

The SUI library this week received the original manuscript of SUI alumnus Charlton Laird's novel, "Thunder on the River," for the Iowa's author's collections.

The book, Laird's first novel, is a story about the Black Hawk Indian wars and the pioneer settlements of the upper Mississippi valley. It was published by Little, Brown and company in 1949.

Laird, a native of Nashua, received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from SUI and taught in the school of journalism here for several years. He also served as manager of the news bureau of the Des Moines Register and Tribune. He is now professor of English at the University of Nevada, Reno.

Awarded Best Citizen Plaque

BEST CITIZEN PLAQUE, awarded annually by Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity to the person deemed most active in civic affairs, was presented to A. O. Kelley, local business man, by Mrs. Leslie G. Moeller, who received the award last year. The award was made at a banquet for members of the fraternity and other guests Saturday night. Kelly received the plaque for his outstanding service to the community and his interest in youth activities. He is past president of the Lions club, and for 15 years has been a chairman of the Iowa City high school "Red and White Carnival" committee. Seated is Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI school of journalism.

Iowa City Cited For 1950 Safety

Iowa City is one of 16 cities in the nation, with a population of 25,000 or over, to win a place on the honor roll of the National Traffic Safety council for going through 1950 without a single traffic fatality.

A total of 731 cities with more than 5,000 population were awarded places on the honor roll. This represented an increase of 115 over the 1949 honor roll.

Iowa City is the only city in the state, in the 25,000 to 100,000 population bracket, to be honored.

Hawkeye Baseball Team Surprises Illinois, 4-3

Diehl Gives Five Hits In First Big Ten Start

By HOBERT DUNCAN
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

There must be something magical about the Iowa baseball diamond as far as the Hawkeyes are concerned. Monday afternoon the Hawks surprised Illinois 4-3 behind the five hit pitching of Whitey Diehl for their third Big Ten win against six losses.

Iowa hasn't been beaten at home by a conference opponent this season and neither has it won against a Big Ten team on the road.

Diehl, an Iowa City sophomore making his first conference start, was just good enough in the pinches Monday to keep out of serious trouble. He notched six strike outs and walked five in scoring his third victory without defeat this year.

In getting the victory which gave them undisputed possession of seventh place, the Hawks beat the league's leading pitcher George Maier. Previously Maier had won three ball games without a loss.

The Illinois left hander wasn't much of a puzzle for Glenn Drahn who along with Tom Stenger drove in all of Iowa's runs. Drahn singled twice and tripled to account for three of Iowa's seven hits.

Iowa scored a single run in the first inning but couldn't add to this until Illinois had gotten three runs for what appeared to be a fairly safe margin.

Then the Hawks pushed in three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning for the 4-3 lead which was the eventual final score. Catcher Bill Vana and Diehl led off the inning with walks. Second baseman Chuck Cebuhar advanced both runners a notch with a sacrifice and then Stenger lined a single to center field scoring both runners and tying up the game.

Drahn looped a liner over first base which rolled onto the cinder track in deep right field for a triple and scored Cebuhar with the winning run.

Diehl clung desperately to this lead in the remaining innings. He carefully worked the corners and when it appeared that Illinois might get something started he bled down sufficiently to get the side out. Twice Diehl stranded Illinois runners in scoring position with strike outs to end the inning.

Iowa got its other run in the first. Cebuhar led off a walk, stole second and scored on Drahn's long single to left field.

Illinois picked up singletons in the second, fourth and fifth innings.

The loss tumbled Illinois from second place into a three way tie for third.

The two teams meet again this afternoon at 3:30 in the second game of the series. Jim Riedesel, who pitched the first game of the Minnesota series last weekend, probably will be Coach Otto Vogel's starting choice.

Branch Rickey Still 'Plumb Full of Ideas'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pennant-maker Branch Rickey, an artist at baseball innovations, said Monday his reshuffled and rejuvenated Pittsburgh Pirates have done pretty good but.

"I'm still plumb full of ideas." What these new ideas might be the Mahatma wouldn't say. But two of them—converting slugging outfielders Ralph Kiner to first base and Wally Westlake to third—are paying big dividends.

It seems that where Rickey goes his magic follows him—be it St. Louis, Brooklyn and now Pittsburgh.

Take for example his latest shift at Pittsburgh—putting Westlake at the hot corner. It has re-acted on the big Wally like a charge on a dead battery.

Cardinals Purchase Johnson from Yanks For Cash and Player

NEW YORK (AP) — The New Yankees Monday night traded third baseman Billy Johnson to the St. Louis Cardinals for first baseman Don Bollweg and cash.

Bollweg's contract was immediately assigned to the Yanks' Kansas City farm club of the American Association. The sum of money involved was not announced, but was believed to exceed the waiver price of $10,000.

In order for the Cards to deal for Johnson, it was first necessary for all of the other seven American league clubs to waive on him.

Johnson, a stocky, right-handed batter nicknamed "The Bull," is 32 years old. He joined the Yankees in 1943 and was recognized as the A.L.'s outstanding rookie that season.

He was beginning his seventh year with the Yanks and his lifetime batting average was .275. He appeared in four world series and had a series batting average of .237. Last year he batted .260 in 108 games, playing a few of those games at first base.

Since 1947 he had been engaged in a running battle with Bobby Brown for the Yanks' regular third base job. His departure leaves the Yanks with two third basemen — Brown and Rookie Gil MacDougald — and trims the Yank squad to 28 players, three over the legal limit which goes into effect May 18.

Segura to Defend Pro Tennis Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Riggs announced Monday that Pancho Segura will defend his national professional tennis championship in the first round-robin tournament for the title in the 25-year history of professional tennis at Forest Hills, June 21 to July 1.

Jack Kramer, Frank Parker, Pancho Gonzales, Frank Kovacs, Welby Van Horn, Carl Earn and Riggs himself will be among the 23 challengers for the championship. All will be seeded and draw first-round byes in the complicated eight-day tournament.

Riggs has guaranteed a purse of $10,000 with $2,300 going to the singles champion and $1,500 to the runner-up.

Batts Misses Pop Foul

Lopat, Yanks Top Tribe, 11-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Lefty Ed Lopat chalked up his sixth victory without a loss Monday night as he pitched the New York Yankees to a 11-4 triumph over his Cleveland Indian "cousins" before 66,285 paid fans, largest crowd of the major league season.

The victory was Lopat's 11th straight over Cleveland and his 30th compared to only six defeats in games with the Indians in his major league career. The four runs scored by Cleveland were the most permitted by Lopat in any game this season.

Former Yankee George Stinewiss and Jim Hegan accounted for two of Cleveland's runs with home runs.

Rookie Gil McDougald started the Yankees off with a two-run inside the park homer in the first inning off starter and loser Lou Brissie.

The linescore:
Cleveland 002 010 100—4 6 3

Pat Seerey Returns To Colorado Springs

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO. (AP) — Pat Seerey, the popular round man who last season hit 44 Western league home runs, is returning to Colorado Springs Sky Sox.

The club said Seerey, who plays the outfield, was purchased from the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Association and is due to be in a Sky Sox uniform for the game with Des Moines Wednesday night. It was believed the purchase price was $6,000.

Seerey once hit three home runs in one game for the Chicago White Sox but his batting average wasn't fat enough to keep him in major league company.

His home run output in the Western circuit last year was within five of the record set by Tulsa's Guy Sturdy in 1926, even though Seerey did not play the entire season here.

He is the third new player obtained by Colorado Springs recently. Memphis optioned Pitcher Dick Strahs and third basemen Jerry Crosby to the Sky Sox Saturday. Now the club is six over the 19-player limit with the cutdown deadline Thursday midnight.

Red Sox Nip Nats In 11 Innings, 8-7

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox capitalized on 13 walks and five errors Monday to overcome a 6-0 handicap and beat the Washington Senators, 8-7, in 11 innings in the rubber game of a three-game series.

Harry Taylor, the Red Sox' $75,000 winter purchase, won his first game after three losses, when Gil Coan dropped Gil Batt's pop fly in left field, allowing rookie pinch runner Fred Hatfield to score from second base.

The project represents a full-scale advertising campaign for the Green Colonial Furnace Co., and all expenses for the project were paid for by the latter firm.

Buddy Beckwith Jurors Examined for 2nd Trial

WATERLOO (UP) —Edward (Buddy) Beckwith, 31, Morrison, went on trial for his life for the second time Monday in the slaying of a pretty, young mother, as 75 prospective jurors appeared for preliminary questioning.

Twelve of the first 19 jurors questioned were excused for cause and the other seven faced additional questioning. Beckwith, neatly dressed in a gray suit, white shirt and yellow tie, wore ankle chains when brought into court before the silent jury panel. He faced a first degree murder trial in the mutilating slaying of Mrs. Ina Jean Stahliut, 22, Morrison, almost two years ago. He was convicted in October, 1949, and sentenced to death, but the supreme court set aside the conviction on a technicality last February and ordered a new trial.

Beckwith was not handcuffed as at his first trial but chains jangled at his ankles. He said he "felt a little better about things now."

"I have more hope this time," Beckwith said, but refused to explain what raised his hopes. His mother, Mrs. Nancy Beckwith, 48, and his sister, Loretta, 26, were present as the trial opened.

"I'm glad Buddy got another trial," Mrs. Beckwith said.

District Judge Shannon Charlton, who presided at the original trial was on the bench as special prosecutor Robert Buckmaster started questioning possible jurors. Buckmaster hammered at the views of prospective jurors on capital punishment while defense attorneys brought up the question of the effect of intoxication on a man's mind.

The first day was routine. Selection of a jury took two days at the first trial and was expected to take at least that long this time.

Beckwith was charged with murder in the knife slaying of the pretty young mother whose body was found in the walk-in cooler of the tavern she and her husband operated at Morrison. The body was found June 22, 1949, and Beckwith was captured shortly afterward hiding in a cornfield.

Flying Father Sets Light Plane Record

NEW YORK (UP) — Max Conrad, flying father of nine children, set two unofficial records for a light plane Monday by landing his Piper Pacer at La Guardia field 23 hours and four minutes after taking off from Los Angeles, Calif., on a non-stop flight.

"I really didn't expect to make it," said Conrad, who ran into some bad flying weather in beating a 13-year-old official speed record by seven hours and 43 minutes.

Conrad took off from Los Angeles at 11:35 a.m. PST Sunday and arrived at 2:39 p.m. EST Monday. The veteran Minneapolis flyer, whose wife is expecting their 10th child in September, said he flew much of the time in his stocking feet.

For food during the two-day grind, Conrad munched on graham crackers. Occasionally he glanced at a Mickey Mouse toy which his children gave him and which he regards as a lucky charm.

Student, in Army, Wounded in Korea

Pfc. Alfred B. Olson, recalled to active duty with army reserves while attending SUI last fall, has been wounded in Korea and is being treated in a hospital in Tokyo, Japan.

Olson in a letter to his wife, Mrs. Norma J. Olson, 604 S. Clinton street, said he was in a withdrawal with the U.S. forces and was shot in the back in attempting to past a Chinese roadblock.

Olson attended a radio operator's school in Japan after his arrival there in October. He landed in Korea, Feb. 23.

Rita Asks $3-Million Trust Fund for Yasmine

NEW YORK (UP) — Rita Hayworth will enter suit for divorce against Prince Aly Khan as soon as she becomes a legal resident of Nevada in about five weeks and has asked the trustee to set up a $3-million trust fund for their daughter, Yasmine, the screen star's lawyer said Monday.

Bartley Crum said that in return for the $3-million trust fund, Miss Hayworth has agreed to keep her marital promise and rear the child as a Moslem.

AFL Group Hits Opponents of Meat Control

CHICAGO (UP) — The executive council of the American Federation of Labor charged Monday that "selfish interests" and "price profiteers" are attempting to nullify recently announced controls on the price of cattle and beef. The council called upon congress to "refuse to yield to pressure" from such interests, which it did not identify. The 15-member executive council opened its annual spring meetings presided over by AFL President William Green and Daniel J. Tobin, an AFL vice-president and head of the powerful teamsters union. Green was asked about the AFL's immediate intentions in collective bargaining. He replied that it would "fight for fringe benefits and the correction of inequities in existing contracts." The council issued a statement which called meat "the key item in food price control," and estimated that regulations issued by the office of price stabilization (OPS) will save consumers $700-million on their annual meat bill. "According to the department of labor's cost of living index, 4.7 percent of the expenditure of the average American family goes for beef and veal," the council said. "It is especially important to the nation's workers that adequate meat supplies at reasonable prices be maintained." The council said the OPS order "is designed to correct one of the most sensational price increases since Korea," and discounted reports that it would lead to "a cattle shortage and a meat famine." The regulations, the council said, "permit abundant profit incentive for producing beef." "The council trusts that congress will resist the price profiteers and stand up resolutely in defense of consumer interests," the statement said.

Nesbitt Fined $192 On 3 Auto Charges

George R. Nesbitt, route 1, has been fined $192.50 in police court on three traffic charges arising from an auto accident Sunday. Nesbitt was fined $102.50 on a charge of reckless driving with liquor involved, $62.50 for speeding and $27.50 for leaving the scene of the accident. Police said the car Nesbitt was driving hit an auto driven by Edward C. Vorel, Tiffin, on highway 6 near the Veterans hospital. Two other motorists also were fined in police court for speeding. They were James M. Flynn, 126 N. Clinton street, $40, and Donald G. Graham, route 3, $17.50.

Need Large Paper Supply for Survey

DES MOINES (P) — A federal survey of Iowa school facilities would take as much paper as the departments of state use during a two-month period, executive council Secretary Carl Krause said Monday.

Krause made his report to the executive council as it considered a department of public instruction request for the purchase of 250 reams of paper.

The survey was instigated last fall by the national congress, and Iowa officials have agreed to participate. The executive council approved the purchase under the condition that the paper be bought with federal funds appropriated to Iowa for the school facility survey.

THETA SIGMA PHI MEETS
Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism sorority, will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in The Daily Iowan office.

Mrs. Ida M. Beal's Services Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida M. Beal, 76, 610 S. Clinton street, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday, with Dr. L. L. Dunnington, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating.

Burial will be in Oakland cemetery. Mrs. Beal died Sunday at Mercy hospital after a long illness.

A resident of Iowa City since 1895, Mrs. Beal was born in Jonesboro, Tenn., in 1874, the daughter of Henry and Martha McGinnis Campbell. She was married to Charles O. M. Beal, of Jonesboro, in 1890.

After the couple moved to Iowa City, Mr. Beal worked for many years in the SUI power plant. He died on Jan. 5, 1940. Mrs. Beal was a member of the Methodist church of Iowa City.

She is survived by four sons, Homer L. Beal, L. R. (Pat) Beal, C. C. Beal and John D. Beal, all of Iowa City, and one daughter, Mrs. Jay V. Blackman.

For Biting — 'Sandy' Goes Before Jury

MADISON, WIS. (P) — Sandy, a black and white collie, goes on trial for his life Wednesday night before a jury of people.

The dog is charged with being "vicious" and habitually snarling at passersby. Two persons have claimed they were bitten.

Justice of the Peace Edwin Conrad will preside at the trial in the village hall of suburban Shorewood Hills. A jury of six persons will be chosen from a panel of 16 supplied by the sheriff's office. It will be the first jury trial of any kind in the village's history.

Darrell MacIntyre, a criminal lawyer, will defend Sandy, while village Atty. Ralph Axley will handle the prosecution.

The dog faces death if convicted. His owner, Russell Nelson, could be fined $10 to $100.

Hillcrest, Sorority Take Chorus Titles

Hillcrest and Gamma Phi Beta choruses won the men's and women's finals of the all-university sing Sunday night in the Iowa Union.

Hillcrest has won the event three times in succession and will retain the men's division traveling trophy. Gamma Phi Beta will receive the women's trophy previously held by last year's winners, Alpha Xi Delta.

The Hillcrest chorus was directed by Robert Borg, A2, Des Moines, and sang "Song of the Jolly Roger" and "Passing By."

The Gamma Phi Beta chorus, directed by Barbara Liek, C4, Cedar Rapids, sang "Trepak" and "When Day Is Done."

Over 200 mothers registered in the Union for the Mother's day weekend festivities which ended with the sing finals Sunday evening.

Man Fined on Assault and Battery Charge

An argument over a car repair bill totaling $4.54 resulted in one Iowa City man being fined $12.50 for assault and battery in police court Monday and another local man facing a charge of disturbing the peace.

C. M. Eden, owner of the Eden Motor company, 629 S. Riverside drive, was found guilty of the assault and battery charge but Judge Emil G. Trott suspended his fine.

The charge was brought by Henry Boylan, route 2, who testified that on May 3 he went to Eden's office to discuss the payment of a bill due Eden.

Boylan said Eden became angry during their discussion and hit him with his fist. Boylan further testified that Eden kicked him in the back as he walked out the door and then hit him again as he walked out of the building.

Eden admitted swinging at Boylan but said it was done only after Boylan struck at him.

Jury Locked Up to Hear $30,250 Auto Case

A jury was impanelled Monday to try a $30,250 automobile damage suit, the first jury trial in the May term of Johnson county district court.

Testimony is scheduled to begin today in the suit brought by James Lauman, former SUI student. Otto Anderson and Glenn Cullen, all from Sioux Rapids. Defendant in the case is Vernon Dearmin, Wapello.

Dearmin, in an earlier suit, was awarded $3,300 for injuries he claimed to have sustained from the same accident with which this suit is involved.

The collision occurred Jan. 10, 1947 on highway 218 on the Indian Lookout hill when the Cullen car driven by Lauman skidded on a slippery curve.

Anderson, passenger in the Cullen car, asks $25,000 for serious injuries he claims to have suffered in the crash. Cullen asks $1,750 for damages to the car and Lauman asks $500 for injuries.

Dearmin, in a counter suit asks $3,000 for damages and injuries.

Nelle Cullen has entered the case as intervener, asking that her interests be protected. She states that the Cullen car was registered in her name.

Cedar Rapids attorneys represent the plaintiffs. Dearmin is represented in the case by Will J. Hayek, Iowa City, and Attorneys Elliot, Shuttleworth and Ingersoll, Cedar Rapids.

Nebraska Budget Bill Advanced from Files

LINCOLN, NEB. (P) — The $165-million Nebraska state budget bill was advanced from the legislature's general file Monday afternoon without debate.

The only amendment offered from the floor was addition of $7,500 to the legislative council appropriation to finance an actuarial study of the state school retirement system. It was approved.

$177 FOR EACH — The treasury reported money in circulation at the end of April amounted to an average of $177.29 for each American, or $27,274,136,629 in all.

From an average standpoint, that was a gain of 82 cents over the preceding month. Compared with a year ago, however, it showed a sharp drop of $1.49.

PRICE LISTS EXEMPT — The office of price stabilization exempted price lists from price controls on grounds that their primary value "depends on editorial content, expression of ideas, or dissemination of ideas."

AIR RAID PRECAUTIONS — Defense Secretary George C. Marshall gave defense department employees orders to report to secret alternate headquarters in case their offices here are knocked out by an enemy air attack.

Marshall said the emergency plan is necessary because of the "continued tension in the world situation." Locations of the alternate headquarters were withheld for security reasons.

"MEAT FAMINE" — Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan publicly supported the new beef price rollback order which has come under heavy fire from farm organizations.

Flatly contradicting predictions that the order, which took effect Monday, will lead to a "meat famine," Brannan said he does not believe it will be "detrimental" to livestock production.

Brannan declined to endorse all details of the price rollback.

PEACE SOON? — Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) said that Defense Secretary George C. Marshall apparently believes "something big" will happen in Korea soon to further the victory plans of the United Nations.

HISS DEFENSE CONTRIBUTORS — Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) said he has not yet decided whether to make public a list which he says contains the names of those who contributed to the trial defense fund of Alger Hiss.

GRAIN-FOR-INDIA — Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) predicted the senate will pass a $190-million grain-for-India bill on the basis of a 100 percent loan.

Originally, President Truman had proposed legislation to send 2-million tons of grain to famine-threatened India as an outright gift. Mr. Truman urged it as a humanitarian gesture.

To Dispose of Dogs Without 1951 Tags

Iowa City police have posted notices that dogs found running loose without 1951 dog license tags will be disposed of.

Dog licenses may be obtained from the city clerk's office in city hall. The licenses cost $1 per year for males or spayed females, $3 for other females.

By late Monday afternoon, Iowa City dog owners had purchased 232 dog licenses since Jan. 1. During a similar period a year ago, 437 dog licenses were issued.
