Truman, Marshall Call For Unity, Praise U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON - President Truman declared Friday night the U.S. faces its greatest crisis and called for a halt to "bickering" and the "playing of petty politics." The President, speaking informally at an Armed Forces day dinner, appealed for a united nation.

He asserted the U.S. and its Allies are fighting for time. Adding that emphasis had been placed by some on the casualties in Korea, he said of course there are casualties, but if the crisis is not met the casualties in Korea will be "one small drop in the bucket."

Speaking from the same rostrum with President Truman, Defense Secretary George C. Marshall told American GIs attempting to stem the new Communist onslaught in Korea that their heroism has inspired Western Europe with a will for freedom.

Marshall assured a banquet marking the capital's second annual Armed Forces day that the defeatism which gripped many of this country's Allies a year ago has been dissipated.

"The hostile invasion of Korea was probably the most critical test this country has ever faced," the defense chief said. "But we met that challenge."

"That decision gave new life to the United Nations, to the North Atlantic treaty organization and to the entire free world. The decision to resist, however, is only a small part of the story, for it was the courageous action of the troops in the field that gave real meaning to the decision."

Marshall read from a special message he sent to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who replaced Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Far Eastern commander. Both his words and those of the chief executive were beamed by the Voice of America to United Nations forces in Korea.

President Truman asserted that never before was unity so necessary to the sure "that these young men in Korea will not die in vain."

Mr. Truman added that never in the history of the American government had the executive branch been so well united.

Then, with an obvious eye on some of his more intense congressional critics, the President said it was up to "the other branches of government" to see that the same spirit of unity prevailed.

He called on his audience to "go home and get on your knees and pray" for national unity that would insure a successful conclusion of the Korean war as a vitally important down payment on permanent world peace.

LOS ANGELES - Gen. Omar Bradley warned the nation Friday against seeking an "easy escape" from war by depending on sea and air power with the hope "someone else" will do the ground fighting.

The chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, speaking at an Armed Forces week luncheon sponsored by the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, said the United States had to look ahead toward its security beyond the next decade despite the perilous situation of the past few months.

He said the American people had set out on a course of improving the position of free nations, which he termed a course of "enlightened self-interest."

"Some may be tempted to rely on sea and air power, to the belittlement of land power. Such a concept may provide some short-range security for the U.S. Its greatest fallacy is that it abandons our friends to be overrun on the ground."

Hawkeyes Still Available At Iowan Business Office

Students who have not claimed their 1951 Hawkeye yearbooks may still secure them at The Daily Iowan business office, room W-6, East hall.

About 500 yearbooks are still unclaimed, the business office said Friday.

Second Radioactive Field Test Scheduled Here Next Saturday

Iowa community leaders and students will take part in a second field test with radioactive materials to be held at SUI Saturday, May 26.

The field test will be held in a simulated bombed area, as part of the course in civil defense problems in Iowa, offered at SUI this spring. A similar test held last January was witnessed by Iowa civil defense officials and city and county authorities.

A Few Students The class, which is composed of community leaders and a few SUI students, will move into a simulated bombed city and perform the measures that would have to be taken after an actual atomic attack.

To make the test more realistic, radioactive materials will be placed in the "bombed" area. The class, clad in protective clothing and armed with radiation-detecting instruments, will restore the essential services and direct rescue work.

Taught about Radiation Members of the class will determine by tests how long the air, water, earth and buildings will be contaminated with radioactivity. They will also decontaminate the area, removing all possible effects of radiation.

Class members have been taught the nature of the atom and radiation, the phenomena which occur in atomic explosions, the effects of radiation, the use of instruments to determine the effectiveness of radiation and civil defense planning.

Armed Forces Day Exhibit Set Today

Military equipment from seven SUI and Iowa City organizations will be on display at the corner of Washington and Clinton streets this afternoon in observation of the nation's second Armed Forces day.

The exhibit will include an outdoor theater for the showing of combat films, a field casualty clearing station, two medium tanks, ROTC F-51 training aircraft, rifles, engineers training bridge, armament and radio equipment and other training aids.

The army and airforce ROTC departments, the national guard units, Iowa City reserves units, the Red Cross, SUI civil defense course, and the recruiting stations are joining in the exhibit.

Members of the clearing company, 109 medical battalion, Iowa national guard set up their surgical field tent Friday night. Other equipment will be set up this morning.

O'Dwyer Aide Faces Wilful Neglect Charge

NEW YORK - Former Mayor William O'Dwyer's investigation commissioner, John M. Murtagh, was charged Friday with wilful neglect of duty in failing to report what he knew about the city's craft-ridden police department.

Before the day was over, Mayor Vincent Impellitteri disclosed that he had asked Murtagh to take "a leave of absence" as chief city magistrate, but Murtagh refused.

The mayor said he could not force Murtagh out, since the state supreme court's appellate division has the sole power to discipline or remove a chief magistrate.

Impellitteri added that Murtagh has agreed not to sue as magistrate until the charges against him are cleared up.

At almost the same moment, Brooklyn racketeer Louis Weber drew the maximum sentence of five years in jail and a $2,000 fine for lying to the senate crime committee about his relations with another top O'Dwyer aide, James J. Moran.

Reds To Release Reporter When Broadcasts End

NEW YORK - An end of Radio Free Europe's broadcasts to Communist Czechoslovakia reportedly is the price for Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis' freedom.

The report came from Alexander Kendrick, Columbia Broadcasting system correspondent in Vienna.

YM Secretary Resigns After Budget Slash

Ralph Schloming has resigned upon request as general secretary of the SUI Young Men's Christian association, after the organization announced it would reduce its budget for the 1951-52 school year because of financial difficulties.

The resignation becomes effective Sept. 1.

The Rev. John G. Craig, treasurer of the board of trustees for the group, said the new budget will be lowered about $2,000 or $3,000 from the past year's $9,000 figure because of the difficulty in raising funds.

Ralph Schloming Resigns YM Secretariat

The group will seek a new secretary, who can be paid a smaller salary, one member said.

In submitting his resignation, Schloming said:

"In view of the considered analysis of our financial circumstances made by the board, cabinet, area staff and myself, I feel it is necessary to submit my resignation."

"I regret the necessity of this action, but in view of the projected plans for this association, I feel it is in the best interests of the continued development of a strong student YMCA on this campus."

Few 18 1/2 To Be Taken

Chairman Carl Vinson, (D-Ga.) of the house armed services committee said the provision means few if any 18 1/2-year-olds would be called soon. He said it will be 1953 under present mobilization plans before local board exhaust their supply of men 19 through 25.

But no matter when inducted, no draftee or recruit could be assigned to land duty outside the United States until he had been given four months training. This provision also would apply to reservists who have not previously had four months active duty.

City Swimming Pool May Begin Operation Early This Year

The municipal swimming pool in City park may be opened May 27 this year, earlier than usual. In previous years, the pool opened on Memorial day, May 30.

The warm, humid weather has prompted advancing the inaugural, Bill Grandrath, member of the park board recreation committee, said Friday.

Final Action Soon

Final action on whether the pool will be opened May 27 will be taken at a meeting of the committee Monday or Tuesday, Grandrath explained.

There is also a possibility that admission charges will be lower this year. Definite costs for the various age brackets will probably be set at the committee meeting.

Committee members have indicated that admissions might be slashed if a proposal to abolish the 20 percent amusement tax on non-profit organizations now being considered by the house ways and means committee becomes law.

Minor Repairs Made

(In 1950 admission prices for the pool were 9 cents for children up to 12 years of age, 15 cents for those in the high school age bracket and 35 cents for anyone over the high school age limit.) Grandrath also said that numerous major repairs, including the purchase of four new diving boards, have been made to improve the pool.

Red Pincers Endanger Seoul Despite Heavy Chinese Losses

Draft Age Dropped; Other Standards Cut

(From the Wire Services)

WASHINGTON - A senate-house conference committee, voted Friday to lower the draft age from 19 to 18 1/2 and to cut physical and mental service standards to include an estimated 150,000 men now classified 4-F.

Friday's agreement partially resolved a month-long deadlock over conflicting senate and house versions of legislation for a new draft law and for setting up a universal military training program some time in the future.

Key Points in Dispute

Several key points still remained in dispute however, and the joint committee will meet again to iron out the remaining differences. The present draft act expires July 9.

Under the committee's proposed physical-mental draft provision, standards for inductees would be set at a level no higher than that in effect for men of the same group during January, 1945 - the World War II date on which the bottom of the manpower pool had been just about reached.

Mental standards also would be cut from the present passing score of 70 to the army's general classification test, to a new score of about 65. These changes would take in 150,000 4-F's.

The committee also wrote into the compromise draft-universal military training bill a provision that would require local draft board to induct all available men 19 through 25 - the present draft age groups - before taking any 18 1/2-year-olds.

Chairman Carl Vinson, (D-Ga.) of the house armed services committee said the provision means few if any 18 1/2-year-olds would be called soon. He said it will be 1953 under present mobilization plans before local board exhaust their supply of men 19 through 25.

But no matter when inducted, no draftee or recruit could be assigned to land duty outside the United States until he had been given four months training. This provision also would apply to reservists who have not previously had four months active duty.

Karpa Gets 72 Years, Sent to State Prison

(From the Wire Services)

FORT MADISON - The gates of the Fort Madison state prison clanged at 3:20 p.m. Friday on Frank Karpa, 36, a slippery, jail-breaking prisoner who led eastern Iowa authorities on a three-day chase prior to his arrest in Cedar Rapids Thursday night.

Thursday the state closed the books on one of the wildest chapters in eastern Iowa crime history.

Karpa pleaded guilty at Tipton, Friday to multiple charges of burglary, larceny of motor vehicles and jail escape. Judge M. C. Hamiel sentenced him to a total of 72 years and Cedar County Sheriff C. R. Willey and a highway patrolman whisked him away immediately by car to Fort Madison.

Officials reported Karpa was driving a stolen pickup truck when arrested by Cedar Rapids police. He had been on the loose since Tuesday when he broke out of the Cedar County jail for the second time in 72 hours.

1 Killed, 2 Hurt In Bomber Crash

TUCUMCARI, N.M. - A light bomber, limping in for an emergency landing, crashed two miles short of Tucumcari airport Friday killing one man and injuring three.

Tucumcari hospital identified the dead man as Howard C. Cole, Marlboro, Mass., a navy man due for discharge next week.

The injured were listed as Capt. Donald Gilmore of Luke airforce base, Phoenix, Ariz.; T/Sgt. Raymond Hermann, Travis, Calif., and Pvt. Jerry Tucker, Scott Field, Ill.

Seek Financing Method For New Union Addition

Construction of the new $3.5-million addition to the Iowa Union will be delayed unless the board of trustees of the Iowa Union corporation finds a plan to finance construction, Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the Union, said Friday.

The board will hold its annual meeting here June 9.

Plans to start construction of the Union addition this fall were stalled when bills to authorize borrowing the necessary funds died in the sitting committees of the Iowa house and senate last month under pressure from chain hotel interests.

A special committee appointed to find means to borrow the money will report to the board at the June 9 meeting. The committee, set up at last year's meeting, is composed of Harper, SUI Business Manager Fred Ambrose and Waterloo Atty. Ben Swisher, chairman of the board.

Seeks Borrowing Method

The committee may propose other means to borrow the funds for the board's consideration, Harper said.

It will be up to the board to decide upon a plan to finance the addition or to continue the committee, he explained.

If the board fails to act, construction of the addition may be delayed until its next meeting in June 1952, or possibly until the next session of the state legislature in 1953, he said.

Harper explained, however, that as director of the Union he can request a board meeting at any time.

Union Can Borrow Legally

There is no question that the Iowa Union corporation can borrow the funds, he pointed out. The problem is finding the best possible paper—as an enabling act from the Iowa legislature would have been—to present to the loaning (insurance) company, he said.

Such companies are regulated by strict laws in regard to their legal reserves and thus must have the best possible security, Harper explained.

Communist Casualties 15,000 Daily

(From the Wire Services)

TOKYO (SATURDAY) - Chinese Reds today swarmed over thousands of their dead in a two-pronged drive which was reported forcing an Allied withdrawal all along the flaming, 125-mile front.

The twin drive was slowly out-flanking Seoul, whose bristling defenses shattered the western wing of the first Chinese spring offensive in April.

The veteran U.S. second division estimated it alone killed 10,000 Reds Friday while fighting free of a trap posed by the eastern Red prong near Hangeye, 55 miles northeast of Seoul.

The second prong began developing Friday 25 miles northeast of Seoul between Chongpyong and Kapyong. There the Reds started crossing the Pukhan river dam under attack by American planes and artillery.

The more powerful Red push, for the moment, was around Hangeye. Red forces rolling down the Inje-Hangeye road southwest toward Hangeye blasted a big hole through South Koreans and bared the right flank of the U.S. second division.

Allied Positions Obscure

A dispatch from U.S. Eighth army headquarters said the Reds still were on the rampage through the breakthrough. It reported the position of two Allied divisions in the area was "obscure."

Red dead littered the valleys and were draped grotesquely on barbed wire as the four-day-old Red offensive spread from the east coast for 80 miles to the Pukhan dam sector.

Maj. Gen. Clark L. Ruffner, second division commander, said, "We are swinging into a new line and right now we are in pretty good shape."

Red Casualties Highest to Date

One regimental command post was overrun by Chinese who charged through the line like mechanical men, walking over their own dead and ignoring the slaughter all around them. A counter-attack inside the command post area killed all the Chinese on the spot.

UN commanders and correspondents unanimously reported that there never had been such a slaughter of the Communists in this war. The Eighth army made no attempt to estimate the casualties, which were believed to be running more than 15,000 a day.

World Situation at a Glance

BONN, GERMANY - West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer promises a government crackdown on illegal shipments of millions of dollars worth of strategic goods to Communist China and Soviet satellites.

CHICAGO - Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion says his state would not need military help if Syria opens up an all-out war on its border. He denies a rumor that Israel has entered into a military assistance pact with Turkey.

NEW YORK - Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk expresses new American support for Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalist regime, and called on the Chinese people to revolt against their Communist masters.

WASHINGTON - The U.S. appeals to Great Britain and Iran to negotiate their dispute over Iran's proposed nationalization of British oil properties.

NEW YORK - The UN security council votes to order Israel to halt its Lake Huleh swamp drainage project as a first step to peace between Israel and Syria.

MADISON - John A. Zvetina, Loyola professor of business law and expert on Yugoslavia, says Yugoslavia may soon be the "Korea of the West."

Eight Killed, 63 Injured In Train Crash

BRYN MAWR, PA. - Eight persons were killed and 63 others injured Friday when a Pennsylvania railroad express rumbled a halted passenger train, sliced open a sleeping car and crushed many of its occupants in their beds.

Two of the injured were in critical condition at Bryn Mawr hospital. The dead were seven men, including a train porter, and one woman.

Police Chief George A. MacLaughlin of Lower Merion township announced early in the afternoon that 11 bodies had been removed from the wreckage. But he revised the count later after railroad crewmen reached the bottom of the tangled debris and found no more victims.

Of the injured, 15 were detained at the Bryn Mawr hospital, two of them in critical condition. The 48 others were treated and discharged.

Railroad officials said the standing train was halted by a stop signal. It was rammed by the Red Arrow, traveling from Detroit to Philadelphia.

The railroad said in a statement that "tentative information" indicated that the engineer of the Red Arrow had stopped at a warning signal 1 1/4 miles from the wreck scene.

"But we are unable to explain how, in view of the rules, his train could have been moving, following the stop, at such speed as to cause an accident such as that at Bryn Mawr," the railroad said.

The collision occurred at 5:40 a.m. Iowa time.

College of Medicine Plans Convocation

Medical students graduating from SUI this spring will be honored at a medical convocation, the first to be held here.

The convocation will be held in Macbride auditorium at 8 p.m. June 7, the evening before commencement exercises.

Dr. Mark F. Boyd, Tallahassee, Fla., a prominent alumnus of the college of medicine, will give the convocation address. A noted malariologist, Dr. Boyd has worked for the U.S. government and the League of Nations as an expert on malaria.

Dr. Walter L. Biering, Iowa state commissioner of health, and SUI President Virgil M. Hancher also will speak.

Graduating students and the college of medicine faculty will appear in academic caps and gowns. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the students will take the Oath of Hippocrates.

Dr. Willis M. Fowler, chairman of the executive committee in the college of medicine, will preside at the convocation, which will be open to the public.

Bad Judgment Alienates Friends —

There's no question about the role big business has played in the development of our country and its resources. Neither is there any question about the good that labor unions have done for the working man. We're grateful for the better living both have accomplished for the individual citizen of our nation.

However, to be realistic, we have to admit that the history of neither business nor labor is without ugly episodes. The story of adults and children working long hours for starvation wages is only too well known, and the violence and thuggism resorted to by the unions have left a bad taste in the mouths of the most broad-minded people.

We feel that the public tends to trust neither business nor labor too far. And as a result of this, both should make every effort to win the respect of the people through actions based on maturity and reason.

However, we read an article in the Iowa Federationist, official labor newspaper of Polk county, which represents the vilest, bitterest, most immature and unreasonable thinking we've encountered in a long time.

The article, titled "The Scab," states in part: "After God had finished the rattlesnake, the toad, the vampire, He had some awful substance left with which He made a scab. When a scab comes down the street, men turn their backs and angels weep in Heaven, and the Devil shuts the gates of Hell to keep him out."

"No man has the right to scab so long as there is a pool of water to drown in, or a rope long enough to hang his body with. Judas Iscariot was a gentleman compared with a scab."

"For betraying his master, he had character enough to hang himself. A scab has not."

"Esau was a traitor to himself, Judas Iscariot was a traitor to God, Benedict Arnold was a traitor to his country. A strikebreaker is a traitor to his God, his country, his wife, his family and his class."

No one denies that organization and a degree of discipline are necessary in any movement involving the number of persons represented by the modern labor faction of our population.

But we feel that the bitterness and lack of reason reflected in this article by the labor groups is the type of thing which will alienate great numbers of thinking people.

The similes created by the author represent what might be called a cleverness in writing. But the thinking behind the similes and the publication of them represents, to us, a miserably poor judgment.

PReviews ... and Postscripts

By JACK LARSEN

Can somebody answer a question for me? I'd like to know why movie producers seem to think that as long-as-it's-a-musical-it-doesn't-need-a-good-plot.

"Good plot," did I say? In looking back over most musicals I've seen, maybe I'd better change that to as-long-as-it's-a-musical-it-can't-have-a-plot.

I'll bet if I asked Joe Pasternak or any of the other movie executives who specialize in musicals I'd get laughed right off their studio lots.

Once I did get to listen through the keyhole of a producer's office, however in time to catch the following dialogue:

Producer: Just bought ten old songs today. Gave me a great idea.

Assistant: Sounds wonderful!

Producer: And then there are those songs from all the musicals we made in the Thirties we can toss in. I've been meaning to use them again. And we've got a Technicolor commitment to use up this month yet.

Assistant: Sounds like a natural for Betty Graver. I can see her in it now!

Producer: Just what I had in mind. We'll rent Death Valley and be sure to have enough room to stage that big dance number she'll do wearing purple clouds. I'll put Mickey Monthly opposite her, and maybe we can sign Greta Garbo and Laurence Olivier to play comic supporting parts. I understand they're in town.

Assistant: Let me sharpen your pencil!

Producer: Too bad all our directors are busy on other productions now. Oh well, maybe I can persuade Cap Franka to drop in once a week to see that the songs are being dubbed in properly.

Assistant: Wonderful plan! That'll save us money for that big finale you've always planned in which 1,000 dancers roller skate on ice. Yvonne DeTurckio would be wonderful in that number.

Producer: WHAT!!! There's a rumor going around that Miss DeTurckio has a good voice. Do you mean to lie there and tell me we should put an actress in a picture of ours who can sing? What would we do with all those vocalists we've got under contract? How would we keep the public guessing as to who is really singing?

Assistant: Sorry, chief. I was just carried away by your colossal plans for the picture. By the way, have you decided on what you'll call it?

Producer: Have I decided on what I'll call it! Don't you know that I never make a picture unless I have a title in mind first? I'm going to call it "When You and I Were Sweet Sixteen, Maggie."

Assistant: Wow! Well, that about takes care of all the details. You can start production tomorrow.

Producer: That's just what I was going to say. We can start production tomorrow. Well, let's be up and doing now, Smith.

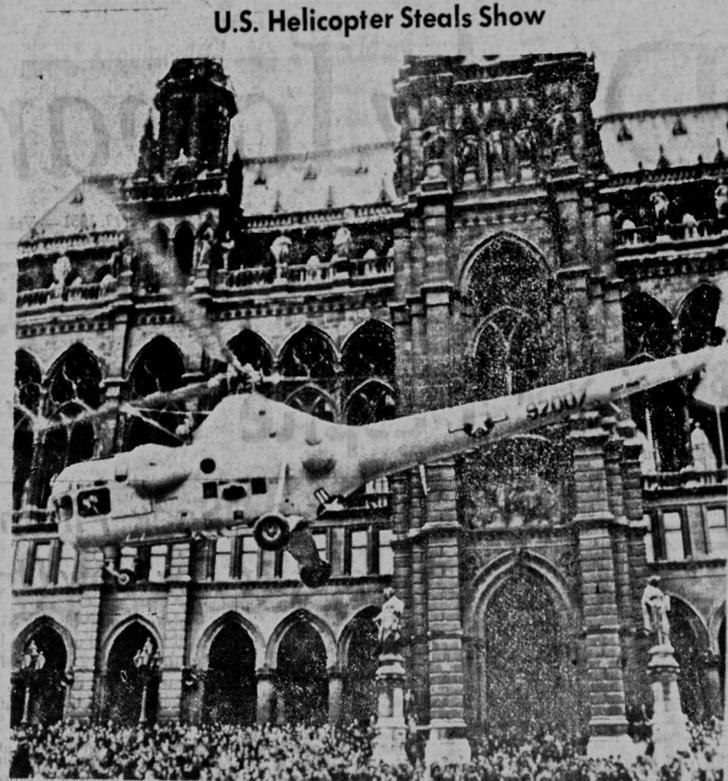

Assistant: So long, chief. (About to leave, but stops). Holy Celluloid! It just came to me! We'll need a plot, won't we?

Producer: A PLOT? Why? It's a MUSICAL, isn't it?

Assistant: We-ell yes — but SOME critics like plots. I saw a musical with a plot once myself, and you know, it wasn't half bad!

Producer: First thing I know you'll be suggesting we do something original around here! We DO have a lot of old scripts which have made money before. Wake up one of our writers immediately and tell him to get "Sweet Susie O'Malley Goes to Town" out of the files. It's based on the life of Maurice Ravol. Hetty's particularly fond of that script; she's used it twice now and knows some of the words in it by heart. Then tell you what you do, Smith. Go over and . . .

At this point a secretary came down the corridor bearing an Alka-Seltzer and I had to leave, my question unanswered.

THOUSANDS OF VIENNESE forgot a Communist Whitenside rally Sunday to watch a U.S. airforce helicopter demonstration in front of city hall. The helicopter was specially flown to Vienna from Germany to counter the Red propaganda demonstration.

Small Boy Burned — Miners Give Skin Grafts

MONTCOAL, W. VA. (P) — Marvin Lane took his troubles to church — the only place he could think of where they might be solved. He told fellow members of the congregation, "My little boy, Carlos, was burned playing with gasoline last March. He's going to die if he doesn't get some new skin."

Three Square Feet Two coal miners volunteered — Willie A. August, 33, father of seven, and Billy George Loftis, 30-year-old navy veteran who has two children.

From each of August's thighs the doctors took three strips of skin 10 inches long and two-and-a-half inches wide. They took strips 10 inches long and three inches wide from each side of his back. Loftis was stripped of at least as much. It is a painful operation and the doctors admired their sacrifice.

The three square feet of skin were transplanted to the 10-year-old's legs in a long series of operations, the most recent one Thursday. He can move around in bed now at Kanawha Valley hospital in Charleston. The doctors say he is doing fine.

That might be all there is to the story except for Lawson Barrett, a school teacher. He wrote to Middletown, Ohio, headquarters of Armo Steel corporation and told it about its two miners who had given the skin off their backs and legs.

Honors, Cash President W.W. Sebald wrote back, "You may be sure such an unselfish act will not go unnoticed."

Armo and Montcoal honored August and Loftis at a public ceremony Friday. There were speeches and testimonials, and cash from the company to repay them for the time they lost when they hurt so much they couldn't work.

Marvin Lane was there. He was an Armo miner himself until he developed an industrial disease. Workmen's compensation payments help him support his family of 12.

Another hero was around — a neighbor boy, Lowell Chambers. He came riding by on his bicycle the day Carlos was doused with flaming gasoline, stripped off a new green sport coat, wrapped it around Carlos and patted out the flames.

5 Des Moines Boys Arrested for Thefts

DES MOINES (P) — Five boys, ranging in age from 9 to 14, were arrested Friday for breaking into Phillips school. Capt. Ralph Brophy, head of the police juvenile bureau, said. Brophy said the boys were arrested by Juvenile Detective Nick Kerper and will be turned over to juvenile court authorities.

Three of the boys, two 13-year-olds and one 9, admitted breaking into the school three different times last Friday night.

Each time they took ice cream, pencils, apples and milk, Kerper said. The other two boys, 11 and 14, admitted breaking into the school last September, he said.

Both Hot, Cold —

This Week's World News

By The United Press

Balance sheet for the week between good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

Good News

1. United Nations lines in Korea have bent under fresh Communist attacks but have not broken to any serious extent. The opinion is unanimous at the front, in Tokyo and in Washington that the United States Eighth army now is able to stand up under the weight of any assault the Communists may start, although UN troops may have to yield some ground.

2. The U.S. is meeting with success in its campaign to impose an embargo of war materials going into Red China. Russia fought a delaying action against it in the UN, but America's principal allies now seem firmly committed to the principle that it is folly to send the enemy bullets with which to shoot down their own troops.

3. Anti-Communist guerrillas have become bold enough in the European satellite nation of Albania to start a small war against the Soviet authorities. It is a symptom of restlessness throughout the Balkan nations which the Russians seized in the post-war period before the Western democracies took a tough attitude toward Moscow.

Bad News

1. The crisis in Iran becomes more serious by the day, and has the potentialities of turning into a war unless the situation is carefully handled. The British are trying to regain control of the expropriated Anglo-Iranian Oil company, but they dare not exert too much pressure for fear the Russians will intervene under the terms of a treaty they signed with Iran in 1921. Iran is the No. 1 danger spot in the cold war.

2. The weather has turned against the UN army in Korea. The rainy season is a handicap to the U.S. airforce which not only is the eyes and ears of the Eighth army but is a powerful defensive factor in slowing down the Communist build-up. Rain virtually grounded our air power for 36 hours this week at a time when the Reds were pouring reinforcements southward.

3. A United Press survey shows Russia has some 200 divisions ready for action. Sixty of them are west of Moscow and far outnumber and force the democracies could muster in event of war. Thirty-five of them are in the general area of the Caspian sea — a threat to the Middle East at a time when that part of the world is boiling with dissension.

Hiss Handling Supplies While Serving Sentence

WASHINGTON (P) — Federal officials disclosed Thursday in response to inquiry, that Alger Hiss will help to handle supplies at Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary while serving time there. Hiss, one-time state department official, started a five-year term at Lewisburg in March on a perjury conviction growing out of his denial to a grand jury that he had ever been a Communist.

Douglas Asks Extensive Allied Counter Attack

NEW YORK (UP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) called on the free world Friday night to undertake a world wide counterattack against Russian Communism and insist that any Korean peace settlement provide for partial occupation of North Korea.

He also urged extension of the Marshall plan to Asia, exclusion of the Red Chinese from the United Nations, Formosa and negotiations over the Japanese peace treaty, and a union of Middle East nations to guard against a sneak Communist attack to divide East and West.

Possible Candidate The Illinois senator recently has topped public opinion polls as a possible candidate for the 1952 Democratic presidential nomination.

His suggested basis for Korean peace included occupation of North Korea "at least . . . about 100 miles north of the 38th parallel, complete withdrawal of Chinese forces from the country, and a free election under UN auspices once peace is restored."

"Under no conditions should we permit internal or external bands of Communists to overawe the people of Korea during the election campaign," he said, "and we should ultimately set up a UN police force to guard the boundaries and to train and equip a national army."

China Blockade He said the counterattack should combine the ideas of an economic blockade of Red China, assistance for guerrilla bands in China, permission for the Nationalist Chinese — on their own — to raid the mainland, and use of propaganda and outside aid to underground movements in Iron Curtain countries.

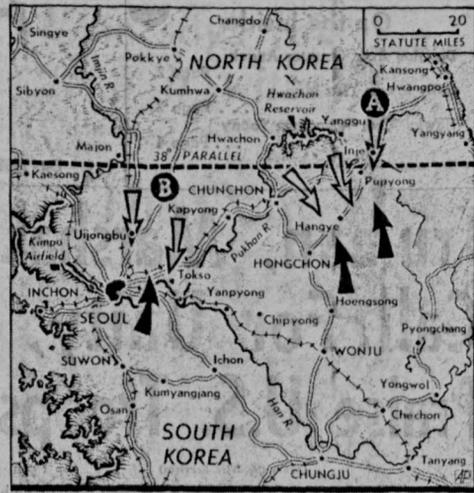

In the propaganda and guerrilla fields, he said the free nations should not stoop to using the "subversion" tactics the Communists have employed in infiltrating and taking over free nations.

"But we should, in my judgment, develop and encourage similar organizations for counter-propaganda and underground activities within China and other Asiatic countries," he said. "We can do so without becoming officially involved in war, and under such a program we shall not have to fight the wrong people at the wrong time and place over the wrong issues," he said.

Interpreting the News —

Mediterranean Nations To Share U.S. Help

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

France has indicated her support of the American suggestion that Greece and Turkey be included in the Atlantic pact, but there is no indication that some of the other members are ready to drop their reservations.

The whole thing may turn out to be largely a matter of U.S. assurance to the two Mediterranean countries that they are considered part and parcel of the Western European anti-Communist lineup, and that Washington intends to look after their military interests.

The opposition in Europe to the inclusion of the two countries in the pact bears no relation to the reluctance of these same countries to include France, Spain, except insofar as all of the countries are jealous of their priority rights to American arms.

This is an important matter whenever the question of dividing American products comes up.

But Greece and Turkey are respected by all, both for their relative military ability and their obvious determination to fight any Communist aggression. There is not so much doubt about them ideologically as there is about France, whose non-democratic governmental methods place him more in the class with Tito of Yugoslavia. It might be said in passing that both seem to be working toward a better basis of cooperation with the democracies.

Panel Chosen for Labor Meet

Speakers and panel members who will take part in Iowa's first labor-management conference at SUI June 22 and 23 were announced Friday.

According to the conference sponsor, the bureau of labor and management, the meeting will bring together about 100 Iowans to discuss employer-employee attitudes in the state's economy.

In the first session Joseph Shister, head of the department of industrial relations at the University of Buffalo, N. Y., will speak on "The Economic Outlook and Its Bearing on Industrial Relations."

After his talk, a panel will further explore the topic. Panel members will be Ralph S. Clifford, Deere and Company, Moline, Ill.; Ray Miles, The Iowa Federationist, Des Moines, and Prof. Robert H. Johnson of SUI's department of economics.

In an afternoon session Robert N. McMurray, Chicago, will discuss "Employer-Employee Communication for Increased Productivity." A panel on the topic will consist of Reuben Roe, AFL gypsum workers, Buffalo; M. P. MacDougall, the Hoerner corporation, Keokuk; Al E. Johann, Meredith Publishing company, Des Moines, and a representative of the CIO united auto workers, as yet unannounced.

Stanley H. Rutenber, director of the CIO's department of education and research in Washington, D. C., will open the second day's session with an address on manpower utilization.

The panel for the topic will consist of I. A. Rose, the Maytag company, Newton; Boyd G. Hayes, Oliver corporation, Charles City; E. Cosgrove, state federation of labor, Des Moines, and Roy O. Hughes, order of railway conductors, Cedar Rapids.

A University of Michigan psychology professor, Norman R. F. Maier, will discuss "Supervisory Training and Employee Incentives" in an afternoon session. The panel which will discuss the topic further will include Mark L. Putnam, Deere and company, Moline, Ill.; W. A. Kringer, Sioux city contractor; John Grogan, international association of machinists, Dubuque, and Clifford E. Carney, tri-city federation of labor, Rock Island.

At luncheon and dinner meetings during the two days, speakers will discuss such topics as the cost-of-living index as a basis for wage raises and manpower planning during the cold war.

Two final reports will be delivered, winding up the two-day meeting. Harry Linn, Des Moines, representing the Iowa Manufacturers association, will give the management report and Kenneth Everhart, Des Moines, from the state CIO council, will give the labor report.

Animal Death Caused by Rabies is Costly

The mounting toll of animal deaths caused by rabies threatens to become an enormous expense to Iowa, according to Dr. L.H. Borts, director of the state hygienic laboratory in the SUI college of medicine.

During the first four months of 1951, 205 cases were reported from the Iowa City laboratory and the veterinary diagnostic laboratory at Ames. Total Iowa cases reported for 1950 were 373. At the present rate, the 1951 total could mount to more than 600, Borts said.

Borts said he doubts that the current figures represent even 50 percent of the actual incidence, because many cases are never discovered and others are not reported.

Rabies toll on livestock in the United States amounts to millions of dollars annually, Borts declared. Texas estimates its economic loss to be at least $2.7-million each year.

At least 30,000 people in the U.S. are required to take the Pasteur or antirabic treatment each year. At a cost of about $100 a person, such treatment annually costs in the neighborhood of $3-million.

Borts pointed out that rabies is a 100 percent controllable disease and calls its existence a national disgrace. Public health workers believe that it can be eliminated within three to five years, he emphasized, if proper control measures were seriously undertaken.

He outlined a three-point program to control the disease: 1. Vaccinate all dogs over six months old. 2. Require all dogs to be licensed, with vaccinations a prerequisite to licensing. 3. Impound and destroy all unlicensed, unvaccinated dogs.

Borts said that rabies is a virus disease among animals, spread chiefly by the bite of dogs. Dogs that have the disease roam — sometimes 200 miles — biting everything in their paths.

The Negri bodies, virus causing rabies, eventually reach and attack the central nervous system in both man and lower animals, Borts explained. Effects after the bite vary, he said, depending on the area of the brain involved.

Medical aid should be sought at once for the person who has been bitten by what he thinks is a rabid animal, Borts declared. If the bite is about the head or neck, antirabic treatment should be given immediately, he said.

The 373 cases reported in Iowa in 1950 included 164 dogs, 80 skunks, 64 cats, 21 cats and 14 hogs.

Animals suspected of having rabies should not be killed but should be placed with a veterinarian for observation. If an animal is killed in early stages of the disease there is less chance that microscopic laboratory examination will detect the presence of the virus-like Negri bodies in the brain.

Borts cautioned that an animal suspected of being rabid should not be shot through the head. If the brain is mutilated or allowed to decompose, the examiner may have difficulty in making a reliable diagnosis.

City Teen-Agers Plan Clean-Up Day

In thanks for the establishment of the new Iowa City youth employment service, local high school students will hold the first "Teen-Age Communit Appreciation Day" Tuesday.

The students will give city park and several other civic spots in Iowa City a "spring cleaning" with spades, rakes and paint brushes.

Joe Howe, University high school, chairman of the project, said some of the students will prepare petunia blots for "Petunia Planting Day" Thursday.

The spading will be at the ends of the boulevards on E. Washington street, a parking lot at Clinton and College street, the Mary O. Coldren home and the Johnson County Welfare building. George Turcek, City park superintendent, said he could provide work for about 100 students.

In case of bad weather, the clean-up will be Wednesday.

Wisconsin Sends Hawkeyes To Eighth Loss, 9-1 Iowa Closes Big Ten Slate at 2 p.m. Today

As far as the Iowa baseball team is concerned that sixth inning of their Big Ten game here Friday afternoon with Wisconsin can be erased from the record books.

It was that wicked sixth that spoiled the Hawkeyes' effort, as sophomore righthander Ron Unke coasted in on an eight-hitter to shackle the Hawks, 9-1.

Wisconsin, in the sixth, smote reliever Glenn Drahn for seven runs on as many hits to stay in the conference title race with a 5-3 record, while Iowa slipped to a 3-8 mark.

Coach Otto Vogel's Hawkeyes try to gain a split in the final league series of the campaign when they take on the Badgers at 2 p.m. on the Iowa diamond today.

The contest started with sophomores facing each other — Bob "Whitey" Diehl for the Hawks and Unke, the Wisconsin hurler. Wisconsin didn't fall as easily as Illinois had for Diehl last Monday, as they waited out the erratic Iowa City righthander and boosted him from the battle in the third.

Diehl fails Diehl was nicked for only two runs, but his inability to consistently find homeplate, caused his outster, Glenn Drahn, to take over. Diehl met Wisconsin trouble in the third and set down two hitters with a pair of Badger runners on base.

Wisconsin couldn't solve Drahn until the sixth, then the Badger firework started.

Don Kenefick gave an idea of what was to come when he opened the inning with a triple. He scored to fatten the Badgers' margin to 3-0 when Tom Cooper singled.

Three successive singles followed, one by Al Suter good for two more runs. Harvey Kuenn added to the Iowa misery with another two-run hit and an error and Iowa Netmen Win; Face Irish Today Iowa's tennis team won its fourth straight conference victory by slamming Purdue, 7-3, here Friday afternoon.

The Hawks will meet Notre Dame today at 1 p.m. on the fieldhouse courts in their last dual match of the season.

Seven singles matches were played with the Hawks winning five. Bob Richards, Don Lewis, Roger Kroth, Bruce Higley and Mike Trueblood took part in the near sweep.

Only one doubles match went two sets with Ball and Lewis taking the win. The other two were shortened to one set in order to allow the Boilermakers travel time. Iowa split these final two matches.

Singles:
Scanlon (P) defeated Ball 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.
Richards (P) defeated Fletcher 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.
Lewis (P) defeated Dicke 6-3, 6-1.
Trueblood (P) defeated Hall 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.
Higley (P) defeated Simon 7-5, 6-4, 6-3.
Kroth (P) defeated Johnson 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Doubles:
Ball and Lewis (P) defeated Scanlon and Jones 9-7, 11-9.
Higley and Trueblood (P) defeated Dicke and Simon 6-4.
Hall and Evans (P) defeated Kroth and Richards 6-4.

Cuba's Kid Gavilan Wins World Welterweight Title

NEW YORK — Busy Kid Gavilan gave outclassed back-pedaling Johnny Bratton a thorough pasting Friday night to win the world welterweight title for Cuba on a unanimous 15-round decision at Madison Square Garden. Gavilan weighed 145 1/2, Bratton 147.

From the moment when he zinged home 36 consecutive punches in the first round, Gavilan took charge of this uneven battle, staged to find a successor for Sugar Ray Robinson.

Both judges Joe Agnello and Artie Schwartz had the sleek Cuban hawk on top 11-4. Referee Ruby Goldstein saw it a little closer, 8-5 with two even.

Gavilan, favored at 2-1, became the first Cuban champion of any class in ring history to be recognized by both the NBA and the New York commission. Kid Chocolate of Havana had been recognized as featherweight ruler only by New York state in 1933.

Sleek Gavilan treated the 11,747 fans to a memorable exhibition of stamina, speed and skill as he hammered his way to the title.

Bratton, who claimed to have broken his right hand in the fourth round, gave Gavilan stiff competition in the first half of the bout in see-saw fighting.

After That It Was All Gavilan There were no knockdowns, but 23-year-old Bratton was staggered in the first and 11th rounds, and he was shaken up in several

Four Phil Pitchers Belted For 17 Hits

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs unloaded a bombardment of 17 hits, including three home runs and seven doubles, Friday to smother the Phillies, 18-9.

It was such a spectacle as the Cubs have not staged since a day just five years ago — on May 18, 1946 — when they bludgeoned the Giants 19-3.

The Cubs lambasted four Phil pitchers — Leo Cristante, Bob Miller, Milo Candini and Ken Johnson — for a total of 33 bases.

In their last three games, now, the Cubs have battered the opposition for 38 hits and have scored 44 runs. In this same span, Ransom Jackson, the rookie third baseman has driven in 11 runs, scored nine, made four homers and eight hits in 14 times at bat.

Johnson got his season's fourth homer Friday in the second inning and added two singles. Other homers were exploded by Hank Sauer (his eighth of the season) and there was an inside-the-park grand-slam homer for Jack Chesick, the kid shortstop.

Powerful Indiana Track Team Faces Hawks Here Today
The Iowa track team goes against rugged Indiana in a Big Ten dual meet here today, the first in history between the two schools.

The meet between the Hawks and Indiana, 1950 Big Ten outdoor champions, will start at 10:30 a.m. in order to allow the Hoosiers to start their long trip back to Bloomington.

Iowa Coach Frances Cretzmeyer says that Indiana probably has one of the finest dual meet teams in the Midwest. Their record speaks for itself.

In addition to beating indoor champion Illinois, the Hoosiers have a record of five wins in dual or triangular competition.

The Hawks have a 1-1 record in dual meets, with a win over Minnesota and a loss to Purdue.

Illini 3, Gophers 0
CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP)—George Maier, Illinois sophomore lefty, won his fourth Big Ten victory against one loss here Friday when he blanked Minnesota on a five-hit job, 3-0.

Maier scattered the Gophers' hits through five innings and was tight enough in the clinches to cause nine Gophers to die on the base paths.

Homer Blasts Yanks

The White Sox — Fastest Major League Team
NEW YORK (AP) — Fastest club in baseball? Manager Al Lopez of Cleveland picks those hustling, wind-splitting Chicago White Sox.

"They run you to death," said Lopez, who used to be a catcher and still cringes at the sight of speed on the base paths when it belongs to the other team.

The records back him up. Already ahead of their entire 1950 total, the White Sox lead the majors with 21 stolen bases and possess the most during "hie" of the year in Center Fielder Jim Busby.

Busby stole two bases on consecutive pitches against Detroit once this year, then scored on a squeeze play.

THE PHILLIES SCORE as Granny Hamner slides across home plate in a game with the Cubs Friday. This, and the other runs the Phils managed to score weren't enough though, as the Chicagoans won 18-9. Suggs Takes Golf Tournament Lead
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Louise Suggs, the pint-size Georgia peach with the perfect swing, equalled men's par with a 71 Friday to take a one-stroke lead in the third round of the Annual Waterwear Transcontinental Women's Golf Tournament.

The former National Amateur Champion from Carrollton, Ga., now a professional, carded only one bogey when her ball hit a water hole on 13, but she made up for it by sinking an eight-foot putt on 18.

Defending tourney champion Babe Didrikson Zaharias fired a 72 over the sun-baked, 6,400-yard Meridian Hills Course to take undisputed lead in the overall standings with a total of 377 for 90 holes — two strokes ahead of her bitter rival Patty Berg whose 74 gave her a total of 379.

Beloit Ousted From Midwest Conference

BELOIT, WIS. (AP) — Beloit college, which produced one of the nation's top basketball teams last season, was ousted from the Midwest Conference Friday.

Dr. Carey Cronis, president of Beloit, said he had been informed Beloit was dropped by a 6-3 vote of faculty representatives of the nine schools in the conference for alleged failure to conform to the spirit and principles of the loop.

He said the statement he received gave the reasons for the ouster as:

"The type of school Beloit has been competing with outside of the conference; her insistence on playing long athletic schedules and her opposition to attempts to reduce them; Beloit's participation in the National Invitational Basketball Tournament this winter in Madison Square Garden; her defense of her schedule on the ground that it produces income for the college and a publicity policy out of harmony with the traditional emphasis of our conference."

Beloit's basketball team has several times achieved nationwide recognition as small college standouts and have won the conference title six years in a row.

College-Educated Men To Rule Golf
NEW YORK (AP) — Inasmuch as it's rather difficult to teach a caddy cart to swing a golf club, the leading pros of the future will come from the ranks of college-educated young men.

George Hall, golf coach at Cornell university, makes that prediction, and the idea is echoed by Gene Sarazen.

"Mark my words," Hall says emphatically, "ten years from now the college graduates will be dominating pro golf, as the former caddies do now. Why? because there aren't many caddies any more."

"And why shouldn't a college graduate turn golf pro? A graduate of the mechanical engineering school, say, must be brilliant. And what do they offer him when he finishes school? About $3,600 a year. A young fellow can do a lot better than that playing golf if he's good, so you can't blame him for turning to the sport."

However, the ball player had checked out of his Pittsburgh hotel before the sale was made and he was not located until he showed up at Comiskey Park.

No Game
Traded Player At Wrong Park
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox' missing third baseman, Bob Dillinger, turned up at the home park Friday with the team on the road.

Dillinger was purchased Wednesday from the Pittsburgh Pirates. He had been waived out of the National league and it was understood he came to the White Sox for about the waiver price of $10,000.

Spartans 7, Hoosiers 5
BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP) — Michigan State, led at the plate by hard-hitting shortstop Joe Rivich, won the first round of its two-game series with Indiana Friday by sinking the Hoosiers 7 to 5.

Rivich poked 380-foot homer in the top of the sixth inning with one mate aboard for the Spartans' final two tallies. It was Michigan State's third Big Ten win against one loss.

Third Baseman Johnny Kyle topped the Indiana batters with a double and two triples in four times at the plate. The loss gave the Hoosiers an even 4-4 conference record.

'Cats Edge Buckeyes
EVANSTON, ILL. (AP) — Doug Bielenberg upset Ohio State's Big Ten leaders by holding them to one run on three hits Friday as Northwestern won, 3 to 1.

He thus handed the Bucks their first conference loss of the season after six wins. Northwestern won its fifth conference game in nine starts by getting three runs in the fourth on doubles by Ralph Swanson and Wilbur Tucker, Don Blasius' fielder's choice and a single by Eddie Piacentini.

Ease Requirements For FBI Agents

Candidates for the position of federal bureau of investigation special agent no longer must be attorneys or accountants to obtain the job. Information received by the SUI business and industrial placement office Friday said applicants need only have graduated from any accredited four-year college or university.

Injured 4 Year-Old In 'Good' Condition Following Accident

Jackie Perrin, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Perrin, 900 Finkbine park, was reported in "good" condition in his home Friday night after he was struck by a car as he darted across a road in Finkbine park Friday morning.

Jackie suffered a broken collar bone and a fractured arm when he was struck by a car driven by Frank J. Krapek, DI, Iowa City. The elder Perrin, former manager of the Coca Cola company in Waterloo, enrolled in a pre-medical course here in September. It was 37.

Perrin said Jackie ran out from behind a parked car and into the path of the car driven by Krapek, a near neighbor of the Perrins.

One other injury was reported among the three accidents reported to Iowa City police Friday.

Mrs. I. L. Polluck, 911 Rider street, suffered a minor leg injury Friday when she was struck by a car at Iowa avenue and Dubuque street.

Damage estimated at $150 resulted from an accident Thursday on Iowa avenue. Cars driven by Leland D. Bodeen, Iowa City, and Wayne Schichtl, 219 Church street.

Joseph G. Smith, 530 S. Dubuque street, and Edward Wainwright, 407 N. Dubuque street, were drivers of cars involved in an accident Wednesday at Dubuque and Davenport streets. Damage was estimated at $110.

Mrs. Alice Bartow's Final Rites Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Abbott Bartow, 86, will be held at 10:30 a.m. Monday in the chapel at the Fishkill Rural cemetery at Fishkill, N.Y.

Mrs. Bartow, wife of Dr. Edward Bartow, professor - emeritus of chemistry and chemical engineering, died Thursday afternoon at University hospital.

The Rev. James E. Warey, of East Haven, Conn., former pastor of the Iowa City Congregational church, will officiate at the services. The body will be at Beckman's early this morning where friends may call. The family requests that no flowers be sent.

Mountaineers to Sponsor Travelogs Lecture Series

The appearance of Muri Deusing and his film, "Outlaws in Nature" at 8 p.m. Sunday in Macbride auditorium will inaugurate the 1951-52 season of colored motion picture travelogs sponsored by the Iowa Mountaineers club.

Deusing is the first of 25 internationally-known explorers and archeologists who will be brought to Iowa City by the Mountaineers during this year and next.

He has served for 16 years on the lecture staff of the Milwaukee public museum, but will be making his first appearance before an Iowa City audience.

His movie is a story of animals "who live by the fang and the claw." It is a close-up of the rogues in nature's underworld.

This will be the only program of the current school term, but the series will be resumed next fall.

In an attempt to accommodate more persons, the Mountaineers are presenting 12 of their programs on Sunday afternoons and 12 on Sunday evenings.

Season tickets are available for both afternoon and evening series at a cost of $10. Single series tickets sell for $5. Anyone interested may purchase their season tickets Sunday evening at Macbride hall or by writing to Treasurer, Iowa Mountaineers, Box 163, Iowa City.

Among the highlights of the coming season will be the appearance of Dean Dickason, who has circled the globe 21 times in the past 24 years. He has been a foreign correspondent for CBS, editor of the Denver Post, and producer of a number of Hollywood movies.

Another speaker will be Lt. Col. John D. Craig, head of the airforce motion picture unit which photographed the Bikini A-bomb tests. While serving for the airforce photography unit, he completed 36 combat missions. Craig received several battlefield citations including the Purple Heart.

Cmdr. Donald B. MacMillan, pioneer in Arctic explorations, is also on the slate. He was Admiral Perry's right-hand man and is one of the top men in lecturing on the far north.

If you want to learn about some of those mummies over in Egypt, the Mountaineers have the answer in their travelogue when they host Count Bryon de Prorok. He has led 18 major expeditions and

To Act On Panacea Constitution

The office of student affairs is expected to act early next week on a constitution that would make Panacea, SUI musical comedy show, an independent organization.

The office has to approve the constitutions of all SUI organizations before they can go into effect. Representatives of the student council and the current Panacea committee Friday presented the constitution to the office after they had resolved a disagreement over the role of a proposed public relations director for Panacea.

They agreed that the director would have a free hand as long as his work is satisfactory to the council.

The council Thursday night amended the constitution, drafted by the Panacea committee, so that the activities of the Panacea public relations man would have to be cleared through the council's public relations director.

Before agreement was reached, the Panacea committee was planning to submit a different copy of the proposed constitution to the office of student affairs — one that would have omitted the controversial council amendment.

Extend Deadline
The Panacea committee Friday

also extended the deadline for applications for the five positions membership on next year's Panacea board of directors to noon today.

Applications, in letter form stating qualifications and interest, should be turned in at the office of student affairs, room 111, University hall.

Next year's board of directors, to be chosen by the present Panacea committee and the council, will act as an interim committee until the permanent Panacea organization can be set up. This depends on approval of the proposed constitution by student affairs.

Honorary Journalism Fraternity Initiates 15 New Members

Kappa Tau Alpha, national scholastic journalism fraternity, initiated 13 students and two faculty members Friday afternoon in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Initiated were: Graduate students — William Maxwell, Los Angeles, Calif.; Robert Noble, Iowa City; Al Boeck, Burlington; Joe Shoquist, Iowa City; Robert Ames, Wichita, Kan.; Paul Mahaney, Waterloo; Russell Bert, Rockford, Ill.; Don Scannell, Iowa City, and Sam Talbert, University, Miss.

Seniors — Don Steffen, Dubuque, and Ann Marie Krepelka, Osage.
Juniors — Wayne Danielson, Burlington, and Richard Christenson, Cedar Rapids.
Faculty — Ellis Newsome and Oliver Smith, journalism instructors.

Requirements for KTA membership include at least 10 semester hours in journalism for undergraduates and a 3.2 grade-point average for both undergraduate and graduate students. A faculty member is eligible automatically.

Elected officers of KTA for 1951-52 were Newsome, president; Prof. Carroll Coleman, vice-president, and Charles E. Barnum, secretary-treasurer. All of the officers are faculty members, which is a requirement of the fraternity.

Included in the program Friday was a talk on "Freedom of Information" by Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism.

The Iowa avenue bridge was resurfaced last October, but a seal-coating layer of asphalt and gravel was added as a part of the city's $53,239.25 street resurfacing program. Altogether 19 blocks of eight streets will be resurfaced and 50 blocks will be seal-coated this spring and summer by the Hargrave construction company, Cedar Rapids. The Iowa avenue bridge was open again late Friday afternoon, and traffic on Burlington street returned to normal.

Chinese Dying by Thousands — U.S. Troops Fight Out of Trap

TOKYO (SATURDAY) — An American division fought its way late Friday out of a trap sprung by Chinese shock troops pouring through a dangerous gap in the Allied lines on the East Korean front.

A spectacular stunt by American artillerymen also helped. The big guns draped a circular curtain of fire around the Yanks and kept it there as they pushed southward through the enemy lines.

The gunners threw a complete circle of fire around the unit and moved the range back as the troops marched safely inside the protective curtain.

The collapse of South Korean forces under the onslaught exposed the flank of the American division on the left. But the veteran Yanks stood firm. All through Thursday night and into Friday morning their guns blazed.

United Press Correspondent

Glenn Stackhouse reported that the division's massed artillery wrote "a bloody chapter in military history for sustained rate of fire." One battalion was said to have set an "all time" record for any battalion in any war.

Then Friday morning the Chinese hit the division's right-center. Thousands of fanatical Reds crashed against the line, United Press Correspondent Robert Gibson reported, but only 150 survived the U.S. artillery, mines, bombs and machine guns.

The Chinese were dying by the thousands — possibly 25,000 to 30,000 killed or wounded in the first two days of their offensive. But still they came on, marching like mechanical men over the bodies of their dead into the muzzles of Allied guns.

Describing it as an astounding demonstration which left the battlefield coated with dead, Gibson quoted one officer as saying:

"I think most of those Chinese are doped. They waste right through machine gun fire or artillery fire, and the bodies piled up, and they walk right over the bodies, and the pile of bodies gets higher.

"One machine gunner kept on shooting, and the Chinese kept on coming, and finally they were walking right past him on both sides, close to him, and with him still shooting and the bodies piled up in front of his gun.

"The Chinese acted as though they were in a dream, paid no attention to him, and never did shoot him. One finally kicked over his machine gun, and not until then did he quit shooting."

SUI Concert to Present Prof. Clapp's Symphony

The first performance of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp's "Symphony No. 10," written as a tribute to former President Theodore Roosevelt, will be played at the SUI symphony orchestra's final concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Iowa Union.

The symphony, begun in 1919, was written in three movements to characterize phases in Roosevelt's life, Clapp said. Clapp is head of the music department and conductor of SUI symphony orchestra.

The introduction and allegro of the symphony represents Roosevelt as the "apostle of the strenuous life," or as one historian termed him, "the happy warrior," the composer explained.

The scherzo is representative of the next episode in Roosevelt's history, his holidays in Africa, and ends with his triumphal progress out of Africa and across Europe.

The hero rejected in his own country is suggested by the finale, Clapp said. The music suggests that Roosevelt remains a hero, even now, to many people, he added.

The epilogue represents the distant crash of Quentin Roosevelt who was shot down in a plane during World War I. The incident was said to have speeded the death of Theodore Roosevelt, Clapp explained.

Other selections on the program will include the overture to the opera, "Iphigenia in Aulis" by von Gluck, and "Concerto in D Major" by Haydn.

Tickets are available at Iowa Union for this final concert by the SUI orchestra.

Jury Awards Dearnin $2,000 Damage Suit

A district court jury Friday returned a verdict in favor of the defendant in a $30,250 damage suit and in turn awarded him $2,000 for damages resulting from an auto accident Jan. 10, 1947, near Iowa City.

The jury deliberated for two hours before it returned its verdict in favor of Vernon Dearnin, Wapello, who had filed a $30,000 counter-claim to a $27,250 damage suit brought by three Sioux Rapids men.

Plaintiffs in the original suit were James Lauman, A4, Otto Anderson and Glenn Cullen.
