Acheson Says U.S. Has No Change In Far East Policies

(From the Wire Services)
 WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Acheson denied Wednesday the administration has adopted a new China policy under pressure of the public uproar over Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal.

Acheson faced a press conference as Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, testified for the fifth day before the senate committee investigating MacArthur's ouster.

Bradley repeated his warning that MacArthur's proposals for expanding the Korean war would not bring a "decisive" victory over Red China, but would risk setting off World War III.

State Department Objects
 Bradley also disclosed that it was the state department which insisted MacArthur be prohibited from sending bombing supplies against the Communist supply center of Rashin in North Korea.

He said the state department "always objected to the bombing of Rashin" because it was only 17 miles from the Russian border, and officials feared some U.S. planes might stray across the border and create a dangerous incident.

The joint chiefs of staff gave MacArthur authority twice to bomb Rashin, and then banned it on the state department's urging, Bradley said.

Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said the committee expects to finish with Bradley before noon today and begin hearing testimony from Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff.

Acheson said emphatically that no change in policy toward Nationalist and Communist China was heralded by a widely-publicized speech in New York last Friday by assistant secretary of state Dean Rusk.

Rusk's speech had been interpreted in congress, in press comment and by some agitated foreign diplomats as a state department move to "appease" MacArthur supporters by taking a tougher line toward Red China.

But Acheson asserted that Rusk had merely re-stated the longstanding policy of aiding the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa and withholding diplomatic recognition from the Red regime at Peking.

Peace Through UN
 He said that if a Red China can be brought to the point of negotiations, they will be conducted through the United Nations, in which this country is represented.

Gen. Bradley told the senators South Korea would remain under constant threat of new Communist attacks if a peace settlement called for the withdrawal of United Nations forces without any safeguards.

The five-star general said cease-fire terms will have to contain "certain safeguards" against a renewal of Red aggression — and will involve more than just the withdrawal of Chinese and UN forces from Korea.

Saturday Named City's Poppy Day
 Mayor William J. Holland has proclaimed Saturday as Poppy day in Iowa City.

An estimated 10,000 poppies, made by disabled veterans, will go on sale here Saturday under the supervision of the American Legion auxiliary.

Funds from the annual poppy sale will be used for the care of disabled veterans.

40-Hour Week, 5-Day Publication Basis Adopted for Daily Iowan

The Daily Iowan will go on a 40-hour week production schedule and a five-day week publication basis, effective July 1, coinciding with the adoption of the 40-hour week by the university.

Faced with sharp increases in the cost of all factors entering into the production of a newspaper, the board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc., voted Wednesday afternoon to discontinue the Sunday edition of The Daily Iowan, beginning with the new fiscal year.

The new publication schedule will enable The Iowan to maintain its traditional standards of quality in content and services.

Many daily newspapers of general circulation have changed from the six-day to five-day schedule in recent years due to increased operating costs and the 40-hour week.

Ke'lo, Whitesel To Report to Army In June as Majors

Two SUI political science professors, Hugh E. Kelso and R. G. Whitesel, will report for active duty with the army next month.

Kelso will report to Fort Benning, Ga., June 15 to work with the staff and faculty at the infantry center there. Whitesel will report to the policy section of the general staff at Fifth army headquarters in Chicago June 20.

Neither man will take a refresher course but will take over his new position immediately with the rank of major.

The two men, who share the same office in Schaeffer hall, first met while both were in the 363rd infantry division in Italy during World War II.

At the end of the war after 17 months of combat, they were assigned to teach at the army university in Florence, Italy.

They separated about five months later when Kelso returned to teach at SUI where he had received his Ph.D. degree in political science in 1941.

Whitesel, who had attended Minnesota university, went to Cornell university to receive his Ph.D. degree in 1947.

The two men were reunited in the fall of 1947 when Whitesel became a member of the SUI political science staff. Both men retained their commissions in the infantry reserve.

The political science department has not arranged to fill the positions which Kelso and Whitesel will vacate.

Prof. Kirk H. Porter, head of the political science department, said Wednesday.

Kelso teaches comparative foreign governments, government of Russia, Latin American governments and public administration.

He and his wife, Phyllis, have a daughter, Christine, 4.

Whitesel teaches comparative foreign governments, introduction to public law, current legislation, and government and social welfare. He and his wife, Mary, have a son, "Thumper," 7, and a daughter, Ann, 2.

Paramount, ABC Merge, Adopt Combined Name

NEW YORK (AP) — A merger agreement was reached Wednesday between the American Broadcasting Co., big radio-television network, and United Paramount Theaters, Inc., which operates some 600 motion picture theaters throughout the nation.

The merger will be achieved by an exchange of stock. The new company will be known as "American Broadcasting — Paramount Theaters, Inc." ABC stockholders will receive approximately $25-million worth of stock in the merged firm.

5-Day Board
 They added that the boarding week will be reduced from seven to five days and maid service will be reduced by one day.

The increase for the non-boarding dormitories will amount to $1.18 a week, or about $40 for the school year. In the boarding dormitories, about 90 percent of the students, those occupying double or multiple rooms, will pay an increase of $1.98 a week for the five-day boarding-week, or $67.50 increase for the school year.

A limited number of students, those occupying single rooms, will pay an increase of $2.13 a week or $72.50 increase for the school year.

The rate for small cooperative houses in which students do their own housekeeping and cooking on a cooperative basis will be increased from $300 to $375 for both board and room for the entire school year.

Student dormitory leaders in March learned in a conference with Ambrose that dormitory rates would have to increase for fall, but that rates could not be set

President Hancher 10 Years at SUI

Hancher Begins 11th Year as President

Ten years ago today Virgil M. Hancher was formally inaugurated as president of SUI.

As the 13th regular president here, Hancher has guided SUI through four wartime years and six years of postwar adjustment.

During the postwar period enrollment mushroomed to a peak of nearly 11,000.

President Hancher was born on a farm near Rolfe and attended Rolfe schools. He studied at SUI and at Oxford university, England, as a Rhodes scholar.

He received the degree of juris doctor from SUI and then practiced law in Chicago for 16 years before being appointed SUI president.

World Situation at a Glance

MOSCOW — Informed sources say every Western diplomat in Moscow is convinced Russia will react promptly and energetically if Great Britain sends armed forces into Iran as result of the oil nationalization dispute.

WASHINGTON — President Truman is expected to ask congress today for about $8.5-billion to strengthen nearly 50 foreign countries against world Communism.

KOREAN FRONT — Allied troops turn enemy's East Korean breakthrough into a death trap and drive bloodstained Communist army back toward the 38th parallel all across the 120-mile front.

TEHRAN — Nationalization of the American controlled oil installations on the Bahrain islands in the Persian gulf demanded by Iran's leading Moslem critic, Seyyed Abolghassen Kashani.

PARIS — Allied air forces of General Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact army carry out first assignments in six-nation maneuvers testing Western Europe's air defenses. More than 500 planes from U.S., Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Denmark participate.

UNITED NATIONS — Stronger military measures against Red China plus diplomatic sanctions reported under active consideration by American delegation in the UN. British sources make it clear London would oppose such steps.

New Airforce Chiefs Ordered To Far East

(From the Wire Services)
 WASHINGTON — Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, airforce chief of staff, announced Wednesday night the appointment of Lt. Gen. O. P. Weyland to be commanding general of the Far East airforces, succeeding Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, who suffered a heart attack last weekend.

Vandenberg also announced that Lt. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, who has been commanding general of the Fifth airforce in the Far East, will become commanding general of the air research and development command at Wright-Patterson air base, Dayton, Ohio.

Vandenberg said Maj. Gen. Frank E. Everest, now assistant deputy chief of staff for operations, will succeed Partridge as commander of the Fifth airforce in Japan.

General Weyland, the new Far East air chief, was vice-commander for operations under General Stratemeyer.

The airforce did not mention any reassignment for General Stratemeyer.

Weyland and Everest are scheduled to leave for the Far East this weekend.

Vandenberg, commenting on the reassignments, said he deeply regretted the illness which made it impossible for Stratemeyer to continue in command of the Far East airforces.

Stratemeyer has sided with some of the views advocated by Gen. Douglas MacArthur for stronger measures against Communist China, notably on bombing Red China.

However, an airforce spokesman declared this had "absolutely nothing to do" with the shift. He said the sole reason for sending a replacement for Stratemeyer was that he was too ill to carry on.

As for Partridge, the spokesman said the sole reason for his reassignment is that his vast experience in strategic and tactical air operations is needed in the post to which he is being assigned — commander of the air research and development command.

Reciprocal Trade Extension Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate Wednesday passed, 72 to 2, a bill to extend the reciprocal trade program for two years.

The legislation carries new provisions to protect American producers from sharp foreign competition.

The bill now goes to a house-senate conference to work out differences with the house-approved version. The house agreed to extend the program for three years, as requested by the President.

The trade program, in effect since 1943, permits the President to cut U.S. tariffs as much as 50 percent on goods from countries that agree to cut their tariffs similarly on American goods.

Air ROTC To Offer Pre-Flight Sequence

The airforce branch of SUI's ROTC detachment will offer a new sequence, flight operations, starting in September.

Col. George A. Bosch, professor of air science and tactics, said he received word this week to begin planning for the new program.

Bosch said the new sequence will prepare men for flight training after graduation. It will be offered only to juniors and seniors on the advanced level.

Bosch pointed out that the program as it is now set up will give students only the academic training for flight school. He added, however, that the airforce has asked congress for permission to offer some actual flight experience as part of the program.

Bosch said SUI's program will probably be open to about 60 juniors and the same number of seniors each year. It will be a two year course.

The new sequence will give the air ROTC three sequences: administration, comptrollership and flight operations.

Students desiring to enter the new program will have to pass a rigid physical examination.

416 to Take Deferment Tests at SUI Saturday

A total of 416 students have been assigned to take the selective service college qualification test here Saturday morning, the SUI examination service reported Wednesday.

Candidates who are to take the test should report to room 114 University hall at 8:30 a.m.

Robert L. Ebel, director of the university examination service, said Wednesday.

The test will last three hours and will begin shortly after 8:30.

Ebel said students will be directed to rooms in four SUI buildings where the tests will be administered.

SUI is one of 14 Iowa colleges designated as centers to administer the test May 26, June 16 and June 30. Local draft boards throughout the nation have been authorized to defer 500,000 college students this year on the basis of test scores and their academic rankings.

'Rigorous Control'
 To insure that tests from all over the nation can be considered equal tests of college students' ability to do college work, Ebel said the test will be administered under "rigorously controlled conditions."

He said seating procedures have been worked out in detail and each candidate's answer sheet will be identified with his thumb print.

Ebel said there will be two proctors assigned to small rooms and three in larger rooms where the test is given. Each room also will have a test administrator.

Sample Questions Available
 He said the only preparation he would recommend for the deferment test is that students read over the bulletin of information given them when they obtained application forms from the local draft board.

These bulletins are still available in the selective service office on the second floor of the Johnson county courthouse.

Students can familiarize themselves with the types of questions which will be used in the test by referring to the sample questions in the bulletin.

The test will be administered according to the following regulations:

1. Applicants should bring tickets of admission for that testing date and for the SUI testing center.

2. Scores will be based on the number of questions answered correctly in the test.

3. Each examinee should bring to the test his selective service notice of identification (SSS form No. 391) or notice of classification (SSS form No. 110).

4. Examinees should not bring textbooks, notes or other aids to the examination room. If he is found with them during the test, he will not be allowed to continue. No score will be reported for him.

5. Scratch paper will be provided with the tests.

6. A No. 2 pencil or a pen should be brought to the examination center by each applicant.

7. If an applicant is caught cheating in the test his paper will be taken from him and his local draft board will be notified.

8. No notes or materials relating to the test may be taken from the examination room. Violation will be considered the same as cheating.

9. Anyone who breaks the seal on the test will be considered as having taken the test. He cannot request cancellation or nonreporting of his score.

Allied Tanks Chase Enemy Toward 38th

(Daily War Map, Page 2)

(From the Wire Services)
 TOKYO (THURSDAY) — The Chinese Reds retreated all across the 125-mile warfront today under hot pursuit of attacking Allied tank columns.

Tanks in the west rumbled up to within shelling distance of Communist North Korea across the 38th parallel.

Only Six Days
 Bled by losses of 70,000 or more, the Reds ceased attacks everywhere and withdrew from the debacle of their second spring offensive. It had lasted only six days.

A field dispatch today from the U.S. Second division sector — the point where the Reds had hit hardest — quoted dazed Red prisoners as saying they were "amazed at how quickly the Allies struck back."

A U.S. Eighth army spokesman said the Reds showed no signs they would stop at the 38th parallel, the old political boundary for North and South Korea.

"They might go up across the parallel and wait for us to come to them," he said, "but it is impossible to tell what the Chinese are going to do."

One of the most spectacular developments was in the eastern sector where a few days ago a Chinese breakthrough threatened the entire Allied line. American troops plugged the gap and attacked isolated enemy units which battled desperately for survival.

Under Own Weight
 The Chinese spring offensive collapsed under the weight of an estimated 150,000 casualties suffered in a month's time. The first round of their supreme effort cost them 70,000 dead and wounded, the second round an estimated 80,000.

Jubilant Eighth army officers said the Chinese had suffered a major defeat. Some even predicted the Reds would not again try a major thrust into South Korea.

The Red supply line failed under the ferocious pounding of Allied planes, they said, and Chinese captured in widely scattered areas of the front told the same story.

Publications Board Approves New Staffs

The board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc. Wednesday approved appointments for The Daily Iowan editorial staff, which will take office June 1.

The staff, submitted by editor-elect Ira Schneiderman, A4, New York City, included: Managing editor, Chuck Leedham, G, Springfield; news editor, Fred Felton, A3, DeKalb, Ill.; and Frank Slattery, A4, Des Moines; city editor, Marvin Braverman, A2, Iowa City.

Assistant city editor, Gene Rafenfensperger, A3, Iowa City; sports editor, Jack Squire, A3, Brooklyn, N. Y.; society editor, Jean Sharda, G, Iowa City; chief photographer, John Durniak, G, Yonkers, N.Y.; and wirephoto technician, Bill Holmes, A3, Cedar Rapids.

The business staff, submitted by Rex Weitzel, A4, Tama, new business manager, and approved by the board:

Assistant business manager, James Somerville, G, Fairfield; national advertising manager, Richard Hummel, A4, Sioux City; classified manager, Robert Ames, G, Wichita, Kan.

The board adopted the operating budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, including The Daily Iowan, Hawkeye and Frivol.

Under Its New Budget, the board voted to place Frivol on a newsstand and campus per issue sale basis, separating it from the student fee program. This action is subject to approval by the university administration.

The board also awarded a three-year contract to the Kingsport Press, Kingsport, Tenn., for production of covers for Hawk-eye, the SUI yearbook. The Kingsport Press has produced Hawk-eye covers for several years.

Dorm Rates To Go Up $40-$75 in Fall

Student board and room rates in SUI dormitories will be increased from 10 to 25 percent after Sept. 1.

The increase is the first rate change for the dormitories since the fall of 1948, Fred W. Ambrose, SUI business manager, and T. M. Rehder, director of dormitories and dining services, said Wednesday.

5-Day Board
 They added that the boarding week will be reduced from seven to five days and maid service will be reduced by one day.

The increase for the non-boarding dormitories will amount to $1.18 a week, or about $40 for the school year. In the boarding dormitories, about 90 percent of the students, those occupying double or multiple rooms, will pay an increase of $1.98 a week for the five-day boarding-week, or $67.50 increase for the school year.

A limited number of students, those occupying single rooms, will pay an increase of $2.13 a week or $72.50 increase for the school year.

The rate for small cooperative houses in which students do their own housekeeping and cooking on a cooperative basis will be increased from $300 to $375 for both board and room for the entire school year.

Student dormitory leaders in March learned in a conference with Ambrose that dormitory rates would have to increase for fall, but that rates could not be set until wages, work-week and trends in food costs should stabilize or become more predictable.

The wage and work-week questions recently have stabilized with the announcement of wage increases and the establishment of the 40-hour work week in the general university. The dormitory system is self-liquidating by law and receives no tax funds for its support, but its wage policies are the same as those of the university.

In the past few months, investigation has revealed more information about federal price controls as they may affect food cost trends, Ambrose explained.

5-Day Maid Service
 "The five-day boarding week and the reduction of maid service by one day are at least partial answers to the increases that we must pay," Ambrose explained to student dormitory leaders this week. "In addition," he pointed out, "the five-day boarding week gives greater consideration to the many students who travel to their homes or eat away from the campus on weekends."

Ambrose presented student leaders with two sets of rates, one based on the five-day board week and the other on a seven-day board week with services continuing as at present. The students tended to favor the five-day boarding week, Ambrose indicated, in preference to paying the higher rates which would be necessary if seven-day service were continued.

Students remaining in dormitories will have other food service available in the dormitories on Saturdays and Sundays in the Quadrangle grill and cafeteria. Hillcrest coffee shop, Currier hall, grill and the Iowa Union cafeteria. These food service units will be open for service on weekends, Rehder said.

Married Students
 Also included in the increases in rates for student housing announced Wednesday are the temporary accommodations for married students. The increases will amount to $5 a month in the temporary apartment and married student cooperative, $2.50 a month in standard trailer units and $3 in expandable trailers. The increases will be effective on leases signed after Aug. 1 of this year.

Leases have already been signed by most married students now occupying temporary housing who are intending to stay next year. The increases will not apply to these leases. Leases signed after Aug. 1 by new tenants will include the increase. The same facts pertain to staff members assigned to the temporary housing units, officials said.

The new rates on a school year basis will be:

For More Traffic Jams —

One of the more pleasant sights this spring in Iowa City has been that of the construction workers repairing many of the asphalt streets which have long been in need of repair.

Work on some of the streets started last fall and was finished this month with the application of a hard topping. Other streets have been ripped up and a new base and top applied.

Badly torn portions of Jefferson, Madison and Dubuque streets have been repaired and the Iowa avenue bridge was given a new surface.

But in repairing these particular streets, the poor condition of many of Iowa City's brick-paved streets has become more apparent.

Even the newest cars with the best springs bounce and jar over College street between Capitol and Linn streets. Capitol street from Burlington to Washington is another pain to Iowa City motorists.

Burlington street between Madison street and Riverside drive looks more like a training course for army jeep drivers than a U.S. highway.

The condition of Burlington street gets worse every spring when the freeze leaves the ground and the bricks are forced up to form "blisters."

One of the better brick streets, Grand avenue, also is going bad on us this spring. Small ridges have developed in the street and just this week an area about three feet square was washed out, leaving a gaping hole in the south lane.

We hope the citizens will be patient with the traffic jams encounter now as the result of streets being blocked off for repair work. It's a small price to pay for the improvements.

As a matter of fact, we'd like to see some more traffic jams — as the result of BRICK streets being blocked off for repairs.

Votes: Musical and Political —

It is now seven days, not to noon, but to the close of the poll to find out what SU1's favorites are in bands, vocalists, and last year's most popular records. Keep those votes on post cards rolling in—if you don't vote, your favorites may not get a chance. (Catastrophe!)

Just think of your favorite and say "That's the One for Me," which is the name of Frankie Laine and Jo Stafford's new Columbia disc. It's full of rhythm and, like the other side, "Pretty Eyed Baby," is sure to be found on most juke boxes in a very short while. Paul Weston's Orchestra and Carl Fischer at the piano help out a great deal.

Whether it turns out to be SU1's favorite or not, "Tennessee Waltz" is rumored to be the biggest musical landslide in the history of popular music. About 4-million recordings of it were sold, over half of which were the Patti Page version. Patti seems to be getting the majority of the votes for girl singers I've received; all I can say is, "Doris Day lovers of the world, Unite!" Patti is making so much money these days she can soon stop singing those duets with herself and hire someone else to do it.

Billboard magazine has an interesting chart this week that is compiled just before press time and lists the five favorite records and the three best-selling albums in the 14 largest cities in the nation. If you struck off General MacArthur, Mario Lanza and Patti Page, there wouldn't be anything left.

If the Republicans could get Mac to run for president and Mario for veep, they'd capture the country with no trouble at all. Particularly if they got Les Paul and Mary Ford to come along and play "How High the Moon" while they were campaigning. It's not as ridiculous as it sounds — music is an important feature in politics. How do you think the Trumans got into the White House?

Then if Rodgers and Hammerstein could be secured to write the campaign songs, the deal would be cinched. Though the show opened two years ago, "South Pacific" has remained on the best-selling album lists since it was first issued. It is now being nosed off the list — by Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The King and I."

If the commotion of finals, graduation, river-banking, etc., is getting you down, why not take six minutes to listen to two of the most relaxing sides in months. It's Artie Shaw's Gramercy Five backing June Hutton who sings "Dancing on the Ceiling" and "My Kind of Love." They're soft and smooth — and soothing as a silver-tongued

Ames Firm Claims Airforce Refused Lowest Contract Bid

WASHINGTON (P) — An Iowa firm Wednesday told the senate small business committee that it failed to get an airforce contract although its bid was far under that of four others.

J.P. Lawlor, president of General Filter company, Ames, said his first bid was $348,591 last fall for manufacturing 195 mobile demineralizers. He said this was $61,251 under the $409,842 bid by the Refinite corporation of Ralston, Neb. The highest bid was $676,200 by a Los Angeles firm.

The airforce rejected all bids and awarded a contract on a negotiated basis to the Refinite corporation.

Lawlor was told that his firm did not get the contract because it did not possess adequate testing equipment, its capacity was not deemed adequate, and the bid was excessively low.

John V. McGuire, buyer for the airforce at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, told the committee that, after the bids had been opened, he told Lawlor that "barring unforeseen circumstances" his bid would be approved.

Chairman Sparkman (D- Ala.) asked Lawlor, "You know that the airforce has reached a decision and error was made in your case?"

Lawlor said he had never been informed of that, except that a week ago an airforce officer asked if he was interested in bidding again on some additional demineralizers.

DiSalle Offers Proof that Plan Is Necessary

WASHINGTON (P) — Price Chief Michael V. DiSalle offered Wednesday to produce proof that the new 10 percent rollback in live cattle prices was needed to end a "squeeze" on packers and other middlemen.

He told the house agriculture committee, which reopened its investigation of the beef price rollback, that he will bring in the packers' own profit and loss figures to back up his order.

DiSalle also said he does not know whether the recent 9-cent hourly wage increase granted packinghouse workers will force an increase in retail meat prices.

He said the packers have not yet asked for price increases, and if they do, "we will make a study and the decision at that time."

He promised to begin at once a nationwide survey of butcher shops to check reports that they are having trouble getting beef because of the new cattle price rollback.

Support from Truman
Freshman Sen. Blair Moody (D-Mich.) visited President Truman meantime and reported the chief executive will "stand firm" behind DiSalle and the beef price rollback — aimed at cutting retail prices of beef 8 to 10 cents a pound by Oct. 7.

"If we don't hold the line," Moody said, "we may destroy our economy."

This tallied with warnings by CIO spokesmen that failure to hold down meat prices — a key item in the cost of living — will mean an end to wage ceilings.

The labor department's latest cost of living index, published Wednesday, showed a rise of one-tenth of one percent in the month ending April 15 with beef, veal and fish prices continuing to climb. The rise means another 3-cent hourly pay raise for 1-million CIO auto workers.

Moody said he pointed out to the President that wages have risen 10 percent since January 1950, while beef prices have gone up 52 percent.

Senator Suggests Use Of Atomic Shells In Korean Conflict

WASHINGTON (P) — Rep. Weston Brooks (D-La.) said Wednesday the United States has perfected atomic artillery shells and should use them against the Chinese Red armies in Korea.

He was the first responsible official to say on the record that the atomic energy commission has succeeded in its long-secret effort to develop an atomic weapon small enough to be fired from an artillery piece.

Brooks is a ranking member of the house armed services committee. While he himself did not attend the Eniwetok tests, the committee did have an observer there — Rep. F. Edward Hebert, a Democrat from Brooks' home state of Louisiana.

The atomic energy commission refused to comment on Brooks' statement.

The armed forces have long desired atomic weapons which could be used "factually" against enemy armies in the field.

The original A-bombs were purely a "strategic" weapon, usable only to blast cities, because they were so large they could be delivered only by heavy bombers.

It was considered impossible to drop such A-bombs with sufficient accuracy to use them on the battlefield, since they might have harmed U.S. troops as much or more than the enemy.

Then there were the not so subtle implications that the Russians people are kind and the officials considerate and efficient. And the fantastic stories about large modern universities, office and apartment buildings, avenues of trees, price decreases and cleaning and painting activities. Just what sort of mentality does the writer think we have? Anyway, haven't the Russians heard of the atomic bomb? Any sensible people

Just Propaganda . . .

TO THE EDITOR:
I wish to take exception to Eddie Gilmore's column appearing Wednesday entitled, "American Finds Moscow Concerned with 'Football'."

It is obvious from the editor's note indicating that it was subject to Soviet censorship and from its content that it is just some more Russian propaganda.

Things may look greener and brighter in Moscow to Gilmore, but I doubt if they do to those poor unlightened Russian people. Imagine people "making extensive plans for summer vacations" when it is well known they are all slaves and practically all exiled in Siberia. Imagine "a keen interest in next year's Olympic games" or their burning interest in football, as though they could possibly comprehend these great American and Western activities. What the Russians do! Just to emulate the Americans! Next thing they will be claiming to have invented football.

The writer says that there seems to be no war scare there. Well, they may not be worried about another war, but by George, we are. If they want to sit around waiting for war to come without preparing for it properly, they can just take the consequences. Thank God we Americans have more foresight and vision and know an inevitable war when we see one. How intelligent our statesmen are to prevent that sort of apathy from developing over here.

Then there were the not so subtle implications that the Russians people are kind and the officials considerate and efficient. And the fantastic stories about large modern universities, office and apartment buildings, avenues of trees, price decreases and cleaning and painting activities. Just what sort of mentality does the writer think we have? Anyway, haven't the Russians heard of the atomic bomb? Any sensible people

No Good . . .

TO THE EDITOR:
How many SU1 students would want to waste a year of their short lives in a universal military training program? Very, very few! I doubt if even Mr. Dunlap, who advocated UMT in a letter last Tuesday, would like to spend a year listening to a first sergeant sound off about army life! And could UMT be relied upon to prevent a third world war? I doubt it! Although Russia had a UMT program in effect in 1939, it didn't stop Hitler and his hordes from attacking the Soviet Union. UMT also tends to lead a state into a feeling of military aggressiveness. The United States has never been a military state, and, at least according to its present mode of thought, never intends to become a militaristic nation.

And what about the question of the cost and efficiency of UMT? It has been estimated that UMT would cost our country $3 - to - 5-billion annually, whereas we spend only $3.5-billion a year on our school system. UMT trained men would still need a refresher course if they were recalled in these days of rapidly advancing technology. Another question raised by UMT is where could enough men be found to train about a million 18-year-olds a year? And if UMT were instigated, this nation would sink into a feeling of security and contentment. War to a UMT America would be nothing more than a big parade. Perhaps there is enough thought in this letter to make those who advocate UMT realize that no good could ever come out of such a program.

'Good Thing' . . .

TO THE EDITOR:
I am very glad to see that there is still a good chance that universal military training will be attached to the new draft bill. Not only I think UMT is justified, I think it the only practical way for the United States to be prepared.

UMT is a "good thing" from many aspects. One of them is the preparedness angle. History has shown very plainly what has happened to the U.S. due to unpreparedness. UMT will not qualify men as trained technicians and soldiers ready for the battlefield, but it will give them the basic discipline and training needed so that we can give them their special training without bother with basic, therefore stepping up our mobilization.

One of the main arguments against UMT is that it takes young men right after high school, at the peak of their learning capacity. This is true, but I think this also a good idea. Many high school graduates come to the university with almost no idea of what they want to specialize in. They feel they have to choose something and so hastily make a decision they might later regret. If they are put through UMT for two years they have more time to mature and to think over just how they do want to run their life. It gives them a chance to really study their ambitions and make sure that some aren't just pipe dreams.

Another argument against UMT is the lowering of moral standards for the youth of America made to join the army. If anything, this is less true than any other statement. It is the idle boy or girl who gets into trouble and the army sees to it that you aren't idle for long. For spare time the army has many recreational activities open to the soldiers on the bases and it is only the young men who would do it anywhere who get into trouble.

There are several other good points for UMT, but these are perhaps the most important. If America intends to stand up to its enemies without being caught short-handed again, then UMT should be put into effect at once.

It's About Time . . .

TO THE EDITOR:
I noticed an article in The Daily Iowan on Senator Taft's speech he made on Monday evening. He warned that if Britain sends troops to Iran to protect her oil fields, Russia "almost certainly" will move in and touch off the danger of a third world war. I believe that Senator Taft does not recognize the failure of the United States in Middle Eastern affairs.

Thus, Iran has been added to the list of global "hot spots." Since the dispute began between Britain and the Iranian government, the U.S. has done nothing to prevent or control the trouble. This is partly due to the shortsighted view of the U.S.

This failure of the U.S. state department is a part of its larger failure to devise a policy for the Middle East. In fact, the West has all but lost a key strategic position in Iran. Until a few months ago, Iran would have been willing to become a part of the Middle Eastern defense system if the U.S. had sponsored it; but two weeks ago, the Iranian parliament flatly refused the mere suggestion of U.S. aid.

Iran is now open to Russian aggression. In fact, the U.S. intelligence has reported the massing of Russian troops along the northern Iranian border. Russia wants those oil fields, and would probably take them up if the right chance came along.

What happened in Iran may happen tomorrow in Iraq, Syria or Egypt; yet the U.S. has no plan or ready means to prevent this. It's about time the state department took decisive action in the question of Middle and Far Eastern policy!

Easier Tax Rates Seen for Low Brackets

WASHINGTON (P) — House tax writers voted Wednesday to give lower-income earners a better break in the new tax bill, but to impose still higher levies on big incomes and corporations.

The house ways and means committee, changing a previous decision, agreed to increase every taxpayer's present tax bill by 12 1/2 percent a year — what it called "a defense tax" — to help pay for rearmament costs.

Effect of the shift will be to save money for all single persons earning up to $8,000 in net income and all married persons earning up to $15,000. Annual savings will run from $1 to $29 a family.

On the other hand, persons in the upper income brackets will pay anywhere from $23 a year more to as much as $32,000 extra for those in the $500,000-a-year bracket.

At the same time the committee, over angry Republican protest, voted to increase the excess profits tax on corporations another $730-million a year.

The shift in the income tax plan is not expected to cause significant changes in the estimated $2.9-billion revenue increase from the previous plan.

Allies Advance on Entire Front

A U.S. tank force (2) retook Hanrye as Reds retreated across the Pukhan and Choyang rivers. Seven Crewmen Die as Giant Plane Crashes

(From the Wire Services)
NEW LISBON, IND. — A giant airforce cargo plane with 12 men aboard crashed in flames Wednesday killing seven. Five injured men scrambled out, ripping off their fiery clothing.

The plane, a new type C-124 "Globemaster II" on a test flight, tried to make an emergency landing in a newly planted cornfield. It flicked the top of a pine tree, smashed into a huge beech, and flopped on its belly. A sheet of fire shot out and towered 100 feet high.

One of the five survivors who staggered out of the flaming wreckage was the pilot, Capt. John M. Christenson, 30, Long Island, N.Y. He and four companions, badly hurt, were taken to a hospital at New Castle, five miles away.

The Henry county hospital at New Castle and an airforce spokesman identified the pilot as Christenson and said the other survivors were Capt. William G. Snell, 27, co-pilot, Jonesville, Ky.; Master Sgt. Jack R. Sowers, 36, Fairborn, Ohio; Master Sgt. Cassius Zedaker, 35, Fairfield, Ohio; and James Stelyon, 30, of Dayton, Ohio, a civilian. They suffered severe burns and other injuries.

Summer Speech Clinic To Attract 75 Youths

About 75 handicapped elementary and high school students from throughout Iowa are expected to attend the summer speech clinic at SUI June 24 to Aug. 3, Dorothy Drakesmith Craven, clinic supervisor, announced Wednesday.

The six-week clinic will deal with problems in stuttering, cleft palate speech, functional articulatory defects, hearing and cerebral palsy, Mrs. Craven said.

She explained that therapy will consist of both individual attention and group work. Each handicapped youngster will get a minimum of one hour's attention each day from a student clinician under the direction of the speech clinic staff.

In addition to individual therapy, the youngsters will be divided according to their respective handicaps for group work directed by graduate assistants and student clinicians.

While offering assistance to the boys and girls attending it, the speech clinic is established to provide a practical training ground for SUI students who will one day work in the field of the speech handicapped.

Recreational programs, planned in cooperation with the physical education department, will include swimming, picnics, hiking and various games.

Older boys and girls will be housed in SUI's dormitory facilities while those under seven will live in foster homes with Iowa City families. Clinicians will be on duty at the various dormitories to help the youngsters in their practice periods.

Mrs. Craven pointed out that not all youngsters with such handicaps are eligible for the clinic. First, they must be referred to the clinic by a doctor, educational supervisor or social organization.

Applicants are then screened by means of psychological tests and speech evaluation examinations to determine if they will benefit from therapy.

200,000 to Be Planted — Today Is 'Petunia' Day

— In Iowa City

Iowa City's second annual "Petunia Planting day" activities will begin at 9 this morning.

Mrs. G. E. Grunewald, co-chairman of the project, Wednesday said Iowa Citizens are expected to plant about 200,000 petunia plants during the day.

Approximately 100,000 plants were set out a year ago. As a result the Iowa City Woman's club was awarded a $500 second prize in a national Better Homes and Gardens contest for sponsoring the petunia beautification project.

The Iowa City Woman's club will sponsor this year's planting and will be assisted by several groups, including the chamber of commerce, businessmen, and city workers.

Petunias will be planted on the ends of center boulevards along four blocks of East Washington street. Plants will be set out along the south edge of the city's parking lot on East Washington street between Gilbert and Van Buren streets.

Petunias also will be planted at the Mary Coudren home, the Johnson county social welfare building and the Rock Island depot.

Brownie Girl Scouts will plant petunias at city park. Mrs. Grunewald said that petunias should be planted 10 to 12 inches apart. She suggested that the plants be pinched off after they have reached a height of about a foot so that the plants will spread out. She also suggested that, for a colorful flower bed, a few geraniums may be mixed with the petunias.

Mrs. Grunewald said entry blanks will be available soon at the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company for a petunia judging contest scheduled for July. There will be classifications for organizations and for homes in the contest. Cash prizes will be awarded.

Cards Drop Braves, Giants Nip Chicago

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gill Hodges hit his 14th home run of the season to lead the Brooklyn Dodgers in a 15-hit attack which swamped the Pittsburgh Pirates 11-4 Wednesday night at Forbes Field.

Hodges' first blow in the first inning with two aboard gave Pitcher Don Newcombe a three-run bulge and enabled him to coast the rest of the way for his fourth victory against two losses.

Pirate Wally Westlake homered in the fourth for his 13th of the year, one behind Hodges.

The Pirates relied in the bottom of the ninth when three hits and two Brooklyn errors yielded two runs. Eddie Fitzgerald grounded into a double play to end the flurry.

Iowa Third In Big Ten Tennis

Bruce Higley Upsets Top Seeded Player

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

EVANSTON, ILL. — Michigan and Michigan State tied for the lead Wednesday in the opening of the Big Ten conference tennis championship on the Northwestern courts.

Both notched six points and were followed closely by Iowa with 5-1/2. Northwestern's defending champions managed only three.

Favored Michigan State was handed two unexpected setbacks. John Sahatian, top-seeded in the No. 4 singles bracket, bowed to Iowa's Bruce Higley, 6-2, 6-4. Higley and Mike Trueblood then teamed to upset the MSC No. 2 doubles team of Wallace Kay and Dave Mills, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Otherwise all seeded players won handily. Michigan advanced four men to the singles semi-finals today while Michigan State had five. But the Wolverines had all three doubles teams intact, and MSC had only two.

Semi-finals in singles will be played this morning, with quarter-finals and semi-finals in doubles following in the afternoon. All finals will be played Friday.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Outfielder Sam Jethroe of Boston lost a costly fly ball in the sun Wednesday and the St. Louis Cardinals took it from there to score a 6-5 victory over the Braves.

The Red Bird break came in the fourth inning, with St. Louis trailing 3-0. There were two out and runners on first and third when Nippy Jones lifted an easy fly to center.

Jethroe had his hands up as if he were ready for a routine catch. But he lost the ball in the sunlight, and it struck him in the stomach and dropped to the ground.

Willie Turnesa Loses In British Amateur

PORTHAWL, WALES (AP) — Six American Walker Cup players swept into the fourth round of the British amateur golf championship Wednesday, but they lost Captain Willie Turnesa.

Still going strong were Bill Campbell, Sam Urzetta, Jim McHale, Charlie Coe, Dick Chapman and Frank Stranahan, the defending champion.

Bo Winger, a newcomer to big time golf from Pleasantville, N.J., completed the American contingent in the round of 32.

Turnesa, in trouble all the way, bowed to David Reid, a 19-year-old Scottish club clerk, on a stymie on the 20th hole.

Stranahan won 4 and 2 over his fellow Walker Cupper Bob Knowles.

Red Sox Shutout Lowly Browns, 12-0

BOSTON (AP) — Lefty Mel Parnell had a perfect day at bat, three singles and a double, while pitching the Boston Red Sox to a 12-0 shutout over the lowly St. Louis Browns Wednesday with a four-hit performance.

Iowa Will Compete in Big Ten Track Preliminaries Today

Iowa's 10-man team will compete today in the track and field preliminaries of the Big Ten championship meet at Dyche stadium in Evanston, Ill.

Finals will be run off Friday starting at 6 p.m.

The Hawks will enter ten events and may score as many as 22 points. If they can avoid some of the bad breaks which ruined their conference indoor chases they may be able to gain two or three firsts.

Speedster Gary Scott should be good for a second in the 440 and a title is not beyond him if he moves as he has on several occasions. Scott may also take a fourth in the 220.

Len Sykes, with a 100-yard dash mark of :09.8 so far this year, could possibly be in there with a third or fourth.

Dean Duell should be up with the leaders in the low hurdles. He was second last year, but his times have not yet been especially fast this year.

In the high jump, Jack Weik looks like a good bet for a first or second. Weik's jump of 6 feet 1/4 inch made last week against Indiana, is as high as any conference jumper has gone this year.

If Chuck Darling can get the shot over 50 feet again he may be able to pick up two or three points. Chuck posted one toss over 50 feet against Purdue.

Sophomore Bob Henard rounds out the field events entrants, and may be good for a third place in the broad jump.

Iowa's mile relay team composed of Scott, Sykes, Ed Moore and Craig Harper could possibly take a fifth. Last week they ran EVANSTON, ILL. (AP) — Three records will be threatened in the 51st Big Ten outdoor track and field meet today and Friday as Illinois and Michigan feud for the team crown.

Illinois' Don Laz is heavily backed to hoist a new pole vault mark after soaring to 15-1/4 in a triangular meet this season with Southern California and Michigan. This was nearly one foot above the conference's 14-year record of 14 feet 2 1/2 inches by Bob Cassells of Chicago.

Another ancient record that may be doomed is the 4:10.8 mile booked by Indiana's Don Lash in 1936. Don McEwen of Michigan and Len Truex of Ohio State have bettered this time.

McEwen will shoot for another record in defending his two-mile crown. Twice in his career, the stocky, methodical runner has topped the 9:10.4 mark set by Wisconsin's Walt Mehl in 1938.

Matching these individual attempts in interest is the looming battle for team honors between the Illinois and Michigan in their parade to dethrone Indiana as outdoor king.

Reds Blast Konstanty, Down Phillies, 4-3

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati hopped all over Jim Konstanty in the tenth inning Wednesday to defeat Philadelphia, 4-3.

The victory, behind the somewhat spotty pitching of Willard Ramsdell, ended a four-game losing streak for the Reds.

Philadelphia held a two-run lead going into the sixth when Cincinnati tied it up.

Dick Sisler, hitting safely in his 13th consecutive game, rifled the ball over the left field fence in the tenth with two out to put his club in front again.

Fireman Konstanty then took over for the Veteran Ken Heintzelman, who gave way to a pinch batter in the ninth.

Al Lenski Named Athlete of Week

Al Lenski, the Iowa hurler who pitched shutout ball in his first college start to blank Wisconsin, 5-0, Wednesday was named Iowa's athlete of the week by the press and radio men of Iowa City.

Besides pitching a four-hit shut, the promising Hawkeye faced only 32 batters, gave up no walks, and never allowed a runner to get beyond second base.

On only two occasions did the batter get ahead of him at the plate.

"I guess I was the most surprised guy on the field when Coach Vogel told me to start," Lenski remarked. "I had no idea he was planning to use me until just a couple of minutes before the game began."

Sale of Video Rights May Save Renewal of Rose Bowl Pact

EVANSTON, ILL. (AP) — A potential $200,000 sale of 1952 Rose Bowl television rights may give new hope for continuing the Big Ten-Pacific coast conference football marriage.

At least, with such a melon, officials of both conferences will think twice before settling for divorce.

The Big Ten votes today on whether to renew the Rose Bowl pact for another three years after a rather shaky five-year trial of keeping the big New Year's day classic a family affair.

Big Ten athletic directors and faculty representatives gathering for the showdown ballot are split in their views. But hovering over the meetings is the prospect of a coast-to-coast video hook-up by next Rose Bowl time which would swell the revenue as much as $200,000 or more with a sponsored live telecast of the granddaddy of bowl games.

The Big Ten Rose Bowl representative seldom received more than $24,000 as its share while each other Big Ten member plus the commissioner's office received $12,000 apiece.

The total Big Ten take in the past, therefore, was something like $144,000 per game.

In the vote for renewal today, which needs a majority to pass and a tie for rejection, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan State and Ohio State are expected eventually to fall in line for continuance on a 1-in-3 basis.

Tiffin Farmer Loses $450 Damage Suit

A district court jury Tuesday evening found for the defendants in a $450 damage suit brought by Milton Edmonds, farmer near Tiffin.

The verdict was returned at about 7 p.m. after the 12 member jury had deliberated for two hours. They found that the Linn County Rural Electric Cooperative association and the Central Sand and Gravel company, Iowa City, were not responsible for the death of a cow owned by Edmonds.

Edmonds had asked $350 as the value of the cow and $100 for the nuisance caused by stench and decomposing animal which, Edmonds claimed, was not discovered until some time after its death.

The farmer claimed that the defendant companies were given permission to cut a tree on his land provided they put the limbs and brush in a gully. He said that in the process the cow was either pushed or fell into the gully where he found it dead.

Expect Canada to Spend Millions in Oil Search

REGINA, SASKATCHEWAN (AP)—J. H. Brockelban, resource minister, estimated Wednesday that more than $20-million will be spent on oil exploration and development in Saskatchewan this year.

He said he based his estimate on plans drawn up by more than 50 companies taking part in the province's oil boom. He said oil companies will stress exploration in the southeastern district of the province. This area is part of the Williston basin and includes land near Tioga, N.D., where oil was recently discovered.

Job Outlook Appears Bright For SUI's June Graduates

By BILL BAKER

SUI's graduating seniors are having little difficulty finding positions in a widening job market which features in many cases more jobs than applicants.

Prof. J. Wayne Deegan, director of personnel for the SUI college of engineering, reported that 100 percent of this year's engineering graduates are either placed in jobs or are considering several offers of employment.

This year's graduates have enjoyed greater job opportunities and higher starting salaries than those of several years past despite the record number of graduates of a year ago, he said.

Helen Barnes, director of the business and industrial placement office, said jobs which usually have been filled by men are being opened to women this year. Large corporations such as General Electric have many more job openings for women, she said.

Employers began interviewing seniors about a month earlier than usual this spring. Many employers are even interviewing men who are going into military service so that the company will have contract with these men after their return. Miss Barnes explained.

Salary offers for the job openings handled by the business and industrial placement office are higher in general, she said.

Elementary school teachers are still in heaviest demand. Miss Frances Camp, director of the educational placement office, said, with the demand for high school teachers still good. Social science and physical education teachers are in the least demand on the high school level.

Placement of teachers in colleges has been rather slow this spring because of the tendency for many colleges to reduce their staffs, Miss Camp said.

The school of journalism reported that for the first time in several years they have more jobs than men to fill them.

Non-veterans are having a little trouble securing jobs as many publishers are reluctant to hire men who may be called into service. John Davenport, assistant to the director of the school of journalism pointed out.

Jobs in both advertising and editorial journalism are offering about $5 per job more this year, Davenport said.

Most graduating pharmacy seniors either have accepted positions or are considering several openings. Most graduates are considering several openings. Most graduates are veterans so they will not be affected by being called into service unless they are in the reserves, the college reported.

Dean Mason Ladd, SUI law college, termed the job situation for graduating law seniors as being "generally pretty good" after they had taken the state bar exams. Starting salaries this year are "favorable," he said.

Record 128 ROTC Cadets To Receive Commissions

A record number of ROTC cadets, 128, will receive second lieutenant commissions in the airforce and army June 8.

The airforce will commission 70 cadets, while 28 will receive infantry or engineers' commissions. Thirty cadets will receive medical or dental commissions.

Twenty-five more army ROTC cadets will receive commissions July 27, after they attend a six-week summer camp.

Twelve airforce cadets have completed their ROTC work, but will not receive their commission until they complete four years or receive their B.A. degree at SUI.

Nearly all of the cadets receiving commissions will be on active duty by Sept. 30. About one-third will report in June and the same number in July.

Last year 44 men received commissions in the airforce and 68 army commissions were presented in June and July.

Summer Camp

A record number of army first year advanced cadets will attend six-week summer camps this summer.

The infantry branch will send 94 men to Camp McCoy, Wis., 48

engineers will go to Fort Lewis, Wash.; 9 medical students to Fort Bragg army hospital, N.C.; 40 medical and dental students to Fitzsimons army hospital, Denver, Colo.; 13 to Madigan army hospital, Tacoma, Wash., and 7 infantry students to military service camp, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Ten other infantry students have been assigned to five other camps.

Airforce juniors do not have to attend summer camp this year.

About 10 SUI military instructors are or will be assigned to summer camps. A skeleton staff will remain here and offices will be kept open, military officials said.

360 Cadets in Fall

About 165 airforce cadets and 195 army cadets will be enrolled in the first year advanced course next fall, officials said.

The army juniors will include about 95 infantry, 45 engineers, 30 dental and 25 medical students. The department pointed out that these figures were subject to quotas set up by 10th airforce and Fifth army headquarters, and are only estimates.

Prof. West Writing Volume for Survey

Prof. Ray B. West Jr., SUI English writers workshop, is writing one of six volumes in a mid-century survey of American literature.

West's book, "The Rise of Short Fiction in America; 1900-1950," will be published in the spring of 1952 by the Henry Regnery company, a Chicago firm which will publish all six volumes.

Other books in the series will deal with American drama, poetry, novels, criticism and non-fiction between 1900 and 1950.

West, editor of the Western Review, literary quarterly published at SUI, has published fiction and criticism in magazines and is the author of five books, including one written in collaboration with R. W. Stallman in 1949, "The Art of Modern Fiction."

Court Grants Divorce To Willa M. Slater

Willa M. Slater, 21, was granted a divorce in district court Wednesday from Stewart L. Slater, 23.

District Judge Harold D. Evans granted the divorce on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. His decree granted the plaintiff the right to resume her former name, Willa M. Livingston.

The couple was married in Coggan, June 14, 1949, and lived together until April 28, 1951. Harold Vesermark was attorney for the plaintiff.

Novelist Schulberg Once a Red But Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Novelist Budd Schulberg, author of the best seller "Disenchanted," said Wednesday he drifted into the Communist party in 1937 but quit two years later because the Reds tried to make his first book follow the party line.

Schulberg, who first became prominent with publication of "What Makes Sammy Run," also said the Communist switch in 1939 to "virtual alliance with Hitler" convinced him of their "intellectual dishonesty."

The 37-year-old writer testified before the house un-American activities committee. Screen writer Richard J. Collins had told the committee he knew Schulberg as a fellow party member who introduced him to communism.

Schulberg named 16 persons as members of his Communist study group or known to him to have been one-time Reds. They include five not previously identified as Communists during the current hearings.

PRICE CEILINGS — The government postponed until July 2 the deadline for machinery, cotton textiles and some 75,000 other manufacturers to put new dollars and cents price ceilings onto effect.

The ceilings were to have gone into effect Monday for makers of machinery, cotton textile mills and a vast area of products including radios, television sets, refrigerators, washing machines, furniture, many building materials, tires and other rubber products at the manufacturers' level.

WANTS LAWS TIGHTENED — The senate crime committee asked congress to tighten tax laws for gamblers and crack down on other ways on racketeers.

The committee offered four bills, all aimed at racketeers' pocketbooks, as a result of its month-long, sensational investigation of the underworld.

COST OF LIVING — The government's cost-of-living index came to nearly a dead stop in its upward spiral for the first time since the outbreak of the Korean war last June 25.

Food prices were lower for the first time since February, 1950.

However, the index had already risen enough since January to assure 1-million auto workers a three-cent hourly wage boost. The increase is tied to rise-and-fall "escalator clause" in the workers' contract based on the federal cost-of-living barometer.

FULBRIGHT CHARGES 'SMEAR' — Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), charged that persons "embarrassed" by his senate investigation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation have opened a behind-the-scenes campaign to smear him.

He said he believed — but was not certain — that former RFC director Walter Cosgriff and William E. Willett are among those circulating letters they believe will "discredit those who have conducted the investigation."

ASKS ATTORNEYS COOPERATION — Attorney General J. Howard McGrath asked the annual conference of U.S. attorneys to cooperate with the justice department in fighting the "many-tentacled octopus" of organized crime.

GIVE 'ER THE GAS

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — A prowler who broke into the Southside bakery here Tuesday night kicked open a gas valve and left it open when he departed with about $100 taken from the cash register.

Operators of the bakery, who returned to the establishment after attending a movie, smelled the gas and got the valve closed before any explosion occurred.
