Final Exam Effects: A Winner and Loser

A LOSER AND A WINNER of a final exam bet strolled across busy Washington st. in an aftermath of exam week, which ended for most SUI students Wednesday. Frank Rathke, G. Highland Falls, N. Y., (left) paid his consequence, after he received a lower grade than Chi-Hsueh, G. China, (right), in a course on the scientific basis for physical education. The wager, made just before exams began June 5, specified that the man with the lower grade would carry the course textbook on his head across Washington st. The spring semester officially ended at 6 p.m. Wednesday, but for many students, vacation will be short. Registration for second semester begins Monday, with classes opening at 7 a.m. next Wednesday.

Acheson Reveals MacArthur Asked 'Compromise' on China

Gen. Douglas MacArthur and two other U. S. military leaders suggested shortly after V-J day that the United States try to set up a "compromise" government in China that would include both Communists and Chinese Nationalists, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson read the senate MacArthur investigation committee the last paragraph of a top-secret cablegram sent to Washington by MacArthur, Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer and Adm. Raymond Spruance, a U. S. naval commander in the Pacific, on Dec. 7, 1945. It said: "It is suggested that the U. S. assistance to China, as outlined above, be made available as a basis for negotiation by the American ambassador to bring together and effect a compromise between the major opposing groups in order to promote a united democratic China."

7 Nazi War Criminals Hang For Atrocities

LANDSBERG, GERMANY (THURSDAY) (AP)—Seven German war criminals were hanged by the United States army early today for the murders of innocent thousands, it was officially announced.

The Nazi henchmen who carried out Hitler's policy of racial extermination were hanged behind the heavily guarded walls of Landsberg prison, the place where Hitler wrote much of "Mein Kampf."

Three generals, two colonels and two junior officers of the infamous SS elite guard dropped to their deaths after the last of a long series of mercy appeals was rejected last night by the U. S. Supreme court.

Those hanged were: SS Gen. Oswald Pohl, destroyer of the Warsaw ghetto and chief administrator of the Nazi concentration camp system which annihilated hundreds of thousands of Jews.

SS Gen. Otto Ohlendorf, who confessed that extermination units under his command slaughtered 90,000 civilians in the Soviet Union.

SS Gen. Erich Naumann, whose extermination force wiped out 3,530 Jews and gypsies on the central Russian front in less than a month.

SS Col. Werner Braune, who directed the massacre of "racial undesirables in the Crimea."

SS Col. Paul Blobel, responsible for the massacre of 60,000 including 33,000 Jews, in a two-day bloodbath at Kiev in Sept., 1941.

SS Lieut. Hans Schmidt, adjutant at Buchenwald when 5,000 victims died monthly in that concentration camp.

SS Sgt. Georg Schallermaier, roll call leader at Muehlendorf, a subsidiary of Dachau concentration camp, who personally beat inmates to death.

An American soldier acted as hangman. The seven were the last of 275 doomed by the U. S. war crimes tribunals of 1946-47.

Medical Convocation To Be Held Tonight; 1st in 50 Years

SUI's first medical convocation in 50 years will open the commencement activities for the college of medicine at 8 p.m. today in Macbride auditorium.

Dr. Mark F. Boyd, graduate of SUI in 1911 and nationally recognized authority on malaria and other parasitic diseases, will be the speaker. He will be introduced by Dr. Walter L. Biering, commissioner of the state department of health.

Dr. W. M. Fowler, chairman of the executive committee of the SUI college of medicine, will announce the awards and honors of the class of 86 seniors.

President Virgil M. Hancher will address the graduates and Dr. M. E. Barnes, head of hygiene and preventive medicine at the college of medicine will administer the traditional Oath of Hippocrates to the students.

Prof. Frederic G. Higbee, director of convocations, said members of the medical faculty and the senior class will attend the convocation in academic apparel.

Families and friends of the students are invited to attend the ceremony, Higbee added.

City Loses CAA Weather Post To Cedar Rapids

A Civil Aeronautics administration announcement this week that the CAA weather station at the Iowa City airport would be moved to the airport at Cedar Rapids was greeted with disappointment by airport commission officials here.

The CAA's decision to move the station to Cedar Rapids was contained in a letter to Mayor William Holland from Leonard W. Jurden, regional administrator at Kansas City.

One of the reasons the CAA gave for moving the station was that "facilities in Iowa City are not available for enlarging and modernizing the station."

Jurden's letter stated that the CAA will continue to serve the best interests of Iowa City and may place a station here again if they think the need is great enough.

George Frohwein, a member of the commission, called the CAA decision "very disappointing." Frohwein said officials from Cedar Rapids apparently put more pressure on the CAA at their Kansas City, Mo., office than Iowa City officials did.

"All the members of the Iowa City commission worked as a team to keep the station here," Frohwein said.

Frohwein said the removal of the weather station may put a crimp in proposed plans to fly patients to Iowa City to the new Veteran's administration hospital.

Commission member Graham Marshall, manager of the SUI fraternity business office, said he was not surprised by the CAA decision.

"We had hoped for the best all the time we were negotiating with the CAA," he said.

Commission chairman E. F. Lenthe said the CAA ruling was not much of a surprise to local officials but Iowa City businessmen and commission members had worked strongly in an effort to keep the station here.

Marshall said there is a possibility that a direct wire from the Cedar Rapids station may be placed to the Iowa City airport so that weather reports can be received here almost as quickly as before.

He said CAA officials told commission members the plan has worked elsewhere between cities of comparable distance as Iowa City and Cedar Rapids.

The CAA communications station here was established in September, 1941. A number of Iowa Citizens, including members of the airport commission, had made strong efforts the past year to stop the CAA action.

They have said that Iowa City has a higher flight potential than Cedar Rapids, despite the difference in population.

1-Million Auto Workers Get Pay Boost By Unanimous WSB Vote

'Probably Extend' Price Controls Says Senator Taft

1. Sen. Robert Taft (R-O), chairman of the senate GOP policy committee, said the 1950 defense production act governing all controls "probably" will be extended.

The act, which has been the center of bitter controversy in recent weeks, is scheduled to expire June 30 unless congress extends it.

Taft did not elaborate on his comment, made at a senate hearing, nor did he indicate how far he would be willing to go in granting President Truman's request for a two-year extension with broader powers to curb credit, prices and rents.

Both the senate and house banking committees are scheduled to wind up their long-drawn hearings on the issue this week.

2. Price Director Michael V. DiSalle's assurances against any beef shortages — arising from his recent rollback on livestock prices — bumped into a growing threat of just such conditions.

In Chicago, meat industry spokesmen predicted there may be a beef shortage in butcher shops by next week.

Major packers sharply reduced their slaughtering of beef cattle for the third day in a row, claiming they couldn't pay the high prices asked and comply with DiSalle's price ceilings.

The number of cattle sent to market in the nation's 12 major stockyards was also far below normal — 24,200 head Tuesday, compared with 41,500 two weeks ago.

3. New York, DiSalle said the administration's anti-inflation controls have virtually checked price rises.

"The brakes have really taken hold," he told the national association of purchasing agents.

DiSalle noted that the government's last cost-of-living index showed a rise of only one-tenth of one per cent — the lowest in a year — and said prices have remained relatively stable since February.

4. Dun and Bradstreet's weekly index of wholesale food prices marked the sharpest decline in eight months, dropping from $7.16 to $7.08 for 31 foods in general use.

Among contributing factors, consumer price resistance was noted.

A Sign of Things to Come?

BEEFLESS DAYS ARE AHEAD FOR MEAT PACKERS who say they can't pay the high prices asked and comply with price ceilings set by the office of price stabilization. Elarence Coan, worker at the Armour and company plant in the Chicago stock yards, removes the last carcass of beef from the cooler. Price Director Michael V. DiSalle told newsmen in Washington today that a national survey indicated there is a "comparatively good supply" of beef everywhere in the country.

He also said the wage board feels it is making good progress toward a new formula to replace the 10 per cent system.

The board's action apparently opened the door for other companies to agree to productivity pay increases giving them permission to jack up the ten per cent wage ceiling by two per cent.

"Any general policy the board adopts must approve this GM-type contract," Taylor told newsmen.

In appealing last month for permission to pay so-called "productivity" raises—granted on the basis of an increased plant production—GM admitted it would put workers well over the ten per cent wage ceiling. But the big auto maker promised that added labor costs would not be passed on to consumers.

However, Ford and Packard told the wage board that, although they wanted to pay the productivity increases, they would ask the office of price stabilization for price ceiling hikes.

Taylor, emphasizing the fact that the board voted unanimously on the auto workers' pay hikes, said contracts in that industry represent the "best kind of stabilization." If no price increase is involved.

"General motors and cases like it add up to their own stabilization program," Taylor said.

An OPS spokesman said a telephone check indicated that large independent and chain stores which are well-established with packers are not having much trouble getting top grades of beef.

Police said a jagged ten inch hole was ripped in the back of the ancient safe and the thief apparently reached through the hole and picked up the money.

Officers who investigated the robbery said they believe the safe was battered with a hammer and chisel until the thin metal covering on the outside was broken. A four inch thickness of fire clay under the metal was shattered with a hammer, they said, and another metal strip was broken to reach the inside.

Store officials were not able to say Wednesday exactly how much money was in the safe. They said a complete check of receipts from all the departments would have to be made before they would know.

Police believe entrance was gained through a window at the rear of the store. A screen on a window about 15 feet above the ground was broken and footprints were found under the window.

Final Instructions For Friday's Grads

Prof. Frederic G. Higbee, director of convocations, Wednesday issued the following instructions for SUI students graduating Friday:

1. Get your academic apparel before 5 p.m. today.

2. Report promptly for assembly of the procession at 9:10 a.m. Friday. Allow for congested traffic.

3. A marshal for each group knows what to do and when and where to march. Follow his leadership and directions from the platform.

4. Exit from the armory following the recessional is by the west door. Except for candidates in the recessional there will be no admittance to the armory during the recessional.

5. Instructions already mailed to you should be reread and followed.

New Flood Crest Approaching City

A new flood crest, moving down the Iowa river, is expected to reach Iowa City late today or Friday.

The Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research said Wednesday the crest would probably reach about 12 feet in Iowa City today, slightly below the level which would cause flooding on highway 218 north of Iowa City.

Communists Mass Artillery for 'Stand or Die' Defense

TOKYO (THURSDAY) (AP)—The Communists massed artillery for a "stand-or-die" defense of their Korean iron triangle today, as Allied spearheads drove within tank-gun range of the anchor base at Kumhwa.

Heavy field guns hurled more than 800 shells at the advancing allies Wednesday and today, setting a near record for Red artillery activity in the Korean war.

The Communists also were massing anti-tank guns and mortars on the approaches to the vital P'yongyang - Chorwon - Kumhwa triangle, apparently in preparation for a fight to the last.

The "incoming mail"—relatively light by allied standards—did not stop the relentless Allied advance, which appeared already to have broken through the main defense line south of Chorwon.

GI's caked with mud and sweat swarmed to the crest of 3,500-foot Mt. Kwangdok Wednesday seizing positions from which they could "look down the throat" of the stubborn defenders of the triangle.

Due south of Chorwon, Allied spearheads overpowered disorganized rearguards and burst through the last mountain line defending the city into a valley leading less than nine miles north to the vital base.

North and northwest of Hwachon, on the eastern approaches to the triangle, battered Communist infantry still were offering fierce resistance.

Strong Allied attacks could not wrangle one Red regiment, which was screening the evacuation of troops and supplies in the Yanggu-Inje area, some 20 miles east of Hwachon.

Britain May Alter Policy Toward Reds

LONDON (AP)—Britain Wednesday suspended efforts to admit Communist China to the United Nations and authoritative sources predicted a major change in the labor government's attitude toward the Peiping regime.

Officials admitted that Britain was losing patience with Red China's uncompromising stand in Far Eastern affairs and said that British support would end until Peiping has shown a tendency for settlement of the Korean conflict.

Meanwhile, consultations were said to have been initiated by Britain with the United States to work out machinery for a truce in Korea if and when Communist China manifests readiness for such talks.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the house of commons Wednesday that "in existing conditions" there was not much point in voting on whether Red China should be admitted to the world organization.

Commons also was told by Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell said.

Morrison made the point that Britain—which had recognized the Peiping government — still favors its eventual admission to the UN.

Nevertheless, a foreign office spokesman made it clear the British Delegate Sir Alan Burns was acting on instructions when he voted last night in the UN trusteeship council against a Soviet proposal to seat the Chinese Reds.

Meat Packers Continue Slaughter Cut Backs

CHICAGO (AP)—More meat packers over the nation halted or cut beef production Wednesday as cattle supplies dropped to a three-year low in a raging battle over federal price ceilings.

Some packing industry leaders charged that cattle appeared to be heading into the black market.

But government and labor officials disputed this and accused packers of using "technicalities" of the price ceilings order in an attempt to wreck controls.

Meanwhile farmers sent only 24,200 head of cattle to 12 major midwestern markets Wednesday. Receipts for the last three days totaled 96,700, the smallest salable supply since May 10-12 of 1948.

Prices held steady at most markets.

Armour and Wilson two of the "Big Four" meat packers, halted all beef production and were joined by other packers in scattered parts of the country. New curtailments were reported in Oklahoma City and Fort Worth.

Effect in Iowa . . .

DES MOINES (AP)—Some small Iowa stores are having difficulty obtaining supplies of beef, the Iowa office of price stabilization said Wednesday a spot check indicated.

An OPS spokesman said a telephone check indicated that large independent and chain stores which are well-established with packers are not having much trouble getting top grades of beef.

Police said a jagged ten inch hole was ripped in the back of the ancient safe and the thief apparently reached through the hole and picked up the money.

Officers who investigated the robbery said they believe the safe was battered with a hammer and chisel until the thin metal covering on the outside was broken. A four inch thickness of fire clay under the metal was shattered with a hammer, they said, and another metal strip was broken to reach the inside.

Store officials were not able to say Wednesday exactly how much money was in the safe. They said a complete check of receipts from all the departments would have to be made before they would know.

Police Report No New Leads on Towner's Theft

Iowa City police said Wednesday night they had uncovered no new leads in their investigation of the theft Tuesday night of an estimated $2,500 in cash from a safe in Towner's department store, 10 S. Clinton st.

Police said a jagged ten inch hole was ripped in the back of the ancient safe and the thief apparently reached through the hole and picked up the money.

Officers who investigated the robbery said they believe the safe was battered with a hammer and chisel until the thin metal covering on the outside was broken. A four inch thickness of fire clay under the metal was shattered with a hammer, they said, and another metal strip was broken to reach the inside.

Store officials were not able to say Wednesday exactly how much money was in the safe. They said a complete check of receipts from all the departments would have to be made before they would know.

Police believe entrance was gained through a window at the rear of the store. A screen on a window about 15 feet above the ground was broken and footprints were found under the window.

Detective Harland Sprinkle said Wednesday the thief may have entered the store during working hours Tuesday and hidden in the basement until everyone was gone.

The robbery was discovered by Charles Heidt, janitor at the store, when he opened the building Wednesday morning. Heidt told police a door chain was around the two inside handles of the front door making it impossible for him to get in.

A night watchman, Robert Sook, told police he found the rear door of the store unlocked about 11 p.m. Tuesday. He said when he checked inside the store he found nothing out of order and he locked the door.

Police said they believe the burglar may have been in the store when Sook came in.

The Towner store is only three doors north of two other Iowa City business establishments that had safes broken into in November.

Police said there is a possibility that the persons who broke safes in Kenny's Tavern and the Smoke Shop may be the same ones who robbed Towner's.

U.S., Britain Closing Gap On China View

The gap between British and American policy regarding China seems to be slowly closing. Without fanfare — apparently without even detailed instructions from London — the British have dropped their effort to secure Chinese Communist representation in the United Nations. Since she extended diplomatic recognition to Peiping, Britain has voted with Russia that the Communists should be given the place in the U. N. now held by the Nationalists. But at Tuesday's trusteeship council meeting Sir Alan Burns countered Russia's usual motion for ousting the Reds by siding with the U. S. British patience with Red tactics in Korea has worn thin, he said. Not that withdrawal of recognition is intended but, he implied, as long as Red China remains an aggressor, it will get no more positive support from Britain.

The statement came at an opportune moment for Secretary of State Dean Acheson, under fire in Washington for relying on agreement among U. N. members, rather than veto which the state department has criticized Russia for using in the matter of U. N. membership. Acheson said he could keep Peiping out without it, and the British action tends to support him.

Already Britain had withdrawn a suggestion that Formosa be given to the Red government as the de facto ruler of China in return for a Korean peace treaty. One of the great problems in both U. S. and British policy is the matter of trade between Japan and China on the one hand, and Hong Kong and China on the other. The U. S. has been trying to avoid upsetting the pattern of natural Japanese trade and thus ease the burden of her own responsibility for the occupied country's economic status. Hong Kong stands to wither without its mainland trade. The kinship of the two problems is an example of what makes complete Anglo-American agreement just as difficult as it makes it essential.

NLRB Ruling Set Aside by Court

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The U. S. court of appeals Tuesday set aside a national labor relations board order designating a bargaining agent for a Bettendorf, Ia., firm. The firm is the Bettendorf works of the J. I. Case Co., which was directed April 10, 1950, to recognize the united auto, aircraft and agricultural implement workers union (CIO) as exclusive bargaining agent. In a unanimous decision, the court of appeals held that the order was illegal and could not be enforced.

Crime Indicates Culprit Was Very 'Skinny Man'

MINOT, N. D. (AP) — Police had only one thing to guide them in their search for the thief who stole two cases of whiskey and 45 cartons of cigarettes from a local business place. He was skinny. To reach the loot, the culprit had to crawl through a window eight inches by 18 inches.

PAY RAISE GIVEN

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Some 51,000 employees of Southwestern Bell Telephone company, won pay raises in an agreement which was announced 20 minutes after a six-state strike was scheduled to begin.

U.S. Soldiers in Korea Relax Between Battle Tides

THINGS WERE MUCH QUIETER ON THE Korean front when these GI's were seen enjoying the springtime scene. Cpl. Otis Mercer, Ventura, Calif., is shown shielding himself from the sun with a large umbrella while watching for Communists along the Han river from the turret of his tank, attached to the 24th division. Meanwhile, Sgt. Lester Shields of Clinton, relaxed in a stream on the east-central front under the eyes of a Second division buddy relaxing in the jeep in the background.

American Bombers in England Geared to Strike Any Time

LONDON (UP) — U. S. air force officers said Wednesday the powerful American bombing groups in England are "geared to strike anywhere in Europe at any time."

They skirted mention of the atomic bomb, but the training of the American crews, who fly practice missions farther than the distance between England and Moscow, is directed at long-distance strikes.

The second invasion of England by American airmen has tripled the number of bombers and fighter escorts based in Britain before the outbreak of the Korean war. More than 20,000 airmen and 4,000 dependents are based at the five B-29 and B-50 fields. Reinforcements are on their way, and four additional air force bases are scheduled to be completed shortly. Other fields, still carried as top secret, will be opened "soon."

The British greet this "invasion" with mixed emotion. To some it gives a feeling of security, a feeling that the Americans are acting as a powerful air barrier against Russian aggression. A minority feel the increase in American air force strength means the Soviet union will strike first at England.

The crews are training under near wartime conditions in missions to Saudi Arabia or Accra and back nonstop in B-29 super-fortresses and B-50 atom bombers. The planes are scheduled to be replaced by the huge B-36 and B-45 jet bombers.

The training missions concentrate on radar bombing through heavy overcast and cloud formations and on new techniques of aerial refueling, which will enable a heavy bomber to take off from the United States, refuel here and continue on to its target.

American bombers began arriving originally under 90-day rotation policy, but Korea brought an end to the peace-time plan. The bombing force has tripled in the past year. A fighter-escort wing of F-84E jets has been added, and three battalions of anti-aircraft, four aviation engineering battalions, air-sea rescue groups and weather units have been brought into operation.

Headquarters for the bombers is the second bomb wing at Mildenhall, under the command of Brig. Gen. F. E. Glaentzberg.

The B-50's are based at Southorppe, Lakenheath, Mildenhall, Wyton and Basingbourne, bases of the U. S. Eighth air force of World War II. Fighters are at Manston, on the southeast coast. It is one of the largest air fields in the world, and it was a haven for countless crippled planes returning from flights over Germany during the last war.

The 31st fighter-escort group, formerly stationed at Albany, Ga., is based at Manston under the command of Col. David C. Schilling, who shot down 33 German planes during World War II.

Railroad Car Float Rams Excursion Boat

NEW YORK (AP) — A railroad car float rammed an excursion boat squarely amidships off the tip of Manhattan Island late Tuesday, injuring five women and shaking up 85 others.

The women, passengers on the 80-foot excursion vessel, Islander were thrown to the deck from camp chairs. Two passing tugs stretched portable ramps to the excursion boat, took the women off and brought them safely to shore.

3 Iowans Wounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Iowans were reported wounded in Korea in Tuesday's department of defense casualty list. They are: Army Sgt. Leslie J. Foley, son of Mrs. Mildred A. Moeller, Davonport; marine Cpl. Primo N. Campos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Campos, Des Moines; and marine Cpl. Orville L. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph L. Miller, Sioux City.

Eisenhower Warns Reds to Remember Lesson Taught Nazi's

OMAHA, BEACH, FRANCE (UP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said Wednesday Russia "will do well to remember" the lesson his invading armies taught the Nazis on this blood-stained beach seven years ago.

Eisenhower spoke at D-Day ceremonies at Sainte-Mere-Eglise, where Gen. Matthew Ridgway's 82nd and 101st airborne divisions touched off the invasion which freed France. "All aggressors will do well to remember that all the free world will rally right here again if the soil of France is threatened," Eisenhower said.

"The soil of France is sacred to all the freedom-loving world." The five-star general, who now commands the Atlantic pact armies, said the mobilization of forces in west Europe should be a warning to Russia and the Communist satellites against further aggression.

"Our great hope is to convince them in advance so that sacrifice by all the world will not be necessary again," he said. Eisenhower laid wreaths on monuments to the men of the 101st airborne and the tomb of the unknown soldier.

He passed the graves of such heroes of the Normandy invasion as Lt. Gen. Leslie MacNair, Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt and Brig. Gen. Nelson N. Walker. From the cemetery at Saint Laurent, he walked to the bluff overlooking the mast-strewn coast of the English channel where derelict ships of "Mulberry Harbour" still lie rusting after seven years.

Little Chance Seen For Price Reduction Of Canadian Paper

OTTAWA, ONT. (AP) — Defense Production Minister C. D. Howe indicated Wednesday there was little chance the latest increase in Canadian newspaper prices would be suspended, as requested by the United States.

Howe rejected a complaint by U. S. Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle that the hike violated an agreement between U. S. and Canadian officials. DiSalle charged in a letter to Canadian newspaper director Robert N. Fowler that U. S. officials had been given only 24 hours to study the new price increases.

"Mr. DiSalle's office was notified in accordance with the understanding we had had," Howe said. Howe would not comment directly on other charges in DiSalle's sharp letter to Fowler. "You can't please everybody," he said.

He said the price increases had been "permitted" by the federal government because of increased production costs. Other spokesmen for the trade and defense production departments voiced annoyance at DiSalle's request for a suspension of the new price.

DiSalle's implied charge that the "unilateral" action by Canada violated the principle of the joint defense effort was passed off by one government official as "oratory." "Canada has done all right in the defense effort at every turn," he said. One trade department official said Canadian pulp producers can sell the pulp which newsprint is made at a higher price than they can sell newspaper.

House Committee to Vote On $7-Billion Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house ways and means committee was summoned into session Wednesday to begin final voting on a proposed $7.1 billion tax increase. Members of the Democratic majority predicted no fundamental changes in the measure at the closed-door session nevertheless dozens of votes on individual items were anticipated, with ever-present chance of an upset.

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) said he would seek a second show-down on the excess profits tax issue affecting earnings of corporations. In a stormy session two weeks ago, the Democrats rode over Republican resistance and tentative voted to broaden the base for the excess profits levy. Simpson and a Republican colleague, Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York, complained that the Democrats had violated an agreement reached earlier this year to refrain from changing that tax until studies could be made of its impact on various concerns. An excess profits tax was in effect during World War II, but was allowed to lapse and was not revived until last year.

Another issue sure to be reopened is the committee's tentative decision to levy a 3 1/3 per cent tax on electric energy generated by municipal, state and federal plants and sold directly to consumers. The tax now applies to current sold by privately owned utilities. REA cooperatives would remain exempt.

Rep. J. M. Comes (D-Tex.) is a leader in the fight against this tax. San Antonio and Austin, Tex., among other cities, own their own power plants, he said. Plenty of complaints were coming from Nevada on the proposed gambling tax, but few from any other state, members reported. This tax would be 10 per cent on the gross receipts of bookmakers, lottery operators and wagering pools, whether their business is legal or not. Staff experts have been unable to estimate how much revenue could be expected from this levy. Residents of Nevada, where gambling is legal, have expressed fear it would deal a death blow to that enterprise and dry up a big source of state and local revenue.

A 12.5 per cent increase in everybody's income tax is reckoned to bring in an additional $2.9 billion. Corporate tax boosts were figured at $2.8 billion, and

Margaret Truman 'Amazed' in England

LONDON (AP) — Margaret Truman, gawked like any other American tourist from the terrace of Britain's 700-year-old parliament at the uproar of a session of the house of commons. Members of parliament, hanging out of windows as the President's daughter rode up in the American embassy's green Cadillac, also gawked at Miss Truman.

Her day started after she courted farewell to Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret and said goodbye to two friends of Princess Margaret, Capt. Mark Bonham-Carter and William Wallace. She had a few hours of sleep and rushed to the house of commons to watch the pomp and pageantry which opens every ordinary session of parliament.

It was Margaret's first real introduction to royalty and the traditional ceremonies of British life. Margaret stood almost unnoticed in a corner as Col. Clifton Brown, bewigged and dressed in flapping silken robes, led "the speaker's procession" which opened the business.

She registered surprise when debate over Scotland's lack of midwives and the declining lobster industry touched off an uproar among members. "They always picked out a man to sell to," he said. "My nephew was nicked for six bucks," volunteered Oakley.

Two Pilots Killed In Smash-Up of Jet 2-Plane Formation

DAYTON, O. (AP) — A jet fighter plane coming out of the clouds at 600 miles an hour smashed into a two-plane formation in the air near here Tuesday, killing two air force pilots and injuring a third. Officials at nearby Wright-Patterson air force base identified one of the dead pilots as first Lt. Robert P. Eckert, 27, formerly of San Francisco.

The other pilot was listed as Capt. Kenneth G. McKusky, 28, Hibbing, Minn. Lt. B. G. Hayes, 30, Cleveland, Ohio, pilot of one of the planes, bailed out and landed safely before his F-51 Mustang crashed on a farm 20-miles east of here. He suffered face cuts and his condition was described as good.

Lt. Hayes said Eckert was leading the two-plane formation in an F-82, with twin-Mustang fuselages, when the F-86 Sabre Jet "appeared out of nowhere." "The first thing I saw was a blur which I assumed was an airplane," Hayes said. He said his plane was "thrown about considerably" when the F-82 and the F-86 collided.

"Then my plane went into a tight spin," he continued. "I put my feet on the seat and pushed myself out. It was pretty hard because the plane was spinning rapidly. My chute opened shortly before I hit the ground."

Illinois City Bans Door-to-Door Selling

BELVIDERE, ILL. (AP) — Belvidere had the last word Wednesday on a group of fast-talking young women dressed in tight, low-necked dresses who invaded the town to sell magazine subscriptions. The city council directed corporation counsel Walter Oakley to draw up an ordinance against door-to-door salesmen.

The 10-man council acted after businessmen and other males said they were embarrassed by the way the girls button-holed them on the streets in a whirlwind subscription drive last week. Alderman George Heineman, himself a salesman, told how the pretty girls breezed through town, displaying their charms in revealing dresses and singling out the men as selling bait.

Heineman said there were about a dozen young women in the group and that some of them appeared to be in their late teens. "They always picked out a man to sell to," he said. "My nephew was nicked for six bucks," volunteered Oakley.

Going Home After Six Months in Reds' Hands

MIGHTY HAPPY GIS are these 15 men as they start for the long trip home from Korea after spending six months as prisoners of the Communists. They are part of a group of 16 marines and one soldier captured during the Chosin reservoir fighting. Forced to accompany their captors in the shifting tide of battle, they walked an estimated 800 miles before the Reds abandoned them in the face of heavy artillery fire from the United Nations forces.

Rising Drug Addiction Among Youths Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commissioner of narcotics H. J. Anslinger reported Wednesday he is convinced that most of the nation's youthful drug addicts are "of the hoodlum type and not school children." In his annual report to John W. Snyder, secretary of the treasury, Anslinger noted that 1950 showed "much the same picture" of rising drug addiction among youth as reported in 1949.

He failed on his last attempt—when the stone fell out—and was prosecuted and convicted. After being prepared for X-Ray, the addict would slip the stone in scar tissue on his back, in the exact position of a kidney stone.

But Anslinger said he decided most of the youthful offenders were hoodlums because many were found to have records for violations other than narcotics. He added that stiff prison sentences for convicted narcotics peddlers would help check the rising number of youthful addicts by removing the traffickers from illicit trade for a considerable length of time. This would act as a deterrent to others who might be considering the business, he said.

Anslinger also reported that addicts have "varied and sometimes novel and unique" methods of obtaining drugs. He cited a trick used by one addict to obtain drugs from physicians. The addict at one time had been operated on for a kidney ailment. In his efforts to obtain narcotics from a physician insisted upon taking an X-Ray, the addict would have concealed in his palm an ordinary small stone.

Explosions Rock Chemical Plant

STONY POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Wall-bucking explosions and fire ripped through a big chemical plant Tuesday. There were no immediate reports of serious injuries, but several persons were treated for flash burns. The explosions knocked out the north side of the metal-walled plant, which sprawls over a half acre of land, and turned other parts of the structure into hot, bulging ruins. The roof collapsed. Furious flames, fed by huge vats of chemicals, swept the building for more than three hours, as fire trucks and other equipment from a half dozen surrounding communities battled the blaze.

Thornton to Broadcast Friday's Commencement

PROFESSOR THORNTON

Almost as much a commencement tradition as caps and gowns is the broadcast of the SUI program by Prof. H. J. Thornton, history department.

Thornton's broadcast has been aired by WSUI for seven years and has brought a word picture to thousands of parents who have been unable to attend the program.

He will be at his usual position in the top balcony on the north side of the fieldhouse at 9:15 a.m. Friday to bring to the radio audience the story of the 1951 commencement.

Gives Background

On the program, Thornton describes the proceedings, audience reactions and human interest items about graduates. He also explains the meaning and background of the academic robes and ceremonies.

Even before his commencement broadcasts began, Thornton was no stranger to radio. For the past ten years, he has presented popular weekly lectures on American history over WSUI.

His commencement broadcasts have brought many favorable comments over the years, especially from parents and relatives of graduates who were unable to attend the exercises in person.

Comes Naturally

Broadcasting commencement comes naturally for Thornton. He has attended high school graduation exercises as a speaker for more than 25 years.

As he explains it, "I love to speak to my fellow Iowans and to watch young people achieve their ambitions. The broadcast is simply an extension of those ideals."

Thornton recalls his first broadcast of commencement when it was held at Iowa Memorial Union. He watched from behind a curtain in the union's soda shop and found that he was unable to see all the details. As a result, he often found himself talking to the radio audience at the same time that the master of ceremonies was talking to them through the stage microphone.

Lights Turned Out

On his speaking tour at high school commencements throughout the state, Thornton has had many unusual experiences. Once during the war, a practice air raid warning was held during his speech and all the lights were turned out. He continued his talk and all the audience remained in their seats.

He has been commencement speaker at the Iowa School for the Deaf at Council Bluffs and was highly impressed with the program. His speech was interpreted to the graduates by school officials in sign language, which did not lessen the effectiveness of the speech.

He has found in his speaking tours that people are fascinated by American history and like to hear about it in commencement talks.

George Collins Wins Sanxay Fellowship

George E. Collins, G. Collins, has been awarded the annual Sanxay fellowship prize of $500 for his work in graduate study at SUI.

Established in 1926 by an endowment gift of $15,000 from Theodore F. Sanxay, the prize is awarded each year to the graduate of the college of liberal arts who gives highest promise of achievement in graduate work.

Now working toward the doctor of philosophy in mathematics, Collins received his B.A. degree with highest distinction from SUI in February.

Collins graduated from Washington township high school, Minburn, in 1945, and served in the navy for two years.

Duke of Windsor Visits Ailing King George VI

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Windsor, who gave up the British crown to marry Mrs. Wallace Warfield Simpson, walked unobtrusively into Buckingham palace Wednesday to visit ailing King George VI.

There was high drama in the very fact of the meeting of the two brothers, but everyone underplayed the scene.

Court officials refused to discuss the Duke's visit.

U.S. Lawyers Drop Oil Anti-Trust Suit To Split Up Actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government dropped its 11-year-old "Mother Hubbard" anti-trust suit against the American Petroleum Institute and 225 oil companies Wednesday in favor of separate actions against fewer defendants.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath announced withdrawal of the mass suit, which had been pending in federal court here since 1940. It charged the defendants with monopolizing the oil industry from crude oil production through retail sale of finished products.

McGrath explained that the "Mother Hubbard" action — a tag hung on the suit by the industry — was too complicated for a single case. He said the justice department will try to smash allegedly monopolistic practices in the industry with suits involving fewer defendants and more limited issues.

One such action, against Standard Oil of California and Standard Stations, Inc., already has been decided in the government's favor by the supreme court. It ruled that exclusive dealers contracts between the oil company and its service station operators violated the anti-trust laws.

The Richfield Oil Corp. now is on trial in California court in a similar suit. Other cases are pending against seven major companies in Los Angeles and the Sun Oil Co., in Philadelphia. The latter action involves a majority of 10,000 service stations in 19 states.

U.S., Britain Settle Differences on Peace Treaty for Japanese

LONDON (AP) — John Foster Dulles and Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison Wednesday broke through the final barrier of Anglo-American differences standing in the way of a Japanese peace treaty.

President Truman's special representative and the foreign secretary "cleaned up the differences and misunderstandings in United States and British Far Eastern policies," sources close to Dulles announced.

They said Morrison appeared willing to call off his efforts to have the Communist China government represented at the final Japanese peace conference, which was the main dispute between Britain and America.

Morrison also made it clear that he is ready to revamp Britain's policy and bring it substantially in line with that of the United States, they said.

Dulles, according to the sources, said the foreign secretary's decision not only clears the way for a Japanese peace treaty but also will serve as a warning against further Communist aggression in the Far East.

Miss Wray To Be Scripps Graduate

Joanne Wray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Dalton Wray, 329 Ellis ave., will receive her B.A. degree from Scripps college, Claremont, Calif., Friday.

Miss Wray is a graduate of Iowa City high school. She majored in child psychology at Scripps and has served as her class' president and study body vice president.

She was a member of the Spanish, French and swim clubs and the Scripps Forum.

In 1948 she was chosen May Queen.

700 Attend Services For Drowned Family

WINTHROP, IOWA (AP) — About 700 persons jammed the high school auditorium here Wednesday for mass funeral services for six members of a family who drowned Sunday.

Mrs. Dorothy Postel, 28, sole survivor of the tragedy which took the lives of her husband, three sons, a mother-in-law and sister-in-law attended the funeral.

The six who drowned when their car plunged off a bridge into the Des Moines river near Oskaloosa were: Lyle Earl Postel, 28, of Waterloo; his mother, Mrs. Nami David Payne, 48; the children, Richard 8, James 5, and Stanley 1 1/2; and his sister, Mary Jean Postel, 16.

The family was starting a vacation trip when the accident happened.

The Rev. Robert Butler, pastor of the Winthrop Methodist church gave the funeral address. The auditorium was filled to capacity.

Sex Hormones Given to Chickens May Harm Humans

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientist urged congress Wednesday to stop injecting female sex hormones into male chickens because there is a possibility people who eat such fowl may become sterile.

Robert K. Enders, Swarthmore college zoology professor, also told a special house committee investigating chemicals in food that Canada has stopped the practice there.

An increasing number of poultrymen have adopted the practice of injecting hormone pellets under the skin of the heads of young male chickens so they will grow up with female characteristics.

Wallace F. Janssen of the food and drug administration said the agency "has not taken any action against the marketing of the pellets because the best available medical advice is that use of a 15 milligram pellet in the head of the bird would not render the chicken harmful to humans."

Fierce Competitor —

Graduation may be a happy event for most parties involved, but as far as the gentlemen of the coaching profession are concerned, they could just as well do without it, thank you.

The same is true for a lot of avid sports fans who wouldn't mind at all if the colleges raised their graduation requirements to something like 1,000 semester hours or maybe just a straight 10 year residence requirement.

Bob Bostwick
Never Stopped Trying

It's not that these people have anything against academic attainment or wish to impede progress, but it invariably happens that there's a generous sprinkling of athletes in every graduating class, and who likes to see athletes depart?

Certainly not the followers of college sports and most certainly not the coaches, especially the coaches in some of the more high pressure areas in the country like the south, where an athlete represents not only the proverbial bread and butter but a good hunk of meat and potatoes as well.

Whatever their particular motives may be, a good many people around the state of Iowa are going to miss some fine young men who have wound up their careers at Iowa and will be among the 1,500 or so who will receive their diplomas at commencement Friday.

All together there will be 30 lettermen and several non-letter winners in the group.

One of these graduating athletes is Bob Bostwick, a halfback in football. Unless you're a pretty avid follower of Iowa sports, chances are that name doesn't mean too much to you, for Bostwick could hardly be called a celebrity.

But ask the coaches or anyone else who've been close to the Iowa football scene these past few years about Bostwick and you'll get this answer — there have been bigger and better players than Bostwick but none who were fiercer or more prideful competitors.

Bob is one of those fellows whom the women fans always feel sorry for when they see him on a football field. And looking at his 5-foot 9 inch, 163 pound frame along side of the mammoth proportions of most of his teammates and opponents, you couldn't blame them.

Of course, there have been numerous small men who have been outstanding players — fellows like Buddy Young, Davey O'Brien and Ace Parker to mention a few. But all of them had a particular talent to make up for their lack of size. In Bostwick's case, he had neither size, speed, passing or kicking ability.

That was evident to the Hawkeye coaching staff when Bob first reported for freshman ball in the fall of 1947. He had previously played at Washington (Iowa) high school and on several service teams. Even then he was no stand-out and, as expected, he didn't cause any undue excitement in Big Ten circles.

In fact, in his first season on the varsity squad, the closest he got to game action was a seat on the players bench along the sidelines.

He kept at it with a "wonderful spirit" though, and by the latter part of the next season, was finally rewarded by starting the final game of the year against Notre Dame after seeing considerable action in the previous two contests.

Last season, Bob was again confined to the bench most of the time, but still continued to be one of the hardest, most conscientious workers on the team. His efforts weren't ignored either, for in the closing game against Miami, he was named co-captain and starting left halfback.

Perhaps it's unfair to say that Bostwick had no talent. Considering his size, he ran with a wonderful fury, and has bowled over many opposing linemen. Iowa players still like to recall how Bob hurled his 163 pounds at fellows like Nomenli and Clayton Tomme-maker in the Minnesota game two years ago.

"Bob wasn't gifted physically, and we couldn't use him as much as we would have liked to last year," said Coach Leonard Ruffenberger.

"But he never got discouraged and never stopped trying. You can't beat that kind of boy."

Pennsylvania Defies Ban On TV for Football Games

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The University of Pennsylvania Wednesday defied the National Collegiate athletic association ban on televising of college football games, and the possibility of a wide open break in college ranks appeared imminent.

Theoretically, such major Pennsylvania opponents as Army, Navy, Princeton, California, Wisconsin and Cornell would be required to cancel their football games in order to abide by NCAA rules.

Pennsylvania made known its position in a telegram from Franny Murray, director of athletics, to Dr. Hugh C. Willett of Southern California, president of the NCAA, which urged the calling of a special meeting to reconsider the problem.

"The University of Pennsylvania will cooperate in studying and reporting to the NCAA on the effects of television, but it will not combine in a ban on television and its alumni, friends, and the public its 11-year record of television, dividing the revenues equally with the other universities and colleges with which it plays," said the telegram.

Under the television program adopted as an experiment by the NCAA executive committee, all individual televising of college games would be stopped.

Instead one big national game or a series of important regional games — would be televised each Saturday, with certain areas "black-out" in order to study the effects of attendance.

Chicago collected three of its six hits off Conrado Marrero for a game-winning two-run spurge in the fourth inning, with Kretlow batting in the winning tally.

The defeat was Marrero's second against six victories.

Kretlow, who checked the Senators with single run scoring spurs in the fourth and fifth innings, retired 10 Washington batters in a row to close out his third starting assignment of the season.

After Nelson Fox's double and Al Zarilla's single produced the first Chicago run in the first inning, the White Sox belted Marrero for two more runs in the fourth.

With one out in the fourth, a walk to Zarilla and Jim Busby's single set up the scoring, which resulted in two runs. Chic Carrasquel singled to score Zarilla. Busby counted the second after Kretlow fled deep to Gil Coan, Washington left fielder.

Browns 5, Yanks 4
ST. LOUIS (AP) — A fumbled ball allowed Johnny Bero to score from second base to give the St. Louis Browns a last-minute 5-4 triumph over the New York Yankees Wednesday night. Two triples and a single, and an intentional walk set up the play. The Browns were trailing 4-2 going into the ninth.

Dale Long opened the Brownie ninth with a triple. Tom Ferrick relieved Joe Ostrowski on the mound and Freddie Marsh met him with a triple, bringing Long home. A single by Bero scored Marsh, tying the count.

Fred Sanford took over the pitching and pinchhitter Ned Garver sacrificed Bero to second. Sanford walked Jim Delsing. When Young grounded to Billy Martin, behind second, he flipped the ball to Phil Rizzuto. Delsing, racing for the bag, knocked the ball from Rizzuto's hands and Bero kept going to the plate with the winning run.

DETROIT (AP) — Third baseman George Kell's diving catch of a bases loaded line drive in the ninth inning stopped a Boston Red Sox rally and gave the Detroit Tigers a 6-4 win Wednesday.

The Red Sox, with the help of Vern Stephens' seventh home run of the year, had scored three runs and were in a position to tie up the game on a clean single. But with two out, Kell grabbed Lou Boudreau's liner as it soared past third base.

Lefthander Bob Cain gave up only six hits in eight innings and rapped out three himself to win his second game for Detroit against two losses.

Harry Taylor suffered his fourth loss against four wins when Dick Kryhoski broke up a one-to-one pitcher's duel in the eighth with a bases loaded double that scored two runs. Three more hits produced three more runs.

The Tigers won their fourth game in a row and handed the Sox their fifth loss in a row as Dom DiMaggio of Boston ran his consecutive hitting streak to 26 games. He singled once.

After Stephens homered in the ninth the Sox still trailed, 6-2.

The seventh-place A's pecked away at rookie righthander Bob Chakales for nine singles, four of them coming in the second inning to score three runs. A single by Pete Suder after two walks in the sixth brought home the other Philadelphia marker.

Iowa City high smothered New London, 22-2, in a baseball game at City high field Wednesday night.

Freshman, Junior Whittaker, hurled the first four innings for City high and was the winning pitcher. He was replaced by John Englert who allowed but one hit in the final three innings.

City high's biggest inning was the seventh when it tallied seven times.

The Little Hawks will play at Cedar Rapids Saturday night against Roosevelt.

Kretlow Hurls Four Hitter; Yankees Lose

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's win-happy White Sox, off on a new victory binge, chalked up their fifth consecutive win Wednesday by defeating the Washington Senators, 4-2, before 5,665 chilled spectators.

The triumph was the White Sox's 19th in their last 21 games.

Lou Kretlow, who did not win a single decision in 20 games pitched last season, held the Senators to four hits, to score his first victory of the season in three starts. His last American League victory was on July 7, 1949, as a Detroit Tiger.

Chicago collected three of its six hits off Conrado Marrero for a game-winning two-run spurge in the fourth inning, with Kretlow batting in the winning tally.

The defeat was Marrero's second against six victories.

Kretlow, who checked the Senators with single run scoring spurs in the fourth and fifth innings, retired 10 Washington batters in a row to close out his third starting assignment of the season.

After Nelson Fox's double and Al Zarilla's single produced the first Chicago run in the first inning, the White Sox belted Marrero for two more runs in the fourth.

With one out in the fourth, a walk to Zarilla and Jim Busby's single set up the scoring, which resulted in two runs. Chic Carrasquel singled to score Zarilla. Busby counted the second after Kretlow fled deep to Gil Coan, Washington left fielder.

Browns 5, Yanks 4
ST. LOUIS (AP) — A fumbled ball allowed Johnny Bero to score from second base to give the St. Louis Browns a last-minute 5-4 triumph over the New York Yankees Wednesday night. Two triples and a single, and an intentional walk set up the play. The Browns were trailing 4-2 going into the ninth.

Dale Long opened the Brownie ninth with a triple. Tom Ferrick relieved Joe Ostrowski on the mound and Freddie Marsh met him with a triple, bringing Long home. A single by Bero scored Marsh, tying the count.

Fred Sanford took over the pitching and pinchhitter Ned Garver sacrificed Bero to second. Sanford walked Jim Delsing. When Young grounded to Billy Martin, behind second, he flipped the ball to Phil Rizzuto. Delsing, racing for the bag, knocked the ball from Rizzuto's hands and Bero kept going to the plate with the winning run.

DETROIT (AP) — Third baseman George Kell's diving catch of a bases loaded line drive in the ninth inning stopped a Boston Red Sox rally and gave the Detroit Tigers a 6-4 win Wednesday.

The Red Sox, with the help of Vern Stephens' seventh home run of the year, had scored three runs and were in a position to tie up the game on a clean single. But with two out, Kell grabbed Lou Boudreau's liner as it soared past third base.

Lefthander Bob Cain gave up only six hits in eight innings and rapped out three himself to win his second game for Detroit against two losses.

Harry Taylor suffered his fourth loss against four wins when Dick Kryhoski broke up a one-to-one pitcher's duel in the eighth with a bases loaded double that scored two runs. Three more hits produced three more runs.

The Tigers won their fourth game in a row and handed the Sox their fifth loss in a row as Dom DiMaggio of Boston ran his consecutive hitting streak to 26 games. He singled once.

After Stephens homered in the ninth the Sox still trailed, 6-2.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics used the single against the long ball of the Cleveland Indians Wednesday night and beat the Tribe, 4-3. Two of the Tribe's runs off Alex Kellner, the winning hurler, were homers by outfielders Sam Chapman and Bob Kennedy.

The seventh-place A's pecked away at rookie righthander Bob Chakales for nine singles, four of them coming in the second inning to score three runs. A single by Pete Suder after two walks in the sixth brought home the other Philadelphia marker.

Chandler Turns in Resignation; No Action Taken on Meyer

NEW YORK (AP) — Albert B. (Happy) Chandler said Wednesday he had turned in his resignation as baseball commissioner pending acceptance of a self-provised severance contract for his protection.

Chandler said no date was specified for his resignation.

"I left the space blank," he said. "However, if we come to terms, my resignation will be sometime not too far off. I will fill in the date if, and when they sign it."

He indicated strongly he had another position in mind and would be out of baseball within two or three weeks, or just before the all-star game July 10. He did not say what the new position was.

The commissioner was confident the severance pact, which would indemnify him against financial responsibility for any damages assessed against organized baseball during the remaining year his contract has to run, will be approved.

Reason for Chandler's decision to retire was not given. His seven year contract does not expire until April 30, 1952. However in recent weeks there have been strong hints that the former Kentucky senator would finally step down.

The situation was brought to a head last March 12 when the club owners, for the second time in three months, voted not to renew his contract. As in December of 1950, Chandler could get only nine votes favoring his retention. Seven voted against him. He needed 12.

One of the law suits pending against Chandler is the Jack Corbett case. As owner of the El Paso club, Corbett signed three players from the Mexican league. He was ordered to release the players because of an agreement existing between the Mexican loop and the minor leagues, to respect each other's contracts.

Iowa finished second in team fielding and ninth in batting, official conference statistics revealed Wednesday.

The Hawks' .962 fielding mark was 16 points behind Illinois. The Iowa team batting mark was .234.

In the individual statistics, Iowa's Merlin Kurt was the league top fielding first baseman with a .1000 mark.

Hawkeye shortstop Tom Stenger tied a Big Ten record with eight assists in one game, against Minnesota May 11.

Iowa finished eighth in the Big Ten race.

Cardinals Protest Game; Reds Trim Giants, 5-4

BROOKLYN (AP) — Brooklyn's front-running Dodgers defeated St. Louis, 3-2, Wednesday but they will have to wait for a ruling from National League President Ford C. Frick to see if the triumph is official.

The contest was played under protest by the Cardinals from the seventh inning on when Charley Dressen, manager of the Dodgers, was found in a box seat behind the Dodger bench after having been ejected in the fifth frame.

Frick recently sent out a ruling that when a manager is ejected he cannot return to a press box or similar spot and continue running his team by remote control.

Dressen was given the heave because he objected to umpire Art Gore's call of a ball on Ralph Branca's offering to Peanuts Lowrey.

The triumph was Branca's third straight since the big righthander left the Dodger bullpen and resumed his status as a starter. He gave up seven hits but the Cardinals could score only in the sixth.

Country Slaughter opened the frame with a walk and was sent to second by Nippy Jones' single. After the next two men were retired, Slaughter scored on another single by Del Rice. Jones went to second on the play and hurried to third on a wild pitch. When Roy Campanella fired wildy to Billy Cox at third base, Jones scampered home.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants were all set to climb into second place in the National League again Wednesday but were forced to cancel their reservations at the last minute when the Cincinnati Reds fell on southpaw Montia Kennedy for three runs in the top of the ninth and carried off the decision, 5-4.

Grady Hatton, pinch hitting for pitcher Kent Peterson, slugged across the tying and winning runs of the rally which saw the Red-legs bat around.

Kennedy, victim of the outburst, had held the Reds hitless for the first six innings while the Giants, sparked by rookie Willie Mays' second home run, were piling up an apparently safe 4-1 margin at the expense of Willard Ramsdell.

Philis 9, Cubs 1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phils treated three Chicago Cub hurlers as batting practice pitchers to take a 9-1 victory Wednesday as Robin Roberts held the Cubs to three hits all by catcher Forrest Burgess.

The Phils blasted Robert Schultz, Cal McLish and Johnny Schmitz for 18 hits.

Burgess beat out an infield bouncer his first trip, singled sharply over second his second try and tripped and tallied the Cubs' only run in the seventh.

Wildness by Bob Schultz gave the Phils two runs in the first.

'84 Graduate Returns to Look Over '51 SUI

By JEAN SHARDA

One of SUI's oldest living graduates, ninety-year-old F. W. Clark of Babson Park, Fla., returned to Iowa City Wednesday to celebrate the 67th anniversary of his graduation from SUI's college of engineering.

But the now silver-haired member of the engineering class of 1884 never worked a day at his profession.

Clark accepted a job with a Des Moines paper, the Des Moines Homestead, following his graduation and stayed in newspapering for approximately the next 60 years.

Until he retired about 10 years ago, he "followed newspaper work all over North America." He said he wasn't a bit sorry he didn't ever get into engineering.

Formerly a Des Moines resident, Clark said he tries to come north every summer to keep in touch with Iowa, especially SUI.

Wednesday Clark spent his time calling on old friends and looking up the places where he used to live in Iowa City. The latter was quite a task, he said, especially since most of the places he knew as a student at SUI have been torn down.

Clark recalled that the literary societies' activities were big events on campus in those days. He said that some big names had come out of those student orators, including Norris Brown, later a Nebraska senator; Frank Lowden, Illinois senator and governor; and James Kerr, a prominent west coast lawyer.

The two branches of military service at SUI at the time, were the infantry and artillery, Clark recalled. Numbering less than 100 students, the unit went through its paces on the lawn of Old Capitol, he said.

"We used to dress in the same kind of cloth as Civil war soldiers," laughed Clark, who had been a member of the artillery. "We wore visor caps, similar to theirs."

Have things around SUI changed much since 1884?

"I can hardly believe there's been such a change," Clark smiled, only three buildings and never "When I was in school there were more than 700 students here. There were only 35 in my graduating class."

"The only things that are the same today," he sighed, "are the big trees on Old Capitol lawn."

(AP Wirephoto) AN SUI GRADUATE IN 1884, F. W. Clark has been in newspaper work for the last 60 years, although he studied engineering here more than 67 years ago. Back for the Commencement week end festivities, Clark stopped in at The Daily Iowan advertising department and had a chat with James Sommerville, G. Fairfield, Daily Iowan assistant business manager, on his round of visits.

13 Doctors to Present Papers at AMA Meeting

Thirteen members of the SUI college of medicine staff will present exhibits and papers at the annual convention of the American Medical Association in Atlantic City, N. J., Monday through Friday.

An exhibit on cancer of the prostate which won first prize last month at the American Urological association meeting in Chicago will be presented by members of the urology department. They will be Drs. R. H. Flocks, head of the department, R. G. Bunge, William Harness, Louis Prendergast and John Greenleaf, former member of the department now in private practice.

Drs. P. J. Leinfelder and Nicholas E. Douvas ophthalmology department, will exhibit a group of pictures of the interior of the eye showing changes which take place in brain tumor, inflammation of the optic nerve and high blood pressure.

An exhibit dealing with rehabilitation in otolaryngology will be presented by Drs. Dean M. Lierle, head of the department, William Olin Scott N. Rezer and Prof. Jacqueline Kcaster, of speech pathology department.

A paper dealing with the formation of cataracts associated with energy metabolism of the lens will be presented by Drs. Leinfelder and Gordon S. Christiansen.

Dr. Russell Meyers, chairman of the division of neurosurgery, will discuss a paper dealing with the surgical treatment of epilepsy.

Effect of Iowa Laws On Local Government Told by SUI Booklet

How local government is affected by laws passed in the 1951 Iowa legislature is described in a new booklet published Wednesday by the SUI institute of public affairs.

Copies of the book, "New Iowa Laws Affecting Local Government," are being mailed to county, city and town officials in the state.

Publication of the 32-page book is a cooperative project of the Institute and the League of Iowa Municipalities. The book consists of summaries of the laws affecting of local government passed by the 1951 Iowa legislature and is indexed for easy use by local officials.

Basic research and writing of the book were done by Justin C. Tallman, L3, Guthrie Center and Kenneth Keith, L3, Delhi, serving as institute of public affairs interns.

Officials who do not receive copies of the book may obtain them by writing to the institute of public affairs or to Max A. Conrad, secretary of the League of Iowa Municipalities, Burlington, Iowa.

U. of Minnesota Ordered to Stop 'Aid to Religion'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A Minneapolis lawyer, who said he is not anti-religious, got a court order Tuesday commanding the University of Minnesota to halt use of its facilities for religious activities or show cause why it will not.

District Court Judge Harold N. Rogers signed the order at the request of W. L. Sholes, a graduate of the university who has a daughter who is a student.

If the university refuses to comply, it must show cause at a hearing July 10.

Sholes, representing himself, said the order demands that the university enforce regulations prohibiting use of its facilities to aid "one religion, all religions, or preferring one religion over another."

He said there are more than 20 religious foundations actively operating on the campus and that their activities are operated by university authorities with the sanction of the regents.

The activities are co-ordinated by personnel paid by the university and new students are required to fill out a religious census card which is sent to one of the religious organizations, Sholes said.

He said the university is violating the state and federal constitutions.

While not an active member of any church, Sholes said he was not anti-religious and said he raised the issue only on constitutional grounds.

He said he refused last winter to represent Frank C. Hughes, atheist, in action against the university because Hughes was "anti-religious."

Sholes said he has support from persons willing to finance carrying the issue to the United States supreme court if necessary.

The attorney said he was interested in seeing religion handled at the university only on a "non-denominational basis." He suggested that the university set up a department of comparative religion which would present all religious and non-religious teachings objectively.

Engineer Explains Dam to Conference Members

THREE MEMBERS OF THE MIDWESTERN STATES FLOOD CONTROL conference listen to Lt. Col. G. A. Finley (right), district army engineer, Rock Island, Ill., explain the theory behind the Coralville flood control project. More than 50 delegates from 13 states met in Iowa City for a two-day conference which ended Wednesday. One of the purposes of the conference here was the study of the dam project which is located north of Iowa City. Members shown above are (left to right): Sidney Frelsen, director of the division of waters, Minnesota department of conservation; Dr. H. Garland Hershey, state geologist, and Col. B. C. Snow, division engineer, Upper Missouri Valley division, St. Louis. Elected president of the group for the coming year was Orville W. Chinn, Frankfort, Ky. He succeeds Dr. Hershey.

Police Fail in Try For Venison Steaks

DAVENPORT (AP)—Conservation Officer Charles Adamson blasted the hopes of four policemen for a venison dinner Wednesday and ordered a deer carcass turned over to the Annie Wittenmyer orphanage.

The deer was killed Tuesday in a leap from the roof of an industrial building. The four policemen were ordered to investigate.

They had a butcher dress the remains and stored the carcass in a locker plant.

When Adamson heard of it, he reminded the police all wild animals killed must be turned over to county or state institutions.

Adamson said the police were law violators, but he did not plan any prosecution.

New York Price Cutting Spreads to Food Items

NEW YORK (UP) — The big town's price war spread Wednesday to the section of the household budget most in need—the food basket.

The major department store antagonists cut prices of some food items and a spokesman for the New York retail food merchants association predicted widespread reductions. The spokesman said the time seemed "ripe" for the battle to spread to practically every corner grocery in town.

The price war also spread to other cities. In Louisville, one department store slashed prices as much as $19.29 on hundreds of "fair traded" items and another store manager said he would meet the challenge.

In Butte, Mont., the Pay-N-Save drug store advertised cuts ranging up to 25 per cent and reported sales jumped $1,000 over June 6 a year ago.

In Albuquerque, N. M., a week-long limited war between five drug stores spread to Edwards' department store when Mixmasters were trimmed from $46.50 to $35.50. "We're getting tired of selling two or three items a day. We'd rather sell them by the dozen," Manager E. R. Gleasner said.

In Denver, a furniture store announced an across-the-board cut of 20 per cent in all fair traded items. Two Denver supermarket chains announced food prices would be cut up to 50 per cent beginning this morning.

R. H. Macy and Co., which started the price war here, said it had cut the price of "one or two" food items that had been "fair traded" but refused to say which they were lest they "tell Gimbles."

Gimbles, which has been battling Macy's in keeping its vow that "nobody, but nobody," undersells them, listed to reporters of a swarm of comparative shoppers and announced reductions in five grocery items including sells 8 lb. canned trucey, formerly $12.95, now reduced to $11.79.

In Chicago, two clothing manufacturers said that price war bargains can't last. President Bertram Cahn of B. Kuppenheimer and Co., and Meyer Kes'nbauer, head of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, said once limited stocks of price cut clothing were exhausted, prices would rebound.

Johnston Stands By His 'Tough Policy' On Wage Increases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston held adamantly Wednesday to his "tough policy" to limit pay increases to about 10 per cent despite pressure from some wage stabilization board members to allow bigger salary hikes.

Johnston said after two meetings with the board that he had "strongly recommended" that increases be limited to 10 per cent—or the rise in the cost of living—above the Jan. 15, 1950 level.

He said he argued against using any other date as the base for figuring pay boosts. The board's public members want to junk the arbitrary date and use the percentage of increase in the cost of living since a worker's last increase as a yardstick for new hikes.

Johnston said this latter system would result in a "much higher formula." But some board members say this is not true, and might actually bring about a reduction.

In any case, workers would not be guaranteed increases. They would merely have the right to bargain for raises up to a set figure.

Johnston said he is working on a "we must hold the line" stabilization program and will fight for the Jan. 15, 1950 base "and no other date." He emphasized that his self-described "tough" policy covers prices as well as wages.

U.S. Asks Punishment For Reds Who Shot GI

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States demanded Wednesday that Russia punish two Soviet soldiers who "without provocation" shot and killed U. S. army Cpl. Paul J. Gresens, of Rochester, N. Y., in Vienna on May 4.

An American note delivered in Moscow also asked damages for Gresens' family and angrily accused the Soviet high commissioner in Austria of condoning "this crime." It said the commissioner refused to take part in a joint investigation.

Gresens was on duty as a military policeman in the international district of Vienna May 4 and helped challenge two Soviet soldiers who were behaving suspiciously. The United States rejected Soviet allegations that the Russians were attacked first.

"The Soviet high commissioner refused to participate in a joint investigation of the 11 witnesses who testified that the Soviet soldiers fired first," the note said.

Mary Burns Wins $3,950 Damages in Injury Suit

A $3,950 judgment has been awarded to Mary C. Burns, Iowa City in district court as a result of a auto-pedestrian accident March 23.

Miss Burns had asked $6,134.15 from W. E. Burkett, Washington county, and Edith Hiatt, Johnson county, for injuries she suffered when she was struck by a car while walking across Burlington St.

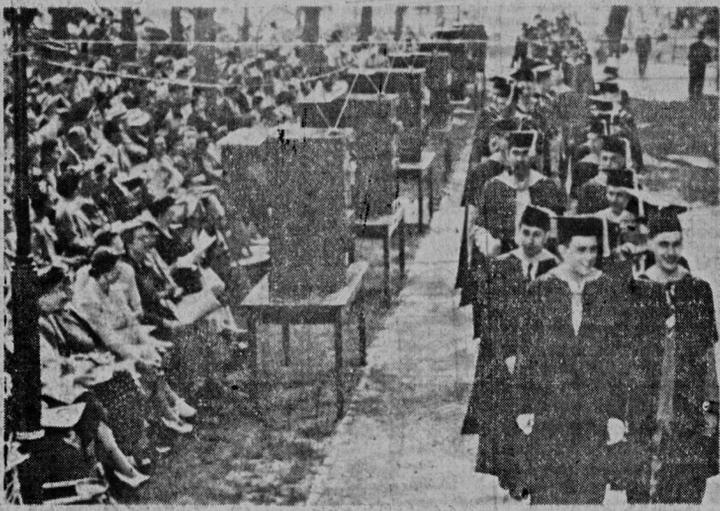

Miss Burns had charged that the car was driven by Burkett and owned by the other defendant.

Cohen Tells Off T-Man

VENTING HIS RIGHTEOUS ANGER, Mickey Cohen Wednesday gave Dan Goodkointz, internal revenue agent (left) a piece of his mind outside the courtroom in Los Angeles where Cohen is on trial on income tax evasion charges. Cohen saw Goodkointz talking to Luke Smith, a New York gambler and witness in the case, and rushed up to him saying, "You can't tell him what to say, You can't tell this witness how to testify." A bailiff stepped between them and told Cohen to return to the courtroom.

Commencement Goes Modern With TV

AN OVERFLOW CROWD at the commencement ceremonies at Washington University, St. Louis, had to watch the proceedings on TV sets placed on the campus. At the ceremonies, held in the field house, Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall spoke, drawing a crowd far above normal attendance.
