Truman To Take Controls Fight To Nation In Radio Broadcast

Cause of Eight Jet Crashes Still Undetermined

RICHMOND, IND. (AP) - Air force and FBI experts Saturday tried to determine whether sabotage, a thunderstorm, mechanical trouble, or human errors caused the nation's worst jet plane crash. Eight fast-flying F-84 thunderjets, racing at 500 miles an hour across the Indiana-Ohio border in a group of 71 jet planes, suddenly floundered and flopped to earth Friday from stormy skies.

WASHINGTON (UP) - President Truman has ordered an investigation of the powerful and mysterious "China Lobby" with a view to prosecution if it has spent money improperly to influence U. S. public opinion in favor of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, Secretary of State Dean Acheson disclosed Saturday.

Sen. Styles Bridges, (R-N. H.) reacted to the disclosure immediately by demanding the exposure of "all influences" by all foreign countries, Communist and anti-Communist, and predicted that a war would see "some people up for treason in our country."

The government's investigation presumably will be conducted by the justice department, the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency, with a special subcommittee of the senate foreign relations committee set up to help.

Bridges asserted the net should be thrown wide to catch any American official who might have aided Communism - an echo of Republican "reds in the government charges" - plus all the "friends or enemies" who have had loans and other U. S. aid.

Acheson's disclosure and Bridges' hot reaction came during Acheson's eighth session with the senate MacArthur investigating committee.

The alleged lobby, which backs Nationalist China, has operated here for years and its name has been linked with Alfred Kohlberg of New York, a shipper to and from China. It came up both Thursday and Friday in the committee's fiery quizzing of Acheson on Far Eastern policy.

Saturday, the secretary revealed, he had gone over all the material in his office on the question but found only second-hand "hearsay" evidence which "does not warrant charges." He said he also has taken it up with the president.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States asked the Russians Saturday to jack up their magazine salesmen so they will peddle Amerika, the elaborate U. S. propaganda magazine.

The Soviet government promised in 1944 to distribute 50,000 copies of the magazine monthly - but now they say it is a dull, lying publication that few people want to buy.

The Russian distribution agency, Soyuzpechat, has been returning about 25,000 copies of Amerika each month, claiming they could not be sold.

American officials don't believe that Amerika is a large, Russian-language publication that carries the most dazzling color pictures the Russians ever have seen.

During the last week, Pravda and the Literary Gazette both attacked Amerika for "lying" about the standard of living in the United States.

Prof. G. W. Stewart, physics department said Saturday the four-day meeting is designed to help physicists from liberal arts colleges interpret and understand recent developments in the field.

In addition to lectures, illustrations, conferences and general discussions, a portion of the meeting will be devoted to problems in the teaching of physics. One evening will be spent in an exhibit of new devices, made either for the laboratory or the lecture room.

Cash awards will be made for the best new teaching devices presented by the college physicists. Guest speakers will include Ross D. Spangler, E. I. du Pont de Nemours and company; Robert Adler, Zenith Radio corporation; and Prof. Willard H. Bennet, University of Arkansas, Albert S. Eisenstein, University of Missouri, E. A. Hiedemann, Michigan State College, and Theodore Jorgenson Jr., University of Nebraska.

Stewart points out that an illustration lecture Wednesday evening will be of interest to the general public. "Pictures from Norway and Sweden" will be presented by Prof. Leonard O. Olsen, Case Institute of Technology.

Lost Diplomats' Trail Leads from France to Rome

LONDON (AP) - Two AWOL British diplomats led master detectives and secret agents on a will-o'-the-wisp chase Saturday night in one of the greatest man-hunts in European history. The cold trail appeared to shift from France to Italy.

The day's only important news came in a foreign office disclosure that a cablegram concerning a "long Mediterranean holiday" of the Russian-speaking Guy Burgess was filed from Rome.

Roman police and customs officers of Italy - which has the largest Communist party outside Russia - quietly joined in the quest for Burgess and his companion, without results.

Fifteen thousand sleuths ferreted through Continental hide-outs, but no certain trace of either had been spotted since their trail went cold in Rennes, France, two weeks ago Saturday. Fears mounted here that the pair may have decamped or been spirited to the Communist East with British-American secrets.

Burgess is the 40-year-old bachelor and expert on Marxist lore recalled from his job as second secretary of the British embassy in Washington after he used his diplomatic immunity to get out of three jams for speeding in Virginia, Feb. 28.

Edgy as he awaited reassignment, he vanished 15 days ago with Donald D. MacLean, 38, scholar but debonair chief of the foreign office's American department. MacLean's American wife, the former Melinda Marling of New York, is expecting their third child shortly.

The foreign office spokesman, William Ridsdale, again emphasized that no secret documents are missing. He was denying reports published here that some secret papers on Atlantic defenses could not be found.

Chinese Resistance Stiffens to Defend Chorwon, Kumhwa

TOKYO (SUNDAY) (AP) - Red resistance has stiffened along the Korean battlefield the past 24 hours and an Eighth army spokesman said the foe showed "every indication" of fighting for Chorwon and Kumhwa.

Allied units pressed closer to the two vital road and rail hubs anchoring the "Iron Triangle" assembly area.

United Nations troops thrust close enough to Chorwon to see 3,000 Reds digging entrenchments. To the east, an Allied tank patrol reached within four miles of Kumhwa.

Earlier, field dispatches had said thousands of Chinese were abandoning the two cities. An Eighth army spokesman said today there was no sign of any widespread evacuation.

UN infantry clogged through muddy terrain for gains up to three and one half miles north-east of Yonchon. It is 13 miles southwest of Chorwon.

Marshall's Mission To China 'Diplomatic Blunder': MacArthur

WASHINGTON (AP) - Gen. Douglas MacArthur threw a fiery charge of "diplomatic blundering" in China at the administration Saturday as Secretary of State Dean Acheson ended eight days of testimony in defense of U.S. policies in the Far East.

The ousted general's accusations were aimed more at his one-time old soldier friend, Defense Secretary George C. Marshall, than at Acheson. But asked about them, Acheson replied curtly: "I haven't any desire to comment."

MacArthur asserted that Marshall's futile 1945-47 mission to China to try and patch up a coalition between the Chinese Communists and the Nationalists of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, was "one of the greatest blunders in American diplomatic history."

He said it was a "prevarication without color of factual support" to say he ever favored such a coalition - as was suggested on the basis of a 1945 message from him which Acheson read into the record.

He said that he meant just the opposite. This, he added, that American aid to China should be used to hold down the Communists and not to bludgeon Chiang into taking them into his government.

Acheson's windup Saturday ended 40 hours of direct testimony since June 1. Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said he may be recalled later.

SUI Union Serves As Alumni Hub

HUNDREDS OF ALUMNI flocked back to SUI this past weekend for the traditional annual reunions. Among the get-togethers were the Golden Jubilee dinner for the class of 1901; the Silver Jubilee for the class of 1926, and the Tenth Anniversary luncheon for 1941 graduates. Pictured here is the crowded lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union, which served as the hub of alumni activities this past weekend.

Russian Mission Forcibly Ejected from U.S. Zone

SALZBURG, AUSTRIA (UP) - Unarmed American soldiers forcibly escorted three members of a Soviet repatriation mission from the United States zone of Austria Saturday after the Russians refused to obey an eviction order.

The Russians, two officers and an enlisted man, locked themselves inside their Mercedes sedan in front of their hotel and refused to move. An American soldier grabbed a door handle, ripped open the door and dragged out the sergeant driver.

Three GI's then jumped into the Soviet car and drove it off to the border at the head of a convoy consisting of an American staff car, a United States truck that carried the Russians' baggage and several carloads of reporters and photographers. The Russians and their baggage were deposited unceremoniously at the border.

United States High Commissioner Walter Donnelly last week had ordered the Soviet mission to withdraw from the American zone because it had completed its work. All Russian displaced persons in western Austria who wanted to return to Russia had been given ample opportunity, Donnelly said.

Lt. Gen. Stafford Le Roy Irwin, United States commander in Austria, had set the deadline for the departure of the mission at Friday midnight. The deadline was extended until 10:30 a.m. Saturday when the Russians did not leave.

About 10 a.m. the Russians left their Salzburg hotel accompanied

5 SUI Students Win Fulbright Awards For Study Abroad

Five students and recent graduates of SUI have been awarded Fulbright scholarships for study abroad.

They are Janice Clark, Cedar Rapids; Elliott J. Elgart, Chelsea, Mass.; and Sam Fischer, New York City, all graduate students; Wesley V. Blomster, Wetonka, S. D., who graduated Friday with a bachelor of arts degree, and Milton Levey, Flint, Mich., who received a master of fine arts degree from SUI in 1950.

Fischer, another graduate assistant in art, will study painting at the Brera Academy of Fine Arts in Milan, Italy.

Graduated with high distinction this weekend, Blomster will study German at the University of Vienna, Austria. An assistant in the German phonetics laboratories and tutor in German drill classes here, he received the 1951 Charles Bundy Wilson memorial award for excellence in German language and literature.

Levy will study painting and printmaking in France at the school of fine arts, University of Paris.

Cheyenne Medicine Man Awaits Return Of Praying Braves

STURGIS, S. D. (AP) — An Indian medicine man waited at the foot of Bear Butte mountain near here Saturday for four braves to finish their prayers for peace and tell him of their "visions."

The braves — painted and clothed according to Indian religious traditions — ended the third day of their four-day fasting and praying for peace Saturday. They are praying for an end to the Korean war and are asking their God to spare the lives of American soldiers.

The last time the tribe held a similar ceremony was in 1945. Visions of the braves then were interpreted to mean an early end to World War II. That war ended three months later. Two of the braves making the prayers this time took part in the last ceremony, Albert Tallbull and Bert Twoomsns.

The braves will stay atop the mountain until Monday when they will return to the Cheyenne camp pitched at the foot of the mountain and tell Whistling Elk, 75-year-old tribal prophet, about their dreams and visions. Whistling Elk, venerated prophet of the tribe which lives on the Tongue River reservation in Montana, will interpret them.

The prayer ceremony dates back hundreds of years to the time when the tribe believes the "Great Spirit" gave four scarred arrows to Sweet Medicine, the first Cheyenne medicine man. That event is as important to Cheyenne religion as the delivery of the ten commandments is to the Christian religion.

Bear Butte mountain, which towers 1,200 feet in the Black Hills, is an important mountain to the Cheyenne religion. Even at their reservation home in Montana, the Cheyennes perform all prayers and religious ceremonies facing toward the Bear Butte.

About Time to Go Hunting?

TV's Long Range Freakish

NEW YORK (AP) — If you tune in a station 300 or even 1,200 miles away on your television set one of these nights, don't count on becoming a regular viewer.

You'll be getting images by "sporadic E" reflection or "tropospheric" bending of the signals, the result of freakish atmospheric conditions that are most frequent at this time of the year. There have been quite a few reports from over the country in recent days of reception at distances of a thousand miles or more.

Raymond Guy, allocations engineer of the National Broadcasting company, explains that those are two of the three conditions that reflect or bend video signals back to earth and bring long distance reception. Normally, the signals travel straight out into space, without following the earth's curvature, and a station has a 35 to 50-mile range.

The third condition occurs during sunspot cycles, every 11 years and results in British telecasts being picked up along the eastern seaboard of the United States, as happened in 1937 and 1948, and is due to happen again in 1959 or 1960.

Reports of extremely long distance TV reception have been unusually numerous recently, partly because there are now 13 million set owners, twice as many as a year ago and eight times as many as two years ago.

Signals from Mexico City have been picked up in several southwestern states, midwest viewers have been picking up stations along the east coast, and set owners in Mobile, Ala., have been tuning in St. Paul, Minn., and stations in New York state. Programs of Havana stations have been appearing on screens of sets in Miami, Fla.

But such performances are not particularly new or novel. Guy has letters showing that in June, 1949, NBC's KNBH in Los Angeles was picked up in Hobart, Norman, Tulsa and Ada, Okla., Pratt, Kan., and Fort Smith, Ark. In April the same year NBC's WNBW in Washington, D.C., was tuned in by viewers in Walters, Okla., and Pine Bluff, Ark.

The following month, WNBW was picked up in Fort Smith, Ark. (where KNBH on the opposite coast also had been tuned in); Redwood Falls, Minn., and Muscatine, Ia. In June of last year it was received as far away as Fremont, Neb., Miami, Fla., and Macon, Miss.

You're more apt to pick up stations at such distances with an extra-sensitive set and good antenna, but without the help of freak atmospherics it wouldn't be possible.

Both White Russians, Mrs. Olson and her mother fled from Siberia to China in 1934. Just before Pearl Harbor the daughter married U.S. army Lt. John Olson. He was taken prisoner in the Philippines, killed as a POW. She stayed in Shanghai. In 1949 she and her mother stopped in San Francisco en route to Brazil, and the mother suffered a heart attack. Butchers Report Buyers Spurn Meat Stampede

CHICAGO (UP) — Most Americans have refused to get stampeded by a threatened beef shortage, butchers across the country reported Saturday.

The butchers said prices are too high to permit hoarding. Still, supplies shrank as farmers and packers argued that price ceilings were unworkable. The American Meat Institute reported that 95 of the biggest beef packers dressed 76 per cent less cattle this week and that farmers shipped 31 per cent fewer animals to market.

But at the meat counters housewives checked the price tags and shook their heads. Some butchers said their customers were buying less, instead of more.

There was big demand for cheaper cuts, and hamburger sold well, but as one San Francisco butcher said, "we have trouble selling, not getting, some cuts of beef."

The only genuine scare buying was reported at Kansas City and Medina, Ohio, 40 miles southwest of Cleveland.

Some Kansas City butchers said they nearly were out of beef. One said he believed all his customers had their refrigerators full.

Scores of Cleveland residents were reported driving to Medina to make purchases of up to $200. There was no apparent explanation why customers should react differently at Kansas City and Cleveland.

At Omaha, which like Kansas City is surrounded by feed lots, there was no indication of scarce buying. The same was true at Dallas, Des Moines, Atlanta, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Milwaukee and San Francisco.

A Denver butcher said his customers were dubious of threats because "there's been so many scares the past few years." A Springfield, Ill., locker plant operator said the shortage "exists in newspapers only."

However, industry spokesmen said a shortage was inevitable. The National Association of Retail Meat and Food Dealers said it could be averted only if the government calls off its price ceiling policy. Government officials said this wouldn't be done.

Butchers say they can't get beef because the packers weren't dressing any. The packers say they can't buy any cattle because they can't find any for sale at ceiling prices.

Although scarce buying was slight, butchers told of heavy purchases earlier this week when packers announced they were closing their beef processing departments.

Meat market manager Edgar Cook of Indianapolis said woman telephoned him for a whole beef. He refused to sell.

It appeared that some people would have a hard time finding a place to store large quantities of beef if they did buy it. In some areas, food locker men said they didn't have any available space. Others reported the beef situation hadn't affected their business.

Record Shows Chiang Given U.S. 'Crackers'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine corps gave the Chinese Nationalists — among many other things — 1,200 firecrackers in 1947.

The Coal-To-Newcastle gift was revealed in a summary presented to the committee investigating Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal. It showed that the marines gave "firecrackers, M-11, .1200" to the Chinese, who invented them.

The summary was produced for the committee record by Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), who wanted to show that the supplies turned over to Chiang Kai-Shek included heavy artillery charges as well as small arms ammunition, and — as it developed — firecrackers.

Marshall's Visit to Korea Termed Militarily Important

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER (Associated Press News Analyst)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. George C. Marshall's recent flying trip to Korea indicated that highly important decisions on the future development of the Korean war probably are in the making.

The disavowal entered by the secretary of defense of reports that he might be carrying new instructions to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway or that he might be engaged on some peace making mission helps to define rather than to minimize the importance of the trip.

If it is like other trips made to the Far East in the past by high military officials—and there is no apparent reason to think it is different—the precise nature of Marshall's purpose in making the journey will not come out until some future occasion and the wearing away of a need for secrecy coincide to produce a disclosure.

One of the striking aspects of testimony before the senate's MacArthur investigating committee is that it has brought out that trips by military leaders to the Korean war, although described as routine at the time, were actually concerned with vital questions of military strategy, capacity or other matters that required close understanding and in effect joint decision between Washington and Tokyo.

That the war has recently reached another of those turning points which mark the crisis of any military conflict is apparent on the face of the situation. It has not been a long time since new commanders—Ridgway and Lieut. Gen. James A. Van Fleet—took over control upon MacArthur's dismissal.

Meanwhile in Washington the military high command, admittedly working on a new summary directive for Ridgway has been in large part preoccupied with the congressional investigation into MacArthur's dismissal and Korean policy.

That Marshall turned up in Korea caught many people off guard. Apparently the project was

Army Not Excited Over Draft Rejections

WASHINGTON (AP) — So far the army doesn't seem particularly alarmed at the possibility that the high draft rejection rate just compiled for April will continue.

Of 117,317 draftees examined by the army in April, 37.4 per cent were unacceptable, the highest rate since last August. An army spokesman says one of two things may be the reason:

1. Heavy enlistments and call-ups of reservists and national guardsmen have heavily reduced some states' draft quotas.

2. Or reductions in nation-wide draft calls may have led some boards to be more liberal in granting occupational deferments. Thus those in higher mental brackets have been drafted off the groups sent to the army for examination.

If the reason is No. 1, says the spokesman, the rejection rate probably won't show up so high when May and June figures filter in. If No. 2, he says, the rate may continue but the army always keeps a backlog of draftable men on tap so there probably would be time to take steps to keep the manpower coming.

Sues Macy's

PHARMACIST Adolph Rothbaum is showing holding one of the price-fixed drugs he named in an injunction suit in a Queens N. Y. supreme court, asking that Macy's be restrained from under-selling price-fixed drugs manufactured in New York state. His suit maintains that the U.S. supreme court decision applies only to merchandise in interstate commerce. A dozen attorneys for firms in other lines indicated they would aid in the case.

Iranian Nationals Cheer Mossadegh

TEHRAN (AP) — Hundreds of parading Iranians hailed Premier Mohammed Mossadegh as Iran's liberator "from British bondage" Saturday as a three-man government sub-commission flew to the southern oilfields to carry out the premier's nationalization program.

The demonstrators—some 500 strong—were members of the national front group, "toilers of Iran." They moved through central Tehran in 10 buses, waving flags and shouting: "Long live Mossadegh—Mossadegh is the liberator of Iran — Mossadegh saved Iran from British bondage. . . The fall of Mossadegh means the fall of Iran."

It was the first pro-Mossadegh demonstration since the British and American governments delivered their notes late last month on Iran's nationalization of the huge Anglo-Iranian oil company.

Since then, the harassed premier has been consistently attacked by members of the extreme left and right wings.

Another 10,000 persons demonstrated for Mossadegh and the National front when the sub-commission arrived at Ahwaz airport near the oil capital of Abadan.

Hussein Makki, secretary of the Iran oil nationalization commission, told a cheering crowd that the government would take over the British-controlled oil company's operations "according to law."

"If they're peaceful, we'll be peaceful," Makki said. "Otherwise we'll treat them rough."

Iowans Urged to Drive Safely

DES MOINES (AP) — Prompted by the beginning of the vacation motoring season, the state safety department Saturday appealed to Iowans to "conduct yourselves on the highways the way you did over Memorial Day."

"If our motorists will keep in practice daily the driving ability shown during that holiday period we can show a decrease in traffic deaths at the end of the year," Safety Commissioner Pearl W. McMurry commented.

But he gave warnings on two points:

1. Traffic is increasing rapidly because of vacation travel.

2. Traffic fatalities so far this year are considerably ahead of both last year and the record year of 1941 for the same period.

"We were pleased very much with the reduction of death on the highways over the Memorial Day holiday period," McMurry continued. "It shows that if people will make a conscientious effort we do get definite results."

Alumni Weekend Sees - Familiar Faces, Hearty Handshakes

A familiar face, a hearty slap on the back, a warm handshake — reunions.

The story was repeated countless times this weekend as hundreds of SUI graduates returned to familiar campus surroundings at the alumni SUI reunion.

Nearly every college in the university held a dinner, coffee hour or open house in honor of returning alumni.

'26 Has Largest Reunion
The class of 1926 had the largest reunion with 56 graduates returning to celebrate their 25th anniversary. The Emeritus club, SUI graduates of 1900 and before, was second in number, with 30 former students.

Other reunion classes and the number registering were: 1901, 17; 1906, 11; 1911, 15; 1916, 2; 1921, 9; 1941, 21; 1946, 2, and other classes, 98.

More than 125 doctors from 20 states and Hawaii gathered on the SUI campus Friday for the college of medicine's annual all-medical alumni reunion.

TV Sets Deserted
The Union's television sets were deserted as the peering at each other's name tags and alumni badges proved a more popular form of entertainment.

Such quips as "Didn't I once take you to the freshman banquet?" and "No, but you should have," were overheard both in the Union and Currier hall, where most of the alumni had quarters.

Most of the graduates agreed on one thing — things had changed at SUI. F. W. Clark, of Palo Alto, Calif., '90, liked the change so well last year when he returned to celebrate his 60th commencement anniversary, that he made the trip again this year.

'Haunts' Hard to Find

Some, like Miss Laura Anderson, of Iowa City, and Leon L. Poston, of Davenport, '96, live close enough to keep up with the change. But others who came back for the first time in 50 or 60 years, had trouble finding some of their old college "haunts."

Murat Hopkins, of Indianapolis, Ind., '81, wanted to find the classroom in Old Capitol where he had once studied law. C. H. Clarke, of Babson Park, Fla., '84, scoured Iowa City but was unable to find his old Beta Theta Pi fraternity house.

M. P. Hamil, dentist from Utica, Ill., '01, was amazed at the change in the dental building, and Judge Benjamin Hilliard, of Denver, Colo., '91, said there was nothing across the river but farm land when he was in school.

In Colorado Supreme Court

Judge Hilliard is now serving his third term on the Colorado supreme court. He served in congress during the first World War. Hilliard said SUI was one of the nation's foremost schools 60 years ago, that it has improved each year, and this year he believes it is the finest he has ever seen.

Fred C. Drake, of Mitchell, S. D., '01, recalled how he had seen the Vidette Reporter grow into The Daily Iowan when he was in school. The Daily Iowan's first editor, Drake said the student newspaper had grown up a bit since its baby stages in 1901.

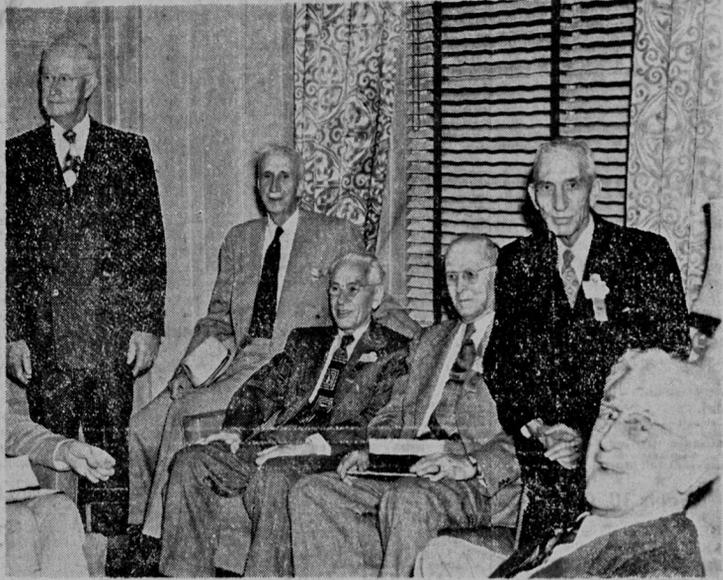

Represent 107 Years of Dentistry

Dr. Frederick Roe, of Burlington, 1896, said that he and his wife, Dr. Ida Glantz Roe, 1908, "represent 107 years of dentistry." Roe has two daughters, both SUI graduates. Mrs. Roe's cousin, Warren E. Glantz, Iowa City, was graduated in dentistry from SUI Friday.

Among the lawyers was George Cosson, Des Moines, member of the class of 1898. Cosson was Iowa's attorney general from 1911 to 1917. He is the author of law enforcement measures known as the "Cosson laws."

Included in the two-day reunion festivities Friday and Saturday were the two special events: the all-medical alumni reunion and the Emeritus club dinner.

Old Home Week
It was "old home week" for eight speakers, all Iowans by birth, who delivered scientific papers before an audience of "old grads" at the medical reunion Friday.

DISTINGUISHED GROUPS OF GENTLEMEN such as this one dotted the SUI campus Friday and Saturday as alumni returned to celebrate commencement anniversaries. This one includes W. L. Walters, '97, West Liberty; Dean Emeritus W. J. Teeters, Iowa City; George Cosson, '98, Des Moines; Melvin Hamil, '01, Utica, Ill.; Charles Herringer, 1900, Sigourney; and Frederick Roe, '96, Burlington. They are shown in the lobby of Currier hall Friday evening.

AAUW Announces Research Awards

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Association of University Women announced Saturday the award of fellowships totaling $44,450 to 28 women for advance research during the 1951-52 academic year.

The recipients, their home addresses, present residences, amount of the awards, and places at which the research will be conducted include:
Dr. Elizabeth Maitland Kampa (Mrs. Brian P. Boden), La Jolla, Calif., research worker at Bermuda biological station, $1,500, at the Bermuda station.
Dr. Alison Genevieve White, Des Moines, assistant professor at Indiana university, Bloomington, $2,000, in England and Scotland.

First Meeting Of WSCS Wednesday

Women's Society of Christian Service will hold its first meeting of the new year at 1 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. G. H. Swails will preside.

Circle one will have charge of the luncheon. Devotions will be led by Mrs. G. V. Eckard. Mrs. L. G. Lawyer is in charge of the program.

CARDS ARE SPORTING

A group of Father's Day cards this year show the man of the house on a holiday — a real fun spree. He is pictured teeing off at a golf course, fishing, horseback riding, hunting and sailing. In other years cards have stressed family budget, baby sitting, not green pastures.

Graduate of '95 Pleased With Women's Freedom

AMONG EMERITUS CLUB MEMBERS who returned to the SUI campus Friday were two sisters, Miss Harriette G. Holt (left) '96, and Mrs. H. S. Richards, '95. The sisters taught school for several years following their graduation and spent a year traveling around the world together in 1935-36. They are shown reminiscing in Currier hall's lounge before the Emeritus club's dinner Friday night.

AN SUI graduate in the class of 1895, Mrs. H. S. Richards said this weekend she was glad to see the freedom women have these days, both in their education and occupation.

Beyond that she would not comment, saying only, "I'm afraid I'm too old-fashioned."

Formerly Miss Mary C. Holt of Waverly, Ia., she was one of the five women who were SUI graduates of 1900 and before who were back on campus for the alumni activities.

However, Mrs. Richards' "old-fashionedness" didn't keep her from accumulating a long list of achievements in the years following her SUI entrance.

Was Hawkeye Editor
At SUI she was a member of Delta Gamma, social sorority, and the Hesperian literary club. She was an editor of the 1894 Hawkeye, SUI yearbook, and an assistant editor of the student newspaper, The Vidette Reporter.

In her senior year, Mrs. Richards was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic fraternity.

Following her graduation, Mrs. Richards taught school for six years in Janesville and Milwaukee, Wis. In 1901 she married H. S. Richards, an SUI graduate in 1890.

She returned to Iowa City while her husband was in law school here, moving to Madison, Wis. in 1903 when her husband was appointed head of the University of Wisconsin law school.

SUI Alumnus Takes Job As Clinical Psychologist

Roger E. Bardsley, former SUI student, has received a Ph.D. degree in psychology from the University of California at Berkeley.

He has accepted a position as chief clinical psychologist in the veterans hospital in Livermore, Calif., where he will do research on psychological aspects of tuberculosis.

Active In Woman's Clubs
In Madison Mrs. Richards has been active in the State Federation of Woman's clubs, serving as its president in 1919-20. She helped found the federation's magazine in 1918.

She worked with the American Association of University Women and was president of its Madison chapter. She was president of the YWCA board of directors and board of trustees.

Besides this, Mrs. Richards was president of Wisconsin's league of university women and for three years was a member of the community Union's board of directors.

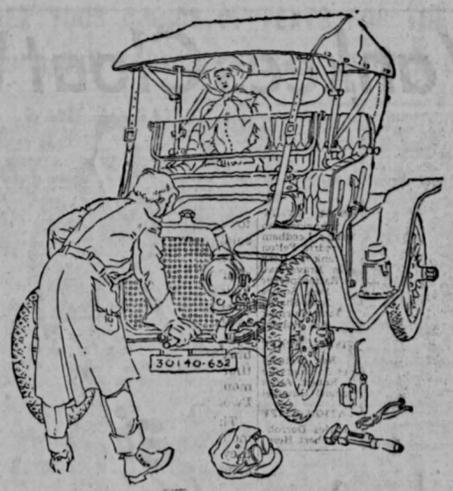

Travel Around World
In 1935-36 Mrs. Richards and her sister, Mrs. Harriette G. Holt, spent a year traveling around the world. They visited Japan, China, India, Burma, Egypt and France, spending the summer in England. They saw Italian troop ships sail down the Red sea to Ethiopia and were on the same boat as Spanish refugees from the island of Majorca.

Besides this, "old-fashioned" Mrs. Richards and her sister found time to drive down from Madison to attend their 56th and 55th reunions, respectively.

Dentists Fill Years' Gap

Hawkeyes Win 440 Relay In Centrals

Iowa Quartet Edges Illinois; Hawks Sixth

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
MILWAUKEE—Iowa scored one of the biggest upsets in the Central Collegiate Conference Open track meet here Saturday night when it edged highly touted Illinois in the 440-yard relay.

The Hawkeye team consisted of DuWayne Dietz, Bob Henard, Len Sykes and Gary Scott.

It was probably the closest race in the meet as Scott took the baton over in the finish line in :42.5.

—one yard ahead of Illinois' Cirilo McSween. Iowa accounted for 14 points in the meet to finish sixth in a field of 57 colleges. Illinois won with 40 points.

In addition to the victory in the 440 relay, Scott took third in the 100 yard dash and Bob Henard placed fifth in the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet 2 1/2 inches.

Scott, the Hawkeyes' big point winner during the past season, did not enter the 440-yard run and failed to qualify in the 220 yard dash.

Jack Weik, Iowa's high jumper, also failed to qualify for the finals as did Dietz in the low hurdles.

The 440 relay was close all the way. Sykes, running third, gave Iowa a slight lead which Scott held against McSween, the Big Ten quarter mile champion.

The Illini piled up 40 points to add the Centrals Knute Rockne Cup to their indoor and outdoor titles in the Big Ten.

Bill McGuire of Missouri, who set a new record of 9:07.7 in the two-mile run, was awarded the John P. Nicholson trophy as the individual star of the meet.

Marquette was second in the record field with 24 points, Notre Dame third with 16, and Alabama Poly and Drake tied for fourth with 15.

Iowa scored 14 points, Missouri 11 1/2, Kansas and South Dakota State 11, and Tennessee and Wisconsin 10 1/2.

Two new records went into the books. McGuire's two-mile record beat the old 1950 mark of 9:12.3 set by Warren Druetzler of Michigan State.

McGuire, Big Seven champ, also beat the previous best collegiate two-mile record of the season—9:11.9 by Dick Shea of Army.

Don Laz of Illinois set a new Centrals pole mark for the third straight year. The Big Ten champ vaulted 14 feet 3 3/4 inches to beat his 1950 record by 1 1/4 inches.

Gary Scott, Iowa's high jumper, also failed to qualify for the finals as did Dietz in the low hurdles.

Yankees Clout White Sox, 10-5

NEW YORK YANKEE CATCHER Charlie Silvera (29) almost bowled over Chicago White Sox second baseman Nelson Fox as he was forced out in the fourth inning of the Yankee-White Sox game at Chicago Saturday which New York won, 10-5. Play came on pitcher Spec Shea's hit to shortstop Chico Carrasquel who relayed to Fox.

Big Seven's Aid to Athletes: Room, Board, Fees, Incidentals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Big Seven conference Saturday laid down its rules governing financial aid to athletes after a two-day meeting of faculty representatives and athletic directors.

The code, adopted to replace the discarded National Collegiate Athletic Association's "sanity" regulations, is similar to those adopted by the Southern, Southeastern and Southwest conferences.

Here is the statement of the Big Seven on the operational procedure on the plan:

In order to make it possible for student athletes to attend school, participate in athletics and have adequate time for their studies, member schools are permitted to give financial aid in the form of part-time work and/or grants.

"The individual student's need and athletic ability shall be considered in granting such aid. Each institution shall establish its own policies or such grants of aid and must conform with the following provisions:

"A. Institutional financial aid to any athlete shall not exceed in total the cost of fees, tuition and/or books, if not otherwise provided, room and board at dormitory rates or less, and incidentals. Incidentals shall not exceed $15 per month.

"B. Such institutional aid shall include all jobs and grants from the institution and/or alumni and friends of the school and must be channeled through the institution.

"C. The responsibility for including all forms of help or benefits, direct or indirect, rests with the director of athletics and institution.

"D. Each member school shall report to the conference names of all student athletes receiving institutional aid and the amount in terms of such aid.

"E. Individual cases which do not conform to A) and B) above must receive prior approval from the conference."

The statement also listed as violations of the above rules the following:

A. Any financial aid to an athlete from any source other than the institution, the government, his parents or guardian.

B. Any financial aid to any member of an athlete's family.

C. Promise of financial aid beyond an athlete's normal period of eligibility.

D. Summer employment for which a higher scale of pay is received by an athlete than is received by other employees doing the same type of work.

E. Award of money, gifts, or promises of gifts equivalent to money.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Indians advanced into a third-place tie with the Boston Red Sox Saturday by defeating the Sox, 5-1, behind Bob Lemon's seven-hit pitching.

Lemon, keeping the seven blows well scattered, posted his sixth victory against five defeats. The Cleveland ace, after losing four games in a row, now has won three straight.

Mel Parnell, the loser, lasted six frames, giving up 10 of the Indians' 11 hits and all five of their runs.

Pirates Stop Bums, 4-1; Lemon Tops Boston, 5-1

CHICAGO (AP) — The on-rushing New York Yankees chilled the Chicago White Sox for the second straight day, Saturday, 10-5, trimming the Pale Hose league lead to 2 1/2 games and shattering a five-game win streak by lefty Billy Pierce.

A crowd of 24,726 saw the Yankees relentlessly run their season mastery over the Sox to four games to one behind a 14-hit attack.

Frank (Spec) Shea started and surrendered a 6-2 lead to reliever Tommy Byrne in the fifth. The victory was credited to Byrne, his second decision against one defeat.

The lefthander allowed only one hit until he got wild in the eighth and was yanked in favor of Joe Ostrowski after hitting a batter and walking two to fill the bases.

The Sox, who owned a six-game win string and 20 decisions in 22 starts before the Yanks showed up Friday, had to pull the ineffective Pierce in the fifth after the Yanks had battered him for nine hits and a 6-2 lead.

It was Pierce's first defeat since May 3 when he bowed to Washington, 7-1, and left him with a 7-3 season record.

The Sox — who face the Yanks in a twin bill today — used four pitchers in all. Lou Kretlow, Marv Rothblatt and Randy Gumpert followed the jostled Pierce to the mound. Pierce had registered Chicago's only win over the Yanks, 7-4, at New York.

Off-aflicted Joe DiMaggio was benched by a sore left leg, but the Yankees didn't miss him as they leveled off on Pierce for six hits and four runs in the fourth and got the only other run they needed in the fifth on Phil Rizzuto's single and Gil McDougald's double for a 6-2 margin.

BROOKLYN (AP) — Little Murray Dickson ace pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates, ended Brooklyn's six-game winning streak Saturday as he checked the Dodgers, 4-1, in his seventh victory of the season.

Dickson allowed eight hits but spread them over as many innings. He held the Dodgers hitless in the sixth. Three double-plays eased Dickson to his second victory in as many tries over the Dodgers.

The Dodgers knicked Dickson for their lone run in the first inning.

Wally Westlake was the Pirates' big gun. He drove in three runs on a single and his 15th home run of the season.

Don Newcombe started for the Dodgers and was charged with the defeat. He retired in the fourth inning, complaining of a pulled muscle in his right shoulder.

Pitches 1-Hitter
City High's Eddie Morgan narrowly missed a no-hitter at Cedar Rapids Saturday as he beat Roosevelt high 5-0.
Morgan's perfect game was spoiled by Saylor, who singled in the 6th inning.
In the seven inning game, Morgan faced only 24 men. He walked one, and two got on base by errors.

NCAA Prexy Turns 'Down Penn's Request for Hearing

LOS ANGELES (UP) — The NCAA Saturday refused the University of Pennsylvania's request for a hearing on its suspension by the athletic group because the televising of football games already has been thoroughly reviewed, NCAA President Hugh C. Willett said.

Willett said he sent a letter to Penn Athletic Director Francis T. Murray outlining reasons for refusing Penn a hearing on its suspension as a result of Penn's decision to televise football games this fall in violation of NCAA's plan for control of experimental televising.

Dr. Willett did not give out a copy of his letter to the press, but said he would be glad to have Murray release the letter for publication when he receives it.

"I have reviewed for Mr. Murray the occasions during the last five and a half months on which he has presented to the NCAA the views of his university and its opposition to the program inaugurated by the Association television committee," Willett said in a statement to the press.

"I also have reminded him of the patient consideration that has been given his views by the delegates assembled in convention, by the council at its spring meeting in Chicago on March 1, and by a special delegation from the council sent to Philadelphia early in March to discuss with him and Penn President Harold Stassen the whole television problem before the colleges of the country."

In a telegram Willett sent to Murray telling of the letter, the NCAA president said he would be at the Davenport hotel, Spokane, Wash., from June 10 to 14 attending a meeting of the Pacific Coast conference if Murray wishes to communicate with him.

The letter and telegram were sent in reply to Murray's telegram of June 8 asking for a "rehearing" on the matter.

At West Point, Col. Orin C. Krueger, director of athletics, said Saturday night that Army's scheduled football game with Pennsylvania this year "definitely will be played" regardless of whether it is televised.

The DeWitt brothers announced Saturday morning there would be a news conference half an hour after Saturday's game ended. There was speculation, naturally, that it concerned the rumored sale of the club.

After keeping a room full of newsmen and photographers waiting, DeWitt announced that Ned Garver will pitch in one of today's games against Washington.

Argentine Nears Win in Wygyl Golf
NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP) — Roberto De Vicenzo of the Argentine blazed through his fourth straight sub-par round over the old Wygyl golf course Saturday and virtually sewed up the $5,000 first prize in the Palm Beach Round Robin tournament.

Roberto's sparkling 67—five shots under par — following his previous rounds of 60-68-68 put him so far out in front of his 13 fellow professionals in the unique event that they probably couldn't nail him today with a shot gun.

The dashing young Argentine possessed a "plus" score of 36 Saturday night. This gave him, ruling into the final round, a lead of 19 points over his closest rival, Long Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, who stood at plus 17.

Young Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, Tex., vaulted into third place Saturday with the greatest round of the tournament, 33-33-66, to pick up 14 points at the expense of such links stalwarts as Bobby Locke, Jimmy Demaret and Johnny Palmer, and shoot into the contention at plus 16.

Loke, the two-time winner whom they all feared and who led the field after the first round, fell into fourth place with plus 15.

Louis, Savold Meet Wednesday

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Louis and Lee Savold, two of boxing's elder statesmen, clash at the Polo Grounds Wednesday night in a fight that should be short but violent.

The bout is listed for 15 rounds. Very few of the experts believe it will go beyond ten. Louis predicts he will knock out Savold in six rounds. Savold is equally confident of scoring a kayo but he declines to name the round.

Louis Favored
Although the 37-year-old Brown Bomber hasn't shown much in his five comeback fights since the Ezzard Charles debacle, has been made a 12-5 favorite over his 35-year-old rival.

There hasn't been much betting action so far and the fans haven't stormed the ticket windows either. The fight will not be telecast or broadcast to home sets and the International Boxing club hopes to do a rushing business in the last few days.

A telecast however, of the scrap will be sent over a closed circuit to selected theaters in Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, Baltimore and Albany.

Joe Louis
12-5 Favorite

As for the fighters, Savold is the big mystery man. Everyone knows, or thinks he knows what Louis can do, or can't do. But Lee hasn't boxed here in over three years. He hasn't gone beyond eight rounds in nearly four years.

Savold Inactive
On Dec. 6, 1948, the Englewood, N. J., blond lion on a fourth round foul to Bruce Woodcock in London. On June 6, 1950, he knocked out Woodcock in four rounds and won British and Spanish recognition as world heavyweight champion. That bout also was held in London and that's the sum total of Savold's actual fighting for the period.

Louis appears to be in great shape and in fine spirits. He's down to 210 pounds and probably will hit around 209 on Wednesday. He's had good workouts in camp in addition to his regular fights since the loss to Charles last September.

Louis' record is 65-2. He was knocked out by Max Schmeling and beaten by Charles. He's flattened 52 opponents.

Louis will get 35 per cent of the net gate. Savold will receive 25 per cent.

The IBC doesn't know what the fight will draw. With good weather, it may go big. Right now the promoters would settle for 15,000 people and $100,000.

Atomic Energy Leader Praises Iowa Schools, Adult Groups

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa State college has "one of the most important and one of the best-run laboratories" in the atomic energy program, the chairman of the atomic energy commission asserted here Saturday.

Gordon Dean, AEC head, told the Iowa state bar association Saturday that he had visited the installation at Ames Friday night and Saturday. He called it "one of the few key pioneer centers."

"At Ames," he told the lawyers, "a substantial portion of the uranium metal used in the original piles for developing atomic energy was fabricated by the college in an old barn."

Dean also praised the research work being done at the University of Iowa in fields relating to the atomic energy program.

The AEC chairman commented, too, on the work done by the state department of public instruction, the individual schools and universities and the adult education groups in introducing to Iowans information about atomic energy. It is one of the most comprehensive programs in the nation," Dean asserted.

Dean spoke on the legal aspects of atomic energy," and told the members of the Iowa bar that by the very nature of its development the atomic energy program had had little impact to date on the average lawyer.

He said, however, that in the fields of insurance and claims, negotiation of contracts with the AEC, patents and management-labor relations there will be increasing need for attorneys.

Dean told the group that he turned down a recent invitation to address a group of insurance men because "the subject was too difficult." He said they wanted the answers to such questions as liability for broken windows in atomic blasts and knowledge about other problems concerning the AEC program and matters of insurance.

Saturday's luncheon honored the members of the Iowa supreme court, who were introduced individually.

Dean explained how the atomic energy program in all of its aspects is directed under the atomic energy act of 1946 which, he said, was "one of the broadest grants of power ever made to an administrative tribunal."

control, there is "no wall of secrecy," between the civilian leaders and the military liaison group. He said it is an "extensive and substantial" joint operation.

"Our rate of progress is slowed down to a certain extent in some fields," Dean said, "because of security. But so are our competitors. We're in the lead. We want to stay there."

Iowa City Rated Among Top Ten For 'General Worth'

Iowa City ranks among the top 10 cities in its population bracket for "general worth," according to a study published recently by the Columbia university press.

The general worth was determined by the distribution of occupations, within the city. Prof. Paul Gillen, Columbia university, made the study, entitled "The Distribution of Occupations as a City Yardstick."

The cities that rank highest in "occupational index" also rank highest in health, education and other functions, the study reveals. Prof. Gillen analyzed all cities with a population of over 10,000 with the exception of New York City. He used the 1940 census as a basis for his occupation classification.

84-Year-Old Woman Studying for SUI Degree

It's never too late to work for a college degree. This is the personal philosophy of Julia Miller and 84-year-old Davenport woman who has been working for a bachelor of arts degree off and on since 1904.

Only 13 semester-hours away from the degree, she says "I have a wager with my great-nephew to see which one of us graduates first." The great-nephew will graduate from the University of Minnesota next year.

Miss Miller earned her first college credits by attending summer school at SUI in 1904. She attended several more summer sessions and Saturday sessions before switching to correspondence study in 1927. For the last 23 years she has used the facilities of the bureau of correspondence study to advance her education.

She is the oldest person taking college work through the bureau. But not the only one. Last year 5,134 persons were working on 5,633 courses by mail from SUI.

Since the bureau of correspondence study opened for business in 1916, a total of 32,074 individuals have enrolled for work. Between 1921 and 1931 James Johnson of Anamosa set the record for the most courses taken from the University of Iowa by mail, 23 of them.

"I'm going to keep working until I have a degree," Miss Miller declares. "I like to study." She lives with her sister Helen on a rustic three-acre farm which was purchased by their father, Severin Miller, in 1864. Today the two women raise chickens and vegetables, mow broad stretches of lawn and keep a 1933 Dodge coupe spotlessly clean "for emergencies". Helen Miller retired in 1940 after teaching school in Davenport for 50 years. "My father encouraged us to work and study and often repeated in German: 'Money and goods are easily lost through misfortune, but what you know and what you can do always remain yours." Miss Miller added, "I got into the habit of studying when I wasn't working and I'm at it yet today." In past years, Miss Miller has been a stenographer, a student and teacher of music and a student in Paris. She spent one year teaching school. "It was the year McKinley was killed," she recalled. That was in 1901.

Miss Miller is the only correspondent enrolled at SUI who is over 75 years of age. But in one recent month, the university had 255 persons over 51 and 12 persons over 66 studying by mail. Persons in the 16 to 25 age group during the month totaled 974, or 38 per cent of all those enrolled.

Each correspondence study course represents a similar amount of work done by students on campus, including examinations. Usually eight lessons must be completed for each semester hour of college credit.

Miss Miller began a new correspondence course on May 1. It is a "three-semester-hour course in social pathology." "I like the textbook," she commented, displaying a thick volume entitled Social Disorganization. During 23 years, she has studied courses in literature, Greek, history and now sociology.

Upon completing an assigned lesson, she completes a report based upon it and mails it to the university. There a regular faculty member — who teaches the same course on the campus — reads and grades the report. Finally, the graded report, along with suggestions, corrections and comments by the instructor, is returned to her.

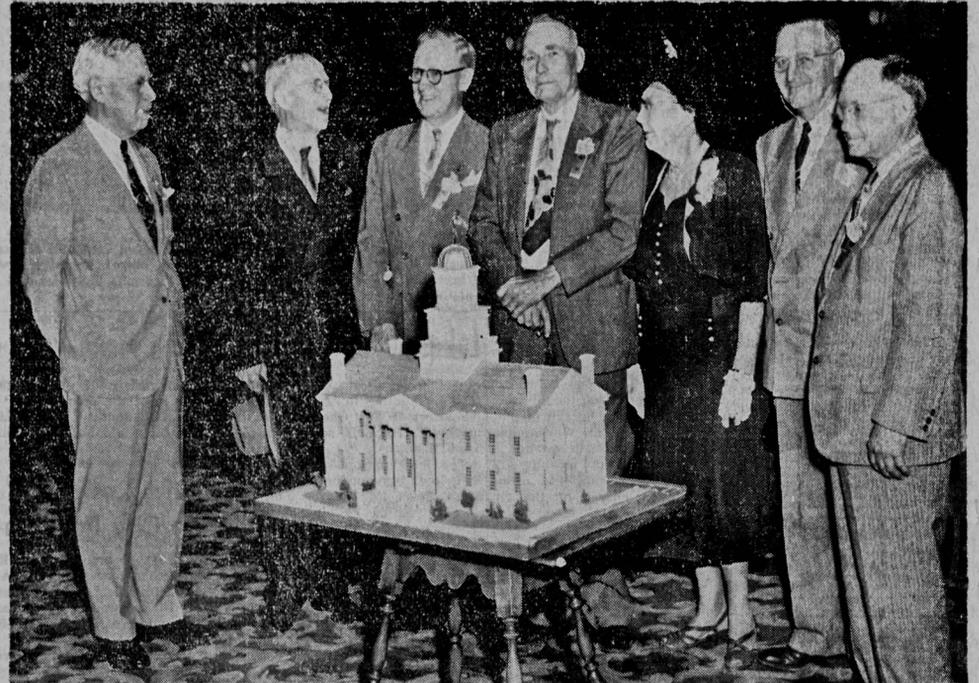

Miss Miller, while busily working around her Davenport farm, summed up the overall idea behind studying by mail: "I could never afford the time or money to go to college. Without the correspondence work, I would not have been able to continue my education."

OLDEST PERSON STUDYING BY CORRESPONDENCE at SUI is Julia Miller, 84, Davenport, who began taking correspondence work in 1927. Prior to that she had received college credits in summer schools and Saturday classes going all the way back to 1904. The result: she is 13 credit hours away from a degree.
