Brer Rabbit Can't Be 'Meager Beaver'

WASHINGTON (AP) - The house voted Monday that rabbit fur should be labeled just that instead of graduating to the furry aristocracy of "french chinchilla" or "electric beaver."

450 Expected to Attend Child Welfare Conference

About 450 persons are expected to attend the 24th annual Iowa Conference on Child Development and Parent Education today and Wednesday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The conference, centering around the general theme of wholesome personality development, will bring forth much of the information made possible by the Midcentury White House conference on children and youth held in Washington, D. C., late last year.

Shipping Strike Ties Up Trade On Two Coasts

NEW YORK (AP) - American tourists bound for a summer vacation in Europe scheduled airline passage or unpacked their bags Monday to wait out the strike of 80,000 CIO maritime workers...

There were no signs that the strike would soon be over. The disputing parties had not even scheduled negotiation sessions.

Federal Mediator Thomas Dougherty announced late Monday that he met with the ship owners, "came to no decision," and would meet with them again today.

Youth Admits Part In Local Break-Ins

A third Iowa City teen-age youth has admitted taking part in a series of seven break-ins and attempted break-ins in Iowa City during the past five weeks, police said Monday.

UN Forces Smash First Moves of Red Brewing Offensive

TOKYO (TUESDAY) (AP) - United Nations forces smashed the first moves in a brewing Communist ground and air offensive Monday, virtually annihilating an attacking Chinese battalion and shooting down five Red jets.

Class Changes

Today is the last day students may make registration changes without a dean's approval. Changes in registration slips filed today require only the signature of student advisers.

House Group Rebuffs Truman, Cancels Future Beef Rollback

Packers Increase Beef Purchases as Cattle Prices Drop

CHICAGO (AP) - Cattle prices dropped Monday and major meat packers stepped up their purchases when farmers sent a near-normal shipment of beef animals to market.

A spokesman for the U.S. department of agriculture said that most cattle prices now "are close to compliance" with ceilings under the government's hotly debated rollback.

Prices dropped 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds at the sprawling Chicago stockyards. Armour and company buyers moved in and purchased 800 head, about a third to a half of what they would normally buy but a big improvement over purchases of the last two weeks.

When the controversial rollback was launched June 4, the big packers refused to buy any cattle that were priced above ceilings. Spokesmen for several major firms said they believed prices would tumble further if supplies continue good.

U.S. Marine, Cuban Killed in Embassy

HAVANA, CUBA (AP) - An American marine guard and a Cuban watchman were shot to death in the U. S. embassy here sometime before dawn Monday in circumstances suggesting murder and suicide.

Summer's Plays Will Be Comedies

Three comedies have been chosen for the 1951 summer season, Prof. Gregory Foley, dramatic arts department, announced Monday.

Wylie Switches His Aim

NEW YORK (AP) - Just a little late for Father's day, Philip Wylie said Monday the average American father is a moral slacker and a hypocrite.

Pop is the kind of fellow who regularly cheats on his income tax, pads his expense accounts, is unethical in business and carries on love affairs behind his wife's back, Wylie wrote in Look magazine.

Army Plans Discharge Of 100,000 Reservists

WASHINGTON (UP) - The army announced plans Monday to release within the next six months nearly all the 100,000 inactive and volunteer enlisted reserves involuntarily called to active duty.

Army Secretary Frank Pace Jr. said that only a few "irreplaceable critical specialists" will be kept on active duty. The program will get under way soon with release of a "small number" of enlisted men to civilian life.

Inactive and volunteer enlisted reserves include those who were not members of organized reserve units and who did not receive any pay for volunteer participation in peacetime training programs.

There will be no "point system" or other inflexible standards to determine the order in which the reserves are released. Each unit will set up its own standards, giving "primary consideration" to maintaining maximum effectiveness.

Those with no prior military service will be in the third—and last—group. Within each of these groups, Pace said, consideration will be given to length of service on this tour of duty, dependency or hardship and age of the individual reservist.

11 REDS APPEAL SENTENCE

WASHINGTON (AP) - Eleven American Communist leaders asked the supreme court Monday to review its decision upholding their conspiracy convictions.

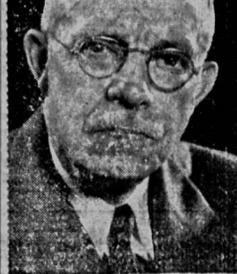

Before and after the afternoon program, there will be guided tours of the university's new radiation research laboratory where much of the cancer research here is centered.

Would Keep Prices At Near May 19 Levels

WASHINGTON (AP) - The house banking committee voted Monday to cancel future beef price rollbacks in a stinging rebuff to President Truman's plan for stiffened controls.

An amendment by Rep. Tom B. Baker (D-Va.) stipulated no price ceilings should be established for any types of agricultural products below 90 per cent of the May 19th level.

Dr. Plass to Get Medal for Work in Cancer Control

Dr. E. D. Plass Wins Cancer Award

Dr. E. D. Plass, former head of the SUI obstetrics and gynecology department, will receive the 1951 Bronze Medal from the Iowa division of the American Cancer society Sunday for outstanding contributions to cancer control work.

More than 300 key volunteers in the state cancer organization are expected to attend the meeting, which will include a report of how a grant of $117,000 given to SUI for cancer research has been spent.

Citations will be presented to 18 Iowa scientists who have been aided in cancer research work by the American Cancer society. Each of the scientists will give a short talk telling of his research projects.

... In Seattle, Things Were Better

WELCOMING HOME KOREAN VETERANS, five Seattle girls went through their Can-Can dance routine Monday for 1,389 returning soldiers who sailed in on the navy transport Fvt. Joe Martinez. This was the fifth group of veterans to debark at Seattle since the army started its rotation plan.

100 Secretaries Meet, Discuss Draft Rules

Approximately 100 secretaries from the draft boards in 25 Iowa counties discussed draft regulations, the new draft bill and the draft deferment test at a meeting in Iowa City Monday.

World's Largest Blimp

AKRON, O. (AP) - The world's largest non-rigid airship—or blimp—made a one-hour flight early Monday night. The blimp was designed as the U.S. navy's prime answer to any future submarine menace.

15 State Governors Hear St. Lawrence Seaway Proposals

OMAHA (AP) — Backers of the St. Lawrence seaway, unable so far to steer the project through congress, did their best Monday to "sell" it to the Missouri river basin.

The setting was a 15-state governors conference of inland America, called by Gov. C. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska to discuss common resource problems and "mutuality of interest."

"The only obstacle (to the St. Lawrence seaway) which cannot be removed with dredges and blasting powder is the stubborn opposition of those who are looking at narrow sectional interests and forgetting the interests of inland America," Gov. Williams said.

He invited "regional collaboration." The St. Lawrence seaway and power project, which would open a route to ocean-going craft into Great Lakes ports, is currently pending in congress.

One after another, speakers representing labor, agriculture and government agencies advanced arguments for the project.

America needs the power that would be produced, they contended. Inland America steel plants need the new supplies of iron ore that could be tapped for easy shipment as a result of the navigation features. Savings in the cost of transporting grain would be passed on to farmers and benefit all of the midwest, they said.

Speakers included Interior Secretary Oscar L. Chapman; Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey of the CIO; Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of army engineers; H. Chapman Rose, counsel for the M. A. Hanna company of Cleveland, O., and O. T. Sanders, legislative counsel of the national grange. All endorsed the St. Lawrence proposal.

Should a war emergency develop, the seaway "may well be essential to survival," said General Pick.

The Missouri basin development plan, already well along, received conference attention, but differing views on administering the program developed.

The principal digression from the natural resources theme of the conference came from Carey, labor representative.

He named imperialistic communism and inflation as enemies of America, then added:

"The third opponent we must fight, in order to have opportunity to develop our resources, is the new type of irresponsible demagogue, who by insinuation, slander, false and reckless charges tries to sow dissension, confusion and disunity. Some of these people like the McCarthys are in congress where they take advantage of congressional immunity.

"Some of them still wear the uniform of the United States and draw pay from it like the MacArthur. Some sit behind the wall of an editorial desk like the Bertie McCormicks.

"I consider these people as more of a danger to our nation and its development than I do the little Communists who steal a copy of a drawing."

For the Missouri basin development plan Carey recommended a federal "authority" type of control. Sanders recommended employment of an administrator whose policies would be governed by a board representing states and government agencies involved. The present Missouri basin administrative setup is "patchwork machinery," Sanders said.

Governor Peterson told the assembly that the problem of administering Missouri dams and reservoirs is being studied by the council of state governments. The possibility of a new type of interstate and interagency com-

Iowa Schools Told to Adhere To Fire Laws

DES MOINES (AP) — State Fire Marshal Zack Cook says inspection shows that many Iowa schools need to tighten up their compliance with fire safety regulations.

Cook's staff is now about two-thirds finished with the first statewide fire safety inspection of every Iowa school of two stories or more.

Nearly a thousand orders directing compliance with some specific fire safety regulation were issued by Cook's staff to school officials before spring adjournment arrived.

Cook said the summer vacation period will give school officials a convenient opportunity to make needed installations such as additional fire escapes, extra exit doors and the like.

Among orders which have been issued are directives requiring: "Panic" fire doors on all entrances.

Additional exit doors from gymnasiums and auditoriums. Lights and signs designating location of fire escapes.

Additional fire extinguishers. Fireproof, automatic closing doors for all furnace rooms.

Metal cabinets or containers for storage of oily mops, sweeping compounds, paints and other inflammables.

"Fire safety conditions in Iowa schools generally are not bad," Cook said, "but they could stand a lot of improvement, particularly from the housekeeping standpoint."

Cook said a regulation commonly violated is one which prohibits storage of materials under stairways.

"We have found mops, cartons of paper, partly filled wastebaskets—in fact, almost everything—stored under school stairways," he said.

The fire marshal also reported that in several schools the required once-a-month fire drills had not been carried out.

25 Soldiers Hurt In Oklahoma Wind

LAWTON, OKLA. (AP) — Hurricane-force winds swept across western Oklahoma Monday and 25 soldiers were injured, four seriously, as army property at nearby Fort Sill suffered damages estimated at $500,000.

Gusts of wind reaching 100 miles per hour tore apart 30 airplanes and knocked down many temporary structures at the big field artillery post.

Officials at Fort Sill said four soldiers are in the post hospital and 21 treated for injuries and released.

Marine Private Given Life Prison Term

DETROIT (AP) — Marine Pvt. Albert L. Daly Monday was sentenced to life imprisonment for the shotgun slaying of his heinous wife in a barricaded bedroom.

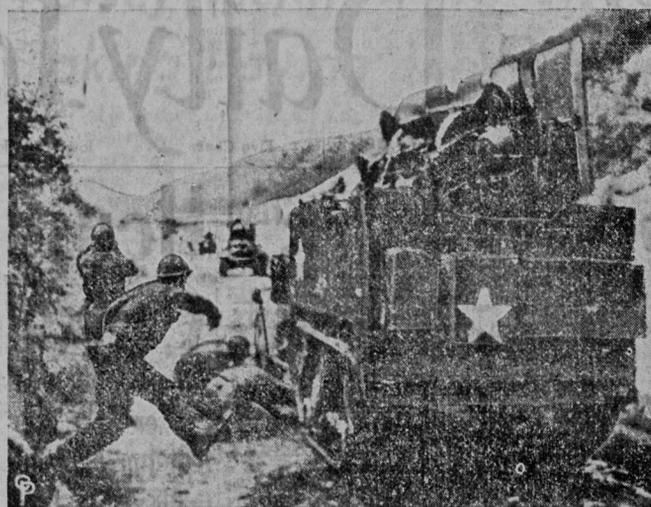

Attorneys for the 23-year-old marine said they would appeal the verdict, passed by Circuit Judge Thomas J. Murphy after a jury convicted him of first degree murder.

FACING UNEXPECTED FIRE FROM A Red pocket of resistance, foot-sloggers of a UN tank-infantry patrol scramble for cover behind an armored vehicle during their advance on the Chinese Red "iron triangle" in North Korea. The photographer who accompanied the patrol made the picture while under attack before hitting the dirt himself. The "triangle" has since been virtually abandoned.

New Monument to Salute Gen. Custer's Conqueror

CUSTER, S. D. (AP) — A few defeated generals have many tributes standing to their names.

Gen. George A. Custer, who was killed 75 years ago on June 25, 1876, at the Little Big Horn river in Montana, is an exception.

The memorials to Custer—a name that awakens all the romance of America's midwest past—are many. In South Dakota alone, there are a county, a city, a mountain peak, a stream, a national forest and a state park named after Custer.

There are towns bearing his name in Kentucky, Michigan, Montana, Oklahoma, Washington, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Both principals in the battle of Little Big Horn were young. Custer, who became a major general at 26, was killed at 37. Crazy Horse, the Sioux leader, was 36 in 1877 when he was bayoneted by a soldier while under a flag of truce at Ft. Robinson.

Crazy Horse also soon will be a shrine to his name. Korczak Ziolkowski, a Boston-born sculptor of Polish descent, is trying to erase the white man's conception of the Indian implanted by the painting "End of the Trail." That depicts an Indian on horseback, with shoulders drooped and head bowed—a picture of despair.

At Custer, S. D., where General Custer and a survey party first found gold in the Black Hills on land given the Indians by treaty, Ziolkowski is carving a 563-foot mountain memorial to the Indians. The carving blasted from solid granite will be taller than Washington's monument.

It will represent Crazy Horse. Instead of a bowed "End of the Trail," it will be with his head up, his hand outstretched defiantly pointing to the land where his ancestors lived and died.

There aren't many left who knew Paha Sapa before the coming of the white man hunted buffalo when there were twenty many, or fought "The Long Haired One."

Custer was known as the Long Haired One. Paha Sapa was the Indian name for the Black Hills of South Dakota, the Indians' favorite hunting grounds before gold prospectors crowded them out.

Two of the only three known Indian survivors of the battle of Little Big Horn were young braves at the time. High Eagle, 94, lives at Kyle, S. D., and Dewey Beard, 92, at Wall, S. D. The other is John Sitting Bull of Oglala, S. D., reported son of the Uncpapa medicine man, Sitting Bull. He is a deaf mute and his age is uncertain.

Woman, Non-Striker, Killed as Pickets Overturn Her Car

SUMMERVILLE, GA. (AP) — A non-striking woman worker at Berryton mills was killed Monday when pickets overturned her car at the plant gate.

Seven members of the striking Textile Workers Union of America were charged with murder. Authorities asked the state highway patrol to help keep order today when hearings into the two-week-old strike open. Patrol headquarters said troops will be sent.

The victim was Nellie Tucker, unmarried worker at the Berryton mills, where the TWU has been on strike since a contract expired 14 days ago.

Miss Tucker was crushed beneath an automobile which was overturned.

Solicitor Don Davis said the hearings scheduled in Chattooga county superior court are expected to draw a "tremendous crowd" in view of Monday's picket line violence.

Each side has obtained an injunction since the strike started. The management was enjoined against interfering with the union's right to picket and the union was enjoined against mass picketing.

A number of contempt citations under these injunctions are scheduled to be heard by Judge Freeman C. McClure of Lookout Mountain judicial circuit.

Davis said several acts of violence have marked the two-week-old strike, including dynamiting and rock throwing. One car was overturned several days ago, he said.

During Sunday night, Davis said, the waterworks system of the plant was dynamited, throwing out of operation the dehumidifying apparatus of the plant and all drinking fountains in the building.

Hollywood to Begin Network TV Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — Television network programs will start coming right out of Hollywood sometime late this year, and Bob Hope will be among the first to ride the transcontinental video highway.

Hope says he has six one-hour shows and four short appearances scheduled on NBC television for the coming fall and winter season, and most will be from the coast.

Heretofore, Hope and other stars living in Hollywood have had to travel to New York for TV network appearances as the video network facilities have not yet reached the west coast.

But the American Telephone and Telegraph company's Bell system cross-country link is due for completion "late in 1951." It will be a microwave radio beam system that already is in service from New York to Omaha. Construction of relay towers, spaced 25 to 30 miles apart to guide the invisible microwave beams from horizon to horizon, has been completed all the way to San Francisco and equipment now is being installed.

Iowa Sterilization Statistics Available

DES MOINES (AP) — Greater protection for Iowa's next generation could be provided through the state's eugenics law if physicians would frankly explain that no physical or mental changes result from a sterilization operation.

This conclusion is made by Dr. Clarence J. Gamble, Milton, Mass., in a study of 1949 sterilizations in the state. His article was published in the current journal of the Iowa state medical society.

"The limited use of preventive sterilization is due chiefly to the mistaken belief of the public that sexual sacrifice is involved," writes Dr. Gamble.

Under Iowa's eugenics law, patients considered in need of sterilization may be reported by the head of state medical institutions and the women's reformatory. If the state board of eugenics considers the evidence justifying it, it may order sterilization.

In practice, however, sterilization in the state is voluntary, no case being considered until consent of the patient or his family is on file. Dr. Gamble states Iowans outside institutions can petition for the operation.

In 1949, 164 sterilizations were performed under authority of the state board. All but 27 of the patients came from state institutions. There were 62 males with average age of 27.6 years. The average female age was 25.7.

Before 1949, 891 sterilizations had been performed in the state. Of them 485 were for insanity, 356 for mental deficiency and 50 for epilepsy.

Benefits from these operations, Dr. Gamble declared, included a saving of $1.8 million to Iowa taxpayers if segregation had been the preventive tried instead of sterilization. The patients themselves gained because they were protected from the psychic and economic overload of parenthood, he added, "fully satisfactory marriage may be substituted for the sexless life of institutions," he said.

But "most important are the advantages to the potential children," Dr. Gamble continued, "for children may inherit the handicap and even though they may be hereditarily normal, no child can be satisfactorily brought up by an insane or feeble-minded parent."

Psychosis was the major reason for the 1949 sterilizations, accounting for 76 of the total. Mental deficiency was second with 72 cases. Epilepsy was present in one psychosis case and in five mental deficiencies. It was chief cause for two other operations.

Prior to sterilization the men operated on had had on the average 0.5 and the women 1.1 children. The group had 141 children in all, including 12 illegitimate.

"That these unfortunate children were born" wrote Dr. Gamble, "is a result of the present public ignorance of the hereditary importance of mental deficiency and of the simplicity of sterilization."

Sterilizations outside state institutions were usually originated by social workers. Twenty-three counties were represented in this group: Allamakee, Appanoose, Cherokee, Clayton, Clinton, Decatur, Delaware, Jackson, Johnson, Lee, Lucas, Marion, Mitchell, Muscatine, Osceola, Polk, Sac, Scott, Warren, Washington, Wayne and Webster.

New Life to 'Old' Drawings

Explaining the drawing technique Diego Rivera, Mexican artist, used in "Women Going to Market," is Winslow Ames, drawing collector and connoisseur. Dave Pullman, G. Kellog (left), and Francie Downs, G. Waco, Tex., are two of the many art enthusiasts who attend the opening of the exhibit, "Six Centuries of Master Drawings," now exhibited at the art building and the Iowa Memorial Union.

In Six Centuries of Drawings —

Lines Are 'Tender', 'Fussy', 'Smoochy'

By JEAN SHARDA

Drawings centuries old were brought close to present day life Sunday evening when Winslow Ames, an internationally known specialist in drawings, spoke to nearly 300 people in the art auditorium.

Ames used such graphic terms as "smoochy lines," and "clotted effects," in describing some of the drawings included in the "Six Centuries of Master Drawings," now on exhibit in the art building and the Iowa Memorial Union.

Speaking on "Drawings, Means and Ends," as slides of the drawings were projected, on a screen, Ames, who Prof. William Heckscher said was probably America's foremost connoisseur of drawing techniques, said that while some drawings are for their own sake, most are preparations for ampler works of art.

Drawings as preparations for paintings, then, are means, Ames explained. He said the example of Stefano della Bella's "Sketches," was one of these.

On the other hand, some drawings are clearly drawings for their own sake; and, as such, they are ends, Ames said. He mentioned Bruegel's "Flight into Egypt," and Rembrandt's "Recumbent Camel, Front View," as this type.

Puter's drawing of a bull, however, he said, was a preparation for a painting.

Some drawings such as landscapes, portraits, or genre, the senses of everyday life, can be either means or ends, Ames said. Bruegel's "River and Mountains" is one of these.

Some Are Neither
And some, such as Paul Klee's "Akrobatentheater" are neither. Klee's drawing, Ames said, was "a doodle, but a terribly knowing doodle—90 per cent premeditated."

In a work of art the artist uses the drawing medium which he thinks most clearly produces the character of what he wants to create, the drawing specialist continued.

Talking on a level his audience could easily understand, Ames, dressed in a tan suit, "complete

7-Point Plan Makes For More Efficiency, Team Work in Home

The by-word is more efficiency and more production today in factories and on farms. With more women working in factories, with men and women in military service and a shortage of help all around, the by-word in the homes might well be more efficiency and more production.

Taking a cue from a seven point plan in one of the food processing plants, the family might line up slogans for team work something like this:

1. Make homemaking a team job. Let each one do his or her own "picking up" — and let each and every one pitch in and help with the general chores.
2. Avoid waste in using all supplies.
3. Make the best use of what you have. Keep all appliances and equipment in good order. Keep furnishings in good repair.
4. Think up ways of doing the daily jobs around the house in quicker and easier fashion.
5. Be prompt. Time is valuable. Do what has to be done on time, and in time.
6. Buy what is needed but only what is needed — that's one of the ways inflation can be controlled.
7. Take care of your clothes; keep them mended.
8. In preparing meals, make use of the great variety of packaged, canned, frozen and other processed foods that reduce time in preparation and insure success. Select the foods that will help to keep the family healthy and happy.

English Lutheran Women to Meet

Women of the afternoon group of the First English Lutheran church will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the church parlors.

The topic, "Where Cross the Crowded Ways," will be given by Mrs. John Wolz.

Hostesses are Mrs. Molly Cramblett, Mrs. Gladys Hotka and Mrs. Vernon Roose.

These Three Steps Will Help Oily Skin Problem

If your skin is oily, try this routine before retiring:

1. Wash the face with very warm water and a thick soap lather.
2. Massage the face and neck gently with an upward motion for a few minutes.
3. Wash the lather off with a brush or coarse cloth.

Bride or Business Girl Should — Cut Food Waste, Adjust Recipes

Because "June" is synonymous with "brides" to so many people and because after the wedding and honeymoon "glamour," every new homemaker has the practical problem of cooking for two, this is a good time for some practical suggestions on marketing and meal preparation for a twosome.

Though the suggestions are dedicated to this year's brides, they are equally useful for business girls with a roommate or couples whose children have grown up and started homes of their own.

Avoid Food Waste
There's an art to buying food in small quantities to avoid food waste.

When choosing meat, for example, select cuts you can buy in small amounts — ground meat, liver, shoulder, rib or loin chops, steak (when you can afford it), frankfurters, a ham slice or shoulder or chuck meat cubes for kebabs or stew.

Unless you are adept at disguising leftovers or have a food freezer where you can store leftovers for future "planned-over" meals, save the roasts for "company dinners."

You can get chicken or turkey by the piece, either fresh or frozen, and you can choose from a wide variety of sea food, including fresh or frozen fillets or small whole fish as well as canned tuna, salmon and crab meat.

Experience Will Teach You
Only experience will really teach you how to buy the right amounts of fresh vegetables. For instance, for two people you need about a pound and a half of fresh peas or asparagus but only a half pound of carrots, Brussels sprouts or green beans.

Buy potatoes in three or five pound bags so they'll be used up before they start to sprout.

Frozen vegetables and fruit present less of a problem. You can use a package of frozen food, wrap the remainder and store in the evaporator of your refrigerator

First CBS Color Telecast Hits Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The first telecast using the CBS color system was received here Monday from New York.

A demonstration program was arranged by CBS and presented at Merchandise Mart in connection with the annual furniture show.

A network spokesman said the telecast was well received and that even some "competitors" commented on the high color fidelity of the system. The show featured a pretty girl modelling colorful clothes chosen to show the range of the system.

The spokesman said that color adapters for present black-and-white receivers have been on the market for about a week and that the demand of set-owners should be filled by the end of the year.

For the demonstration CBS used a new receiver capable of being switched from black-and-white to color with the twist of a knob.

Giants Down Cardinals in 12, 5-4; Cubs Ninth Inning Rally Tops Braves

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The New York Giants outlasted the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, in 12 innings Monday night, with Monte Irvin driving in Hank Thompson with the winning run with a single. Thompson had doubled and advanced on two walks.

The Giants took a 4-2 lead on homers by Whitey Lockman, Willie Mays and Alvin Dark but Willie Westlake sent the game into extra innings with a two-run single in the ninth.

Sal Maglie, pitching in relief, was credited with his 11th victory against three defeats. Cloyd Boyer was the third Cardinal pitcher and the loser. The game drew 16,201 fans.

After Thompson doubled to right, Boyer, purposely walked Lockman and then walked Westlake unintentionally, filling the bases. As the winning run scored on Irvin's single to the left field wall, Lockman was put out in a rundown.

Two were out when Westlake, acquired by the Cards from Pittsburgh last week, tied the count, 4-4 with his single.

Mays put the Giants ahead 3-2 with a two-run homer in the seventh, and Dark hammered his homer with none on in the ninth.

Whitey Lockman's homer tied the score 1-1 in the fourth.

But the Cardinals forged ahead 2-1 in the sixth with a big assist from Dark, who made two errors.

Bruce Edwards
Hitting for Chicago

Cubs 5, Braves 4

CHICAGO (AP) — A ninth-inning double by Bruce Edwards and Bob Borkowski's single gave the Chicago Cubs a 5-4 victory over the Boston Braves Monday before 6,546 fans.

Winning their second of three games since their four player swap with Brooklyn that brought Edwards to Chicago, the Cubs made 12 hits against Vern Bickford, Dave Cole and Sid Schacht.

Frank Hiller, the Cubs' starter, had to have help from Dutch Leonard, but Johnny Klippstein saved the game. Klippstein stopped a ninth inning Braves' rally after they had put two runners on base with none out.

It looked like the see-saw battle would go into extra innings when Edwards came to bat in the last of the ninth with the bases empty. But the Cub catcher poked a hit to short right field and stretched it to a double. Borkowski slashed a single down the right field line to end the game.

The Cubs took the lead in the second inning, when Edwards got a base on balls and moved to second on an infield out. He scored on Eddie Miksis' single.

Chisox Invade Yankee Stadium For Crucial 4 Game Series

NEW YORK (AP) — The high-flying Chicago White Sox, fresh from a twin killing of the Philadelphia Athletics, slipped into New York Monday and did some fast resting-up in preparation for their four big ones against the Yankees, starting with a doubleheader today.

This might well prove the series that answers the question of the hour—is manager Paul Richards' speedy crew really taking aim at the American League flag, or has it been playing far over its head? Most baseball people are beginning to suspect very strongly that the Sox aren't fooling.

It looked as though the crack-up might have come when the wonder boys from the west dropped three straight last week to the inoffensive Athletics, but the manner in which they bounced back with two victories Sunday altered the picture.

A crowd of 40,000 is expected to witness today's pair, with perhaps another 30,000 attending each of the singles on Wednesday and Thursday. The Sox have played only once before at the Stadium this season, and local fans are curious as to what makes them tick.

Going into the important set, the Sox still had a comfortable three and one-half game lead over the runner-up world champions. A sweep of the four would, of course, vault Casey Stengel's team into the top berth, but that would appear a very remote possibility.

The last time the two clubs met at Chicago, the Bombers took three out of four, and their season's edge over the leaders is Lean Paul Richards has south-paws Billy Pierce and Marv Rotblatt to throw at his pursuers today.

For the Yanks, it will be Vic Raschi, the team's big 10-game winner, and Stubby Overmire, the lefthanded cutie who came to the Stadium in a last-minute trade with the St. Louis Browns.

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Williams, Notre Dame's record-breaking passer, Monday became the first collegian to accept a bid for the all-star football game against the Cleveland Browns at Soldier Field Aug. 17.

The star quarterback from Baltimore, Md., who is under contract to the Chicago Bears, last season completed 190 passes and owns six Notre Dame aerial marks.

Suggs 7 Below Par In Western Open Golf

By WILL GRIMSLEY
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Louise Suggs, a par-cracking cracker from Georgia, forged the best round of golf of her career—a scorching 68—over the White Marsh country club course Monday to win medalist honors in the Women's Western open tournament.

The sweet-swinging little miss from Dixie whittled seven strokes from the layout's 38-37—75 women's par to overshadow her main rivals—Babe Didrikson Zaharias and Patty Berg—for the match-play championship beginning today.

The Babe, defending champion and four-time winner, showed the strain of the 180-hole, cross-country Weathervane and barely sneaked into the title flight with a lackadaisical 41-42-83.

Minneapolis sturdy readhead, Patty Berg, qualified easily with a 37-36-73. Patty, a three-time Western champion, beat the Babe in the rich Weathervane by a stroke in Sunday's playoff.

It was Miss Suggs' show all the way Monday as the freckle-faced Carrollton, Ga., girl, also a triple winner, hung up the second best round in the tournament's 22-year-old existence, and came within two strokes of equalling the course record for both men and women.

The best qualifying score ever shot in the Western Open was Grace Lenzyk's 66 at Oklahoma City in 1949. Joe Kirkwood, Jr., set the White Marsh record with a 66, also in 1949.

Miss Suggs' round was all the more remarkable because she played the layout from the men's tees and over the full 6,670-yard distance. Men's par is 36-36-72.

The second low qualifier was Helen Dettweiler of Indio, Calif., 1939 Western Open champion, with 32-39-71. Then came Betsy Rawls of Austin, Tex., with 36-36-72; Miss Berg and Beverly Hanson of Pasadena, Calif., the National Amateur champion, with 41-33-74.

The cut off point at determining the championship flight of 32 was a score of 85.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Radio station WCCO announced Monday that Bernie Bierman, ex-University of Minnesota football coach, had signed a contract to broadcast a commentary on all Minnesota games this fall.

Details of his salary were not released by the radio station. The announcement stated that the former gridiron mentor would broadcast an analysis and commentary of all University of Minnesota football games at home and away this fall.

He will work the games in conjunction with Halsey Hall, Stewart MacPherson and Babe Levior, WCCO's regular sports-casters. The radio station said that Bierman would continue to broadcast a Sunday afternoon show in which he commented on the Saturday games.

WCCO is one of the seven stations owned and operated by the Columbia Broadcasting Co. Bierman said earlier Monday he had no comment to make on a part-time position offered him by the University of Minnesota regents. He said he hadn't learned anything officially about the job which would pay him $2,500 yearly for a "consultant post" and that he didn't know if he would accept or not.

Under the regents' proposal, Bierman would have to devote "one-third" of his time to the university. He recently turned down a $7,500 yearly full professorship at the school.

Bierman has been scheduled to sever his relations with the school June 30.

Carter, Graziano Score Knockouts

FALL RIVER, MASS. (AP) — Lightweight Champion Jimmy Carter of New York knocked out Chuck Boucher of Newark, N.J., with a right to the body in 2:35 of the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round heavyweight boxing bout Monday night at the stadium.

Both weighed 140. It was Carter's first competitive appearance since he dethroned Ike Williams.

A slim outdoor crowd of 970 saw Carter start slowly. Boucher, outboxed—the new titlist by a slight margin during the first two sessions.

But Carter started slugging in the third and gave Moucher considerable two-fisted body punishment.

Baltimore (AP) — Former Middleweight Champion Rocky Graziano of New York knocked out Freddy Lott of Newark, N.J., in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-rounder here Monday night.

It looked like the fight would be a close one, but Lott was out of it in the fifth round.

Another Comeback Hero

— Is Patty Berg

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Patty Berg urged her weary body toward a divan in the press room at the ultra-swank Deepdale golf club, and plopped down on the soft cushions with a grateful sigh.

"Oooh," she exclaimed, suddenly clasping her left knee, "my leg hurts."

Then you remember. Remembered that this stocky, freckled gal with the flaming hair and engaging grin who had just bested the redoubtable Babe Didrikson Zaharias in a grueling 36-hole playoff for the Weathervane championship once made a comeback quite as spectacular as that of Ben Hogan, although less publicized.

Dec. 21, 1941, with her golf career just reaching full bloom, she suffered a shattered left knee in an automobile accident in Texas, where Hogan also had his near-tragic crash.

For 18 tortured months her leg was in a cast, with her golf future hazy, to say the least. She practically had to learn to walk again when the plaster finally was removed, but with the same indomitable will that brought Hogan back to health and new glories she fought her way back to tournament competition.

And to carry the parallel still farther, she returned to win the first tournament she entered, taking the Western Women's Open title in July of 1943, just 19 months after the sickening crunch of shattering bones had seemed to mark the end to her career.

That the old injury still troubled her Monday is understandable. After all, she herself pointed out, "playing the Babe is just like bucking the Minnesota line all afternoon."

So, within a day, the two once-crippled stars—Hogan and Patty—had won events which rated them, for that particular time at least, as the best golfers in the world in their respective classes. Maybe a sure way to achieve excellence in the sport is to go and get yourself busted up real good in an accident.

Patty's triumph was achieved in dramatic fashion over a rival as implacable as herself. The two are good friends, but on a golf course they'll methodically try to knock each other's brains out. Figuratively speaking, of course.

Iowa Citizens Win

KANSAS CITY — Jamie Andrews and Ruth Ashton, Iowa City's entries in the Heart of America tennis tournament here won their matches with ease Monday.

In the junior boys division, Andrews defeated Lester Siegel of Kansas City, 6-0, 6-1. It was a first round match.

In a second round match in the girls' junior division, Miss Ashton bested Carol Bodendieck of Kansas City, 6-0, 6-1.

CHICAGO (AP) — Richie Ashburn, Philadelphia center fielder, and Al Dark, New York shortstop, have forged into the lead in their positions over two highly-touted Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League division of the all-star poll.

Ashburn has taken a lead of 2,223 votes over Duke Snider of the Dodgers. Ashburn has 68,739 votes to Snider's 66,418 in the latest tabulation in the contest center at the Chicago Tribune.

Dark has soared past Peewee Reese of Brooklyn, who has appeared in five of the all-star games as a National League shortstop. In the American League voting, Phil Rizzuto, premier New York shortstop, took a shot lead over Chicago's Chico Carrasquel. Rizzuto's total is 75,818 to Carrasquel's 73,402.

The St. Louis Cardinal left fielder, Stan Musial, continued to be the best individual vote-getter with a total of 89,126.

National League: First base, Kiner, Pittsburgh, 69,518; second base, Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, 81,986; third base, Bob Elliott, Boston, 74,558; shortstop, Al Dark, New York, 67,397; right field, Frank Baumholtz, Chicago, 66,474.

Middle-of-Road Parties Claim Victory in French Elections

PARIS (AP) — The middle-of-the-road parties of France claimed victory in the general election Monday night as returns indicated the new national assembly would lean farther to the right than the old one.

Premier Henri Queuille, leader of the center coalition which has governed France for the past five years, said "the government had hopes. They have not been disappointed."

The middle-of-the-road parties definitely are emerging with a majority in the new assembly. But this combination covers such a wide spread of economic and social views that it probably will have to lean to the right to stay in power.

These other facts emerged from the Sunday voting: Gen. Charles De Gaulle's rally of the French people (RPF), lifted from the Communists the title of "first party in parliament". But the Communists can still claim the title of "largest party in France" on the basis of their popular vote.

It looked as though the Communists would be down to about 10 seats from the 183 which they and their fellow travelers had in the old assembly. De Gaulle probably has improved his standing from about a dozen seats to 115 or more in his first general election.

But the Communists still polled 22.2 per cent of the popular vote, down from 28.6 per cent they tallied in 1946.

The voters balloted in 90 departments of France itself, three departments in North Africa, and three colonial constituencies.

Iowa City Women Elected to Offices

Two Iowa City women were elected to office here Monday at the state meeting of the Iowa War Dads and women's auxiliary. Mrs. Mabelle Stevens was elected sergeant-at-arms and Mrs. Zilpha Diltz was named auxiliary council woman-at-large.

Richmond Peterson, Council Bluffs, was elected president of the organization and Mrs. Charles Drake, Atlantic, was elected president of the auxiliary.

Patrick Nelson, director of Boys Town, Neb., and national president of War Dads, was the main speaker.

House Deals Blow To Taft Reelection Investigation Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house Monday dealt a setback to the pending senate investigation of the 1950 Ohio election in which Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) won reelection over Democrat Joseph T. Ferguson.

It defeated, 164 to 120, a resolution to exempt Robert T. Murphy, Washington lawyer, from the "conflict of interest" laws so he could direct the investigation.

A solid bloc of Republicans, aided by some southern Democrats, voted against the resolution.

The conflict of interest laws prohibit persons working for the government from practicing before government bodies or doing business with government agencies for two years after they leave the federal payroll.

The investigation was ordered by the senate elections subcommittee April 24. It has been held up until a counsel would take over to direct work of the investigators.

Taft said he had no comment on the house action, but of the investigation itself, he remarked: "It's all right with me."

The investigation will look into complaints of allegedly heavy campaign spending and the use of scurrilous literature.

State to Allow 19 More Liquors, Wines on Sale

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa liquor control commission approved 19 more liquors and wines to be placed on sale in the state stores.

The new brands approved are subject to a chemical analysis report. The analysis is expected to take about two weeks.

Commission officials said it probably would be at least a month before the new brands would be placed on sale in the stores.

Germans Learn Visual Aids

German Educators Visit SUI As Part of Nationwide Tour

Four German educators are on the SUI campus this week to take part in adult workshops, education classes and study methods in visual aids and text books for elementary schools.

Included in the group are Prof. Eva Hahndorff, lecturer in adult education at a Berlin high school; Mrs. Grete Wollmann, adult education leader in Frankfurt; Walter Berger, Munich, visual aids instructor, and Wolfgang Brudny, Munich, member of an educational film company.

The group is touring the United States under the sponsorship of the Division of International Educational Relations. Purpose of their visit is to get a broader and more sympathetic understanding of American life, culture and ideals.

They will be in Iowa for three weeks, visiting adult education classes in Des Moines, Ames and Cedar Falls. Leaving Iowa, they will tour leading cities in eastern United States, visiting New York city.

Washington, D. C. and Ithaca, N. Y.

During their stay here, the two women will attend the SUI Child Welfare conference and the Junior college workshop.

Berger, is studying methods in visual aids, and text books for elementary schools. Brudny, a Ph.D. degree candidate at the Munich university, is also interested in visual aids.

The group visited SUI adult education classes Monday morning, toured the university audio-visual aids departments and the typographical laboratory in the SUI journalism school in the afternoon.

Prof., Mrs. Wylie Return From Astronomers' Meet

Prof. and Mrs. C. C. Wylie returned Sunday from a convention of Mid-States Astronomers held at the Morrison Observatory at Central college, Fayette, Mo.

They attended the conference Saturday and Sunday. Wylie presented an address, "Stone-dropping Meteors and Their Meteorites."

Labor's Sentiments Reflect Fears of Insecurity: Daykin

Labor's sentiment against cost-reduction work reflects a fear of insecurity and is actually not a struggle against the machine itself, Prof. Walter L. Daykin said Monday at SUI's 12th annual summer management course.

Speaking to more than 100 corporation executives attending the course, the labor economics professor emphasized that labor's attitude toward cost-reduction work is determined by its effect on its security.

Pointing out that this attitude is not unusual, Daykin asked the group to consider the effect that trucks have had on railroads, and the radio on newspapers.

Daykin cited several problems which cost-reduction work might create. He said it might have the effect of creating a more equitable distribution of wealth if labor did not share the benefits, or if it is introduced when labor is already in bad economic straits.

$1.5 Billion For Shows

WASHINGTON (AP)—The census bureau reported Monday that Americans spent $1.5 billion going to the movies in 1948—including $85.8 million for popcorn, candy, chewing gum and the like bought in motion picture theaters.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Orr

Married Couple Studies Printing Trade at SUI

A Fort Dodge couple, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Orr, drive from Cedar Rapids to Iowa City everyday to punch the keyboard of a linotype machine and get their hands covered with ink—and they love it.

"The Orrs are the first man and wife team to enroll in the journalism course, linesteering machine operation and care.

Learning a job in the male dominated "back-shop" trade of the newspaper industry was tough but Mrs. Orr had to surmount an even tougher barrier. The Orrs have two children and had nobody to care for them while attending school.

Mrs. Orr solved that one by making the older child the baby sitter.

A yearning to own their own country weekly got the Orrs into SUI's linotype course.

"We'll have a lot of fun making a living in this business," Orr smiled, "the work is interesting and we learn something new everyday."

A life-long left-hander, Mrs. Orr has been able to master the printer's habit of holding a composing stick in her left hand and sorting type with her right.

Orr, veteran of three years of duty on a submarine in World War II, said he became interested in printing after he took a job as a "printer's devil" in a Fort Dodge shop after the war.

He continued his printing training in Fort Dodge for several years under the GI bill.

Mrs. Orr is no stranger to a printed job either. She was employed in job shops in Minneapolis, Minn. for a few years and worked in a bindery in Fort Dodge. She is a veteran of 21 months service with the Women's Auxiliary Air Force during World War II.

With a "family paper" as their goal, the Orrs hope to learn most of the production methods of newspapering during the summer session.

"We'll find out whether we can do it this summer," Orr said. "When we finish the course we will take jobs in a shop somewhere and after some additional practical experience we may be on our own."

Can a left-handed gal learn to set type and run a linotype machine as well as a man — "We'll see about that," laughed Mrs. Orr.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

EVERYTHING happens in California. In a local golf tournament there two summers ago, for instance, a finalist had to win the thirty-sixth hole to tie up his match. Sinking a long putt would do it for him.

The golfer's aim was true, but unfortunately, the ball stopped on the very edge of the cup. The audience sighed with disappointment, and the loser started to cross the green to congratulate his opponent, when a tremor shook the earth. Dishes and window panes in the club house rattled—and the golfer's ball plumped into the cup! There being nothing in the rule book covering earthquakes, our hero was credited with the hole and went on to win the championship on the thirty-seventh!

A fashionable Park Avenue doctor recently entertained Beatrice Lillie at a soiree, and served lobster salad as the main course. "I find this so hard to digest," said Miss Lillie to her host. "Do you really like it?"

The doctor assured her, "I not only like lobster salad I'm grateful to it."

Women Voters Find Movies Favorite Iowa City Pastime

Movies are preferred by Iowa Citizens more than any recreational activity available to them, a survey by the Iowa City League of Women Voters showed Monday.

Results of the survey were presented at a recreation workshop held in the Iowa Memorial Union. Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the SUI women's physical education department, and one of her classes helped conduct the survey.

Varied interests are evident from the survey, with picnics, reading, cards, radio, sewing, boating, dancing, swimming and gardening ranking high as preferred activities.

More than 800 Iowa Citizens were contacted for the survey, with 482 of them submitting replies.

In addition, members of the League of Women Voters surveyed the available facilities in Iowa City and found that they were adequate for the amount and type of recreation desired by local residents.

Other results shown by the survey were the following:

1. Older persons have fewer interests and these are more highly individualized than those of younger persons. The only activity enjoyed by a majority of the 60 or over age group is gardening.

2. Reading is more popular in every age group than is radio. Reading of comics by the younger groups probably raised this total.

3. Not many Iowa Citizens feel the need for kinds of activity they do not have.

4. Fine and applied arts and crafts are not widely enjoyed. Music does not go above the 50 per cent mark with any group nor even rank among the top ten activities in any age group.

Hungarian-Born Atomic Scientist Resigns from Navy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy announced Monday it has accepted the resignation of Dr. Stephen Brunauer, Hungarian-born atomic scientist who had been suspended "as a security risk."

Brunauer, 48, recently attacked in a senate speech by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) as one of the figures in an atomic spy ring, has been under suspension since April 10.

Both he and his wife, a state department employee, have repeatedly denied charges of subversion leveled against both of them by McCarthy for almost two years.

In a statement Monday night, Brunauer admitted "past mistakes" in associating himself with the Communist 25 years ago. He said, however, the navy "did not suggest that I have violated security or have been negligent or careless in guarding the secrets with which I was entrusted."

Declaring that he is "intensely loyal to the United States" and "never committed or contemplated an act of disloyalty to my country or its armed services in my life," Brunauer said:

"I am sure that some place in the investigative process a terrible mistake has been made."

But he said he had resigned because his continued employment must have been "a source of embarrassment" to the navy.

As a civilian, Brunauer has been chief chemist in the research and development section of the navy's bureau of ordnance. During World War II Brunauer, a U.S. citizen for 25 years, was a navy commander. He had clearance to the atomic bomb project and aided preparations for the 1946 Bikini atom bomb tests.

His wife, a state department liaison officer with the United Nations, also has been under suspension. The state department said Monday it would take a "new look" at her case, in view of the navy action.

The department had said she was suspended solely because of navy charges against Brunauer and not because of any information against her.

Typhus, Smallpox Killing Red Troops Says U.S. General

WASHINGTON (AP)—Brig. Gen. Crawford F. Sams, who slipped behind the enemy lines in Korea on a daring mission to check reports of bubonic plague, said Monday that "hundreds of thousands" of Communist troops and North Korean civilians have been killed by typhus, smallpox and typhoid fever.

Sams, an army physician, would not comment on a report that smallpox cases have occurred among American troops. He said only that vaccine immunization is relative and a vaccinated person might catch the disease from an extremely large dose of germs.

He told newsmen at a Pentagon briefing that hemorrhagic smallpox and typhoid epidemics still are raging among enemy troops and North Koreans and the Communists lack both equipment and knowledge to cope with them.

Hemorrhagic smallpox is a particularly potent type in which the face turns black in the final stages as in bubonic plague. Typhoid probably would become worse this summer, Sams said, and last month and this month would be the first time of year for typhus.

Mountaineers Try Alaska

20 Members of SUI Group to Leave Aug. 10 On 12th Summer Climbing Expedition

Twenty members of the Iowa Mountaineers, will take part in the 1951 summer expedition to McKinley National park in Alaska this summer.

Leaving Iowa City on Aug. 10, the group will drive via Edmonton and the Alaska highway to Fairbanks, Alaska. From there they will take the Alaska railroad to McKinley National park, then drive by bus to Wonder lake, where a base camp will be set up.

Members of the group who are experienced climbers will visit the McGonigal pass area for seven to ten days, after which they will proceed by train to Anchorage. Their bus will take them from Anchorage to Valdez, where they will board the passenger liner, S.S. Baranoff, on Aug. 30.

They will sail the Inlet passage to Seattle and arrive there on Sept. 5. After climbing Mt. St. Helens, the Mountaineers will start their homeward trip over the Columbia River highway. They plan to arrive in Iowa City Sept. 9.

This is the 12th year the mountain climbing club has conducted the summer expedition, and, according to John Ebert, club president, this will be the largest group ever taken on such an extended mountain climbing venture.

In its 12 years of mountain climbing history, the club has enjoyed many "firsts." In 1947, members scaled the peaks of the Sawtooth range in Idaho and named one of the mountains Mt. Hancher for Pres. Virgil M. Hancher.

In 1948, 16 members climbed Devil's Tower in Wyoming and camped overnight. The 16 Mountaineers equalled the total number of persons who had preceded them in the climb up the historic Devil's Tower.

Leader of the Alaskan expedition will be Ebert, chief operator and technical supervisor of university radio station WSUI. Prof. Arthur Wendler, physical education department, will accompany the group as chaperone.

Their expedition will be photographed by members Joe and Edith Stetner, Iowa City. Mrs. Ebert, a registered nurse, will also accompany the group.

Why Hurry?

Congress Wants Clerk, Not Machine

WASHINGTON (AP)—In 1869 Thomas A. Edison applied for his first patent. It was an automatic roll call machine, designed to speed up congress.

Congress never paid any attention. Monday Marshall F. Thompson and Charles F. Thompson, who run an automatic roll call machine company in Richmond, Va., were in town, trying to succeed where Edison failed 82 years ago.

They gave a demonstration in the senate caucus room on how the contraption works. They had senators and representatives do some practice voting.

Although most of the comments appeared to be favorable, the consensus was that congress would continue to vote by having a clerk bawl out the names (96 in the senate, 435 in the house). For, as many a man besides Edison has learned, it's hard to hurry congress.

Rep. John Phillips (R-Calif.) turned out to be a pro-roll call machine man.

But, said Phillips, moodily: "In congress, we still think what was good enough for Thomas Jefferson is good enough for us."

Navy Plane Crash Kills 12 in Japan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twelve navy crewmen were killed last Friday when a PBM mariner seaplane crashed into a mountainside at Iwakuni, Japan, shortly after it took off in early morning darkness, the navy disclosed Monday.

The plane was on what was described as a "routine operational flight." The navy said the cause of the crash has not yet been determined.

Those killed in the crash included: Aviation electricians mate 3/C Robert E. Reinke, husband of Mrs. Wanda Juanita Reinke, 2743 Morgan st., Sioux City, Iowa.

Airman Ignatius T. Martinez, brother of Elias Martinez, 900 Illinois st., Lemont, Ill.

Aviation machinists mate 1/C Dwight E. Asby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Lincoln Asby, 708 N. Lincoln st., Mount Pleasant, Iowa.

MORE RETURNEES — SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Another shipload of veterans of the Korean fighting will return Thursday morning, the army said Monday.

Directors Named For IC Playgrounds

Directors for four Iowa City summer playgrounds were announced Monday by the Iowa City recreation commission.

They are Hollis Falt and Wava Isaacson, Brown st. playground; Mrs. Margaret Tweeten and Schell Jones, Benton st. playground; Bill Walzem and Mrs. Donna Weir, Longfellow school playground, and Bob Leonard and Mrs. Olyla Thoecke, Roosevelt school playground.

The playgrounds opened Monday and will remain open until Aug. 24, with the exception of Saturdays.

Activities scheduled for the week are a family night program, jacks tournament, safety games and stories, learning to read and art games.

Iowa Chaplain Honored — MASSENA (AP)—The Rev. Joseph Develin, Massena, Iowa department chaplain of the American Legion, was honored Monday night at a farewell party in advance of his departure for active duty with the army.
