Senate, House Groups Vote To Relax Present Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house banking committee voted Tuesday night to force the government to relax credit controls on automobiles, TV and radio sets and other major household items.

It also joined the senate banking committee in flatly rejecting the government's request for commercial rent control powers.

The night-session actions capped a day of administration setbacks in its drive for tighter controls. Both senate and house banking committees chipped away at existing control powers in the law which expires June 30.

The senate group voted to extend wage-price-rent controls for only eight months beyond the expiration date. The administration wanted a two-year extension.

It also decided to scuttle Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle's two remaining beef price roll-backs. The price chief complained the action would just about kill the consumer's chances of getting cheaper clothes, shoes and other items as well as cheaper beef.

DiSalle said he would send protest briefs to both the senate group and the house banking committee which likewise voted to kill further beef roll-backs. The protest was likely to fall on deaf ears, since the house committee refused to reconsider the action in a 12-12 tie vote Tuesday.

Relaxations in credit curbs approved by the house committee, as compared with present controls, were as follows:

New automobiles — one-third down and 18 months to pay, compared with the present one-third down and 15 months.

Used cars — one-fourth down and 18 months, in place of the present one-third and 15.

Television and radio sets — 15 per cent down and 18 months to pay, compared with 25 per cent and 15 months.

Household furniture and furnishings — 10 per cent down and 21 months, instead of 15 per cent and 15 months.

Residential repairs — 10 per cent and 36 months, compared with 10 per cent and 30 months.

The senate committee also had joined in rebuffing President Truman by agreeing to stretch new and used car payments over 18 months, although it did not alter other credit standards.

Future Votes Gone Glimmering ...

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman asked congress Tuesday for money to finance development of a substitute for castor oil.

But children may take no comfort. The synthetic would be for industrial use.

Pilots' Strike Halts All United Airlines Flights

CHICAGO (UP) — A strike of 900 pilots and co-pilots halted all flights on United Airline's 13,250-mile system Tuesday and the national mediation board directed the strikers to return to work.

The strike began abruptly before dawn at Chicago and quickly spread to other terminals. United then cancelled all commercial flights on a system extending from the east coast westward to Honolulu.

UAL said it has some 600 flights a day and carries an average of 7,200 passengers daily.

In Washington Thomas E. Bickers, secretary of the mediation board, called upon the AFL airline pilots' association to end the walkout. Bickers said mediation services of the board are being withdrawn until the strike is ended.

The board called the walkout "inimicable to the public interest during this period of the national defense emergency."

In a telegram to David Behnke, president of the union, Bickers said he should inform his members of the board action and "direct them to return to service."

Behnke had defended the strike as legal, but Bickers said this was incorrect and that the union violated an "understanding" that there would be no strike pending mediation.

When the strike started, hundreds of passengers were stranded for a time. A scheduled baseball game between the San Francisco Seals and the Seattle Rainiers was cancelled when the Rainiers were land-bound at Seattle by the strike.

Picket lines appeared at some terminals, manned by pilots who may earn more than $1,200 a month.

The dispute involved pay scales, but was based in large part on technological progress that has put faster and bigger ships in the hands of pilots and co-pilots.

Britain Restricts Trade With Chinese Reds

LONDON (AP) — Britain ordered strict licensing control of all exports to China and Hong Kong Tuesday to keep strategic war materials out of the hands of Communist forces in Korea.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, president of the board of trade, announced in commons that the controls would become effective June 25.

Badger said that early in 1948, U.S. experts on the scene thought that Chiang had a "better than 50-50" chance to win critical battlefield victories over the Communist armies in 1948.

The admiral, former Far Eastern naval chief and now commandant of the Eastern sea frontier, testified before the senate committee investigating the dismissal of G. B. Douglas MacArthur.

Badger disappointed Republican senators, who had counted on him to support MacArthur's proposals for expanding the Korean war, by saying that he is opposed to air attacks on Red Manchurian bases "at the present time."

Asserting that "we can lick them in Korea" with the strategy now being followed, he warned that American forces would not "derive one-sided benefit" from extending the air war into Manchuria.

But his sharp criticism of American arms aid to China during the critical days of the Chinese civil war was a direct contradiction of administration statements that the Nationalists never lost a battle for lack of U.S. arms.

Badger agreed with Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other administration witnesses that the U.S. sent a great deal of arms to Chiang Kai-Shek's forces. But he said the aid program was often undermined by sending the wrong things at the wrong time.

"We sent a lot of stuff over there, but it wasn't planned," he

Iran Rejects British Reply; Seizure Feared

TEHRAN (AP) — Iran rejected Britain's reply to an ultimatum threatening summary seizure of the billion-dollar Anglo-Iranian oil company and the crucial negotiations broke down Tuesday night.

"There is no way out, no peaceful solution in sight," Kazam Hassibi, Iranian negotiator, said after an 80-minute meeting with representatives of the concern about which the oil dispute revolved.

Meanwhile, unconfirmed reports from Cyprus said the 3,000 strong British 16th parachute brigade was on a standby alert.

Authorities in both London and Cyprus refused to confirm or deny the report.

It was indicated all British nationals would be evacuated from the Iranian oil fields with British air and naval assistance if it was decided to withdraw the tanker fleet.

Basil R. Jackson, deputy chairman of the company, said after the meeting that he was going to wire London for instructions, and "there is no doubt what they will be — they will be to come home."

The foundering of the negotiations before they were well begun set the stage for execution of the Iranian ultimatum — seizure of the oil fields and their fixtures, including the world's greatest refinery at Abadan, at dawn today.

Summer Tuition

Tuition for the 1951 summer session must be paid today or Thursday to avoid late fee penalties.

Fees for the colleges of liberal arts, commerce, education, engineering, graduate and law are $50 for full time work of four or more hours.

Treasurer Flave L. Hamborg reminded veterans and holders of appointments and scholarships to call at his office to complete their registration by signing rebate vouchers.

Hail, Wind Storms Hit Central Iowa

Heavy winds, rain and hail pounded a wide area of central Iowa late Tuesday, leaving extensive damage in their wake.

The heaviest damage was reported along a 50-mile path from McCallsburg in northern Story county to Toledo and Tama in Tama county.

The twisting wind hurled farm buildings, telephone poles and large trees onto U.S. highway 63 north of Tama, blocking the road.

At McCallsburg, more than 200 glass panes were broken in the high school, and many business establishments and churches had windows blown in. Heavy water damage was reported from the violent rains.

In Iowa City, CAA officials said there was no sign of hail here, although a few showers fell Tuesday evening.

Truman Signs New Draft Bill; Men 18½-35 Subject To Call

Truman Signs New Draft Bill into Law

PRESIDENT TRUMAN TUESDAY SIGNED the new draft bill into law. The bill includes for the first time a start toward universal military training. Secretary of Defense George Marshall and Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense, were among military, congressional and other leaders who witnessed the ceremony in the president's White House office. The new law lowers the draft age from 19 to 18½ and requires 24 instead of 21 months' service.

U.S. Surplus Arms Sent to Tito's Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is sending Yugoslavia a "small quantity" of surplus U.S. arms to help Marshal Tito's anti-Russian government maintain its independence, defense department officials revealed Tuesday.

They added, however, that no decision has been reached yet on sending Tito's Communist government more substantial arms aid under the military assistance program.

A defense department spokesman said the current program involves only a "token" shipment of light arms which are being sent to Yugoslavia on an outright gift basis. He said he believed at least part of the arms already have been delivered.

The question of including Tito's government under the military assistance program is more far-reaching since it presumably would mean diverting at least some U.S. arms aid from other pact members such as Britain and France.

'Gifts' Accepted by FHA, Official Tells Congress

WASHINGTON (UP) — Congress was informed Tuesday that every employee of the local government housing agency here accepted television sets, cases of liquor and other gifts from firms doing business with that agency.

Simultaneously Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan announced the dismissal of Guy W. Cravens, an official in the Minneapolis office of the production and marketing administration, on grounds he accepted "favors" from a warehouse firm doing business with the government.

Comptroller Gen. Lindsay C. Warren disclosed the housing agency "gift" case at the opening hearing of a senate subcommittee investigating government morality. Warren did not name the agency, but said its head had forced return of the gifts when he learned about them.

A spokesman for Warren's general accounting office identified

Congress Must Approve UMT On Later Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman signed a new draft law Tuesday which lowers the induction age to 18½ and provides the framework for the nation's first peacetime universal military training program.

The new draft law also drastically tightens up deferments for an estimated 385,000 registrants 19 through 25 and will subject another 2,424,000 men to possible military service until they reach 35.

If and when UMT goes into effect, all men will be called at the age of 18 for six months training. The program cannot be started until the need for the draft is past.

The Pentagon wanted a UMT program which would go into effect automatically whenever it was possible to halt the draft. But congress compromised on a stand-by program, requiring specific approval by congress later on.

Mr. Truman signed the bill at a White House ceremony attended by Defense Secretary George C. Marshall, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey, Earle Coeke Jr., national commander of the American Legion, and ranking members of the house and senate armed services committees.

Marshall said in a statement that the new law provides an "enduring base" for America's defense structure and amounts to notification to the world that this nation intends to remain strong.

Marshall said the UMT provision will enable the United States to remain strong without wrecking the economy "no matter how long the present world tension may continue." He later told a national war college graduating class that some congressmen are trying to "skymie" UMT but voiced confidence they will fail.

The new law extends the current 21-month draft term to two years and provides that organized reservists and national guardsmen, who have been or may be called to active duty, also must serve 24 months instead of 21.

Veterans of World War II, however, who have been called back to duty from the inactive reserve since Korea are guaranteed "the right to get out after 17 months service."

While the registration age stays at 18, the new law sets induction age limits at 18½ through 25, as opposed to 19 through 25 under the present law.

Congressional experts believe it will be months or even years before any registrant under 19 is inducted, however, since each local board first must call all available men 19 and over.

Married men without children and with no dependents other than wives will be the first to feel the effects of the tightened-up draft law. They lose their 3-A status although they may seek deferments on other grounds.

Under the new law, no registrant shall be deferred for dependency of wife alone, except in case of extreme hardship. Congressional experts estimated that 235,000 men now deferred will be re-classified 1-A under this provision.

Another new provision lowering the passing score on the army's induction test from 70 to 65 will bring in an estimated 150,000 present and potential 4-F's.

An additional 2,424,000 men who are deferred will be liable for military service until they attain 35. Formerly they could forget the draft when they reached 26.

Included are 1,137,000 men deferred for family reasons, 97,000 deferred for job and school, 90,000 deferred for farming, and about 1 million 4-F's. Men deferred in the future also will fall into this group.

The draft now is extended until July 1, 1955, instead of expiring July 9. There is no termination date set for the UMT program.

Men would serve either actively or in the reserves a total of eight years, both under the draft and UMT programs. This would mean six years in the reserves for men drafted for two years active duty, and seven-and-a-half years for trainees after six months UMT duty.

Spring Grades

Grades for the 1951 spring semester will be released today in room B-4, University hall, to liberal arts, commerce and graduate college students, Registrar Ted McCarrel said Tuesday.

Engineering, pharmacy and pharmacy grade reports will be released today through their respective college offices.

Reds Flee to Safety In Losing Challenge To Allied Air Force

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) — (AP) Bitter mountain fighting erupted on the eastern end of the Korean war front Tuesday while the Chinese Communist air force lost its challenge to Allied air superiority for the third straight day.

The Fifth air force announced that four Russian-made MIG jets were damaged when 30 enemy planes jumped 27 U.S. Sabre jets near the Manchurian border. Dog-fights blazed briefly for 30,000 feet on down, until the Reds broke off and fled north to safety.

That brought the bag of enemy planes destroyed or damaged since Sunday to 18, including six positively destroyed.

After Tuesday's action the Fifth air force failed to make its usual announcement that all U.S. planes returned safely, hinting there may have been some Allied losses.

During the last three days a total of 195 MIGs and Sabres have traded shots over so-called MIG alley near the Yalu river in extreme northwest Korea. It was the most determined appearance of the Red-nosed MIGs in several months, but apparently was no more successful than all the other encounters.

"Bed-check Charley", a single-engine Communist nuisance raider, was out again early Wednesday. The plane bombed and strafed the Uijongbu area about 10 miles north of Seoul.

Censorship blacked out details but AP correspondent Nate Polowitzky said it was believed "heavier and more serious" than previous attacks.

Scheduled as Last Witnesses in MacArthur Inquiry

THE LAST FOUR WITNESSES scheduled to appear before the senate committee investigating the MacArthur dismissal are (left to right) Patrick J. Hurley, former ambassador to China; Maj. Gen. Emmet O'Donnell, former commander of U. S. strategic bombing force in the Far East; Maj. Gen. David C. Barr, former commander of the U. S. seventh division in Korea and one-time chief of a U. S. military mission to China, and Vice Admiral Oscar Badger, former U. S. naval commander in the Far East. Badger took the witness stand Tuesday morning.

Iowans Win Awards At National 4-H Club Camp in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national 4-H club citation was given to eight persons Tuesday for their contributions to the nationwide development of the farm youth organization.

The awards were given at the 21st national 4-H club camp here. Award winners were: E. J. Leenhouts, manager, stock yards and agricultural development, New York Central Railroad, Rochester, N.Y.

Casper L. Mast Jr., editor, Agricultural Leaders Digest, Chicago, Ill.
Mrs. Jane Simpson McKinnon, educator and author, who pioneered in the development of home demonstration and girls' club work, Raleigh, N.C.

Emmie Nelson, field representative, National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago, Ill.
Mrs. Raymond A. Pearson, Women's National Farm and Garden association, Birmingham, Ala.

Ira O. Schaub, retired state director of extension work, Raleigh, N.C.

Paul S. Willis, president, Association of Grocery Manufacturers of America, New York City.

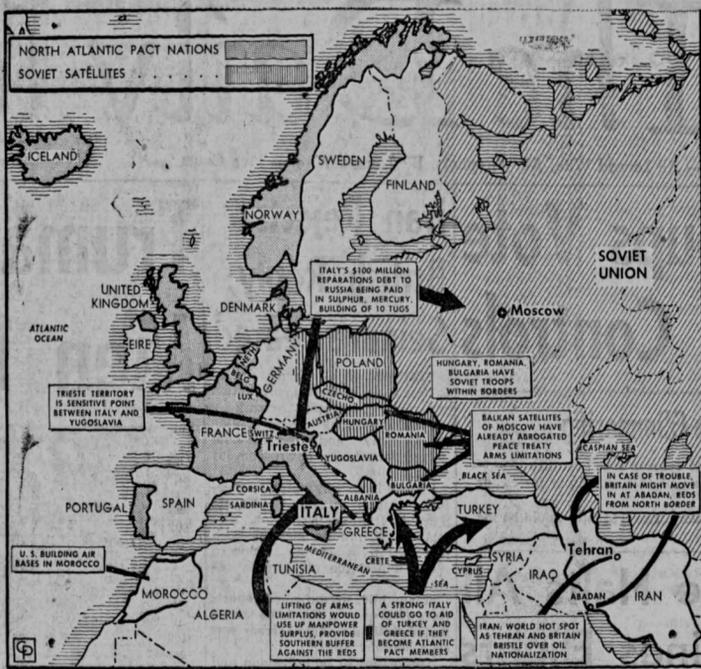

Eighteen former state 4-H club leaders, who retired after completing 25 or more years' service in the cooperative extension service, received similar awards.

They are W. C. Abbott, Louisiana; Mrs. Edith Barker, Iowa; T. L. Bewick, Wisconsin; R. W. Blacklock, Florida; A. J. Brundage, Connecticut; G. V. Cunningham, Georgia; G. A. Elean, Virginia; E. L. Ingalls, Vermont; E. G. Jenkins, Maryland.

W. J. Jernigan, Arkansas; Mrs. Harriet Johnson, South Carolina; Wakelin McNeil, Wisconsin; W. H. Palmer, Ohio; T. A. Sims, Alabama; Z. M. Smith, Indiana; J. E. Tanner, Mississippi; W. J. Wright, New York; I. D. Lewis, South Carolina.

Gold 4-H club keys were given to Ira J. Holler, Oklahoma, and Carl W. Jones, Kentucky, who have completed 25 years in extension work and now are on their state 4-H staffs.

Interpreting the News —

Moscow About Due To Try Another Bluff

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst

Students of Russian tactics, following all the talk in the MacArthur investigation about American weakness and efforts to avoid further conflict, would not be surprised if Moscow staged some new feeler expedition as a test.

The great effect of UN intervention in Korea was to warn the Soviet Union that the United States and her allies were prepared to resist aggression even if it occurred in an area of relatively low strategic importance.

Britain Threatens Tanker Withdrawal If Oil Fields Seized

LONDON (AP) — Britain prepared Tuesday to withdraw her tanker fleet from the Iranian oil trade if the Tehran government makes good its threat to seize the world's largest refinery at dawn today.

British sources claimed U.S. companies would withdraw their tankers also, if the British found such action necessary.

Simultaneously, British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison warned the Tehran government that "pistol-at-the-head" methods, such as the seizure ultimatum, make "reasonable negotiations" impossible.

"We believe a solution satisfactory to all can be found, but ultimate and prior conditions of this kind make reasonable negotiations impossible," Morrison said.

Tehran made the turnover of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company of 75 per cent of its revenues since March 29 a condition for negotiation of the oil dispute, with a deadline which expired Tuesday night.

Morrison agreed with Tory demands that appropriate steps must be taken to protect British lives in Iran. He declined to specify what measures are under consideration.

"I have said we must take proper steps and all the steps we can to protect British lives," he told the house of commons.

Deputy opposition leader Anthony Eden endorsed the government's determination to reject the Iranian ultimatum. He urged the government to ensure at least the passage of tankers to the refinery of Haifa in Israel, presently blocked by Egypt's refusal to allow their passage through the Suez canal.

Withdrawal of the British tanker fleet, said to represent one-seventh of the world total, would bring Iran's oil trade to a standstill almost immediately.

States and her allies were prepared to resist aggression even if it occurred in an area of relatively low strategic importance.

But much of the strength of that warning may now have been dissipated by the resulting arguments in Washington and between the Allies.

The Russians might very well believe now that, in view of the quandaries which Korea has produced, the Western powers might be very cautious in their reaction to future provocation.

Communist reverses in Korea have diminished the prospect of early Chinese support for an all-out effort by the Indo-Chinese rebels. Things are seething in Burma, but Peiping is having widespread troubles in South China and may not be ready for more in that area.

Iran is an extremely dangerous spot, but Communist action there might involve Russia directly in war, which she appears not to want for the time being.

If Russia desires some non-war test of current American determination, Germany would seem to be the safest and surest place.

Russia used her blockade of Berlin in 1948 for that purpose, found the Americans adamant, and backed off.

Now, for several days, the Russians have been playing around with the idea of another blockade.

Exports of West Berlin products through the Russian zone have been interfered with, halted and then resumed. German authorities resumed issuing permits while Russian authorities were reasserting their right to impose what amounted to blockading restrictions.

Whether the squabble is merely a form of pressure in connection with negotiation of German East-West trade agreements, or whether it will develop into something more serious, remained to be seen.

If the Russians think there has been any relaxation of the Allied containment policy, Berlin is a good place for them to find out.

Red Occupation Officers No Longer Allowed German Maids

BERLIN (AP) — Austerity has hit the Soviet army's occupation households in East Germany.

General of the Army Vassily Chuiikov has ordered all officers who have families here to dismiss their German maids.

Some of the women who worked for several years in Russian army homes brought the word to West Berlin where they have relatives or friends.

The servants had been paid for out of Russian occupation costs. Chuiikov's written order not only chopped off the "free maids" but also was reported to have specifically prohibited any officer from employing a maid out of his own pocket.

Soviet army wives have been doing their own housework now for some weeks, regardless of position.

Former German maids in the Potsdam Red military compounds said the Soviet high command may have got their orders directly from Moscow.

"We were told," one of the maids said, "that the Russians don't want army wives to get used to servants in Germany. Once they get back to the Soviet Union they would then be dissatisfied and their husbands would be also, without household help."

Other German sources said there were other factors in the Soviet decision to make families do their own work. The Russians took into consideration:

1. A reduction of occupation costs to please the Communist East German regime and to impress the Soviet zone public.

2. Security. German employees in the home hear a lot more than the Russians think wise.

There is no available estimate of the number of Russian dependents in East Germany.

The Western Allies still provide household help for families, charged against occupation costs in Germany. The U. S. army has ordered the "free maid" rule abolished in Japan after July 1.

State GOP Says REA Offered Excess Loan

DES MOINES (AP) — Republican state headquarters said Tuesday the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) offered the Villisca Farmers Telephone company a loan of $128,000 it had not asked for.

The telephone company was offered $813,000 after applying for a $175,000 loan, GOP headquarters said.

The telephone company borrowed $150,000 from private sources before the REA loan was offered, Gerald Bogan state Republican publicity director, reported.

Bogan said four representatives of the REA made a survey of the Villisca facilities five months after the loan application was filed in 1950. It was sometime later the REA loan was offered.

"Practically all the expenditures proposed in the original loan request were increased by several thousands of dollars, and many additional expenditures were provided by planners in Washington," Bogan reported.

Bogan said Phillip Garland, Villisca Telephone company manager, as having said many of the proposed increases for expenditures were "completely unnecessary," including one item of $25,800 for an REA engineer to supervise the project.

The Villisca company was seeking to extend its service to an additional 135 customers.

Another Archbishop Seized in Hungary; To Be Tried Friday

BUDAPEST (AP) — Archbishop Josef Groesz, 64, ranking Catholic priest in Hungary, and eight alleged accomplices will go on trial Friday before a people's court charged with plotting against the state and espionage "for imperialist legations."

Budapest papers Tuesday published an indictment quoting parts of a confession in which the archbishop said he virtually took over the role of imprisoned Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in conspiring against the government.

He will be tried before Judge Vilmos Olti, who conducted the court that convicted and sentenced Mindszenty. The chief prosecutor will be Gyula Alapy, who prosecuted the cardinal and Laszlo Rajk, in 1949.

Among the defendants is Dr. Alajos Pongracz, an Hungarian employe of the American legation. The United States is not mentioned by name in the indictment. But Pongracz is described as "an employe of an imperialist legation."

Also prominently mentioned in the indictment are Francis Cardinal Spellman, of New York, Giovanni Montini, a Vatican under-secretary of state, and Archdeacon Otto of Hapsburg.

Groesz was quoted in the indictment as having confessed that Cardinal Mindszenty "charged me to take over the leadership of the organization aiming at the overthrow of the regime in case of his arrest."

Groesz also confessed that he sent to a Budapest legation of an imperialist power on July 5, 1950, a declaration "emphasizing his royalist standpoint."

"According to ancient Hungarian laws, in the absence of the king and because the Prince Primate (Mindszenty) is being hindered from carrying out his duties, I accept the role of the temporary government," the declaration said, according to the published confession.

In his confession he also said: "I admit that the conspiracy which I headed began the organizing of armed groups with the task of overthrowing the people's republic and taking over power."

Pongracz, 42-year-old U.S. information service employe at the American legation, under arrest for a month, was charged with being "the informant of the Fascist counter-intelligence service."

The prosecutor said that as a legation employe he gave regular espionage reports on Hungarian political, economic, cultural and educational conditions and other secret data.

Take It Off —

Gross Gleason Groans

NEW YORK (UP) — One of the top comics of television goes right into a hospital after each Friday night program.

Not fatigue or nerves, as you might surmise after hearing many performers wait about the rigors of video, but in this particular case of Jackie Gleason the problem is weight, surplus of.

"I'm in my fifth week here," Gleason said Tuesday as he lunched without relish on a bowl of dressingsless greens in the calm surroundings of Doctors hospital. "I'm down to 190 pounds from 225. I aim to get a little under 180 in another week or so and then I'll be ready to face life again — in profile.

"Say, that would be quite a trick, wouldn't it? — facing something in profile.

"Anyway, you get the idea. When I walk down the street at 180 pounds, my shadow won't have its feelings hurt by people looking up into the sky to see what sort of blimp is passing over.

"I'll be sorry, of course, if any delicatessen stores, fancy restaurants and friendly bars are forced into bankruptcy because I've withdrawn my trade but they've been living off the fat of the land long enough, the fat of the land being Gleason."

Gleason, a Brooklyn lad, has been the head man of Dumont's "Cavalcade of Stars" program for a year now and his head hasn't interfered with his steady rise to the top of the TV heap. Although under 40 years of age, he's of the old low comic school and naturally many of his routines are physically strenuous.

"It got so that I found myself huffing and puffing too much after some of my scenes," Gleason explained. "I kept thinking that I ought to do something about the situation, but I didn't until I landed in the hospital a few weeks ago with a touch of pneumonia. I decided it was now or never and I let my doctor take over." After his hour-long show Friday nights, in which he does three scenes besides introducing acts, Gleason heads for his room at the hospital. He stays there Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, absorbing pills, injections and food of a sort.

"If I was food, I would sue," Gleason said, pointing at his bowl of greens. "I thought I was getting a break this week. The doctor said I was going on a high protein diet and would have half a pound of steak three times a day. Then I found out this was going to cost me $7.50 a day. I could afford it, but that's ridiculous. The meat man tried to explain to me why it cost so much; how they cut away all but the best part and all that stuff. I told him to grind up what they cut away and send me hamburger."

Gleason is let out for two hours on Wednesday and two hours on Thursday to do the preliminary work on his show. Friday he is free from mid-morning until 11 p.m. when the show is over.

This is the comedian's second bout with serious reducing. Late in 1948 and early in 1949 he brought himself down from a top weight of 266 to 175 at a time when he was the star of a Broadway revue called "Along Fifth Avenue."

"I did it that time strictly on my own," Gleason said. "It wasn't easy but I did it. Must have used up all my will power then because this time I couldn't bring myself to do it without supervision and a measure of outside compulsion.

U.S. Highways Kill More Than Korea

NEW YORK (AP) — Three times as many Americans have been killed in highway accidents as have been killed in Korea in the year since the Korean war erupted, the association of casualty and surety companies said Tuesday.

According to defense department reports, there have been close to 12,000 combat deaths in Korea and in the same period 36,500 persons have been killed in traffic accidents, the association said.

However, seven times as many persons will be killed in traffic accidents as in the war this month, the association report continued.

The millionth victims to be killed in U.S. wars and automobiles may die within weeks of each other, American military deaths in all wars now stand at 998,000 in 176 wars and traffic deaths at 980,000 in 51 years, the report said.

Mullaney Showers Wedding Held

Miss Loretta Mullaney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Mullaney of Waukon, and James Showers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Showers of Iowa City, were married at 9:30 a.m. Monday in Cedar Rapids.

The Rev. A. P. White officiated at the double ring service, held in the immaculate Conception church.

The bride's sister, Mary Pat Mullaney, Waukon, was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Irene Hoff, Cedar Rapids.

Earl Cathcart, Iowa City, was best man, and Glenn Urban, Larrabee, was groomsmen. Ushers were John Ryan, Chicago, Ill., and Robert Broghammer, Postville.

Ellen Fitzgerald, Waukon, was vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white slipper satin edged with lace, and a fingertip veil. She carried carnations and red roses.

The bride's attendants wore dresses of embossed organza. The maid of honor's was yellow; the bridesmaid's was pale green. They wore floral head pieces and carried colonial bouquets of carnations to match their dresses.

A reception in the Roosevelt hotel in Cedar Rapids followed the ceremony. Afterward the couple left for a two week trip to the southwest.

The bride was graduated from St. Patrick's high school in Waukon. She has been employed in Cedar Rapids.

The bridegroom is a graduate of City high school. He attended SUI, and is now an industrial photographer in Cedar Rapids.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Conrad, Eau Claire, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Keiser, Prairie du Chien, Wis.; Miss Mary Jane Showers, Cincinnati, O.; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Merfeld, Miss Honora Lydon and Mrs. Ray Ryan, Chicago, Ill.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Broghammer, Postville, and the Misses Verna and Lillian Christianson, Waukon.

Miss Ruth Hudtloff, Lee Strackbein Wed In Lutheran Church

Miss Ruth Hudtloff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hudtloff of Kamrar, became the bride of Lee Strackbein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Strackbein of Correctionville, at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The Rev. John F. Choitz performed the double ring service. Nuptial music was played by Miss Waneta Strackbein, the bridegroom's sister, Martin Schmidt, Litchfield, O., sang.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Sarah Ann Hudtloff, Kamrar, was maid of honor. Louise Hudtloff, Kamrar, and Patricia Purath, Cedar Rapids, were bridesmaids.

Best man was Fred Sievert, Saybrook, Conn. Ushers were George Mumm, Bloomfield, Neb., and Marvin Erammeier, Hoyleton, Ill.

Following a reception in the church parlors, the couple left on a wedding trip to the Ozarks.

Mrs. Strackbein taught the second grade at University elementary school during the past year. She attended North high school in Des Moines and was graduated from Esterville-Emmet Consolidated school.

She attended SUI where she was a member of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary education sorority and Gamma Delta.

Her husband is a graduate of Correctionville high school. He attended Concordia Theological seminary. He is now serving as a vicar in the Lutheran church at Big Bend, N.D.

The couple will be at home in Big Bend after July 6.

Out-of-town guests included the Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Standsjord, St. Olaf, Minn.; Miss Eunice Standsjord, Minneapolis, Minn.; Miss Ruth Bargmann, Davenport; Dr. and Mrs. J. Ben Purath, Cedar Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. John Shillita, Cherokee.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. James Pilgrim, Grinnell; Miss Marie Hobson, Sturgeon Bay, Wis.; Miss Sally Nicholson, Des Moines; Miss Regina McKone, Osage, and Don Brauersreuther, Springfield, Ill.

Crime Probers Threaten Two With Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gamblers Samuel "Gameboy" Miller and Morris "Mushy" Wexler were threatened with contempt action Tuesday after the senate crime committee held a futile all-day session with men it has named in connection with a Cleveland racket syndicate.

"I do feel the committee should consider citing Miller and Wexler for contempt," Chairman O'Connor (D-Md.) told reporters after announcing meager results from the closed-door hearing.

Committee Counsel Richard Moser said Wexler was "cooperative about nonessentials" but "just wouldn't testify about anything that could be of use to the committee." O'Connor added that Miller declined to give details about his associations.

Also questioned was Samuel T. Haas, described by the committee as a lawyer for many operations of the Cleveland group. Moser said it was unlikely the lawyer would be cited for contempt, though he reported Haas would not discuss his net worth and claimed the immunity of attorney-client relationship on questions about the syndicate.

John and George Angersola, formerly of Cleveland, were also formally for questioning but got a postponement on a plea that their lawyer is ill.

Louis Levenson of Newport, Ky., a sixth witness called for Tuesday, did not appear. His lawyer wrote that he has a heart ailment.

All six, named by the committee as "Cleveland racket area figures" were picked up on senate warrants after subpoenas failed to reach them.

A number of other men, mostly city and county officials from the Newport-Covington area of northern Kentucky, waited all day to testify but were excused until 8:30 a.m. CST today.

Fanny Brice Leaves Estate to Children

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedienne Fanny Brice left most of her estimated $2 million estate to her two children, her will revealed Tuesday.

The will, filed for probate, provided that Mrs. Frances Stark, 31, and William Brice, 30, will receive an annual two and a half per cent of her estate, after payment of specific bequests.

Miss Brice, who died May 29 at the age of 59, left $40 a week for life to her sister, Carolyn Russak, New York city, and her brother, Lew Brice, West Los Angeles, and $1,000 to her secretary, Mrs. Marion Altenberg, Jamaica, Long Island.

She also specified that her jewelry be divided equally between her son and daughter, who are children by her first marriage to former gambler Nick Arnshein.

Group May Consider Clinton Critical Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — Designation of Clinton, Ia., as a defense housing critical area will be considered by the defense production authority's committee on critical areas June 28, a DPA spokesman reported Tuesday.

Also due for consideration, but probably not until early July, are the Iowa cities of Cedar Rapids and Burlington.

The "critical" designation authorized the relaxation of credit controls to stimulate the building of new rental and sales dwellings, numbers approved by DPA, the defense department and federal housing agencies.

The spokesman said no conclusions, even of a tentative nature, so far have been reached as to the number of homes and apartments which should be permitted under any credit terms for the families of servicemen and defense workers in any of the three cities.

Dead Man! Missing for 39 Years Reappears

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A prosperous, thrifty construction foreman, who disappeared without a trace 39 years ago and was declared legally dead, returned from the grave Tuesday with no knowledge of his lost life.

Thomas Leighty, once a crack engineer who had worked on some of Pittsburgh's biggest bridge jobs, wandered into a police precinct Monday night seeking lodging.

Grimy, bearded and shabbily dressed, he had only seven pennies in his pocket.

Desk Sgt. Sherman Hickenbottom questioned the 85-year-old man about possible relatives. He mumbled "Chester Harrison," who later turned out to be H. C. Harrison of Beaver Falls, Pa., a nephew of the supposed dead man.

Harrison, now 51, recognized Leighty immediately as he walked into the station although he was only 12 when his uncle vanished.

"We have dozens of pictures of him," Harrison said. "There's not the slightest doubt."

Leighty doesn't know where he has been or what caused him to disappear. His rambling tales mentioned St. Louis, Toledo and Pittsburgh, but most of the years are blank.

Later, he will be reunited with an invalid sister, who shared his estate with five brothers after he was declared dead 32 years ago.

Nurses to Hold 'Travel' Banquet

The senior class of nursing will hold its annual banquet this evening at 6:30 at the Iowa Memorial Union.

Theme for the dinner will be travel. It will be carried out in the decorations and programs. Copies of a newspaper giving a picture of the students' day in training will be distributed.

Léis Laxon, class president, and Joyce Newman planned the dinner. The newspaper entitled "The Worn Soul" was edited by Gertrude King.

Marilyn Maxwell Visits Relatives in Clarinda

CLARINDA, IA. (AP) — Film star Marilyn Maxwell returned to her southwest Iowa home this week to visit relatives and old friends. It was her first visit here in 10 years.

Miss Maxwell visited the graves here of her father and mother, both of whom have died in the last year.

She left here this morning for Oklahoma City to rejoin the Bob Hope veterans hospital tour.

Reducers, Take Note —

Don't Speed Up Slimming By Cutting Meal A Day

Many overweight people make the mistake of thinking they can speed the slimming process simply by cutting out one meal a day.

That system may sound fine, but it won't work, according to the July Journal of Living, which gives five reasons to prove its point.

You'll feel like a martyr. Meal-times are social occasions, and giving up one of your "three squares" is almost guaranteed to make you pity yourself. Resentment follows, and soon you're eating as usual — or even more.

Snacks Add Calories You'll probably cheat. A hollow feeling in the middle gets compelling, so most meal-skippers wind up by having a snack to "tide them over." And snacks usually consist of calorific doughnuts, sodas, sandwiches and other foods which may conceal more calories than a well-balanced meal.

You'll be out of sorts. Body engines — like car engines — don't run well without fuel. Strictly from hunger you're likely to be irritable, headache and nervous. You'll even be more prone to accidents.

Calories Tacked on to Dinner You'll overeat — next time. When meal-skippers do sit down to the table again, they almost invariably eat more than they normally would. In other words, calories saved by foregoing lunch are tacked on to dinner, and the waistline remains the same.

You'll lose out nutritionally. Everyone needs a certain quota of vitamins, minerals and proteins daily — and it's next to impossible to cram them into only two meals. If you really stick to meal-skipping, points out the Journal of Living article, you're apt to seriously short-change yourself on health.

Engle to Give Address At Education Conference

Prof. Paul Engle, English department, will speak at a banquet of the 1951 Illinois Summer Education conference in Champaign, Ill., June 28.

The conference will be a four-day meeting of directors and leaders in school administration and adult and special education.

Two Iowa City Girls Attend Y-Teen Meet

Mary Ellen Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Grace, R.R. 1, and Glenora Eckard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn V. Eckard, 913 Walnut st., are representing the City high school Y-Teen club at the Y-Teen conference on the Grinnell college campus this week.

Miss Eckard is president of the City high club and Miss Grace is treasurer.

Discussion of club problems and the election of officers will highlight the session. One of the speakers will be Dr. T. Z. Koo, SUI oriental studies department. The conference is sponsored by the central association of the YWCA.

Prof. Koo to Take Part In YMCA Convention

Prof. T. Z. Koo, oriental studies department, will appear on the program of the Young Men's Christian association centennial convention in Cleveland Thursday through Sunday. Koo will be devotional leader on the Friday morning program.

The main speaker of the convention is Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.), who will speak Saturday night on "Our Times and Our Opportunities."

West to Leave Friday For Conference in Utah

Prof. Ray B. West, English department, will leave Friday for the fourth annual writers conference at the University of Utah. He will conduct a short story workshop.

The conference includes workshops in novel, short stories, poetry and non-fiction. Karl Shapiro, editor of Poetry magazine who lectured on the SUI campus last spring, will direct the poetry workshop.

Iowa City Farmer's Death Ruled Suicide

The death Monday of Arthur B. Brogan, 37, farmer living on R. R. 2, was officially ruled a suicide Tuesday by Johnson County Coroner George D. Callahan.

Callahan said Brogan died from self-inflicted shotgun wounds. He had been living with a nephew, Boyd Stahl, for the past seven years. Stahl told authorities he found Brogan's body on the farm Monday evening.

Mr. Brogan is survived by two daughters, one son, three brothers, one sister and three grand children.

Graveside services will be held today at Solon and burial will be in Oakland cemetery in Solon.

Oil Drilling Starts On Iowa Farmlands

LITTLE SIoux, IA. (AP) — Oil drilling was under way here Tuesday.

A crew of 12 men from the Omega Drilling company had reached nearby a 300 foot depth with their rig.

The exploratory well is being financed by M. P. Hall and associates of Danville, Ill.

Last winter the group acquired oil leases on several thousand acres of Harrison county farm land in the Little Sioux area.

The test well is located 1 1/2 miles northeast of here on the John Johnson farm. It is situated at the foot of Murray Hill, one of the highest elevations in the county.

Geologists, who surveyed the region during 1949 and 1950, said that indications of oil bearing strata warranted sinking of a test well.

Registrations Accepted For Swimming Classes

Registrations for swimming classes are being accepted each afternoon through Friday this week at the Johnson county Red Cross headquarters, 15 1/2 S. Dubuque st.

The classes will be held at the Iowa City municipal pool beginning June 25 and are free to all residents of Johnson county. Instruction for beginners as well as advanced swimmers will be offered.

Instructors for the classes are provided by the Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Youth Kidnapped; Held For $550,000 Ransom

SAO PAULO, BRAZIL (AP) — Eduardo A. Matarazzo, 18-year-old son of Brazil's multi-millionaire Francisco Matarazzo, was reported kidnapped Tuesday by a band which is demanding 10,000,000 cruzeiros ($550,000) ransom.

The entire Sao Paulo police force was mobilized Tuesday night to search for the missing youth. So far, the only clue they have found is his automobile, abandoned in the Pacaembu district of the city.

Garden Department To Hold Luncheon, Tour Local Gardens

The annual tour of several Iowa City flower gardens will follow a covered, dish, picnic luncheon of the Iowa City Woman's club's garden department Friday.

The luncheon will be held at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Fred Miller, 707 Melrose ave. There is city bus service to the Miller home.

Members should bring their own table service. Coffee will be furnished by the hostess.

Transportation for the tour will be arranged by the garden department.

Good Food Department — Cherries Add Color, Texture to Cake

An ideal summer dessert is Maraschino Cherry Cake served with iced tea.

Bright bits of maraschino cherry fleck the finely-textured cake which is colored a pale pink by the addition of the cherry juice.

An easy-to-make butter frosting is garnished with maraschino cherry slivers in a petal arrangement to lend a flower-like effect.

For an eye-appealing way to serve iced tea, place a long-stemmed maraschino cherry atop a floating lemon slice.

Maraschino Cherry Cake (Makes 2 8-inch layers)

1 4-ounce bottle maraschino cherries (about 16 cherries)

1 16 or 17-ounce package white cake mix

1/4 cup maraschino cherry juice

Milk (according to package directions minus 1/4 cup for maraschino cherry juice)

1/4 teaspoon almond extract

Cut maraschino cherries into small pieces with scissors or sharp knife. In a large bowl, pour cake mix and maraschino cherries. Add milk and almond extract to maraschino cherry juice to make desired amount of liquid, according to package directions.

Mix and bake according to package directions. Bake in 2 greased 8-inch round layer pans. Spread cooled cake with Maraschino Cherry Frosting.

Maraschino Cherry Frosting

In a bowl, soften 4 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add 1/2 teaspoon almond extract and dash of salt; blend well. Add 2 1/2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar, 2 tablespoons maraschino cherry juice and 1/3 cup light cream alternately, beating well after each addition.

An Ideal Summer Dessert

MARASCHINO CHERRY CAKE served with iced tea makes an ideal summer dessert. Bits of maraschino cherry fleck the cake's texture. Cherry juice gives it a pale pink color. For extra eye appeal, place a long-stemmed maraschino cherry atop a floating lemon slice in the iced tea and garnish the frosting with maraschino slivers in a petal arrangement.

Yankees, White Sox Split; A's, Browns, Red Sox Win

NEW YORK (AP)—The battling Chicago White Sox showed the big team why they are leading the pack in the American league when they came surging back in the twilight of a long day to defeat their sternest rivals, the Yankees, 5-4, in the second game of their vital doubleheader after the Bombers had mauled them 11-9 in the opener.

Bob Dillinger, a pinch hitter, drove across the deciding run in the ninth inning of the tense second game with a line double to right after the veteran Ed Stewart had kept the Richard Rockets in the struggle with a three-run homer off Vic Raschi in the previous inning.

A paid crowd of 60,441 packed the big stadium in the Bronx to get its first good view of the wonder team from the west, and after nearly seven hours of play it stood to yell its approval of a team which refused to be licked.

The shadows were deep when Dillinger went up to hit for pitcher Randy Gumpert in the ninth with two aboard and one out. The man he faced was Allie Reynolds, who had just relieved the sagging Raschi.

The spectated third-baseman banged a drooping liner to right which outfielder Cliff Mapez made a desperate try for. It hit Mapez' glove just above the grass, and rolled on through his legs as Jim Busby, speedy Chicago rookie, raced home with the decider. Howie Judson set the Yanks down in order in their last try.

The even break enabled the Sox to keep a tight hold on their three and one-half game lead and guarantee that they will leave New York still the club to catch, no matter what the result of single games today and Thursday.

There have been worse ball games than the first one, but it dragged on for two hours and 11 minutes. The two flag contenders alternated at trying to give it away, with the Sox finally succeeding after a bitter struggle.

Seven alleged pitchers took part, four for the winners, and none earned his day's pay until Joe Ostrowski, one of the more humble inhabitants of the Yankee bullpen, held the league leaders to a single hit over the final three innings. He was the winner.

A total of 27 hits pierced the Fumid air, 15 of them Yankee propped and including three-run homers by Yogi Berra, his 10th, and Mantle, his fifth. The rookie's blow landed well up in the right-center field bleachers, some 410 feet from the plate.

Red Sox 9, Indians 2
BOSTON (AP)—Chuck Stobbs was touched for only four hits Tuesday night as he pitched the Red Sox to a 9-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The Bostonians got off to a running start when Ted Williams poled a two-run homer, his 14th of the season, in the first inning. Williams drove in four runs as the Boston victory delighted 31,644 paid fans. One of the Indians' hits was Luke Easter's eighth homer of the season which was good for two runs in the ninth inning.

The loss was charged to Bob Lemon who had beaten the Sox twice this season. He had racked up seven successive decisions over the Sox who last beat him Sept. 20, 1949, in Boston.

Browns 4, Senators 1
WASHINGTON (AP)—The St. Louis Browns took advantage of shoddy Washington fielding to beat the Senators, 4-1, Tuesday night behind the nine-hit pitching of Duane Pillette.

Pillette, posting his third win, was nicked for four singles by Gil Coan, who scored the Senators' only run in the first inning when he beat out a bunt, went to third on Cass Michaels' single and scored on a wild pitch.

Dale Long's single, a walk to Sherman Lollar, a Mickey Vernon error and Fred Marsh's grounder gave the Browns two runs in the first inning.

The Babe lashed out with a vengeance Tuesday, as if to erase memories of her horrendous qualifying score of 83, and decisively eliminated Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, last year's runnerup, 7 and 6.

The Babe hit her iron and potted superbly. She ripped two strokes from women's par 38-37-75 over the 6,360-yard White-marsch Valley County club course.

The sturdy Miss Berg of Minneapolis, whose three Western triumphs give her just one less than Mrs. Zaharias, was almost as emphatic in eliminating Grace Lenczyk, former National Amateur champion from Newington, Conn., 6 and 5. Patty was one under par for the 13 holes.

Miss Suggs, from Carrollton, Ga., and medalist with a brilliant 68 Monday, fell off her sizzling pace slightly but still had too many shots for Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., who bowed, 4 and 3.

In the second round of the boys junior section Jamie Andrews of Iowa City defeated Paul Markese, Kansas City, 6-0, 6-0.

In the first round of the boy's singles, Arthur Andrews, Iowa City, defeated Monty Roberts, St. Louis, 6-0, 6-0.

St. Louis at Washington—(night)—Sleater (1-7) vs. Porterfield (8-8).
Cleveland at Boston—Wynn (4-8) vs. Wright (3-4).

A's 9, Tigers 5
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Eddie Joost and Gus Zernial slammed home runs and Johnny Kucab pitched brilliant relief ball Tuesday to give the Philadelphia Athletics a 9-5 win over the Detroit Tigers. Dizzy Trout was the loser.

Hoot Evers and Steve Souchock hit home runs for the Tigers.

Kucab, registering his first win against three defeats, allowed only one hit after he relieved starter Sam Zoldak in the seventh inning.

Joost's triple, a walk, a single and an outfield fly gave the A's two runs in the first inning. Two singles, a double, an intentional pass and a Detroit error gave the A's two more in the third.

Joost's homer—his ninth of the season—accounted for the fifth A's run in the fourth.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The big three of golf's lipstick legion—Mrs. Babe Didrickson Zaharias, Patty Berg and Louise Suggs—scored smashing victories Tuesday to gain the second round of the Women's Western Open tournament.

Mrs. Zaharias, the defending champion, and Miss Berg clash today, renewing a rivalry that carried 180 holes and all ac's in the country in the weathervane before Patty won last Sunday by a stroke.

The Babe lashed out with a vengeance Tuesday, as if to erase memories of her horrendous qualifying score of 83, and decisively eliminated Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, last year's runnerup, 7 and 6.

The Babe hit her iron and potted superbly. She ripped two strokes from women's par 38-37-75 over the 6,360-yard White-marsch Valley County club course.

The sturdy Miss Berg of Minneapolis, whose three Western triumphs give her just one less than Mrs. Zaharias, was almost as emphatic in eliminating Grace Lenczyk, former National Amateur champion from Newington, Conn., 6 and 5. Patty was one under par for the 13 holes.

Miss Suggs, from Carrollton, Ga., and medalist with a brilliant 68 Monday, fell off her sizzling pace slightly but still had too many shots for Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., who bowed, 4 and 3.

In the second round of the boys junior section Jamie Andrews of Iowa City defeated Paul Markese, Kansas City, 6-0, 6-0.

Billy Southworth Tommy Holmes

Southworth Resigns As Braves Skipper

(From the Wire Services)

CHICAGO — Billy Southworth, who lost his great touch as a manager after winning the 1948 pennant, resigned for the second time in three years Tuesday as pilot of the Boston Braves, and veteran outfielder Tommy Holmes was named to succeed him.

Holmes, who was made manager of the Braves' Hartford, Conn., farm club of the Eastern league this year, will take over finished fourth and third before leading the league in 1948. They also were fourth the past two seasons and now are in fifth place with 28 wins and 31 losses, 15 of which have been by one-run margins.

At the time of the announcement, Holmes was in Elmira, N.Y., with his Hartford club which he took over this season.

"The first I heard of the job mentioned was Sunday," Holmes said. "Mr. Perini called me and asked me if I'd take the challenge. I told him 'Yes.'"

Tommy has been operating as a player-manager while boosting his Eastern League forces into second place.

"I'm undecided about resuming play for the Braves," he explained. "If there's an opening, I'll jump right back in. I have some ideas about the Braves' outfield and there are certain hitting flaws I hope to correct."

At Boston, General Manager John Quinn said financial arrangements on Southworth's contract, which runs through 1952 at $50,000 per season, have not been completed.

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers stumbled through to a 5-4 victory over Cincinnati early today after keeping the Reds scoreless until the bottom of the ninth. Lloyd Merriman's three-run homer chased big Don Newcombe and John Pramesa gave the Braves heart trouble with another home run before the game Redleg rally burned out.

Eig Ted Kluszewski doubled and Grady Hatton walked in that desperate ninth, preceding Merriman's drive over the rightfield fence. That was all for Newcombe, who had pitched superb ball up to the eighth.

Ralph Branca fanned Virgil Stallcup, but was touched for the homer by Pramesa. He got Bob Adams to ground out and Connie Ryan to strike out to preserve the victory.

Newcombe also was in trouble in the preceding inning, when he was struck out by Wrosteck to end the threat, however.

With the victory, Brooklyn protected its five and one-half game lead over the New York Giants in the National League pennant race.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Larry Jansen pitched four-hit ball as he hurled the New York Giants to a 2-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night. An error by Alvin Dark led to the only Redbird run. Rain halted the game after eight innings.

The Giants pushed their first run across in the second frame. Monte Irvin singled. Two outs later Hank Thompson doubled against the right field screen, scoring Irvin.

They added the safety margin in the fourth as Wes Westrum and Irvin opened with singles and advanced on White Lockman's sacrifice. Bobby Thomsen was walked intentionally and was forced at second by Thompson, but Westrum crossed the plate.

Dark's wild throw came on a relay from the outfielder after Billy Johnson doubled. Johnson kept running to get the Redbirds into the scoring column.

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Rush limited the Boston Braves to four hits Tuesday and the Chicago Cubs swept on a 3-0 victory while a Ladies Day crowd of 10,115 looked on in Wrigley Field.

It took just one hour and 45 minutes for Rush to dispose of the Braves and even less time for the Cubs to score all three of their runs against Max Surkont in the first and second innings.

Rush's performance was one of his best of the season for his fifth victory. Only two Braves progressed as far as second base. Roy Hartsfield singled and stole second in the first inning and Willard Marshall, batting for Surkont, doubled in the third.

The only other hits off Rush were singles by Bob Elliott and Sid Gordon in the fourth and seventh innings, respectively. Since he walked no one, Rush permitted only four Braves to reach first.

Surkont walked Hal Jeffcoat in the first inning. Then Frank Baumholtz doubled. Phil Cavarretta popped out and a pass to Smoky Burgess filled the bases. Jeffcoat scored on a deep fly to left by Ransom Jackson.

Eddie Miksis made his third hit as a new Cub when he opened the Chicago half of the second with a triple down the right field line.

He scored on Bob Ramazzotti's single to center. Rush sacrificed and Jeffcoat brought Ramazzotti home with the last run of the game with a single to center.

The Phillies got down to business in the first inning, scoring four runs, two on Jones' first homer. After that Murry Dickson held the Phillies scoreless until the eighth when Jones connected for the four-run homer that put the game on ice.

Puerto Ricans Like Musial

CHICAGO (AP)—Stan Musial, star left fielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, Tuesday bobbed up as a popular choice in another spot—Puerto Rico—in the national all-star baseball poll.

Musial, 1950 National league batting champion, was the No. 1 selection of Puerto Ricans in the first returns forwarded from the island possession to name the starting lineups for the 18th inter-league game at Detroit July 10.

Musial, highest individual vote getter in the poll, has polled 132,646 votes. Trailing him in the individual race are Nelson Fox, Chicago White Sox second baseman, 126,728; Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox left fielder, 124,773, and Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn second baseman, 121,433.

Larry "Yogi" Berra, New York Yankee catcher, slipped to second place in his close battle with Cleveland's dependable Jim Hegan. Hegan took over first place for the first time since the opening day's returns with 114,816, 5,482 more than the Yankees' catching star. Perra, who played in the all-star games of 1949 and 1950, has been named on 109,334 ballots.

The day's heavy returns also helped George Kell, Detroit Tigers, regain first place in the American League third base balloting.

Ottumwa Lad Leads Qualifiers in Iowa Junior Golf Meet

AMES (AP)—George Clark, Ottumwa high school athlete, fired a bristling two-under-par 68 Tuesday to capture medalist honors and the leadoff spot in the Iowa junior golf championships.

The 17-year-old youth, who was Ottumwa city champion a year ago, blazed over the back stretch in 33 after notching a 35 on the first nine over the difficult Iowa State college course.

Close behind was John McGuinness, redheaded Des Moines junior champ, with 69. McGuinness used 37 strokes going out but sizzled over the final nine in 32.

A field of 106 started in the qualifying test. A score of 83 or better was needed to qualify.

Don Webber, of Ames, the 1950 winner, started out in impressive style but wilted going home and landed in a six-way tie for sixth place with a 75.

was second. Duane Taylor of Idaho was third at 156 feet 1 3/4 inches.

Mathias' toss set a meet record. The old mark was 172 feet 8 3/4 inches by Fortune Gordien of Minnesota in 1947.

Don McEwen of Michigan ran away from the field in the two-mile race, winning it in 9:13.8 minutes. Jim Kepford of Michigan State and Gary Berg of USC were neck and neck for second place, with Kepford lunging ahead at the tape.

Don Laz of Illinois set another meet record, winning the pole vault with a leap of 14 feet 8 inches. The old mark was 14 feet 6 inches, set by Bill Sefton and Earle Meadows of USC in 1937.

George Brown of UCLA won his second event by leaping 23 feet 11 inches in the broad jump.

Davis of USC also won his second event in the low hurdles, winning it in 23.4 seconds. Art Barnard of USC was second and Dave Martin of Indiana third.

The Coast also won the final event, the mile relay, in 3:16.7 minutes.

Pacific Coast Beats Big Ten in Track

EUGENE, ORE. (AP)—The Pacific Coast conference won its second straight track meet from the Big Ten Tuesday night. Jack Davis of USC provided the winning points, racing to a victory in the 220-yard low hurdles, the next to last event. The score was 77 1/2 to 54 1/2.

Perry O'Brien of USC set a Hayward Field record of 53 feet, 4 3/4 inches in the shot put, winning the event. Jess Swope of USC was second at 51 feet 7 1/4 inches, and Bob Carey of Michigan State third at 51 feet 5 3/8 inches.

Cirilo McSweeney of Illinois lagged in the rack most of the way, but un-lashed a stretch drive that brought him victory in the 440-yard run. Leroy Collins of Wisconsin was second and John Bradley of USC third.

McSweeney's time was 48.5 seconds, fast enough to become a Hayward Field record, but more than two seconds off the meet record.

The Coast conference pulled even on the sixth event, sweeping the 100-yard dash. The time was comparatively slow, for the eight sprinters bucked the five-mile-an-hour breeze.

Bob Work of UCLA won it in 10.1 seconds.

The Coast took the lead for the first time as George Widentelt of Washington won the high jump and ran off the track in disgust, disqualifying his team.

Then USC's ace hurdler, Jack Davis, stepped to an easy victory in the high hurdles in 14.4 seconds.

Stacy Siders of Illinois came in with the first upset, outrunning the favored Clem Eischen of Washington State in the 800. Eischen wound up an third place as Len Truex of Ohio State came up fast at the end to nose into second place. The time was 1:54.2 minutes.

The Coast moved farther in front in the 220-yard run as George Brown of UCLA, Al Mejia

Hospital School Stresses Recreation

By NORMA SEXTON

Wading ponds, boats, watering cans and bathing suits aren't considered orthodox equipment for most hospitals but at the Iowa hospital school for severely handicapped children this summer such things are very much in evidence. With the summer program planned around recreation, the children are spending much of their time outdoors playing in the sun on slides, swings, teeter-totters and wading in the plastic pool newly purchased by the school.

The six-week session held during the summer is mainly a diagnostic period during which the children undergo occupational, physical and speech therapy and psychological adjustment.

Some classes are held during the morning, but during the summer the sessions are shorter than others. School officials feel that a therapeutic program is worth more to the children than just classroom work.

At the end of July, parents of the children will visit the hospital to have a conference with the instructors and doctors. Kinds of recreation for their children will be suggested and recommended.

W. E. Schoenbohm, director of the school, said the age range of the children this summer is younger than usual. He pointed out that several of the children are in the three to five age group, among the youngest to enter the school.

STEVIE THE LIFEGUARD keeps a watchful eye on the wading pool at the Iowa hospital school for severely handicapped children Tuesday as a group of children from the school take advantage of the water to escape the June heat. The wading pool is part of the recreational program planned for the children this summer.

Police Course Includes Civil Defense Problems

New problems in police work which stem from the national emergency will be discussed during the 15th annual peace officers short course at SUI, Monday through Friday.

Civil defense and security investigations of persons suspected of being subversives are among the "new" subjects which will be presented. Prof. Richard L. Holcomb, director of the short course, said Tuesday.

Such "regular" police problems as traffic accident investigations, stolen cars, juvenile offenders and extortion and confidence games will be discussed during the training sessions.

Instructors in the course include Lt. William J. Szaret, director of the youth bureau of the Chicago park district police; Frank Dutra, Kettering laboratories, University of Cincinnati medical school, and Prof. Ralph Turner of the department of police administration of Michigan State college.

Iowa Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson and Chief R. W. Nebergall of the Iowa bureau of criminal investigation also will serve as instructors in the short course, together with experienced law enforcement officers in Iowa, agents of the federal bureau of investigation and members of the SUI faculty.

Work in the short course is divided into basic and advanced classes in the fields of investigation and general police work. Each officer who attends the full five days of the course will receive a total of 14 hours in instruction.

Conducted under the direction of the college of law and institute of public affairs, the peace officers short course is sponsored by the attorney general of Iowa, the Iowa department of public safety, the Iowa State Sheriff's association, the Iowa Association of Chiefs of Police and Peace Officers and the Iowa State Police-men's association.

Homemade Bomb Causes $1,000 Blast

DES MOINES — An explosion blew four large windows out of the Air-Line bowling alleys here Tuesday and blasted a hole through the front of the brick building.

Pete Rand, operator of the alleys, said he "hadn't the least idea" why his place was blasted. Rand, who lives over the bowling alley on Fleur drive near the Des Moines municipal airport, said he was asleep when the blast occurred. He said he went into the alley to find it smoke-filled and some bricks blown 70 feet from the hole in the front of the building.

He estimated damage at $1,000. Wilbur Hildreth, Polk county deputy sheriff, said "there is very little to go on. We think the blast was placed by someone who hasn't had much experience with explosives."

Hildreth said the charge was "not too large" but he declined to disclose an estimate of the amount of explosives used.

Rand said he hadn't received any threats and expressed belief the blast may have been set off by someone seeking publicity.

Sets Dog on Wife, Gets Bit Himself

ST. PAUL — Mrs. Lyla J. Nielsen, 37, won a divorce Tuesday after accusing her husband of trying to train the family dog to bite her.

She said the dog, Rowdy, turned on her husband, Lester, 47, when he beat the animal for failing to obey him.

District Judge Carlton F. McNally gave Mrs. Nielsen custody of her daughter — and Rowdy.

Fireworks to Climax July 4th Celebration

A 40-minute continuous fireworks display at City park at dusk will highlight Iowa City's fourth of July celebration this year. The junior chamber of commerce is sponsoring the day's activities.

Bill Welt, chairman of activities, said Tuesday the fireworks will include eight set pieces, 48 salutes, 100 to 150 aerial bombs and one new surprise aerial thrill. They will be presented by the Illinois Fireworks company.

Other events will include an all-day softball tournament and a carnival which will run from July 2-7 in lower City park. "We are trying to obtain eight softball teams for the tournament," Jack Whitsell, chairman of the tournament said. "The teams will play for a title with an award to come from a $15 entry fee required of entering teams."

Welt said that no spectators will be allowed to park their cars in the lower park, but that there will be parking in the upper park. He added that parking facilities will be made available in the surrounding area.

West Union Student Wins Mayor's Race In Girls' State Vote

GRINNELL (AP)—The Nationalist party won a first-round victory Tuesday in "city" elections at Hawkeye girls state being conducted this week at Grinnell college.

Jean Shepard of West Union was named mayor and Lorraine Doyle of Hopkinton, treasurer, after an evening of vigorous campaigning in the first of three major elections of the week long school of government.

City councilmen elected were Nationalists Jackie Duncan of Columbus Junction, Mary Alice McLafferty of Council Bluffs, and Janice Vermeer of Sioux Center; also Federalists Neva Davis of Hampton and Alecia Campbell of Osceola.

Education has much to do with delinquency, Warden Percy A. Lanson of the state penitentiary at Fort Madison said in addressing the girls during an afternoon assembly. He pointed out that of the 1,250 inmates at Fort Madison, only two have college degrees and 12 high school diplomas.

Miss Shepard is the daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Shepard. She is president of the Keen Teen girls club at West Union high school and a member of the student council, and various musical organizations. Miss Doyle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Doyle and is a member of the glee club and choir at St. John's, Ryan.

Mickey Cohen Case Goes Before Jury

LOS ANGELES — Gambler Mickey Cohen's $156,000 income tax evasion case was received by a federal court jury at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Judge Ben Harrison addressed the jury for less than an hour, summing up the laws regarding income tax, returns and sworn statements for the guidance of the jury.

The widely publicized little bookie sat at the counsel table and for the first time in the 10-day trial showed nervousness as he squirmed and fidgeted while the judge intoned his instructions to the jury.

U.S. Attorney Ernest A. Tolin in his rebuttal final argument lashed out at Cohen's "flexibility of intellect" which made it proper in his mind for him to do things that others were not allowed to do.

Previously U.S. Attorney Ray Kinnison charged Cohen's own statement on his expenditures showed he was guilty of evading payment of $156,000 to the government of his income from 1946 to 1949.

Blast Cuts Power In Town of 50,000

ANDERSON, IND. — An explosion followed by fire shook the Anderson municipal power plant Tuesday, leaving this city of 50,000 residents without electricity.

Three ambulances were called to the scene but several plant employees were reported injured only slightly. Three were treated for burns at St. John's hospital and released.

Plant officials said the cause of the blast was not immediately determined. They said the following fire "burned through a strategic connecting cable," causing a complete power cutoff. Firemen extinguished the blaze before it did further damage.

Try and Stop Me

THE annual competition of a Midwest Liars Association was captured after a terrific battle by a hunter who described how his bird dog one day began running in a 40 foot circle, working toward the center.

Suddenly the dog froze. The hunter yelled, "Flush." A single quail fluttered up into the air and everybody shot at it. A second and third time the hunter yelled "flush." On each occasion, a single quail flew off as a target. Finally a guest demanded an explanation.

"This here dog of mine is trained mighty fine," admitted the hunter. "When he circled, he ran all those quail down a gopher hole. He's got his foot over the hole, and he releases a single bird every time I holler."

My son, an avid fan of Amos and Andy, reported in high glee that the Kingfish asked his mate what time it was, and upon being informed it was three P. M., roared, "Three, you say? How come you didn't wake me at noon like I told you? Now I've gone and slept straight through my afternoon nap!"

Laredo, Texas, hit the front pages recently with a press report of a big ball game between the Laredo Optimist Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. All kinds of goodies were offered as prizes by publicity-minded merchants. A local attorney put up the most unusual one of all—a free divorce suit.

Five Towns Seek Highway 30 Bridge

DES MOINES — Five Iowa communities asked Gov. William S. Beardsley Tuesday to speed construction of a temporary bridge on highway 30 at Woodbine.

The highway 30 bridge gave way several weeks ago while a heavily loaded transport was on it.

The delegation, headed by the Harrison county board of supervisors, said several towns were almost isolated by the detour around the downed bridge. Heavy buses and trucks cannot serve several towns, they said.

Woodbine, Missouri Valley, Logan, Denison and Council Bluffs were represented.

Another Minneapolis Federal Official Fired

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan Tuesday discharged Guy W. Cravens, 52, administrative assistant of the agriculture department's production and marketing administration commodity office at Minneapolis, for alleged "unethical" conduct. The discharge becomes effective Friday.

A spokesman for Brannan said the action was indirectly connected with the recent discharge, on the same grounds, of F. M. Rowlands, head of the reconstruction finance corporation office at Minneapolis. The RFC charged that Rowlands had made money in connection with storage of surplus farm products in the government-owned Badger ordnance plant at Merrimack, Wis.

The spokesman said Cravens had a close relationship with Rowlands and an associate, Jule Marachowsky, in the highly profitable storage operations. He said the relationship involved the receipt of favors.

Cravens has formally denied any wrong doing. He has a right to appeal to the civil service commission. He is a war veteran and a native of Milaca, Minn.

Refuses to Believe GI Husband Killed

DAVENPORT — Mrs. Joan Weishart said Tuesday she does not believe a defense department telegram which said her husband was killed in Korea.

She said her husband, Wilford, a staff sergeant, never wore dog tags and recently sent home his billfold and all his identification. "I just don't believe he is dead," she said.

Weishart was on duty with a combat unit in Korea.

State Seeks Settlement Of Canned Egg Sale Ban

DES MOINES — L. B. Liddy, chief of the dairy and foods division of the Iowa department of agriculture, said Tuesday he hoped to reach agreement with five firms concerning his stop order on the sale of canned, frozen eggs.

Brush Away Crumbs

Before you frost layer cakes (made from your own recipe or from a packaged mix) be sure to brush away any crumbs that may be on the layers. The frosting will go on smoother that way.
