Special Delivery in the Rain

TWO RAINY DAYS IN A ROW made the going a little wet for Iowa City's postmen; but Le Mar Morris, 1208 Kirkwood ave., made the rounds on his mail route with the help of an umbrella. Little Jennifer Bellingham, 6, 1104 E. Bloomington st., greeted Morris at her home but stayed under the protective cover of the front porch to escape the rain. Slightly more than 1.33 inches of rain fell on Iowa City Thursday and Friday, and forecasters say the showers will continue today and Sunday.

Iran Attempts Holding Britons In Oil Jobs

TEHRAN (AP) — Iran Friday attempted to "freeze" British employees of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company in their jobs to keep the nationalized installations operating in face of threats of "mass resignations" and hints of a strike by British personnel.

Demands were made by the Iranians that leaves of all British employees of the nationalized company be cancelled, effective today.

British quarters reacted with suggestions that "something in the nature of a strike of British personnel is not exactly impossible."

"They are not slaves or bound," British sources said.

Either mass resignations or a strike of British employees probably would force the refineries to close because of the acute dangers of operating by inexperienced Iranians.

Eric Drake, manager of the Anglo-Iranian installations at Abadan, site of the world's largest refinery, warned Iran that cancellation of leaves might accelerate resignations, already being received in large numbers.

A similar warning, of possible "mass resignations," was served on Finance Minister Mohammed Ali Varasteh Thursday in a note from the departing British negotiations committee.

The note was made public Friday by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

British sources said there was a possibility the refinery might have to close if Drake leaves, since this certainly would be followed by widespread resignations.

The results of Iran's efforts to keep the fields and refineries operating with British help are expected to be decisive in the political future of Mossadegh, who sparked the drive for nationalization. The premier is at the crest of his power now.

But British and American observers believe even if the refineries continue to operate, decreasing production, sales difficulties and resultant unemployment and lack of revenues may bring about Mossadegh's downfall.

House Approves $7.2 Billion Tax Boost; Individual Income Taxes Raised 12 1/2%

Education Committee Approves $28,000 In Grants to SUI

More than $28,000 in grants for SUI have been approved by the finance committee of the state board of education, President Virgil M. Hancher announced Friday.

Largest of the gifts was $24,000 from the Josiah Macy Jr. foundation, for research over a three-year period in physiology on the response of humans to exposure to cold. Dr. Steven M. Horvath, physiology department, will direct the research.

The 1923 class of the college of dentistry presented a $2,000 endowment, the income from which is to be used for an annual award to students in dentistry. A committee from the college will determine the award winners.

A gift of $900 for research in stuttering under the direction of Wendell Johnson, director of speech pathology, was accepted from the Iowa Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

A total of $600 for the support of the annual police officers' short course was received. The Iowa State Sheriffs' association, the Iowa State Policemen's association and the Iowa State Association of Police and Peace Officers each gave $200.

The council on pharmacy and chemistry of the American Medical association gave $350 for research on pantothenic acid and the bio-synthesis of cholesterol under the direction of Gene Lata, instructor in biochemistry.

Partisan Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two ve'cran Congressmen staged a brief but bloody fistfight in a house corridor Friday.

The apparent winner: Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), 72. He didn't have a mark on him. His opponent, Rep. John Phillips (R-Calif.), 63, suffered a lip cut which bled profusely but turned out not to be serious.

The two had been arguing about the appointment of house conferees to meet with senators and seek agreement on the independent offices appropriation bill.

'Super-Intelligent' Irwin Eludes Police-FBI Net

DETROIT (UP) — Police guarded nine witnesses Friday as a nation-wide search was intensified for "super-intelligent" Warren Lee Irwin, 27-year-old murder suspect who has been reported seen at a dozen places simultaneously.

But the scar-faced ex-convict who is charged with one murder and boasted of another still has not been definitely identified since he stepped out of a chartered airplane at Chicago's bustling Midway airport Wednesday.

A prowler seen near a Catholic convent was picked up by police, but he did not answer Irwin's description and was released. The report sent three carloads of deputies to the scene, since it was only a few miles from the cornfield where he is believed to have murdered a woman two weeks ago.

Irwin had hired a pilot to fly him from Davenport to Chicago after his kidnap victim, Doris Myers, 43, Detroit, had escaped at Durant. She told police she got away from the desperate gunman when he went into a cafe rest room.

Miss Myers said Irwin tricked her into driving him to Toledo, Ohio, Tuesday night on the pretext that his mother was dying in a hospital there. Then, she said, he forced her to drive him on to Iowa.

Irwin, who has spent nearly one-third of his life in various prisons and reformatories, fled out the back door of his mother's home in Detroit Tuesday night just as police pulled up front with a warrant charging him with first degree murder in the June 8 slaying of Mrs. Adeline Shagena, 58, of nearby Oxford, Mich.

Miss Myers said Irwin pulled out a gun when they got to Toledo and ordered her to "head west." She said he told her he'd "already killed two people and one or two more won't make any difference."

Detroit police, aiding Oakland county authorities in guarding the witnesses, described Irwin as "a super-intelligent man." They said his method of fleeing from Detroit Tuesday night, then heading for Iowa and eventually eluding police by chartering a plane indicated he had "a clever, cunning mind."

Britain Asks World Court For 'Injunction'

THE HAGUE, THE NETHERLANDS (AP) — Britain sent a King's messenger to the World Court Friday with a request for temporary measures to protect the Anglo-Iranian Oil company's rights in Iran.

Britain is seeking what amounts to an injunction against Iran. But Iran has declared the court has no jurisdiction in the case.

Tax Measure 'Worst Ever,' Robey Tells Des Moines Groups

DES MOINES (AP) — The tax bill passed by the house Friday is "the worst tax bill ever devised," Ralph W. Robey, chief economist for the National Association of Manufacturers, said here Friday.

Robey spoke at a joint luncheon of the Des Moines chamber of commerce and the Iowa Manufacturers association who are holding their annual meeting.

During their forenoon session the Iowa Manufacturers adopted resolution and elected a group of officers headed by L. P. Boudreaux of Cedar Rapids, Penick & Ford officials.

Robey, who has written and served as financial editor for a number of publications, saw no immediate tendencies toward inflation but a long run tendency in that direction unless government policies are wisely revised.

The current period when prices are not rising sharply provides a breathing space when the nation's policies should be given better form, he said.

These policies he said, should be based on "a minimum of handicaps on production and a maximum contribution to stopping inflationary dangers."

Robey said the current tax bill does just the reverse. Other officers elected by the convention in addition to Boudreaux were Charles E. Strickland, Mason City, vice-president; Robert E. Loetscher, Dubuque, treasurer, and Seth Barker, Ottumwa, secretary.

E. A. Kimball was shifted from executive vice-president to honorary vice-president where he will continue to serve as a salaried executive. His former position will be taken by Harry D. Linn, former state secretary of agriculture.

Man Hit by Truck In Serious Condition

B. W. Randall, Iowa City construction worker, remained in "serious" condition Friday night in University hospitals after he was struck by a semi-trailer truck early Friday 15 miles east of Iowa City on highway 6.

Highway patrolmen said Randall was struck by a truck driven by Donald E. Gordon, Iowa City, driver for the Watson Bros. trucking company here.

Patrolmen said Randall had stalled his car in a ditch when he attempted to turn around on the highway near West Liberty. He hailed a semi-trucker to help him pull the car onto the road again, patrolmen said.

Gordon told authorities Randall stepped from behind the parked semi-truck and into the path of his truck. He said a slight dip in the road at the point made it impossible for him to see Randall in time to avoid the accident.

Argentina Arrests 5 Army Officers In Anti-Peron Plot

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The army ministry announced Friday night that five Argentine army officers had been arrested on charges of plotting a revolt against the government of President Juan D. Peron.

The ministry announcement climaxed eight days of scare headlines in pro-government newspapers on reports that a plot was afoot to overthrow the government and assassinate Peron, his wife and other high officials.

It said those arrested were Capt. Francisco Figueroa de la Vega and four lieutenants, Attilio Jose Demicheli, Julio Enrique Villa Melo, Edgardo Arturo Fehrman and Alberto Attias.

The ministry said the five were arrested in connection with an investigation of those participating in "a plan to create confusion and disrupt public order" which "had been disclosed in the newspapers."

It accused the arrested men of trying to draw other young officers into the plan to disrupt the army corps of officers to which they belong.

It said the arrests were ordered after army officials learned of the "infiltration" and that the men were detained "in order to determine the responsibility of military personnel" in the plot which the pro-Peron newspapers have reported.

Industrial Relations Meetings in 2nd Day

The first SUI labor-management conference opened in Old Capitol Friday, with more than 100 delegates from throughout Iowa attending discussions on employer-employee attitudes in the state's economy.

For a complete story of Friday's activities, turn to page 2. Following are the highlights scheduled for today:

9 a.m., Old Capitol—Employer-Employee Attitudes and Manpower Utilization—Stanley H. Ruttenberg, director of the department of education and research (CIO), Washington, D.C.

Noon luncheon, Jefferson hotel —Manpower Planning for a Cold War—Dale Yoder, director of the industrial relations center, University of Minnesota.

2 p.m., Old Capitol—Supervisory Training and Employee Incentives —Prof. Norman R. F. Maier, psychology department, University of Michigan.

4:15 p.m., Old Capitol—Conference summary.

Communists Refused Bail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson Friday refused to let 11 convicted Communist party leaders remain free on bail until their request for a rehearing of their case is decided next fall.

received a once-secret message in which Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway disclosed that MacArthur wanted to use Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa against the Reds in South China last December.

Ridgway sent the message to Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief-of-staff, shortly after he arrived in Korea. Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), one of MacArthur's staunchest supporters, had demanded that the secrecy tag be removed from the report.

Ridgway said from the military viewpoint, he thought MacArthur was right and told Collins he wanted to "state my full concurrence at once." Since his dismissal, MacArthur has said he wanted to use the Nationalist troops but would let their leader, Chiang Kai-Shek, say where.

After hearing Barr, the committee recessed until Monday when it will question the last scheduled witness in its long inquiry — Maj. Gen. Emmett (Rosie) O'Donnell. O'Donnell recommended upon his return from Korea that the United States bomb Manchuria and suggested use of the "ultimate weapon" — the atomic bomb.

Barr told Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.), however, that American troops would have to be sent to the Chinese mainland if any invasion by the Nationalists in Formosa was to be successful. He opposed any such move.

Barr described Chiang as an "honest" man but said he was subject to "pressure from the outside." When Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) asked Barr if he considered Chiang an "able military man," the general replied: "No, I do not."

Hungarian Clergy Confess 'Treason'

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY (AP) — Archbishop Jozsef Groesz and three of his associates poured out hours-long confessions at the opening of their trial Friday on charges that they plotted with American help to overthrow Hungary's Communist regime by armed revolt.

The 64-year-old archbishop, successor of Cardinal Mindszenty as head of the Roman Catholic church in Hungary, and eight co-defendants went on trial in the pressure that his will to resist was gradually worn away. He said no drugs or injections were used. (Western diplomats in Vienna said the trial apparently is part of the steady Communist campaign to undermine the Roman Catholic church by pressure and infiltration until it is the voice of the Kremlin, not the Vatican.)

The No. 2 defendant, Endre Farkas, 65, a lawyer described as an adviser on legal matters of the conspiracy, said the American legation promised a loan of $290,000,000 when the Groesz government should be established.

Dr. Laszlo Hevey, 49, a former chief of section of the Hungarian cabinet accused of representing the pro-Hapsburg monarchist group in the conspiracy, said the group planned to arm 30 or 40 men with the 14 rifles and other small firearms displayed in court.

Dr. Pal Bozsik, 67, a priest and a member of the parliament before the war charged with being the chief political planner, was the last defendant to confess Friday.

Airport Construction Bids Await Approval

A recommendation to the Civil Aeronautics Authority to approve and accept low bids submitted Thursday for construction of the new administration building at the Iowa City airport was made here Friday by members of the city airport commission.

All bids recommended for acceptance, except the heating bid from the M. D. McCreey Construction company, Iowa City. The firm bid $97,875 for the general contract; $15,551 for the electric contract, and $6,795 for the plumbing contract.

The Galbraith company, Cedar Rapids, bid $6,210 for the heating contract. City Atty. Edward W. Lucas said final approval of the bids must be given by the CAA office in Kansas City, Mo. He said such approval might be expected in ten days and if received here by then, construction could start on the building by the middle of July.

Driver Unhurt in Bakery Truck Fire

A bakery truck loaded with pies and bread for delivery in the Iowa City area was destroyed by fire a mile east of town Friday morning on highway 6.

The truck was owned by the "Five-Point Bakery company of Moline, Ill. The driver, who escaped unhurt, was able to drive the truck to the shoulder of the road before his escape.

Nationalists Had 'Inept' Leaders, Probers Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. David G. Barr said Friday the Chinese Nationalists never lost a battle for lack of arms but were defeated by the Communists because they had "inept" leaders and no "offensive spirit."

Barr, former commander of the J.S. seventh infantry in Korea who once headed an American military mission to China, flatly rejected charges that Chiang Kai-Shek was defeated because he did not receive enough U.S. aid.

Testifying before the senate committee investigating Gen. Douglas MacArthur's recall, Barr opposed all of MacArthur's Korean war proposals and said "every precaution" should be taken to avoid any step that might "spread the war" and touch off World War III.

Meanwhile, the committee received a once-secret message in which Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway disclosed that MacArthur wanted to use Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa against the Reds in South China last December.

Ridgway sent the message to Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief-of-staff, shortly after he arrived in Korea. Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), one of MacArthur's staunchest supporters, had demanded that the secrecy tag be removed from the report.

Ridgway said from the military viewpoint, he thought MacArthur was right and told Collins he wanted to "state my full concurrence at once." Since his dismissal, MacArthur has said he wanted to use the Nationalist troops but would let their leader, Chiang Kai-Shek, say where.

After hearing Barr, the committee recessed until Monday when it will question the last scheduled witness in its long inquiry — Maj. Gen. Emmett (Rosie) O'Donnell. O'Donnell recommended upon his return from Korea that the United States bomb Manchuria and suggested use of the "ultimate weapon" — the atomic bomb.

Barr told Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.), however, that American troops would have to be sent to the Chinese mainland if any invasion by the Nationalists in Formosa was to be successful. He opposed any such move.

Barr described Chiang as an "honest" man but said he was subject to "pressure from the outside." When Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) asked Barr if he considered Chiang an "able military man," the general replied: "No, I do not."

Largest Single Revenue Bill Goes to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house Friday approved a record-breaking $7.2 billion tax increase, including a 12 1/2 per cent boost in individual income taxes.

The measure, largest single revenue bill ever to come before congress, now goes to the senate where the finance committee plans to open hearings next week.

The vote on final passage of the bill was 233 to 160. It came after administration backers beat down, 220 to 171, a Republican move to send the bill back to committee.

On the motion to recommit, 15 Republicans and one Independent joined 204 Democrats in opposition. Only one Democrat, Garmatz of Maryland, voted with 170 Republicans to recommit the bill.

On final passage, 36 Republicans and one Independent joined with 196 Democrats in support of the bill, while 10 Democrats and 150 Republicans opposed it.

Here is where the government would collect the additional money: Individuals, $2,847,000,000. Corporate income and excess profits taxes, $2,855,000,000. Excise taxes, $1,252,000,000. Miscellaneous changes in the revenue laws, $245 million.

The bill, with two post-Korea tax bills passed previously, increases taxes by a total of $17 billion.

It sped through the house in two days under procedure which prevented individual members from offering amendments. The recommendations of the tax-writing ways and means committee prevailed in every respect.

Big as the bill is, it represents less than half the $16.5 billion in additional taxes President Truman called for last winter. Later, as collections from present rates came in at an unexpectedly large volume, he lowered his sights to a $10 billion boost.

The government's total collections in the next fiscal year are expected to reach $66.3 billion. Over a year's operation, individual income taxpayers would pay 1 1/2 per cent or one-eighth more than they do at present. But since the bill sets the effective date of the increase on next Sept. 1, (thus applying to only one-third of 1951 income, the increase in tax liability this year would be only four per cent.

As an example, a man who paid $800 income tax on his 1950 income and whose income remains unchanged for the two succeeding years would pay $832 for 1951 and $900 for 1952. He would simply figure his tax under the present rates, then add the percentage increase which applies.

The corporate tax rate applying to the first $25,000 of income would rise from 25 to 30 per cent. On income above $25,000, the combined normal and surtax rate would go up from 47 to 52 per cent. The effective maximum rate of the excess profits tax for firms subject to that levy would rise from 77 to 82 per cent.

A bigger percentage of some companies' earnings would be subject to the excess profits levy. The excess profits credit drops to 49 cents only 75 per cent of 1946-49 earnings, rather than 85 per cent, and the tax applies to all above that credit.

The government would be allowed to take up to 70 per cent, rather than 62 per cent, of a company's earnings in normal taxes, surtaxes and excess profits taxes. The corporate tax increases would be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1951.

Consumers would be jolted by higher excise taxes. The cigarette tax would rise from seven cents a package to eight cents; the rate on automobiles from seven per cent of the manufacturers' price to 10 per cent; whisky and other hard liquor, from $9 a 100-proof gallon to $10.50; beer, from $8 to $9 a barrel; gasoline from one and one-half to two cents a gallon.

Labor-Management Conference Opens

PARTICIPATING IN THE labor-management conference here Friday were (left to right) A. E. Hohann, industrial relations manager, Meredith Publishing company, Des Moines; Joseph Mire, economist, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Madison, Wis.; speaker Robert N. McMurry, Robert N. McMurry

Representatives of labor and management took pot shots at each other and jointly attacked the government's handling of the inflation problem Friday at the opening session of SU's first labor-management conference.

Joseph Shister, chairman of the department of industrial relations, University of Buffalo, N. Y., and public member of the construction industry stabilization commission of the wage stabilization board, was the main speaker of the morning.

His remarks on "The Economic Outlook and Its Bearings on Industrial Relations," provided the background against which a panel, representatives of labor, management and the public, exchanged highly differing views.

Shister said the critical and fundamental characteristic of the mobilization economy is a scarcity of labor. As a result of this condition, he stated labor, both organized and unorganized, will get more bargaining power with the framework of government regulation.

Less Fortunate

Speaking of the problem of meeting the demand for labor, he said the U.S. is in a less fortunate position now than it was in 1940.

The cause for this is three-fold: 1) Full employment now exists as compared to the post depression decade; 2) Draft deferment will tend to freeze some of the labor supply in college, and 3) the low birth rate of the 30's is rapidly being felt.

Wage regulation is another characteristic of the mobilization economy. This necessarily follows the spare labor market. He said these regulations are necessary even with fiscal and monetary curbs as an additional check on runaway inflation.

In some degree, Shister made apologies for the vacillating policies of the WSB. The WSB has authority over 60 million workers and hundreds of thousands of industries. The variety of the problems prevents iron clad rules and gives rise to vacillating policies.

Another characteristic of the mobilization program is an increasing concern by management with industrial relations. This is a direct result of labor's scarcity and the growth in demand for labor's products.

Finally Shister predicted manpower controls as a direct result of an economy mobilized for emergency. He said the full impact of the defense orders had not yet had its effect on the U.S. economy.

Shister, who is a permanent arbitrator under contracts of Bell Aircraft corporation and the United Auto workers, discussed how these critical characteristics influence the question of industrial relations.

The first result of mobilization economy will be an increase in the growth of unionization. But Shister predicted that this increase will not be anything like the 100 per cent growth following World War I or the 70 per cent jump in membership following World War II. More likely, he said, it will be less than 25 per cent.

Outside The Fold
The reason for this is that most of the areas which lend themselves to unionization have already been organized. Those groups which remain outside the fold, he said, are either historically anti-union, such as white collar workers, or are too small and hence too costly to organize.

Shister predicted that there will not be many general wage changes. He did, however, comment that the external wage structure of plants and the nation's economy might undergo a considerable change.

The Buffalo professor also predicted that "fringe" benefits, i.e. health, welfare and pension plans will increase. "Unions will press for and be granted these benefits," he said.

"The conflict is not between labor and management but between government agencies." This must be met by a board with the ability to act quickly. "Strikes are not very frequent during the mobilization period and can be prevented by quick action on the part of the government," he said. In conclusion he said that labor will get more bargaining power within the frame work of govern-and company, industrial consultants, Chicago; Sidney G. Winter, dean, SU college of commerce, who presided; Vernon Vierth, editor, The Lennox Publications, Lennox Furnace company, Marshalltown, and Reuben Roe, first general vice-president, United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers International union (AFL), Buffalo, Ia.

Labor wishes business to continue making the good profits of the post-war period and wishes a share in them, the AFL spokesman said.

Curb Inflation
Cosgrove advocated the retention and extensions of controls to curb inflation. "There should be some return to what was utilized during World War II."

"The realistic approach is to accept controls," he said. "We must not fear that once controls are established they will not be removed. The experience in the post-war period proves this is false. Our tendency is to take them off too soon and put them on too late."

Harry Boyd, editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette proposed four points for attention by labor management groups at a luncheon for the members of the two-day conference on problems of "Employer-Employee Attitudes in Iowa's Economy."

He said it should be kept in mind that Iowa is primarily an agricultural state, that its labor is in short supply, that improvement of environment could well be jointly undertaken and that the two groups should not approach their problems with the "chip on the shoulder" attitude that has been sometimes apparent in their contact.

The conference is sponsored by the SU's new bureau of labor and management. It results from a suggestion made in 1949 by Gov. William S. Beardsley.

In the afternoon Robert N. McMurry, head of the McMurry Company, industrial consultants, Chicago, spoke on "Employer-Employee Communication for Increased Production."

He said that management's failure to communicate with employees has brought a wide chasm between top management and the hour-rated employee.

Face-to-Face
This lack of vertical communication will be solved, McMurry emphasized, only when top management sits down face to face with employees and discusses problems.

Describing unions as a "secondary channel of communication," he said that this channel is not always a clear one because of dissension within the union and union politics.

McMurry also recommended that personnel departments be used to a better advantage to improve communications. Such departments should make extensive use of exit interviews, follow-up interviews, counseling, grievance analysis and opinion polls, he said.

In addition to the wide split between these two groups, lack of communication has also resulted in segmentation and stratification among "middle management groups" — the sales, production and accounting divisions, he said.

He described this as a dangerous condition which leads to competition for the favor of top management and creates rivalries among the groups.

McMurry declared that this competition among the middle groups becomes a barrier to cooperation and integration and leaves top management insulated against what takes place on lower levels.

A panel discussion followed McMurry's speech. Members were Reuben Roe, first general vice-president, United Cement Lime and Gypsum Workers International (AFL), Buffalo, Ia.; Vernon Vierth, editor of Lennox Publications, Marshalltown; Joseph Mire, economist for American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Madison, Wis., and A. E. Hohann, industrial relations manager, Meredith Publishing company, Des Moines.

Chief speaker at this session was Ewan Clague, commissioner, bureau of labor statistics, U.S. department of labor.

Three Million Workers
In his speech on "The Cost-of-Living Index in Relation to Wages in the Present Emergency," Clague said:

"Today more than three million workers are covered by collective agreements which provide for automatic wage rate changes based on movement of the consumers' price index of the bureau of labor statistics. Nearly 800 separate contracts are involved.

"Suggestions have been advanced by stabilization officials for a more general, 'semi-automatic' application of the index. This would mean that a sizeable portion of the nation's wage bill would vary with the consumers' price index.

"On the penny-per-hour-percentage point formula, so extensively used today, a single point change in the index, counting only hourly rated non-farm employees, would change the annual wage bill by upwards of three-quarters of a billion dollars.

"Yet the adoption of the index to precision uses for which it was never designed creates situations beset with difficulties. The index, for one thing, tends to become a subject for pressure and controversy.

By CHUCK LEEDHAM

PROBABLY THE BEST comment on the weather so far, issued by a gentleman crossing the Union footbridge the other day — "If I were a rice farmer, I'd love it."

NOW THAT THINGS are pretty well under way, we can get to a serious subject — women.

Plato never had much use for them — maybe he saw "Lysistrata" once too often. He had an ingenious system whereby if a guy was particularly nasty during his lifetime, he was incarnated as a female, something considered not so good before the days of the Disposal and The Power of a Woman.

THERE COMES UP the question of when a woman stops lying about her age in one direction and starts in the other. Any suggestions?

Up until some well-concealed dividing point, they up the figure a year or so. After that, they begin to underestimate somewhat. A great boon to the wondering male would be a formula (math department, please note) in one end of which you could put the age given and get the real dope from the other.

FOR SOME REASON it seems that women are far more addicted to homilies and platitudes than men — which is not too bad until someone begins to take them seriously.

Which brings to mind the story of the man whose wife bubbled nothing but platitudes all day. "Haste makes waste," she said as he rushed through the morning coffee.

But she forgot all about the stitch in time when buttons popped off his shirts.

One day, teetering on the brink, he heard her say for the Xth time, "John, dear, they're selling like hot cakes."

He rushed out, sold his interest in a comfortable button-hole business and bought himself a hot cakes factory, determined to siffle at least one of her quotes by going happily broke.

The business floundered, of course, and our hero found himself with three warehouses full of stale hot cakes and bills up to here. He waxed despondent, down at the mouth.

At home one evening he detailed his woes to his spouse, though he should have known better, and got in return a snappy exposition of what's at the edge of every cloud.

That cut it. He went into the bedroom, carefully selected a tie she had given him for Christmas, fastened it to the chandelier and hung himself, muttering, "Never put off 'til tomorrow what you can do today."

The last thing he heard before he stepped off the chair was her voice sleeping in from the living room with, "Keep your chin up!"

Iranian Oil Muddle Forces Action to Avert Shortages

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A British warning to Iran that continued insistence on driving the Anglo-Iranian oil company from the country may cause the closing of the Abadan refinery has been accompanied by hurried moves in the world oil industry to meet possible serious regional shortages.

American oil companies planned a pool of supplies, tankers and refinery facilities, and prepared to juggle trade routes by mutual agreement.

The most immediate concern was the needs of the British fleet and air forces. Any tieup in that quarter would be serious at a time when, as the state department said, Russia was attempting to exploit Iranian nationalism and install a Communist regime.

The long-term matter of supply was not considered serious. Increased production in Iraq, Arabia, Venezuela and the United States could come fairly quickly, and vastly increased refining facilities are due to go into production soon anyway.

But loss of the Abadan refinery might cause local shortages, especially in India, Pakistan and Britain, for a time. And the loss of the Iranian oil business would be a serious blow to Britain's economy, which also is important to the U.S.

There is widespread fear in the industry that the Iranian stoppage will set off nationalization demands throughout the entire Middle Eastern oil area. Certainly the British are in trouble wherever they operate. Under the pressures of their postwar reconstruction program, they have been far slower than the Americans in Arabia to modernize their practices and their relations with the local governments.

Aramco, the American combine in Arabia, seems to be getting along pretty well. What has become known as the "Jedda agreement" last year gave the Ibn Saud government a 50-50 share in the operations. A new pipeline clear across the vast peninsula has produced new communities with modern health services and the like. All in all everybody seems to be profiting.

The British have been doing the same, but under circumstances where a vast proportion of development benefits have gone to the ruling classes without much help to the general populations. And the reforms have been too late.

Now the question of oil, profits and political prestige in the Middle East have become subordinate to the question of where Iran's future falls — with Russia or with the West.

Dismissal of Chicago Police Captain Over $32,500 Gift Toppled

CHICAGO (AP) — Judge John A. Sbarbaro Friday reversed the civil service commission's dismissal of Police Capt. Thomas Harrison, who admitted before the Kefauver committee that he once received $32,500 as a gift from a part-owner of a racing news service.

Harrison was fired by the commission last March 6 after admitting that he accepted the gift 15 years ago from the late John Lynch.

Harrison at the time of his dismissal was in charge of the notorious North Clark st. district, which covers the swank gold coast lake-front area as well as the Rush and Clark street strip-tease joints.

Wanted to Sing — Drops Dream To Go Home

CHICAGO (AP) — A Minnesota farm girl Friday abandoned her dream of becoming a night club singer and agreed to go home.

Miss Fern Sorenson, 20, Alden, Minn., thanked Judge Irwin E. Clorone of women's court for dismissing a disorderly conduct charge against her. He lectured on the evils of city life.

The girl apologized to Sgt. John Mangin of the police narcotics detail for trying to stab one of his men with a scissors when he came to arrest her June 13 in the Midland hotel. She had checked in from Alden June 9.

"We're going home and staying home," her father, Ralph, said.

A psychiatrist informed the court Miss Sorenson is not a narcotics addict as police were informed by her parents in requesting that a search be started for the girl. They found she had been taking benzedrine tablets upon prescription for reducing purposes the last two months.

Steel Shortage May Cut Baby Bed Supply

CHICAGO (AP) — The steel shortage may bounce a baby right out of a bed, a manufacturer of juvenile furniture revealed Friday.

Tom Fitzgerald, vice-president of Edison Wood Products company, New London, Wis., said production of cribs during the last quarter of 1951 may have to be curtailed because of the shortage.

Fitzgerald said his "regular sources" couldn't supply him steel. He has purchased enough from "new sources" to maintain adequate production during the third quarter. But he said he was "a little worried" about the fourth quarter.

Steel is used in the springs, dropside rod and brackets of cribs.

NPA TO CUT BACK TRUCKS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Production Authority soon will order cutbacks ranging from 15 to 40 per cent in output of various types of civilian trucks, informed sources predicted Friday.

Paul Richards May Be

Manager of the Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Even if the crash comes now for those hustling Chicago White Sox, Paul Richards virtually is a shoo-in for baseball's manager-of-the-year laurels.

They're calling his club the "Richards Rockets" and credit him with working a "miracle on 35th street" in Chicago. But he's not claiming any miracles, even for developing those amazing White Sox pitchers.

"Chico, Fox and Busby made those pitchers great," Richards said.

Chico Carrasquel is the shortstop, Nelson Fox plays second and Jim Busby is the sprinting centerfielder. They're the backbone of the solid defense but it takes more than defense to make a pitcher win consistently.

Richards obviously has a way with pitchers. While at Detroit, he was credited with supplying the tips that made a star of lefty Hal Newhouse, up to that point only a so-so operator.

There were plenty of so-so operators in White Sox livery when Richards took them over but he found a way to get plenty of mileage from the likes of Randy Gumpert, Howie Judson, Billy Pierce, Ken Holcombe, Lou Kretlow, Joe Dobson, Saul Rogovin and Marv Rotblatt.

"The main thing I believe in is giving pitchers plenty of rest," said Richards.

So it's a long time between starts even for the regulars. And when the relievers don't get much action, Richards will slip one of them into a starting slot — and rarely has been disappointed.

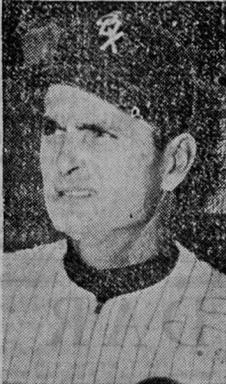

Gumpert learned how to pitch while with the New York Yankees. He learned in the bull-pen, waiting for the call that seldom came because Fireman Joe Page got most of the relief jobs in those days. Given proper rotation by Richards, Randy won his first seven decisions without a defeat.

Richards curbed a tendency of Pierce to try to overpower strong hitters. He kept Holcombe on a hunch because he showed no trace of his usual sore arm this spring. Judson was promoted from reliever to starting. Rogovin, obtained in a deal with Detroit, went back to pitching with an overhead motion — and began to win.

Each pitcher has been under the personal eye of Richards with Coach Ray Berres carrying out the details of changing this or that as the case may be.

On the bench, the White Sox keep talking about their "secret weapon." It could be a gag. It could be whistling in the dark against the day they figure they'll seek the low level of all other White Sox teams since the Black Sox debacle in 1919.

But it could be Paul Richards.

Yanks Cut Chisox Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Allie Reynolds pitched his second straight shutout for the New York Yankees Friday night, 6-0, holding the Cleveland Indians to six hits. Bob Feller suffered his second loss of the season.

As the league-leading Chicago White Sox lost to Boston, the Yanks moved to within 2½ games of first place.

Jerry Coleman drove home half of the Yanks runs and Yogi Berra hit his 11th homer in the attack that snapped Feller's six-game win streak. His only previous loss came at Boston, May 19.

Reynolds, a shutout winner over Detroit Sunday, was in command all the way enroute to his seventh victory. All six Indian hits were singles.

The Yanks ripped into Feller for eight of their 10 hits with Gene Woodling, Bobby Brown and Coleman doing most of the damage.

The crowd of 47,888 saw Feller's fast ball hemstitched for three markers in the second inning. Berra led off with his drive into the lower right field stands and Woodling, Brown and Coleman knocked successive singles for two additional runs.

Bosox 6, Chisox 5

BOSTON (AP) — Vern Stephens' two-run homer snapped previously unbeaten Randy Gumpert's seven game pitching streak and gave the Boston Red Sox a 6-5 victory over the top place Chicago White Sox Friday night in the opener of a four game series.

Stephens' circuit blow, his 10th of the season, came after Ted Williams had scored Billy Goodman with a twobagger to left field in the fourth inning. Gumpert, who had been knocked out of the box without penalty by the St. Louis Browns in April, was replaced by Luis Aloma in the fifth inning.

Lefty Mel Parnell, who gave the Red Sox their previous win in seven previous starts against the Chisox, weakened in the eighth but was given effective relief assistance by Ellis Kinder.

The White Sox banged Parnell for three runs in the third on singles by Bob Dillinger, Nelson Fox and Orestes Mino's third homer of the campaign. Before Kinder took over, Don Lenhardt and Jim Busby drove in Mino and Don Lenhardt to cut the Red Sox lead to one run.

Busby's blow was a double and Kinder found him on second and Lenhardt on third with Chico Carrasquel up with two out. Carrasquel lashed a terrific drive that sent Williams back to the left field wall for a spectacular game saving catch.

Tigers 7, Nats 3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detroit pounced on Fred Sanford for six runs in the first inning and defeated Washington, 7-3, Friday night. George Kell and Dick Kryhoski, with three hits each, paced the Tigers' 11-hit attack.

Ted Gray required relief from Hal White in the eighth inning but won his third decision. Sanford, recently acquired by the Senators from the Yankees, was dealt his fourth loss against one victory.

Sanford was mauled for five hits in the first inning. Johnny Groth walked; and after Jerry Priddy struck out, Kell singled. Vic Wertz's single scored Groth and Pat Mullin's double produced another run.

Kryhoski was passed intentionally to fill the bases; and after Aaron Robinson popped out, Johnny Lipon doubled, scoring Wertz and Mullin. Gray's single scored Kryhoski and Lipon sent Sanford out.

The Tigers boosted their lead to 7-6 in the fourth against Sandy Consuegra.

A's 5, Browns 2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gus Zernial's booming bat featured the Philadelphia A's 5-2 victory over St. Louis Friday night as the burly outfielder pounded two home runs, his 12th and 13th of the season, and a single to chase home three of the winner's markers.

Both of Zernial's round trippers were made on first pitches to him by righthander Al Widmar. Each came with the bags empty.

Philadelphia took a 1-0 lead in the first inning as Eddie Joost walked, went to third on Elmer Valo's double and tallied on an infield out.

Ferris Fain had three hits for Philadelphia, boosting his average to .363.

Pat O'Sullivan, Patty Berg In Golf Finals

WHITEMARSH, PA. (AP) — Amateur Pat O'Sullivan, broad shouldered 24-year-old golfer from Orange, Conn., blasted professional Louise Suggs from the Women's Western golf championship, 4 and 2, Friday and will meet Patty Berg in the 36-hole final today.

Chunky Patty, recovering on the back nine after her youthful caddy, Mike Smith, tipped her off to a putting fall, defeated amateur Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., 5 and 3, in the other semi-final match. The freckle-faced pro, seeking her fourth Western title, had been held even by the Illinois state champion at the turn.

The finalists will clash in the 36-hole title match starting at 7:30 a.m. today over the 6,660-yard, par 33-75 Whitemarsh Valley country club course.

The slender, long-hitting Miss O'Sullivan caught Miss Suggs on one of her poorer days and immediately took advantage of the opportunity.

Miss O'Sullivan, who already this year has won the Titleholders, North and South, and Eastern amateur titles, played the first nine holes in 39, one over women's par. She was two over coming back, although she sank a 12-foot putt on the 12th and a 20-foot on the 13th, both for pars.

Miss Lindsay, one of the long-ests hitters in women's ranks, gave the favored Miss Berg many uncomfortable moments before she finally surrendered.

Stranahan Staggers Into Western Open Golf Quarter-Finals

SOUTH BEND, IND. (AP) — Frank Stranahan, the muscular golden boy of amateur golf, limped home to win his quarter-final match from Jack Munger, Dallas, 1 up in the 49th Western Amateur championship being played at the South Bend country club.

Stranahan will meet Bob Olson, Grosse Pointe, Mich., number one man on the University of Michigan team this spring, in the feature semi-final match today.

He was four up Friday at the end of 12 holes in his encounter with Munger. But then he started to slip.

On the 17th it became all even with Stranahan, still erratic, getting a bogey four and Munger a par three.

McGuinness twice took a one-hole lead on the front nine, but never was closer than two-down after the 11th.

McGuinness stepped away again on the 14th. They halved the 15th and the 16th, and the match was over. The tee gave McGuinness his trouble. He failed to get a solid drive until the 13th, while Kniss was splitting the fairways and getting the greater distance.

Kniss Wins Iowa Junior Golf Crown

AMES (AP) — Dale Kniss, Waterloo, won the Iowa junior golf championship Friday, defeating John McGuinness, Des Moines junior champion, 3 and 2.

Kniss consistently outhit McGuinness off the tee and displayed a superior approach game. He took the lead going into the back nine and never was endangered.

McGuinness took a one-hole lead on the front nine, but never was closer than two-down after the 11th.

Kniss birdied the 10th and parred the 11th to stretch his lead to three after holding a one-up advantage at the turn. McGuinness fought back to win the 13th after getting his first solid drive of the match.

Kniss stepped away again on the 14th. They halved the 15th and the 16th, and the match was over. The tee gave McGuinness his trouble. He failed to get a solid drive until the 13th, while Kniss was splitting the fairways and getting the greater distance.

Nobody Flunked — Wisconsin Athletes Have Best Grade Report Ever

MADISON, WIS. (AP) — University of Wisconsin athletes turned in their best scholarship record in school history during the spring semester, athletic director Guy Sundt said Friday.

"Not one of the squad candidates or more of the 13 sports during dates counted on to report for one the school year of 1951-52 will be lost by ineligibility," he said.

Ninety-eight of the men who'll form the nucleus of teams averaged B or better last semester. In addition, 40 special scholastic awards went to athletes, he said.

Harvard Crew Whips Yale in 99th Regatta

Reds Climb, Beat Phils

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds clustered all of their runs in the first inning Friday night to whip Philadelphia, 3-2, and take over the Phils' fourth-place berth. Andy Seminick cracked his sixth homer over the leftfield fence for Philadelphia with none on in the third.

The Reds hung on for dear life after the first as the Phils chipped away the lead to one run. Seminick's homer narrowed the gap and a triple by Eddie Waitkus followed by Richie Ashburn's single produced the Quaker's second marker and chased Harry Perkowski in the eighth.

Frank Smith came on in the eighth and retired the next five men in order, striking out three.

Starter Jocko Thompson, who was smeared with his fifth defeat, settled down wonderfully after the rough first inning and allowed only two harmless hits until he was yanked for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Braves 8, Cards 7

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A two-out, two-run double by Sam Jethroe in the ninth inning gave the Boston Braves an 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night before 9,311 fans. Earl Torgeson and Willard Marshall hit homers for the Braves.

After the Braves scored a pair in the opening inning, the Cards came back with three in their first, driving out the starting young lefthander Chet Nichols.

But the Braves bounced back with three in their third on Torgy's homer with the bases empty and another by Willard Marshall with Sid Gordon on first after singling.

It appeared the Braves had a safe cushion after they scored once in the fourth to take a 6-3 lead. But the Cards landed on the Tribe for three runs in the sixth to tie the score.

With two out in the top of the ninth, Jethroe delivered his bases-loaded double to right for two runs and the ball game.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Arthur Andrews of Iowa City, who had run and hit his way into the finals of the Heart of America tennis tournament, went down to defeat Friday, 6-0, 6-3, as Dale Anderson of Shawnee, Okla., won the boys' single's trophy.

Arthur's brother, Jamie, who is playing in the junior boys single's division, also lost Friday. He was beaten in the semi-final round, 6-3, 6-4, by John Been of Frederick, Okla.

Giants 9, Cubs 6

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Willie Mays, who looks more and more like the outstanding star he was heralded to be, hammered his fifth homer Friday to give the New York Giants a 10-inning, 9-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The blow came after Hal Jeffcoat's two-run ninth inning homer off George Spencer gained the Cubs a 6-6 tie and deprived Sal Maglie of his 12th win.

Monte Irvin and Billy Rigney also smacked homers for the Giants. Irvin's belt, a three-run job, capped a five-run fourth inning that overcame a 3-0 Chicago lead.

The Cubs had belted starter Sal Maglie for four hits and three runs in the third inning.

Gene Hermanski and Bruce Edwards, ex-Dodgers, opened the third with singles. Bob Borkowski followed with another one-base blow, scoring Hermanski. Bob Ramazzotti's single scored Borkowski and a balk by Maglie forced in the third run of the inning.

Red Sox Outfield Continues to Lead In All-Star Balloting

CHICAGO (AP) — The Boston outfield remained intact Friday in balloting to choose the American league team for the 18th annual all-star game in Detroit July 10.

Right fielder Billy Goodman, center fielder Dominic Di Maggio and left fielder Ted Williams led all other candidates in their respective positions.

In other seasons, Dom failed to rate such popularity and his brother Joe of the New York Yankees overshadowed him in the voting. The ailing Joe now, however, is fifth in the poll.

Chicago's White Sox also have three players in first-place spots in American league balloting; first baseman Eddie Robinson, second baseman Nelson Fox and shortstop Chico Carrasquel. George Kell, Detroit first baseman, and Yogi Berra, Yankee catcher, are the other leaders.

Stan Musial, St. Louis left fielder, held on to his lead in individual balloting. He had 258,146 votes. Nelson Fox was second with 251,804, Williams was third with 246,961, and Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn second baseman, was fourth with 242,377.

Nurse Lost 13 Days in Woods; Eats 2 Berries

SEVIERVILLE, TENN. (AP)—Evangeline Lorimor, a young nurse who has practiced fasting, related Friday that she stumbled through a smoky mountain wilderness the past 13 days without food.

Found after a widespread search, she told newsmen from her hospital bed a fabulous account of how she survived in the awesome Great Smoky mountains national park with few ill effects.

The 21-year-old religious-minded nurse said the only things that passed her lips during the ordeal were water from mountain streams and two sour huckleberries. She lost 18 pounds.

She disappeared June 8 after setting out from her camp site to hike up spectacular Bunker hill deep in the park. As dusk fell, she said, she found herself lost in the dense, rock-strewn thickets.

An experienced hiker, she spent the first night on the bank of a stream, thinking a searching party would look there.

Clad in shirt, jeans and low white shoes, she said she wandered for days, occasionally "screaming my lungs out" when she thought she heard shouts. "No one heard. Then I prayed."

During the first week, "food didn't bother me," she said. "Why is everybody so interested in food? It's not so important. Just experimenting, I had done without it for as long as a week before."

But the second week she was lost, "my stomach was sore on my backbone . . . I dreamed about food."

Although the park is known for its bears, she saw only one. The most vicious attack came from insects and briars, and she blistered her feet. The hospital said she was in very good condition.

At last she saw a tiny trail twisting through the brush. As nightfall neared Thursday, she heard a cow bell tinkle in the distance and followed it to the house of a ranger. She was 10 miles from the camp site.

"I really feel stupid about the whole thing," she said.

Acting park superintendent Robert White said he thought she had been only half-lost. He said she had remarked that she decided it was "time to come out" because she had to return to duty Monday at Cincinnati's Jewish hospital.

She and her father, Evangelist W. H. Lorimor, were on vacation. Bloodhounds put on her trail when the search began stopped at a road that crosses the park between Tennessee and North Carolina. A white shoe was found nearby.

Friday, Miss Lorimor said she lost a heel all right but that she wasn't anywhere near a highway.

NURSE EVANGELINE LORIMOR shows her father, W. M. Lorimor, her swollen feet which were the worst effects of 13 days' wandering in the Smoky mountain wilds. Miss Lorimor said she drank water from mountain streams and her only food was two sour huckleberries. Officials at the hospital where she is recovering said she was in very good condition.

Farmer Incomes Higher During '51 Than Last Year

Iowa farmers were in a better position financially during the first four months of 1951 than they were during the same period in 1950, on the basis of a comparison of the prices paid and the prices received by farmers.

This information was revealed in an article, "Iowa Trends," in the June 1951 Iowa Business Digest, publication of the college of commerce and the bureau of business and economic research.

According to the article, nearly all major indicators show that business activity for the period, January through April 1951, was above the corresponding period for 1950.

Although the rise of prices received for farm products at local markets by farmers in Iowa slowed down to no change in March to a decline of .6 per cent in April, the average prices received by farmers during the four-month period was nearly one-third higher than during the corresponding period last year. This closely paralleled the trend of prices over the United States as a whole.

Prices paid by farmers for items necessary for living and production have not declined since December 1949. They rose approximately half as much as the prices received during the first four months of 1951 as compared to the same months last year. This trend also follows the national pattern, which shows a slightly smaller but constant increase over a period beginning in February 1950.

National Committee Puts Pressure on Democrats

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Democratic national committee put pressure on Democrats in congress and throughout the nation Friday to come to the rescue of President Truman's crippled anti-inflation program.

Chairman William M. Boyle Jr., sent a letter to every Democratic senator and congressman reminding them of strong anti-inflation resolutions passed by the national committee and Democratic rallies in the west and mid-west this year.

Boyle said those who fail to support the President's program "are sitting on an atomic price bomb with a time fuse set to go off on June 20" when the present control law expires.

At the same time he called on 50,000 party leaders throughout the country to stir up public sentiment for a "strong anti-inflation" program lest "public apathy" provide a victory for the "special interests."

Playground to Open At Kirkwood Monday

A playground for children ages four to ten will open Monday at Kirkwood school, 628 Kirkwood ave.

Sponsored by the Iowa City recreation commission, the school will run Monday through Friday, from 9 to 12 a.m. Mrs. Olyia Thoeke will be the director.

Activities will include circle games, story telling, and apparatus play.

Prisoner Paroled

DES MOINES (AP)—Oscar Johnson, 36, of Wapello county, has been released from Ft. Madison state penitentiary on parole, the state parole board announced Friday. He had four years and one month left to serve on a 15-year sentence for larceny from person.

Illinois Judge Gives 3 Year Sentence To Check Stealer

CHICAGO (AP)—Earl Wilson, 40, arrested May 16 in Davenport, was sentenced to three years in federal prison Friday on charges that he stole checks from rural mail boxes and posed as a farmer to cash them.

Wilson, who has a record dating back to 1938, pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Walter J. Labuy to two specific charges.

The first charged him with stealing a $910 check from the rural box of Clarence Tatge, near Elgin, Ill., last Oct. 18. He dressed as a farmer and cashed it the next day in Waukegan, Ill., bank, telling the cashier that he needed the money for farm machinery.

Wilson also admitted stealing a check for $630 last Dec. 29 from the mail box of the Fox turkey farm at Palatine, Ill. Authorities said he knew that the farm's truck would visit an Evanston, Ill., currency exchange, and he waited there until it parked outside and then he cashed the check.

When the girl cashier asked him for identification, he said, "That's my truck outside." But she noted that he got into an automobile instead of the truck when he left, and she noted its license number.

Police subsequently traced the number to his brother-in-law, and found Wilson living at the Harrison hotel in Davenport.

3 Hospital Staffers Appear on WOI-TV

Three members of the SUI hospital staff appeared on a television show, "The Patient Needs Blood," over WOI-TV, Ames, Friday evening.

They were Drs. Elmer DeGowin and John Franklin, and medical technician Mrs. John Lilledahl.

The show, one of a series sponsored by the Iowa State Medical society, demonstrated a blood transfusion.

Others who participated were Dr. Arthur T. Woods, State Center, and several nurses and internes from Des Moines hospitals.

Contractor Drowns

MUSCATINE (AP)—Arthur M. Cochran, 59, Des Moines, a bridge contractor, drowned in the Cedar river Friday when he fell from a bridge on which he was working. Cochran was nailing flooring on the bridge when he fell.

Mrs. Bushman and Camera

To Illustrate Children's Stories — Grandmother Enrolls in Photography

By JEANNE TRAHAN
If you see a grandmother with a twinkle in her blue eyes and a press camera in her hands, it might be Mrs. Ethel Bushman, Iowa City, who is taking a news photography course at SUI this summer.

Mrs. Bushman, who has five children and eleven grandchildren, doesn't expect to lack subjects for her pictures. Her grandchildren range from six months to eight years in age.

During the year, Mrs. Bushman teaches country school in Newport, six miles north of Iowa City. She spends her summers taking courses at SUI as an unclassified student.

"I certainly am enjoying my photography course," Mrs. Bushman smiled, "but my main reason for enrolling is that I want to learn to take pictures illustrating children's stories."

Adding that she has wanted to write children's stories since she attended school in Chicago in 1891, Mrs. Bushman said, "I feel that photographs are a better form of illustration for children than are drawings because children like the added realism.

"I'll go back to the Newport school next year because I've grown to feel like those children are a part of me. I take a personal interest in each one," Mrs. Bushman said.

Last term she had 15 pupils. "I worked with each one," she said, "just as though he were the only student in the class because every pupil needs different help."

The main difference, she finds between her teaching experience today and that of 30 years ago is the advancement made in teaching methods.

"The difficulty in those days," Mrs. Bushman said, "was that the classes weren't staggered. Now they are arranged to fit the best needs of the children. We don't fail students who are struggling; we just fit the work to their ability levels."

Newport school is well supplied. "We do metal craft, woodworking and finger painting," Mrs. Bushman added. "Next term I'm going to teach manual training and sewing."

When she moved here eight years ago, Mrs. Bushman did tailoring and dressmaking. "I still get calls for work," she laughed.

This is Mrs. Bushman's third enrollment in SUI summer school. At the end of the session she will have 24 hours of credit.

"I hope to teach one more year," Mrs. Bushman explained. "Then I want to enroll at the university and work on my B.A. degree."

Mrs. Bushman, who lives with her husband Herman, a university heating plant employe at 813 River st., still intends to find time to take some good pictures.

"My first ones were overexposed," she admitted, "but my last one was pretty good. I want to concentrate on children and animals, and get enough experience to illustrate some really good children's books."

The grandchildren will be the first subjects, and with all her family gathered around, Grandma should have a field day with her camera.

Probers Subpoena Florida's Governor

MIAMI (AP) — Senate crime probers Friday subpoenaed Gov. Fuller Warren to appear before them in Washington July 9 to tell them what he knows about Florida's crime and whether gamblers contributed to his election.

The announcement came at the end of a two-day hearing of the senate crime committee here, and touched off a cheering demonstration by spectators.

It was the first time a state chief executive has been summoned for a mandatory appearance, according to committee officials. Warren declined an invitation to appear at the Miami hearing which ended with the handing of the subpoena to Deputy U. S. Marshal Jack J. Peoples for service on the governor.

In Tallahassee, the governor was reported still resting at a "famous beach" but his office refused any other clue to his whereabouts. Nor would his staff comment on whether he would choose to honor the subpoena and appear in Washington.

he subpoena will be mailed to a U. S. marshal at Pensacola for service upon Warren.

Earlier Friday, Warren sent a telegram to Sen. Herbert O'Connor (D-Md.) committee chairman, answering point by point the six lines of questioning O'Connor said the committee wanted the governor to answer.

O'Connor waved the telegram aloft, said it had the governor's name on it but that's the only word we have received from him. "The only course left open to us is to take other means to secure from the governor the information he possesses. Accordingly I will issue a subpoena for Gov. Fuller Warren to appear in Washington. The date of the hearing is being set for July 9," O'Connor stated.

While the audience cheered vigorously, the chairman handed the subpoena to Peoples.

Warren, in his telegram, defended his record and declared "no gambler or gangster made any contribution to my campaign so far as I know."

State Gives Firm Stop Sale Order On Frozen Eggs

DES MOINES (AP) — L. B. Liddy, chief of the state dairy and foods division, said Friday a stop order on the sale of 103 cans of frozen eggs had been issued against a Guttenberg, Ia., firm.

The eggs in question failed to meet standards of the state department of agriculture, Liddy said. He did not disclose the identity of the Guttenberg firm involved in the case.

Four other firms placed under an agriculture department stop order have now agreed to abide by state regulations in handling their eggs, Liddy said. He said a fifth firm had not yet submitted a report.

Department of agriculture inspectors charged the companies which first were handed stop orders had been spooning out blood rings and meat spots from eggs after cracking them for freezing.

CUT TRUCK OUTPUT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is preparing to cut the production of trucks up to 40 per cent in the three months starting July 1, despite industry warnings that it will cause widespread labor layoffs.

CIO Officer Blasts Wage Increase Plan Of Bell Telephone

OMAHA (AP) — J. R. Hill, director of district seven, Communications Workers of America, (CIO), said Friday the eight per cent raise announced Thursday by Northwestern Bell Telephone company was the "latest maneuver" in prejudicing rights of its older workers.

Hill said the eight per cent increase actually paid only 3 1/2 per cent more to workers at the top of the pay scales, while boosting the lower-paid ranks filled with newer workers by 16 per cent.

"It's like robbing Peter to pay Paul," he said. The company said Thursday that it would put into effect the wage increases June 25, the day after expiration of the CWA contract.

Hill also blasted a claim of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) that it actually represents the majority of Northwestern Bell employees.

The claim, the company announced last week, forced suspension of wage contracts with the I.W.A.

"The IBEW claim is completely phony," Hill said, "and both the company and the IBEW know it is phony." He accused the IBEW with aiding the company to save money by tangling up contract negotiations with its claim. The claim is now pending before the National Labor Relations board.

Hill said the CWA, "when the IBEW's phony move is dispensed with," will not feel bound by the June 25 increase, which the CWA turned down June 11 during wage negotiations.

Man Sways Police Superintendent 'Axed'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Harvey J. Scott, Pittsburgh's square-jawed and colorful police superintendent, was suspended Friday for appearing before a special racket grand jury "cussin' drunk."

Safety Director George E. A. Fairley dropped the ax after white-haired Judge Sara M. Sofel soundly rapped the water-eyed superintendent for "paralizing liquor" and held him in contempt of court.

Scott, she told newsmen later, had been a belligerent and hostile witness, had cussed out a deputy attorney general and was altogether too drunk to handle.

Scott denied everything. But in the courtroom he insisted on addressing the woman judge as "she."

He swayed, his speech was thick, he was argumentative and he maintained a haughty attitude, loudly maintaining he was sober as a judge.

Swimming Classes To Begin Monday

More than 600 children have registered for the Red Cross swimming classes which begin Monday at the Iowa City municipal pool.

The largest number of registrations have come from the second and third grade groups Red Cross officials said Friday. However, classes are also offered for all age levels through high school as well as for adults.

Late registrants may register Monday from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Red Cross office. Children cannot be admitted at the pool until they have registered at the Red Cross office. Registrations will not be taken this afternoon.

Mrs. R. Cox's Rites To be Held Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. Roy Cox, 45, Des Moines, former Iowa City resident, will be held at Holy Trinity church in Des Moines Monday at 8:30 a.m.

Mrs. Cox, who died Friday in Des Moines, was born Jan. 8, 1908 in Iowa City. She was married to Roy Cox, Jan. 15, 1932.

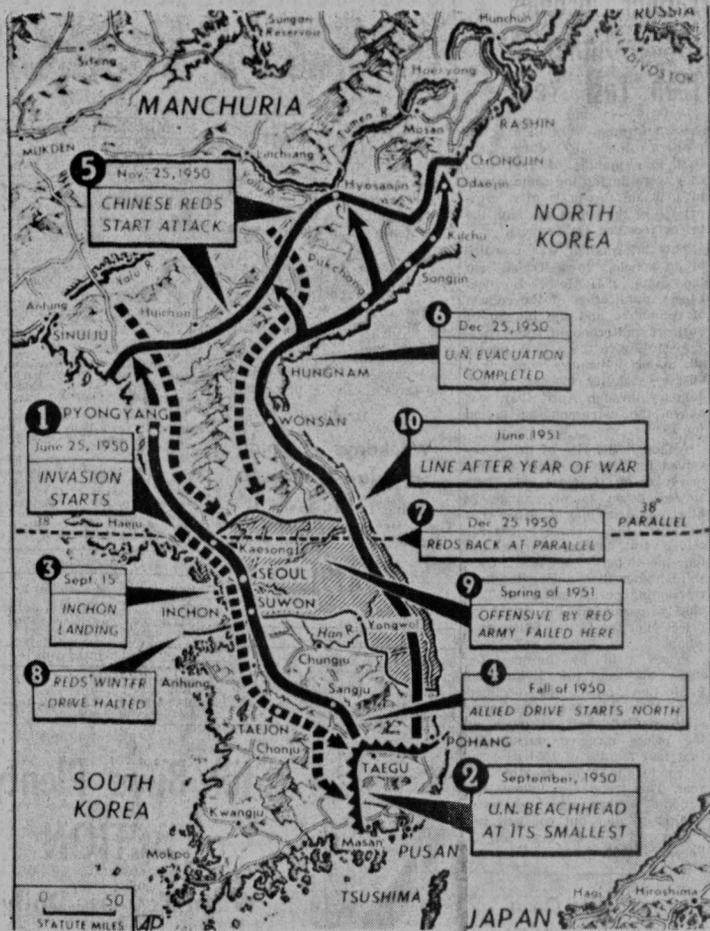

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Nancy, at home; her mother, Mrs. Joseph Schneberger, Iowa City, and two brothers, Frank and James, Iowa City.

Rosary will be recited at the Hohenschuh mortuary at 3 p.m. Monday. Burial will be in Memorial Gardens, Iowa City.

Map Shows How Fighting Has Moved

MID-KOREA is the battleground at the end of one year of war. The shaded area in central Korea indicates where virtually all ground fighting has taken place during 1951. Boxes show high spots of geographical developments since war broke out June 25, 1950. In contrast to early months of war, when action swung first to far southern end of peninsula, then almost to Manchuria, ground fighting since January has been confined to mid-Korea, with the Allies now holding just north of the 38th parallel.

School for Deaf Superintendent Stands Firm on Teacher Issue

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Supt. Lloyd Berg of the Iowa School for the Deaf stood firm on his decision to "fire" four teachers Thursday.

He also told labor representatives he would refuse to recognize an American Federation of Labor teachers' local formed at the school.

The case now is to have a hearing before the state board of education at Iowa City next Thursday.

On May 14 Berg told teachers William Moran and Leila McQuaran he would not renew their contracts. Mrs. Ruth Robey and Beverly Peterson were told they would be hired on a conditional day-to-day basis without contracts.

Moran is president of the teachers local; Miss McQuaran, secretary; Miss Peterson, vice-president, and Mrs. Robey, an active member.

They were among six teachers who met with Governor Beardsley and Iowa legislators in Des Moines last April seeking more money for teachers' salaries at the Iowa School for the Deaf. Subsequently the school received an additional $36,900 appropriation.

Berg, at Thursday's meeting, repeated his previous statements that the teachers were "unhappy" at ISD and that they did not follow "procedure" in their action.

"They did not agree with me as to how we shall best effect changes here at ISD," he said, adding that "procedure" is for teachers to talk over complaints with him. If an agreement is not reached, a memorandum in writing can be filed with him and it is relayed to the state board of education. Berg declared all faculty members are familiar with this procedure, but the 12 teachers present at Thursday's meeting denied this.

Rock Island Police Nab Suspect in 3 Robberies

ROCK ISLAND (AP) — A long-haired piano-player was seized Friday by Rock Island police in connection with three recent tavern robberies.

Claus C. Miller, police chief, said he and two fellow officers slipped up behind shaggy-haired Joseph DeSalvo, 21, and seized him as he tinkled out a tune on a piano in the Fifth Avenue club.

DeSalvo, whose home is Chicago, had a .45 caliber pistol trapped beneath his armpit, but made no attempt to use it, Miller said.

At the police station, the chief said, DeSalvo signed statements relating he had robbed three taverns within three months in Rock Island. The latest Friday morning.

In this robbery the stick-up man entered the Viaduct tavern, across the street from the International Harvester Farmall works and confronted bartender John Delp with a .45 caliber pistol.

The robber took a total of $9,500 in cash and checks. Delp said the large sum of money was on hand to cash paychecks of Farmall workers.

The other robberies occurred April 13, when the 400 Club was robbed of $1,149 and May 4, when $1,100 was obtained at Johnny's tap.

Chief Miller said he located a car directed by DeSalvo and found $4,724 in currency and rolled change. He said the car had been stolen in Chicago.

The money, said Miller, came from the Viaduct tavern which DeSalvo said he robbed Friday.

Miller declined to reveal how he found DeSalvo. DeSalvo was held without charge.

Man Goes to Prison For Selling Dope

CHICAGO (AP) — George (Greasy) Gilbreath, 50, was sentenced to 25 years to life in prison Friday for selling narcotics to a minor, the first such sentence under a new state law and the heaviest penalty ever imposed in a drug case here.

The new Illinois law makes it a crime instead of a misdemeanor to peddle narcotics to a minor and provides a penalty of from two years to life imprisonment.

By coincidence, the sentence passed by new Judge Daniel A. Covelli was his first since taking the bench.

Covelli said it was "not pleasant" to pass his first sentence, but that the "vicious" sale of drugs to minors was turning them into "thieves and killers."
