Ban on Rollbacks To Up Living Costs, Johnston Cautions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston warned congress Thursday that a threatened ban on price rollbacks would be an "economic Pearl Harbor" that would add a dollar a day to every housewife's budget.

Opening a last-ditch administration bid for a strong controls law with President Truman's personal blessings, Johnston said the provision would cost the nation $15 to $19 billion over the next 12 critical months.

He made the statement as a hostile house began debate on an amenedment-riddled controls bill which is bitterly opposed by Mr. Truman and his economic high command. The senate already has passed a weakened eight-month extension.

The President told his news conference he still hopes congress will agree to his request for a strict law to fight inflation as the rearmament program gains speed. But he said he has written all the letters and made all the speeches he means to.

Johnston told his own news conference that failure of congress to restore the government's authority to roll back meat and manufacturing prices would cost every American family $360 a year in added living costs or about a dollar a day.

Johnston said the senate bill—which prohibits price rollbacks and requires cost increases to be reflected in higher prices—would add $12 to $19 billion annually to consumer costs and $3 to $5 billion to defense outlays.

As it now stands, the house measure merely would forbid two future beef price rollbacks planned by Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle. But a Republican-Southern Democrat coalition is confident it can extend the ban to cover all rollbacks and even cancel a 10 per cent rollback in cattle prices already in effect.

Committee Balks At NAM Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)— The senate finance committee gave a cold reception Thursday to a federal sales tax plan proposed by the National Association of Manufacturers.

The NAM plan calls for a "consumption tax"—ranging perhaps as high as 19 per cent — on all items except food. It would be collected at the manufacturing level, and would take the place of sharp increases in personal and corporation income taxes voted by the house.

Republican and Democratic leaders of the committee promptly attacked the whole NAM plan.

Iran Rejects World Court Interim Plan for Oil Peace

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — The international court of justice urged Britain and Iran Thursday to agree on an interim plan for keeping Iranian oil flowing until the court can reach a decision in the bitter dispute.

Iran quickly rejected the court proposals.

British officials hailed the proposals as "very welcome to us." They said Britain would try to follow the recommendations set down in the 3,500-word decision if Iran would agree. The British indicated that if Iran kept on refusing to agree, Britain might put the oil case before the UN security council.

But Iran clung to her uncompromising determination to seize full control of the huge Anglo-Iranian Oil company's wells and refineries on the Persian gulf.

Hossein Navab, Iranian minister to the Hague, declared: "We did not recognize the competence of the court, and neither do we recognize the court's decision of Thursday. We consider the court's decision null and void."

Britain had asked the court to propose interim measures as a matter of greatest urgency to stave off the threatened complete shutdown of her Iranian oil operations.

Britain also accused Iran of violating international law in nationalizing the British-owned company and asked for an injunction against its seizure by the Iranian government. The court apparently will decide on the charges and the request for an injunction after it determines whether it has jurisdiction in the case.

The UN-sponsored court rejected an Iranian request that it declare outright that it had no jurisdiction. The court said it could not accept this Iranian stand until it had fully studied the case.

The court proposals merely "indicated" what steps it thought should be taken to keep oil operations going and to keep the situation from deteriorating further.

The court recommended a five-man board be appointed to supervise continued operations of the Anglo-Iranian oil company under its present British management.

The board, to be made up of two representatives from Britain, two from Iran and one from a neutral country, would administer all revenues in excess of the company's normal operating expenses. The excess funds would be deposited in banks chosen by the board.

Morrison Charges Oil Field Situation Becoming Intolerable

LONDON (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the house of commons Thursday that the situation in the nationalized Iranian oil fields is "becoming intolerable."

He charged that the government of Iran seems determined to force the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company, (AIOC) to close down, even if it means economic ruin to the country.

An effort to stave off a showdown on the critical issue, through the international court of justice at the Hague, was rejected by the Tehran government.

Morrison spoke to commons soon after the British cabinet had instructed its Tehran ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd to work closely with the U.S. ambassador in Tehran, Henry F. Grady, in an attempt to find a solution.

He reassured commons that "all practical measures to protect British lives (in Iran) . . . have been taken."

2nd Cosmic Test Is Scheduled Today

The second group of balloons to test cosmic radiation at high altitudes will be released by the SUI physics department today, weather permitting.

Eight large white balloons filled with hydrogen will support a gondola carrying equipment to measure the intensity of cosmic radiation. The gondola will reach an altitude of 15 to 20 miles.

Some of the balloons will break due to overexpansion and others will contract from cool air, gradually lowering the gondola.

200 to Attend Speech Meeting At SUI Today

About 200 persons, primarily from Iowa, are expected to attend a two-day conference on the application of research to speech pathology and audiology at SUI beginning today.

The conference to be held in Old Capital, is designed for students in speech pathology and audiology, but persons in allied fields or in educational work are invited to attend.

Prof. George von Bekesy, Harvard university, considered by many as the outstanding authority in the field of audition, will give an address on research in audition at 9 a. m. today.

A physicist, von Bekesy has devised a self-testing, self-recordcording audiometer for hearing tests. The SUI General hospital is equipped with his audiometer.

Von Beksey has contributed 51 articles to a bibliography in audition compiled by the Harvard university psycho-acoustics laboratory.

Also speaking this morning will be Prof. C. V. Hudgins, Clarke School for the Deaf, Northampton, Mass., on the topic "Research on Speech for the Deaf."

Prof. Mildred Templin, University of Minnesota, will open the afternoon session at 2 with a talk on "Research in the Development of Language in Children."

Research as an approach to some of the problems in phonation will be discussed by Prof. Jack Irwin, director of the speech clinic at the University of Wisconsin.

A panel discussion on research applications to clinical practice will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday. Prof. Wendell Johnson, director of the SUI speech pathology and audiology clinic, will be chairman of the panel.

Prof. Charles Elliott of Northwestern university's school of speech and 20 Northwestern university students will be guests at the conference.

Mrs. Heinze Named To Hospital Post

Mrs. Stella Heinze has been appointed executive housekeeper for the SUI General hospital, University hospitals officials announced Thursday.

Mrs. Heinze's appointment became effective July 1. She came to the university from George Washington university, Washington D.C., where she was also executive housekeeper.

At the General hospital Mrs. Heinze will be responsible for all services concerning the cleanliness and appearance of the hospitals and grounds.

Mrs. Heinze is a member of the National Executive Housekeepers association. She has also been planning chairman of the institute of executive housekeepers, University of Minnesota.

Her experience during the past 20 years includes the positions of special consultant to the U.S. public health service and executive housekeeper for the Oak Ridge hospital, Oak Ridge, Tenn. She has also been executive housekeeper for the University of Illinois.

Truckers Suggest Two Plans For Rerouting Gas Trucks

Gasoline transport trucks may be rerouted around Iowa City's main business district in the near future by one of two routes suggested at a meeting of trucking company officials and the city council Thursday night.

About 20 trucking company executives and drivers met with the council at a special meeting called to discuss the problem of gas transport trucks moving through the heavily traveled business district of Iowa City daily.

Eldon Miller, owner of the Miller truck line of Iowa City, outlined the two plans to council members. Miller said representatives of his firm and the Ruan trucking company had discussed the possible rerouting plan and were in agreeemnt that the two routes were the best.

The two routes are:

East and northbound traffic: Trucks would leave highway 6 at Coralville and drive south past the WSUI radio towers to the IWV county road. Trucks would then travel east on the IWV to Sunset road on the outskirts of University heights.

Traffic would then move south on Sunset road to Benton st. and east on Benton st. across the Benton bridge to Capitol st.

It would then move north on Capitol st. to Prentiss st. and west on Prentiss st. to Madison st. Then north on Madison to the intersection of Burlington st. and east on Burlington st. to Gilbert st.

The trucks would then procede north on Gilbert st. to Iowa ave. and west on Iowa ave. to Dubuque st. and north on Dubuque st. by their regular route.

Another route suggested for northbound traffic would have the trucks procede up Burlington st. to the intersection of Dodge st. They would then go north on Dodge st. to Church st. and follow highway 261 or turn west and go to Dubuque st. to pick highway 218.

Miller pointed out that the routes outlined to the council were temporary and would take care of traffic during the time that highway 6 between Iowa City and Coralville is closed.

He added that one of the biggest traffic hazards, the turn onto the Burlington st. bridge from highway 6 might remain after traffic is resumed on highway 6.

Miller said trucks would probably travel Melrose ave. on westbound runs during the detour. He added that all such trucks would be empty and therefore would, in his opinion, be able to drive up the steep hill on Melrose ave. at the intersection of Burlington st. and Riverside drive.

Police Chief E. J. Ruppert pointed out to council members and truckers the danger of an accident on the hill if one of the trucks should have faulty brakes.

Miller urged the council to curtail parking on most of the streets outlined in his detour plan. He also told the council that resurfacing would be needed on W. Benton st. and Sunset road.

A wooden bridge on Dodge st. would also have to be replaced by one that could handle heavier loads, Miller added.

At the conclusion of the discussion on possible rerouting plans, John Zacher, member of the personnel department of the Ruan company, suggested that the council call in a traffic expert from outside the city to study the various plans and decide which would be the most practical.

Mayor William Holland asked the trucking representatives whether there was any possibility of a gas truck exploding from the force of a collision or other shock.

Prof. Walter Daykin, upon whose suggestion the special meeting was called, told the truckers statistics on safety meant nothing unless the council was also informed how many people were killed as a result of gas truck accidents.

"We are dealing with human lives here," he said, "and human lives are far more important than the movement of gas."

Vanderbilt Field Jailed; Fails to Tell How Reds Got Bail

FIELD

NEW YORK (AP) — Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire leftist, was found in contempt of court and sentenced to 90 days Thursday for refusing to tell who provided $80,000 bond for four bail-jumping Communist leaders.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan imposed sentence on the scion of one of America's wealthiest families, but ordered it stayed until today so the defendant could appeal.

The 46-year-old Field is secretary of the Civil Rights congress bail fund which posted $260,000 bond for 11 American Communist leaders convicted of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the U.S. government. The U.S. attorney general's office lists the congress as subversive.

Ryan ordered a bail inquiry, contending identities of those who put up the $80,000 were needed to help trace the fugitives.

Field is a great-grandson of the famed Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, who founded the family fortune with the Staten Island ferry and railroad investments.

Field had refused on Tuesday, when the bail inquiry opened, and again Thursday, to divulge identities of the bail fund contributors.

He also refused to supply various records of the fund, as ordered by the court.

Talks Sunday To Outline Truce Meeting

TOKYO (FRIDAY) (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today agreed to terms of the preliminary armistice meeting Sunday and said a five-mile radius around Kaesong would be a neutral zone from the time Red emissaries arrive.

The supreme Allied commander announced, however, that his own team would use either jeeps or helicopters.

The Reds also agreed today to guarantee the safe conduct of Allied officers. This cleared the last obstacle in the way of the preliminary session at Kaesong, near the 38th parallel. The meeting will lay the groundwork for the formal conference Tuesday.

Signed by Gens. Kim Il Sung of North Korea and Peng Teh-Huai of the Chinese Red "volunteers," the Communist message said they agreed to Ridgway's requests of July 5. These included the safe-conduct guarantee and permission to send two interpreters with the Allied emissaries.

However, the Reds specified that the envoys come to Kaesong by jeeps, rather than by helicopter as Ridgway said he wanted. This, the Communist message said, was "for their more certain safety and cut down the possibility of misunderstanding."

It said the Chinese and North Korean delegations also would go to Kaesong by jeep and truck on the road south from Pyongyang.

AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported from eighth army headquarters that a reliable source said Ridgway had named three colonels to the UN liaison unit.

These were reported to be a U.S. marine, a U.S. air force officer, and a South Korean army officer.

The source said an army major would act as coordinator but it was not clear whether he would go to Kaesong, the Reds' chosen meeting place about 35 road miles northwest of Seoul.

Based on notifications to relatives through last Friday, it listed 11,564 killed, 54,302 wounded and 12,244 missing by the latest count.

It quoted a statement by the Chine peace committee which called for increased subscriptions to the Red campaign to buy warplanes for Korean fighting.

Allied and Communist troops across the 100-mile battlefront Thursday sparred lightly.

UN patrols pushed within almost one mile of the bomb-shattered conference site. One UN spearhead entered Kaesong Wednesday, found it deserted and withdrew.

East of the Kaesong sector, Chinese stepped up their artillery and mortar fire but showed little determination in holding ground defenses.

Chinese faded from most of the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Pyonggang triangle on the west-central front. Earlier they had fought fiercely to hold the ridgelines just south of Pyonggang, northern apex of the triangle.

Pooled field dispatches said the Reds still held Pyonggang. Air observers saw small reinforcements moving toward the smashed road hub.

There was little ground action on the east-central front north of Yanggu and Inje, where the Communists are hiding out in the rugged mountains. Small enemy counterattacks Thursday were hurled back.

Insurance of Peace Lies in Strength, Dewey Tells Japan

TOKYO (FRIDAY) (AP)— Gov. Thomas E. Dewey called today for a world peace based on a buildup of strength by free nations and "not a mere peace of surrender or appeasement."

The twice-defeated Republican presidential nominee declared that because of its vast industrial might, the United States was not afraid of the "continuing threat of warlike Communist aggression."

He said that through unity and a buildup of "overwhelming strength" the free world may look forward to the "gradual exhaustion and disintegration of the Communist forces of slavery and aggression."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the America-Japan society and for broadcast (9:30 p.m. (Iowa time) to the United States, Dewey asserted that the U.S. "will never be the one to start a war in any conceivable set of circumstances."

Dewey's speech was his first on his six-week 29,000-mile tour of nine countries of the Far East for a first-hand survey of problems of the Pacific nations.

His immediate audience were prominent Americans in Japan and Japanese business and government leaders who make up the America-Japan society.

He told them his visit was "solely as a private citizen."

Dewey made no direct reference to the imminent Korean war cease-fire talks.

British Atom Chief Resigns; Hits 'Red Tape'

LONDON (FRIDAY) (AP) — The British government disclosed today that the head of its atomic energy program is resigning and that one of his top assistants already has quit.

The disclosure came after Conservatives charged in the house of lords that Viscount Portal, the atomic chief, and M. Perrin, his top policy assistant, were resigning because of "red tape" and security breaches which were threatening the atomic program with "collapse and disintegration."

Baron Cherwell, Winston Churchill's wartime scientific adviser, led the Conservative attack. He said, and the supply ministry later confirmed, that Portal is resigning next month. Reliable sources said Perrin resigned June 30.

Cherwell blasted government civil servants for "hamstringing" the atomic energy program with "red tape" and permitting the Russians with "imperfect knowledge" to produce atomic bombs before Britain.

Lord Alexander, speaking for the government, said Portal took on the job for three years, remained for five years, and that "it is understandable that he now wants to retire."

Minneapolis Strike Cuts Off Supplies To Ten Hospitals

MINNEAPOLIS, (AP) — AFL service workers went on strike at 10 Minneapolis hospitals Thursday, cutting off vital milk, fresh food and medical supplies when truck drivers refused to cross picket lines.

Threatened with exhausted food supplies, the hospitals sent an urgent plea to Mayor Eric Hoyer to open the lines for movement of food and medical supplies. Hoyer ordered police to protect anyone carrying supplies to the hospital.

After Hoyer's order went out, hospitals sent out volunteers in private cars to carry in the vital supplies. The 10 hospitals reported volunteers were able to bring in enough supplies to feed patients Thursday and today. But they reported the situation would become extremely critical if it continues.

Hoyer also called in all parties concerned for a meeting to try to end the strike. But after 2½ hours of talks behind closed doors, he emerged wearily to say "the situation is unchanged. We've adjourned until 10 a. m."

The workers, members of the AFL public building service employes union, defied a state law forbidding strikes against charitable hospitals.

Gillette Wants to Quit Chairmanship Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Ia.), said Thursday he has asked to be relieved as chairman of the senate elections committee but has agreed to keep the post for the time being.

Gillette issued a statement in reply to an article by Columnist Drew Pearson. Pearson had said that Gillette resigned in a huff after asserting that he had been personally "embarrassed" by a subcommittee's investigation of last fall's Maryland senatorial election.

The senator said he wanted to resign as chairman because of the committee's delay in finishing its work and because "lack of a staff counsel entailed a demand for more of my time than I felt I could continue to devote to the committee."

Work on New Journalism Center To Begin in 2 Weeks

Construction on the first of three units of the SUI communications building has received the green-light from the national production authority, Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism, announced Thursday.

Work on the $525,000 building is expected to begin in about two weeks.

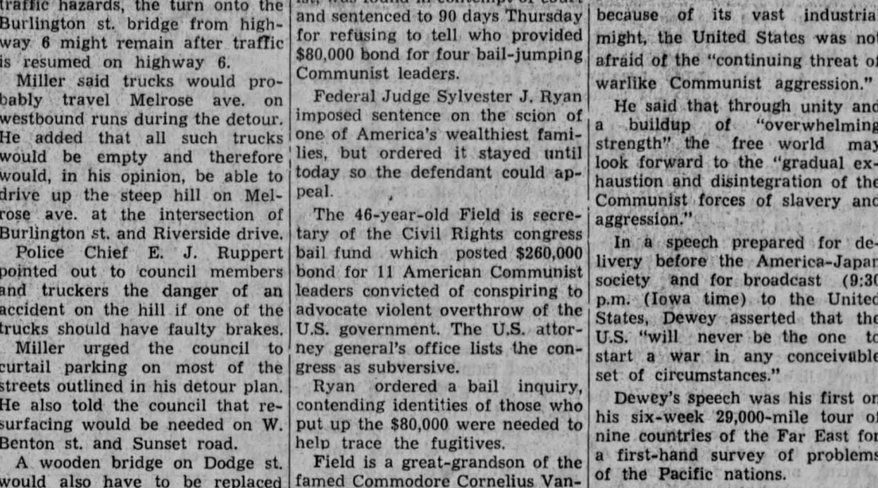
The new building will be the first unit in the plans of SUI communications council to bring together all communications agencies on campus.

The 50 to 60 room building will have a frontage of 140 feet on Madison st. and 80 feet on College st. Ground-clearing on the site was begun in May.

The journalism unit will contain administrative offices for the school of journalism and a small amount of space for classrooms. Space will also be provided for a research center.

All laboratories under the control of the school of journalism will occupy space in the new building. These laboratories include a typing laboratory, photography dark-room facilities, a newspaper laboratory and a typography laboratory.

There will be working space for the editorial and advertising staffs of The Daily Iowan, as well as Hawkeye and Frivol.



COMMUNICATIONS CENTER

A reference library of the newspaper morgue type will be included and office space will be provided for the SUI department of publications.

Reference library facilities will be available to The Daily Iowan, Hawkeye and Frivol and eventually to any other persons or groups in the university who need to use the facilities.

The first unit of the center will not contain space for either the SUI printing service or The Daily Iowan mechanical department. These may be provided for in the future units.

Radio station WSUI will remain in its present location in the engineering building.

"Plans are for the addition of two more units if the funds permit," Moeller said.

He added that no unusual delays because of the snortages of materials are expected.

Searchers Report Plane Wreckage In Florida Swamp

BRONSON, FLA., (AP) — Wreckage of a plane believed to be that of a young Minnesota flier missing since Monday was spotted late Thursday deep in Devil's Hammock, a dense river swamp four miles west of here.

A pilot of one of dozens of planes that have criss-crossed west central Florida for the last two days said he believes the shattered plane is the one flown by Robert Ellsworth Jones, 21.

Jones was last heard from shortly after he left Tampa Monday to return to his home in Minneapolis after a Florida vacation.

Joe Simmons, assistant chief wildlife officer for Levy County, said the plane was seen in the middle of Devil's Hammock, which is about seven miles across. Sheriff's officers were rushing with an ambulance to the scene of the crash.

Earlier Thursday, a Coast Guard PBY plane spotted an oil slick off the Gulf Coast, 12 miles from Clearwater. A cutter was promptly ordered to drag the sea floor in that area.

Lt. Col. John C. Baumberger, who has directed the 70-plane search for Jones' craft, said a housewife near the oil slick reported a low flying plane trailing smoke just a few minutes after Jones took off from Tampa for Tallahassee.

"Her report may tie in with the oil slick," Baumberger said.

Despite the two reports, officials of the coast guard Civil Air Patrol, and air force continued the search until nightfall. Capt. Willard Welch of McDill air force base in Tampa said 60 more CAP planes from Miami would join the air hunt at dawn today unless Jones' plane is found and definitely identified before that time.

Senator Urges Congress To Protest Oatis Trial

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) called on congress Thursday to tell Russia what it thinks of the "farcial and shocking" conviction of an American newspaperman by a Soviet satellite court on espionage charges.

The newspaperman, William N. Oatis of The Associated Press, was charged, tried, convicted and sentenced in Czechoslovakia. But McMahon declared the case was just another example of Soviet determination to "rule by fear." He accused the Kremlin of "systematic persecution" of newsmen.

McMahon introduced a resolution that labeled the Oatis arrest and trial a "ludicrous travesty of justice" carried out solely for anti-American propaganda purposes.

President Truman underscored this charge at Thursday's news conference with the disclosure that he approved the state department declaration before it was issued.

The department turned its guns meanwhile on another Soviet satellite, Hungary, accusing it of manufacturing false propaganda against the United States.

Hungary has ordered two members of the U.S. delegation at Budapest to leave the country. The state department called the Hungarian action "part of a well-planned propaganda campaign" and said the satellite's objection to the Americans are "completely without foundation."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) demanded that the state department take "immediate reciprocal action" against Czechoslovakia for its treatment of Oatis.

Mundt made no specific proposal. He suggested that perhaps the department could close all Czech consulates in this country, but he said the exact method of U.S. retaliation should be left up to the department. But he made it clear that he believes some kind of action is necessary.

"We must not take this supinely," he said. "We must make it clear to these satellite nations that we are not going to permit loyal American citizens to be treated like spies and criminals."

Synhorst Elected Board Chairman

DES MOINES, (AP) — Secretary of State Mel Synhorst, who has been backing a "get tough" policy for the state beer permit board, Thursday was chosen chairman of the board as it organized for the current biennium.

Ray Johnson, newly appointed member of the state tax commission, attended after having automatically becomes a member when the tax commission elected him its chairman. The other member is Chet B. Akers, state auditor.

The permit board said it would proceed with its preparation of a new questionaire for new applicants for class "B" and "C" beer permits. The lengthy form includes questions about the applicant's background.

Synhorst said the board was proceeding on the strength of an attorney general's opinion which yesterday ruled the board had the power to refuse to grant a permit to any person "not of good moral character," or to revoke any permit it had issued if it had good reason to believe the state laws were being violated by the permit holder.

Prince, Princess Consider U.S. Visit

LONDON (AP) — Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip may go to the United States for a week late in October at the end of a coast-to-coast tour of Canada, court sources said Thursday.

Informants said the only actual deterrent to an American visit would be a grave turn in the international situation or a desire to avoid disappointing the dominion by shortening the Canadian trip.

Buckingham palace said a decision on an American trip would have to await an invitation. President Truman later said in Washington that the royal couple would be welcome.

When Margaret Truman was here recently, she told Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret that she would like to return their hospitality in Washington.

The Canadian tour has not yet been mapped out in complete detail. It is expected to last about a month, with train travel through the scenic parts of Canada and plane hops over the longer parts.

Neither has been in Canada or the United States. King George and Queen Elizabeth visited both countries in 1939. Their daughters stayed at home.

Graduate Courses Okayed at ISTC

CEDAR FALLS, ((AP)) — The state board of education has approved the beginning of graduate level courses in the summer of 1952 at the Iowa State Teachers college, college President J. W. Maucker announced Thursday.

Establishment of a graduate program at the college was one of the major recommendations in a comprehensive study of the state's three institutions of higher education, the report on which was publicized last fall.

In addition to the board's approval, the 1951 legislature appropriated sufficient funds to finance the expansion. The board's approval specifies that the graduate program be designed for teachers in the elementary and secondary schools, and for supervisors, principals and special teachers.

Bank Robbers Get 60-Year Sentences

CHICAGO, ((AP)) — Two men who pleaded guilty to participating in a bank robbery in which two guards were slain were sentenced to 60 years in prison Thursday by Federal Judge Philip Sullivan.

David Edgerly, 34, and James Hoyland, 31, turned state's evidence and identified two other men as the killers. Sullivan rejected an appeal by their attorney for clemency.

The June 25, 1949, holdup netted $920 from the South Chicago savings bank.

Joseph Jakalski, another member of the gang, has been sentenced to 199 years. Richard Tamborski, the fourth, was acquitted.

Slab Zinc Supplies Will Be Put Under Allocation Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Production authority Thursday placed slab zinc supplies under allocation controls starting Aug. 1.

The rough form of zinc is used principally by the iron and steel industry for galvanizing and rust-proofing sheets, wires, tubes and pipes, building hardware, railway signal equipment, chains, bolts, screws and other items.

Companies such as newspapers and printing shops are affected indirectly because the sheet zinc used for making engraving plates is produced from slab zinc.

However, NPA said, Thursday's order was designed to provide for "more equitable distribution" of slab zinc supplies for civilian use after defense needs are met.

At present, users of slab zinc are held to 70 or 80 per cent of their rate of consumption during the first half of 1950, depending on the grade of slab.

These orders were revoked Thursday and instead the government ruled that "no person may accept delivery of slab zinc for any purpose" unless specifically authorized by NPA on a special allocation form.

Exempted from this order the certain small consumers, persons who get slab zinc from foreign sources for resale, and the U.S. government stockpile.

The order affects about 450 companies, including producers, consumers and dealers, NPA said.

Warnings Sent Out As Rivers Swell

SIOUX CITY (AP) — A flood warning went out Thursday as the Floyd river swelled toward a record high here.

Residents of suburban Springdale were warned to be ready to leave their homes at a moment's notice as the river passed the 20-foot mark at James, eight miles upstream. The river already has covered highway 75 in Springdale.

The Floyd, which empties into the Missouri river here, was expected to reach 21 feet or more for a new record here.

The Des Moines, Raccoon and Cedar rivers were high, but were not causing serious flooding. The Des Moines river touched the 16.2-foot mark at Tracy, two feet over bankful, and was expected to remain high for two more days. The Des Moines river fell slightly at Ottumwa but still was over bankful. It was expected to return within its banks by Monday at Ottumwa.

The Raccoon river was falling at all points along its bank, after cresting at 12 feet Wednesday at Des Moines.

The Cedar river was within its banks at nearly all points and was well below bankful at Cedar Rapids.

Drug Addicts Find Cure at 'NARCO'

LEXINGTON, KY. (UP)—Narcotics addiction can be cured.

Addicts who are willing to try have an excellent chance of recovering, and hundreds have been cured at the U. S. Public Health Service hospital here. But a permanent cure requires sincere cooperation through months of excruciating treatment.

Dr. Victor H. Vogel, medical director for the hospital, said that 25 per cent of the volunteer patients discharged as recovered remain permanently off drugs. Another eight per cent who leave the hospital against medical advice also remain cured.

The hospital is one of two in the U.S. specializing in treatment of narcotics. Built in 1935, it is the oldest and by far the largest. The other, also a public health service hospital, is located in Ft. Worth, Tex., and many of its 1,000 beds are taken up by other kinds of patients.

The hospital has been unable in its discharged patients, and it bases its surveys to learn the current addiction status of 40 per cent of lieves a large percentage of this group remained cured. The fact that none of the 40 per cent has returned for treatment or has been arrested on narcotic charges indicates many, if not most, no longer are addicts.

Treatment takes a minimum of six months, although some patients are released after four months and come back during the other two for consultation.

The hospital, known as "NARCO" to the inmates, is located on 1,250 acres of gently rolling land in the heart of the Kentucky bluegrass area, and the building itself covers 14 acres of land. It has facilities for 1,500 patients, although it has only about 1,350 at present. The staff totals 550.

Patients come from all 48 states and the District of Columbia. The largest portion comes from such big cities as New York, Chicago, and Washington.

Treatment begins after the patient arives with the process known as "withdrawal."

An addict who is denied narcotics all at once becomes violently ill, suffering intense physical pain. The pain is real, not imagined. To prevent this suffering, the narcotic is withheld gradually.

First, the patient is examined by a doctor who determines how much drugs a day he has been taking. The patient's word is never taken on this point—often he doesn't know, just as often he will lie. He lies because the more he has been taking n private life, the more he is allowed during withdrawal.

On the first day of withdrawal treatment he will receive almost, but not quite, the same amount of narcotic he has become accustomed to. The next day the amount is decreased, and this gradual decrease continues one, two, or three weeks, when finally, he receives none.

Then, the patient is transferred to another section of the hospital where he stays for perhaps 60 days and where he does little but eat, read, sleep, and take light recreation. That's all he wants to do. He has become exhausted, mentally and physically, both by the withdrawal and by his life before entering "NARCO."

He eats enormous quantities of food. One young patient eats one and a half loaves of bread at each meal — three meals a day. The bread consumption for the hospital as a whole averages almost a loaf a day for each patient. He eats other foods in proportionate quantities.

After the period of recuperation, the patient is transferred to a dormitory, where he has a private room. Here he is allowed such personal possesions as pictures and radios, and he is his own housekeeper, making his own bed and cleaning his own floor.

The dormitory will be his home for several weeks or months. While here he is assigned a job.

His work is vocational rehabilitation, designed to teach him to lead a normal life without dependency on drugs.

Finally, the day arrives when he and the hospital staff think he has been broken of the drug habit, and he is released.

'Little America' To Be New Home For U.S. in Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — They're putting the roofs on West Germany's "Little America."

By September, a U.S.-type community is expected to be ready on the outskirts of this German capital, to house the American high commission staff.

The project includes 458 apartments of varying size on the west bank of the Rhine. When it is completed, High Commissioner John J. McCloy will move his headquarters here from Frankfurt.

That will cut out a lot of wearisome train riding for top U.S. officials who, in the last 18 months, have had to make several trips weekly between Frankfurt and Bonn. It's two and one-half hours each way.

The French and the British have been in the neighborhood of Bonn ever since the federal republic was set up in 1949. The French are in Bad Godesberg, 20 minutes from the German chancellery.

The Americans, last comers, will be nearest to the capital. Their buildings, on the northern edge of Bad Godesberg, are only a few hundred yards from the Bonn city boundary.

"Little America" will have everything you would find in a small American town.

There's an office block where 1,500 employes of the high commission will work.

They'll live in modern apartments having one to four bedrooms.

Shopping will be done in a big supermarket — already christened "the skyscraper" because it dwarfs other buildings in the neighborhood.

A church, schools, gas-station and a parking lot are under construction.

Social life will revolve around a country club, with swimming pool, gymnasium and movie theater.

And the scenery — view of the Rhine and the famed Drachenfels Crag — is wonderful.

Agriculture Department Offers to Extend Loans

WASHINGTON, ((AP)) — The agriculture department offered Thursday to extend grower price-support loans on 1949-crop crop another year.

It said this action was taken to help lessen the strain on commercial storage and transportation facilities.

About 57 million bushels of the 1949 crop are stored on farms under the price support program.

Insane Killer Picks Lock; Flees

JAMESTOWN, N. D. (AP) — A dangerous hammer murderer picked a lock at the state hospital for the insane Thursday and escaped "without a trace."

State police broadcast a three-state alarm for Harold Kneifel, 47, and warned authorities that he was "dangerous."

O. J. Nygaard, state prison warden, said he was not "positive" how Kneifel escaped, but he believed the convict "picked a lock" in his successful bid for freedom. Nygaard said no bars were cut nor locks broken in the criminal section of the hospital where Kneifel was kept.

Kneifel has spent his time between the state hospital and the state penitentiary since being convicted in the brutal hammer slaying of Orlando Lee, in Bowman county on Dec. 28, 1925. He was last transferred to the hospital in 1949.

Kneifel confessed to police that he beat Lee to death with a machinist's hammer, hid his body in a trunk at his house, then slept beside the corpse for several nights.

Police discovered the body after searching his house on the outskirts of Bowman. They arrested Kneifel at the home of his bride of 24 hours, where he was celebrating Christmas with her family. A flashlight which belonged to Lee was found in the pocket of Kneifel's clothing.

Kneifel steadfastly refused to confess the crime until he was confronted with fingerprints found at the scene. He told police he killed Lee for money which he used to get married. He said he stole 100 silver dollars off Lee after beating him to death with the heavy hammer.

Authorities said they did not know if Kneifel was armed, but they warned that "extreme caution" should be used in any effort to capture him.

They said Kneifel is approximately six feet tall and weighs about 190 pounds. He has medium brown hair, thinning on top, and has a birthmark on the right side of his head. At the time of his escape he was wearing a blue work shirt and khaki trousers.

Salad: A Weather Hit As Appetizer, Entree, Dessert

Salads are tasty all year round—but in the summertime, when appetites are often discouraged by the high temperatures, a salad has the added advantage of "eye appeal." Crisp and cool and colorful, it will often "hit the spot" with the family.

Perhaps you haven't realized how versatile a salad can be. As an appetizer, try using fresh fruit sections, crisp raw vegetables or jellied molds of fruit, vegetables, meat or fish in small portions, says the General Electric Consumers institute.

Or make a salad your main dish on a summer menu. A chef's salad, with julienne strips of chicken and meat plus raw or cooked vegetables and a variety of greens is a nourishing and satisfying mixture. A tossed green salad or one of raw vegetables—or cole slaw—is a good choice to accompany a hot entree. And there can be salad for dessert, too, using cheese, nuts and fruits, either plain or molded in gelatin.

Green Is for Summer

You'll find that the more kinds of greens you learn about—and use—the more variety of taste and texture your salads will have, and the better they will taste. Even with lettuce, you have a choice of two kinds, iceberg lettuce (the solid-headed kind) and Boston lettuce, with its looser, less crisp leaves. Then there is parsley, chopped fine as an ingredient or used in sprigs as a garnish, and also such important items as romaine, chicory, spinach, endive escarole, green cabbage (or red cabbage for a touch of color) and water cress. Wash greens, drain them well, and keep them crisp in the vegetable drawer of your refrigerator.

Dressings Make the Difference

But no matter what is in the salad, the dressing you put on it can spell the difference between success and failure. Here are recipes for the two basic types of salad dressings, with Consumers institute suggestions for variations of each. You can make a supply of the basic dressings ahead of time and store them in your refrigerator until you need them. Be sure greens are as dry as possible before you add dressing, or dressing will be diluted by excess moisture.

Mayonnaise

1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon sugar
¾ teaspoon dry mustard
Few grains Cayenne pepper
Few grains paprika
1 tablespoon vinegar
1½ cups salad oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine egg, salt, sugar, mustard, Cayenne pepper, paprika and vinegar; blend. Add ½ cup salad oil slowly, 1 tablespoon at a time, beating constantly with a rotary-type beater. Slowly add remaining oil, then lemon juice, beating constantly until thick. Makes 2 cups.

For variations, try Cucumbr Dressing (2/3 cup mayonnaise with 1 small cucumber which has been pared, chopped and drained), Herb Dressing (2/3 cups mayonnaise with 2 teaspoons chopped chive and 1 tablespoon minced parsley for use on meat or fish salads), Russian Dressing (2/3 cup mayonnaise with 3 tablespoons chili sauce and 1 tablespoon minced green pepper to serve on salad green), or Cream Dressing (2/3 cup mayonnaise and 2/3 cup heavy cream, whipped, to top fruit salads).

WHAT COULD BE MORE APPETIZING for a hot-weather supper than a chef's salad, with raw vegetables and greens mixed together for a cool, cool, and satisfying main dish?

French Dressing

1/3 cup vinegar
1 cup salad oil
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons sugar
1½ teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon paprika
Few grains pepper

Combine ingredients and beat with rotary-type beater until well blended. Makes 1½ cups.

Variations include Olive French Dressing (2/3 cup French dressing plus chopped sliced stuffed olive or ¼ cup chopped ripe olives), India French dressing (2/3 cup French dressing with 2 tablespoons pickled relish or 2 tablespoons chopped dill pickle for vegetables, meat or fish salads), Herb French Dressing (2/3 cup French dressing with 1 tablespoon minced parsley, ½ teaspoon powdered marjoram and a pinch of powdered thyme, for vegetable and meat salads), and Blue Cheese Dressing (2/3 cup French dressing and ¼ pound crumbled Blue cheese to use on hearts of lettuce or salad greens). For use on fruit salads, make French dressing with lemon juice instead of vinegar.

Rules for Watering Gardens

Gardens cannot grow without water. When dry weather is accompanied by high temperatures, careful watering practice may save you lots of trouble, and loss.

First the quantity of water is important. Gardens need at least one inch of water each week; and if this does not fall in rain, it must be applied from a hose. Do not apply it in daily shallow doses, but soak the ground six inches deep at each application.

Next comes the time to water. The best time is early morning, next during the day when the sun is shining and the least favorable time is in the evening. If necessary to water during the evening, do not wet the leaves of the plants, since they will remain damp all night and this will encourage moulds and fungi. Where there is a humid climate, and homes have too much shade, both encourage plant diseases, by keeping leaves damp. Sunshine is the best preventive, dry leaves the next, and the last resort is a fungicide.

Lawns should be watered in the morning, or while the sun is shining, and never sprinkled with a hand nozzle, because the holder tires before the lawn gets enough. There are many inexpensive sprinklers which operate with little attention and spread water evenly. Let them stay long enough in one place to wet the soil several inches deep.

Veeck Takes Over Browns; 'Penny-Pinching Days Over'

ST. LOUIS (UP)— Bill Veeck formally took control of the St. Louis Browns Thursday by appointing Rudie Schaeffer, an old cohort in the days when he was building up baseball teams in Milwaukee and Cleveland, as the new general manager.

As for the Browns' fans, who have languished for year after year while the club fought for the cellar championship, he promised baseball and "lots of entertainment, not on too high a plane—but entertainment."

Veeck said the penny-pinching days of the Browns were over and the hunt for material was on "even if we have to spend a couple of dollars."

Schaeffer replaces William O. De Witt, former president and co-owner who turned over his controlling stock to Veeck Thursday. De Witt remains with the club, however, as a vice-president.

Displaying his usual good humor, Veeck attended the conference after signing the papers putting the club in his hands. He said a count showed he had about 220,000 of the 275,000 shares of stock—more than enough to exercise his option.

"We have a couple of dollars to spend and we're going to spend them," Veeck told reporters. "Right now the club couldn't bat its way out of a paper sack and we're looking for anybody who can carry a ball bat and handle one."

Veeck said Zack Taylor had done a good job as manager but that he had been handicapped by a lack of good players. Here, the stunt man of baseball admitted under questioning that he was looking around for someone who eventually might replace Taylor.

Taylor, Veeck said, would remain as manager "for the time being or until such time as we are able to replace him."

He said, however, there "would always be a place in the Browns' organization for him."

Yankees on Top Again

Yanks 8, Nats 2

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees opened up a half game lead on Chicago in the American league race Thursday night by whipping Washington, 8-2 behind Bob Kuzava's four-hitter.

Gerry Coleman drove in four Yankee runs off ex-Yank Bob Porterfield as New York took full advantage of Chicago's afternoon loss to Detroit, 8-0, to regain the lead lost Wednesday.

Gil Coan's two-run homer in the fifth ruined Kuzava's bid for a shutout against his old mates.

Gene Woodling got the Yanks off to a fast start with a first inning home run. The Yanks added another pair driven home by Coleman's single in the fourth. Hank Bauer's homer with a man on boosted the count to five in the seventh. Coleman's double featured a three-run outburst in the eighth inning.

Porterfield gave up seven hits in his first complete game.

Kuzava's first route-going job for the Yanks was his best performance of the season. He walked only two and struck out five.

Tigers 8, Chisox 0

DETROIT (AP) — Freddie Hutchinson, slender righthander of the Detroit Tigers, whitewashed the Chicago White Sox out of first place in the American league race Thursday as he beat them handily, 8-0, on a five-hitter.

Paul Richards' amazing Chicagoans had not been blanked before during this season but they never had a chance against Hutchinson Thursday.

Only 34 men batted against him and he set the ever-trying White Sox down 1, 2, 3 in four innings.

Only one Chicagoan got as far as third base. That was Gus Niarhos, who reached first on Johnny Lipon's boot in the second inning, took second base on Chico Carrasquel's single and advanced to third on a sacrifice.

Hutchinson gave up only one walk while fanning three. The White Sox didn't get the ball out of the infield in the last three innings as they were topping Hutch's tantalizing stuff.

The Tigers' win, which gave them the series two to one, was charged against their old teammate Lou Kretlow. He was touched for a single run in the first and retired under fire during the Tigers' seven-run third inning — one of the biggest scoring sprees they have had this season.

Bosox 8, A's 3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Home runs by Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr carried the Boston Red Sox to their tenth straight 1951 American league victory over the Philadelphia Athletics as the third-placers rolled to an 8-3 triumph Thursday night. Williams' blow climaxed a four-run seventh inning rally which sewed up Boston's win.

Airtight pitching by Walt Masterson also featured the one-sided decision. The bespectacled right-hander hurled two-hit ball for five and one-third innings after taking over in the fourth for starter Chuck Stobbs. It was Masterson's third victory against no defeats.

A walk to Johnny Pesky and Ted Williams' single, which Dave Philley bobbled, let Pesky score all the way from first in Boston's opening inning. The A's matched this run in the second.

Boston went out front once more with two runs in the third, but Philadelphia tied it up,, 3-3, in the fourth.

Doerr untied the knot with his round-tripper in the sixth while Boston came up with a four-spot in the seventh.

BROOKLYN, ((AP)) — Don Newcombe hung up win No. 12 Thursday night as Brooklyn took a 7½ game lead over New York in the National league race with an 8-4 victory over the giants. Gil Hodges hit his 27th homer and Andy Pafko his 17th in the sixth-inning outburst that knocked out Larry Jansen.

The Giants' third straight loss at Ebbets field left them only a half game ahead of the third-place Cardinals.

A four-run explosion in the eighth put the Giants back in the ball game for a few minutes. But the Dodgers bounced right back with three in their half of the inning to sew it up.

Braves 7, Phils 6

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Braves had two of their top right-handed pitchers, Vern Bickford and Johnny Sain, sidelined with injuries Thursday while outbattling the Philadelphia Phillies for a 7-6 victory in 11 innings.

Sid Gordon's bases-loaded single against Jim Konstanty, the fourth of the Philadelphia pitchers, with none out provided the winning counter.

Bickford was the Boston starter and was forced to retire with a pulled muscle in his right shoulder after the fourth inning. In the eighth, when the Phillies pulled into a 6-6 tie with a three-run rally, Sain injured his pitching hand by deflecting Granny Hamner's grounder.

The setback ended a four-game Buc win streak and kept Pirate hurler Howie Pollet from achieving his 100th major league victory. Howie also limited the Reds to seven safeties during eight innings he pitched but the Merriman and Howell clouting did the damage.

Merriman hit his homer in the fifth with Howe aboard. Howell hit the scoreboa in the seventh with the bases oty. The other Red run result from Virgil Stallcup's triple. Iscored on Ted Kluszewski's longy.

14 College Basketball Stars Plead Guilty To 'Fixing' Games

NEW YORK (AP)—Fourteen former college basketball stars pleaded guilty Thursday to reduced charges in connection with the fixing of big time games in Madison Square garden.

They admitted conspiring to rig the games — a misdemeanor that carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail.

Thus they escaped the most serious charge of bribery, which would have made them liable to five years behind bars. Judge Saul S. Streit continued their bail until they are sentenced Oct. 2.

The players, including some of the brightest stars in basketball, admitted their part in a fixing scandal that rocked the sports world last winter. The young men sold out to gamblers and threw games or shaved points so the fixers could clean up on bets.

Pro Football Goes to Court About Players

NEW YORK, ((AP)) — Two more National Football league clubs appealed to the courts Thursday to keep star players from jumping to the Canadian professional leagues.

Superior court Judge Alfred E. Stein issued a court order in Newark, N. J., directing George Ratterman, New York Yank's passing ace, to show cause why he should not be restrained from playing with any team but the Yanks. Ratterman announced Monday he had signed to play with the Montreal Alouettes.

In Houston, Tex., the Chicago Cardinals asked the court to prevent Bill Blackburn, a center, from playing with Calgary.

District Judge W. P. Hamblein issued a temporary restraining order in the case of Blackburn, former Rice institute star. Today, district judge Dan Jackwon will rule whether Blackburn will be forbidden from playing with Calgary.

Jamie Andrews Wins At Omaha; Ball Loses

German Boat Blast Kills 70, Injures 80

BERLIN (UP) — An East German excursion steamer carrying about 150 children on an outing exploded and burned on the Spree river Thursday and at least 70 were reported killed.

Eighty others were listed as injured in the blast and fire. The boat also carried about 20 adults but it was not determined how many of these were casualties.

The East German medical institute said that at least 45 children died. Unofficial but reliable estimates placed the toll at 70 or more.

The state-run motor-ship was jammed beyond capacity, police said, with a total of approximately 170 persons — including 20 adult sponsors. It was authorized to carry 96 persons.

East German, Communist police and firemen, barred all but officials and a few West German police "observers" from the area of the disaster and refused for hours to release casualty figures.

Eyewitnesses said scores of the children died, screaming in pain and terror, aboard the shattered vessel which burned for two hours at the edge of the stream which winds through the former German capital.

Others were blown into the water by the force of the initial blast and drowned. Some hurled themselves to their deaths in the murky stream when their clothing caught fire.

Most of the children aboard the boat were between 8 and 12 years of age.

The motor ship Heimatland (Homeland) was moving through a tree-lined sector of the river in the East Berlin borough of Treptow, only a short distance from the American sector, when the explosion occurred.

Eyewitnesses said the ship suddenly shuddered, then erupted in a sheet of flame which leaped 60 feet into the air—accompanied by a thunderous roar.

The skipper, reported to have been among those who died, apparently headed the ship from midstream toward the shore. It ground to a halt near the river bank. Only a smoke-blackened shell remained when the fire was brought under control.

Truman Appoints Youngdahl Federal Judge

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Republican Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl of Minnesota agreed at a conference with President Truman Thursday to accept appointment as a federal judge for the District of Columbia.

In a surprise move, Mr. Truman called Youngdahl to the White House and offered to nominate him for the judgeship left vacant by the recent death of Judge T. Alan Goldsborough.

Youngdahl accepted and told reporters he will resign his governorship effective Sept. 1 if his nomination is approved by the senate. Mr. Truman is expected to submit the formal nomination within a few days.

The 55-year-old governor, who was elected to his third term in Minnesota's state house last November, was accompanied to the White House by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.).

Humphrey said he is "distinctly pleased" with the appointment "both as a friend of Gov. Youngdahl and as a senator from Minnesota." He paid high tribute to Youngdahl's record as governor, and said he had earned the respect and affection of all Minnesotans, regardless of their party affiliations.

Youngdahl has been described by political writers as one of the most "liberal" Republican governors. He has supported many of President Truman's "fair deal" proposals for social and welfare legislation.

Youngdahl has devoted most of his adult life to the law. After graduating from Minnesota college of law, he served as city attorney for Minneapolis, and later was in private practice there.

He was appointed a state judge in 1930 and became an associate justice of the Minnesota supreme court in 1942. He remained on that bench until his election as governor in 1947.

At a later press conference in Humphrey's office, Youngdahl said the President got in touch with him a day or so ago and invited him to the White House. He said that although he had an "inkling" of what Mr. Truman had in mind, the judgeship offer was first made to him Wednesday.

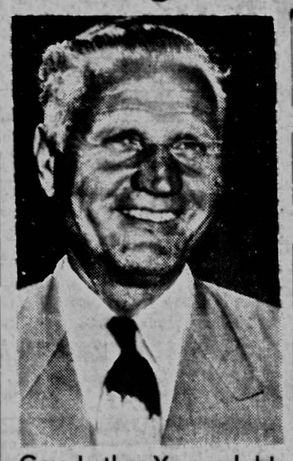
Humphrey told reporters that Mr. Truman first discussed with him the idea of appointing the governor to the federal bench last week when he visited the White House.

"I said I thought it was wonderful," Humphrey said. "I said it would be a very, very wise appointment."

Humphrey said he did not discuss the appointment with his colleague, Sen. Edward J. Thye (R-Minn.) and Youngdahl agreed that his appointment will probably come as "a very, very great surprise" to Thye.

Youngdahl indicated he was through with active politics forever.

"It would not make sense for me to go into the judiciary and then return again to active political life," he said.



Gov. Luther Youngdahl
Quits As Governor

Governor's Move Surprised Everyone, Even His Secretary

★ ★ ★

ST. PAUL (AP)— Minnesota political circles were caught off guard Thursday by Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl's announcement that he plans to resign to become a federal judge.

Even his executive secretary, Paul Albrecht, said he knew "nothing at all" about the surprise announcement. He said he had thought Youngdahl was on his way home to Minnetonka beach from a fishing trip at Moose lake.

Youngdahl has a rich background of court judgeships to qualify him for the district bench, and it had been rumored many times he longed to return to the quiet of court rooms.

But when his "humanitarian program" took a beating at the hands of the legislature this year it was felt he would run for a fourth term in 1952 to keep pushing his extensive plans for state mental health and other programs.

Youngdahl would be succeeded by C. Elmer Anderson, Republican lieutenant-governor. Anderson is serving his sixth two-year term as lieutenant governor. He is 39.

Anderson was en route from St. Paul to his home at Brainerd when Youngdahl made his announcement.

Informed of the governor's action when he reached home, Anderson said: "This is a great surprise; a great surprise." He declined further comment.

This is only the third time in state history that governors have resigned. Knute Nelson quit in 1895 after being elected to the U.S. senate and Harold E. Stassen resigned in 1943 to go on full-time navy duty in World War II.

Youngdahl has been governor since Jan. 8, 1947, when he became the 27th man to hold the state's top executive post.

Ellsworth to Attend Library Conference

Prof. Ralph E. Ellsworth, director of SUI libraries, and Mrs. Ellis Newsome of the library staff will attend a conference in Chicago next week celebrating the 75th anniversary of the American Library association.

Ellsworth is chairman of the association's 75th anniversary committee, and Mrs. Newsome is a committee member.

Four general sessions of the conference, to be held July 8-14, will be devoted to "The Heritage of the U.S.A. in Times of Crisis," according to Ellsworth. This is the association's anniversary theme for the entire year.

Conference speakers will include Charles Malik, minister of Lebanon to the United States and acting representative of Lebanon to the UN general assembly; Jacques Maritain, French philosopher and diplomat; Margaret Mead, nationally-known anthropologist, and Sen. Ralph E. Flanders of Vermont.

SUI Professor to Teach In England

Constance M. Webster of the Anstey College of Physical Education in Birmingham, England, will exchange teaching positions with Prof. Margaret Fox, SUI women's physical education department, for the academic year 1951-52, beginning in September.

A native of Edinburgh, Scotland, Miss Webster specializes in the study of movement, anatomy and dancing with emphasis on Scottish national dancing.

Miss Fox, who came to SUI in 1949, holds offices in several physical education associations and has published two articles during the past year in the Research Quarterly.

Man Will Assist State Comptroller

DES MOINES, IA., (AP) — State Comptroller Glenn Sarsfield Thursday named Quentin A. Love, 30, Fort Dodge as the comptroller's representative at Iowa State college.

The appointment was made under a new state law which permits the state comptroller to pre-audit at state institutions. The law was passed for the convenience of the legislature's budget and financial control committee.

Sarsfield had yet to appoint representatives at the SUI and Iowa State Teacher college.

Iowa Citian Leads Air Attack in Korea

A midnight raid led by Marine 1st Lt. Harold E. Roland Jr., 26, Iowa City, recently cost the Communists in Korea over a dozen trucks, it was learned Thursday.

While an air force plane dropped flares, the marine fighter-bombers, led by Roland, spotted a convoy of about 30 trucks.

Flying a marine Corsair night fighter-bomber, Roland made the initial attack, strafing a column of 15 trucks. Three trucks burst into flames, and others caught fire. Roland formerly lived at 1225 W. Muscatine ave.

Shotgun Victim Reported In Fair Condition Here

Harry Engelson, 38, Chicago, wounded in the arm and chest by a shotgun blast, was reported in "fair" condition by University hospital authorities Thursday.

According to officials, Engelson was shot by Tuesday evening by his father-in-law, John Bernard Williams, Richland, during a family quarrel.

A charge of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury has been filed against Williams.

Reformatory Brawl Leaves One Dead, Another Wounded

PENDLETON, IND., (AP) — One prisoner was slain and another wounded Thursday in a fight among three inmates of the Indiana reformatory, a state penal institution for young men sentenced to short terms.

The fight occurred in the reformatory bakery just before the lunch hour.

Lee Copeland, 26, Paris, Ark., was killed with a home-made knife. Ancel Martin, Fort Wayne, IND., was injured seriously.

Their attacker, according to Supt. Ward Lane, was Joseph Martinez, 22, Crown Point, Ind.

Lane said he learned that Martin and Copeland argued with Martinez and brandished a crude, pointed weapon at him. Martinez wrested the knife from one of them and stabbed them both.

Copeland died in the institution's infirmary 40 minutes later. Martin's condition was serious but "satisfactory."

Lane said he had questioned the two survivors but was unable to learn the cause of the fight. He believed the knife was made secretly in the reformatory by one of the men.

Guards broke up the fight without calling for outside help.

NLRB to Supervise Phone Union Vote

OMAHA, (AP) — National labor relations board officials and union representatives Thursday were checking the employe list of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company in preparation for a union election.

The two unions contesting representation of the 17,000 Northwestern Bell workers in five states, including Iowa and Nebraska, are the CIO communications workers and the AFL international brotherhood of electrical workers.

The NLRB supervised election starts next Thursday and continues through Aug. 2. Ballots will be returned by mail.

Services Planned For Elizabeth Ivie

Funeral services for Elizabeth Ivie, 30, Iowa City, who died last Saturday when a United airlines DC-6 crashed in the Rocky mountains in Colorado, will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Thomas More chapel.

Miss Ivie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ivie, 127 Melrose ave., was on her way here from San Francisco, where she was employed, for a two weeks vacation. All 50 persons aboard the airliner were found dead when it was located after an 11-hour search.

The rosary will be recited 7:30 p.m. today at the Hohenschuh mortuary. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery. The family requests that no flowers be sent.

Through the Red Cross, a brother of Miss Ivie, Capt. David Ivie, who is serving in Korea, has been given a 30-day emergency furlough to attend the services.
