Iran Moves To Reopen Oil Talks

Truman Warns U.S. Of Arms Needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman warned congress Monday that Russia's attempt to "blackmail the free world into submission" may force the United States to step up its defense program sharply even if there is a Korean truce.

"Right now, we are reviewing our immediate goals for military strength, and it is quite possible that we shall have to raise them in several important respects, he said in his mid-year economic report to the house and senate.

Mr. Truman added that what congress does or does not do in the next few weeks may decide the ultimate fate of this country and its free Allies.

While he gave no details, military leaders have been talking of raising the air force mobilization goal from 90 to 150 groups, and of adding two or three more national guard divisions to the army.

Mr. Truman made the statement in appealing to congress not to let down—on military appropriations, foreign aid or economic controls legislation—"when and if the fighting in Korea ceases."

"Whatever happens in Korea, we must take into account what is happening in Iran, on the borders of Yugoslavia, in Indo-China, and, most of all, what we know to be going on inside the Soviet Union itself," he said.

Mr. Truman said the "main danger to world peace," comes from the steady build-up of Russia's own armed forces—a mobilization that can have "no other purpose than to blackmail the free world into submission to Communist domination" or to "overturn its members one by one."

He offered no major new legislative proposals, but pleaded for action on many previous requests which congress so far has denied or has been willing to grant only in part. A large part of the report was devoted to a renewed plea for tough economic controls.

Asserting that it is squarely up to congress whether the nation will "drive ahead" toward security or "retreat" into grave danger, the chief executive emphasized again and again that a Korean truce would not bring any real relief from Communist pressures abroad or inflationary pressures at home.

To fight inflation, he again asked for a tax increase of "at least" $10 billion and for "strengthened" wage-price controls. Congress is working on tax controls bills which fall far short of Mr. Truman's requests.

He also urged approval of his full $8.5 billion foreign economic and military aid program, which apparently faces considerable cuts in congress.

Speed Urged In European Defense Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate foreign relations committee members said Monday on their return from Europe that they were impressed with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact army but that the program should be speeded.

Sen. Theodore F. Green (D-R.I.) chairman of the touring group, said that while members were gratified with achievements so far, they were equally impressed by the "gravity of a number of decisions" the United States must face within a few weeks.

As a result, he said, all the senators are concerned with the need for fast work in building anti-Communist defenses. He added that some pact Allies are not yet pulling their full weight.

The committee will begin hearings Thursday on President Truman's $8.5 billion "mutual security program" of foreign military and defense-slanted economic aid. Secretary of State Dean Acheson will be the first witness, and is expected to sound a vigorous warning against the proposals of some senators to cut the program or spread it over two years.

The senators, members of a foreign relations subcommittee who saw Eisenhower several times during their two-week week, were reluctant to comment on Eisenhower's presidential possibilities next year.

But Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me.), chairman of the senate GOP campaign committee, said the general is and will be "indispensable" in Europe.

"There is no sign of his mixing up in politics," he added.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said politics did not come up openly and "we gathered the impression that this was one thing which Gen. Eisenhower did not want to talk about."

Navy Chief's Body Enroute Home in Plane

ABOARD THE U.S.S. MOUNT OLYMPUS, BAY OF NAPLES, Italy (AP)—American sailors, keeping two-hour watches, vied Monday for the honor of standing the last stand in foreign waters for their late chief, Adm. Forrest P. Sherman.

The flag-draped body of Sherman, who died in Naples Sunday at the age of 54, will be flown back to the United States in a special plane today after early morning shipboard memorial services.

The 570 men of the Olympus specifically asked the watches to be shortened so more of them could share in honoring their respected friend and superior.

The Olympus flag flapped at half staff and the national anthem was played as U.S. Ambassador James C. Dunn boarded the communications ship to pay his last respects to the admiral, who was on a European mission as chief of naval operations.

Record City Budget Easier on Taxpayers

A record city budget of $861,297 was approved by the Iowa City council Monday night but in spite of its record proportions, Iowa City taxpayers will get off easier in 1952 than they did this year.

Reason for this ease on the taxpayer's dollar is a law passed by the Iowa legislature this year changing the Iowa municipal fiscal year to conform with the calendar year.

Thus the new budget tentative passed by the council gets an added three month bonus from the 1951-52 budget which is not due to expire until March 31, 1952.

The record figure of $861,297 is $66,343 more than the budget figure of $804,954 approved for the year 1951-52.

As a result taxpayers in Iowa City will pay only $20,635 for every $1,000 in valuation whereas last year taxpayers laid out $26.80 for every $1,000 in valuation.

The new budget calls for $356,695 to be raised by taxation as compared to last year's total of $455,160.

The budget estimates balance of $165,645 for the year and income from sources other than taxation at $338,957.

The cost of general city government for 1952 was estimated at $52,514, a gain of $3,021 over the 1951-52 figure of $48,893.

Biggest single gain in the proposed 1952 general city government budget was a $600 raise given to two assistants to the city engineer.

The new budget allocates $106,205 for protection of life and property, a raise of $14,828 over the previous year. Biggest single raise in this category was police salaries which went from $58,404 to $70,321.

Sanitation and waste removal showed a rise of $1,000 from $34,730 last year to $35,730 for 1952.

Maintenance of highways and streets was estimated at $93,529 for 1952, an increase of $14,729 over the 1951-52 figure of $78,800.

The estimated expenditure for conservation of health was set at $8,820. The 1951-52 estimate for health was $8,108.

New Formula To End Dispute Expected Soon

TEHRAN (AP)—A cabinet member indicated Monday that Iran is moving to reopen talks with Britain on their bitter dispute over oil nationalization.

Karim Sanjabi, minister of education, told reporters his government has found a formula for a new start on negotiations with Britain that broke down a month ago.

(In London, oil stocks recovered with news of a possible oil compromise. Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison also put off—perhaps for good—a commons speech he had planned Monday afternoon. Informed sources said Morrison intended to announce a decision to begin a gradual withdrawal of all British technicians from Iran's oil fields.)

Sanjabi would not disclose the nature of a proposal discussed at a six-hour conference between Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, the cabinet and the Iranian oil nationalization board.

But Kazem Hassibi, a member of Iran's oil board, implied that an announcement of Iran's new formula for unplugging the oil lines might be expected after renewed talks Monday night with W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's personal representative.

After his talks with the oil board, government and parliament leaders, Mossadegh called a special cabinet meeting late Monday night. One government official said this was done in the "hopeful" prospect of renewed oil talks with the British. Although the meeting had ended without an announced decision, departing ministers said no hitch had developed. They added that no final action had been taken.

There is no scheduled meeting of Harriman with the oil board for today, but the American trouble-shooter has been invited by the premier to dine with him.

Informed sources earlier had said that Harriman suggested Iran reopen the talks with a British government group, possibly including a cabinet minister from London. The British ambassador in Tehran, Sir Francis Shepherd, was said to have approved Harriman's suggestion.

But Sanjabi hinted that Iran will hold to its stand that it cannot negotiate with a British government group. Britain and Iran dropped the earlier talks when Iran insisted on dealing only with officials of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company, and not the British government, which owns 53 per cent of the billion dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil company.

It is understood the talks among Iranian leaders Monday covered the possibility of temporarily restarting oil shipments by tanker from Abadan and if Britain agrees, to negotiate again.

Search by Planes Reveals No Trace Of Missing DC-4

YAKUTAT, Alaska (AP)—Search planes scanned the mountainous, glacier-covered southeastern Alaska coast Monday for traces of a Korean airlift DC-4, missing since Saturday with 38 persons aboard.

No sign of the Tokyo-bound Canadian Pacific airplane plane was reported as 21 planes from a coast guard airstrip at Yakutat dipped into glaciated ravines and topped jagged peaks of the Fairweather range in "the land of lost airplanes."

Aboard the missing four-engine plane were 26 U.S. servicemen, three civilian government employees, two Canadian navy men and a crew of seven.

U. S. 10th rescue squadron planes searched the craggy, glacier-studded Mt. Fairweather area, 60 miles north of Cape Spencer, Alaska, where the CPA transport last reported its position early Saturday. Mt. Fairweather itself rises 15,300 feet. The pilot of the missing DC-4 reported he was flying "on schedule" at 9,000 feet when over Cape Spencer.

The area being searched was one where several planes have disappeared in the past. In November, 1948, an Alaska Air Express DC-3 with 17 persons aboard vanished on a trip from Anchorage. No trace was found.

On the chance that the plane went down soon after its last report, the coast guard concentrated its efforts in the waters of the Gulf of Alaska. Officers said it would be possible to live only about one hour in the icy water.

Reds Hint Insistence On UN Withdrawal

UN ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP)—The Reds' Pyongyang radio hinted today that the Communist reply to Kaesong Wednesday would be "no" to Allied insistence on a cease-fire agenda without the issue of foreign troop withdrawals.

Cease-fire negotiators for both sides are scheduled to resume at 11 a.m. Wednesday (7 p.m. Iowa time today) the talks which the Reds adjourned in order to study further that ticklish question.

This morning, Pyongyang radio quoted an editorial which said "all our people demand withdrawal of all foreign national troops from our territory."

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, quoted from the Korean Central Press, a Communist news agency in North Korea.

"The United States delegates propagandize that this problem has no relation with cease-fire talks," the editorial said.

"This stubborn attitude means that the U.S. is aiming to retain military bases in South Korea . . . today, in the face of their defeat (Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and his soldiers are aiming to stay in Korea forever.

"This comes solely from the militaristic purpose to obtain the monopolistic profit from inflated war industries."

... Allied planes roared through cloudy Korean skies today keeping up a 'round-the-clock blast at the Reds while their negotiators mapped the next move at Kaesong.

Five Red cease-fire negotiators are expected to reply to a final Allied offer. Upon the answer may hinge the decision whether Korea is to have peace or continued war.

But the air force and guns of bombarding warships off the Korean coasts didn't wait. The Allied air force—whose continuing assaults have drawn a veiled complaint from Peiping radio—kept at it.

Through Monday night, bombers ripped at Red highway convoys and spilled air-bursting bombs along Red frontline positions.

At Kaesong Wednesday, the Red delegation is expected to disclose its attitude on the vital issue of troop withdrawal.

Since the armistice talks started at Kaesong July 10, the Reds have insisted that immediate withdrawal of "foreign" troops be placed on the agenda—the list of topics to be discussed in seeking a cease-fire.

Woman Admitted To Polio Ward

A Cedar Rapids woman, Marie Cole, 24, has been admitted to the polio wards at University hospitals, officials reported Monday.

Discharged from the polio wards were Roger Campbell, Lake City, and Gary Aswegah, Parkersburg.

At present there are nine active polio cases in University hospitals, including two Iowa Citizens, Gary Lenz, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lenz, R. R. 6, and Mary Schreiber, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schreiber, R. R. 1.

Flood Waters Drop Despite New Rains In Midwest States

ST. LOUIS, MO. (AP)—The "billion dollar" flood was receding Monday night despite heavy, new rains on the Missouri and upper Mississippi rivers as the record crest rolled south on the Mississippi toward the Gulf of Mexico.

River communities along the two big streams in Kansas, Missouri and Illinois were beginning the task of mopping up the muck and debris left by the slowly edging rivers even as the new rains fell.

The new rains measured up to more than four inches in central Illinois, five inches in Kansas and as much as eight inches at Kirksville, Mo., overnight.

The U.S. weather bureau said, however, the rain wasn't likely to cause any new flooding on the Missouri and Mississippi but might slow down the rate of fall.

In Illinois, a flash flood swept into Edwards, Pottstown and Bartonville, west of Peoria, washed out railroad tracks, flooded 2,000 acres of farmland, smashed a Lake County dam and caused $1 million damage.

Meanwhile, the senate public works committee prepared to return to Washington after visiting St. Louis, Cape Girardeau and holding a public hearing at Kansas City, Mo. Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.), chairman, said foreign aid measures should be held back until flood control appropriations are passed.

Johnson County's Highest Budget Gets Tentative Approval

The Johnson county board of supervisors Monday gave tentative approval to a county budget of $1,236,974, for the 1952 fiscal year, highest budget in Johnson county history.

The proposed budget is an increase of $138,649 over this year's figure of $1,098,325.

The average tax millage rate for next year will be 15.69, three-quarters of a mill above this year's figure of 14.91.

Due to an unencumbered balance of nearly $133,000 and estimated income from other sources of $345,313, the amount to be raised by taxation will be $758,659.

The Iowa City tax rate is compiled by adding the levies of the county, city government and school board.

A public hearing on the proposed budget is set for 10 a.m., Aug. 6 at the courthouse.

Biggest expenditure on next year's budget will be $602,540 for road construction and maintenance. Of this amount, $261,995 is to be used for construction and $330,554 for road maintenance. Road clearing is expected to cost about $10,000.

Health Officer Expects No Iowa Polio Epidemic

DES MOINES (AP)—State Health Commissioner Walter L. Biering said Monday a summary of cases for the first six months of 1951 indicated that Iowa would escape a polio epidemic this year.

Forty-one polio cases had been reported to the state health department by last June 30, compared with 79 on the same date a year ago, he said.

Stigma of Traitor Remains with Henri Petain

ILE D'YEU, France (AP)—France refused Monday night to lift even partly the stigma of a traitor from Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, the old hero of Verdun, who died in exile here Monday. He was 95.

The decision may not be final. The government is at the between-premiers stage and when a new cabinet is set up in Paris the Petain question will be before it.

The immediate question is whether Petain may be buried at Verdun; the long-range aim of his backers is to reverse his conviction of treason for the way he operated as French chief of state under Nazi domination at Vichy during World War II.

Still a great controversial figure in death, he was denied burial at Verdun where he often had said he wanted to be put to rest among the French heroes he led to victory in 1918.

Instead, he will be buried Wednesday after services at the church of Notre Dame Du Port in the little stone-walled cemetery, Port Joinville, near the villa where he spent his last days.

But eight veterans of Verdun and two former prisoners of World War II will carry his casket.

Petaim died six years to the day since his first appearance before the high court of justice in Paris on treason charges.

Because of failing health—and a softening of the national French attitude toward him—Petain had been moved from prison to permanent confinement in a private mansion here. Death came to him in the island's military hospital at 9:20 a.m. (2:30 a.m. Iowa time.) He had weakened progressively since a pneumonia attack in April.

This wind-swept spot in the Atlantic lies nearly a thousand miles distant from the Mediterranean island of Elba, the last home of another French exile, Napoleon Bonaparte.

Petaim's life sentence has been commuted last month shortly after the parliamentary elections, giving his supporters new hope for still further changes in the sentence.

Petaim came from retirement at the age of 84 in May, 1940, to become vice-premier in the cabinet

Forrest P. Sherman An Admiral Comes Home

The ambassador was met by Adm. Robert Carney, Atlantic pact commander for southern Europe, and escorted aboard the Olympus, which is Carney's flagship.

The ambassador will remain here for today's services, which will be conducted at 7:30 a.m. by the Olympus' chaplain, Lt. Comdr. G. R. Eckard of Hickory, N.C.

At 10 a.m. (3 a.m. CST) today, the body was flown to Washington aboard a navy RSD, the same type of plane as Carney's private craft which returned Mrs. Sherman to the U.S. Sunday.

Sherman died ashore in the Excelsior hotel and his body was taken aboard the Olympus, docked in Naples bay.

7 Convicted Reds To Begin Jail Terms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Distribution of seven convicted Communist leaders among five federal penitentiaries and reformatories where they will spend the next five years was completed Monday.

According to justice department officials, Benjamin J. Davis Jr., has been sent to prison at Terre Haute, Ind., and Irving Potash to Leavenworth, Kan.

Meantime, Eugene Dennis and John Gates have arrived at Atlanta. At Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary are John B. Williamson and Carl Winter. The seventh in the group, Jacob Stachel, has been at Danbury, Conn., since the group was remanded to prison July 2. The others had been sent to Lewisburg pending a decision on final housing of the group.

Earlier, department officials had explained that the Communists would not be kept under one roof because the government intended to give them no opportunity to keep up a conspiracy against the United States.

Czech Reds Reject Latest U.S. Demand For Oatis' Release

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia has rejected a state department demand for release of Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis.

Shortly after this state department announcement Monday, Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) proposed "strong action" in answer to the imprisonment of Oatis on spying charges.

The United States has officially branded the charges against Oatis as a farce and said he was only performing the usual duties of a reporter in a free press.

The state department disclosed that Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs presented the Czech foreign office with a note July 16 insisting that Oatis should be freed.

The Czech reply was received at Prague and reported to Washington, but the text of neither note was released. State department press officer Michael McDermott told newsmen the reply was "unsatisfactory."

Sen. Herbert O'Connor (D-Md.) has introduced a resolution to bar all foreign Communist newsmen from the United States, to halt trade with Czechoslovakia and take the case before the United Nations.

C. Frank Smith Calls for Price Index Overhaul

Prof. C. Frank Smith, SUI general business department, recommended Monday that the government revise its formula for compiling its consumers price index. He said that widespread development of labor contracts in which wages were tied to the cost of living index made it imperative that the bureau of standards make some adjustments in its statistical methods. Smith outlined his views in an article published in the Iowa Business Digest, a periodical published by the college of commerce.

Smith's proposals call for the inclusion of federal income and social security taxes in the compilation of the index. He also suggests a revision of the base period every 10 years to compensate for an expected rising standard of living and to simplify the inclusion of newly-introduced products without distorting the index. It also would be well if a new base period "more representative than 1935-39" be established for compiling the index, he said. The base period, he added, should be revised every 10 years.

Points for Parents to End 'Handicapped' Session

A parent's conference today will close the special six-week summer session of the Iowa Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children.

The conference, designed to give parents instruction on all types of care for the handicapped child, will consist of talks by various staff members and round-table discussions.

The special summer sessions in which twenty children from the ages of three to 10 were in the school was planned mainly as a diagnostic period to find out just what could be done at home and in the school for the "handicapped" child.

Candidates were chosen for the fall term who can be rehabilitated and suggestions were made for further treatment.

The parents spent Monday in individual meetings with staff members, discussing the particular child's needs and abilities.

Training at the clinic this summer included physical, occupational and speech therapy and pre-school activities, with an emphasis on recreation.

Dr. R. R. Rembolt, medical instructor of the Hospital-School, will speak to the group in the morning on "Medical Discussion of Handicapping Conditions." This will be followed by a question and answer period.

There will be three sessions in the afternoon — a "Nursing and General Care" round-table; a panel discussion on education and recreation and a parents forum, in which staff members and parents will freely discuss problems of the handicapped child.

ALTHOUGH SHE DOESN'T LOOK TOO HAPPY ABOUT IT, Barbara Wilson, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, Grinnell, will be going home from the Iowa Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children Wednesday. Barbara's parents are in Iowa City for a parent workshop sponsored by the school, designed to give the parents instruction in all aspects of care for the handicapped child. They are shown conferring with Mrs. Grace Chenoweth-Orr, senior teacher at the Hospital-School.

Top 4 In American League Play Each Other All Week

NEW YORK (AP) — The four top contenders — New York, Boston, Cleveland and Chicago — start clawing away at each other today and continue to hack away right through Sunday in 13 games that may decide the American league pennant.

This afternoon brings together the league leading New York Yankees and the runner-up Cleveland Indians in the first of three daylight tilts with first place definitely at stake. Boston's Red Sox, tied with Cleveland for second place, wait until dusk to take on the fourth place Chicago White Sox, also in the first of three games. The White Sox, after leading the race most of the season, have shown signs of sagging, dropping two and a half games behind the leaders.

On Friday, the teams switch. Chicago moves to New York for a four-game series against the Yankees and the Indians travel to Boston for a three-game set with the Red Sox.

Although they played no better than .500 ball since they left New York July 6, the Yankees once again are in front, a position they held before the takeoff. Their lead, however, is a fractional .002 over the Indians and Red Sox, both of whom are even with the Bombers in games won and lost. At that, it took a four-game weekend sweep over the Browns in St. Louis to even the Yankees' road trip at 8-8.

The Yankees, however, are encouraged by the prospect of a 17-game stay at Yankee stadium where they've won 27 and lost only nine. Also, the arrival of the Indians always seems to spur the Yankees to greatness — at least at the stadium. The Indians have dropped all six games there this year and the last five in 1950. Not since June 14, 1950, with Bob Lemon on the mound, have the Indians beaten the Yankees in New York.

The Tribe, however, is the hottest club in the league right now. Led by the redoubtable Bob Feller, the Indians have won 22 of their last 27 and eight of their last nine. They've made up eight full games in the last four weeks and figure to be tough right to the end.

The Yankees, handicapped by the absence of Joe DiMaggio on the entire road trip, may have the old jolter back in the lineup today.

Stengel has his big three primed for the Indians. Today he will start Vic Raschi (13-6). He will be opposed by Early Wynn (10-9). On Wednesday it will be Ed Lopat against Mike Garcia. Allie Reynolds for New York and Bob Feller for Cleveland will close out the series.

Fans are looking forward to seeing Reynolds hook up with Feller again. The last time the two met, Reynolds pitched a no-hitter to top Feller, 1-0, Bob allowed only four hits.

Although dismayed over Chicago's current four-game losing skien — its longest of the year — Richards is far from discouraged.

"Look," he pointed out. "We lost 10 out of 14 at home. Yet we dropped only two and a half games behind first place. If we can keep pace with Cleveland, Boston and New York on the road, we'll be in good shape for the finish."

O'Neill is confident his Red Sox can beat the others for the flag. He pointed out that with a 19-game home stay facing them, the Sox ought to go west in two weeks with a lead.

"Once we get back up there, we won't give it up," O'Neill promised.

The White Sox hope a change of scenery will enable them to regain their winning touch. Chicago thus far has proved a poor home club but a terror on the road. While their Comiskey park record is a mediocre 27-26, the White Sox have won 26 and lost only 13 on enemy soil.

Paul Richards' men have picked a tough park to change their luck, however. The Red Sox traditionally have been almost

Honor Night Baseball At Des Moines Tonight

DES MOINES (AP) — The epochal occasion 21 years ago when night baseball got its first full-blown tryout will be celebrated here tonight with some of the game's bigwigs on hand.

Designated as "night baseball night," the event will salute the late E. Lee Keyser who arranged the after-dark experiment which made baseball history May 2, 1930. Wichita, Kan., and Des Moines — the same Western league teams which played the first night game under adequate illumination — will stage tonight's commemorative contest. Several of the players in the first night game also will be on hand, and Bill Veck, new top dog of the St. Louis Browns, will be master of ceremonies.

Sports editor See Taylor of the Des Moines Register, who covered the 1930 contest, said that Keyser deserves full credit for the contest that "revolutionized baseball and undoubtedly saved it during the depression and World War II."

"Most everyone in and out of baseball said he was crazy — that baseball could not be played at night," Taylor recalls. "But he was insistent that players could hit and field as well at night as by day, if enough light was provided."

There were 10,000 persons on hand, including baseball owners, managers, league executives and others. A national network broadcast the event and it was short-waved abroad.

The Des Moines Demons won from Wichita, 13-6. Cy Slapnicka of Cedar Rapids, who witnessed the game as a representative of the Cleveland ball club, was moved to prophesy by the spectacle. He said:

"Within a year every class A and class B will be equipped with lights. That's my prediction after watching the game tonight. Night ball will prove to be the saviour of the minor leagues."

As a result of that contest, Keyser — who died last year — has been recognized as the father of night baseball. Keyser was president of the Des Moines club at the time.

Cincinnati Reds president Warren Giles, St. Louis Cardinals farm director Joe Mathes, Northern league president Herman White, and Chicago Cubs manager James Gallagher are scheduled to be on hand for tonight's observance.

Players in the inaugural game who are expected to attend include Claude Davenport of Corpus Christi, Tex.; Stanley Keyes, also a Texan; Jim Oglesby, Tulsa, Okla.; Tommy Hughes, Beaumont, Tex.; George Zahn, Des Moines; Jim Grant, Chicago; Woody Jenson, Wichita; Rufus Meadows, Wichita; Charles Newbill, Nyssa, Ore.; and Gordon Johnson, Charleston, W.Va.

Braves 15, Pirates 14

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Boston Braves beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 15-14, Monday night in a 34-hit slugfest that was spotted with four homers including Ralph Kiner's 25th of the season. Phil Paine, the third of four Braves pitchers to enter the game, got credit for the win.

Boston won the game in the eighth on a single run, but the twice-tied contest ran over with runs before that.

Boston started off with a bang — scoring seven runs in the first inning. Then the Pirates came back and pushed over six tallies.

Walker Cooper drove a three-run homer into the Pirate bullpen for the Braves and Joe Garagiola accounted for two of the Pirates' first inning runs with his seventh homer of the year.

Larsen, Flam, Seixas In Davis Cup Vs. Mexico

NEW YORK (AP) — In a surprise move, the U.S. Davis cup committee named only Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia Monday to play against Mexico in the American zone semifinals, Aug. 3-5. Wimbledon champion Dick Savitt and the prize doubles team of Bill Talbert and Tony Trabert — all of whom had contributed to the United States' 5-0 romp over Japan — were passed up.

Congress Won't Hurt Baseball, Frick Declares

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — Ford Frick, president of the National league, declared Monday that "baseball can't be hurt" by the congressional investigation opening in one week in Washington.

"Many times baseball has been under fire," said Frick. "It has been put on the spot before, and such a moment exists today. If congress is only trying to ascertain if baseball is worthwhile, then it is wasting its time."

Frick spoke at the annual ceremonies at baseball's Hall of Fame when bronze plaques to the latest members of the hall were unveiled — Mel Ott of the New York Giants and Jimmy Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox.

"Some people profess to see the deathknell of baseball in the congressional investigation," said Frick. "I do not subscribe to this belief. Baseball is too big, it is too much a part of the lives of all of us."

"I believe a better game will come out of the hearings. I believe the committee will clear away the mists and open a new highway for baseball through the years ahead."

Frick was loudly cheered by the shirt-sleeved crowd of several thousand gathered on the treeshaded street in front of the trim brick museum.

Frick referred to the hearings of the house sub-committee on monopoly under the chairman-

10 College Leagues Ask Sports Deemphasis

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO. (AP) — Recognizing "undesirable trends in intercollegiate athletics," commissioners of the nation's 10 major athletic conferences called Monday for deemphasis of college sports.

The National Association of Collegiate Commissioners (NACC) said these undesirable trends were impairing "the ideal of college athletics as a healthy activity outlet for the students."

Specifically, the commissioners recommended:

"1. Definite restrictions upon, or elimination of, out of season practice in all sports, particularly spring practice in football and basketball.

"2. Curtailment of sports schedules to a more limited number of games, and to the avoidance of overlapping of seasons in the various major sports.

ship of Rep. Emmanuel Celler, Brooklyn democrat.

Celler has announced that because of the numerous law suits against baseball challenging the reserve clause, he would summon the top men of the game, owners as well as ball players, to find out what was needed to strengthen baseball.

The reserve clause, or "renewal of contract" as it is now known, continues individual baseball players' contracts indefinitely. Baseball management contends it is necessary to preserve the game.

With Half the Season Gone — The Sophomore Jinx

— Is Not So Hexing

Chico Carrasquel
The Big Success

Walt Dropo
The Big Flop

NEW YORK (UP) — The sophomore jinx struck early and often through the first half of the season but more than half of last year's excellent rookie crop is beating the hex.

Top-drawer sophomores like Chico Carrasquel of the Chicago White Sox, Irv Noren of Washington, Willard Nixon of the Boston Red Sox and Bubba Church of the Phillies are rolling along as well or better than they did as outstanding rookies of '50. And they have plenty of company.

The failures, however, have been spectacular with big Walt Dropo the No. 1 flop of the season. Toast of the majors just a year ago as the homer-hitting first baseman of the Red Sox, Dropo now is at San Diego trying to fight his way back to the big show. He was a slugger who quit slugging after a wrist injury in spring training.

Fleet-footed Sam Jethroe of the Boston Braves, the National league's champ rookie last year, slipped at the plate, arfield and on the base paths. He was measured for eye glasses, benched by Billy Southworth and reinstated by Tommy Holmes but the glitter seems to be gone.

Carrasquel, sure-handed Venezuelan who was good enough as a rookie to make old Luke Appling sit down after 20 years at shortstop, is better than ever this season. He is drawing more raves than scooter Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees, rated the best in the trade last season.

Noren, a .295 hitter last year, is up to .314 and tough as ever with his rifle-shot arm. Nixon, who won eight and lost six a year ago, won six of his first seven decisions this year, and Church won nine of his first 13.

Luke Easter of Cleveland gives you that lazy grin when you refer to him as a sophomore. Luke is 30, but this is only his second full season in the majors. He had his troubles with a gimpy knee but he is hitting better (.316) than he did a year ago.

On the upgrade in the averages over last year are Gus Bell of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Jackie Jensen of the New York Yankees, Bill Howerton of the White Sox, and pitchers Bob Cain of Detroit, Johnny Klippstein of the Chicago
