Tot Keeps Vow Helps Others To Walk

Chuckie Van Fossen, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Van Fossen, Davenport, sent a $1 bill to University hospitals last February "to help make other little boys walk."

Chuckie's contribution was in gratitude to "all good doctors and nurses" at the hospitals for "making me able to walk again" following an attack of osteomyelitis (inflammation of the bone).

"When I have more," Chuckie promised then, "I'll send more to you."

Last week Chuckie fulfilled that promise. In an envelope sealed with an "I love U" child's sticker, Gerhard Hartman, superintendent of the hospitals, found three $1 bills and a letter from Chuckie which read as follows:

"I have been wanting to write you for a long time but I'm not a very good writer in letters and I also didn't have all the money I wanted to send.

"I was so glad that the last I sent helped a little. Every other month but so many people go away for the summer on my (paper) route. But now I have caught up to my goal (goal) and have three dollars.

"I was surprised how many people heard about it they even took my picture in school but I felt kind a funny cause all I had to send was a dollar."

"I feel fine and I have a job of cutting grass now too. Say hello to the doctors and nurses for me. Goodbye."

Hartman said that the money Chuckie sent will be used to purchase equipment or toys to help other children walk or to make their days in the hospital shorter and more enjoyable.

Priest to Wed Girl Who Followed Him Across Sea

MILAN, ITALY (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest declared solemnly Tuesday night that he would marry the young American girl who followed him to Italy determined to become his wife.

Until tonight, Luciano Negrini, a 43-year-old former Italian missionary to China, had held that his priestly vows would not permit him to marry tall, blonde Claire Young of Chicago.

Last Saturday, the 21-year-old daughter of Prof. James J. Young of Loyola university (Chicago) was detained by police. Her permit to stay in Italy had expired and she was ordered deported aboard the American liner Independence, leaving Genoa Aug. 6.

Negrini declared his willingness to marry Miss Young before American consular authorities here, police said. On this basis, they gave him permission to visit Miss Young in prison. Negrini said he wanted to ask her to sign a statement affirming her intention to marry him.

Whether Negrini's decision to disregard his vows will save Miss Young from deportation still is a question.

Troops-for-Europe Estimate Lowered

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins told senators Tuesday that the United States will have about 344,000 troops in Europe one year from now. This is 36,000 less than the estimate made last week by Secretary of Defense George Marshall.

Collins, army chief of staff, furnished the new figures at a private session of the senate's foreign relations and armed services committees. They were made public by joint chairman Connally (D-Tex.).

By the end of the current fiscal year, Connally's statement said, there will be "344,000 American military personnel, ground and air" in Europe.

This is a great deal more than the 200,000 generally envisaged by congress when it voted to reinforce American troops now in Europe with four more ground divisions.

Marshall's estimate of 400,000 stated a favor last week. After Tuesday's meeting, Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me.) said, "General Marshall made a very serious error" in his testimony. But Connally passed it off as "just one of those things." He added that Marshall's testimony was hurriedly prepared and some of the estimates "were a little loose."

U.S. Moves To End Trade Concessions To Czechoslovakia

WASHINGTON (UP)—The state department slapped back at Communist Czechoslovakia Tuesday night for the imprisonment of an American foreign correspondent by moving to end U.S. trade concessions to the Russian satellite nation.

In the first retaliation for the jailing of newsman William N. Oatis on trumped-up spy charges, the department said it will apply on Sept. 17 to 30 other member-nations in the reciprocal trade pool for permission to cancel U.S. trade concessions to the Czechs.

No direct mention was made of Oatis, but the department noted pointedly in a long list of complaints against the Prague regime that "American citizens have been imprisoned without justification."

At the same time, the Czech government was denounced for persecuting and harassing U.S. firms trying to do business in Czechoslovakia.

In addition, the department said, American property there has been confiscated without payment, the U.S. embassy in Prague has been forced to strip itself of needed personnel, and American welfare groups have been forced to discontinue their charity work.

The department said Czechoslovakia has openly declared its intentions of orienting its trade "in the interests of the Soviet bloc."

U.S. imports from the Red nation run to about $25 million yearly, mostly in glass, ceramics, and leather goods and chemicals. Exports to Czechoslovakia recently have been reduced sharply from the 1950 level of some $10 million to an annual rate of about $1.2 million.

Cancellation of the tariff concessions would not cut off trade with Czechoslovakia but it would result in higher duties—or import taxes—on goods sent to this country. That would make it harder for Czech goods to compete in the U.S. market.

Thirty nations have signed the general tariff and trade agreement involving Czechoslovakia. The action requested by the United States would require a two-thirds majority of countries voting on the request.

The state department said the tariff and trade concessions with Czechoslovakia were negotiated with the pre-Communist government which lost power in Feb., 1948. The agreement, however, became effective about a month after the Reds seized power.

Instead, it was felt here that continued stalemate in the talks worked to the disadvantage of the Reds. The exception to this would be Communist intentions of a military stab in the back when their fighting forces have been built up from the beating they suffered last spring.

It was taken for granted that should such an intent even be seriously suspected the UN side would break off the talks instantly. Front dispatches hinted the United Nations would stab first toward Kaesong itself, with the Reds striking south through central Korea.

The Eighth army meanwhile used its most effective weapons—artillery and air power—against the Reds while immobilizing the Communist army on the ground. Allied pilots reported only little enemy vehicular traffic in North Korea, an indication the Red buildup was near completion.

Allied planes returned to Pyongyang yesterday after a massive raid Monday.

Fears were expressed before today's meeting began at 11 a.m. 7 p.m. Tuesday CST that the talks might be broken off for the third time unless some compromise is reached such as a broad buffer zone taking in both the 38th parallel and the present battle line.

38% of Students Failed Draft Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—Selective service reported Tuesday that 38 per cent of the college students who took the first draft aptitude test flunked it.

But 40 per cent of the poorer students who would not have rated consideration for draft deferment on the basis of their showing in the classroom got by the test with scores of 70 or better.

In the upper portion of classes, the percentage of passing grades was 75.

Local draft boards have been asked to give a score of 70 or better the same consideration, as a basis for deferment, as is given to a student ranking in the top half of the freshman class, top two-thirds of the sophomore class, or top three-quarters of the junior class.

About 62,700 of the 165,000 college men who took the first test May 26 failed to make the passing score.

Altogether, 339,056 college men have taken the tests.

Peace Hopes Still Kept Alive As Talks Stall

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY AP)—Deadlocked Allied and Communist negotiators met for two hours and 25 minutes in Kaesong today and then kept hopes for peace alive by calling another truce session for tomorrow.

The UN and Communist negotiators still were so far apart as today's session began that it was feared collapse of the truce talks was near. Neither side had given any indication it would back down on its own demands for location of a buffer zone.

But the fact the delegates agreed to return tomorrow to the ancient walled city for the 17th session of the current talks at least meant neither side is ready to give up yet. Tomorrow's meeting was scheduled for 11 a.m. (7 p.m. Wednesday CST).

The Allies went into the session wary of steadily growing Red forces on the battlefield but apparently still convinced that time is on the UN side in setting up a Korean buffer zone—the longer the delay the harder the Communists are hit by Allied planes and artillery.

There was no confirmation here of rumors that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had asked Washington to set a deadline on the talks in view of the Reds' repeated demands that the buffer zone should be located astride the 38th parallel.

Instead, it was felt here that continued stalemate in the talks worked to the disadvantage of the Reds. The exception to this would be Communist intentions of a military stab in the back when their fighting forces have been built up from the beating they suffered last spring.

It was taken for granted that should such an intent even be seriously suspected the UN side would break off the talks instantly. Front dispatches hinted the United Nations would stab first toward Kaesong itself, with the Reds striking south through central Korea.

The Eighth army meanwhile used its most effective weapons—artillery and air power—against the Reds while immobilizing the Communist army on the ground. Allied pilots reported only little enemy vehicular traffic in North Korea, an indication the Red buildup was near completion.

Truman Signs New Controls Law, Blasts Provisions As 'Damaging'

Federal Government Shuts Off Indiana From Welfare Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government Tuesday shut off Indiana from federal welfare funds—money for the aged, blind, and dependent children.

Federal security administrator Oscar R. Ewing, a native of Indiana, announced the drastic decision and said it is effective at once.

He acted, he said, because he had no choice under a new Indiana law opening the names on welfare rolls to public inspection. A federal law requires that recipients of federal welfare funds be withheld from the public. Several other states have talked of a law similar to Indiana's.

Sen. William Jenner (R-Ind.) promptly called Ewing a "socialistic-minded dictator."

Indiana has been receiving about $18.5-million annually from the federal government for actual payments to the needy, and about $1.3-million annually for administration of the program.

Payments to the state were made monthly by the US treasury. They will be cut off immediately, unless Indiana appeals to the courts and upsets Ewing's decision.

Indiana can continue its welfare program with state and local funds, but probably on a sharply reduced basis.

Senator Jenner said in a statement that Ewing's action "is another example of a federal bureaucrat's utter disregard for the welfare of our aged and needy citizens."

"The Indiana general assembly did not bend to the dictates of this federal bureaucrat, so now he is trying to punish the people of my state through powers he has unconstitutionally assumed."

"If the aged, the needy and others who are qualified under the social security act are deprived of the assistance to which they are entitled, they can only blame the socialistic-minded dictator, Mr. Ewing."

North Campus to Lack Hot Water for 1 Day

Steam in several buildings on the north SU campus will be turned off today, making hot water unavailable to those buildings, R. J. Phillips, superintendent of maintenance and operations, said Tuesday.

Construction work in the tunnels under the campus made the shut-off necessary. It will last for only one day, Phillips said.

Buildings affected are Macbride hall, University hall, the chemistry building, barracks apartments on N. Capitol st., Russell house, University high school, Currier annex, Flickinger house and Wilson house.

City Manager Urges SUI-City Cooperation

Peter F. Roan, Iowa City's first city manager, Tuesday recommended that the city make greater use of SUI's facilities.

Roan, 40, city manager of Mexico, Mo., for the past two and one-half years, will take the oath of office in city hall this morning.

Roan mentioned SUI's institute of public affairs, bureau of labor management and bureau of economic and business research as examples of potential SUI-city cooperation.

He also suggested the SUI statistical service as a "tremendous opportunity for Iowa City to make use of ready-made facilities for fact-finding."

Another source of closer contact with SUI is the use of student labor for survey work when the city seeks aid in determining policies, he said.

Roan will move his wife and two sons to Iowa City Aug. 8 and will live at 223 E. Davenport st.

His first public appearance will be at a dinner tonight with members of the city council and the board of directors of the chamber of commerce in the Iowa Memorial Union.

He plans no speaking engagements until Aug. 9, when he will address a joint meeting of the local civic clubs.

Hearing Continued On SUI Dam Permit

Hearing has been continued until Sept. 7 on an SUI application to operate and maintain its dam across the Iowa river at the Burlington st. bridge.

H. Garland Hershey, state geologist, said SUI and the Iowa natural resources board asked for the continuance so that they could get an interpretation of the Iowa code from the attorney-general on the dam permit.

SUI has operated the dam since it was constructed, at which permits to operate and maintain dams on state waterways were issued by the state executive council.

The executive council issued authority to grant such permits to the Iowa natural resources council in 1949. That council is now in the process of holding hearings to review permits for dams in all parts of the state.

Hershey has said it was improbable that there will be any objections to renewal of the SUI permit.

BEN-GURION GROUP WINS

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL, (AP)—Latest official tabulations from Israel's general elections showed Tuesday that the labor party Mapai, led by Premier David Ben-Gurion, will return with approximately the same number of deputies in the second Hebrew parliament as it had in the first—46.

The total number in the parliament is 120.

Construction work in the tunnels under the campus made the shut-off necessary. It will last for only one day, Phillips said.

Buildings affected are Macbride hall, University hall, the chemistry building, barracks apartments on N. Capitol st., Russell house, University high school, Currier annex, Flickinger house and Wilson house.

Promises Fight For Powers Bill Curtailed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman reluctantly signed the new controls law Tuesday night with a blast at provisions which he said would "damage" Americans and force prices to "heights which we cannot yet foresee."

The new law, which permits some price rollbacks and some increases, and eases consumer credit curbs, continues basic economic controls from midnight Tuesday through next June 30.

He promised a fight for powers which were denied or curtailed, saying the nation's families cannot have protection against inflation until "congress repairs the damage done by this new act."

And he said the section of the law covering inflation curbs is so bad he would have used a veto had it not been tied to essential powers to encourage production, channel materials to essential users, aid business and control rents. He called those latter provisions "relatively adequate."

"We will not be able to hold down rising prices under this act, and I am going to ask the congress to amend it to give us adequate controls," Mr. Truman said in a formal statement.

He said the new law will force the government "to permit reasonable adjustments in wages" to fit cost of living increases. Working people, he went on, cannot foot the bill for "the higher profits this act provides."

Mr. Truman's statement was a vigorous reply to those Republicans and other critics who have said this is a good bill, and one that could control inflation—if properly administered.

He aimed some of his hardest blows at the section of the law which prohibits the setting of quotas on livestock slaughter, saying it amounts to "encourage the return of black markets."

He was no less severe in his indictment of the price ceiling provisions. Two big ones require that ceilings reflect new costs incurred before last Thursday and that retailers and wholesalers get their customary percentage margin over costs.

Mr. Truman declared the price provisions would cause a rise in "ceiling prices for the main grocery, the wholesaler and the retailer." He hit specifically at the prohibition against planned additional rollbacks on live beef.

He said it "makes effective rollbacks on other vital cost-of-living commodities practically impossible."

Along with the President's statement there were these related actions on economic mobilization:

1. Mr. Truman himself by executive order abolished the office of housing expeditor, and gave its work to the economic stabilization agency (ESA) and the housing and home finance agency.

2. The office of price stabilization (OPS) hurried out a score of price orders affecting thousands of consumer items including clothing, and machinery.

3. The federal reserve board, simultaneously with announcement of the President's action, issued new consumer credit rules easing down payment requirements and the payoff time on such things as automobiles and household appliances. The action was required by the new act. On automobiles both new and used, for instance, the down payment still must be at least one-third, but the buyer can have 18 months to pay off the balance.

4. The wage stabilization board extended indefinitely its rule allowing cost-of-living wage increases which are hitched to the government's price index. Such provisions in wage contracts are approved if they are provided under contracts signed or announced before Jan. 25.

5. OPS got in line with the new law by formally abolishing the livestock slaughter quotas it has had in effect under the old law. At the same time it officially cancelled the additional 4 1/2 per cent live cattle rollback planned for today.

The price agency added a new wrinkle to meat price control by banning imports of beef from Canada or other foreign sources at prices higher than the domestic level.

County Red Cross Receives $354.90 For Flood Area Aid

The Johnson county Red Cross has received $354.90 toward the county's quota in a special appeal for funds to aid flood disaster relief in the Missouri and Kansas area.

Prof. Elmer Hills, county Red Cross chairman, said Johnson county has been asked to raise a total of $1,400 to aid in the flood relief.

Chapters were asked to contribute funds equal to 20 per cent of their contributions in the 1951 national drive.

Destruction of homes and other damages from Mississippi and Missouri river floods has been much greater than anticipated.

This has caused a drain on disaster funds resulting in the Red Cross to ask for more money to carry on their rescue and relief work.

Earlier it was announced that $5 million would be needed, to take care of flood victims and rehabilitation of their property.

However, losses were larger than it was first indicated, and additional money is now needed, Red Cross officials said.

Midwestern states have been assigned a $2-million quota.

Contributions may be mailed to the Red Cross office at 15 1/2 S. Dubuque st., in Iowa City.

Waterman Rites To Be Thursday

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at Trinity Episcopal church for Prof. Earle L. Waterman, 65, a member of the SUI faculty since 1919 who died Monday at Mercy hospital.

Prof. Waterman, who was head of the civil engineering department from 1944-49, had been ill for some time.

The Rev. Harold F. McGee will officiate at the services. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Latest Polio Patient Reported 'Serious'

A 17-month-old Volga, Ia., girl, Clare Peterson, was in "serious" condition in University hospitals Tuesday, the latest polio case to be admitted here.

There are six active polio cases in the hospitals.

Transferred to the inactive list was Harry Hoisington, 14, Olin, and Steven Boyd, 4, Cedar Falls. Rose Rummery, 25, Muscatine, was discharged Tuesday.

Former Russian General Identifies Lattimore, Newsmen As Reds

Newsman Identified With Reds

FORMER RUSSIAN GENERAL Alexander Barmine, left, testified Tuesday before the senate's internal security subcommittee. Barmine, now chief of the Russian desk on the state department's Voice of America radio program, said Joseph Barnes, right, former foreign correspondent, was named in the early 1930's as one of "our men" by the head of Soviet intelligence. The senate internal security subcommittee is probing for any subversive forces influencing American policies in the Far East.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alexander G. Barmine, former Russian general in the Russian army, testified Tuesday that Soviet military intelligence chiefs described Owen Lattimore and Joseph Barnes as "our men" in 1934 and again in 1938.

Barmine, who now heads the Russian desk of the state department's "Voice of America," testified under subpoena before the senate internal security subcommittee, which is investigating the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Lattimore is a director of the institute and a John Hopkins university professor. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) charged last year that he was a Russian spy. The Democratic majority of a senate foreign relations subcommittee cleared Lattimore of the charge, which he vigorously denied.

Barnes, a well-known newspaperman, was on the staff of the institute in Russia, Manchuria, Japan and China in 1931-34. During World War II he was deputy director of the overseas branch of the office of war information, for which Lattimore also worked.

Informing of Barmine's testimony, Lattimore told reporters: "This whole story was kicking around at the time of the McCarthy investigation last year. It was poppycock then and it is stale poppycock now."

Lattimore said he would be glad to testify at "any time" before the senate internal security subcommittee.

"All they have to do is ask me," he said. "They won't need a subpoena."

Barnes told reporters in New York that Barmine seems to be a "specialist in the kind of unmitigated lying professionally engaged in by both Communists and ex-Communists."

He said he made a survey of Russian research in the far east for the Institute of Pacific Relations in 1934 and in the course of it "met some of their scholars in the field."

But he asserted that he has "never been a Communist, a sympathizer with Communism or an agent for the Soviet Union" and said he has been "cleared by all the investigative agencies of the United States for work in the office of war information and later for accreditation as a war correspondent."

Barnes also noted, that as Moscow correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune in 1937 and 1938, he was threatened with expulsion from Russia for his dispatches reporting "the treachery and corruption" of the Soviet purge trials.

Civil Service Gives Hearing to Iowan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service commission has agreed to give an Iowa federal employe a hearing on charges he engaged in political activity in last year's senatorial campaign.

Alvin J. Cook, Iowa director of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation, denied in a letter to the commission that he had participated in such frowned-upon activities. He asked to be heard.

Alfred Klein, the commission's chief law enforcement officer, told a reporter no time or place has been set for the hearing. It probably will be in Iowa, he said.

The charges against Cook came during the 1950 campaign between Senator Hickenlooper (R-Ia.), who was re-elected, and Democrat Al Loveland. The latter quit his job as undersecretary of agriculture to make the race.

The commission charged Cook with violating federal (Hatch act) regulations at three political meetings in Iowa last October. Klein said Cook's remarks on those occasions were such as to "solicit votes and support" for Loveland. Federal employes are prohibited by law from taking an active part in political contests.

In denying the charges, Cook told the commission that he did not "manage the Loveland campaign or have anything to do with it." Cook said he did nothing more than tell voters "to get out and vote for the candidate of their choice."

Klein said that if Cook is found guilty the penalty could range from a 90-day suspension without pay to dismissal.

The first complaint in the case came last October from Robert K. Goodwin, Iowa state Republican party chairman. A senate elections subcommittee, headed by Senator Gillette (D-Ia.), investigated the case but took no action except to turn over to the commission its files in the matter.

Atom Planes Scientifically Feasible Says AEC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said Tuesday that the scientific feasibility of atom-driven airplanes has been established.

It also reported that actual development of atomic aircraft engines—by the General Electric Co.—has "advanced" in the past six months as part of a "long range reactor development program."

Such engines in theory could drive airplanes many times around the globe at tremendous speed and show unattainable altitudes.

The AEC's brief discussion of atomic plane engines, revealing "establishment of the theoretical feasibility for nuclear-powered flight," was contained in its 10th semi-annual report to congress. The report also disclosed that: "Production of atomic weapons, explosives, and raw materials hit new all-time highs in the past six months."

Domestic raw material production has jumped to where this country now ranks second among the free world's uranium producers. New foreign sources are being tapped.

Early construction work is well under way on two huge new atomic explosives plants, the $900-million works near Aiken, S. C., and the $500-million plant near Paducah, Ky.

Construction of an atomic engine for submarines is well advanced at the Arco, Idaho, reactor station and design work is progressing for another one. Navy sources predict a submarine propelled by splitting atoms will be undergoing tests in two years.

Revolutionary news reactors for production of atomic explosives are being built, presumably for the South Carolina plant. They differ radically from those at Hanford, Wash., and are understood to be much more efficient.

The world's first experimental breeder reactor—which produces more atomic fuel than it uses and at the same time generates power—is nearly finished. It had been scheduled for its first shakedown operation in late spring or early summer. If it works according to theory, it will manufacture atomic fuel out of materials now wasted and will multiply atomic resources 100-fold.

Iowa City Asked For Anti-Red Ideas

Iowa City is one of six Iowa communities which have received information on organizing Greenwood plan committees to fight Communism.

The plan, which originated in Greenwood, S. C., is aimed to pool the ideas of the American people on anti-Communist propaganda.

Bob Gage, executive secretary of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, said that no action as yet has been taken to form a committee to carry out the Greenwood plan in Iowa City.

Workable ideas, according to the Greenwood committee, will be broadcast into Red-held countries behind the Iron Curtain. One of the two stations to be used is Radio Free Europe, beamed to Czechoslovakia.

The national campaign was launched last June in Greenwood. Letters have been sent to an estimated 3,000 chambers of commerce in the U. S., Alaska, and Hawaii urging each one to set up a local committee patterned after the general committee.

Ideas collected by local committees are to be screened and the best suggestions forwarded to the state crusade for freedom committee. After further screening that committee will send the ideas to Radio Free Europe.

Firm Sues Sterlane

The American Granite Corp. of Minnesota Tuesday filed suit in district court seeking a $1,123 judgment from Jack Sterlane of Iowa City.

The granite firm's suit charges that the amount is due for merchandise delivered to Sterlane from August, 1949 to May, 1950.

GOVERNOR TO PICNIC DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. and Mrs. William S. Beardsley will attend the annual Iowa picnic at Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 11, he said Tuesday. He said former governors had attended the picnic but he hasn't. The Beardsleys plan to leave by train for Long Beach on Aug. 8.

Bread Shortage Expected As Bakers Strike

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A bread shortage was expected today in some parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin as 1,100 AFL bakers prepared to throw up picket lines around 24 twin cities' bakeries on the eve of the second day of their strike.

Housewives in some sections of the twin cities already found some bakery shelves bare Tuesday night. However, the shortage was believed to have been caused by other housewives stocking up.

State labor conciliator Harry Hanson, meanwhile, said that representatives of the union and bakeries had agreed to meet at his St. Paul office Tuesday night to again attempt settlement of the dispute.

The dispute centered around the union's demand for a third week vacation for bakers with 10 days service.

The strike was called at midnight last night after a breakdown of five days of conferences guided by Hanson. Only "corner" bakeries were not affected. They bargained as a unit with the union and recently signed a contract.

Picket lines were scheduled to be set up around the 24 bakeries today. They were not thrown up Tuesday since the bakers agreed not to challenge truck drivers delivering bread produced Monday.

An employers' spokesman said a bread shortage was expected today as retailers use up present supplies in some parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin as well as the twin cities where the 24 bakeries account for 75 per cent of the supply.

He said the threatened areas outside of the twin cities were those supplied through chain groceries such as Red Owl and National Tea. A & P food stores were not affected since they receive shipments of their own brand of bread.

The vacation issue stymied negotiations after employers had consented to establish a five-day week and give an immediate six cents hourly pay boost and ask the wage stabilization board to approve another six cents hike.

Jury Says Chinese 'Dropped or Thrown' From Train in Iowa

CLARENCE, IA. (AP)—A well-dressed Chinese, carrying $7,300 in cash, was "dropped or thrown" from a speeding streamliner train, a coroner's jury found here Tuesday.

The body of Chin Jo Kee, of New York City, was found along the Chicago and Northwestern tracks three miles west of here July 26.

On the body of the small man were found 73 $100 bills. Most of them, Cedar county Coroner Gordon Smith said, were in "concealed pockets" in the man's custom tailored suit.

The coroner, who says he plans further investigation, expressed the belief that "somebody dumped" Chin from Northwestern's San Francisco overland train. He said the train was probably traveling between 50 and 60 miles per hour.

Coroner Smith said he decided to hold the inquest after receiving a call from a New York attorney who said he represented the deceased man's brother. The lawyer, Max Kanerwitz, said he and the dead man's brother had been setting up the administration of the estate. Chin was a member of the On Leon Tong society, Smith said.

Smith reported that Chin had baggage checks indicating he had five pieces of luggage on the train with him which were checked through to San Francisco.

The FBI and the state bureau of investigation have been working on the case, also.

THE IOWA ROOM of the new library contains collections by Iowa authors, poets and cartoonists. Grace Van Wermer, assistant director of special collections at the library, is shown examining a shelf of the books. The room is now open to students for reading or to be used in obtaining research material.

Unique Collection - Grows in New SUI Library

By JEANNE TRAHAN

Nestled in the northeast corner of the new SUI library's first floor is the Iowa Room, containing a unique collection of books and manuscripts by Iowa authors.

Began in 1947, the collection has grown to a total of 1400 books by Iowa authors, 225 original manuscripts of books by Iowans and about 7,000 original cartoons of Ding Darling of the Des Moines Register.

The collection began rather spontaneously, Grace Van Wermer, assistant director of special collections said. The first books were 20 volumes of original writings donated by former President Herbert Hoover.

Nobel Peace prize winner John R. Mott, native of Postville, gave the library six autographed volumes of his writings on religious themes. Mott, 1948 Nobel winner, is president of the World Alliance of the Young Men's Christian association.

Another group of books which was part of the beginning core of the collection was donated by Carl Van Vechten of Cedar Rapids. This was composed of 15 volumes of first editions of his books. Van Vechten used his hometown for the setting of many of his books.

The last addition to the original collection was a set of 28 books written by Arthur Davison Pike, native of Davenport, and donated by his wife after his death. Ficke was a poet and author.

With these 69 volumes, the Iowa room began to grow into a project which would, as Miss Wermer said, "give a picture of the cultural record of the day and stimulate students interested in writing."

An important and unusual addition to the collection was a truckload of original cartoons by Ding Darling which were donated by the artist in July, 1949.

These cartoons, drawn on stiff sheets of cardboard 25 by 23 inches in size, were published in the Des Moines Register, and newspapers which syndicated Darling's work, during the years 1940 to 1948.

The social significance of these sketches lies in their reflection of political, social and economic trends in the United States.

Darling, who was staff cartoonist for the Des Moines Register from 1906 until his retirement in 1949, won Pulitzer prizes in 1924 and 1943.

His 1924 Pulitzer prize-winning cartoon is included in the collection.

The materials contained in the Iowa Room are available to students desiring research material which otherwise would be inaccessible. Many graduates use it for source material for theses and dissertations, Miss Wermer said.

Most of the books and manuscripts in the room were donated by the authors themselves.

Last year 33 new manuscripts were added to the collection. Manuscripts by Marquis Childs, Hartzell Spence and James Norman Hall, all native born Iowa authors, are in the library.

Strauss Farce Delightful - Opera Proves Engaging

To 1st Night Audience

By LUCILLE BRUNSTING

The audience who saw the opening performance of "Die Fledermaus" last night were glad they had accepted the invitation of one of the opera's most delightful lyrics to "look it over once or twice."

Strauss' 76-year-old Viennese farce, produced by the 13th Annual Fine Arts Festival in Macbride auditorium, proved to be frivolous, lighthearted and engaging.

Whirling through the sparkling overture, the orchestra created a nice atmosphere of Viennese gaiety before the first set was seen. The overture was a mixture of some of the main melodies of the work strung together without any attempt to tell the story.

The plot of "Fledermaus" was a lighthearted and delicious story of philandering, intrigue, mistaken identities and romance.

Victoria Sedlack, as a chambermaid playing an aristocrat in a flamboyant red gown, delighted the audience when she invited them to, "Look me over once, look me over twice."

Accused Murderer Ordered to Make Support Payments

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Webster Salyer, 32, in jail here charged with murder, Tuesday was ordered to make support payments to his wife or face a contempt of court citation.

Salyer is accused of shooting to death his brother-in-law, Charles Johnson, 23, during a family quarrel at the Salyer trailer home in Alburnett July 20.

In an unusual twist to the murder case, Dist. Judge Charles Penningroth disclosed in Tuesday's ruling that Salyer's wife had filed a divorce action last May 11, and that despite the action she had been still living with her husband at the time of the shooting.

Judge Penningroth ordered Salyer to pay $20 per week support money to his wife, Ruth, 19, and baby, Roberta Sue, 5 months, beginning Aug. 11. He also ordered Salyer to pay $100 in attorney's fees not later than Aug. 11.

He said Mrs. Salyer had applied for the attorney fees and support money through her attorney. The judge said Salyer would be liable for contempt of court if he failed to carry out the judge's orders.

Salyer has not yet been arraigned. Just Monday he was given another week to enter his plea.

Girls Found—Posed As Mother, Daughter

MASON CITY (AP)—Two young runaways, described by Sheriff Cal Dwan as "perfect little ladies," were en route late Tuesday to their home in St. Paul, Minn.

Darlene Gillen, 13, and her sister Mary Lou, 10, who fooled clerks of two Mason City hotels by registering as "Susan Carlson and daughter," were found sitting in the city park Tuesday noon.

Dwan said Darlene was calmly reading a newspaper and that she explained "I was hunting for a lead on a job because we couldn't find our Aunt Liz."

Discovery of the girls ended a widespread search launched after their parents returned home Sunday night to find them missing.

Darlene said they had $18 between them and took a train to Iowa in hopes of finding their "Aunt Liz" because they were "unhappy at home." Dwan reported.

Dwan said "Aunt Liz" apparently was Mrs. John Dingle of Morrison, Ia., 80 miles from here.

POSING AS THE MOTHER OF HER SISTER, Darlene Marie Gillen, 13, of St. Paul, Minn., (second from right) was able to fool all most everyone about her age. An intense search was made for Darlene and her sister Mary Lou, 10, (extreme right) after they were discovered missing from their home Sunday night by their parents. They were found in city park at Mason City Tuesday. To the left is Deputy Sheriff Duane Mayfield and Mrs. Mayfield of Mason City.

Pravda Accepts Challenge, Prints Morrison's Article

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, Aug. 1 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the Russian people through a Moscow newspaper today that if they were really free they would know the West wants peace and Soviet leaders are sowing the seeds of war.

Morrison's plain spoken, 1,500-word statement was published in the Communist party newspaper Pravda. In a speech at a British Press association luncheon June 13, Morrison had challenged Pravda to print fully a statement from either him or Prime Minister Attlee.

Pravda accepted the challenge. It also published a 2,600-word rebuttal. The texts of both the message and the rebuttal were made public in London at the hour of Pravda's press run.

At the same time Russia's new English magazine, the News, announced it would give space to both United States and Russian journalists in its columns "for the expression of ideas designed to promote friendly relations between our country and America."

Morrison's statement to the Russians said: "You are told that we are warmongers, that in alliance with the other countries of West Europe and the United States of America we are arming to the teeth to attack the Soviet Union; that we are engaging in an arms race; that we are preparing for a new war. This is not true. None of it is true."

Morrison said that in Russia there is "no freedom of speech and free access to knowledge of how the rest of the world lives and thinks, which is essential to understanding of each other."

"This ignorance creates fear and suspicion of the motive of other peoples," Morrison said.

"I regret, therefore, that full knowledge of what is happening in my country is not available to you."

Morrison said even British broadcasts to Russia are "artificially and intentionally jammed by your government."

"I wonder why?" asked Morrison. "What has your government to fear? I wish it would follow our practice—broadcasts in English from the Soviet Union can be freely listened to and not only the British Communist daily paper, but Pravda itself can be bought."

"Our view is that, in a free and enlightened democracy, everyone is able to judge for himself the truth of what he hears, or reads."

Pravda wrote in reply: "In the U.S.S.R. freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of organizations does not exist for enemies of the people, for the landlords and capitalists overthrown by the revolution. Nor does it exist for incorrigible thieves, for subversive agents, for terrorists and assassins sent in by foreign secret services, for the criminals who shot at Lenin . . ."

"Surely it is not for these gentlemen that Mr. Morrison seeks freedom of speech, freedom of the press and personal freedom?"

Pravda added that Morrison failed to mention freedom from exploitation and "freedom from economic rises, from unemployment and poverty."

The British broadcasts to Russia, Pravda said also, constitutes "interference in the internal affairs of the U.S.S.R."

Morrison said the British people "do not want a third world war."

He added: "Our Alliances are defensive alliances. With you we have the Anglo-Soviet treaty of alliance concluded in 1942. The North Atlantic treaty is another defensive alliance. They are not directed against any one except an aggressor."

Retorted Pravda: "If this is true, why did the initiators of the (Atlantic) pact not invite the Soviet Union to take part in it? Why did they fence themselves off from the Soviet Union? Why did they conclude it behind the U.S.S.R.'s back and in secrecy from it?"

Pravda also said that British and the United States have refused to discuss the Atlantic pact at a big four foreign ministers' meeting.

Morrison asked why the West felt it needed to build up its armed forces and then answered his own question: "To be frank with you, it is because of the policy which has been pursued by the Soviet government since the end of the war. . . . We expected and strove for cooperation with you in the United Nations. But, alas, our hopes were disappointed. They were changed to doubts by your government's refusal to cooperate in Germany and in the economic rehabilitation of Europe. These doubts were confirmed as we watched the imposition of Communist regimes in Eastern Europe and the establishment of the Cominform."

Morrison also asked "why is it necessary for your government to pursue a policy and to found organizations whose only purpose seems to be to stir up trouble and international hatred?"

Replied Pravda: "In reality it is known that it is not the Russians but the British and Americans who refused to cooperate, since they knew what the Russians would not agree to restoring Fascism in Germany, to converting eastern Germany into a base for aggression . . ."

"Equally groundless are Mr. Morrison's assertions that the Communists came to power in the people's democratic countries by violence, that the Cominform engages in the propaganda of violence."

Morrison turned to Russia's armed forces. He said the West demobilized after the war, Russia's armed forces. He said the West demobilized after the war, Russia did not.

Pravda called this "unsound." It continued: "The Soviet government has already stated officially that it demobilized 32 age groups, that its army is at present approximately the size that it was in peacetime before the Second World War, and that the British and American armies on the contrary are double the size they were before the Second World War."

Morrison said: "I hope what I have written so frankly will help to bring about a better understanding between our peoples and that, now Pravda has opened its columns to me, I shall have further opportunities of putting the British point of view before the Russian people and of answering any observations which Pravda may wish to make."

In its rebuttal, Pravda didn't say whether it would give Morrison another chance to put his views to the Russian people through its columns.

Going Home

Greek Flies to Athens To Die

CHICAGO (AP)—Wealthy James Maragopoulos, 60, flew home to his native Greece Tuesday to die. "Bring us back some Greek Cognac!" his friends joked as Maragopoulos was moved by stretcher onto a Trans-World airplane plane for the 30-hour trip to Athens.

But there were tears in their eyes. They knew that in all likelihood, Maragopoulos was seeing them for the last time. Scores of Greek-descended Chicagoans were at the airport to bid farewell to the former owner of a Chicago restaurant.

Maragopoulos, a bachelor, has cancer of the lungs and doctors say he will live only about three months.

"But no one talks about it," said John Demos, a member of the patriotic Kalavryta society of which Maragopoulos was president for three years.

"We pretend he is just going to get a change of climate and visit his brother and sisters in Athens—then he will return."

Maragopoulos had only the strength to nod to his friends. The trip from Billings Memorial hospital to the airport was made by ambulance and Maragopoulos flew directly to a hospital when he arrives in Athens.

He came to America as a teenager and worked at odd jobs until he saved enough to open the restaurant which made him prosperous. He sold the restaurant, known as the Athens cafe, three years ago.

Merrins' 68 Leads Western Junior Golf Qualifiers

POINTING A FINGER at his name, George Clark of Ottumwa shows Dan Molyneux, another qualifier, just how close he came to being out in the cold when the qualification line was drawn right below his name. There was some question up until the last threesome came in as to where the line would be drawn.

32 Qualifiers Begin Match Play Today

By BILL AYERS

Diminutive 18-year-old Eddie Merrins of Meridian, Miss., the National Junior Chamber of Commerce golf champion, served notice on the Western Golf association Tuesday that he is intent on winning their junior trophy also.

Little Eddie came in with an eye-opening two-under par 68 Tuesday afternoon in the qualifying round of the Western Junior golf tournament to take medalist honors over 31 other teenage golfers who qualified.

Eddie's score tied the record low medal score for the tournament, which is in its 34th year. The record was set back in 1937 on the Cherry Hills country club course in Chicago by Earl Wilde, now a Fairfield, Iowa, professional.

On Finkbine Field's upper nine, Eddie came around with a par 35, birdying the tricky par five third hole (he just barely missed an eagle when his first putt rolled around the rim of the cup and stayed out) and then bogeying the short par three fourth hole when he was on in one but took three putts to get down.

On the lower nine, Merrins chopped a stroke off par on each of the 14th, 16th, and 17th holes with beautiful 12-foot putts. On the 18th hole, however, he missed a three-foot putt that cost him a new medalist record in the tournament and gave him a bogey four for the hole.

Oddly enough, it was one of his own threesome that made the spectacular shot of the day and on the 18th hole to boot. Carl Stotz of Evanston, Ill., having a miserable time with his drives and putting all day, drew out his putter when his ball lay above the green following a long 7-iron shot, gave the ball a whack, and it sailed tried and true 90 feet straight into the cup.

Although many had thought that SU's golf course would be in for a par-beating, Finkbine field and par came through on top in all but three of 80 instances. In fact it wasn't until almost 3:30 in the afternoon that anyone came through with a par-breaking score for the eighteen holes.

The par-buster was another eighteen-year-old, Bobby Goetz of Wichita, Kan., who is that city's local champion. He hobbled in with a one-under par 69 despite five birdies. The runner was the par 3, 211-yard 10th hole which Goetz tripled bogeyed with a six. First he lost his drive and didn't settle down until he dumped in a 12-foot putt.

Nichols Equals Par
The only other boy to equal or better par was the third finisher of the day, 18-year-old Donald Nichols of Auburn, Kan. Don had

Tommy Keyton, of Kansas City, the Missouri junior champ, came in with four over pars on both nines for a 78 and Don Guariglia of St. Louis, the 1949 National Caddy champ, blew up on the second hole for a nine which put him so far behind he could never catch up and holed out with a 78.	Incidentally, Guariglia's nine was the worst single-hole score turned in for the day.	The other top-seeded players came in in varying stages of quality. Dale Kniss, of Waterloo, the Iowa high school and junior champion carded a 37-37-74; Hillman Robbins of Memphis, Tenn., fumbled along with a 39-36 including a five on the 18th for 75; George Clark of Ottumwa had a 39-37-76, just enough to make it, and Warren Dailey, last year's runnerup in the Western Junior open who hails from Manitowoc, Wis., had a respectable 35-39-74.	Team Title to Kansas The team championship in the medal play Tuesday went to the Kansas Golf association whose three high men turned in a total of 217 for a new team record low in the Western Junior Golf tournament. The team consisted of Goetz and his 69, Nichols and his 70, and Kent Hurlbut with 78.	The Southern Golf association was second with a total of 220 including Merrins' 68, Robbins' 75 and Bruce Higley's 77.	Today there will be two rounds of match play over 18 holes that will cut the field down to eight quarter-finalists by tonight.	Thursday two more rounds of 18 holes will eliminate all but the two finalists who will meet for 36 holes beginning Friday morning.

Feller Wins 16th Game; Tribe Trails Yanks by 2

NEW YORK (AP)—Battlin' Bobby Feller, who was supposed to be all washed up like the dinner dishes a year ago, stayed head and chest above every other hurler in the majors Tuesday when he won his 16th game, a 5-3 decision over Washington that put his oncoming Indians into second place alone.

Feller, who has lost only four games, was behind until the Indians pushed over three runs in the top of the ninth. It was a particularly significant triumph for him because it was his 224th as a Cleveland pitcher, enabling him to top the club's all-time record of 223, set by Mel Harder, who now is an Indian coach.

The Indians went into the ninth trailing, 3-2, but Jim Hegan hit his second double to touch off the winning rally. Barney McCoskey, batting for Feller, walked, and Dale Mitchell singled in the tying tally off Don Johnson. Mitchell went out to second on the throw to third and both he and McCoskey scored when Bobby Avila singled.

Mike Garcia came in to protect Feller's victory, setting down the Senators in order in the ninth. Feller gave up eight hits. The Indians, by winning, moved to within two games of the idle first place Yankees.

At Boston, the last place Browns upset the Red Sox, putting over four runs on top two hits in the eighth inning. Relief Pitcher Satchel Paige gained his second victory since returning to the majors, although young Jim McDonald had to quell a Boston three run rally in the eighth. Jim Delsing's double and a pair of walks loaded the bases in the St. Louis victory rally. A single by Fred Marsh scored Delsing and two more runs came home on a wild relay throw by Billy Goodman.

Ned Garver, the Browns' ace pitcher with 13 victories, had to leave the game in the fifth when he aggravated a muscle pull in his left thigh. The Red Sox later protested the game, complaining that Paige's famed hesitation pitch constituted a balk motion with men on base.

The fast deflating White Sox dropped 7½ games behind the idle first place Yankees when the Athletics defeated them, 4-2 at Philadelphia for their 10th defeat in the last 11 games. Lefty Alex Kellner pitched seven hit ball to win his seventh game.

Brooklyn's almost omnipotent Dodgers won their 10th straight game while big Don Newcombe pitched his 15th victory and his ninth in a row at Pittsburgh, overpowering the Pirates, 8-3. By winning the Brooks stayed 9½ games ahead of the second place Giants.

The Phils made six runs in the ninth to top the Reds, 7-5, at Cincinnati. Del Ennis hit a three run homer for the key blow. Andy Seminick, who had a homer earlier, also lashed a scoring double in the winning inning.

Rookie Chet Nichols pitched four hit ball to give the Braves a 6-0 decision at St. Louis over the Cardinals, his fifth of the year. Earl Torgeson hit a Boston homer and a double for the only extra base blows of the game.

Bobby Thomson hit his 19th and 20th homers as the Giants topped the Cubs at Chicago, 4-3, in an afternoon game.

No. 13 Was Easy, But Was It Rough

What was the easiest hole for the 80 teenage golfers who traveled around the SUI Finkbine field golf course Tuesday? And what was the most difficult for those trying to beat par?

Strangely the easiest hole bore what is generally considered to be a jinx number. Possibly it was for many of the boys. But at any rate the 13th hole seemed to be the softest touch.

On that particular hole, 72 of the golfers had par or better. Twenty of the boys had birdies and 52 parred the 297-yard par four hole. However, on the next hole, 14, there were more birdies, 26 to be exact. The 14th is a par five, 539-yard shot.

The roughest hole to come out on top also proved to be on the lower nine. It was number 11. Not a single contestant was able to birdie the par four, 403-yard run. Only 26 even were able to make par here.

Next in order of being most difficult was the tee-off hole for the lower nine, number 10. Two boys got birdies here and again only 26 parred the hole.

On the front nine, number 4 proved to be the undoing of many. It was birdied by only one man and parred by 27 others. Duck soup on the upper nine turned out to be number 6, birdied by nine and parred by 31.

Although the roughest, holes were on the lower nine, the boys seemed to be able to par that nine easier than the upper course. Merrins shot a two-under-par on the lower nine, four others were one under, and four made par.

On the upper nine, only two boys played under par although five managed an even break with the course.
