CLASSIFIED ABOVE are the five areas of Iowa City of which Fred Waisanen is conducting a survey on television ownership. The areas and the number of TV sets and residences in each are: (1) Manville Heights, 55 sets, 616 residences; (2) city residences south and east of the intersection of Dubuque st. and Iowa ave., 91 sets, 1,620 residences; (3) residences south and east of Iowa ave. and Dubuque st. to the line of the Rock Island railroad on S. Dubuque st., 167 sets, 2,266 residences; (4) residences south of the Rock Island tracks and west to the Iowa river, 51 sets, 1,037 residences; (This area also includes all residences south of Iowa ave. and between S. Dubuque st. and the Iowa river.); (5) residences west of the Iowa river and south of highway 6 near the CRANDIC railroad tracks, 69 sets, 558 residences.

Local TV Ownership Surveyed by SUI Unit

By GENE RAFFENSPERGER
A continuing study of television ownership in Iowa City indicates that local residents in the higher income brackets have been the innovators and continued buyers of TV here.

The study, started by 10 members of an SUI class in human ecology under the direction of Prof. Harold W. Saunders, sociology department, is now being carried on by Fred Waisanen, G. A. and M. H. Smith, of the University.

Two Significant Factors

This study, believed to be one of the first ever conducted in a "fringe area" of TV reception, thus far points toward two significant factors in the local TV situation:

1. There is a probable correlation between TV ownership and income.
2. There appears to be a correlation between the topographical location of certain neighborhoods in the city and the number of TV sets in those neighborhoods.

The survey further shows that there are now over 400 TV sets in operation in the city. A rough breakdown of this total reveals that six per cent or approximately one out of every 18 homes in the city, including university housing is equipped with a TV set.

Divide Residential Areas

To get data necessary for the survey, the students split Iowa City into five residential areas and made a house-to-house count of TV aerials in each area.

With this job completed, the areas were classified into rated residential neighborhoods by three Iowa City real estate dealers.

Areas laid out for the survey were as follows:

Area I — The Manville Heights neighborhood starting at the city limits to the west and north and bounded on the south by highway

6. The area also included all residences north and west of the intersection of Iowa ave. and Dubuque st.

Area II — All city residences south and east of the intersection of Dubuque st. and Iowa ave.

Area III — All residences south and east of Iowa ave. and Dubuque st. to the line of the Rock Island railroad on S. Dubuque st.

Area IV — All residences south of the Rock Island tracks and west to the Iowa river. This area also includes the residences south of Iowa ave. and between S. Dubuque st. and the Iowa river.

Area V — All residences west of the Iowa river and south of highway 6 near the CR & IC railroad tracks. This area was extended to include University Heights.

House Group Okays Record Military Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house appropriations committee Monday chopped $1,542,608,500 off President Truman's requested military budget, but still left the sum at a record for peacetime — $56,060,405,890.

The committee, in submitting its recommendations, made it clear this is only a first installment on funds for all the armed services for the year ending next June 30.

It said a huge outlay is needed "to create sufficient power to prevent disaster in the event war is forced upon us."

At the same time the committee criticized the defense department's "glaring and wasteful mistakes" in military purchases, "ill-advised shotgun buying" of civilian goods and "wasteful use of manpower."

The committee knocked out 80,000 requested civilian jobs. The armed services money bill now goes to the house for expected opening of debate Wednesday.

Leaders say they don't expect much of a fight, or many changes, in the appropriations — but they look for a real scrap to break out over a new troops-for-Europe proposal.

Rep. Frederic R. Coudert (R-N.Y.) has said he will offer an amendment requiring congressional approval to send troops to Europe beyond the six divisions already committed.

A similar proposal failed in the house last April by a vote of 163 to 158. Truman administration chieftains are worried that it may pass this time. The senate already has approved a similar view in a resolution, but the Coudert amendment would have the force of law, instead of being just a resolution.

The military budget as adopted by the committee doesn't include anything for Korean war replacements, or troops in Japan or Germany, because these amounts can't be fixed yet. Nor does it include $4.5 billion for military construction, to be considered later.

Further, President Truman has said that military goals included in the budget may have to be raised "in important respects."

Truman Condemns 'Shortsighted People' For Kansas Floods

WASHINGTON (AP)—Flood control in the midwest, President Truman said Monday, depends upon the election of more "forward-looking, liberal-minded members of congress."

Sharply criticizing "short-sighted people who can't see beyond their purely local interests," Mr. Truman said with reference to this summer's disastrous Kansas-Missouri floods:

"For example, of three key flood-control dams which have been proposed on the Kansas river and its tributaries—right where this flood hit—two have not been authorized by congress and the third one, while authorized, has not been started, all because of opposition by the officials and congressional representatives of the state of Kansas."

Mr. Truman's views were in a letter to CIO President Philip Murray. Murray had asked him to create an emergency commission to draw up a river control program for the Missouri valley.

Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kans.), former governor of the state, told a reporter he would be glad to work with the president in getting "complete action" for comprehensive development of the Missouri river valley.

"My record of controlling water run-off at the source is well known," Carlson said.

George Baculis' Trial Rescheduled

The trial of George Baculis, Iowa City, on a charge of aiding and abetting a murderer, has been rescheduled for Sept. 5, District Judge Harold D. Evans said Monday.

Baculis, indicted by the grand jury last December, is accused of aiding and abetting in the death of Andrew Davells.

Davells, waiter in the Princess cafe, was stabbed to death last Oct. 12.

Baculis' brother James Lons was tried and acquitted of a first degree murder charge in connection with the death.

Evans had scheduled the trial for Sept. 4 but the participating attorneys requested the one day delay to avoid drawing a jury immediately after the Labor day holiday.

Ridgway Renews UN Demand For Neutrality In Truce City

Russia Asks Truman for 'Peace Pact'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nikolai Shvernik of Russia, in a letter to President Truman, renewed a Russian proposal for a five-power "peace pact." American officials viewed the surprise move as a cleverly timed propaganda maneuver.

Shvernik called for the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Communist China to agree on disarmament steps including "prohibition of atomic weapons."

But state department officials indicated the U. S. would reject any idea of a five-power deal, insisting instead that the United Nations serve as the peace forum.

Familiar Propaganda
Shvernik also sent to Mr. Truman the text of a lengthy "peace resolution" he said was adopted by the Russian presidium (parliament). It carried familiar Russian propaganda against the U.S. and insisted the Soviet Union "has no aggressive plans," is "completely absorbed" in peaceful work to better living conditions, and its armed forces "are not waging war anywhere."

All this seemed to be a Russian reply to a resolution passed by congress expressing friendship and good will for the Russian people.

Congress adopted the resolution, in June and Mr. Truman forwarded it to Shvernik July 7. Mr. Truman wrote then that there will be no war if the Russian people can learn "the peace aims of the American people and government."

"No Basis For Doubt
Shvernik's reply said "the Soviet people has no basis for doubting that the American people do not want war." Shvernik added, however, that the Soviet people "know well there exists in some states forces which are striving to unleash a new world war."

So far as the state department knows, neither the U.S. congressional resolution nor Mr. Truman's letter has been made public to the Russian people. American officials worked overtime to re-lease the Soviet reply.

American officials have insisted many times that if the Russians really want disarmament they would permit international inspection, which the Russians have refused. And U. S. officials have said that if the Communists want peace they could show it by lifting the "iron curtain," halting incendiary propaganda and curbing aggressive moves by satellites.

735 SUI Students To Receive Degrees Wednesday Evening

Degrees will be conferred upon 735 SUI students Wednesday night, Prof. Frederic Higbee, director of convocations, said Monday.

The figure is about 100 less than the record number receiving degrees a year ago. Excluding B.A. and B.S. degrees, the breakdown of candidates shows that 78 will receive Ph.D. degrees; 278, M.A. degrees; 73, M.S. degrees, and 24 M.F.A. degrees.

Higbee issued the following instructions to candidates:

1. Pick up caps and gowns at Campus stores, Iowa ave. and Dubuque st., between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., today and Wednesday.
2. Line up at 7:20 p.m. Wednesday west of the fieldhouse armory. Form in columns of two facing east in line with and west of the proper placard. In case of rain, assemble in the armory.
3. Follow degree instructions already received by mail.
4. Seating of candidates will begin at 7:45 p.m.
5. Candidates remain standing after the benediction. Marshals will escort the various degree groups in the recessional. Candidates go to check-in tables, turn in academic apparel and pick up diplomas or attendance cards.
6. The ceremony will conclude about 9:30 p.m.
7. Mail the address cards received with commencement instructions.

Other admissions, all reported in "fair" condition, are: Robert Simon, 35, Marshalltown; Gertrude Huggard, 24, Plainfield; Darrell Bunn, 25, Conrad; Paul Sulentie, 15, Waterloo; Robert Gillingham, 46, Algona, and Marilyn Thompson, 17, Toledo.

Polio patients discharged are Floyd Middleworth, 31; Ottumwa; Darrell Dunlap, 12; Tama; Daniel Feuling, 3, New Hampton; Clare Peterson, 17 months, Volga, and Gary Lincoln, 12, Grinnell.

Transferred to the inactive list were Rita Grout, 5, Riverside; Doris French, 28, Cedar Rapids; Laverne Fryer, 12, Waterloo, and Jo Anne Byers, 4, Tipton.

Senate Group Plans West Point Inquiry

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Ninety West Point cadets, facing dismissal, Monday got the promise of a congressional inquiry into their cases shortly after military academy officials said they would welcome such action.

A senate investigations subcommittee announced in Washington it will make a "preliminary inquiry" into the matter, to be followed possibly by a full-fledged investigation by the armed services committee.

Earlier, both Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, academy superintendent, and Earl "Red" Black, head football coach, said they would like to see such an inquiry.

Blak said he favored a congressional probe "so the true character of these boys and the true relationship of football to life at the academy can be brought before the country."

Of the 90 cadets held guilty of violating the academy's honor code by cheating on exams, Blak said:

"I am sure that when the whole story is understood, no fair-minded man will condemn them." Blak, whose powerful Army football varsity reportedly would be decimated by the mass ouster, said the accused cadets are among "the finest we have in the corps."

Blak, coach at the academy since 1941, would not comment on reports he would resign. He said he would state his position fully at a press conference in New York Thursday.

His son, Bob, an Army star quarterback, has criticized the dismissal move. Young Blak wouldn't say if he is among the 90, but he used the pronoun, "we," in referring to them.

Coach Blak, terming the whole affair "deplorable" and "tragic," said it "pictures almost in the light of criminals some of the finest men we have in the corps—the type of men, who the record shows, have made the finest leaders."

City Council Okays Contract for $2,533 To Build Sidewalks

With City Manager Peter F. Roan sitting in for the first time in an official capacity, the Iowa city council Monday night approved a $2,533 contract for construction of sidewalks on three local streets.

Streets where sidewalks will be constructed are Jefferson st. on the north side from Johnson st. to Dodge st., Dearborn st. on the west side from Center ave. to Muscatine ave., and Center st. on the east side from the Wood's addition to Ronalds st.

The Fiesler and Kepler contracting firm of Iowa City was awarded the contract.

The council also approved a payment of $23,911 to the Hargrave Construction company of Cedar Rapids as part payment for resurfacing work done on Iowa City streets.

The payment brings to $118,000 the amount the city has paid the Cedar Rapids firm for work done on local streets since Sept. 1950.

City Engineer Fred Gartzke said an additional $18,000 is still due the firm on the first of three contracts. The other contracts total $63,000 and $13,000.

Gartzke told council members every asphalt street in Iowa City has received some surfacing the last year as a result of the Hargrave contracts.

In other action the council:

1. Referred to Roan a petition to place curbing, gutters and black top on College court between College st. and Court st.
2. Referred a petition for a new Dodge st. bridge to Roan.
3. Passed a resolution bonding Roan for $5,000.

Mrs. C. J. Shay's Condition Better

Mrs. Clem, J. Shay, 414 N. Van Buren st., was in "satisfactory" condition in Mercy hospital Monday night after she was injured in a fall at her home Sunday.

Hospital officials said Mrs. Shay suffered a broken right wrist and severe brain concussion in a fall down a flight of stairs at her home. She was unconscious all day Sunday but regained consciousness Monday and was reported improving by hospital officials.

Reds Describe Troop Incident As Accidental

TOKYO (TUESDAY) (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway agreed today to a renewal of Korean truce talks only if the Reds will completely guarantee the neutrality of Kaesong.

The supreme Allied commander, in a strongly worded message to the top Red commanders, demanded their acceptance of this condition before any Allied move is made to reopen truce negotiations.

Ridgway broke off the talks because heavily armed Red troops passed within 100 yards of the conference house Saturday.

The Allied commander, in his message today, questioned the "accidental nature" of the incident.

"I have also noted you describe such incidents as minor, accidental and trivial," he said. "Such incidents are of fundamental importance, as I have pointed out. The incidents are neither minor nor trivial."

"Their accidental nature is in doubt." His message was addressed to North Korean Gen. Kim Il Sung and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, commander of Chinese forces in Korea.

Ridgway demanded their guarantee that the neutral zone at Kaesong be kept free of troops.

"I await your acceptance of this condition," he messaged.

The message was broadcast over all armed forces radio stations and will be re-broadcast at intervals in Korean and Chinese after the English version.

Ridgway stated the United Nations position at 1:30 p.m. today (9:30 p.m., CST, Monday) after his second conference in 24 hours with Vice-Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the Allied truce team.

After demanding that the Reds guarantee neutralization of the Kaesong area, Ridgway warned:

"Any further failure in this regard will be interpreted as a deliberate move on your part to terminate the armistice negotiations."

A company of 150 armed Chinese troops marched within 100 yards of the Allied conference house in Kaesong Saturday — during a recess in the talks. Ridgway broke off the talks Sunday and accused the Reds of a "flagrant violation" of conditions for the talks.

This drew a radioed official explanation from the Reds Monday morning. Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, Chinese Red commander in Korea, said presence of troops was an accident that would not be repeated.

The two top Reds asked Ridgway for immediate resumption of the talks.

However, propaganda from official Red radio outlets continued to insist this morning that there could be no compromise on the basic issue of where to place a buffer zone.

County Supervisors Okay Record Budget

The Johnson county board of supervisors Monday gave final approval to a record county budget of $1,236,974.

The budget calls for an average millage rate of $15.69 per $1,000 in property valuation.

The budget is $138,649 above the current year's total of $1,098,325.

The amount to be raised by taxation will be $758,859, an increase of $32,818 over the 1950 budget. Members of the board of supervisors said this was due to an unencumbered balance and estimated income from other sources.

Canada's Role in — Thwarting Communism — in Atlantic Pact

(Fourth in a series of 12 articles on the North Atlantic Treaty organization and its role in strengthening the free world.)

By H. D. CRAWFORD

WASHINGTON—Canada's leadership has been felt in the North Atlantic Treaty organization ever since Canadian statesmen took an active part in giving substance to the idea of cooperative security among nations of the North Atlantic.

Canada's Prime Minister Louis S. St. Laurent is credited with being one of the first statesmen to mention publicly the possibility of a North Atlantic mutual security treaty. He has guided his nation toward ever-increasing support of NATO.

Lester B. Pearson, dynamic secretary of state for external affairs, has from the beginning been an enthusiastic advocate of a stronger NATO to maintain world peace. He has spoken in its behalf numerous times, both in and out of parliament. When Pearson addressed NATO's council deputies in London June 25, American Ambassador Charles M. Spofford, chairman of the council deputies, introduced Pearson as "one of the architects of the North Atlantic treaty."

Pearson told the deputies that NATO during its first two years had pursued the unique task of forging a collective defense system in peacetime. "We are defending ourselves," he asserted, "against a threat which is not regional but global."

The Canadian external affairs minister coined a question that reflects the thinking of many NATO leaders these days: "May we not in these past two years have taken at least the first steps toward something much greater and more positive—a genuine community of the Atlantic?"

Canada has cooperated with NATO in many ways. C. D. Howe, Canada's American-born minister of defense production, recently summed up Canada's NATO contributions.

"We in Canada look upon collective measures for defense by the North Atlantic Treaty organization as a part of the defense of Canada," said Howe. "We are not isolationists and never have been. It is the view of the Canadian government that the vital area of global defense is in Western Europe and we have acted accordingly."

Here is a summary of the six practical steps Howe indicated Canada has taken to support NATO.

1. Starting in 1949, the year NATO was formed, Canada offered to train NATO army officers and airmen. This program has been underway for many months. Army officers and airmen from Belgium, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway and the United States are being trained in Canada.

2. Armament and equipment of the United Kingdom type have been sent by Canada to equip three European divisions, one in the Netherlands, another in Belgium, and still another in Italy. Similar transfers are expected to be made as Canada continues to standardize its own military equipment with that of the U.S.

3. Munitions and military equipment are being manufactured in Canada. These include heavy artillery, early-warning radar sets and walkie-talkie sets. Canada proved during World War II that she is capable of tremendous defense production.

4. Canadian men also are being contributed to the defense of Western Europe. The Royal Canadian navy is training for the important roles of guarding coasts and harbors and of patrolling Atlantic ocean shipping lanes.

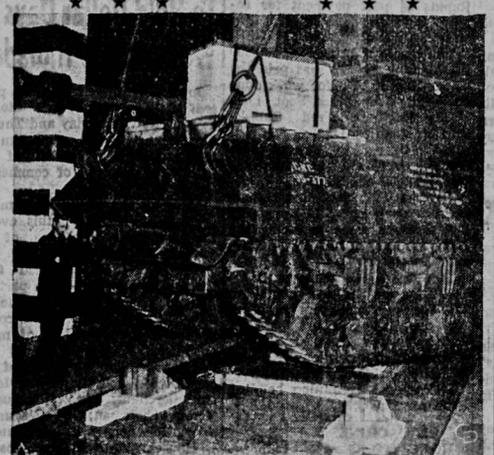

5. Canadians regard air power as their most important contribution to NATO. They are proud of their jet planes and jet engines. One Canadian squadron is training in England. Canada expects to have an air division of 11 squadrons equipped with Canadian-built planes at full fighting strength in NATO's Integrated Force.

6. Just as Canada sent a trained special brigade of 10,000 men to Korea, it now is recruiting a brigade of the Canadian army for NATO's Integrated Force.

"Canada is a partner with us in the North Atlantic treaty, is associated with us in the organization for European economic cooperation, and has sent forces to Korea," Secretary of State Dean Acheson told the house foreign affairs committee recently during its mutual security program hearings. "She has been, along with us, a large provider of aid to our European allies in the post-war years. She is a bulwark of strength to the north."

The Canada-U.S. regional planning group, with headquarters in Washington, is one of the three NATO area commands thus far set up. Others are Europe and the Atlantic.

Canada's vast resources may yet prove to be her greatest NATO assets: Labrador-Quebec iron ore, Alberta oil, numerous strategic minerals, hydro-electric power, vast forests, geographic position, and most important of all, a vigorous and independent people who are producing far-sighted and respected statesmen who are exerting leadership for the free world.

IMPACT OF TELEVISION on SUI students is probably best shown by the response to the TV sets in the Iowa Memorial Union. A television set in the north lobby of the Union is set to receive WOC-TV, Davenport, and the set in the south lobby is on WIBF-TV, Rock Island. Because the Union is at such low sea level, a 40-foot antenna was installed on top of the geology building to guarantee reception.

Local TV Survey

desirable neighborhoods were rated A type; next most desirable, B type, and so on down the line until they reached E rating, which was the least desirable.

Armed with this information, Waisanen made a composite map of the city's five areas using the averages of all three of the dealers in making final designation of residential ratings.

The teams of two men each from the class who had canvassed the areas originally had reported the number of TV sets in each neighborhood and also the total number of homes in the area.

With this data, Waisanen was able to plot the ratio of TV owners in each neighborhood and compare it with the relative figure of residential rating that the area had received from the real estate dealers.

Seven Per Cent Ratio

His findings showed that area I was predominantly of A residential homes and the ratio of TV homes there was seven per cent including SUI housing and nine per cent without SUI housing.

Area II proved to be predominantly a C rated neighborhood. The ratio of TV sets in this area was approximately six per cent of the total number of homes.

Since this area contained no university housing, the ratio there showed 1,620 homes with 91 of them equipped with TV sets.

Area III Ranks Evenly

Area III ranked about evenly between a B and C residential rating and had a TV ratio of very nearly seven per cent. A breakdown of the figures here revealed 2,266 homes in the area and 167 of them equipped with TV.

Area IV was rated as predominantly a D residential area and the TV ratio there was not quite five per cent. Complete breakdown of these figures shows 1,037 homes with 51 of them equipped with TV.

Area V was ranked as predominantly a B neighborhood and had a ratio of slightly over five per cent including SUI housing but over 10 per cent not including the SUI housing. Figure breakdowns here show 558 non-university homes with 69 of them equipped with TV.

Figures Add Up

These figures pointed toward the first of the conclusions concerning research on the local TV situation—that people in the higher income groups were the ones that bought more TV sets than others when the medium was first introduced here.

In making this statement Waisanen points out that area I and area II were rated as the best residential neighborhoods and their ratios of TV ownership were correspondingly high.

On the other hand, area III and area IV, rated as residential areas, also ranked lower in ratios of TV ownership. Area III, ranked quite high in the ratio of TV sets, but it was also split about even in the neighborhood ratings between a B and C class area.

City Map Drawn

In drawing his second conclusion, Waisanen asked the SUI geography department to draw a detailed topographical map of Iowa City showing the lines of elevation throughout the city.

In one sector of the area, 11 TV sets are clustered on a line of 780 foot elevation.

His point in doing so was to see if there was any relation between the elevation of a neighborhood and the number of TV sets there. Waisanen points out that the higher a TV aerial is extended into the air the better the reception is likely to be.

In this instance, if a home is on higher ground to start with, it is easier to erect an aerial to a desired height to get best possible reception.

Shows Highest Elevation

The topographical map of the city shows that the highest elevation in the area is in the University Heights section where the elevation averages between 740-780 feet.

Correspondingly the ratio of TV set owners in that area is at the highest rate—nearly 10 per cent of a total number of homes.

In one sector of the area, 11 TV sets are clustered on a line of 780 foot elevation.

Manville Heights has an average elevation of slightly over 700 feet and follows closely the higher TV ratio with a rating of nine per cent of TV in homes there.

Correspondingly, area IV with the lowest elevation, an average of slightly over 650 feet, also has the lowest TV ratio with approximately five per cent of the homes there equipped with the sets.

Study to Continue

In a continuing study this fall, Waisanen hopes to discover if there is a significant difference between the number of children in a family with a TV set and the number of children in a family without one.

A study such as this was carried out in California recently and showed that families with TV sets had more children than those without TV sets.

He also hopes his studies will reveal what if any is the relationship between a person's occupation and whether he owns a TV set.

On 'Fringe Area'

The important factor in the survey conducted in Iowa City is that the city is on what is considered a "fringe area" of TV reception.

"In other words," Waisanen explains, "we are just about at the edge of the area where TV reception from Rock Island and Davenport is receptive."

To a prospective TV set owner in Iowa City this means several important things. First the variety of TV programs will be very slight. A TV "fan" must watch either the Davenport station or the Rock Island station.

Aerials Must Be Higher

Second, because of our distance from the TV station, aerials must be higher than they need be in a "primary" or closer TV area. This entails extra expense in installing TV.

Third, the set must usually be equipped with a booster for added assurance that reception will be adequate.

Taking all these factors in mind, members of the class that conducted the survey decided that a survey of TV locally would disclose who are the people that are the innovators of such a new idea and what are the factors surrounding their decision to install TV.

Similar Survey Started

A survey similar to the one Waisanen and the class members undertook was started in a town in New York in 1948. The survey city in that case was slightly larger than Iowa City and was located in a "primary area" of TV reception only 40 miles from New York City.

The survey, called "Videotown," showed that in 1948 the persons who purchased TV sets were in the higher income brackets and lived in the higher rating residential areas.

As the study continued, however, the ratios of TV sets in the middle and lower income classes increased far more than did those in the upper income classes.

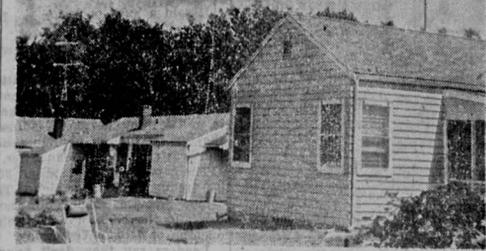

Figures Show Increase

Figures released in 1950 showed that the number of TV sets in the higher income brackets in "Videotown" had increased 10 fold, those in the middle class income group, by 20 fold, and those in the lower income brackets, by 30 fold.

Waisanen said in his opinion the same situation will probably develop in Iowa City should this territory become a "primary area" for TV reception.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A brush fire that swept over the Eagle Rock hills destroyed seven buildings, four of them substantial residences, before it was brought under control Monday.

Paul Hoffman Reports Unrest Inside Russia

PARIS (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman, former Marshall plan administrator, said Monday there are "definite signs of a great deal of unrest in Russia."

Recent intelligence reports also indicate that "all is not well" between Premier Josef Stalin and Mao Tze-Tung, the Chinese Communist leader, he said.

"Mao apparently is getting too independent for Stalin's good," Hoffman said in an interview. As president of the Ford foundation he is on a tour of Western Europe and the Middle East with five other officials of the foundation, a non-profit organization to aid under-developed areas of the world.

Hoffman drew a comparison between Russian rule and the one-time gangster rule in Chicago. "A government of tyranny includes the seeds of its own destruction, like the underworld monsters who once ruled Chicago," he said. He observed that the gangs which once dictated law in Chicago finally were eliminated with the help of gang warfare and internal struggle for power ending in the notorious St. Valentine's day massacre.

"In the same way there are definite signs of a great deal of unrest in Russia today," he said. "How do we know—five members of the politburo might now be waiting for the chance to break off."

But he warned that such signs could not be taken as an excuse for relaxing Western vigilance.

He said the move toward a truce in Korea did not represent a change in Russia's global strategy, but only in tactics.

"Russia's firmly announced goal is the enslavement of the entire world," he said. "Nevertheless there are strong indications that Russia would like to call of such a far-flung war in order to take care of possible disturbances at home."

"Western policy must be one of continued containment on the military front and simultaneous aggressive diplomatic and information programs."

"We must make our defense so strong that we can tell Stalin and Russia, 'you've failed in your program of world expansion, so quit all this monkey business.'"

Ava, Frankie Start Back from Vacation

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP)—Crooner Frank Sinatra started back to Hollywood with movie queen Ava Gardner Monday after touching off another scrap with newsmen covering his departure.

The singer, whose torrid romance with the twice-divorced Miss Gardner is said to have cooled off considerably, took off from this tropical port at 5:40 p.m. for Mexico City.

Pistol-carrying bodyguards of the former bobby sox idol threatened newsmen as Sinatra and Miss Gardner scrambled aboard the converted attack bomber of former Mexican baseball magnate Jorge Pasquel.

AS MUCH A FACTOR in the changing of Iowa City's skyline is the sprouting of television aerials throughout the city. The TV survey by Fred Waisanen, G. A. A. Mich., shows that there are now more than 400 TV sets in operation here, with a set in one out of every 18 homes, including SUI housing.

BY CHUCK LEEDHAM
IT'S AMAZING HOW LITTLE IT TAKES to make people gawp. Monday it definitely wasn't cold up here, and so I wore a pair of shorts to work and around town. Everywhere I was greeted with incredulous stares and cries of "safari!" and "woo woo."

Unless you've tried it (this is addressed to men only), you'll never know how cool shorts are. No sweaty pants flapping about. The women do it all the time and nobody objects in the slightest—so why not men? Unless, of course, knobby legs stand in the way of the project. If that worries you, just take a look at the ones on some of the coeds anking coyly down the street.

What'll it be now? Shorts and comfort, or propriety and perspiration?

YOU KNOW, OF COURSE, THAT the West Point football team has decided to drop the play known as the "quarterback sneak."

IT REALLY HAPPENED HERE, or at least so I'm told by an unimpeachable source. A professor of this institution decided once he'd like to try home-made wine, and went in search of a good book on the subject called, "American Wines and How to Make Them."

Try as he might, he could find the book in none of the local bookstores, and so at last was forced to have one of them send off to the publisher for a copy.

But the book was out of print and couldn't be laid hold of. So the publisher wrote back to the bookstore owner advising him of this sad state of things.

He, in turn, wrote a note and left it with the girl who took care of that sort of thing, asking her to call the prof and tell him the sad news. She called, and the professor's wife answered the phone.

It happened that the bookstore owner's handwriting was notoriously bad, and the girl had a hard time reading it. So—the prof's wife was understandably interested when the girl, in asking the Mrs. to tell the Prof what the name of the book was that her husband wanted, read it "wives" instead of "wines."

AND THEN THERE WAS THE TIME General MacArthur and wife Jean went to a monster rally, dance and dinner held in their honor at the Waldorf-Astoria.

They entered shortly after the festivities began, just as the band was playing the last bars of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Mac turned tenderly to Jean. "Darling, Listen," he said. "They're playing our song."

Mundt Urges U.S. Train Red Refugees as Spies

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Karl E. Mundt, (R-S.D.) proposed Monday that the United States train refugees from Communist countries in ways to undermine the Red regimes in their native lands.

He told the senate that the peoples behind the iron curtain must be persuaded that they can "better serve the cause of freedom" by working against the Communists at home rather than by fleeing to a free country.

"But for those who do seek refuge here," he said, "we should adopt a program for giving them training, so that eventually they can be returned to their homes under new names, new disguises—perhaps after plastic surgery— to help undermine the Communist tyranny in their native lands."

Mundt credited "Voice of America" broadcasts for the recent flight of several Polish youths to Sweden. The broadcasts do not urge individuals behind the iron curtain to flee their homeland, he said, but the incidents do prove the effectiveness of the "voice" program.

"They show that the voice is getting through to the heart of these peoples and stimulating them to seek freedom in other hands," he said. "They are an answer to those who argue that the voice is not getting through or is not effective."

Mundt, co-author of the law setting up the voice, urged the senate not to cripple the program by cutting its funds too drastically.

He also told the senate that plans are underway to see to it that more people behind the iron curtain are able to hear the voice broadcasts.

"There has been developed tiny radio receiving sets—not larger than a cigarette case—which can be easily dropped behind the iron curtain to oppressed peoples there and easily concealed on their persons," he said.

Ubricht spoke in East Berlin after western authorities disclosed that 15,000 of the Communist youth delegates have "played hooky" from the rally to visit the well-stocked grocery stores and clothing shops of West Berlin.

Some of the Communist youths covered their blue uniforms and defied East German police patrols to see for themselves the glittering shops in democracy's only show window behind the iron curtain. Western officials said 86 of the visitors had chosen to remain in the West and had requested political asylum.

West German authorities opened a drive to lure as many of the Communist youths as possible from the scheduled 15-day demonstration which began Sunday.

Movie houses offered free seats to the young Communists and professional entertainers offered to stage free shows for them. But the appeal of the stores proved stronger.

The Communist youths, many of whom had never eaten a banana, said the displays of shoes, dresses, toys and fresh fruit never were seen in the controlled shops of iron curtain countries.

Local Red Cross Has $548.90 Toward Goal

Contributions Monday totaled $548.90 toward the Johnson county Red Cross special appeal for $1,400 to aid flood disaster and relief in the Missouri and Kansas area.

Prof. Elmer Hills, chairman of the local Red Cross, urges contributions to be mailed to the Red Cross office at 15 1/2 S. Dubuque st.

Because of greater damage to homes and other damages additional money is needed for flood relief in these areas, Red Cross officials said.

Girl Scouts Visit Washington

A day as guests of Rep. and Mrs. Thomas E. Martin (R-Ia.) in Washington, D.C., highlighted a five-day tour of the nation's capital for 15 Iowa City Girl Scouts and their chaperones. The group, which is scheduled to return Thursday, traveled by chartered bus and visited Girl Scout camps along the way during a 12-day trip. On their way east they spent one night at a camp in Ft. Wayne, Ind., with Miss Mary Coulter, formerly an office assistant in the Iowa City Girl Scout office. They also stopped at a Wheeling, W. Va., scout camp.

From there they went to Rockford, national Girl Scout camp at Bethesda, Md., which they made their headquarters during the five-day tour of Washington. Returning by way of Richmond, Williamsburg and Charleston, Va., they will stay two days in a camp at White Sulphur Springs. This trip is the third the Girl Scouts of Iowa City have made. Last summer one group of scouts went to Denver and another went to Canada. Have Received Badge Girl Scouts going on the trip must have received their pioneer badge, Mrs. George Thomas of the local Girl Scout organization said.

Such trips are made to encourage senior scouting, she added. Next year the group hopes to make a trip to Mexico. Accompanying the girls on the trip were Mrs. Hugh Carson, Girl Scout executive director, Mrs. W. R. Johnson, Miss Kitty Nolan and Gaylord Graham, bus driver. Girl Scouts making the trip are Kate Ketelsen, Anne Holland, Karen Herrick, Barbara and Beverly Brown, Carol Houser, Kaye Stevens, Jean Helmer, Dolores Walljaspar, Carolyn Michel, Janet Olson, Carol Crawford, Shirley Kern, Mary Rocco and Audrey Thomas.

Vacationers Should Take Necessaries, Pack Carefully

Unless you want to be like the average vacationer, who packs a great many things she will not use and leaves behind a great many necessary items, you should take stock beforehand by thinking out exactly what you'll need.

But don't pack a week in advance. The idea is to arrive with your clothes looking crisp and fresh.

First, decide how many bags you need for your week or two of vacation. Two medium-sized suitcases or one large wardrobe case plus a cosmetics case should be adequate.

The cardinal rule in packing is to take what you need and nothing else.

Save Space

To save space, why not buy small dime-store containers of tooth paste, creams and deodorants or use small plastic containers into which you can transfer your cosmetics.

A few basic costumes which can be dressed up or down are the best bet. Lean heavily on accessories such as scarfs and jewelry and go easy on the shoes, which take up lots of space.

If you're carrying two full-size suitcases, it is a good idea to devote one to flat things—dresses, suits, shorts, etc. The other case could hold bulky items such as shoes and purses with all crevices filled with rolled belts, stockings and underwear.

Line Suitcase

For smooth, unwrinkled effects, line the bottom of the suitcase with lingerie. Place suit skirts on top of this, one side seam lined up with the back of the suitcase, the rest of the skirt folded twice—once lengthwise, then across the top.

Jackets should be buttoned and put into the suitcase horizontally, the collar toward the back, the sleeves lying over the sides and the balance hanging in front of you. The sleeves are then crossed over one toward the center, and the rest of the jacket folded once at the waist.

Miss Katherine Welter, Iowa City, was organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a champagne colored, off the shoulder, lace ballerina length dress with a net champagne colored duster. Her veil was of illusion net. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and an orchid.

Miss Dorothy Fitzpatrick, Iowa City, was maid of honor. She wore bronze-colored ballerina length dress with a headdress of yellow pom poms. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of bronze and yellow pom poms.

Following a reception at the Jefferson hotel, the couple left on two weeks' trip to Niagara Falls and North Bay, Canada. They will be at home at 4 S. Linn st.

The bride is a graduate of St. Paul Central High school, Burlington, and of the SUI college of nursing. She is a staff nurse at University hospitals.

Her husband is a graduate of Iowa City high school. He is now a senior in liberal arts at SUI.

The Rev. Frank L. Shaffer, vicar of St. Luke's Episcopal church, Cedar Falls, performed the double ring service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white starched lace ballerina-length dress with a matching short-sleeved duster and white accessories. She carried a summer bouquet of pink and white asters and violets.

Miss Carol Shoquist, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid. She wore a pale coral marquisette ballerina-length dress and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and white asters. Serving as crucifier was Steve Hulme, Iowa City.

Richard Yoakam, Cedar Rapids, was best man. Ushers were Robert Cosgriff, Harlan; Fred Hoar, Cedar Falls, and James E. Kennedy and Merrill Baker, Iowa City.

Boyle Denies Any Intention of Quitting

WASHINGTON (AP) — William M. Boyle Jr. said at the White House Monday he has no idea of quitting as Democratic national chairman.

He conferred with President Truman, in a 30-minute visit, before making the statement to reporters. The White House had no immediate comment of its own.

Boyle's name has been mentioned in connection with newspaper accounts of a $556,000 government loan to a St. Louis printing firm, and to a reported effort to gain control of a government-owned nickel plant in Cuba.

He declared Monday he hadn't used his influence in either and that he had always acted "honorably."

The accounts were published in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The newspaper said the printing firm loan was denied three times but approved after the firm hired Boyle. It added Boyle was paid $8,000 by the American Lithofold corporation, which borrowed the money from the reconstruction finance corporation.

Boyle said in an earlier statement that he had nothing to do with the loan. He said he drew $1,250 from the firm for legal services before he became executive vice president of the Democratic committee in 1949.

He branded Monday as a "fabrication" the story that he was involved in an effort to gain control of the Cuban nickel plant. The newspaper said those associated with Boyle were James E. Finnegan, then internal revenue collector for St. Louis; Rex Jacobs, Detroit manufacturer; and E. Merl Young of Washington.

Mrs. Jaggard to Talk At WCTU Luncheon

Mrs. Louis Jaggard, president of the Iowa City Women's Christian Temperance union will tell of her experiences as a missionary in the Belgian Congo at the group's cooperative luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. R. G. Popham, 324 MacLean st.

The North Liberty union will attend the meeting as guests in honor of Mrs. Jaggard, who leaves Monday to return to her work in the mission field. Mrs. Jaggard and her late husband spent 19 years in the Belgian Congo as missionaries before coming here in 1944.

Those who attend the meeting are asked to bring a covered dish, sandwiches and table service.

Mrs. Lloyd Howell will have charge of devotions. Others who wish to attend are also invited.

START AT BOTTOM

Home furnishing specialists recommend washing a wall at the bottom and then proceeding upward. This prevents streaking which occurs when water runs down over a soiled surface.

They also suggest using two cleaning pails. Fill one pail with soapy water, the other with rinse water.

Fashion-Wise — Separates Inspired by Work Clothes

The dictionary notwithstanding, "fall" is spelled "separates" by many co-eds and career girls. Fashion and budget-wise they've found they get full measure from separates.

This year they'll find an extra dividend in those done in exciting new winter-weight cottons. All the news that's fit—and fun—to wear abounds throughout these dramatic styles, reports the National Cotton council.

Designer Carolyn Schnurer's great sense of humor and her keen eye for down-to-earth styling have resulted in cotton separates inspired by working men's clothes. Black velveteen tapered slacks have a pocket belt, borrowed from the window cleaner.

Makes Jumper Butter-beige wide wale corduroy, worked horizontally, makes a harness-strap jumper; a track man's jacket with push-up sleeves is of black corduroy, and hobo pants, of chocolate brown velveteen. These have the biggest, squarest, stitched-on pocket ever seen on any pants!

Men's work clothes cottons are a new source of inspiration for women's styles. These down-to-earth cottons have been used by leading sportswear designers for distinctive sportswear — except for good news for the campus-bound and winter-weekend enthusiasts. Glen of Michigan, inspired by the "wide open spaces," has created a group of country-style clothes in true-blue work denim and heavy corduroy.

A western dungaree skirt, tapered britches and overall coat are in basic dark blue denim, stitched in beige. Butter beige corduroy is used for skirt, britches and trousers with peg-leg closing for the tapered look.

Group Is Versatile In more elegant, dark-striped work-clothes cotton, Korday has designed a versatile group that would be just as much at home in city or country.

A sheath skirt, high-necked vest, tapered slacks and corduroy-trimmed Peruvian jacket are styled to mix and match with another group in gold and black corduroy. Fact and fancy are combined in Loomings' exotic madras-type cotton separates. Dark, beautiful designs that are Moroccan inspired are woven in intricate bold stripes and geometric patterns and are used for a fitted jacket, a sleeveless blouse, and full, gathered skirts.

Printed, striped and stitched cotton corduroy is used, too, for a country-casual group. There are deep-toned frontier pants with white stitching; a gold sleeveless dress with black striping, and a perky, short-sleeved jacket in red and black horizontally-striped corduroy.

Top Blouses, Sweaters Cabana, too, uses the fun-plus-practicality formula. A gold corduroy poncho and man-tailored shirts in white pique, purple corduroy and black ric-rac-trimmed white cotton are designed to be worn over other blouses or sweaters.

Black-and-white checked cotton denim is news for classroom or office, in a full dirndl skirt.

Other traditional cottons, like the denim, have been styled for city or campus Black jet, criss-cross and soutache embroidery trim exciting brown, beige and rust corduroy skirts designed by Mary Blair.

Separates by Betsy Cann in tweed-patterned corduroy include a poncho, a jacket and several skirts; and Raissa Maskot uses exotic mosaic-printed velveteen for a blouse and skirt.

Lopez Surprised — Indians So Hot

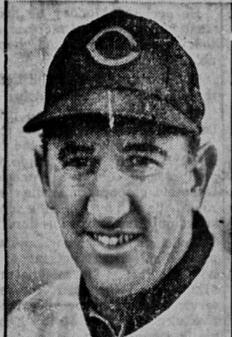

— Credits Pitching

CLEVELAND (AP) — In his own cautious way, Manager Al Lopez finally admitted Monday he had "no idea" his Cleveland Indians were so good.

"Sure," said Al, who took over for the discharged Lou Boudreau in the spring. "I knew it was a fine ball club. But I certainly wasn't confident we'd be as hot as this, a game from first."

"That's especially true of the pitching. Neither I nor anybody else had any idea Bob Feller would have such a great year. I figured him for 15 to 18 games. He's won 17 already."

"Also, I hoped for more from Bob Lemon (12-9). But look how well Mike Garcia (14-7), Early Wynn (11-11) and Steve Gromek (5-2) have come through."

Sox and gaining Brissie from the Athletics.

"Minnie the Masher" currently is leading the league with .344. The senior from Tampa, Fla., started talking carefully again, then insisted:

"It was a good deal all the way around, and that goes for Gus Zernial for Philadelphia. I can't say we'd be better or worse off having Mino and not Brissie."

"Funny thing about the Brissie deal. We got him with the idea of having a good starting lefthander to be used in spots, not in regular turns. But it worked out better than that."

"As a man to call in from the bullpen, he's saved at least 10 games for our regulars, even though he has a two victory-two loss record."

Like a race horse owner, Al will say only "We've got a good chance" if he is asked whether Cleveland will win the pennant.

Unlikely New Baseball Head to Be Elected Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Election of a new baseball commissioner at today's meeting of the 16 club owners appeared unlikely as the screening committee prepared final reports.

"We shouldn't elect a man just for the sake of having an election," said Ellis Ryan of Cleveland, a member of the committee.

In Washington, Del Webb of the New York Yankees said, "We are going to handle this thing very carefully and be sure the owners get the right kind of commissioner."

Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs and Lou Perini of the Boston Braves, National league committee members, were not available.

At least five men remained in the running for the big job, formerly held by Happy Chandler. But the committee is expected to present a slate containing some 30 to 35 names. Many will be rubbed out quickly.

Jim Farley, the former postmaster general, had growing support.

General Douglas MacArthur was a possibility. Among baseball men there were boosters for George Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (the minors); Ford Frick, president of the National league, and Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds.

Some of these same names were

FORT MADISON (AP) — Iowa City will be one of at least 13 teams which will play in the national VFW softball tournament which gets under way at Ft. Madison today.

Yankees Triumph, So Do White Sox

Yanks 4, Nats 0

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Tom Morgan and Gil McDougald teamed up to lead the league-leading New York Yankees to a 4-0 victory over the Washington Senators Monday night.

Morgan blanked the Senators on five hits to post his eighth straight victory of the year. McDougald drove home the Yanks' first three runs on his ninth homer and a fly ball. The shutout was Morgan's third.

Former Yankee Don Johnson battled Morgan on even terms until the fourth inning. With one out in the fourth Johnson fouled off Yogi Berra. Johnny Mize fouled out but McDougald followed with a homerun, his ninth of the season.

The Yanks loaded the bases with one out in the sixth. McDougald then flied out to drive in Bobby Brown with the third run. Morgan followed with a line drive that in-rookie shortstop Pete Runnels snared with a one-handed running catch. The Yanks scored their final run in the seventh on a triple by Gene Woodling and single by Bobby Brown.

Chisox 10, Tigers 1

DETROIT (AP) — Big Eddie Robinson smashed two homeruns, a double and a single to power the Chicago White Sox to a 10-1 win over the Detroit Tigers Monday night. Righthander Joe Dobson shackled the Tigers with five hits for his seventh win.

The White Sox hopped on loser Hal White, Gene Bearden and Hank Borowy for 15 hits, including three singles by Orestes Mino.

Dobson, 34-year old veteran, won his first game since the all-star game July 10th. He was the only White Sox hurler who hadn't won since then. The only run off him was Joe Ginsberg's eighth homer in the sixth inning.

Dobson faced only one batter over the limit in the first seven innings, three double plays cleaning runners off the bases.

Robinson sparked the Sox's four-run explosion in the third inning off White with his 18th homer into the lower right field stands to score Mino who had singled ahead of him.

Roy Coleman tripled, Al Zarilla walked, and Bud Sheely and Chico Carrasquel singled to produce the other two runs.

A crowd of 33,704 watched Robinson crash his 19th homer into the same stands for a run in the seventh inning.

Fired or Quit? Strader Out as Yanks Pro Football Coach

Red Strader

NEW YORK (AP) — Norman (Red) Strader is out as head coach of the New York football team, but the question arose Monday—was he or wasn't he fired?

"I most certainly was," said the little, red-haired former coach of St. Mary's (Calif.), who has been with the Yanks since 1946 and has led their professional grid fortunes since mid-season of 1948.

Strader said Ted Collins, owner of the National Professional Football league club, called him on the telephone last Wednesday and told him, in effect, he was through.

Collins, in Lake Placid, N.Y., insisted he was "completely shocked" by the news.

"I woke up this morning thinking Strader was my football coach," he said. "If he says he's out I suppose he's out, but I haven't fired him."

The well-known radio producer, an associate of singer Kate Smith, added that his football team is now working out in Ripon, Wis., and "we've got to have a coach."

Collins didn't say whom he might have in mind as a successor but rumors persisted that the job probably would go to Earl (Greasy) Neale, who was let out last Feb. 8 as coach of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Chandler offered four proposals for improving baseball and strengthening the authority of the office he lost this year when only nine of the 16 major league club owners backed him for a second term.

The first of those recommendations was abolition of the rule requiring 12 of the 16 votes to elect a commissioner. The others were:

To restore the commissioner's authority to set aside any rule adopted by the owners.

To give the commissioner the right to fire as well as hire the secretary-treasurer of organized baseball.

To allow the commissioner, rather than the league president, to name and assign umpires.

Chandler said he thought a third or even a fourth major league could be formed, or the present loops could be enlarged to 10 or 12 teams each instead of eight. As site possibilities for new major league teams he listed Los Angeles, Baltimore, Queens borough in New York, Milwaukee, Houston, Dallas, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

Subcommittee chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) triggered Chandler's comments on the present major club owners by asking if everything in baseball is "clean and wholesome."

The ex-commissioner hesitated a moment before replying that the players were in their trying and the umpires were giving a fair shake.

Red Blaik

HERE IS THE FIRST PICTURE of Army's football coach since the announcement last Friday of the dismissal of 90 cadets from West Point for breaking the school's honor system on examinations. Many of the dismissals are presumably members of the football team. There has been speculation that Blaik will resign but so far he has kept mum on the subject.

Radio, TV Will Kill Minors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Minor leagues President George Trautman said Monday that new restrictions must be placed on "over-abundant broadcasting" of major league baseball games or minor league clubs will fold for lack of attendance.

Trautman said minor league clubs cannot protect themselves adequately from radio and TV competition with their present right to broadcast major league games during the local club's actual playing time.

"When you hear in one afternoon four or five major league games broadcast in one little community," he said, "by the time our game starts in the evening everybody is a little tired of baseball."

He said the major and minor leagues are trying to work out an agreement on new broadcast limitations with the justice department. The department's consent is necessary to avoid prosecution under anti-trust laws — unless congress decides to exempt baseball.

The radio and TV industries and numerous broadcast sponsors also have a stake in the controversy, however.

U.S. Davis Cup Squad Positions Not Settled Yet

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Shields, non-playing captain of the United States' Davis cup forces, said Monday "no position on the team is cinched."

"We are still looking for the sure-fire winning combination that we hope can take the cup from Australia," he added. "We are giving everybody a chance. We want to pick the best possible team."

The United States has used six players already in routing Japan and Mexico and will try a seventh man, Budge Patty of Los Angeles, this weekend in the American zone finals against Canada at Montreal.

The four-man team, including Dick Savitt, Tony Trabert and Art Larsen in addition to Patty, planned northward Monday.

Meanwhile, a mild protest came from Gardner Mulloy, 37-year-old Davis cup veteran from Coral Gables, Fla., who was named on the original squad this year but who hasn't been tapped for action.

"Sure, I'm hurt at being left off the team," he said. "I guess when you're off, you're off. But I can't understand Patty being picked for the Canadian matches. If anything, he needs the competition at Newport more than anyone."

Mulloy referred to the invitation tournament this week at Newport, R.I., where other leading players outside the cup team will be in action.

Savitt, Trabert, Bill Talbert and Herbie Flam of Los Angeles were used against Japan. Flam teamed with Larsen and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia to score a 5-0 verdict over Mexico last weekend.

Larsen and Savitt probably will play singles against Canada with Patty and Trabert teaming in doubles.

Billy Joe Davidson Leaves Cedar Rapids

CEAR RAPIDS (AP) — Billy Joe Davidson, reportedly the highest priced bonus rookie in history, took a step down the baseball ladder Monday.

The Cedar Rapids club of the class B Three-I league announced that Davidson has been sent to Ft. Smith, Ark., another Cleveland farm club, in the class C Western association.

The decision to drop Billy Joe one classification was reached after a conference with Herald "Muddy" Ruel, Cleveland farm director who was in Cedar Rapids over the weekend.

Billy Joe went the nine-inning route only once for Cedar Rapids. He defeated Waterloo, 8-4, on that occasion for his only win against four losses. In 54 innings he gave 51 hits and 58 walks while fanning 26.

Are TV Casters Too Glib?

NEW YORK (AP) — Sports announcers who came over from radio used to be criticized for talking too much on television, but have they now swung too far in the other direction?

It's irksome to the TV viewer to get a wordy description of what he has just seen perfectly well for himself. But some sports fans now find that if they tune in late on a ball game, for instance, they may have to sweat it out a quarter hour or so before learning the score. Or they may listen in vain for a fill-in on something that happened outside camera range or that was difficult to follow on the screen.

Mel Allen operates on the theory that there's a happy medium, and goes ahead announcing for both radio and TV at the same time. His fan mail indicates his descriptions are adequate for his radio listeners without being tiresome or repetitious to video viewers, with less than one-half of 1 per cent complaining that he talks too much.

"The amount of talking on television should be based on the mechanical ability of the camera to cover the action," relates the veteran sportscaster who has covered 11 all-star games and six world series.

It also depends on the sport, television's cameras can do a complete job on some things, others, says Allen who covers Yankee games on a 30-station radio network and home games on TV as well.

"In baseball," he relates, "you may see on your screen the pitcher, the batter, the catcher and one of the infielders. There are two or three men on the ball is hit to the outfield, the camera has the choice of following the ball or the runners."

"Also things may be going on your screen — or a player out of your view may be shifting his defensive position."

"And how many times," asks, "have you gone to a ball game and seen a person in a program with the players' numbers, then when a play starts he turns around and asks you 'had the ball?'"

Using that as a guide in covering football for TV, Allen figures the person at home knows less far less than the fan in the stands with a program in his hands.

Jacobs Northwest Golf Champ; Crabbe 7th

SPENCER (AP) — John Jacobs of Cedar Rapids Monday won the Northwest Iowa Amateur golf championship for the fourth consecutive time.

Jacobs closed out the last 36 holes in 138 strokes to finish the 72-hole test in 278, ten under par. In second place was Jim English of Red Oak, who slipped to 39 on the final nine holes and wound up with 280.

In all, six golfers finished with scores of even par or below. After English came Jack Webb, Spirit Lake, 281; Max Hall, Boone, 283; Phil Donohue, Sioux City, 286; and Fred Gordon, Belmond, 288.

SUI's Tom Crabbe, shot a 149 Monday, five over par, to slip to a 289 total after leading Sunday.

Chandler Blasts Baseball Owners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler said Monday that some "very new, very rich" major league club owners "don't know where first base is" and the game would be better off without them.

Chandler, recently deposed when he failed to obtain support of the required three-fourths of the owner, said the unidentified club owners consider baseball an industry rather than a sport.

"It will be a sad day when the American public gets that idea," the former commissioner told the house monopoly investigating subcommittee in a free-swinging attack on his ex-bosses. The lawmakers are studying whether baseball should be exempt from the anti-trust laws.

Chandler also criticized the owners for their opposition to a third major league and suggested a survey to see what could be done about the problem. But he backed them on the controversial reserve clause on grounds it is necessary to prevent chaos.

He pulled no punches in his criticism of baseball's present owners.

"These 16 major league club owners think they own baseball," Chandler said. "They don't own baseball. They're just fortunate they own one of the franchises. They're going to have a hard time weaning me away from the idea that the American people own the game."

"I'm not going to pass now on the character and conduct of own-

Iran Oil Talks Open As Shah Asks Calm

TEHRAN, IRAN (UP) — The vital Anglo-Iranian oil negotiations opened Monday night as the Shah of Iran called on his people to remain calm and police and troops herded demonstrating Communists outside the city limits.

British negotiators, headed by Sir John Gollan, met with the Iranian delegation for one hour in the Saheb Garmeh palace here.

One of the Iranian delegates, Sen. Matin Dastari, told reporters the meeting was a preliminary, "preliminary" session, and that formal bargaining would begin to-morrow.

A British delegation spokesman said Monday night's preliminary discussions "were held in a friendly atmosphere," and a delegation spokesman said the negotiators decided points of procedure.

The spokesman said both sides recognized the need of improving relations between Britain and Iran and recognized that a solution must be found "as soon as possible, not only for the two parties but for the whole world in order to get oil moving."

Shah Mohammed Beza Pahlavi made his appeal to the nation in a special radio broadcast marking the 46th anniversary of the Iranian constitution. It was his first public reference to Iran's nationalization of the big British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil company.

The Shah urged cooperation and calm, "which are essential for implementing the reforms." He added:

"Just as the Iranian nation, in its fullness, has safeguarded its harmony, so it must act in the future with reserve and discretion in order always to attain success."

As the Shah made his appeal, nationalists charged the government with "selling out" to the British and planned a demonstration in downtown Parliament square.

Communists joined in the attack and several thousand of them tried to hold a protest meeting in Tehran's Ferdowsi square.

But police and armed troops rushed to the square and herded the demonstrators outside the city limits. The Communists put up no opposition but assembled on the city limits. The Communists shouted, "Down with American imperialism" and called for W. Averell Harriman, U.S. special oil envoy, to get out of the country.

President Vetoes Pension Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Monday vetoed proposals (1) to increase pensions of war veterans disabled by non-military causes and (2) to grant broader pensions to some veterans' widows. He figured the first proposal would cost the government $16.7 million for the first year alone. It would have increased some pensions from $60-$72 a month to $120.

Compensation for veterans disabled as a result of military service is not affected.

The other bill he vetoed would have removed dependency as a requirement for payment of non-service-connected death pensions to widows of veterans they married some 20 to 40 years after the wars in which they fought. Those conflicts were the Civil War, Indian wars, Spanish American War, the Boxer Rebellion and Philippine Insurrection.

McCarran Urges Diplomatic Break

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) Monday urged a break in diplomatic relations with all Communist countries.

He also asked expulsion of Russia and its satellites from the United Nations, and all-out propaganda warfare aimed at overthrowing the Soviet government from within.

In a brilliant senate speech the Nevada senator charged the present United States propaganda campaign against Communists "was foredoomed because it was geared to appeasement of the enemy."

It is past time, McCarran declared, to "throw off all inhibitions" and generate "a revolution against the powers of medieval darkness now ruling over one-third of the human race."

He said masses of suppressed peoples in Communist nations are American allies, "our secret weapon."

McCarran, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, also urged a break in commercial relations with all Communist countries. He said his program would create "fear and panic" in Communist ruling circles.

Senator Demands McCarthy Resign

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. William Benton, (D-Conn.) demanded Monday that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, (R-Wis.) resign his seat and urged the senate to consider expelling him if he refuses.

McCarthy promptly refused with the comment that "it is lucky for this country that Connecticut's mental midget does not run the senate."

Benton introduced a resolution directing the senate rules committee to investigate McCarthy's role in last year's Maryland senate race and "other acts with a view toward expulsion."

Under the constitution, the senate may expel one of its members by a two-thirds vote. The drastic machinery has rarely been invoked since the Civil war.

Benton said in a senate speech that the only way in which McCarthy could "make amends to the people of Wisconsin and his colleagues in the senate" is by resigning voluntarily. But he predicted that McCarthy would refuse.

McCarthy was not in the chamber when Benton delivered his surprise speech, but issued an angry statement to reporters a short while later.

He said the out-McCarthy resolution would make Benton "the hero of every Communist and crook in and out of the government."

McCarthy said that all he did in the Maryland campaign was to "expose the whitewash of Communists in government" by attacking ex-Sen. Millard E. Tydings, (D-Md.), who conducted an investigation of McCarthy's charges that the state department is Red-infiltrated. The Tydings group found McCarthy's charges were "a fraud and a hoax."

In an implied threat to take up the campaign cudgels against Benton in like manner when he is up for re-election next year, McCarthy said:

"Benton will learn that the people of Connecticut do not like Communists and crooks in government any more than people of Maryland like them."

McCarthy asserted that Benton, a former assistant secretary of state, "worked hand in glove with the crimson clique who have been so bad for America and so good for Communist Russia."

"The exact number that he personally brought into government is not fully known at this time," he said.

"No wonder he squeals and screams in panic as the McCarran (senate internal security) subcommittee starts to uncover some of them."

Senate Republican Leader Kenneth S. Wherry (Neb.) was the only senator who answered Benton on the floor.

Mrs. Coral Petsel Held in Missouri On Murder Charge

Mrs. Coral E. Petsel, 28, formerly of the Iowa City area, was held for trial in Columbia, Mo., Monday on a charge of first degree murder in the drowning death of her daughter, Louise Dawn, 4, at the farm home near Columbia July 9.

Authorities said Mrs. Petsel admitted last Wednesday that she drowned the child. A coronor's jury, concluding a delayed investigation of death, returned a verdict of homicide the next day.

Mrs. Petsel gained a delay of several hours because she changed from an attorney selected by her mother to one engaged by her husband, Joseph.

When her new attorney, Don Carter of Sturgeon, was ready to proceed with the case this afternoon, the prosecution offered transcripts of the inquest testimony.

She was held without bond for trial in the Boone county circuit court.

Mrs. Petsel was involved in a kidnap hoax about two years ago. The Petsels moved from their farm home near Iowa City last March.

Egypt Will Not Support Britain If War Comes

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Foreign Minister Mohammed Salah El Din Bey declared Monday that Egypt and "other Arab states" will not support Great Britain in the event of a third world war.

He announced also a wildly-cheering chamber of deputies that Egypt will abrogate the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936 before the end of the year.

Salah El Din said British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison "assured commons that Egypt would stand alongside Britain in the event of World War III. These are dreams and illusions. We warned the British that we will not participate with them in any military effort as long as British troops remain on our soil."

"This stand will also be taken by other Arab states which are either occupied by the British or have been jeopardized in Palestine by the British."

He did not elaborate on the statement about "other Arab states."

The speech, broadcast nationwide, touched off cheering demonstrations by workers and students. Hundreds of demonstrators gathered outside the parliament building, shouting approval of the government's stand.

Salah El Din told the national chamber of deputies that Egypt would not accept the presence of British troops on Egyptian soil regardless of any threat of another world war.

He said the 1936 treaty, under which Britain maintains troops in Egypt and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan was separated from Egypt, would be abrogated before King Farouk delivers the next speech from the throne toward the end of 1951.

Salah El Din's statement came in a prepared statement to six questions on the Anglo-Egyptian treaty talks and the United Nations security council debate on the alleged blockade of the Suez canal.

Salyer Pleads Innocent to Murder Charge

CEDAR RAPIDS, IA. (AP) — Webster Salyer, 33, Alburnett, pleaded innocent Monday to a first degree murder charge in the fatal shooting of his brother-in-law.

He entered the plea after District Judge Floyd Philback turned down a defense motion to set aside the county attorney's information charging him with murder. The defense made its motion on the grounds that Salyer was deprived of his due rights when the county attorney bypassed the grand jury.

Police said Salyer admitted shooting Charles Johnson, 24, during a family argument July 20 in a cramped three-room trailer at Alburnett.

Defense Atty. L. M. Hullinger filed a motion for a bill of particulars in the case. The court suggested he discuss the matter with County Atty. Willis Glasgow.

The two attorneys were ordered to meet in court today if they were unable to get together on a bill of particulars. Hullinger indicated in his motion that he wanted to see the murder weapon and pictures taken at the scene of the shooting.

Salyer, a blacksmith, was returned to county jail without bond. No date was set for his trial.
