734 Receive Degrees Wednesday

FACING THE FUTURE, part of the 734 SUI degree candidates listened Wednesday night as President Virgil M. Hancher delivered a speech expressing his faith in the university at the annual summer commencement. An estimated 3,000 persons watched the graduation ceremonies in the field house.

Hancher Affirms Faith in SUI At Summer Commencement

President Virgil M. Hancher affirmed his faith in SUI Wednesday night in his charge to 734 degree candidates at the summer commencement in the field house. Approximately 3,000 persons attended the ceremonies.

Mr. Hancher, who last fall completed 10 years as head of SUI, quoted figures to show the size and growth of the university from its small beginnings.

He added, however, "Statistics tell nothing of the intangible qualities of the institution, nothing of its hopes or fears, nothing of its uniqueness."

First and most important among SUI's significant qualities and characteristics, the President said, is that it has attempted to bring to fulfillment the hopes and aspirations of its founders: a free and open society in which opportunity shall be based upon merit and character rather than upon class or caste.

Mr. Hancher said that "other universities have more faculty and students, more costly buildings, more extensive grounds and greater operating budgets" but that they are not necessarily greater "unless they possess other intangible qualities and characteristics which are more inspiring than our own."

The President cited the "unusual amount" of interdependent cooperation at SUI, its concern with graduate and professional instruction and research and its liberal arts program as basic characteristics of SUI.

Mr. Hancher's charge to the candidates was the only address given at the ceremonies. Exclusion of a commencement speaker was made in order to reduce the length of the program.

The number of students receiving degrees was more than 100 less than the summer commencement record of 853 posted last year.

Daily Iowan to Print Tabloid Until Sept. 18

Beginning with this issue and continuing until Tuesday Sept. 18, The Daily Iowan will be published in this present tabloid form.

On Sept. 18, coincident with return of students for fall registration, The Daily Iowan will return to its traditional standard size.

Truman Repeats Request For Flood Control Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman asked congress Wednesday for more money to control floods, particularly in the mid-west. He described as "false economy" a house cut in his previous request.

No sooner had his words reached the capitol than several house Republicans said in a statement they "noted with amazement and regret" that the president "has tried to make a political issue of flood control." Mr. Truman said on Monday that midwestern flood control depended upon the election of more "forward-looking, liberal-minded members of congress."

In a letter to chairman Kenneth McKellar (D-Tenn.) of the senate appropriations committee, the president requested that $60,355,100 be restored to his initial request for $328,365,000, and that an additional $21,800,000 be allotted.

The extra $21,800,000 would provide work on the Tuttle creek and Toronto dams in Kansas, the Oolagah dam in Oklahoma, local flood protection work at Hutchinson and Wichita, Kan., bank stabilization work on the Arkansas river, and for levee work on the Mississippi river between Wood River, Ill., and East Cape Girardeau, Ill.

"The recent flood disaster in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, and Illinois has shown the immense damage that can result from a single flood situation," Mr. Truman wrote McKellar. "The cuts made by the house will simply increase the risk that other floods, like the one that culminated in the disaster in the Kansas river basin three weeks ago, will catch us unprepared."

Mr. Truman asked in his budget request last January for $328,365,000 for flood control. The house voted $268,009,900 when passing a bill including funds for both flood control and rivers and harbors work.

That bill is before the senate. The White House said that $4,100,000 of the requested $21,800,000 was for work coming under the classification of rivers and harbors improvement rather than flood control.

Military Notes War Danger In Asking Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house heard members assert Wednesday that there is "only a minimum hope" of averting world war and that the threat is so close that American military supply bases in Europe are being pulled back from natural Russian invasion routes.

Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex.) chairman of the appropriations subcommittee which has charge of military budgets, sounded the "minimum hope" warning at the opening debate on a $56,062,405,800 armed services supply bill.

Rep. Robert Sikes (D-Fla.) followed up with the report on supply placement.

There was no indication, however, that their words had created any major sensation among lawmakers accustomed to grave warnings when military money bills are up for action.

At one time, Sikes said, supplies were concentrated at points "along the natural invasion route which the Russians almost certainly would follow in case of an attack."

The materials now are being assembled "in much safer areas" away from the Russian zone, Sikes said.

Truman Asks Aid To Chiang Kai-Shek

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman wants to invest $307 million in Chiang Kai-Shek and his Nationalist Chinese on Formosa, it was learned from senate sources Wednesday.

The senate's foreign relations and armed services committees have been asked to approve $217 million in military aid for the Nationalists and $90 million in economic assistance during fiscal 1952, which started July 1.

The administration has included the amounts in its $3.5 billion military and economic aid program now being considered by the committees. Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), who favors the idea, said the money would be used to strengthen strategic Formosa's defenses rather than to prepare the Nationalists for an aggressive war against the Communists who have taken over China proper.

Smith said Mr. Truman's decision to help the Nationalists represents "quite a change in the administration's thinking from the time, 18 months ago, when the President announced there would be no more military aid for Chiang Kai-Shek's forces."

At that time the administration had disassociated itself from Chiang. The Korean war changed the picture, bringing renewed demands from Republicans and others that Chiang be aided.

A staff report to the senate's special subcommittee on foreign economic cooperation cautioned Wednesday that if any further aid is given to Chiang Kai-Shek there should be "aggressive United States administration of the aid to insure that the U.S. taxpayer gets what he is paying for."

The report was released by Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), subcommittee chairman. It was prepared by a staff member of the group after a six-week tour of the Far East.

SUI Employees To Be Paid Aug. 31

SUI employees will enjoy an early pay day this month, Fred W. Ambrose, business manager, announced Wednesday.

Checks will be available Friday, Aug. 31, in order to get them out before the long Labor day weekend.

Ordinarily, SUI pays on the first week day of the month. With the new policy of closing university offices on Saturday, and the Labor day holiday on Monday, the regular pay day would have been delayed until Tuesday.

Victim of Cicero Riot Blames Chief of Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Harvey E. Clark Jr., Wednesday blamed the police chief of Cicero, Ill., for inciting the riot which was touched off last month when he tried to move his family into an all-white apartment building.

The 29-year-old Negro bus driver, his wife and two children arrived en route to Norwalk, Conn., where they will be the guests of honor today during United Nations day ceremonies.

"Those wonderful people in Norwalk have offered us a house, where we would rather stay," the World War II air force veteran said, "but we will move back into the Cicero apartment as a matter of principle."

Clark said he and his family will return to Cicero as soon as the Illinois grand jury investigating the July 12 riot of an estimated 3,000 persons returns a verdict. He said Police Chief Ervin Konvsky "manhandled us" when his family tried to move its furniture into the 22-unit apartment building.

"He said he was not going to jeopardize the lives of others living in the apartment for the likes of me and booted me into the gutter," Clark said.

He told me not to come back or real trouble would start.

"I believe that the police chief and other officials of Cicero were responsible for the riot," he said.

Clark, a graduate of Fish university in Nashville, Tenn., said reports that the mob violence was led by Communists are, in his opinion, false.

PORTUGAL'S ROLE IN Thwarting COMMUNISM

Geographic Position Believed a Big Military Asset for NATO

NEARLY ONE MILLION tons of mutual defense assistance have been shipped by the U.S. to Portugal.

(Sixth in a series of 12 articles on the North Atlantic Treaty organization and its role in strengthening the free world.

By H. D. CRAWFORD
WASHINGTON — Portugal never has recognized the Soviet regime in Russia. Tensions between Portugal and Russia began many years ago. Portugal opposed Russia's membership in the League of Nations. Feelings were not improved when Russia participated in the Spanish Civil war. Portugal today is not a member of the United Nations because the USSR vetoed Portugal's proposed membership.

Portugal is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty organization, however, and its spokesmen indicate that in 1951 Portugal is devoting 28 per cent of its national budget to defense.

COMMUNISM is outlawed in Portugal. Any Communist activities there are underground. Portuguese police occasionally raid a Communist secret gathering and make arrests.

Portugal's potential contributions to NATO are numerous. Probably the most important are its military facilities and its geographic position. It is the westernmost nation of continental Europe, sharing the Iberian peninsula with Spain and fronting on the Atlantic ocean.

Although part of continental Europe, Portugal is included in the Interim Committee Holds Meetings

DES MOINES (AP)— The Iowa budget and financial control (legislative interim) committee announced late Wednesday after two days of executive sessions that it had taken up three matters with two state agencies.

State Senator Jay C. Colburn (R-Harlan), committee chairman, said separate interviews with three representatives of the state tax commission and two of the state auditor's office pertained to:

1. The advisability of assigning employes of the state auditor's office to full-time auditing at the tax commission offices and the state liquor control commission offices. Action on this was deferred.

2. A recent audit report by the auditor's office of tax commission activities for the year ended June 30, 1950. The audit criticized some commission practices but reported no shortages of funds.

3. "Tax commission problems and proposed changes in commission accounting procedure." Colburn declined to go into any details on these.

Atlantic ocean region of NATO. It is separated from the Western European bloc of NATO nations by Spain and high mountains.

Portugal repeatedly has taken the position that her neighbor, Spain, should be a member of NATO, to close up the geographic and strategic gap between the Iberian peninsula and NATO's Western European nations.

When Portugal's Foreign Minister Jose Caeiro da Matta signed the North Atlantic treaty in Washington in 1949, he said significantly: "My country, in accepting the invitation extended to her to take her place among the original participating nations in the Atlantic Pact, and not—I can affirm—concerned exclusively with considerations of her own security; she did so much more because of her recognition of the need of giving her co-operation to this great effort."

"It can be said there is now being repeated around the shores of the Atlantic—and on a much vaster scale—the picture which the ancient peoples knew at the time when the finest conquests of the human mind and the highest exponents of civilization were centered in the small but fertile area of the classical world."

"Portugal wishes to assert that she sees in the North Atlantic pact not only an instrument of defense and international co-operation, but also, for the reasons and for the aims which govern it, a precious instrument for peace."

LATER when Portugal's Prime Minister Salazar addressed his nation's national assembly on "Portugal and the Atlantic pact." He warned that the Western powers' policy had "brought the Russian armies to the heart of Europe and to the regions wherefrom the whole continent can be subjugated."

Western civilization can be defended from Russia's exploitation and its victory only "by the organization of the opposing forces, both in the military and economic and in the moral fields," he asserted.

"The initiative of the United States and Canada in promoting the North Atlantic pact," he added, "brought the indispensable support of force to some such European defense efficiency, at the same time that it was sought to revive the respective economy through the rendering of direct aid with American capital and technical resources."

Portugal's prime minister coined this summary of the situation: "... the support of the United States has become necessary to the security of the countries bordering the North Atlantic to the same extent that the various Atlantic positions have become necessary to American defense."

PORTUGAL calls up yearly a new class of about 30,000 recruits under its long existing compulsory military training. Since male citizens are subject to military service between the ages of 20 and 45, Portugal has 25 classes of military-trained citizens.

Portugal's regular army equipment has been acquired during the last decade, and this is being modernized. Its air force has some hundreds of military and naval planes of World War II types. Although the air force has no jets, Portuguese pilots are being trained in the United States to operate jets.

Portugal's important facilities include some excellent airfields, including some in the Azores, harbors, widely separated Portuguese colonies and a strategic position on the western coast of Europe. Equally important to NATO are the convictions of Portugal's leaders that co-operative security alone can protect the free world from the cancerous creep of Russian Communism.

SEEMS LIKE A VERY CONSIDERATE MOVE on the part of the local theater, bringing "The West Point Story" to town just in time for finals. Probably were plenty of good tips in the picture.

THE TIME HAS COME, the Walrus is alleged to have said. This is the last, the end, the finis of "It's Cold Up Here." But it's still cold, and probably will stay that way for some time to come.

The name of the column, for those who tuned in after the first installment, came from my being a tall guy and having heard an unending tintinabulation, over the years of, "How's the weather up there?"

The stock answer, as exemplified by the frigid not-so-midjet sticking through the clouds in the upper corner is, "It's cold up here."

THIS BUSINESS OF EDUCATION IS A long one, but eventually it comes to the end. And comes to the end the years of living in a little room and eating in restaurants where they love you until you're finished eating and someone else is waiting for the table.

But I guess you can't blame them. Think of all the times you've their neck and making not-very-well-concealed whispers to whoever stood behind someone at a crowded lunch counter, breathing down you're with that you wish some people would be considerate enough not to dawdle.

And then when you're finally in position, you mutter to yourself about the guy standing behind you in turn, and take maybe a minute extra over the coffee just to show him you're not going to be rushed through the meal you've paid for.

It's a funny world, this, with funny people in it. And none of us are immune to it.

SO IT COMES TO THE END, of classes and mild jokes and shaggy dogs and antichoke hearts and things of that sort. And shaggy dogs. Rover had quite a career in the column. I thought for a while the last possible switch had been pulled on that pore old hound, but here, to end things up in grand style, is a late entry. Better sit down before you go on.

AFTER HIS MANY ADVENTURES with Sir Lancelittle, Rover became old and decrepit and when Sir L. got chewed by a recalcitrant-type dragonfly, Rover became the King's dog.

And so it happened one time that the King took a disliking to a certain knight and decided he'd have him punished, but with Sir L. gone, he had to turn to one of his loyal knouters.

(A knouter, you may remember, is a burly type who carts about with him a knout, and knouts people with it. A knout, if you still have your notes from that required course in Medieval Belanise Architecture, is a club-like device vaguely resembling a shillelagh.)

Knouter," quoth the King. "I want this guy worked over good. Sir Desmond, I mean. And if you do a good job you shall have my dog as a reward."

The knouter took a quick gander at pore Rover, all bleary, ragged and shaggy with age.

"Hah!" he snarled. "I wouldn't knout a knight 't' earn a dog like this."

Iowa Man Named to Post In Washington Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Granville K. Thompson, Lamoni, Ia., has been appointed specialist for college business management in the division of higher education of office of education.

He will succeed George E. Van Dyke, who has become assistant comptroller of George Washington university here.

Kohler Says No

MADISON (AP)— Gov. Walter Kohler said Wednesday he would not accept an invitation to debate "McCarthyism" at a Dane county Democratic picnic Sunday.

"I have other commitments Sunday and could not attend," Kohler said.

McCarthy's Election Role Hit In Okayed Senate Group Report

WASHINGTON (UP)—The senate rules committee approved by a 9 to 3 vote Wednesday a report sharply criticizing the 1950 election campaign of Sen. John M. Butler, (R-Md.) and the role played in it by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, (R-Wis.).

At the same time, and by the same vote, it called on an elections subcommittee to "study" a resolution by Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.) to investigate McCarthy's conduct with a view toward expelling him from the senate.

McCarthy and Sens. Kenneth S. Wherry, (R-Neb.), and William E. Jenner, (R-Ind.), voted against both moves. Seven Democrats and Republican Sens. Robert C. Hendrickson, (N.J.), and Margaret Chase Smith, (Me.), voted for the actions.

McCarthy asked for 10 days in which to file a dissenting minority report on the Maryland election campaign. He said he was "not certain" whether Wherry and Jenner will join him in the report.

The subcommittee which will consider Benton's oust-McCarthy resolution is the same one which investigated the Maryland campaign and wrote the report approved Wednesday.

The report said Butler's campaign against former Sen. Millard E. Tydings, (D-Md.), was "destructive of fundamental American principles" and that McCarthy was a "leading and potent force" in it.

The subcommittee did not challenge Butler's right to his seat, but recommended that the senate change its rules to allow for expulsion of any senator—not just the one involved in a race—who is found guilty of dirty work in a campaign.

Subcommittee chairman Guy M. Gillette, (D-Ia.), said he has "no plans" at present for public hearings on Benton's resolution. Benton has appealed for such hearings, which could evolve in to an informal investigation of McCarthy.

Rules Committee Chairman Carl Hayden, (D-Ariz.), said the subcommittee was given "no directions" on what to do about Benton's resolution, and that he was making "no predictions" on what it will do.

If the subcommittee decides—with or without preliminary hearings—that a full-fledged investigation of McCarthy is warranted, the proposal would have to be approved by majority votes of both the full rules committee and the full senate.

A recommendation to expel McCarthy would require a two-thirds senate vote for approval, and even Benton's supporters concede that this is extremely unlikely.

U.S. Will Sign Pacific Treaty

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States, New Zealand, and Australia will sign a mutual security treaty guarding against Pacific aggression in San Francisco on Sept. 1, it was announced Wednesday.

The pact provides that each country would "meet the common danger" in accordance with its own constitutional processes in event of an armed attack in the Pacific area.

The treaty was developed to meet fears of Australia and New Zealand of Japan. But its terms would require collective action in event of aggression from any quarter against the three countries or their Pacific possessions.

The pact will be signed in advance of the Japanese peace treaty conference which begins in San Francisco on Sept. 4. The two treaties will be followed by the signing of a defense pact between Japan and the U.S.

The American-Australian-New Zealand pact also provides for creation of a foreign ministers' council "able to meet at any time." It suggests that later the three-way treaty could be developed into "a more comprehensive system of regional security in the Pacific area."

Reds Still . . .

pearance of combat-armed red troops at Kaesong five days ago.

It was the Red attempt to minimize the importance of the neutrality violation that led Ridgway to reject an official Communist explanation of the incident last Monday.

The last nine sessions of the suspended talks had been deadlocked over a basic issue—where to draw a line for a buffer zone between opposing red and U.N. forces.

The Allies sought a line along the present fighting front while the Reds insisted it be drawn along the 38th parallel. Neither side appeared willing to compromise on the point, when 140 Red troops suddenly appeared within 100 yards of the truce meeting last Saturday. The Allied negotiators then were withdrawn.

However, Ridgway sent four cease-fire delegates back to Korea Wednesday after secret conferences in Tokyo. They were to resume the talks on one condition. That was "complete compliance" by the Communists "with your guarantee of neutralization of the Kaesong area."

Ridgway asked North Korean Gen. Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, the top Communists, to acknowledge his condition.

Even if the Reds should give Ridgway an acceptable answer, it was believed unlikely the talks could be resumed before Friday.

Railroads Receive Permission to Hike Freight Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The railroads Wednesday got authority to increase freight rates again, by about $548 million a year—but only for a limited period.

Rejecting an industry plea for a permanent, general 15 per cent increase in charges, the interstate commerce commission instead granted a 9 per cent hike within the east and 6 per cent within the south and west.

It stipulated that on all freight moving between these three territories, the increase may not exceed the 6 per cent applied to the major portion of the country.

The changes may be made on 15 days' notice to the public and may also be adopted by water carriers subject to ICC jurisdiction.

The authority for the higher rates will expire Feb. 28, 1953, and ICC reserved the right to re-examine its action any time between now and then.

The 6 to 9 per cent increases will replace the temporary increases of 4 per cent in the east and 2 per cent elsewhere which ICC authorized last March when the railroads said emergency action was required to meet mounting wage and materials costs.

The greater increase the eastern railroad, the commission said, was in recognition of the lower earnings of those lines in recent years, as compared to southern and western systems.

The action was not directly related to the separate proceeding in which ICC is seeking at least a partial rate equalization for the whole country. However, officials noted that the two scales authorized, following a pattern established in some previous postwar rate cases, would tend to narrow existing differences between the east and the remainder of the country.

NEW IOWA LEGION COMMANDER — Dudley Weible, of Forest City, who was elected Iowa state commander of the American Legion at its convention here Wednesday, gets his commander's head dress straightened by his wife.

New Iowa Legion Chief States Program

DES MOINES (AP) — Dudley Weible, a Forest City, Ia., attorney, is the new state commander of the American Legion.

Weible, a former Winnebago county attorney, was elected at Wednesday's closing session of the 33rd annual convention of the Iowa department of the legion.

As state commander, Weible will head 99,992 American Legion members in the state.

A five-point program for the coming year was reported Wednesday night by the new commander. The major points: A step-up in the hospital visitation program with paid workers to check in veterans hospitals.

benefits youths derive from living in this nation.

Continued fight for preparedness on the basis that "we have an avowed enemy and the American people are getting complacent."

Insistence that the Legion members do more work in the rehabilitation of disabled veterans.

Small Change Nickels Will Buy Arm For Playmate

PITTSBURGH (AP) — All the kiddies stopping in at a neighborhood grocery store in Pittsburgh today aren't buying candy — they're dropping their nickels and dimes in a box to help buy a new arm for a playmate.

Twelve-year old Janet Cooper does not know of the collection, and her friends say they won't tell her until they've realized their goal of $1,000.

Last Wednesday Janet was hurt in a fall from a swing at a park. Her right arm became infected. It had to be amputated Saturday.

Bonnie Balach, 13, Danie Brunero, and Delores Kascak, gathered in Balach's confectionery last Monday to "get something nice for Betty."

Someone suggested an artificial arm would be the best gift of all. Parents of the trio started the fund and the proprietor of the confectionery provided a cardboard box for donations.

The milkman stopped in—and left a donation. So did the breadman and the cop on the corner.

Now just about everyone in the neighborhood knows of the fund. The three kids who started it are knocking on doors for donations.

By Saturday night they hope to have their $1,000. It will be put in trust for Betty, to be used when her doctor says she can be fitted with a new arm.

Roan Will Address Local Clubs Today

Peter F. Roan, Iowa City's first city manager, will speak to a joint luncheon of five service clubs this noon in the Jefferson hotel.

Roan, city manager of Mexico, Mo., for the last two and a half years, began his duties as Iowa City's top administrator Aug. 1.

The clubs whose members will attend the meeting are the Kiwanis, Optimist, Lions, Masonic and Rotary. About 225 persons are expected to attend.

A RABBIT IS A RABBIT

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Truman signed a bill Wednesday stripping rabbit fur of its aliases. The bill prohibits false advertising of furs and requires that the label of each fur garment state specifically what sort of beast wore the fur first.

Red Bail Fund Records Seized By New York

NEW YORK (UP) — The New York state banking department said Wednesday night it believes the Civil Rights congress bail fund committee, bondsman for arrested Communists, is unable to pay back the $800,000 lent it by Red sympathizers and probably has violated state laws.

The department announced it has obtained the books and records of the fund a feat neither a federal judge nor a federal grand jury was able to perform.

The department refused to reveal any of the names of contributors, because the law provides all of its business is confidential. This, presumably, is why it was able to get the information it wanted.

Also, under state law, the department could have abolished the fund, if its subpoena for the books and records had been ignored. If no violations are found all the records and testimony will be returned to the witnesses.

"It is reasonable to predict that the Civil Rights congress will be found to have been engaged in banking functions contrary to law," Donald H. Aiken, deputy superintendent and attorney of the department, said.

The material was delivered to the department in three large grocery cartons on the direction of fund trustee Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire Communist "angel" now serving nine months for contempt of court because he would not divulge in court the contents of the records.

Abner Green, another jailed trustee, said the day he was sentenced for the same reason that many persons who contributed to the CRC fund had stopped him on the street to ask for their money back.

The banking department said that as of Dec. 31, the fund had assets of $876,000 and liabilities of $880,000. Since then, it has forfeited $80,000 in bail for four Communist Politburo leaders who jumped bail the day they were to have gone to prison for conspiring against the government.

The fund posted a total of $175,000 to bail 17 indicted second-string Communists out of jail. This money was declared to be "tainted" by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan. He revoked the bail because of the disappearance of the four Reds and ordered the 17 to post new bond.

The banking department has been investigating the fund because of the refusal of the four fund trustees to produce the books and records or answer questions for a federal judge and a federal grand jury. Those serving sentences, in addition to Field and Green, are mystery writer Dashiell Hammett and Dr. W. Alphaeus Hunton.

Sen. Tobey Suffers Stroke, Recovering

TEMPLE, N.H. (AP)—U.S. Sen. Charles W. Tobey (R-N.H.) suffered a cerebral hemorrhage on July 15, but his family reported Wednesday he is recovering "slowly but surely."

His daughter, Mrs. Louise Dean, said he and Mrs. Tobey left their summer home earlier in the day to get away from the telephone which rang steadily after his illness was announced in Washington.

His Washington office reported the senator was stricken on July 15.

Mrs. Dean said her parents drove to an undisclosed spot "several miles away."

She added that the 71-year-old senator had been "up and around" for some days and was doing very well.

The senator's face became familiar to thousands of television viewers when he took part in the Kefauver senate crime committee hearings several months ago.

Blaik Explains Army Recruitment

Says Procedure Is Perfectly Legitimate

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army football coach Earl Blaik conceded Wednesday that West Point recruited five to 11 high school football players a year and defended the practice as "perfectly proper."

He defined the recruiting as inviting the athletes to the academy for a "cram course" to help them pass entrance examinations — with their expenses during the course paid by "interested civilian alumni."

"If we did not do that, we would be unable to have any athletes in West Point able to play a normal schedule," Blaik said.

Fifteen of the 45 players on last year's football squad entered the academy with this help, he said.

Blaik issued his statement in the midst of a nation-wide controversy over the threatened dismissal of 90 cadets, including a number of football stars, for cheating in classroom examinations.

The coach said 24 athletic prospects invited to the academy this year studied for several weeks from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., but only seven succeeded in passing the stiff exams and only five finally entered the academy.

"The whole procedure was perfectly proper and correct and not contrary to the rules of the associations to which we belong," Blaik said.

He gave his statement after The Chicago Tribune quoted Duncan MacDonald, a Flint, Mich., high school football star, as saying he and other potential Army players had a six-week expense-paid vacation at the academy this summer.

MacDonald later said the story was a "misrepresentation of facts."

"No High Pressure"

Blaik said no high school players were "high-pressured" to enter the academy and declared some were invited to the cram course after asking for the opportunity.

"Some months ago," said Blaik, "I received a letter from Duncan stating his interest in entering West Point. Upon investigation I found that he was a very high type of boy who was outstanding as an athlete and a leader in his school . . .

"In order for high school boys such as Duncan to have a fair chance of passing the academy's stiff entrance examination . . . it is necessary for them to take at least a short cram course prior to the date of examination.

"For that purpose I invited Duncan and some other boys in a similar situation to come to West Point in May—the entrance exams are held here about the middle of June—and do some extensive studying.

"No guarantee was or could be given that they would be able to pass the exams."

The training was given, he said, by civilian instructors who were not members of the West Point faculty.

"The little informal tutoring had no official connection with the military academy," Blaik said.

Alumni Pay Expenses

"The relatively minor expenses were met by some of our interested civilian alumni. No government or athletic association funds were used. Duncan paid his own way to West Point and returned to his home. His small expenses here were taken care of as stated."

MacDonald passed the examinations, but decided to enter the University of Michigan instead of West Point.

"We were sorry to lose him," said Blaik, "as he would have made a fine officer."

Assured Appointment

The coach said all 24 boys invited to the cram course already had or were assured of the required congressional appointments to the academy—subject to their ability to cope with the entrance examinations.

The cram course was intended to help them over this hurdle, Blaik said.

He declared that persons interested in Army football sometimes helped an athlete to obtain the appointment as well as to help him with the subsequent entrance examinations.

Blaik described this as a legitimate procedure where friends of the youth, such as his high school football coach, would make efforts to acquaint the appointing senator or representative with the youth's desire to go to West Point and his fitness for the academy.

The coach said such campaigns for boys desiring to go to the academy were waged by friends of non-athletes the same as they were for athletes and that it was as legitimate for one as for the other.

The 90 accused meanwhile still were being interviewed one by one by a review board.

Non-accused students showed little sympathy for those charged with cribbing.

Indians Take Over 1st in American

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians replaced the New York Yankees in first place in the American league Wednesday when they beat the St. Louis Browns, 2-1, while the Yankees lost to the Washington Senators, 4-1.

Bob Feller and Larry Doby teamed to produce Cleveland's victory and put the Indians a half game in front. Feller, allowing eight hits and striking out five, scored his 18th victory—high in the majors this season—and the 226th win of his career.

Doby accounted for both Cleveland runs in the last of the fourth inning when he sliced a two-run double to left field. Tommy Byrne, the former Yankee, allowed only five hits but walked nine and one of the men he walked scored the winning run.

Golf's Richest Meet, World Championship, Opens at Tam Today

CHICAGO (AP)—Golf's richest show, the $56,000 "world" championship with concurrent men's and women's open competition, opens today with U.S. open champion Ben Hogan returning to the course he scorned for four years.

Hogan joined the field of 64 hand-picked pros shooting for a lush $12,500 first prize, he said, because promoter George S. May has made his Tam O'Shanter carnival a better golf meet than it used to be.

Hogan was the only newcomer to the pro field as both Frank Stranahan and Mrs. Babe Didrickson Zaharias won titles last week in their divisions of the "all-American" open.

Stranahan, Toledo, O., weight lifter, was picked to retain his title among the men amateurs, while Mrs. Zaharias, Chicago, was the choice once again in the women's open.

The field of 65 pro's qualified for this four day event by various means. The top 32 money winners among the pro's became automatically eligible, while the top 22 scorers in the "all-American" tournament last week, who were not otherwise eligible, also gained admission. To complete the field eight foreign pro's and one local pro were granted free passes to the event.

Among the 20 women who will play, 10 came from the top scorers in the "all-American" while 10 were exempt. In the amateur group, four were low "all-American" scorers and six were exempt.

Vernon out with a runner on base. Porterfield allowed nine hits but was not scored on until the ninth. Vernon hit his first homer after Pete Runnels walked in the fourth and his second after Eddie Yost walked in the eighth.

George Kell's single—his fourth hit of the game—climaxed a two-run rally and gave the Detroit Tigers an 11-inning 6-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the other American league game.

The White Sox twice led by a run in extra innings, but the Tigers bounced back both times to tag Saul Rogovin, who went the distance. Gerry Priddy tripled and pinchhitter Steve Souchock doubled to tie the score in the 11th and Kell followed with his single.

Could Be Major In 3 Years — PCL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A San Francisco baseball official said Wednesday that west coast fans could have big league ball within two or three years if the major leagues would stop drafting their stars.

Damon Miller, secretary and business manager of the San Francisco Seals, told the house monopoly subcommittee that the draft clause is blocking creation of a third major league on the Pacific coast.

American and National league clubs now may draft one player from each Pacific Coast league club at a set price of $10,000. Miller said that figure is "utterly ridiculous" and that it forced San Francisco and other coast clubs to sell their stars in order to avoid losing money at the draft price.

Miller said the league would be satisfied with independent status somewhere between the major and minor leagues, if it could avoid the player draft. But he said the west coast clubs would not be satisfied with anything less.

Iowa City VFW Loses

FORT MADISON (AP) — Defending champion Toledo, Ohio, came from behind Tuesday night in the Veterans of Foreign Wars double elimination national softball tournament to defeat Iowa City, 3-2.

After being down 2-0 through four innings of play, Toledo's Orville Swantek hit a homerun with Mel Pawlecki on base to tie the game in the fifth. Low Torda's walk, a sacrifice, an error and a fly ball scored Torda with the winning run in the sixth.

Plaque For Hoover Designed At SUI

Former President Herbert Hoover will be presented an Iowa award plaque designed by Prof. Raoul Delmare, SUI art department, at "Hoover day" at the Iowa State Fair Aug. 30.

This is a special award made to distinguished Iowans by the Centennial Memorial commission. This commission handles the proceeds from the sale of special half dollars which were minted five years ago for Iowa commemorative sales.

Delmare said the award is in the form of two bronze plaques mounted on a mahogany panel. The two plaques are mounted side by side but the one is created to look like the back of the main plaque.

The letters are highly polished on a darker bronze background. Delmare designed, carved, cast, mounted and finished the plaque. Plans are for the plaque to be hung in the Library of Congress in Washington.

The inscription on the plaque is "to Herbert Hoover, president of the United States, native son of Iowa, citizen of the world, statesman, humanitarian, engineer, administrator, who has worn the world's greatest honors with humility, the State of Iowa grants the Iowa award."

Dale Ballantyne, SUI instructor in design, created a parchment with the story of the Iowa award written upon it to be presented to Hoover.

Hoover will give a brief talk following the presentation of the award. The ceremony will be conducted by Gov. William S. Beard-sley and former governor Robert D. Blue, who organized the Centennial Memorial commission.

Also attending the ceremony will be members of the Hoover family and Iowa youths who have won scholarships offered by the commission. Members of Iowa's 4-H clubs will be special guests.

Plans have been made for television and radio recordings of the ceremony.

Iowa City Couple Face 2 Lawsuits Totaling $90,060

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cochran of near Iowa City have been named defendants in two automobile accidents totaling $90,060.

The suits, filed in district court Wednesday by G. A. Robinson and Palmer B. Moen, Ames, arose from an accident five miles north of Kalona Aug. 2, 1950.

Robinson asks a total of $75,000 for injuries he said he suffered in the accident at an intersection of highway 1 and a county road.

Robinson's petition says he suffered a cerebral concussion, nine broken ribs and fractured and dislocated vertebrae as a result of the wreck.

Moen asks a total of $15,000 for injuries he said he suffered in the accident.

Robinson and Moen claim the accident was due to the negligence of Cochran.

1950 Taxes Cost $360 Per Person

WASHINGTON ((P)) — Tax payments to federal, state and local governments came to an average of $360 last year for every man, woman and child in the country, the census bureau reported Wednesday.

This $30-a-month average showed the per-person tax burden as more than doubled in a period of eight years. The annual average was $171 as late as 1942, the bureau said.

Of the $360 per-person collections of 1950, the federal government got $248, or about 70 per cent of the total. The states got $59, local governments $53.

Over-all collections of the federal, state and local governments set a record high of $54,626 million in 1950, the bureau said, nosing above 1948's previous record of $54,495 million.

125 Guardsmen From Iowa City To Attend Camp

About 125 local national guardsmen, including eight officers and 117 enlisted men will leave Sunday morning for Camp McCoy, Wis., to attend a two weeks summer camp.

Four men, two from the 109th medical battalion and two from the 34th reconnaissance company, left Wednesday to attend a pre-camp cook school.

The units will travel in a convoy containing six jeeps, one three-fourth ton truck and six two and one-half ton trucks.

Capt. Harry Dick, commander of the reconnaissance company, has been appointed convoy commander. He will be in charge of picking up units Sunday at Cedar Rapids and Muscatine.

During the two weeks field training period the Iowa City 109th medical battalion will operate a dispensary containing 30 beds at the camp. They will also set up a field hospital on a three day field trip.

The 34th reconnaissance company will work on a series of problems planned by members of the staff.

The two weeks camp gives the men a chance to apply the knowledge they have learned during the regular meetings during the year to actual field conditions.

Members of the units attending camp will draw the pay of regular army members whose rank is comparable to theirs.

An advanced detail of five men left Wednesday for Camp McCoy to clean up the buildings and prepare the camp for the coming training session.

A total of 5,000 men from Iowa and 2,500 from Nebraska are expected to attend summer camp during the two-week training period.

Sky Show

Weekend May Bring Meteor Display

If the weatherman cooperates and brings clear skies, the public will be treated to a celestial fireworks display this weekend.

Prof. C. C. Wylie, astronomy department, said Wednesday the Perseid meteors, which are bright shooting stars, will be numerous Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. The meteors are the result of the slow disintegration of Tuttle's comet of 1862.

Wylie said that from midnight until 3 a.m. on the three nights a person in the open country should be able to see about one meteor per minute if the weather is clear. A small group can observe more of the sky and should see about three times that many. For example, a case is known where such a group counted 97 Perseid meteors between 2 and 2:30 a.m.

SUI is not interested in getting reports from the public on the shooting stars which will be so prominent this weekend, Wylie said. He had previously asked that anyone seeing a spectacular meteor—a meteor which lights the sky like a flash of lightning—report it to their newspaper, radio station or directly to him at SUI.

Wylie is currently doing research on spectacular meteors under a grant from the office of naval research.

SUI Grad Lacked 48 Hours —

Still Draft Bait

— Despite Marine Service

Just two more days in the Marine corps would have made a lot of difference to Luther Smith, who received his M.A. degree from SUI Wednesday night.

One week ago he was re-classified 1-A by the selective service because his service record lasted 11 months and 29 days. Although this does not mean he will be drafted immediately, it makes future plans uncertain.

Smith received his B.A. degree from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala., in March 1949, and worked in the alumni service until he came to SUI in the fall of 1950.

A graduate in mass communications, Smith wrote his thesis on the SUI alumni association involving a sample of 1800 graduates and covering the interests and attitudes of alumni toward the University.

The basis for his study was the SUI Alumni News bulletin. While in the service he was on the editorial staff of Leatherneck, a marine magazine.

"Although it does disrupt my plans somewhat, I am glad to be of service to the country," Smith said.

Four Fund Raisers Named to Positions For Local Drive

Four chairmen for the 1952 Iowa City community chest drive have been appointed.

O. A. White, 307 College court, will direct the public service committee; I. J. Barron, 221 River st., will hear the professional and special contributions committee.

The SUI and University hospitals committee will be supervised by M. C. Boyer, 511 N. Gilbert st. R. H. Reimers 1157 E. Court, will head the business section committee.

There will be no residential solicitations in the 1952 campaign, which will be held sometime in October to correspond with the national community chest drive.

S. N. Nelson was recently appointed chairman of the 1951 campaign.

Goal for the drive will be $1,126.59. Eight Iowa City organizations and activities will receive benefits from the drive.

McCarthy Promises Names Today

WASHINGTON ((P)) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, (R-Wis.) offered Wednesday to name 26 state department employes he says are under-going a loyalty-security check if press associations would promise to publish the list with its lack of privilege from libel action.

The press association replied that they would not make any commitment to carry any material from anyone on their wires sight unseen.
