The First English Lutheran church of Iowa City will be host at the five-day meeting, the first national meeting ever held in Iowa. The theme has been designated "Christian Answer Boldly!"

The delegates are all members of the young people's organization of the United Lutheran Church of America.

Among the tasks facing them is the election of a new slate of officers and the approval of a $100,000 budget.

The Rev. S. Leslie Conrad, executive secretary for the Lutheran League of America, will be the keynote speaker at the Monday session.

Senate Group Okays Union Pacts Signed Before Loyalty Oaths

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The senate labor committee Friday approved legislation designed to validate thousands of labor bargaining elections held before top officers of the AFL and CIO signed non-Communist oaths.

Introduced by Sens. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Robert Taft (R-Ohio), it was approved unanimously.

This situation led to it: The 1947 Taft-Hartley labor act required union officers to sign non-Communist oaths if their unions were to make use of national labor relations (NLRB) board machinery. Collective bargaining elections are held by the NLRB.

The NLRB ruled top officers of the AFL and CIO did not have to sign the oaths provided officers of affiliated unions did sign them. For a long time, the top AFL and CIO officers did not sign. They have now. In the meantime, many elections were held.

Recently, the supreme court held that the NLRB ruling was incorrect.

So Sens. Humphrey and Taft introduced their bill to validate the elections retroactively.

A similar measure has been introduced in the house.

The bill also would permit employers and unions to negotiate for a union shop without holding an election as is now required. There would be an election if 30 per cent of the workers signed a petition asking for one.

In a union shop, all employees must join the union within a period of time.

Germany Asked to Pay For Defense by Taxation

BONN, Germany (AP)—The Western Allies have informed West Germany they expect her to pay the occupation costs which represent her share in Western defense through increased taxes and not by borrowing, an Allied spokesman said Friday.

The United States, Britain and France last spring gave the Bonn government a bill for 6.6 billion marks ($1,570,000,000) for occupation costs in the fiscal year beginning April 1. But the government insisted it could rake up only 3.8 billion marks ($1,380,000,000).

Need Man of God— Bishop Runs For President

NEW YORK (AP)—With "righteousness" as his platform and an "all-nations flag" as his banner, a Protestant bishop Friday declared himself a candidate for president in 1952.

Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson, general overseer of the Church of God, said he will launch his campaign after a 21-day fast beginning this Sunday midnight.

"It is time," he said, "that we have as president a man of God whose main business is righteousness."

The 52-year-old leader of his church said he based his decision to run on the Bible, and this prediction in the seventh chapter and 27th verse of the Book of Daniel: "The kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the most high."

The bishop, noting that Daniel "made this amazing revelation" after a 21-day fast, said he planned to subject himself to the same ordeal, in the manner of the late Indian leader Mahatma Gandhi. On his campaign, Tomlinson said he would use as an emblem an "all nations flag" designed by his father and depicting "the scepter of righteousness, a star of hope and a crown of victory."

He claimed he would have 50 million Christian followers. His own church has some 123,000 members.

$621 Million Voted For Flood Control By Senate Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate appropriations committee Friday approved a total expenditure of $621,109,123 for flood control and navigation work throughout the country this year, hiking by nearly 25 per cent the amount voted earlier by the house.

The total was included in the army civil functions bill which the committee sent to the senate for consideration probably Monday.

Funds involved are for the fiscal year which started July 1.

When the bill passed the house it carried a total of $514,427,400, including $498,382,400 for flood control and navigation work. As approved by the senate committee the bill carries $637,243,213, of which $621,109,123 is for river and navigation projects.

Beardsley to Speak To Calif. 'Iowans'

LONG BEACH, CALIF. (AP) — The governor of Iowa arrived here Friday on his first visit to Southern California, to address more than 50,000 former Hawkeye state residents at their annual summer picnic today.

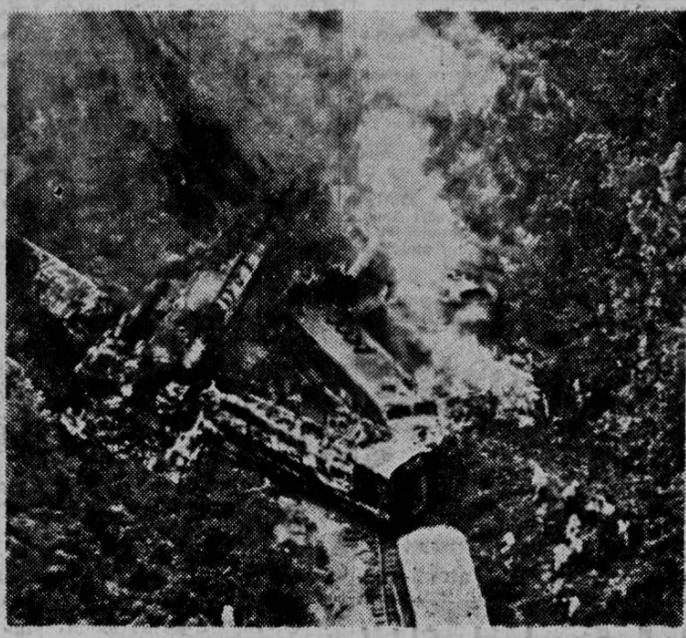

The Iowa weather, he reported, hasn't been so pleasant for humans recently, but it makes the corn grow. "Corn's king in Iowa, you know," he explained.

Also speaking at today's picnic will be Gov. Earl Warren of California and Gov. Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota.

Federal Judge Says U.S. Has No Right To Deny Reds Bail

DETROIT (AP) — A federal judge charged Friday that the U.S. attorney general's ruling that bail furnished by the left-wing Civil Rights congress won't be accepted for suspected alien subversives is "the doctrine of guilt by association."

Federal Judge Arthur E. Lederle said that when the Civil Rights congress presented government securities as bond for persons awaiting deportation hearings, he did not believe Attorney General J. Howard McGrath had the right to deny them their freedom.

McGrath ordered 39 aliens, who were free on Civil Rights congress bail while awaiting deportation proceedings, to report to U.S. immigration authorities in Washington, New York and Detroit. He told them to find new bail or go to jail.

Two of the eight persons ordered to report to Detroit immigration officials found new bail and were released. However, the other six went to court and were released on their old bail until a court hearing Sept. 19 by Lederle and Federal Judge Theodore Levin.

Lederle released Harry Price Aug. 7 and Levin freed the other five Aug. 8.

"The purpose of granting bail is to secure the presence of the individual when required," Lederle said. "Its denial should not be used as punishment."

In a radio interview, Lederle said "when a government bond is deposited for bail, to all intents and purposes, the U.S. government is the sole owner of that bond."

U.N. ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS, KOREA (SATURDAY)

(AP) — United Nations negotiators today returned to the Korean armistice talks in an atmosphere of crisis.

The Communist delegation at Friday's resumption of the meeting sat in stony silence. It refused to talk about anything but the 38th parallel, or to budge from its position that the buffer zone must be drawn there. The Allies want the line north of the parallel.

The stubborn attitude of the Communist delegation pushed the deadlocked talks to the most critical point since they began a month ago.

The UN delegation reached Kaesong at 10:45 a.m. (6:45 p.m. Friday, CST) by helicopter by the 21st meeting with the North Korean and Chinese Communist delegation.

The delegates met for an hour and 25 minutes and then called a recess until 2:30 p.m. (10:30 p.m. CST Friday). There was no indication in any army announcement whether progress was made during the first session.

For two hours and 11 minutes of Friday's four-hour and 15-minute session not a word was exchanged between the Allied and Red truce terms. And it wasn't because the Allies were not willing to talk.

Finally, after the sitting contest had gone two hours and 11 minutes, Joy suggested they talk about something else—inspection behind rival lines in event of an armistice. Evidently having anticipated this suggestion, Nam read a statement of refusal, still harping on parallel 38 as the center of the buffer zone.

However, another meeting was set for today—at 11 a.m. (7 p.m. CST., Friday).

Allies Recapture Lost Territory

TOKYO (Saturday) (AP) — A strong Allied counter-attack late Friday recaptured a strategic east-central Korean hill lost to the Communists a few hours earlier.

Two companies of Reds attacked in the rugged mountains north of Yanggu, at the east end of the Hwachon reservoir. The initial impact rushed the allies off the hill in their first limited withdrawal in recent weeks.

The Allied force rallied, whipped up a counter-attack within a few hours, and drove back up the slope, scattering the enemy companies to the north.

Some of the heaviest fighting of the lull during the Kaesong armistice talks has taken place above Yanggu, on the flank of the Communist buildup area atop the mountains north of Kumsong.

Death Toll Hits 26 In Texas Drought

DALLAS, TEX. (AP) — Sweltering Texans battled against sunstroke and water shortages Friday as a record heat wave claimed its 26th victim within a week and threatened millions of acres of cotton and grassland.

The month-old siege which sent temperatures as high as 116 degrees showed no sign of breaking. Weathermen said a weak cool front to the northwest was changing to a warm formation.

FRANCE'S ROLE IN

Thwarting COMMUNISM

France Advocates a United, Permanent European Armed Force

Eighth in a series of 12 articles on the North Atlantic Treaty organization and its role in strengthening the free world.

By H. D. CRAWFORD

Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — "France is perhaps the key nation in the North Atlantic Treaty organization," Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff and United States representative on NATO's standing group, told the House committee on foreign affairs July 13, following his European visit to discuss NATO's problems with top military chiefs.

"My discussions with the French defense minister and the French chiefs of staff gave me every indication that France has increased her defense effort and expects to increase it still more."

France has received $2,430,799,000 of Marshall plan and military assistance funds from the U. S., including $433,142,000 during the 1951 fiscal year. General Bradley explained that further military aid is necessary for France and other Western European nations to enable them to develop their own armament industries.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, NATO's supreme commander in Europe, chose Marley, just outside Paris as the site for his SHAPE headquarters. When Gen. Eisenhower officially took over the new headquarters from President Vincent Auriol of France July 23, he asserted that his new offices had been set up "in peace to preserve peace and not to wage war and to lift from the hearts of men the fear of cell blocks and slave camps."

FRANCE, ALONG with Britain, Norway and Denmark, has opposed any U. S. military deals with Spain for naval or air bases, in the belief that the Franco government still is Fascist and that such association will weaken NATO and play into the hands of Communist propagandists.

Communists have been particularly active in France. Many well-meaning French citizens have found it difficult to realize the menace of Communism to France. They remember that many Communists worked hard and fought furiously as members of the French underground during the Nazi occupation. Many seem to forget that Communists, even then, were fighting for the best interests of Russia, not France.

Communists did lose 78 seats in the national assembly in the last election. Among the 627 seats, however, they still have 103. Because of France's several political parties, the Communists are said to still have the largest popular vote of any single party in France. They carry on relentless propaganda attacks against the U. S. and integrated defense efforts in Europe.

Their campaigns to prevent deliveries of U. S. military equipment to France have been largely ineffective. Their efforts may be partly responsible, however, for the gaps between French defense plans and positive and determined French action to convert those plans into trained armed units and industrial plants turning out arms and equipment to capacity.

Tanks, heavy artillery and military vehicles from the U. S. have enabled the French army to refit five divisions, and to reactivate five other divisions which they expect to train and equip by the end of 1951. They have two more divisions in North Africa.

Destroyer escorts and other naval equipment have stimulated development of the French navy. An anti-submarine group has been developed. Naval airmen have made considerable progress in learning to use U. S.-type aircraft.

FRANCE'S GREATEST contribution to NATO and European defense is expected to be its trained manpower. Many of its 700,000 men under arms are fighting in Indo-China. It has another 1,500,000 men in organized reserves.

France's three-year defense program is designed to produce 10 divisions ready for European defense by the end of 1951, and 28 divisions by 1954. Defense production has lagged, but approved legislation provides for a sixfold step-up in ground force equipment production, a threefold increase of air force material and a doubling of production for the navy.

French statesmen have exerted courageous leadership in advocating a united Europe with an integrated European army. On May 9, 1950, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman proposed that all European countries pool their production of coal and steel — known since as the Schuman Plan.

ON AUGUST 11, 1950, the assembly of the council of Europe, in which France has taken an active part, called for immediate creation of a unified European army to co-operate with the U. S. and Canadian armed forces for the defense of peace.

On October 24, 1950, Premier Rene Pleven presented to the French national assembly a plan for integrating German armed forces into the united European army under a European defense minister.

Later, a so-called "Petersburg plan," drawn up by allied and German generals, proposed a 12-division German army, a tactical air force, and small German navy.

Representatives of France, Italy, Western Germany, Belgium and Luxembourg have met at Paris since February to discuss these plans for a European army integrated with NATO defense plans and including German armed units. July 24 they announced an agreement to pool their armed forces into a one-flag, one-uniform force at the disposal of General Eisenhower's Atlantic pact force. Their five governments still have to approve this agreement.

Action ultimately taken may be of highest importance to NATO and the defense of Western Europe.

Truman Asks Industry To Disperse Factories

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman gave his blessing Friday to an "industrial dispersion policy" designed to spread out industrial plants against the danger of concentrated atomic attacks.

Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, house Republican leader, immediately protested that the President was "flagrantly" defying congress, which recently refused to approve such a policy.

Some critics of dispersal have expressed fear it would be a blow to existing industrial areas. Backers of the plan have contended it would benefit all areas.

The policy statement approved by Mr. Truman said:

"Since 1945, we have experienced a period of unprecedented industrial expansion, but, except for a few examples, there has been no pronounced trend away from these concentrations (of industry)."

"Some $18 billion in new plants and equipment were spent annually during the past four years, largely in areas already highly industrialized."

"Although we are increasing our defense efforts, the danger of atomic attack grows and demands that new and more positive policies be put into effect to obtain added security for our industrial establishment without jeopardizing its productive efficiency."

Jack Gorrie, acting chairman of the national security resources board, issued an illustrated booklet explaining the new program. It was based on a study conducted in Seattle by representatives of industry, labor and local government.

Rep. Martin declared the President's dispersal order is "just another step toward one-man government in this country."

Martin was one of the leaders in the congressional movement which brought about defeat of similar proposals as an amendment to the recently extended defense production act. He said in a statement:

"When one man can so flaunt the will of the congress so flagrantly we are on the way to one-man government. The congress might as well shut up shop and go home."

The government "encouragement" of dispersal is to come from such incentives as certificates permitting faster tax amortization, allocation of critical materials, defense loans and defense contracts.

Senate OKs TV Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the 38 to 13 roll call vote by which the senate Friday refused to withdraw Friday charges against two witnesses who refused to testify before its crime committee because of television, newsreel and radio coverage.

U. S. Standards Chief Condon, Resigns Job For Private Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Edward U. Condon, veteran of many battles with the house un-American activities committee, resigned Friday as $15,000-a-year director of the national bureau of standards to take a higher-paying job in private industry.

In his letter of resignation, Condon made no reference to sporadic congressional attacks on his loyalty. He said his only reason for leaving federal service is that "I can no longer afford to accept the severe financial sacrifice involved."

President Truman accepted the resignation, effective Sept. 30, "with regret." He praised Condon for "loyal attention" to duty, and said that during his six years as director he made the bureau of standard "a more important agency than it has ever been before."

Condon will become director of research and development for the Corning glass works, at Corning, N. Y. His salary was not disclosed.

Condon became the storm center of a nationwide controversy three years ago when former Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-N. J.) then chairman of the un-American activities committee, released a report denouncing Condon as "one of the weakest links in our atomic security."

The report asserted that Condon had "knowingly or unknowingly associated" with Communism and an alleged soviet spy.

Condon hotly denied that he had ever compromised atomic secrets in any way, and demanded that the committee prove the charges at a public hearing or retract them. Scientists throughout the nation and administration officials up to President Truman rallied to Condon's support and accused the committee of "irresponsible smear tactics."

The committee never held public hearings on the charges; nor did it retract the report.

Condon subsequently was cleared by both the commerce department, parent agency of the bureau of standards, and the atomic energy commission (AEC) which farms out some secret research to the bureau. The AEC, in announcing its clearance, said that the FBI had conducted a special and "unusually comprehensive" investigation of Condon for the atomic loyalty board.

Senate Group OKs Iowa Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Projects on both the Missouri and Mississippi rivers in Iowa are included in a bill approved Friday by the senate appropriations committee.

The bill carries $637,243,213 for army civil functions, mostly flood control and navigation projects.

The money is for the fiscal year which started last July 1. The bill now goes to the senate for action.

The appropriations affecting Iowa and, in parentheses, the amount allowed by the house:

Missouri river agricultural levees, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska, $2,312,000 ($1 million).
Mississippi river between the Missouri river and Minneapolis, excluding St. Anthony Falls and lock 19, $357,770 ($90,000).

Missouri river Kansas City to Sioux City, Ia., $4 million. ($4 million).

HEADS TOASTMASTERS

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Toastmasters International honored in person all of its 19 past international presidents at the annual convention and added a 20th here Friday. W. S. Reed of Los Angeles became the 20th when Carleton Sias of Waterloo, Ia., was elected to succeed him.

Permanent Can Be Styled to Suit

Flattering Fall Foot Styles Centered on Tapered Toe

SHAMPOOS BEFORE AND BETWEEN your home permanents are a must for soft, lustrous hair. Movie star Susan Douglas demonstrates how to work up a luxurious lather.

YOU CAN STYLE YOUR HAIR any way you desire by the way you part your hair and roll it on the spin curlers. To achieve soft waves like Susan's, block bangs in sections parallel to your part and wind hair under to the scalp.

The way you wear your hair should determine the kind and amount of curl you want from your next home permanent.

To help you "style" that wave with confidence and skill here are some tips. Remember that any home permanent should begin with a luxurious, mild shampoo.

FOR A LOOSE END CURL IN LONG HAIR—Shape or trim your hair after your new home wave, instead of before. When setting your permanent, wind jumbo pin curls around two fingers instead of one and avoid tightly set waves.

FOR A SOFT WAVE IN YOUR EYEBROWS—Block bangs parallel to your part so that the curl will begin closer to the scalp. This is a "must" method for short hair of bangs. It will make for fewer uneven ends and less pulling and stretching of the hair.

Use More Curlers

FOR A TIGHTER CURL IN SHORTER HAIR — Use more curlers when winding your permanent, and part the hair into thinner strands. Be sure to wind your spin curlers under, so that your curl will be close to the scalp.

Avoid wispy neckline stragglers by rolling them up on mid-get spins. And to give them added incentive, resaturate them with waving lotion when you take your first time-check curl. This "little extra" will make your neckline curls "take" better.

FOR A WAVE-LINE IN THE FRONT AND SIDES OF YOUR HAIR — You need a soft home permanent base. Then brush your newly waved hair up and away from your face and part it off vertically, then into one inch squares for pin curls.

Make forward curls first row nearest face, all other rows will be backward pin curls. For an all-wave set, alternate pin curl directions row after row.

Measure Strands

FOR CURLS AND DEFINITE WAVES — You need a firm home permanent base. Measure off each strand you wind according to directions — two and one-half inches wide and one inch deep. Take time again to spin your curler to the scalp and secure the clasp firmly but without squeezing or pulling the hair.

Take accurate check curls. Do a thorough neutralizing job. And, finally, when you set your hair, take time to part it off into one inch squares, and comb them flat and smooth before rolling them into neat pin curls.

FOR A PARTIAL OR TOUCH-UP PERMANENT — You must be careful to apply waving lotion only to the hair you want curled. Don't moisten already curled ends with the solution.

But, after your partial wave has processed, be sure to neutralize all your hair. This all-over neutralizing will insure an even, manageable touch-up job.

And, no matter how you wear your hair, your permanent needs pampering with frequent shampoos and smooth, even sets.

Fashion interest is centered on the shape of shoes to come, and the slender, pointed look of the Taper-Toe looms as the most exciting innovation in many a season. Graceful and feminine, the tapered toe, poised on slim-edged soles, gives the foot the delicate look prized by smart women who "make" fashions.

But don't think for a moment that these new shoes have anything in common with the bone-crushers popular in days of yore. They flatter and highlight the arch the prettiest part of the foot, and conjure up a slim silhouette below the hemline, so important with the straight, natural lines of the new dress styles.

Accentuates Vamp

One of the best examples seen at early fall fashion shows is a V-throat vamp which accentuates the long vamp. In black suede with polished leather soles, this style features straighter shank lines than sees for several seasons.

Another new model that had our roaming fashion scout cheering has a pointed heel and toe. Broad at the ball, it came with sliver of a leather tie, emanating from the deepest point of the D'Orsay cut topline.

Louis heels which for many seasons tried to get a foot in the door have caught fire for early fall wear. It's a logical extension of the trend towards sleek and feminine footwear.

In combination with tooled leather soles, Louis heels add a welcome touch of elegance and femininity to new upper patterns which are higher-riding and slimmer than in past seasons.

Bases Are Lower

The new tapered bases are in accord with this trend. They're somewhat lower than in the past, ranging from one and a half to two and a half inches in height. Fashion soothsayers predict that there will be relatively few still heels in evidence.

Soft is the word for shoes, according to a recent poll of leading designers. This development reflects the basic good judgment of Miss and Mrs. America who insist on walking ease as well as high style. And American shoe designers with their ears to the ground are making the most of this trend.

The tremendous success of soft shoe construction was first dramatized in the success of flat ballet types in soft lightweight leathers. Equally important in the over-all picture today are unlined casual and tailored shoes.

Vamps on these shoes are mostly soft or semi-soft, as are the backs. Emphasis is on simple graceful lines and a minimum of tricky embellishments.

And here is good news for the fashion-minded Miss. High styling is now found in pump, shell and spectator patterns that come in "softie" construction. Many of them combine high heels, soft toes and flexible platforms with very thin leather soles to achieve the desired lightness and airiness.

Fall Coats

THE FAN-FLARED COAT of mustard tweed lined with brown moleskin over a blending color sheer wool suit — comes from the fall and winter collection of a New York designer. The belted jacket of the suit fastens off-center with small gold buttons.

THE BOHERO COAT is a New York designer's boxwood green imported tweed, belted in matching color leather, for fall and winter. Beneath is a simple, long sleeved dress in the same color sheer wool, designed with flared skirt.

Summer Is Time to Look to Winter Flowers

Summer flowers now at the height of their bloom, are the signals to look to your winter arrangements.

In her book of flower arrangements, "An Eighteenth Century Garland," Louise B. Fisher gives the following advice on "curing" flowers for winter:

Flowers and grasses with soft stems should hang from the rafters in small bunches, head down, and always in the dark or they will lose their color. To encourage a graceful curve in ferns and grasses, stand them in a keg, jar or bucket whether stems are hard or soft.

Leaves require a special process of packing between sheets of newspaper. The leaves should not overlap, and a weight of boards must be put on top of the pile. Colored leaves will be picked later, but green leaves, always an asset in an arrangement, can be pressed now.

If picked at the right moment and cured in the prescribed method, summer flowers out of the garden will add color to the dark months. Surprisingly enough, larkspur, ageratum, stock, zinnia, delphinium and spirea can be successfully cured.

Yellow and red roses keep their color better than others, and roses when dried actually have more fragrance than fresh roses.

There are two ways of drying these garden flowers: they can be hung in the drying room, or they can be dried in sand. The latter process is tedious, but results are rewarding.

To use the sand method, fill a flat box with very fine, dry sand. The flowers should be completely covered with sand and care must be taken to get sand between each petal.

The box should then be kept outside in the sun, covered at night against the dew, and brought inside if it rains. A week or 10 days is required for this process. The hotter it is the quicker the flowers will dry.

Gourds are another durable decoration. They should be harvested at the moment of maturity, and cleaned and washed in a strong disinfectant.

When they have been thoroughly dried on the floor of the drying room, they should be rubbed with floor wax, and polished with a soft brush or cloth. Treated in this manner, they will retain their color for many months.

Garden Club Invited To Attend Durant Show

The garden department of the Iowa City Women's club has been invited to attend and compete in the flower show sponsored by the Durant Garden club. The event will be held Wednesday in the American Legion home in Durant.

Motor Club's Auto Training To Begin Again

The driver training program of the Iowa Motor club will be started again in Iowa City Aug. 20, Floyd L. Link, safety director for the club, announced Friday.

Ira Semler, G. Lamoni, will be in charge of the course and will spend part of each day instructing beginning drivers of all ages as well as those wishing to improve some phase of their driving.

Both AAA club members and non-members will be accepted for instruction which is given privately in a dual control car.

"The demand from those of all ages in Iowa City for the course has been so great during the summer that the year-round course should prove successful," Link said.

Link said until this month only Davenport and Des Moines had year-round driver training programs.

Persons interested in the course should contact the Motor club office at 113 S. Linn st.

SUI Will Survey Jefferson Area

An analysis of the retail trading area of Jefferson is scheduled to begin Aug. 27 according to David Day, associate in the bureau of business and economic research at SUI.

Writing in the August issue of the Business Digest, publication of the college of commerce and bureau of business and economic research, Day explained the purpose of the retail trading area study.

The study is done, Day wrote, to analyze performance of the trading center in light of the opinions people hold about the goods and services available in the trade center, and the way they express those opinions by trading or not trading there.

Two similar studies have been conducted by the bureau during the last two years. One covered 11 counties in southwestern Iowa, and the other was made in the Osage community.

These analyses have been sponsored by local community organizations and have been conducted in cooperation with the bureau.

Taught As a Game —

Multiplication Can Be Fun

— Teachers Learn

If you can recall your days in grade school you'll probably remember how difficult it was to learn multiplication tables or to understand the workings of Eli Whitney's cotton gin.

Teachers enrolled in a special summer course in industrial arts at SUI, however, have been learning how to make elementary education "come alive" through the construction and use of supplementary classroom devices.

Multiplying becomes fun when it is done as a game on the special multiplication board built by one elementary school teacher. Besides, it's much easier to learn that way. The workings of the cotton gin are made clear when they can be seen in the authentic replica of Eli Whitney's original, constructed by another.

The special course, taught experimentally during the eight-week summer session just closed, was under the direction of Walter E. Ditzler, visiting lecturer in the college of education. Ditzler is an assistant professor of industrial arts at the Iowa State Teacher's college in Cedar Falls.

Ditzler explained that the course was designed to instruct elementary school teachers in the use of constructive activities to give a more direct approach to education.

The elementary teacher, he pointed out, has considerable difficulty explaining the processes for transforming raw materials into the usable goods we buy at our local shops.

Working only from the brief explanation and the small picture that may appear in the text book, she is, hard pressed to make the details clear.

Teachers enrolled in the course were assigned projects of their own special interest. One, for example, took as her project the processing of raw wool into wool cloth.

To complete her project, she had to construct the necessary equipment and do the actual work on a small scale, much as it was done by the early pioneers of many years ago.

After building a spindle and a miniature loom, she located the raw wool, washed, carded and spun it and wove it into cloth on the small loom, completing the process.

Other similar projects included paper making from wood pulp, linen production from flax and silk production from raw silk-worm fiber. Two of the teachers built a half-size, workable printing press, modeled on Guttenberg's original; another constructed a water wheel; still another made realistic copies of primitive man's crude equipment—pottery, stone weapons and implements and firemaking tools.

One made pottery from raw clay and another constructed a display of the four basic processes of transforming raw metal into usable products. Another teaching device constructed in the laboratory was a board for demonstrating visually the principles involved in finding common denominators in arithmetic.

Devices made in the university's laboratory-classroom will be used by the teachers for classroom instruction with students carrying out the processes involved. For example, when the class studies the making of pottery, students will take raw clay from a clay bank, wash and screen it and finally mold and bake it into dishes, ashtrays, etc.

They may even, in some instances, construct other devices encountered during the course of their study much as their teachers did during the summer at the university.

It is, as Ditzler puts it, the dynamic approach to education. "Students at once see the basic steps in the various processes," he explained. "And, at the same time, they can visualize the tremendous advancement made by industry following the industrial revolution when these production processes were removed from the home and placed in the factory."

By making education easier and more practical, Ditzler added, the material will be more readily absorbed and more lastingly impressed on the youngsters' minds.

Citizens Petition For Traffic Signal On Highway Crossing

A group of Iowa City residents living near the intersection of Dubuque and Church sts., filed a petition in the city clerk's office Friday asking for a traffic signal at that corner.

The petition will be brought before the council in a meeting Monday night.

The petition, signed by more than 150 residents, states that the corner is especially dangerous because two highways, 218 and 261 intersect there.

The petition further states that traffic attempting to get on Dubuque st., get stalled frequently on days of Iowa football games and other university functions.

Tribe, Yanks Win Stay Tied

NEW YORK (AP) — The Indians and the Yankees kept the pressure on themselves and on each other Friday night by winning victories that kept them deadlocked for first place in the American league flag race.

The Indians, who knew by the scoreboard that the Yankees had defeated the Athletics, 3-1, came from behind to put on a four run rally in the seventh inning and defeat the White Sox, 6-4. Al Rosen socked a two-run homer during the uprising which prolonged Cleveland's winning streak to eight games.

Cleveland actually spotted Chicago a four run lead but after the fifth inning Bob Lemon settled down and gained his 13th victory. The Indians whittled the margin to 4-2 in the fifth on a two-run spurt in which Jim Hegan, Lemon, Dale Mitchell, and Bobby Avila singled. Mitchell now has hit safely in 18 straight games.

The big seventh inning rally occurred with two out. Avila started it with a bunt single and Larry Doby's double scored him. Luke Easter singled to score Doby and Rosen blasted his homer.

The Yankees received six-hit pitching from Ed Lopat and timely hitting from Johnny Mize, who drove in what became the winning run in the sixth with a homer and sent home another later with a fly ball. It was the fourth straight victory for Lopat who now has a 15-6 record. He struck out eight batters and walked only three.

The Red Sox stayed 4½ games behind the leaders when they defeated the Senators, 6-4, on Charley Maxwell's two-run pinch single in the sixth inning. Clyde Vollmer later blasted his 20th homer after Maxwell's drive had put Boston ahead for good. Mel Parnell had one bad inning, the fifth, when Washington scored all of its runs, he won his 12th game and his first since July 12, ending a four-game losing streak. However, Ellis Kinder had to save him with three scoreless relief innings.

In the National league Mel Queen out-pitched Cal McLish to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

McLish had a no-hitter until the seventh inning when the Pirates scored a run on Ralph Kiner's double—which center-fielder Frank Baumholtz misjudged—and Bill Howerton's single.

They added two more in the eighth on only one hit. George Strickland walked, stole second and went to third when Smokey Burgess threw wild. Danny Murtaugh was hit by a pitched ball and Tom Saffell ran for him. Queen moved Saffell to second with a sacrifice and both runners scored when Pete Castiglione singled.

Pitcher Gerald Staley drove in the winning run with a two-out, bases-loaded single in the last of the 10th inning to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Staley, who went to the relief of Harry Brecheen, yielded only two hits in four innings.

After two were out in the extra inning, a walk to Nippy Jones, a double by Wally Westlake and a deliberate walk to Hal Rice set the stage for Staley's game-winning single to right-center. Jones scored the decisive run.

Baseball Wage Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-man panel of sports experts Friday summoned big league baseball club owners and players to a hearing in New York Aug. 21-22 to determine whether players' salaries should be controlled.

The panel, headed by President H. C. (Curly) Byrd, of Maryland university, was set up by the wage stabilization board to help decide whether professional athletes fall under its jurisdiction.

2 Regulars Back For Army

Cadets Try For Honorable Discharges

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — A lawyer pressed Friday for honorable discharges for the 90 military academy cadets facing dismissal, and there were reports that his view reflected the feeling of a number of highly placed academy officials.

There were indications, too, that many of the cadets involved in the mass exam cheating scandal that led to the order to dismiss were less anxious to fight their expulsion than to obtain honorable discharge papers.

The cadets have been offered a chance to resign for allegedly having violated the military academy's traditional code of honor—thus keeping their records clean.

Those who do not, the academy has explained, will receive administrative discharges. These are neither honorable — indicating satisfactory completion of a term of service—nor dishonorable, or discharge for cause.

Administrative Discharge

But while carrying no blemish, the record of an administrative discharge would indicate, for example, three years spent at West Point, and the ex-cadet who wanted to get into a college or the army would be subjected to an inquiry as to why there was no reason for termination of the appointment. Few names of the cadets involved have become public, and these only through personal disclosure.

The latest honorable discharge demand came from John McI. Smith, of Harrisburg, Pa., himself a retired army colonel and a member of the military justice committee of the American Bar association.

To Write Army Head

Appearing in behalf of Cadet Gilbert M. Reich, Steelton, Pa., star football player, Smith announced he would write a "powerful personal and confidential letter" to Army Secretary Frank Pace outlining the cadets' side of the story.

Smith said he plans no legal action on Reich's behalf as "it would do these boys a pronounced disservice to take any legal action. If they were to buck the authorities they might end up worse off than they are now."

Minor Clubs Out $10,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. A. S. Herlong, (D-Fla.) former president of the Florida State baseball league, said Friday the average minor league team loses $10,000 a year — partly because of the broadcasts of big league games.

Subcommittee Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.) said radio and television industry spokesman will be asked for their views when the hearings resume next fall.

NEW YORK, N.Y. (UP)—A 31-man squad including 19 graduates from the freshman squad, a vest-pocket fullback who weighs 152 pounds, and only two regular varsity men, is now available to play out Army's gruelling 1951 football schedule, Coach Earl Blaik revealed Friday.

Blaik sorrowfully released his new roster in the wake of West Point's stunning cheating scandal with the remark, "Well, I guess we can take a losing season." In the past 10 years, Blaik's teams have gone undefeated five seasons.

Blaik, doubly sad because his quarterback son, Bob, is among the cadets ordered expelled, gave every indication of going into what probably will be his toughest season full of fight.

Freshman May Play

Blaik still nurses hope that some varsity men will be cleared of cribbing charges since they are still under investigation. And he also has a slight hope of using the coming fall's freshman class if the military academy academic board permits freshmen to play varsity football.

Shain on Army Squad

One Iowa Citian, Elwin (Rox) Shain, former City high football, basketball, and baseball star, is listed on the roster made public Friday by West Point's coach Earl (Red) Blaik. Shain is listed as a center.

While at City high, in 1946, 1947, and 1948 Shain played halfback and center for the Little Hawks. The 6-foot, 3-inch 205-pounder played forward and guard in basketball and the outfield and catcher's position in baseball.

He is listed as a sophomore at West Point. He spent one year at the University of Tennessee.

Under Eastern collegiate athletic conference rules, freshmen may play. But West Point may deny them the opportunity on the grounds that the plebe's academic load is too great, an army spokesman said.

Return From Varsity

Ends Ed Weaver of Kingston, N. Y., and John Krobeck of Haxelton, Pa., are back from the varsity. The rest of the 31 men on Friday's list are either the 19 promoted plebes or recruits from the B squad. Only 10 have been given the detailed attention generally given varsity men," a spokesman said.

The 152-pound fullback is Bill Haff from Brooklyn, a graduate from the plebes described as "a very fine runner who will make a good offensive man despite his lack of weight."

The squad released Friday contains one quarterback — plebe graduate Dick Boyle from Providence, R. I., Elwin Shain of Iowa City, is now a center but once played quarterback at Tennessee and can be shifted back.

Demaret's 136 Tops World Golf Meet; Hogan 1 Stroke Back

CHICAGO, (AP)—Golf's laughing boy, jaunty Jimmy Demaret, socked home a three under par 69 Friday to stand alone in first place midway through Tam O'Shanter's $50,000 "World" championship with a 36-hole total of 136, eight under par.

Demaret's round was not the best of the day on a course which the pro's agreed played two to three strokes tougher than on the first round when 46 of the 74 in the field broke par of 72.

But his combination of a 69 with an opening day 67 left him in front aiming for his first triumph at Tam O'Shanter in the 10-year history of this event.

Hogan Behind 1 Stroke

Trailing him by one stroke was the favorite of the field, National Open champion Ben Hogan, who had a similar 69 Friday, and Clayton Heafner, who came in with a 68, one of two players to record the low round for the day.

The second 68 went to Johnny Palmer, who thereby moved into a tie for fourth place at 138 with Bob Hamilton, Lawson Little, Herman Earron, Ed Furoi, and Al Brosch, one of the first day leaders.

Compared to the par-busting scores on the first day, the links was far more difficult after a thorough watering for the second round. Only 23 managed to better par Friday. And most of these were in the one under 71, or two under 70 bracket.

Stranahan Leads Amateurs

The amateurs found the going more difficult, but muscle man Frank Stranahan, moved out in front with a 71 for a 140 total, three strokes better than the 143 recorded by Phil Scrutton of London, England, who had a 74 Friday.

Betsy Rawls, tiny newcomer as a woman pro, moved farther in front in the women's open, scoring a par 76 for a 147 total. Patty Berg of Minneapolis, tallied a sub-par 75 for second place with 149, while Babe Didrickson Zaharias, the defending titlist, occupied third with a 79 for a 151 total.

146 Enter Iowa AAU Swim Here Today

A record 146 swimmers have entered the Iowa AAU swim meet to be held this afternoon and evening in the municipal pool, tournament director J. James Councilman announced Friday.

In addition to the Iowa events, the National Women's Junior AAU one-meter diving championships will also be held. Iowa City's Ann Cooper is the favorite to cop this event, but she will be challenged by outstanding girls from Minneapolis, Minn., and Omaha, Neb.

The Iowa City swim club will be out to retain its AAU title with an entry list of 33 names. However, the Clinton team rules as a slight favorite to succeed to the title. Clinton has entered 32 swimmers, including former SUI breaststroke swimmer Dick Lake.

Another strong aggregation will come from Ames, where Iowa State college has entered a team under the name Porpoise Swim club.

Other headline performers will be Bob Sharp of Des Moines in the breaststroke, and three Iowa Citians who won titles in the recent Iowa open at Des Moines—Paul Hutinger in the Men's freestyle, Ken Peters in the boys diving.

The preliminaries will start at 1:30 p.m. and the finals at 7:30 p.m. There is no admission charge.

U.S. Takes 2-0 Davis Cup Lead

MONTREAL, (AP)—America's Davis cup forces made it quick and mercifully painless Friday as they crushed Canada's best without the loss of a set in the first two singles matches of the North American zone finals at the Mount Royal Tennis club.

Tony Trabert, the 20-year-old from Cincinnati, trounced Lorne Main, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3, and Dick Savitt from Orange, N. J., bellwether of Captain Frank Shield's team, overwhelmed Brendan Macken, champion of Canada, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

Chances are it will all be over after today's doubles match, in which Trabert and Budge Patty of Los Angeles will cross racquets with Macken and Henri Rochon. The winning team in the current series has a date to play Sweden in the inter-zone finals at Melbourne, Australia, next December.

Douglas Remains Firm In Federal Judge Feud

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas, (D-Ill.), invoked his senatorial privilege again Friday in a move to block the second of President Truman's three appointments to the federal bench in Illinois.

Stung by the President's refusal to consult or compromise with him on the Illinois judgeships, Douglas told a senate judiciary subcommittee that Cornelius J. Harrington is "personally obnoxious" to him.

This is the formula traditionally used by senators to kill presidential appointments in their home states. The senate traditionally sustains its colleagues on those grounds.

Douglas raised the same personal objection before the subcommittee last Saturday to Mr. Truman's choice of Municipal Court Judge Peter J. Drucker for one of the three vacancies in the U.S. District Court in Illinois.

The subcommittee has not acted on Drucker's nomination and there was no indication when, if ever, it will do so.

Douglas and the President are in agreement on their choice for the third Illinois judgeship—Joseph S. Perry.

The Illinois senator told the subcommittee that he and Mr. Truman also agree that the three vacancies should be filled by a Catholic, a Protestant and a Jew.

His own Catholic candidate is William H. King Jr., a Chicago lawyer, and the President's is Harrington. Douglas wants Municipal Court Judge Benjamin P. Epstein to get the "Jewish appointment" in place of Drucker. Perry is a Protestant.

Sen. William Langer, (R-N.D.), said it was "the very first time" in his years of service on the judiciary committee that the religious question had been raised as a factor in selecting federal judges.

Douglas replied that he regretted that religion did have to play a part in the selection of candidates. But he said he, Mr. Truman, and the committee had to face "realities."

"Each major group should feel fully represented—with a place in the sun—on the federal bench," he said. "I hope the time will come when this is not needed."

Harrington, an Illinois state circuit judge, sat quietly by as Douglas described him to the subcommittee as "an estimable man, a good family man, a good father, a truly religious man and a competent judge—but personally obnoxious."

Survivors Describe . . .

Aubrey Stears Jr., 9, of Lettsworth, became an indirect victim of the wreck. A car hit him and his pony while they were galloping to see the wreck. Both the boy and the pony were killed.

Marines piled out of the wreckage and gave first aid to injured passengers of the New Orleans-bound Southern Belle, as well as to their own. Rescue workers had to hack a road through the swamp to the wreck.

A marine lieutenant from Rhode Island, who would not identify himself, said he was trapped in a car and the burning oil was about to engulf him.

Marine Officer Rescued

"About 50 of my men picked up a section of rail that had been broken loose and enlarged a little hole in the side of the car until it was big enough for me to crawl through," he said. "They first handed me up a fire extinguisher, but I didn't need to use it."

He said the marine who was killed was sitting directly across from him. He said most of the marines escaped because they were eating breakfast at the back of the train.

The west-bound marines had scrawled "Korea" on the side of a car but at Camp Lejeune, N.C., where they entrained, officers clamped a security blackout of their mission.

U.S. Says Reds Lost 1,237,000 in Korea

WASHINGTON (UP)—The army estimated Friday that Communist forces in Korea have suffered 1,237,900 battle and non-battle casualties through July, including 890,700 killed, wounded or captured in battle.

Red battle casualties, the army said, are roughly six or seven times as great as UN losses.

Iowa Congressman Halts Military Building Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—House action on a $5,765,720,000 military construction bill was blocked temporarily Friday when Rep. H. R. Gross, (R-Ia.) launched a fight to cut out funds for an air base in President Truman's home county.

Gross asked the house to send the entire bill back to the armed services committee with instructions to eliminate $19,019,000 for a fighter-interceptor base at Grandview, Mo. Gross, who lost an earlier attempt to eliminate the project, demanded a roll call vote on his motion.

House Democratic leader John W. McCormack, (D-Mass.) had promised congressmen who left town early for the weekend that there would be no roll call votes Friday. So he postponed action on the defense measure until Tuesday.

Before Gross made his surprise move the bill had been expected to sail through to easy passage by voice vote.

Defense-conscious house members had voted $56 billion for arms Thursday in quick time, by a vote of 348 to 2. That money was for the regular expenses of the army, navy and air force until next June 30.

Defense spending bills still to come will add about $5 billion for the cost of the Korean war, and about $8 billion for foreign aid, pushing the total outlay this year close to the World War II peak.

The military construction bill authorized a far-flung program of building new bases and expanding old ones in 44 states and over much of the rest of the world. The air force would spend $3,543,661,800, the army $1,423,791,528 and the navy $801,267,000.

Senate Continues Boyle-RFC Probe

WASHINGTON (UP) — The "preliminary inquiry" into the alleged RFC dealings of William M. Boyle Jr. will be continued despite President Truman's clean bill of health for the Democratic national chairman, it was announced Friday.

Chairman Clyde R. Hoey, (D-N.C.) said the senate's permanent investigating subcommittee should finish the inquiry in a few days. The subcommittee then will decide whether a full investigation is needed.

Mr. Truman told his news conference Thursday that he had investigated and found that Boyle had nothing to do with reconstruction finance corporation loans totaling $565,000 to the American Lithofold corporation, St. Louis.

Mr. Truman said he had full confidence in Boyle and that he would remain as party chairman.
