Young Lutherans Told Be 'Radical Christians'

The Rev. Leslie J. Conrad of Philadelphia, executive secretary of the Luther League of America, Monday challenged the more than 1,200 delegates to the League's national convention here to become "radical Christians."

Speaking in the Iowa Memorial Union to the largest convention audience in the Luther league's 56 year history, the Rev. Mr. Conrad urged the delegates to heed the commands of the master and called on them to meet the challenge of Paul and Peter, whom he called the most boldly speaking men of the Christian world.

The delegates, representing 28 states, Canada and the Hawaiian islands, are the young people's group of The United Lutheran Church in America.

Before an audience including a large number of delegations from southern states, the Rev. Mr. Conrad lashed out at racial intolerance in the United States.

"American schools and churches apparently haven't gotten to first base in their attempts to teach racial tolerance in this nation," he charged.

Citing the recent mob violence in Cicero, Ill. when a Negro family was prevented from moving into an apartment there and their furnishings and belongings destroyed, the Rev. Mr. Conrad urged the delegates to lead the way to better racial understanding.

"I want you young people to shock your parents and friends if necessary when you go home," he said, "but make them realize that racial intolerance is hurting America."

Besides being the largest convention in Lutheran history, the present group of delegates are the youngest in history.

The convention, which will continue until Saturday, offers a variety of outlets for the delegates.

A softball tourney, music, handicrafts, swimming in the Iowa City municipal pool and movies are all open to the huge delegation. Today's opening worship service will be in charge of the Rev. Edward E. Korte of Pennsylvania State college.

A business meeting will follow and then 22 Bible study classes will be held throughout the remainder of the morning.

Tonight, the delegates will attend the consecration of eight women to the diaconate of the United Lutheran church in America.

Among the speakers at the ceremonies will be the Rev. Henry Eyster Horn, pastor of Resurrection Lutheran church, Augusta, Ga.

All sessions of the convention are being held in the Union.

MELCHOIR CHARGED

PENSACOLA (AP) — Lauritz Melchoir, former metropolitan opera tenor, was charged Monday with violating federal game laws.

A complaint filed by U. S. District Attorney George Earl Hoffman, charged the singer with illegal possession and transportation of Canadian geese.

Council Okays Record Budget of $861,297; No Public Protest

The city council Monday night gave final approval to a record city budget of $861,297 for 1952, after no objections to the figure were voiced at a public hearing.

The new budget is $56,343 more than this year's budget figure of $804,954. Because of a change in the city's fiscal year, a balance will remain for next year.

As a result Iowa City taxpayers will pay only $20.635 for every $1,000 in valuation as compared to $26.80 for this year.

The amount to be raised from taxation will be $356,695. This year's figure was $445,160.

The council referred to City Manager Peter F. Roan a petition signed by 159 Iowa Citizens asking for a traffic signal at the intersection of Dubuque and Church sts.

The petition, signed by residents living near the intersection, states that the area is especially dangerous because highways 218 and 261 intersect there.

In other action, the council:

1. Appointed Emory W. Kelly and Dr. M. L. Mosher to the city playground and recreation commission to fill the unexpired

Russ to Attend Jap Peace Pact Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia, after denouncing the proposed Japanese peace treaty, has given notice it will attend a 50-nation Japanese peace conference called in San Francisco Sept. 4 to sign it.

Moscow's decision foreshadowed a Soviet propaganda attempt to block the American-sponsored peace pact.

Barring an unexpected policy switch, Russia's delegation is expected to refuse to sign—but only after objecting to virtually every paragraph of the treaty draft.

In formal protest notes, Moscow has bitterly condemned the proposed draft as illegal and a device for tying an "aggressive" satellite Japan to the United States.

Acting Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, will head the Russian delegation to the San Francisco meeting. Gromyko is filling in for Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky who reportedly is recovering from pneumonia.

Nearly 25 nations have already indicated they will attend.

The draft treaty so far places no restrictions on Japan's right to rearm, presumably because of the Communist menace in the Far East.

Moscow in effect called for the U.S. to start all over in writing a treaty for Japan. The big five powers—including Communist China—it said, should jointly prepare a draft and then give it to other powers to sign.

The U.S. has turned down this idea. Russia played only a small role in the Japanese war, it said, and in effect does not deserve a dominant voice in the treaty.

34 KILLED IN ITALY

BOLZANO, Italy (AP) — A crowded bus plunged into a lake near this northeastern Italian city late Monday, and 34 persons on a holiday excursion were believed drowned. Only one passenger, a woman, was rescued.

SEATTLE (AP) — A roaring, four-engined B-50 bomber went suddenly out of control after a takeoff from Boeing field Monday and smashed into a three-story hillside apartment house, bringing flaming death to more than 11 people.

Carrying 3,500 gallons of gasoline and 300 gallons of oil, the mammoth plane caught fire as she hit and turned a third of the 200-foot long building into a raging furnace.

There were 49 apartments and 67 tenants. How many actually died may not be known for hours. Six men, three of them Boeing Airplane company test personnel, were aboard the plane.

Fire battalion chief R. B. Rogers said 11 bodies had been recovered from the mass of twisted steel, tangled bedsprings and charred wood that marked the smoldering death scene. He said other bodies had been sighted but could not estimate the number.

Twice explosions drove workers away. An hour after the crash a fuel tank blew up and in another hour an unexplained gas explosion forced the men back.

Others aboard the plane presumably were air force personnel, who would not be identified until next of kin could be notified.

The huge aircraft had gained

Reds Attack Allies All Along Front Suffer Heavy Losses

TOKYO (Tuesday) (AP)—Communist troops launched a series of sharp probing attacks across the Korean front early today and the efforts cost them heavy losses. It was the fourth day of enemy attacks.

A dispatch from eighth army headquarters said the main fighting was in the area south of Kumsong and north of Yanggu "with the Communists taking a much greater beating than the United Nations."

The early morning attacks were a continuation of the series begun Monday by the Communists. They attacked 12 times along a 40-mile front in central Korea and Allied troops beat back 11 of them.

Three probing attacks were thrown against UN lines south of Kumsong during the night and all three were hurled back.

These attacks were in platoon size, but elsewhere on the front the attacks were of company and battalion size.

A Red platoon charged an Allied-held hill south of Kumsong in another night assault which failed initially. The Communists brought in two more companies and early today the battle was still in doubt.

Television Lures Thousands to West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — "It's wonderful. It's a marvel of technology and something we never thought to see."

Thus a German youth from Thuringia in the Russian occupation zone described his first glimpse of television Monday in free West Berlin.

The American-sponsored television exhibition, both in black-and-white and in color, proved a tempting lure to East German Communist youth, footsore and hoarse from their continuing festival in East Berlin.

President Truman, in his greeting to West Berliners for the television exhibition, told them that "the hearts of the free world are with you." Mr. Truman said the show, sponsored by the Economic Cooperation Organization (ECA), was aimed to demonstrate "how free men can work together for peace and prosperity." He added that Americans "desire and pray, as you do for a peaceful world with equal opportunity for all."

Two American companies, the Columbia Broadcasting System and Radio Corporation of America, set up giant television sets on West Berlin streets so that thousands could watch the show simultaneously.

The young Thuringian who was so impressed by what he saw was one of thousands of the youths from behind the iron curtain who had been gathered in the Red festival but slipped over for a glimpse at the wonders of the capitalist west.

The Thuringian, identified only as Robert S. for his own security, stood before a window of a radio shop in the Kurfeustendamm district.

It was the opening night of the two-week exhibit, and all West Berlin was agog. Youngsters who came over from East Berlin had to elbow for standing room among the West Berliners. What they saw was an eye-popper, surpassing the shiny autos and glittering storefronts they had previously found exciting in the west. There was nothing like this in their chief cities—Dresden, Dessau, or Leipzig.

Some 20,000 persons jammed Schoenberg park to see the television presentation. Antennae for the telecast were set atop the tower which houses West Berlin's "freedom bell."

Interpreting the News— Occupation May End Soon

By J. M. ROBERTS Jr.
 Associated Press News Analyst

The Allied occupation of Germany may end this year. Developments in European affairs certainly point to its early demise.

This does not mean that Allied troops will be withdrawn. But they will be shorn of police powers and special privilege of victory, and remain as representatives of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's European army, which Germany will be joining.

Negotiations over the unified European army and West Germany's whole relation with European defense have made it clear that her's must be a position of full political equality. That has developed as the prime factor in drawing up the new "contractual" relationship which will substitute for the occupation statute and for the peace treaty which must await a general settlement.

Up to now the Allies have retained the right to step back into any aspect of German life if the circumstances seemed to require it. For instance, there was always lurking in the background the possible need for intervention against the rise of a new Hitler. But under the impulse for general European defense against the Russian threat, that idea apparently will be yielded.

The Allies will retain certain positions which will be involved in any general European settlement. They will continue to deal with Russian on all matters regarding the present division of Germany and the hope for reunification. The Allied position in Berlin, where the designs of East and West meet in almost daily clash, will be unchanged. The Allies will continue to handle boundary matters, involving such things as the Saar and the Eastern territories now held by Poland. The Germans themselves would not have this any other way.

The Allied high commission, however, is to go. The Allies will handle their business with Germany through embassies as before the war. The Bonn government's control over the area now subject to it will be complete.

These matters are, of course, a source of nervousness for France. Especially when it comes to giving up the right of intervention in German internal affairs. But her top leaders, such as Plevin and Schuman, are believed ready to face up to a situation made evident during the negotiations over the army and the Schuman plan.

There does not seem to be any fixed timetable for these developments. The Schuman plan is yet to be put into effect. This contract for the pooling of Western Europe's coal and steel resources, with its insurance against mobilization of industry for war between Germany and France, is of course the basis of the whole deal. It is expected to get final approval by the different governments very soon.

BELGIUM-LUXEMBOURG ROLE IN Thwarting COMMUNISM

Belgium, Luxembourg Form a Rich Industrial and Manpower Unit

Ninth in a series of 12 articles on the North Atlantic Treaty organization and its role in strengthening the free world.

By H. D. CRAWFORD
 Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — When Belgium's young King Badouin I took his oath July 17 "to maintain the national independence and integrity of the territory," two months before his 21st birthday, he became king of 8,700,000 people whose nation is about one-fourth the size of New York state. Belgium and its small neighbor, Luxembourg, form an important unit in the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Luxembourg, a dot on the map covering 999 square miles where 300,000 sturdy people in a fantastically beautiful country produce foodstuffs and maintain a sizeable steel industry, has an economic union with Belgium. Most of its military contributions to NATO defense are linked also with those of Belgium. Luxembourg even has a platoon attached to the Belgian brigade in Korea. Belgium's military attache in Washington also represents Luxembourg in NATO military matters.

THE SIZE of the nation is no measure of the ideas of its statesmen, and words of profound wisdom have come from the statesmen of Belgium and Luxembourg.

Luxembourg's Foreign Minister Joseph Bech — who in July achieved the almost unprecedented record of serving for 25 years as his nation's foreign minister—has proved himself one of the distinguished statesmen of Europe. He repeatedly has set forth the policies of his little nation in clearcut language.

"It would be dangerous at the present time to exclude Spain from international life even if certain governments do not approve her international life even if certain not long ago.

The Far East has provided this lesson, he said, for Atlantic nations: "Military weakness encourages aggression. To keep the peace in Western Europe, therefore, we must hasten to restore the balance of power, at present seriously upset by the military preperations made by countries of the eastern bloc."

BELGIAN AIR FORCE officers study supply techniques at Scott air force base under the North Atlantic pact plan.

European security, Bech added, has two inseparable but distinct aspects. "Not only must we defend Europe against outside aggression; we also must eliminate all danger of future armed conflict among the European nations themselves."

A European army, in Bech's opinion, would be "a powerful element of the Atlantic army under the latter's supreme command, and a notable milestone on the road to the unification of Europe."

BELGIUM and Luxembourg have received $576,556,000 of Marshall plan and mutual assistance help from the U. S., $74,293,000 of it in the 1951 fiscal year.

Communism's decline is estimated to be the greatest in Belgium and Luxembourg of all nations in Western Europe—65 per cent in Belgium and 84 per cent in Luxembourg. Only in Norway, where Communist strength is estimated to have dropped 85 per cent, have Communists lost so much influence.

Manpower and industrial power potentials in Belgium and Luxembourg are important factors in NATO defense strength. Equipment received from the U. S. has been put to effective use in both countries. Training of maintenance crews is reported to have improved to a level with U. S. standards.

Naval equipment received from the U. S. has stimulated Belgians to train officers and enlisted men to increased naval efficiency.

Belgian morale has been heightened by NATO developments.

"The Belgian people are becoming increasingly conscious not only of their responsibilities within the Atlantic treaty framework," Robert E. Murphy, U.S. ambassador to Brussels, recently reported, "but of the probability that the defense of Western Europe can be successful, thanks to concrete U. S. aid and to the new spirit of resolution among the North Atlantic organization allies."

THE BELGIAN army in recent months has activated two armored and five artillery battalions and one engineer battalion. U. S. equipment bolstered morale and stipulated field training of troops. "Experienced observers believe the spirit of the Belgian army," said Ambassador Murphy, "is at its highest point since before the last war."

Arrival of aircraft and other military equipment from the U. S. has received enthusiastic news and picture coverage in the Belgian press. It has evoked howls of horror from the Belgian Communist press.

Belgium's parliament last March increased the conscription training period to 24 months—the first free European nation to take this drastic step, although all have compulsory military training. Belgium's military budget in the last two years has doubled.

NATO observers believe considerable improvement still can be made in utilizing the manpower and production facilities of Belgium and Luxembourg for greater NATO defense purposes.

Sister Kenny Ignores Own Disease, Will Continue to Battle Against Polio

MINNEAPOLIS (P)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny, disappointed but undismayed by the snubs of medical authorities, will ignore an incurable illness and crusade half-way around the world to seek recognition for her method of treating polio victims, friends revealed Monday.

Fearful she may never get back to her native land alive, she will leave Australia Thursday on a trip to the international polio conference in Copenhagen. A nurse will accompany her.

En route, Sister Kenny—who has spent 43 years fighting polio—will stop in the United States in California, Minneapolis, and New York. While in this country, she will present a manuscript on her method of treating polio to the American medical association.

Friends said she is hopeful the trip will be a "crowning touch" to her life and lead to acceptance by medical authorities of her methods of fighting crippling effects of the disease.

She considers such recognition vital if the word is to get full benefit of the treatment she developed, they said. For that reason she decided to make the trip in a last desperate attempt for "official recognition"—even though it may hasten her death.

Sister Kenny—who will be 65 next month—said she wouldn't let illness stop her fight for recognition for her treatments.

"I fought 40 years to make my discoveries known and I will fight on until I die," she said.

British and American medical

authorities never have recognized her methods. Friends in Minneapolis told Monday of the heartbreak and disappointment these medical snubs have brought to her life.

They said her work has saved "countless crippling" of children smitten with infantile paralysis, and she feels much more could be stopped if her treatments were officially recognized.

One of her greatest disappointments, they said, was when she came to the U.S. in 1940. They said the national foundation for infantile paralysis told her it needed nothing from her and refused to give her funds for her work.

After her work in the 1943 epidemic, her clinics were granted money by the foundation for bed expense for patients. But they were given nothing for medical treatment. Money for this work is raised by public fund drives.

Several years ago it was discovered that she was often penniless, with out even money for groceries. Since that discovery, the Minneapolis exchange club has raised funds to give her $400 a year for living expenses. She also was provided with a home in Minneapolis.

Associates said that her "hot pack" treatments have changed "the entire course" of treatments for the disease. They said medical schools now train personnel in "Kenny methods" but do it "without full understanding" of the treatment. Because medical authorities. That is why she feels treatment, Kenny-trained personnel aren't used in training work at these schools. Sister Kenny feels, they said, that the entire method must be taught, and can't without recognition by medical authorities. That is why she feels recognition so vital, friends said.

There now are Kenny clinics in Minneapolis, Los Angeles, Pontiac, Mich., Buffalo and New York City. A sixth clinic at Centralia, Ill., was abandoned after the 1949 epidemic in Illinois when there was a dispute between the clinics and state health officials.

New Idea—Air-Cooled Range

A BRAND NEW COOLING IDEA that reduces outside temperatures on the oven end is included in this gas range. To the usual amount of spun glass, designers have added an open air space between the insulation and the white side of the range so that cool air is drawn from the floor and flows upwards to create an additional air chamber. It means that the range can be operated in summer heat now—and all year 'round—without appreciably raising room temperature.

In Ironing—

Know-How Saves Time

There's no magic to help you with this week's ironing, but there is some special know-how that can both lighten and shorten your stint at the ironing board, and give you more finished looking clothes in the bargain.

Your ironing job begins at the line, according to one home management specialist. If you take care in hanging up the clothes, you won't have to touch an iron to some of them, and others will have less wrinkles.

Shake the articles out, hang them by the corners. And hang each garment by its strongest point, says the authority. Hang bedspreads and slip covers over two parallel lines so you won't end up with a crease right down the middle.

Stretchers Save Work

Wire stretchers for drying trousers are big work-savers. And as for washable synthetics, particularly nylon and nylon mixtures, hang them on rust-proof hangers and let them drip dry.

Let starched clothes get bone dry. Catch the others at the right dampness for ironing, if possible. Fold dry and damp articles carefully as you take them from the line, for crumpling them in the basket hit-or-miss makes stubborn wrinkles.

When you dampen clothes, use warm water. It will spread through the fabric more quickly. Fold garments carefully, turning hems and other double thickness portions inside. Roll them up lightly, cover with a towel.

Better still, says the home economist, put them in a plastic bag. Let the clothes stand at least 30 minutes. If the air is hot and humid, iron them within an hour or two to prevent mildew.

Sit Down to Iron

Sit down to iron, if possible. If you sit up to a low, adjustable board in a comfortable chair, you'll save as much as 24 per cent of your energy. You'll save about 18 per cent of your energy if you sit on a stool.

Before you start your ironing, set up a convenient work center. It will save you many motions, will make the whole task easier and more efficient. Place your basket of rolled, dampened clothing on a box or low stool to your left, where you can reach it easily with your left hand.

Place your clothes rack to your right for hanging up ironed garments. It's also a good idea to have a table handy for ironed household linens.

Here are a few helpful tips on the ironing job itself: Know your fabrics and what heat each requires. If in doubt, start with a cool iron. Always iron garments until they are dry, except wools.

Iron with the grain of the material. Iron tops of long garments before the lower parts. Learn to iron a man's shirt on a wide ironing board.

Hope Found for Control Of High Blood Pressure

ST. LOUIS (AP) — People with high blood pressure have a chemical in their blood not found in the blood of normal pressure.

It is the first time such a chemical difference has been found. The chemical is named pherentasin, from the Greek meaning to hold up pressure.

It is one of the bright new hopes for controlling high blood pressure, the cause of much heart trouble, apoplexy, perhaps kidney troubles.

A next step is to find a drug that will neutralize pherentasin. It could be given to people to keep their blood pressure normal. A couple of drugs that may do this are already being studied.

The discovery was made at Washington university medical school by a research team headed by Dr. Henry A. Schroeder, assistant professor of medicine. Other members of the team this year are Drs. Dean F. Davies, H. Mitchell Perry, and Arnold H. Williams.

Underway for Five Years

Their study of high blood pressure has been underway for five years, with a five-year break caused by World War II.

Pherentasin can be recovered in highly purified form from the blood of people with high blood pressure, Dr. Schroeder said. Injected into rats, it raises their blood pressure within five minutes. The pressure stays high for 15 or 30 minutes or sometimes for an hour.

Pherentasin was found in the blood of almost all people with high blood pressure, except in some with the malignant form of the disease. Only one person with normal pressure had any pherentasin in his blood.

Pherentasin apparently is produced by the kidneys, but that is not yet proven, Dr. Schroeder said.

Extremely Potent

It is extremely potent, with only tiny amounts found in the blood. Blood tests devised so far can pick up 1-10th of 1-100th of a microgram of it. A microgram is one-28,000,000th of an ounce.

The researchers now are trying to get absolutely pure pherentasin, and to find something safe to use that will counteract or neutralize it. They also want to know where it comes from and how it acts to boost blood pressure.

From this and other research, a practical method of controlling high blood pressure should be found within five years, Dr. Schroeder declared. It would have to be taken regularly, like insulin, to keep pressure normal. The hopes of finding a cure for the disease are much farther off.

This research is supported by the U.S. public health service, national heart institute on a seven-year grant. Eli Lilly and Co., have also contributed.

John T. Connor Weds Miss Kathryn Huber In Washington, Ia.

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Huber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Huber, Washington, Ia., and Mr. John T. Connor, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Thomas Connor, Glidden, was held Saturday in Washington.

The double ring service was performed at 4 p. m. in the Methodist Episcopal church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Norma Huber, Washington, maid of honor. Her bridesmaids were Mrs. R. L. Pearson and Miss Mary Helen Huber, also of Washington.

Wayne Connor, Glidden, served as best man. Ushers were R. L. Pearson, Washington; Paul Connor and Ralph Connor, Glidden, and Edmund Hawes, Iowa City.

Mrs. Edmund J. Hawes, Iowa City, and Mrs. Lucille Keck, Oak Park, poured at the reception that was held in the church parlors following the service.

The bride wore a gown of sheer marquisette over satin with a sheer yoke outlined with a lace ruffle, a V-basque bodice and long tapering sleeves. A lace ruffle over the hipline extended from the front panel of her full skirt into the junior train.

The bride also wore a Juliette cap, trimmed in seed pearls. She carried an orchid surrounded by white Glamillias. Her pearls were a gift from the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids wore dresses of yellow, blue and green taffeta and net. They carried bouquets of Glamillias.

The bride was graduated from SUI Aug. 8. Her husband was graduated from SUI in Feb. 1950. He is now attending McCormick seminary in Chicago, Ill.

After a 10 day honeymoon to Canada, the couple will live in Evanston, Ill.

Iowa City guests included Miss Phyllis Lanning, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hawes, and the Misses Mary, Jane and Marie Condon.

Ties Can Be Remodeled

All those unused neckties hanging on Pop's tie-rack can be put to good use by a girl with some slight skill with needle and thread.

Any four-in-hand tie, for instance, will make a small hat. Rip and remove lining, press open and cover buckram frame. Finish the under-brim with a narrow ruching and add a ribbon bow at the back.

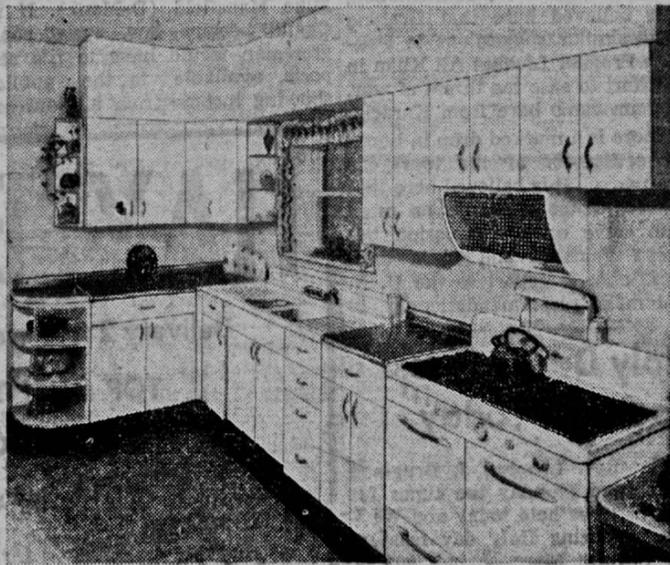

Or use a tie to make a collar and cuff set, cutting collar from wide end, cuffs from narrow end.

A number of worn neckties may be stitched together (after ripping and pressing) to form a gay patchwork cocktail apron. Or the wide ends of three four-in-hand ties may be stitched together to form a colorful cummerbund.

New Kitchen Limits Work

THIS KITCHEN OBVIOUSLY had no planning — really was a "work" room. The range was isolated, there were no facilities for storage and only a table as a too-low work surface. The old fashioned cupboards afforded no convenience except space, and much of that at unhandy height.

THIS NEW KITCHEN COMBINES beauty and convenience. Using standard steel cabinets and a twin bowl cabinet sink, the old kitchen was transformed into a modern one where work no longer is a drudgery. The wall what-not shelves add an extra touch of gaiety to this otherwise completely functional room.

Spain Gets $400 Million OK, No Rebuke from Senate Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate foreign relations committee approved a no-strings $400 million military and economic aid program for Franco Spain Monday and rejected a subcommittee's criticism of the Spanish dictatorship.

The subcommittee, which visited Spain and other European countries in June, had recommended the aid program on the condition the Spanish government "promote the freedoms cherished by the Spanish peoples."

But the full committee, before approving the subcommittee report, cut out the conditions and also struck out criticisms of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government.

The action was taken as the foreign relations and armed services committees began a joint study of the administration's $8.5 billion foreign aid program.

Some European countries, notably Great Britain and France, have been strongly opposed to Spain's entry into the North Atlantic defense alliance. The foreign relations committee concluded it is essential for Spain to be brought into the "master plans for defense against aggression"—but the report said "it is impracticable at this time for a variety of reasons to invite either Spain or Yugoslavia to become members of the North Atlantic pact."

West Captures Uranium Searchers

HOF, Germany (AP) — Three Russians and 10 East Germans who crossed the zonal border for West Germany searching for uranium deposits were captured Monday by West German police.

Three others escaped and fled back across the border.

The captives—two of the Russian soldiers—told the police they had crossed the poorly marked border by mistake while seeking uranium ore on the Russian zone side. Uranium, the basic constituent of atom bombs, reportedly is being mined in East Germany and shipped to Russia.

High Steel Prices Threaten Britain

LONDON (AP) — Skyrocketing steel prices Monday threatened to cripple the British labor government's $13,160,000,000 defense program, designed to rearm the nation in the next three years.

Iron and steel prices were up Monday as much as 20 per cent in a new schedule of rates announced by the nationalized iron and steel industry. The new prices, which are higher by as much as $16.80 a ton, will hit hard at heavy industry and every home in Britain.

Finance Committee Considers Raising Personal Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate finance committee Monday began considering how much to raise the personal income taxes of 55 million Americans as another congressional group warned that the 12½ per cent boost approved by the house is not enough.

The warning came from staff experts of the house-senate economic committee. They said in a 41-page special report that a $10 billion overall tax increase is needed urgently to bolster "recently weakened credit, wage and price controls."

Chairman Walter F. George, (D-Ga.) said the finance committee reached no major decision Monday as its first closed-door session on the record $7.2 billion tax bill passed by the house.

The only action at the two-hour meeting was approval of a minor house provision which would exempt servicemen in uniform from the 20 per cent federal tax on admissions, when they are issued otherwise-free tickets to events.

George said most of the session was devoted to an inconclusive discussion of personal income taxes. He added that it may require several days for the committee to reach a decision on how much to increase them.

There is strong sentiment in the senate committee for paring down the tax increases voted by the house. Some members believe the senate will vote to raise taxes only about $6 billion.

But the economic committee staff, which serves congress in somewhat the same capacity as the council of economic advisers serves President Truman, fully endorsed the administration's argument that a tax boost of at least $10 billion is necessary to keep the defense program on a pay-as-we-go basis.

UN Peace-Maker Makes Suggestions To Pakistan, India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — U.N. Mediator Frank Graham was reported Monday to have suggested that India and Pakistan compromise by pulling some of their advance troops back in the dispute over Kashmir.

The reports circulated after Graham talked alone with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru for 50 minutes. While there is no confirmation, it is believed here that Graham made similar suggestions to Pakistan Premier Liaquat Ali Khan in an effort to ease the threat of war. Graham came here from Karachi.

There is a marked drop in hopes for settlement of the four-year old quarrel. It is believed here that at best Graham can do no more than stave off an explosion between Pakistan and India until he is able to report to the U. N. and make recommendations.

The Eldon Miller trucking company filed an answer Monday to a $48,825 automobile damage suit brought against them by the estate of a former SU1 student, Robert E. Bushland, killed in an accident near here Feb. 2, 1951.

The original suit charged the Miller firm with negligence in connection with the accident on highway 218, 13 miles north of Iowa City.

It charged that the Miller driver was careless in allowing the truck to hit the back of Bushland's car which had stopped along the highway.

The reply Monday denied any negligence in the accident and asked the court to dismiss the hearing.

Rejecting MVA --

Solon Backs Pick-Sloan Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pick-Sloan plan for development of flood control and reclamation projects in the Missouri river basin would "do the job," Rep. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) said Monday.

He told the house that Nebraskans also wanted the flood control program of the agriculture department.

"The Missouri river basin should move forward with the programs already underway and outlined."

The Pick-Sloan plan would provide a number of small dams through the area.

Curtis, reviewing flood control development in the area in connection with recent mid-west floods, said that those "who believe in big government and centralized control" are suggesting again the creation of a Missouri Valley Authority. He said:

"They said that surely now the people of the Missouri river basin will cease resisting the creation of the MVA. They imply that centralizing of authority, the creation of a large government bureau and the addition of hundreds of thousands of government employees will stop the floods per se.

"What the MVA's apparently do not know is that the valley authority idea cannot be well adapted to a territory such as the Missouri river basin. They do not know what water rights are; they do not know that water rights and land ownership are inseparable and very important; they do not know that already there is underway a flood control, irrigation and public power construction program in the Missouri river basin.

"It is successful, it is not failing, and what we need is more time and more money. It preserves the autonomy of the states. It is a cooperative effort on the part of the federal government, the state and the citizens."

Primary Tests List Truman, Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Politicians Monday planned presidential primary tests next spring for President Truman on the Democratic ticket in Oregon, and for General Dwight Eisenhower on the Republican slate in Minnesota.

Neither man has said yet whether he'll be a candidate in the 1952 elections, but their supporters didn't seem to let that bother them.

Monroe Sweetland, state Democratic chairman in Oregon, called on the president Monday. Sweetland told reporters he assured Mr. Truman his name "definitely" will be entered in the Oregon primary next May.

Sweetland also said a move is under way to enter Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) in the Oregon presidential primary. A candidate doesn't have to consent to have his name entered in that state.

Meanwhile, Republican Sen. Edward Thye of Minnesota predicted Eisenhower would sweep Minnesota's Republican presidential primary next March 18, if his name is entered.

Thye said he wouldn't be at all surprised if Eisenhower is represented in the balloting. He told a reporter he would back the general if Eisenhower is available and if not, he'd support Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor and now president of the University of Pennsylvania.

Ceremonies Open New Road Between Iowa City, Kalona

Highway 1 between Iowa City and Kalona was officially opened for traffic Monday following a public ceremony in which members of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, Kalona city officials and Iowa City residents paid tribute to the men whose planning and work made the road possible.

Mrs. Morgan W. Davis, who has lived along highway 1 for more than 25 years, cut the ribbon that officially opened the new paving for traffic.

Speakers at the ceremony included Sanford Zeigler, Fairfield, chairman of the state highway commission; R. H. Peterseim, mayor of Kalona; William J. Holland, Iowa City mayor, and Morgan W. Davis and Hal J. Dane, Johnson county farmers.

Sam Shulman, chairman of the good roads committee of the chamber of commerce, was master of ceremonies at the brief gathering.

Davis, president of the Johnson County Good Roads association, formed in 1925, expressed appreciation for the paving on behalf of all farmers living in the area.

Kalona has laid plans for a homecoming and highway dedication program Wednesday.

West Point Cadet —

'I'll Miss This Discipline'

— Tells of Going Home

By MILTON RICHMAN

WEST POINT (AP) — His words came out in fragments, like sawed-off syllables from a broken heart.

He was a husky, handsome cadet of 20, a football player and one of the 90 West Pointers dismissed for cheating. He talked now of leaving the academy for home today and how it would be "the longest, saddest trip of my life."

Stuffing his gear in a pea green barracks bag, he sighed heavily, looked around the freshly scrubbed walls of his room, and mumbled: "I'll Miss This Place"

"I'm going to miss this place a lot. Sure, I know a lot of fellows are saying they're glad to go; I even say it myself sometimes. But don't believe it."

He paused in his packing to examine a West Point handbook.

"You know," he said, smiling wryly, "I'll even miss all this discipline. That's a fact, I will. You get used to it and it becomes part of your life."

'I'm On Your Side'—Mother

"The folks will be glad to see me, though. I haven't done anything wrong in their eyes. I talked to Mom over the telephone and I guess I sort of choked up a little, but she's wonderful. You know what she told me? She said, 'I'm your mother, and I'll always be on your side.'"

He turned to his packing wistfully glancing at a football souvenir first and then a khaki blouse. He revealed he was "just a small town boy" from an obscure midwestern hamlet.

"It's going to be hard to forget that fine band they have up here," he added. "They used to play some real good music when we marched out on the plains. And that band really put on a show during our football games. We could hear it playing, even in the locker rooms."

'Hate To Leave'

"You know," he said, sitting down a moment, it's hard to explain all the things a fellow is going to miss. I made a lot of fine friends up here. You hate to leave 'em.

"I certainly hope the academy will get over this bad publicity. It's too great a place to be smeared because a couple of us made mistakes." He took a deep breath and placed his closely shaven head in his arms.

"Up here," he went on, "it was clean—decent—wholesome." He didn't pick his head up as he mumbled:

"Wherever I'll be, I'll always root for Army—always."

The cadet was silent for a long time. It was obvious he wanted to be alone.

The door to his room closed behind him, but it's doubtful whether he even heard it.

First of 90 West Point Cadets to Leave Monday

WEST POINT, (AP) — The first of 90 cadets involved in West Point's cribbing scandal will leave the U. S. military academy today under orders to report to their draft boards for possible induction after brief terminal leaves, the army announced Monday night.

Cardinal Spellman Offer

NEW YORK (AP)—Stating "To err is human; to forgive divine," Francis Cardinal Spellman announced Monday that he has arranged for the three Catholic men's colleges in the New York archdiocese to accept any of the ousted West Point cadets who apply for admission.

Spellman, archbishop of New York, said he had asked the presidents of Fordham university, Manhattan college and Iona college to accept the men, and that they had accepted.

An academy spokesman said that some definitely will say farewell to West Point today and that all of the 90 will be gone within a week or 10 days.

Only three of the 90 accused of giving or receiving information on examinations have not had their cases investigated by a special review board. They are on training missions in Europe. These cadets knew of the charges against them.

Cadets here indicated that six would leave today.

A number of the girls of the cadets involved were staying at the Gen. Thayer hotel on the academy grounds, waiting for their boy friends to leave. There was much talk in the hotel lobby about quick marriages. Cadets are not permitted to marry and some of the girls appeared to be pleased that they do not have to wait until their men graduate.

The army will permit the cadets to leave the academy in their uniforms and will pay their fares home. After they reach their homes, they will receive administrative orders separating them from West Point. The orders will say either that they resigned and the resignation has been accepted, or that they were discharged, depending upon the results of their testimony before the review board.

Academy officials refused to divulge the number who were discharged, presumably for refusing to admit guilt in the cribbing scandal. The discharges will be neither honorable nor dishonorable and will not mention the alleged cheating.

Five days after receiving their orders the men must report to their draft boards. They must either register for the draft or advise their boards of a change of status, if they already are registered.

The draft law exempts West Point cadets, but those who are ousted lost that exemption. Their West Point training will not count as army service.

New Arrest Indicates Basketball Fix May Hit South, Far West

NEW YORK (AP)—An indication that the college basketball fixing scandal might spread into the deep South and Far West came Monday with the arrest of a 33-year-old Brooklyn man.

Nathaniel Brown was held in $10,000 bail as a material witness by general sessions judge Louis Capozzoli.

The bail was requested by assistant district attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor, who said that Brown "has important information which he has yet to disclose." He said Brown travelled to the west coast, and when asked of the significance, O'Connor added:

"He also went as far south as Louisiana."

O'Connor said his investigators are close to information which involves players and colleges not yet named.

O'Connor also said several Bradley university players involved in the alleged fix of a Bowling Green-Bradley game at Madison Square garden probably would come before the grand jury in New York Thursday or Friday.

George Clark Tops JCC Golf

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old George Clark of Ottumwa, Iowa came home in the twilight Monday with a brilliant 33-36-69 to lead the first qualifying round of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce National junior golf tournament.

His one-under par tour of the 6,660-yard par 35-35-70 Hope Valley country club course wrestled the lead from big Kent McLachlan of Vancouver, Wash., who earlier had posted a 34-36-70.

Another 18-hole round today will cut the field to 128 for the first round of match play on Wednesday morning.

Other first qualifying round scores for Iowans were John McGuinness, Des Moines, 40-36-76; Dale Kniss, Waterloo, 37-36-73; Don Webber, Ames, 43-36-79; John Hazen, Ottumwa, 43-42-85.

Feller Wins No. 19

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland fans honored the magnificent Bobby Feller as "the best pitcher of his time" Monday night and he in turn rewarded them with a seven-hit, 2-1 victory over the Tigers which put the Indians 2½ games in front in the American league race.

It was Feller's 19th victory against just four losses.

By winning their 11th straight game while the Yankees were getting squelched, 16-8, by the seventh place Athletics, the Indians took the most commanding margin in the hot race since July 30 when the Yankees went out front by 2½.

It was the 14th victory in 15 games for Cleveland over Detroit this season and Al Rosen helped Feller to achieve it by blasting his 20th homer in the fourth inning for the first run of the game. The Indians' second run came in the fifth on an error, Feller's single, a fielder's choice on which all hands were safe, and a long fly by Bobby Avila.

Feller pitched one-hit ball for the first four innings and Detroit failed to score until the eighth when Gerry Priddy and Dick Kryhoski singled and Priddy scored on an infield out.

Meanwhile, the suddenly deflated Yankees, looked simply awful against the Athletics who collected 18 hits off four throwers to make it three in a row against last year's world champs. The A's scored more runs than any other team thus far this year.

Vic Raschi, Yankee ace, who had a lifetime 19-2 won and lost record against the A's was given a 4-0 lead but couldn't hold it. He threw three wild pitches during a second inning rally when the A's counted three times.

The A's made three more in the third to go ahead for good. Catcher Joe Tipton and outfielder Elmer Valo hit safely four times each, while Eddie Joost got three hits for a total of 10 against the Yankees in the last three games. Gil McDougald hit a Yankee homer.

Gil Hodges crashed his 33rd homer for three runs in the eighth inning to provide the Dodgers with a 7-6 victory over the Braves in Brooklyn. Hodges, the major league leader, also topped his own record of 32 homers set

White Sox Protest Of Yankee Game To Be Aired Aug. 27

CHICAGO (AP) — The charge that the New York Yankees "stalled" their way to a victory over the Chicago White Sox last month has been set for an airing in the American league office here Monday, Aug. 27.

League president Will Harridge Monday ordered the two team managers and the four umpires of the game to meet in his office and "discuss" the protest filed by Manager Paul Richards of the White Sox.

The protested game was played in Yankee stadium the night of July 27. It was called at 12:30 a.m. by chief umpire Hank Soar after rain had forced suspension of play about an hour.

Soar ruled the field was too wet for further play. The game was then in the ninth inning with the White Sox leading, 4-3, the bases loaded and one out. But when Soar called the game, the score reverted to the end of the previous full inning and gave the Yankees a 3-1 victory.

In his protest, Richards denied that the field was unfit for further play and also accused Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees of using "stalling tactics" to prolong the game until the threatening rain storm broke.

last season, the most by a right handed batter in Brooklyn history. Roy Campanella hit his 25th homer, his 14th in 28 games to drive in two earlier runs. Sam Jethroe homered for Boston.

The Giants stayed 12½ games behind the Brooks by making it three in a row over the third place Phillies, winning 5-2 behind Larry Jansen. Jansen gained his 15th victory and put the Phillies 4½ games behind the Giants. Whitey Lockman gave him his necessary runs with a three-tally homer in the first inning.

Cincinnati twice topped Pittsburgh, 2-0, on the five-hit pitching of Howie Fox and 7-1 on Ewell Blackwell's four-hitter. Fox and Ted Kluszewski hit homers for the only runs off loser Howie Pollet in the opener. In the second game Johnny Wyrostek and Red Stallcup each made two hits to set the pace for Blackwell, who won his 12th game.

The Cubs counted four unearned runs in a 6-3 victory over the Cardinals at St. Louis, spoiling the big league debut of pitcher Dick Bokelmann. Stan Musial made his 200th big league homer especially memorable by getting it inside the park in the first inning.

Bokelmann couldn't hold the advantage, however, and the Cubs counted five runs in the second in which he made an error and failed to cover first.

Senators Ask Investigation Of Boxing Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senators demanded an investigation of the international boxing club Monday on grounds that it is a monopoly which has carried the sport to a "new low" and deprived deserving boxers of championship fights.

Sens. Herman Welker (R-Ida.) and Harry P. Cain (R-Wash.) said that despite recent scandals in football and basketball, and the current investigation of baseball, those sports still are "much cleaner, much more wholesome and more competitive" than professional boxing.

They introduced a resolution calling on the senate judiciary committee to conduct an investigation. Similar resolutions have been offered by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) and Rep. L. Gary Clemente (D-N. Y.)

The IBC, a New York promoting organization, controls the fighting careers of most big-time boxers, including ex-heavyweight champions Joe Louis and Ezzard Charles, through exclusive contracts. It is expected to sign a contract with champion Jersey Joe Walcott before he defends his title.

The fighters have little choice but to sign up with the IBC since it controls most of the big fight arenas across the country. IBC president Jim Norris is a major stockholder in Madison Square garden, New York, and stadiums in Chicago, Boston, Detroit, and Cincinnati.

IBC also has contracts which forbid other promoters from staging bouts in New York's Yankee stadium or Polo grounds.

Ridgway States Allied Position On Armistice

TOKYO (TUESDAY) (AP) — The 24th session of the Kaesong armistice talks got nowhere again today, still being deadlocked on location of a buffer zone that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said must follow the present battle line.

An official announcement said there was "no progress" at today's meeting in Kaesong. It was the same announcement made at the end of the last 14 sessions which have been deadlocked on a Communist demand for a 38th parallel demarcation line.

Some hope remained a truce may eventually be attained. The Allies and Communists did agree to try again Wednesday at Kaesong and Ridgway said in an interview the United Nations position was not "inflexible."

But he was not optimistic about the chances the Communists would reverse their formally announced position of the 38th parallel and pointed out the finality of the adjectives they have used in the talks.

"Our position is reasonable and understandable, and has been explained in minute detail to the Communists. It is not inflexible. We are willing to give and take in fixing the final line to the topography of the country, as long as it follows in general the present hard-won battle line and does not yield vital points of defense," Ridgway said.

"We are willing to discuss with the Communists variants of the line to fit particular topographical features providing only that we remain in position to defend South Korea after a cease-fire is reached."

Ridgway denied Communist propaganda claims the UN sought a truce line above the present battle line. He pointed out the valleys that have been used for centuries as natural invasion routes and said the Allies must hold them if South Korea is to be defended.

One of Ridgway's statements explained the Allied willingness to return to Kaesong day after day in the face of an apparently hopeless deadlock. As long as there is a chance for peace, he said, the UN will do everything in its power, consistent with honor and without appeasement to bring that peace into being.

He made it clear the UN was not interested in real estate—an expression he has used before in launching "killer" drives.

Solon Fears Death May Come to Oatis

WASHINGTON (AP) — A house armed services subcommittee decided Monday to require by law that the services give military reservists plenty of advance notice before recall to duty.

The new reserve bill, now being written by the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Brooks (D-La.) would require a minimum 30 days notice "unless military conditions as determined by the appropriate secretary do not permit."

Cabinet Minister Killed by Wife, Jealous of His Job

ORLEANS, France (AP) — Pretty Yvonne Chevallier was formally charged with murder Monday in the strange politics-conquers-love shooting of her young cabinet minister husband, Pierre.

Theoretically, dark-haired Mme. Chevallier, who is reported to be in her late 30's, faces the possibility of being guillotined. Actually French courts are apt to show great leniency in such cases.

Leniency is expected even if the investigation shows that her chief object of jealousy was not another woman but her husband's promising political career which was taking most of his time.

Chevallier, 42, mayor of Orleans and hero of the resistance, was shot and killed by his wife Sunday a day after he had won his first cabinet post in the government of Premier Rene Pleven.

His wife told police he returned to their apartment after an absence of a week in Paris.
