Truce Zone Killing Brings New Trouble To Kaesong Talks

MUNSAN, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) — Korean armistice efforts were tightly snarled today by a neutral-zone shooting which the Reds blamed on the Allies but which the UN command attributed to Korean civilians trying to sabotage the Kaesong conferences.

The Sunday morning shooting, in which a Chinese Red patrol leader was killed east of Kaesong, drew a strong demand from Lt. Gen. Nam Il, senior Red delegate, for a "satisfactory reply" at once.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo issued a statement Monday night that there had been no Allied troops in the area. Joint investigation by Allied and Red liaison officers "failed completely to identify the armed bands as belonging to any United Nations command military formation," Ridgway's headquarters declared.

The UN command delegation in Korea suggested the shooting was done by North Koreans trying to break up the armistice talks.

The statement from Ridgway's Tokyo headquarters said the attackers may have been civilian guerrillas with that purpose, but left open whether they were North or South Koreans.

However, there had been no formal answer yet to the Communist charge, pending further inquiry.

The South Koreans have consistently protested any settlement leaving Korea divided, and there have been many indications that the North Korean Reds also want everything or nothing.

While the neutral zone dispute remained up in the air, the Reds appeared intent on capitalizing on the incident. An elaborately-staged "peoples" funeral at Kaesong was held by North Koreans and Chinese for the Red patrol leader who died.

Allied correspondents who attended the services by special invitation said the funeral was conducted in an "almost carnival atmosphere" while Communist movie cameras ground away.

Another bizarre Red propaganda note was disclosed during the day. Frontline Chinese Red troops have been sending notes to Allied units inviting them to make an informal armistice of their own under a white flag. The notes suggested a "friendly party" be held in no man's land.

These developments overshadowed the fourth meeting of Communist and Allied two-man subcommittees Monday at Kaesong. No visible progress was made at the 70-minute session—shortest yet held.

However, Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes and Rear Adm. Arleigh A. Burke left Munsan today for subcommittee talks at Kaesong on the tangled armistice buffer zone issue.

Ridgway's headquarters announced that a full investigation of Sunday's shooting incident was being conducted by Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U.S. eighth army commander.

U Council OKs $2,600 to City For Fire Guard

The University Heights town council has agreed to pay approximately $2,600 per year for fire protection by the Iowa City department.

The protection fee, amounting to nearly eight times the previous amount paid for fire protection, was announced Monday by City Manager Peter F. Roan. Roan and City Atty. Edward W. Lucas met with the University Heights council Saturday at that group's annual budget meeting.

In previous years University Heights has paid only about $500 for fire protection.

Roan said he had asked the University Heights council to raise its protection fee to bring the per-unit cost of fire protection in that community into line with valuations in Iowa City.

The increase means that the University Heights council will levy eight mills for taxation for fire protection next year. Roan said there is a possibility that the levy will be increased after a new apartment project on the south edge of the town is completed.

The new University Heights offer will be submitted to the Iowa City council at its next meeting Sept. 10.

Harriman's Threat Keeps Oil Talks From Collapse

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — British-Iranian oil talks were reported Monday on the edge of collapse—kept going only by the abrupt threat of American envoy Averell Harriman to withdraw from his peacemaking role.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was reported visibly shaken by Harriman's threat and accusation that the Iranians were not negotiating "in good faith" to break the deadlock that has closed the British-owned but nationalized Abadan oil refinery.

After a two-hour talk with Harriman and Richard Stokes, the British negotiator, Mossadegh told reporters he was "hopeful" new talks would have good results.

Mossadegh and his spokesmen have attacked the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company (AIOC) and British compromise proposals in such vitriolic terms that any switch in policy, it appeared, would be political suicide.

SUI Doctor 'Toys' With Deadly Bacteria

ENOUGH TOXIN TO WIPE OUT the entire population of a city the size of Des Moines is exhibited in a vial by Dr. Wayburn Jeter, SUI bacteriology department, to three members of the civil defense training course. The course, which opened Monday and will continue through Friday, is training approximately 40 Iowa community leaders. Jeter explained to the class that although potent poisons have been developed, there still remains the problem of spreading them widely enough to inflict such extensive damage. Shown above with Jeter are (left to right) Mrs. H. M. Kaufman, Harlan; Earl Litton, Fairfield, and W. C. Yeager, Sioux City.

Boyer Stresses Civil Defense To Minimize Natural Disaster

Civil defense should be aimed at protection against natural disasters as well as military attack, Prof. M. C. Boyer declared at the opening sessions of the civil defense training course at SUI Monday.

Approximately 40 persons enrolled in the civil defense training course which will continue through Friday. Persons taking the course will be trained to set up training courses in their own counties.

Boyer, professor of mechanical and hydraulic engineering at SUI, cited specific instances of flood, fire, riot, explosion, panic and storm where the damage of property, loss of life and injury could have been minimized if there had been an efficient civil defense organization in existence.

He pointed out that suffering during time of disaster is often aggravated by people who fail to heed warnings and directions. The greatest problem, he said, is to keep people at home and out of the way in time of emergency.

He pointed out that they can do little good unless they are trained personnel, and that they usually impede the progress of aid.

"What needs to be done, Boyer said, is to plan and perfect methods of warning and communication which can serve to direct the population in time of danger and to educate all people to heed the authorities which administer the agencies of civil defense."

The potentialities of biological warfare were presented by Dr. Wayburn S. Jeter, SUI bacteriology department.

Jeter pointed out that a small vial, no larger than a pencil stub, which he held in his hand, contained enough toxic poison to wipe out an entire city the size of Des Moines.

Climax of the course will be a field demonstration in which persons attending the sessions will actually take part in restoring vital services to an area under conditions simulating an atomic bombing.

HOUSING BILL PASSES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate approved and sent to the house Monday a $1,635,000,000 defense housing bill, designed to help provide housing for workers in critical defense areas.

Sen. McFarland Attacks RFC Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ernest McFarland (D-Ariz.) told the senate Monday that Republican charges made against President Truman in a minority report of the RFC investigation are "political poppycock."

The majority leader accused the Republicans of "smirking piety" and "demagogic political inference and innuendo." No one can charge the President with "personal or official dishonesty," McFarland declared.

His attack was directed at a blistering report written by Sens. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.) and John Bricker (R-Ohio) as an aftermath of a senate's subcommittee's inquiry into lending policies of the reconstruction finance corporation.

Bricker and Capehart said Mr. Truman and Democratic National Chairman William Boyle have transferred corrupt "Pendergast politics" to a national level. They charged that Donald Dawson, the President's patronage chief, has been proved "incapable of honest duty."

Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) characterized the charges against the President and Boyle as "scurrilous."

Three Democratic members of the subcommittee came out with a majority report asserting they have fully proved charges the RFC fell prey to a political influence ring "with White House contacts." But their version was much milder, more general, and didn't call names.

Thus the subcommittee closed its books on a sensational year-long investigation of the reconstruction finance corporation, the government's big lending agency.

The probe ended in a welter of bitter charges and counter-charges that marked much of its course. The Republicans called Mr. Truman and Boyle "graduates of one of the most corrupt political machines in the history of any state." This was a reference to the old Pendergast organization centered in Kansas City, Mo. Then they said the Democratic leaders have moved "Pendergast politics to the national level."

The full banking committee adopted the majority report and sent it to the senate.

The majority report was written by Fulbright, chairman of the subcommittee, and joined in by Democratic sens. Paul Douglas of Illinois and Allen Frear of Delaware. It supplemented a report first issued last February after a quiet investigation into RFC.

ECA's 'Answer Back' To Red Propaganda

By ESTHER VAN WAGONER TUFT
Central Press Correspondent

PARIS — Communist propaganda posters fret American tourists. They are too compelling.

Worse, visiting Americans look around and find few American "answering back" posters on the billboards of Europe.

Peter G. Harnden, ECA official recognized as a genius at "visual" propaganda, admitted it was a great temptation "to answer back." But present ECA policy has decided on a more long range "answer back." It calls for each European country, instead of the U.S. A., to respond to the Communist posters appearing along roadsides and on city walls.

One way is with balloons. Germans, Frenchmen, Dutchmen, Danes and others sign their names to a card attached to a balloon which is released on border of Russian-held land. The card carries a simple freedom-loving message about how fine life is in the west and asks that the card be returned. Some 175,000 were returned from just one ascension and even cards from far away Hungary were received.

Maybe some day the ECA policy will be the direct "answer-back" ... also. Many ECA officials would like to do just that because the Commie-posters irritate them as much as the visiting American tourists. But it would be costly.

Also the Reds have a political machine operating at every level including the tiny village. If we put up posters local people ... Communists ... tear them down. Our friends in every country, not as well organized as the Communists, tear down the Red posters. Lately they have found a more deadly destructive defense by stamping the Red posters with the poison sign of the Skull and Crossbones. Others are stamped "Made in Russia" so the local people know the origin of the lies.

So the battle of the posters goes on.

CLEVELAND — A classroom, perhaps the world's largest, will open here Sept. 17 through the combined facilities of Western Reserve university and station WEWS-TV.

Two courses will be offered for full university credit for the first time by any university in the United States. Prof. Joseph Remenyi, comparative literature, will teach the course, European Literature Since 1914, on Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9 to 9:30. The other course, Introductory Psychology, will be presented by WEWS-TV at the same time on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The courses, called tele-courses, are expected to have the largest classroom audience in the country. An estimated three per cent, or 15,000 of the 500,000 sets in the greater Cleveland area, will be tuned in for the courses. This means a potential audience of 30,000 students.

AEC Receives Ominous Report On Soviet A-Bomb Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the congressional atomic energy committee told the house Monday that Russia has bigger A-bombs and more of them than U.S. intelligence officials previously believed.

They did not give the source of their information, but it is known that the committee recently received a new and ominous report from the central intelligence agency on Russian A-bomb production.

Civil Defense Administrator Millard F. Caldwell referred to the same report in testimony before the house appropriation committee released last week. He said it calls for "drastic" changes in U.S. civil defense plans to prepare cities for attacks by "heavier" weapons than formerly expected.

Despite Caldwell's warning, the house committee slashed civil defense funds nearly 90 per cent, from $535 million to 52,255,000.

Reps. Melvin Price, (D-Ill.) and Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) both members of the atomic energy committee, opened a fight on the house floor Monday to restore the civil defense funds.

Warning that anyone who ignores the danger of the atomic attack is "living in a fool's paradise," Price bluntly told the house:

"Russia has more atomic bombs than we expected and they are bigger and more potent than previously believed."

Jackson said each intelligence report received in Washington "gives a little darker and a little grimmer picture" of the Soviet atomic stockpile.

He did not give any figures, but a District of Columbia civil defense official told a house committee recently that he has been informed that Russia now has 100 A-bombs. He said he obtained this information from "persons who have seen classified reports, including members of congress."

No responsible federal official ever estimated publicly the size of the Soviet atomic stockpile.

2 Iowa Citizens To Receive Degrees

Robert V. Crain, Iowa City, will receive a B.A. degree from the University of Colorado at commencement exercises Saturday.

Donna C. Bean, 200 Westlawn park, is one of more than 300 who will receive degrees at Drake university's summer commencement Friday. She will be given a junior college education certificate.

Barkley Says Truman Can Beat Eisenhower In Presidential Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice Pres. Alben W. Barkley said Monday that President Truman can be re-elected in 1952 even if the Republicans nominate Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He emphasized, however, that he has "no information whatever" on Mr. Truman's intentions about seeking another White House term. He said the question of Mr. Truman running again "has never been discussed between us, or in my presence."

Barkley discussed the 1952 political outlook in a copyrighted interview with the weekly news magazine U.S. News World Report.

He conceded that Eisenhower has "great appeal for the people of this country" and said the general's military background should be no bar to his nomination for president.

But he said he is confident that President Truman could defeat "any candidate now mentioned" for the Republican nomination. Eisenhower was the only potential GOP nominee discussed by name. The other current leading possibility is Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R-O.).

Democratic political strategists, including the President himself, long have voiced confidence in Mr. Truman's ability to beat Taft, despite public opinion polls which currently show Taft ahead in voter popularity.

Barkley denied vigorously that the Democratic party would suffer from "a dearth of good candidates" if Mr. Truman should decide not to run again. But he did not name any other Democrats he considers presidential possibilities.

A recent United Press poll showed Sen. Paul Douglas, (D-Ill.) to be the choice of state party leaders if Mr. Truman does not run.

5 Russian Anti-Red Groups Ban Together To Liberate Russia

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Alexander Kerensky, premier of the short-lived Russian republic after the 1917 revolution, said Monday five anti-Communist Russian exile groups have banded together to fight dictatorship in their homeland.

The merged exiles call themselves the "Council for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia."

In an interview the aging anti-Communist declared "the Soviet Union intends to fight a global war when the financial structure of the United States, Britain and France is weakened."

Kerensky came from America to lead the refugee talks and presided at the four-day meeting. They met in strict secrecy, guarded by German plain clothes officers. Delegates feared Communist reprisals as they formed the five-ply organization.

They will announce a joint platform later. Kerensky said a high-powered short-wave radio station will be set up to beam anti-Stalinist propaganda into Russia.

One of the most important anti-Communist emigre groups, the Ukrainian resistance movement, was not represented.

Its leaders announced in Munich last night they would not affiliate with the five because, they charged, the others would not acknowledge a future autonomous Ukrainian state.

Kerensky's statement, translated from Russian, declared communism is threatening the world with loss of its freedom, and its rules are "transforming our motherland into a physical base for an attack."

The meeting was reportedly financed by the American committee for the liberation of the peoples of Russia in an effort to concentrate their activities in opposition to communism.

It's Time to Start Planning

VACATION SEASON is the ideal time to explore the exciting field of home decoration. For color scheme suggestions the young matron pictured above is consulting the 1951 Paint and Color Style guide, a volume containing scores of photographs in natural color, showing all types of rooms. The guide may be consulted at paint dealer stores, or a copy may be borrowed to study at home.

Plan Both Redecorating, New Furniture Carefully

Home Fashion time, which will be Sept. 20-29, points out to many homemakers that now is a good time for some redecorating. But whether buying new furniture or giving some well-worn pieces a face lifting, make your plans carefully.

Determine the overall character of your house. Do you prefer traditional or modern or a mixture of both? Make your color scheme do its part in expressing this decorating plan.

Consider the basic functions of your household: eating, sleeping, storage, entertaining, and family recreation.

Keep the accent on living when planning and furnishing the living room, decorators suggest. Every home's living room, they say, should cater to the individual family's needs for its own way of living.

Begin With Analysis

It is well for the homemaker to begin her planning with an analysis of just what sort of living room activities are preferred by her family, as a group and as individuals.

Well planned living rooms are virtually always keyed to the sofa, because of its prominence in function and decoration.

A comfortable sofa bed is a must in most households, whether it is the solution for a one room apartment or insurance for a guest's sudden overnight visit.

If you have the usual problem of space limitation, keep the future in mind when you buy. A well designed, well constructed extension table just right for a one or two room apartment now, may later become a useful breakfast table.

Table Good Now, Later

An attractive table of card table size with a top which unfolds to form a convenient table for six may later furnish a comfortable game corner in your living room.

Many good chests of drawers are made to suit bedroom, living room or dining room equally well. A matched pair will help solve your storage problem with maximum utility and flexibility.

The arrangement of furniture, as well as its selection, is directly related to room livability. So far as possible, furniture should be grouped so that it is ready and inviting for favorite activities, without having to be moved.

For durability and utility, tubular steel furniture has become an accepted favorite. Now, new designs, colorful plastic table tops, and new plastic upholstery broaden its decorative aptitude and offer fashion right pieces for every room in the house.

Mrs. George Robson, Armory Win First In Petunia Contest

Mrs. George Robson, 215 Lexington st., won first place in the petunia contest's homes division. Mrs. G. E. Grunewald, general contest chairman, announced Monday.

First place in the organization's division went to the wives of men in the 34th Reconnaissance company, for their petunia beds in front of the armory.

Second place winner in the homes division was Mrs. John Martin, 1121 Seymour ave. Third went to Mrs. Henry F. Wiltenbrock, 468 Grand ave., and fourth, to Mrs. Robert Ballantyne, 811 Rider st.

Second place winner of the organizations was the Child and Social Welfare department, 538 Gilbert st. Third place went to the Moose parking lot project and fourth, the Mary O. Coldren home.

Petunia chairman of the last three winners were Mrs. W. A. Gay, Mrs. J. K. Schaaf and Mrs. J. C. Pechman, respectively.

Sponsored By Garden Club

The Petunia contest was sponsored by the garden department of the Iowa City Woman's club as part of the city's beautification project.

Judges were Peter F. Roan, Iowa City manager, Alonzo DeHaan, foreman of the SUI botanical planthouse, and Don J. Sinek, university landscape architectural foreman.

The judging, which was held Saturday morning, was based on color combinations, adaptability, quality, cleanliness of plants, artistic ability, and care of plants, each of which was worth 10 points, and arrangement and general appearance of plants, each worth 20 points.

Mrs. Robson's petunias were given a total of 95 points, while Mrs. Martin's were close behind with 94.

Prizes Listed

Prizes in the homes divisions were $20, $10, $5, and a flat of petunias. Winning organizations received awards of $25, $15, $10, and a flat of petunias.

Mrs. Grunewald said the judges commented favorably on the Woman's club petunia project at the Musser parking lot and along the four blocks on East Washington street.

She estimated that 200,000 petunias had been planted in the combined 21 entries.

"Next year I hope that more people will be petunia conscious and that there will be even more entries," she said.

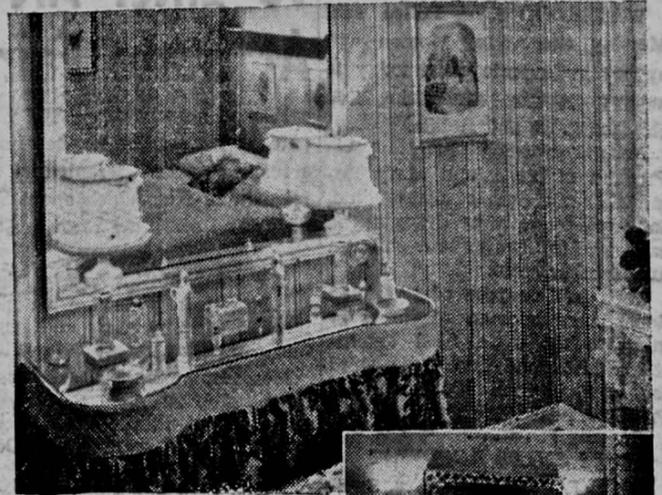

Co-chairman of the petunia contest with Mrs. Grunewald was Mrs. Robert G. Caldwell.

CHURCH GROUP TO MEET

The afternoon group of the women of the First English Lutheran church will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the church parlors.

Mrs. J. C. Fuhrmeister will have the topic, "A Glimpse of Liberia."

Light Conditioning Can Charm a Small Bedroom

LIGHTING PLAYS a big part in decorating schemes, since the wrong lighting can utterly spoil an otherwise attractive effect. In improving the lighting, kind and size of lamp shades must be carefully considered.

Proof that light-conditioning can add a full measure of comfort and charm to even a small room is evidenced in the "before" and "after" photographs above.

Transforming the tiny spare room with its "hit and miss" assortment of lamps and furnishings into the gracious guest room shown in the "after" picture was largely a matter of bringing its lighting up-to-date.

Notice how the "too small" wall lamps beside the mirror and over the bed were replaced with efficient and attractive dressing table lamps and a fluorescent wall bracket over the bed.

Following a new tested lighting recipe for facial makeup, dressing table lamps with 30-70-100-watt bulbs replaced the original pin-up lamps with their light-confining opaque shades. Notice that lamps should have white or palest ivory shades.

Height to the center of the shade should be 15-16 inches and shades should be at least seven inches deep with a minimum bottom diameter of nine inches. Lamps should be located six inches away from back of vanity and 18 inches right and left of the center of the mirror.

The modern lighting arrangement over the bed is a 25-watt fluorescent lamp concealed by a decorative valance papered to match the walls.

For best lighting results, it should be mounted 30 inches above the mattress, say lighting experts.

Atty. White Named To Assessor's Board

Atty. Jack C. White Monday was named to fill a vacancy on the city assessor's examining board, succeeding Atty. Edward W. Lucas, who recently resigned.

Other members of the board are Mrs. D. E. Borchart, chairman, and Bob Yetter.

Lt. Chan Coulter, Miss Tro Ann Welty Wed in Des Moines

Miss Tro Ann Welty became the bride of Lt. Chan Lowell Coulter Saturday in the University Christian church in Des Moines.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle S. Campbell of Des Moines. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chan F. Coulter of Iowa City.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Marvin O. Sansbury.

Her stepfather, Mr. Campbell, gave the bride in marriage. She wore a white satin marquisette and satin dress with a full bouffant skirt and chapel train. Her fingertip imported illusion veil was attached to a Juliet cap.

She wore pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and bouvardia.

Maid of honor was Miss Pat Sullivan, Gull Lake, Mich., cousin of the bride. Bridesmaids were the Misses Suzanne Sullivan, Gull Lake, and Madeline Ericson, Des Moines. All wore gowns of pale pink marquisette and carried white gladioli and bouvardia.

Mr. Robert Dickey, Iowa City, was best man. Ushers were Dick and Harry Newell, Lakewood, O., Robert Becker, Marshalltown, George Gartzke, Jr., Madison, Wis., and Keith and Elmer Hemingway, Iowa City.

After a reception in the Hotel Savery, the couple left for a week's wedding trip in northern Michigan.

The bride has been doing graduate work at the SUI child welfare research station. Previously, she attended Drake university, Des Moines, where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, social sorority, Psi Chi, honorary psychology society, and Pi Lambda Theta, honorary educational sorority.

The bridegroom is a graduate of SUI, where he was affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta, social fraternity, and Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society. He is an instructor in the SUI military department.

Modern, Functional Designs for Living, Dining

HERE IS A HANDSOME two-piece living room suite that should guarantee satisfaction to the homemaker who wants to give her home an inexpensive face-lifting beauty treatment. Of smart modern styling, it is elegantly tailored in a tweed textured fabric. Reversible cushions are spring filled.

COLORAMIC DINETTE sets such as this one bring tubular steel furniture out of the kitchen and even into the parlor. The table top simulates wood grain in pastel colors, while the plastic chair covers look and feel like faille fabrics. The top is heat, stain and chip resistant.

6 Persons Injured In 3 Auto Accidents Near Iowa City

Six persons suffered slight injuries in three automobile accidents near Iowa City over the weekend.

William Cox, 205 S. Benton st., was uninjured Monday when the truck he was driving overturned on highway 1 about 1 mile west of Iowa City.

The truck was loaded with crates of turkeys and four of birds were killed in the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peck of Olin suffered cuts and bruises in an accident Sunday on highway 218 four miles south of Iowa City. Johnson County Sheriff, Albert J. Murphy said the Peck car collided with one driven by James D. Walterman, Cedar Rapids.

Four members of a Latvian family, recently arrived in the United States, suffered minor cuts and bruises, when the car they were riding in collided with a truck-drawn trailer on highway 6, six miles east of Iowa City Saturday.

Injured were Mr. and Mrs. Anton Concus and their two children, Valentina, 19, and Ewalds, 9, all of Storm Lake. Murphy said the Concus' car collided with a trailer owned by William G. Mumford of Minneapolis, Minn.

2 Plead Not Guilty To OMVI Charge

Two men have pleaded not guilty to drunken driving charges in police court and have been bound over to the grand jury.

They are LaVerne H. Christensen, 523 E. Burlington st., and Harold Croy, North Liberty.

Christensen was arrested Sunday night after his car collided with another at the intersection of Burlington and Clinton sts. Croy was arrested Sunday.

Both have been released on $500 bond.

New Safety Group To Hold Meeting Here Next Monday

The Iowa Council of Safety Supervisors, a new organization responsible for safety and personnel in Iowa trucking fleets, will hold its second meeting next Monday at the Jefferson hotel.

A 6 p.m. dinner will be followed by a round-table discussion on insurance company safety services to trucking companies. A panel of five insurance executives will lead the discussion.

John Zachar, Iowa City, vice-chairman of the council, will be in charge of the meeting.

University Hospitals Admit 6 With Polio

Rita Antone, 6, daughter of Mrs. Albert Antone, 827 Dearborn st., has been admitted to University hospitals as a polio patient, officials reported Monday.

The child, admitted Aug. 16, has been listed in "fair" condition.

Five other Iowans have also become polio patients here. They are Matthew Fogarty, 2, Alma, who was reported in "serious" condition; James Schneider, 3, Clinton; Madeline Abernathy, 25, and Beverly Fouts, 13, both of Waterloo, and Suzanne Sitzman, 5, Dubuque, all listed in "fair" condition.

Discharged from the hospitals were Myrna Schau, 8, Wellman; Herold Mitchell, 30, Buckingham; John Hicks, 8, Clinton; Helen Bowlsby, 55, Waterloo; Joseph Conaway, 17, Mt. Pleasant; Robert Simon, 35, Marshalltown; Gertrude Huggard, 24, Plainfield; Barbara Burke, 7, Charles City, and Edward Field, 6, Rudd. Present number of active polio cases in the hospitals is nine.

No Baseball Commissioner Before December—Executives

NEW YORK (AP)—Election of a commissioner in the major league club owners' meeting in New York today appears unlikely, say a majority of the baseball executives.

A previous meeting Aug. 7 resulted in cutting down the list of candidates to 11, including the following:

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Ford Frick, president of the National league, and Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds.

The owners recognize that some or all of the generals may not be available. Gen. Vandenberg is reported to have notified the four-man screening committee already of his unavailability.

Brooklyn clubowner Walter O'Malley said he is practically certain a commissioner will not be chosen because "we're still in the wedding out process."

Giles, a leading candidate to succeed A. B. (Happy) Chandler, also doubts that one will be named at this time. An American league club owner said there isn't a chance the election will take place.

Fred Saigh, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, said the important thing is to get the right man "even if it means waiting until the winter meetings in December."

As it happens, one dissenting vote could prevent an election today. The meeting is not a formal joint session such as is needed for the election of a commissioner. It is simply an executive session. It can only be turned into a joint meeting by unanimous consent of all present. A joint meeting normally requires a 30-day call.

According to Ryan, the same 11 candidate for baseball's third commissioner will be discussed. All have been contacted. Several have declared themselves unavailable but the identity of these was not learned.

Grand National Trapshoot Opens With Six Events

VANDALIA, O. (AP)—A wheat farming family from Phillipsburg, Kans., provided the fireworks Monday in the opening event of the 52nd annual Grand American trapshoot.

Wade and Gladys Pfost won the husband-wife championship with 197 of 200 and Mrs. Pfost teamed with her sister, Iva Tambridge, for 195 of 200 to finish second in the sister-sister competition.

Mrs. Pfost broke 97 of 100 while her husband broke 100 straight and Miss Tambridge cracked 98.

The father-son title was won by Dr. I. S. Lilly of Stanton, Mich., and his son, Ned, with 199 of 200.

Mrs. H. B. Rader of Jeffersonville, Ohio, a housewife, won the senior title for women over 50 with a score of 95 of 100.

The senior title for men over 70 wound up in a deadlock between Forest McNeir of Houston, Tex., and George Gillette of Sturtevant, Wis. Each broke 99 of 100 and were to shoot it off for the title later.

The class A laurels went to H. W. Dirlan, a 41-year-old meat market operator from Truman, Minn., with 200 straight.

Chicago Blackhawks Pull Biggest Hockey Cash Deal In History

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Blackhawks made a valiant bid Monday to rid themselves of the National Hockey league last-place stigma by pulling off the largest cash deal in NHL history—$75,000 for six players.

The Hawks paid that sum to the Detroit Red Wings for forwards Jim Peters, Jim McFadden, George Gee and Max McNab, and defense men Clare Martin and Clare Raglan. The Red Wings also were to acquire a young Blackhawk player to be named later.

It was the largest cash deal since Toronto paid now defunct Ottawa $35,000 for King Clancy in the 1930's.

John Gottselig, Chicago's general manager, said Monday's deal was designed to plug up Hawks' leaky defense, a weakness which has plagued them since they won their last Stanley cup away back in 1938.

As a result, they have wound up in last place four of the last five seasons, and last year, after a promising start, won only 13 games to again land in the cellar.

In addition to bolstering the Hawks, Gottselig thought that the Wings, among the league's best, would be weakened by the loss of Gee and Peters, stalwarts of the second line which spelled high scorers Gordy Howe, Sid Abel and Ted Lindsay so effectively.

Mickey Mantle, Bob Hogue Recalled by Yanks

DETROIT (AP) — Mickey Mantle, the 19-year-old spring training sensation who couldn't make the grade earlier in the season, was recalled from Kansas City by the New York Yankees Monday night.

Bob Hogue, righthanded relief pitcher, was brought up along with Mantle in return for pitcher Bob Weisler and outfielder Bob Cerv.

Mantle, who was undergoing a physical examination for the draft in Tulsa, Okla., Monday, apparently found his batting eye in the American association.

Indians Win; Yanks Split

Indians 5, Nats 3

CLEVELAND (AP)—Four home runs powered the Cleveland Indians to a 5-3 victory over the Washington Senators Monday night in the opener of an 18-game Tribe home stand. Mike Garcia hurled his second walk-free game of the season in winning his 17th game.

It was the ninth straight loss for Washington.

Dale Mitchell, Cleveland's lead-off batter, pounded a 1-1 pitch from righthander Dick Starr over the right field fence to keynote the Tribe's attack.

Later in the first inning, with two out and Larry Doby on base by a walk, Al Rosen smashed his 22nd homer of the season into the left field stands.

Bob Avila clubbed a homer in the third, and Harry Simpson got the fourth Cleveland round-tripper off Starr in the sixth.

Third baseman Eddie Yost nicked Garcia for the Senators' lone homer in the seventh, but Mickey Vernon, a former Indian, gave him the most trouble by getting four of Washington's 12 hits.

Vernon doubled after Pete Runnels' first-inning single to drive home the Nats' first run. He scored the visitors' second run after leading off the sixth with a single and advancing on singles by Sam Mele and Cass Michaels.

Yanks 3-12

Tigers 6-5

DETROIT (AP)—Joe DiMaggio and Yogi Berra, a couple of old New York Yankee chips-down players, smashed in six runs between them as the Yankees salvaged the second game of a twin-night doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers 12-5 Monday. The second-place Yanks lost the first game 6-3.

Starter Virgil Trucks, whose only victory in the last month was over the Yankees, won the first game with the help of Pat Mullin's 11th homerun. An eight-run explosion in the fourth inning aided Joe Ostrowski to register the nightcap victory.

Berra, who had homered in the first game, also smashed one—his 20th—in the second contest to drive in two runs. DiMaggio cracked a two-run single and drew a bases-loaded walk. Fred Hutchinson suffered his seventh loss.

The Tigers halted the five-game winning streak of Ed Lopat in the opener. Lopat's mark now is 16-7.

Trucks, aided by Jerry Priddy's triple, double and single that drove in three runs, won his sixth game.

The Yanks, trailing 4-0 in the first game, scored twice in the eighth but relief pitcher Dizzy Trout came in to stop the rally.

Steve Souchock batted his ninth homer as the Tigers took a 3-2 lead in the second inning of the nightcap after the Yanks scored twice in the first.

Berra's homer with DiMaggio aboard scored two more in the ninth. He called his shot by signaling to the radio booth before slapping the ball into the right field stands.

I'll Beat Sugar Ray Again, Turpin Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight champion Randolph Turpin, the hell-for-leather battler who licked the great Sugar Ray Robinson in London last month, proved an excessively shy youngster when he arrived on the Queen Mary Monday.

A bustling band of reporters and cameramen almost gave up before they finally obtained the modest prediction he expected to beat Sugar Ray in their return title bout at the Polo grounds, Sept. 12.

At least a dozen times, the angry, muscular Negro from Leamington, Eng., said in a low voice, "I never make predictions, but I'm always easy (unworried) before a fight."

However, he finally admitted for the benefit of movie and television cameras, "Yes, I think I'll take the title back home with me."

And what were the reasons behind that outburst of confidence? The 23-year-old champion ventured the opinion that 31-year-old Robinson must have been in good condition last July 10 in London, "Because he had been fighting every week," despite reports he was out of shape.

His tormentors nearly swooned with delight when "Randy" cut loose verbally with the opinion: "The European style of boxing is more effective than the American. Most American's just keep coming in and punching."

"They hits you when they're in, and they hits you when they're out; but they get 'it too much themselves. Not enough defense."

'They'll Walk Me Sure'

— With Bases Loaded

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Gaedel, the 3-foot 7-inch midget of the St. Louis Browns, said Monday night he looks longingly to the time when he can step to the plate with the bases loaded.

"They would walk me sure as the world and force in a run—and that run might win," said the 50-pounder whose biggest thrill in a fun-packed career was signing a contract with the Browns' Bill Veeck. "That contract is ironclad and calls for $100 each time I appear in a game."

The 26-year-old Gaedel capped Veeck's carnival-like promotions Sunday by waddling to the plate and drawing a walk from surprised Bob Cain in the Detroit-Browns game at St. Louis.

Chuck Lee, Gaedel's agent, said the midget was on call at any time by Veeck and that he was certain to be used when the Browns meet the White Sox in Comiskey Park in the next series Sept. 22 and 23.

"One of the primary reasons Veeck wanted Gaedel—aside from the promotion angle," said Lee, "was to send him to the plate when the bases are loaded."

Frank Lane, general manager of the White Sox, said Veeck was perfectly welcome to insert Gaedel in any game the Browns play with the Sox.

"We know there are no limitations on the size of players," he said. "As far as pitching to the midget—well, I don't know."

Gaedel said he never saw a fellow so surprised as pitcher Cain Sunday.

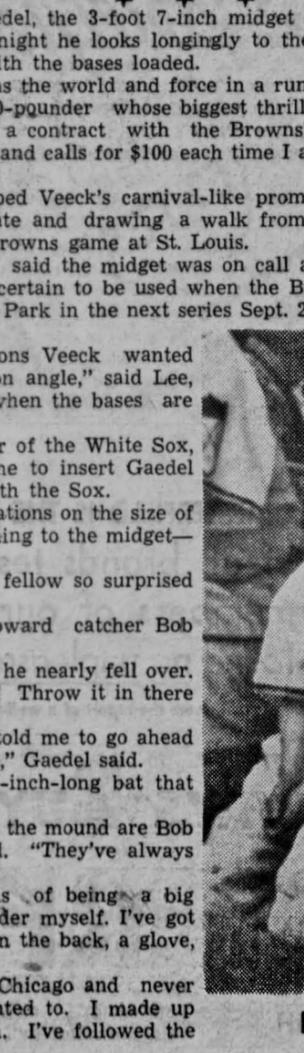

"Cain stared and walked toward catcher Bob Swift," recalled Gaedel.

"Swift was laughing so hard he nearly fell over. I acted mad and yelled 'Let's go! Throw it in there fat and I'll moider it!'"

"Zack Taylor, the manager, told me to go ahead and hit away if I saw a good one," Gaedel said.

Gaedel was wielding a 17-inch-long bat that weighed about 23 ounces.

"Two guys I'd like to face on the mound are Bob Feller and Dizzy Trout," he said. "They've always been my favorites."

Midget, Clown Already —

More Surprises Coming

— Veeck Promises Fans

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The town is still talking about the St. Louis Browns' midget, and club owner Bill Veeck promised Monday that there would be more surprises.

"And why not?" Veeck asked. "Didn't everyone enjoy the show we gave 'em Sunday?"

Highlight of the show was the use of a midget, Ed Gaedel of Chicago, as a pinchbatter in the second game of the doubleheader against the Detroit Tigers.

Gaedel overshadowed the clowns, jugglers — even the free ice cream and cake — as far as conversation went.

Gaedel, 3 feet, 7 inches tall, was signed to a contract Saturday. He appeared for rookie Frank Saucier in the first inning of the nightcap.

"Oh, I had some squawks from the league on that, but why the beef?" Veeck said. He didn't elaborate on the squawks.

"When we go to Boston and play in that trick little park, the Red Sox bring out their giants like Ted Williams and Vern Stephens and the rest of 'em, and those guys beat our brains out. Why can't we offset that with a little strategy?"

(Fenway Park, where the Red Sox play their home games, has a short right field.)

Gaedel returned to his Chicago home Monday. "Does that mean that he's through for the Browns?" Veeck was asked.

"Nope," he said, "We just gave him the day off on the open date."

Gaedel won't see action tonight. The Browns will use their regular sized players against the Red Sox who are making a bid for the American league flag.

But Veeck wouldn't say what plans he has for Gaedel after that.

The Brownie players didn't mind the use of the midget.

As star pitcher Ned Garver summed it up: "If it will help me win my 15th game, it's all right with me." Garver lost the opening game before the midget appeared.

Catcher Sherman Lollar said he was too surprised by the move to comment.

"We didn't know about it beforehand," Lollar said. "At first I thought he was a young boy."

Gaedel, before he left for Chicago, said: "For a minute I felt like Babe Ruth."

The midget stunt man didn't say whether he was tempted to swing at the ball, but it probably would have been a mistake—he was using a midget bat.

'Killer' Hurricane Blows toward Texas Coast

MEXICO CITY (AP) — One of history's worst Caribbean hurricanes slashed through Gulf of Mexico shipping lanes toward the Texas coast Monday after killing at least 110 persons on Jamaica and the Yucatan peninsula.

Hundreds more were injured and thousands homeless after the 100-mile-an-hour tropical storm hurtled across the Caribbean, ravaged Jamaica and cut a wide swath of destruction through Yucatan.

The "killer" hurricane raced toward the northern Mexican coast where it was expected to strike below Brownsville, Tex., late this afternoon.

Shipping fled northward as gales sweeping 200 miles ahead of the storm stirred up heavy seas and endangered small craft.

Texas coastal cities were alerted. The U.S. navy evacuated airplanes from Corpus Christi naval air station.

The wind caused "enormous damage" to the 200-mile wide Yucatan peninsula, which separates the Caribbean from the Gulf of Mexico.

At least one person was killed, scores were injured and hundreds of homes destroyed as the tropical storm raged across the peninsula with winds up to 120 miles an hour.

However, they said the toll would be less than that on the island of Jamaica, where damage was estimated as high as $20 million.

The death toll already was the highest caused by a hurricane since September, 1938, when more than 450 persons were killed in the northeastern United States. The hurricane that hit Galveston, Tex., Sept. 8, 1900, caused the record death toll of 6,000.

Weather forecasters warned that the hurricane would build up force again as it sweeps across the gulf and might drive ashore on the Mexican coast south of the U.S. border.

If the storm holds its present course it will strike the northern Mexican coast between Tampico and Brownsville, Tex.

Suspended Dip'omat Testifies On Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Suspended Diplomat O. Edmund Clubb testified Monday that former Secretary of State Cordell Hull notified U.S. officials in China in 1934 to extend all possible "courtesies" to Agnes Smedley the late far eastern writer once accused of Russian espionage.

Clubb told the house un-American activities committee Hull wrote diplomatic and consulate officials in China that "at the insistence of Sen. Robert E. Wagner I take pleasure in introducing" Miss Smedley. The reference was to former Sen. Robert E. Wagner, (D-N. Y.)

Clubb also conceded that he was wrong when he told the committee last March 14 that to the best of his knowledge and belief he never met Whittaker Chambers, former Communist courier. He voluntarily submitted a diary showing he met Chambers in the offices of new Masses magazine in 1932.

Strike Continues At Oregon Prison

SALEM, ORE. (AP) — All but 40 of 1561 convicts at the Oregon state prison passed up their 13th consecutive meal Monday as a sit-down strike continued in the face of the warden's "no work, no food" decree.

It was quiet Monday in the cell blocks where the stubborn inmates are confined, guards said. There was "nothing out of the ordinary" despite the 40 men returning to work, the re-opening of the prison cannery with workers imported from among patients at the state's mental hospital or a state senator's demand that Warden George Alexander be fired at once.

Rocket Trips To Moon

Chemists Predict Rainless Picnics, Plastic Cars Within Next 75 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Leading chemists predict cures for the common cold and polio, rocket trips to the moon, even guarantees of no rain at picnics.

How soon? Within the next 75 years.

What they see in the crystal ball of the future is told in the diamond jubilee issue of the American Chemical society magazine, Chemical and Engineering News. The society celebrates its 75th anniversary at a meeting here Sept. 3-7.

Prof. John C. Bailar, University of Illinois, foresees "cures or preventives available for infantile paralysis, mental illnesses, allergies, the common cold."

The complex chemistry of cancer, hardening of arteries, and arthritis will be unraveled, add Dr. H. B. Haas, General Aniline and Film corporation, New York.

"At least one man will have circumnavigated the moon and returned safely," — Dr. C. C. Furnas, Cornell Aeronautical Lab, Inc., Buffalo.

The first moon rocket won't be manned, says Dr. A. V. Grosse, Research institute of Temple university. "It will be easily observed as it struck the moon by the flash of magnesium in its head." Liquid hydrogen and fluorine will be a close competitor of atomic energy to drive rockets.

"Not only making rain but preventing it will be established practice," assuring sunny picnics — says Dr. Gustavus J. Esselen, U. S. Testing Co., Inc., Goston.

Autos will be of weight-saving plastic-metal combinations, says Prof. H. Mark, Polytechnic institute of Brooklyn.

"Housing will make substantial use of synthetics—all piping will be plastic; most roofing and siding will be coated fabrics. Universal two-way wireless between all homes with optional television, also wireless electric appliances."

Foods will be built up synthetically, and economically, from carbon dioxide, water and ammonia with the help of the sun's energy, Dr. Grosse thinks.

A new industry will make proteins and fats from algae, tiny plants in the sea, says Prof. Harry N. Holmes, Oberlin college. Sawdust will supply cellulose to produce more beef than farm arceage alone can do.

Salt marshes will be farmed with chemical feeding of salt-resistant plants, and fertilizers will coax more and better food from our land—Prof. R. Norris Shreve, Purdue university. And we'll get drinking water from the sea.
