Draft Quota For October To Be Raised

WASHINGTON (AP)—The marine corps asked for more manpower Thursday, so the defense department increased the October draft call from 41,000 to 44,600 men. The October call is the largest since March, when 80,000 men were requested, all for the army.

The corps announced it wanted 8,600 new men next month, instead of the 5,000 it previously asked. The army's needs remain at 36,000.

The November call was set at 33,700, with the marines getting 4,700 of them. The others will

4 SUI Scientists Awarded $25,000 For Research

Four SUI professors Thursday were authorized grants totaling nearly $25,000 from the U.S. public health service for medical research.

Prof. Joseph H. Bodine, head of the zoology department, was given $9,180 for the study of normal embryonic cell physiology.

Awarded $8,000 for work in cytology and cytochemistry of the testis was Prof. Warren O. Nelson, anatomy department.

Prof. Fred W. Schueler, pharmacology department, was given $4,428, for research in the relation of chemical constitution to the biological action of sterol analogues.

Awarded $3,159 for the study of factors controlling development of the size of the brain was Prof. Jerry Kollros, zoology department.

British Break Off Long-Standing Oil Dispute with Iran

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced Thursday that oil negotiations with Iran have been "broken off" but added that if Iran has any new offer to make in the long-standing oil dispute it will be "considered."

A spokesman said at first that the talks would not be renewed in any "foreseeable circumstances," but later added that if Iran "has any new offer to make it will be considered."

"We have nothing further to offer," the spokesman said.

The announcement made no mention of what action if any Britain intends to take. The foreign office previously has made it clear that the 350-man British "guard" at the huge Abadan refinery will be maintained at any cost—if necessary, by force.

The Iranian government has threatened to expel the British experts who are holding the fort at Abadan, but the foreign office said any effort to do so would be "a most serious violation" of the "injunction" granted by the international court of justice.

This argument was not expected to impress the Iranians, who already have announced that they will ignore the world court ruling.

Senate Refuses — Twice-A-Day Mail Stops

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate refused Thursday to restore two-a-day mail deliveries.

It also agreed, in effect, to increase air mail rates to eight cents an ounce from the present six cents.

In a third move, it voted to decrease size and weight limits of parcel post packages.

The actions were taken as the senate considered legislation to raise nearly all postal rates to bring in an extra $397 million a year. The house post office committee is proposing increases of only $123 million.

The senate also adopted a proviso that would give the 500,000 postal employes the same annual vacations other government workers receive. Their new vacations will range from 13 to 26 days a year, depending on their length of service. The present maximum for postal employes is 15 days a year.

The senate post office committee had recommended increasing the present single daily postal delivery to its former twice daily status.

But the senate accepted by voice vote an amendment by Sen. Richard B. Russell, (D-Ga.) that one delivery a day is enough. Only a handful of senators were on hand for the vote. The extra service would have cost more than $100 million a year.

Reds Drive Against Allies in West Korea; Hint Big Push on Way

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (FRIDAY) (AP)—Communist troops, blowing bugles and whistles, surrounded an Allied patrol base before dawn today northwest of Chorwon in western Korea.

Contact also was broken with another assaulted Allied patrol base. But its members were believed to be withdrawing safely.

Today's encirclement by the Reds was the second in as many days in western Korea—heightening speculation that a huge Communist offensive, utilizing thousands of freshly imported Caucasian Soviet puppet troops, might be brewing.

Chinese and North Korean Reds moved forward Thursday across the whole western half of Korea, attacking Allied outposts and patrols.

Their movement was not yet in the proportions of a general offensive. But it had all the earmarks of a prelude to one.

Thursday an American company fought its way out of a Red tank-forged trap 35 miles north of Seoul after an 18-hour battle.

At 5 a.m. today, two Red companies encircled an Allied patrol base northwest of Chorwon, western end of the old "iron triangle." The Reds struck under cover of darkness and a heavy smoke screen.

An Allied tank-infantry force began moving north in a rescue effort.

Allied communications with the patrol base went out about midnight. Earlier reports indicated these troops were pulling back.

FAIR PROFIT $200,000

DES MOINES (AP)—The 1951 Iowa state fair made an estimated profit of $200,000, Sec. L. B. Cunningham said Thursday. It will be 30 days yet, Cunningham said, before final figures on the record-breaking fair are compiled. The 10-day fair set new records for attendance, receipts, expenditures and profits.

Which One Has the Problem?

HENRI BONNET (left) French Ambassador to the U.S. and a delegate to the Japanese peace conference, and Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, seemed to have something on their minds as they stood on the floor below the rostrum just before the opening of Thursday's session at the San Francisco opera house.

Senator Says U.S. Has New, Terrible Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has "new and terrible weapons of war," a senator declared Thursday shortly after his committee voted an additional $5 billion for air power.

The money was voted, Sen. Milton Young (R-N.D.) said, so the weapons could be delivered anywhere.

The big sum was added to the $56 billion previously approved by the house for the army, navy, air force and war-related activities.

Young's announcement came two days after President Truman said at San Francisco that this country has under construction weapons which are "fantastic in their operations."

The senator said he and others on the appropriations subcommittee had been told of the weapons but pledged to secrecy.

"They are not atomic," Young told a reporter. "They are something new and different. They are something even more startling than germ warfare."

"They are new and terrible weapons of war that are just beyond imagination. They certainly would be a deterrent to any possible foe using any possible new weapons they have."

Iraq Says Little Gets Much Applause

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Speech-weary delegates applauded loudly Thursday when Iraq's delegate to the Japanese peace conference set a new record for diplomatic brevity in his speech.

"I wish to state that I am under no instructions from my government to make any comments on the draft treaty with Japan," Said Abdullah Ibrahim Bakr. Then he sat down.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—New Zealand flatly charged Russia Thursday with having come to the Japanese peace conference "to do mischief."

New Zealand Ambassador Sir Carl Berendsen gave Russia and her satellites a ruthless tongue-lashing in a conference speech. He said it was necessary to give Japan military protection "in these days of worldwide attack by a ruthless dictatorship on the freedom and liberty of the world."

Shortly before he spoke, Sen. H. Styles Bridges, (R-N.H.), said he was reliably informed that Russia will walk out of the Conference. Gromyko refused to comment on the statement by Bridges, who is not a member of the U.S. delegation.

Czech Deputy Foreign Minister Dr. Gertruda Sekaninova-Cakrtova charged in a speech that the peace conference is "illegal" without Red China and declared that the "special circumstances" which prevented invitation of a Chinese delegation may soon prevail in other Far Eastern countries.

Her statement seemed to be open to interpretation that the Reds expect to spread their influence shortly to other non-Communist Asiatic countries.

Berendsen described Russia as "the prime and only inciter of world disruption and dissension." As he ripped into the Russians time after time, the stocky, grizzled diplomatic warrior from down under received the greatest applause of any speaker since President Truman's opening address to the 52-nation conference Monday night.

He said Communist objections to the Japanese treaty are "entirely in line with the disruptive policies in international affairs that are consistently being pursued by this group of totalitarian

Portugal Grants U. S. Azore Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Portugal signed a new agreement Thursday linking the Azore islands into the chain of North Atlantic defenses.

Portugal's foreign minister, Paulo Cumha, and U.S. Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh put their signatures on the agreement in Lisbon. The accord was announced by the state department here.

It gives the U.S. new rights to bases on the strategic islands, a state department spokesman said. Eventually the facilities may be extended to other members of the North Atlantic Treaty organization "for the purposes of the common defense and the preservation of peace and security." Both the U.S. and Portugal are members of the treaty organization.

"Sensational Is the Word"

It's 'Kerchoo!' Time 'Hay Fever' a Misnomer—But Tough

By SANFORD MARKEY
Central Press Staff Writer

The season of the "Great Kerchoo" is here again.

For an estimated six million Americans, the "Great Kerchoo" announced the opening of hay fever season and sneezes are the rule of the day; itchy eyes a constant invitation to scratch, and a red nose a steady companion.

Hay fever season makes its debut in late summer and lasts until the first frost nips the pollen out of the air, about the end of September.

Strangely enough, harvesting of hay has nothing to do with hay fever. Rather, it is the microscopic pollens of ragweed and cocklebur that are inhaled by those susceptible to the pollen that causes the discomfort.

The name "hay fever" was given because the sneezing, tearful eyes, and itching palate prevail about the harvest time of hay, and many had believed hay was responsible. Also, there is no body fever involved.

Medical science began to debunk the "hay harvest" theory as early as 1819 when a London physician, John Bostock, presented to the medical profession the first description of a case of hay fever.

Since then, men in medicine have sought vainly to find the answer that might not only bring a cure to hay fever, but to a host of allergies that plague millions.

Hay fever is not contagious since no bacteria or virus is involved. According to Dr. Louis E. Lieder, allergist consultant for the veterans' administration, Washington, whenever allergic individuals are exposed for the first time to a substance which causes an allergy, they become potentially sensitive to that substance.

The potential sensitivity means that any subsequent exposure to that substance may result in an allergic reaction such as hay fever, if the substance is pollen of ragweed.

Although ragweed covers a huge section of the country, many people are not subjected to hay fever because they have an "allergic balance" in that they can absorb a quantity of irritating pollens without ill results.

There are a great number of people, according to Dr. Lieder, who are allergic to many things such as wool, feathers, strawberries and even wood.

In those instances, the sensitive person can avoid the substance causing the allergy. For example, the person allergic to feathers can sleep on a foam-rubber pillow; the person allergic to wood can stay away from all products containing wood, although in the course of a day's work that may be difficult.

However, the person allergic to the family of weeds causing hay fever is in a difficult position. He can, if possible, vacation in those few sections of the country that are pollen free, take an ocean trip, or visit foreign shores.

For the vast majority of sufferers such vacations are not possible, and they must battle the pollen either through a series of desensitizing injections aimed at building up the resistance of the victim, or by taking various antihistamine drugs.

Dr. Lieder believes that a combination of both injections and drugs offer the greatest possible relief since there "is no one drug that offers an all-out cure or relief."

"In fact," adds Dr. Lieder, "hay fever sufferers should be careful of the drug they take since there are individual variations, and drugs taken without the advice of physicians might cause an undesirable reaction."

Several cities have gone to the aid of hay fever victims by making it a violation to have ragweed, etc., growing on the premise. Though one community may be ragweed-free, a nearby community may raise enough ragweed to offset the good.

It has been estimated that one giant ragweed plant can produce about eight billion pollen grains in five hours. And it takes only 25 pollen grains per cubic yard of air to produce hay fever symptoms. Winds, birds and travelers have been known to carry pollen great distances.

There is no set of health rules for the hay fever victim during the season of the "Great Kerchoo." However, Dr. Lieder points out, there are some suggested paths to follow:

- 1.— Don't permit excessive fatigue to set in.
- 2.— Don't permit the body to become chilled.
- 3.— Don't sleep in a room with open windows.
- 4.— Don't lose your sense of good humor.

Mac Says World May Trust Japan

CLEVELAND, O. (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur said Thursday night that the free world may put its full faith in the "new Japan which is about to be restored to a position of international dignity" under a peace treaty.

MacArthur, who as commander for the Allied powers guided Japan through the occupation years, said that the peace treaty now being considered in San Francisco is "far from flawless" but embodies "much of human justice and enlightenment."

Although this is the last day for "Stormy Weather" which is now playing at the Capitol theatre it deserves a review of some sort on the basis of music alone. The plot we will neglect to mention for it is the same stereotyped tripe that makes up the greater percentage of screen-musicals.

But the music, now that's different, for the film has the imitable Bill Robinson and the sensational Lena Horne. Pardon my superlatives but they deserve them. Besides these two exceedingly talented and pleasant people we have numbers by Fats Waller, singing "Ain't Misbehaving" as only he can, Cab Calloway, the Nicholas Brothers and Katherine Dunham and her dancers.

Mixed in with these fine people are songs that are worth every inch of their vibrant personalities. "Stormy Weather," "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," "Dig a Dig a Do," "Salt Lake City Blues," and the above mentioned by Waller.

U.S. ENVELOPES BARRED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government would be barred from competition with private printing companies under a bill introduced Thursday.

By CHARLES J. THOBABEN Central Press Staff Writer

FURSTENFELDBRUCK, Germany — This is, in fact, America's first line of defense against a possible attack by Russia or her eastern European satellites.

And Furstenfeldbruck is no infantry base; it has no artillery. In fact, there are no army ground forces here at all because "Fursty" is a U.S. air force base for the 36th fighter-bomber wing.

This points up one of the biggest problems of all confronting the planners at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters allied powers Europe (SHAPE)—that of switching the available armed forces in western Europe from an occupation status to combat readiness.

Furstenfeldbruck, nestled deep in southern Bavaria near Munich and infamous Dachau, is only a few minutes jet flying time from the Czech border. It doesn't take a military expert to figure out what would happen if an attack should come hurtling out of the east.

The officers and men of the 36th and its accompanying ground units understand this quite well and regard themselves as expendable.

At the same time, however, you find the conflicting feeling that Furstenfeldbruck's personnel "never had it so good." Wives and children are here with their menfolk living probably in better style than they would back in the states. New apartment houses have risen around the base to accommodate them. The children are going to American schools and, incidentally, learning to speak German like natives.

Veteran non-coms, master sergeants for whom the military life is a career, complained bitterly to the writer about their approaching return to the U.S. because their period of overseas duty was ending. One graying veteran, who has served at posts in the Philippines, China, Panama and the states, explained the feeling simply enough by declaring that Furstenfeldbruck is the best duty post anywhere.

Such thinking reflects the "occupation psychology" which isn't very compatible with the avowed objective of protecting western democracy against an armed attack by Red communism.

It's not that there aren't reminders that the Allies face a grim situation. USAF pilots have wandered off course over the nearby Czech border and found themselves and their planes interned for a while. Then there is another reminder every two hours around the clock when four of the 36th's F-84 Thunderjets take off on "sniper" patrol.

Fully armed for combat, the "snipers" wheel over the U.S. zone of Germany to seek and check on all unidentified aircraft.

Col. Robert L. Scott Jr., the wing commander, has some crack pilots in his outfit. Most notable are the "Sky Blazers," a team of four Thunderjet jockeys who have become such a sensational aerobic team that they have appeared all over Europe and even flew a command performance for Queen Juliana and Prince Bernard of the Netherlands.

Words fail in attempting to describe four jets screaming through the air at 600 miles an hour in a diamond formation so tight that no more than five feet ever separates them while they perform rolls, Immelmans and Chandelles as though they were locked into a single unit.

"As a matter of fact, only their leader, Capt. Harry K. Evans of Heathers, W. Va., even knows where they are or even whether they are flying right side up or upside down. The others watch him only. His wingmen are twin brothers Captains Charles C. and

C. A. Patillo of Atlanta, and Capt. Lawrence D. Damewood of Roanoke, Va., fills the slot.

The base itself has some of the finest quarters of any American installation, most of them built during the 1930's when Furstenfeldbruck was known as the Nazis' Randolph field. Hermann Goering gave his Luftwaffe the best, not dreaming that American flyers would inherit it.

Not far away is a similar installation, Neubiberg, which served as a Luftwaffe combat base throughout World War II. Based here is the only other combat unit of the USAF in continental Europe, the 86th fighter-bomber wing.

Oxford Woman Sues For $100 Judgment

Mina Edwards, Oxford, has petitioned district court for judgment of $100 from Glen Sutar claimed due from a $350 loan.

She claims that the money was loaned to the defendant Feb. 28, 1950, for the purchase of an auto, but that only $100 has been paid.

She adds that the auto was later repossessed, but when it was sold, it still left about $100 due on a chattel mortgage.

Hancher Stresses Belief In Our Dynamic Spirit

(Special to the Daily Iowan)

CHICAGO — SUI President Virgil M. Hancher drew a contrast between the economic societies of the United States and Europe, Thursday night at a symposium sponsored by the Chicago board of trade.

Hancher said people who described the world's present tensions as a conflict between Capitalism and Communism "could hardly be more helpful to Communism if they were paid for their efforts and were acting under orders from Moscow."

"Capitalism," Hancher said, "is a fighting word to half the people of Asia. To them it means cheap labor; it means exploitation; it means the rule of the white over the colored; it means all the things against which Asia is in revolt."

"Why should we identify ourselves with the overseas, exploitive capitalism of Europe — a capitalism which believes in limited production, low wages, controlled markets, cartels and the status quo?"

"What has that kind of static capitalism to do with the economic system of the United States, a dynamic industrialism which believes in the creation of ever expanding markets by means of high wages, mechanized procedures and increasing standards of living?"

We will not maintain this system, but will continue to expand it, President Hancher told the board of trade. "We shall not stand still," he asserted.

"For the first time in human history the vision of plenty for all is not the dream of Utopian philosophers" but is possible, he said, concluding "... and if it comes to pass, it will come to pass not as a product of Marxist philosophy but as a product of America's dynamic industrial economy."

Hancher said also "we need to understand the differences in our vocations—their aptitudes, their standards, their rewards, and we need to understand the nature of our society, especially its democratic spirit."

"If we are to cooperate effectively in the preservation and advancement of our society, we must rejoice at the manifold distribution of unlike gifts and abilities, and strive to achieve that understanding and tolerance which will enable each member of society to make his maximum contribution to our common life," President Hancher asserted.

The United States has demonstrated the workability of the federal principle in government, he said, developed the concept of judicial review of government action to protect both citizens and government, has developed mass production, he said.

These are to some extent a product of a more general American contribution, he said—"one which we are in danger of losing because it is half forgotten."

This contribution is "a revolutionary way of looking at old and familiar things and of saying that, because a thing has always been done in a certain way, it does not follow that it should always be done in the same old certain way," Hancher said.

The truly democratic society which has the ideal of America's founders recognizes the equality of man but heeds also the differences in native abilities, he pointed out.

Rain Washes Out Yankees-Red Sox Till Late September

NEW YORK (AP)— Persistent rains washed out Thursday's doubleheader between the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox, making it necessary for these two teams to play eight games against each other during the final 10 days of the season.

Thursday's games have been re-scheduled as part of double-headers here on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 28 and 29. The teams are listed for a single game on the season's final day Sunday, Sept. 30, which makes this series a five-game affair.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 21-22-23, the Yanks and Red Sox are scheduled to play a three-game series in Boston, where the New Yorkers have yet to win a game this season.

40,000 On Hand

Some 40,000 fans were on hand Thursday at game time (11:30 a.m., Iowa Time) when the rains came. After an 80-minute wait, the doubleheader was postponed.

If bad weather further postpones Yankee-Red Sox games, they may be played Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 1 and 2, according to the American league rules. That is, if either the Yankees or Red Sox still are in contention by then—which is almost a certainty.

The compression of five games into the final three days could work to the detriment of both contenders if the race is close at that time, with Cleveland possibly benefiting. The Indians are off on Friday, Sept. 28, and finish with single games against Detroit, in Cleveland, the last two days.

Revises Pitching

The postponements caused a revision in the pitching rotations of each team. Lefty Bill Wight was to face southpaw Ed Lopat of the Yanks in the opener with Ray Scarborough opposing Yankee Allie Reynolds in the night-cap.

The rotation for the Yankees, as announced by Manager Casey Stengel, is: Reynolds here today; Lopat, Saturday and Johnny Sain and Vic Raschi on Sunday. The Washington Senators provide the opposition in the four games.

The Red Sox moved on to Philadelphia, where they are billed for five contests in three days. Wight and Scarborough will pitch the two-night bill today. Manager Steve O'Neill also will use left-handers Mel Parnell and Mickey McDermott as starters against the Athletics but has not decided on the fifth pitcher.

Suspected Briber Gives Self Up in N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack (Zip) West, accused as a fixer in the big college basketball scandal, gave himself up Thursday because "I'm tired of living like a hunted animal."

He was held in $50,000 bail, charged with bribery and conspiracy.

A nationwide hunt had been on for him since he was indicted in July. He was charged with offering a $10,000 bribe to Gene Melchiorre, Bradley university's all-America, to throw a 1950 championship basketball game with City College of New York. Melchiorre said he turned down the bribe.

The district attorney's office called the alleged bribe offer "a preliminary indictment and only a minute part of his activities."

West, 40, pleaded innocent. He gave himself up to two reporters for the New York Post. They said they met West by pre-arrangement in an early morning rendezvous outside the city.

The reporters said they offered to drive West in to surrender to the district attorney's office and that he agreed.

Basketball's biggest scandal has enmeshed 31 players from six big-time college teams—Bradley, Toledo, City College, Manhattan, Long Island, and New York university.

Iowa Continues Conditioning; Raff Looks at Pass Defenders

By JACK SQUIRE

The conditioning stage of Iowa's pre-season grid practice continued Thursday with a slightly increased tempo over Wednesday's first day of drills.

Once again the emphasis was on fundamentals and basic plays as well as another lengthy passing session for the four quarterback candidates—Burt Britzmann, Jim Sangster, Dick Gleichman, and Paul Kemp.

Coach Leonard Raffensperger also used the passing drills to look over his defensive halfbacks. In addition to Duane Brandt and Joe Bristol, veteran pass defenders, backs Bernie Bennett, Corky Reister, Jack Hess, Dave Green and Dick Brattebo took part in the drill.

Bennett, who was being groomed for a defensive slot last year before he stepped into the offensive left halfback post, drew praise from Raffensperger for his tight guarding of the Hawkeye ends.

The ends, of course, were also under close scrutiny since a lack of adequate receivers has plagued

Iowa teams since Jack Dittmer and Bob McKenzie caught more than 40 passes between them in 1948 and 1949.

Last year, oddly enough, the top pass snatchers were backs Bill Reichardt and Chug Wilson with a total of 21.

Hawk Notes: The Iowa coaching staff is pleased with the current condition of the squad. With a few exceptions, most of the candidates reported for practice in surprisingly good shape. . . Tackle Dudley Noble, a junior from Fort Madison who could help a lot, shaved off about 10 pounds over the summer and appears considerably faster than a year ago. . . MAUREEN CONNOLLY was taken home by her aunt (left) and mother after she arrived in San Diego Thursday from Forest Hills, N.Y., where she became the youngest U.S. women's tennis champion Wednesday by defeating Shirley Fry. Her quick return caught San Diego off balance with no time to arrange a big civic reception. But Mayor John Butler flew from San Francisco's Japanese peace conference to head several hundred welcomers.

Flanagans vs. Gobs

— But What a Brawl

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A "slight" disagreement over the relative value of aces and deuces in a stud poker game left boxing's fighting Flanagans slightly bewildered and in jail Thursday.

"We wuz robbed," they howled figuratively as they protested the "decision" which resulted in a disorderly conduct and assault and battery charge against them.

The charges arose after Del and Glen engaged in a "minor" skirmish with "about 50 sailors" at the chief petty officer's club on the Wold-Chamberlain navy base last night.

"Those sailors tried to call a deuce an ace," Del, one of the nation's leading lightweight's said. He nursed a lump on his head as he talked to newsmen. He said he got it when he was slugged with the butt of a .45 by a naval guard.

Del and his brother, Glen, a ranking featherweight, were arrested by police after the navy preferred charges against them.

The two brothers, visiting a friend at the base, stopped off at the club for a few fast hands of poker. The game opened slow and everybody was having a fine time.

"Everything was fine until that sailor called a deuce an ace," Del said. "I claimed it was a deuce and the trouble started."

The two Irishmen said that when the trouble started a swarm of sailors jumped in and mobbed

Technical Difficulties Prevent Iowa TV

Iowa was scheduled to be among the cooperating universities in the NCAA experimental football television plan for 1951 but technical difficulties will prevent the presentation of the Minnesota game here Nov. 3.

Director Paul Brechler Thursday said that the hitch was caused by inability of American Telephone and Telegraph company to furnish the proper line facilities in Davenport.

Under the NCAA plan, the game would have been telecast in eastern and southeastern states but not in the area in which tickets would normally be sold.

"We are very sorry that plans did not work out. An NBC television technician and men from WOC-TV of Davenport inspected photo facilities of the press box and were pleased with the situation. Three cameras would have been used," Director Brechler said.

Midget's Ouster Irks N. Y. Lawyer

ST. LOUIS (AP)— Everything but a congressional investigation was suggested by those arguing the pros and cons of Bill Veeck's use of a midget in a game here last month.

Now even that proposal has been made.

It comes from Julian Rice, who identified himself as a "New York lawyer" and "director of fan's research guild." He announced his motion in a letter to Roy Stockton, sports editor of the Post-Dispatch, saying he had written a letter to the house subcommittee now investigating baseball's structure.

In the letter to committee chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.), Rice asks for permission to appear before the investigators "to press a charge of a monopolistic act by President Will Harridge of the American league."

them.

"The two of us were doing all right—for awhile," Del said, with a rueful grin.

When they saw they were outnumbered the two lads decided discretion was the better part of valor and headed for civilian territory. Their hasty retreat was halted at the navy base gate.

The Flanagans said they weren't anymore to blame than the sailors. They said the only reason they ran was because there were so many sailors.

Illini Take to Air With Soph O'Connell; Bucks Try Frosh

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP)—It was apparent Coach Ray Eliot of the Illini planned to capitalize on the throwing arm of his No. 1 and 2 quarterbacks, Tom O'Connell and Don Henss. The second day of practice Thursday found these two shooting forwards to Joe Vernasco and Rex Smith, first team ends, in a long passing drill.

Eliot's team kept to the ground last year but this fall he has told his quarterbacks he wants "at least 25 passes a game, and more if they are working."

O'Connell is considered one of the best passers in Illinois history, and the best since Perry Moss.

Ohio State . . .

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes tried out several freshmen backs Thursday to see how they would do if given varsity football berths this fall.

"If a man rates a place on the varsity, we'll put him there no matter whether it's during the practice period or the middle of the season," Hayes said during the second day of the two-a-day drills.

Michigan . . .

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP)—Harlan H. Hatcher, new president of the University of Michigan, turned up Thursday as the Wolverines ran through a light scrimmage session and made an impromptu pep talk.

The first and second stringers then scored several touchdowns against the red-shirted reserves with Wes Bradford, speedy wingback from Troy, O., making the best run of the day, good for 40 yards.

Michigan State . . .

EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP)—Michigan State Coach Biggie Munn sent his freshman squad against his top two defensive units Thursday in the first contact work of the young football season.

Southpaw Bert Zagers, a freshman from Cadillac, Mich., completed several passes while another first-year man, Jerry Luzater of Three Rivers, Mich., completed one long one and several short jump passes against the Spartans' varsity secondary.

Minnesota . . .

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Emphasis was placed on passing Thursday by the University of Minnesota Fesler and his Gophers looking football team, which Coach Wes ahead to the season's opener here Sept. 29 against Washington.

After the pass drill, the Gopher squad scrimmaged for the remainder of the practice session. A standout again Thursday was Mel Holme, 220-pound sophomore from Stambaugh, Mich., who gained yardage consistently.

Purdue . . .

LAFAYETTE, IND. (AP)— Dale Samuels, Purdue's No. 1 passing quarterback, was the only starting backfield holdover from last year's team Thursday as Coach Stu Holcomb's Boilermakers went through their practice paces.

Lightweight senior John Durham, who returned the initial kickoff in the Indiana game last year 85 yards for a touchdown, was shifted to left halfback to replace veteran Mike Maccioli who was called to the army.

Indiana . . .

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP) — Coach Clyde Smith surveyed the spirited performance of his Indiana Hoosiers Thursday and said this year's first two days of football practice were the "best within my memory."

Two veteran linemen, however, were sidelined for a few days with injuries. Pete Russo, 220-pound senior tackle, suffered a sprained ankle and junior guard Danny Thomas received a split lip that required several stitches.

Series Opener Set for Oct. 3

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring playoffs, the world series will open on Wednesday, Oct. 3, unless Cleveland wins the American league pennant in which case it will start Thursday, Oct. 4, in Cleveland.

Representatives of the pennant contenders decided Thursday in a three-hour meeting to keep the same ticket scale as last year and eliminated any open days for travel.

Attending the meeting were the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants of the National league, and the Cleveland Indians, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox of the American league. The Chicago White Sox were invited but didn't attend apparently deciding the outlook was hopeless.

The reason for the later starting date in Cleveland is that two big conventions have tied up all available hotel space there through Oct. 3.

For the first time this year a new baseball rule comes into play. If, when the season ends on Sunday, Sept. 30, any games postponed by bad weather still have a bearing on the race they can be played on Monday and Tuesday in the American league. The National league has set aside only Monday for such contests.

The series opens this year in the American league park where the first two games will be played, followed by three games in the National league park, and then two in the American—assuming that more than four games are needed in the best four of seven competition.

Defense Mobilizer Says Pinch 'Is Here' On Civilian Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson said Thursday that military production has finally hit its stride and the long-threatened pinch on civilian goods "is here."

"From here on out, production of military items will step up and by next year I think it will step up sharply," he told a press conference.

What it means to consumers, Wilson said, is that "vastly greater amounts of materials" will have to be diverted into tanks, planes, guns and other weapons, with a corresponding cut in automobiles, TV sets, household appliances and similar goods.

His statement followed a new order by the defense production administration cutting back civilian use of steel, copper and aluminum during the three months beginning Oct. 1. Supplies of carbon steel for most civilian uses will be cut from 70 to 58 per cent of the pre-Korean war level, copper from 60 to 54 per cent, and aluminum from 50 to 46 per cent.

The marine corps turned to the draft in August for the first time since a brief period in World War II. Through November, its requests total 26,480 men. All told, selective service has asked 712,480 men since it resumed operations last September.

The navy and air force haven't asked for any draftees since firing started in Korea and the raising of the armed forces goal to 3,500,000 men.

Whether new regulations now awaiting President Truman's signature will help fill the announced calls is problematical. He hasn't indicated when he will sign the measure.

Between 150,000 and 200,000 childless married men would lose their deferments under the new rules and an estimated 150,000 4-F's may be drafted when the armed forces' mental standards are lowered.

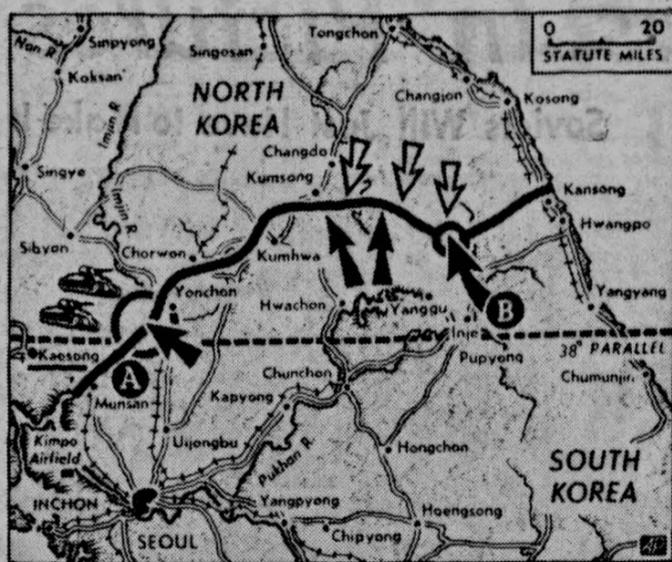

Some 500,000 childless husbands were in the deferred category on July 31 but about one-third of them were expected to fail pre-induction mental or physical examinations. Others will retain deferments because they are in essential jobs or their wives are pregnant. Unborn children now are considered dependents.

VERMILLION, S.D. (AP) — Dr. Louis Michalek, cleared by a coroner's jury of blame in the deaths of two "human guinea pigs" during an experiment with sedatives, will retain his research post at the University of South Dakota.

The state board of regents of education said, however, that the 28-year-old researcher will not engage in further clinical research with human beings.

Action Flares on Korean Front

ALLIED TROOPS MANAGED TO FIGHT their way out of Red encirclement (A) Thursday after an 18-hour battle against thousands of tank-supported Chinese. The surprise attack on the western front, which embraces Kaesong (underlined), site of suspended truce talks, broke the lull that extended back before the opening of the armistice talks in that area. On the eastern front (B), marines regained 400 yards lost earlier to North Korean Reds. Allied forces (black arrows) were facing Communist troops (open arrows) north of Yanggu as the UN braced for a possible new offensive by powerful enemy forces.

Traffic Toll Mounts; Soon to Hit 1 Million

CHICAGO (AP) — Mary Richardson, age 6, is a statistic.

So are her mother, father and two brothers.

But Mary is listed in a separate book from that recording the remainder of her family.

The difference is that Mary is alive, although badly injured. The rest of her family is dead.

The Labor Day week end took a toll of 453 dead on the nation's highways and brought the United States closer to counting its one millionth traffic fatality.

But the Richardson family didn't even have the distinction of being counted among the holiday traffic deaths. They were killed on Tuesday, the day after the holiday, when their car collided with a trailer truck.

Thursday, Mary lay in St. James hospital in suburban Chicago Heights, her face and head covered with bandages.

"Mama, bring my mama," she moaned.

Dr. Charles S. Baer couldn't tell her that her mother was dead.

"She's too weak to know the truth," said Dr. Baer. "She's fighting for her life."

Mary's skull was fractured and her jaw apparently broken in the accident Tuesday which killed her father, Richard Richardson, 47, of Tarrytown, N. Y., her mother and her two brothers, Jimmy, 11, and Daniel, not quite a year old.

Her aunt, Mrs. Anne Nevens, 44, of Black Oak, Ind., wept as she told how the Richardson's traveled west in hopes of finding a new life after years of hardship.

Mrs. Richardson was a nurse here until she married Richardson and they moved to Tarrytown where he worked as a plant guard and credit investigator.

Last month, they decided to move back to Chicago and visited Mrs. Nevens to inspect a filling station they planned to buy here with a little money they had managed to save.

En route to Medford, Wis., Tuesday to visit Mary's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Jakel, 73, the family took the wrong road.

Richardson tried to turn off the highway and the car collided with an automobile carrier truck, driven by Robert Spencer, 42, Clinton, Ia.

Mary's uncle, Adolph Jakel, 35, said Mrs. Nevens would care for Mary until permanent arrangements are made for her.

"There was no insurance as far as I know," he said. "The family was just able to make ends meet."

That is the story behind just a few of the statistics that will be published later this year when the nation counts its one millionth traffic death since the invention of the automobile.

Truman's Elephant Dies

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) — President Truman's gift elephant from the King of Cambodia died aboard ship in the harbor here Thursday.

The elephant became ill as the ship, Steel Surveyor, was putting into the harbor. The beast collapsed and died a little later.

Mother Faints When She Sees Filth of School

ANTIOCH, ILL. (AP) — A mother fainted Thursday when she saw the "indescribably filthy" bed where her child had slept at a "private school" operated by 75-year-old Miss Daisy Hull.

Lake County State's Attorney Robert C. Nelson filed charges accusing Miss Hull of contributing to the dependency of 15 underfed and ill-clothed children whom Miss Hull lodged at the school.

In addition, Miss Hull faces a state charge of operating a school for juveniles without a license.

If convicted on all counts and given maximum consecutive sentences, Miss Hull could be imprisoned in county jail for 16 years and fined $5,000.

Nelson raided the school Tuesday after the mother of one of the pupils made a surprise visit and found "terrible" conditions.

"I can't find words to tell you how bad things were," Nelson said. "But this will give you an idea: We took the mother of one child in Thursday and showed her the absolutely crummy bed where her child slept. She took one look and collapsed into a faint."

"The beds were so moldy I wouldn't let my dog lay on one. Only two had sheets."

"In the basement we found a pile of dirty laundry, covered with flies, piled seven feet long, four feet wide and two feet deep. The water in the washing machine was black. The kid's clothes were filthy."

Nelson said the Illinois state department of welfare had launched a separate inquiry into the case.

More Red Charges Expected to Come Say UN Officers

TOKYO (FRIDAY) (AP) — The Communists denounced today as "entirely unsatisfactory" the latest United Nations' rejections of truce violations charges, but they did not make any new protest.

Meanwhile, high Allied officers predicted that the Red commanders would answer with a new propaganda blast Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's proposal to shift the Korean truce talks to a new site.

Authorities agreed that another flood of Red charges and demands would come close to finishing off the talks. As the fighting spread daily, the whole idea of an agreement to stop it receded into the background.

The latest Red reply on the subject of truce violations was on the delegation level.

An answer to Ridgway was expected from Communist Gens. Kim Il Sung and Peng Teh-Huai, North Korean and Chinese commanders in Korea.

Gerard Dies; One-Time Envoy To Germany

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y. (AP) — James W. Gerard, 84, America's ambassador to Germany prior to the United States' entry into World War I, died Thursday at his summer home here.

He had been ill for several days. His assignment to the Germany of Kaiser Wilhelm was one of the most ticklish ever served by an American diplomat.

Gerard was a virtual prisoner of the Germans briefly after the U.S. entered the war but eventually was allowed to leave the country.
