The Race Is Over

RODERICK GRANT PRESENTED A HORSESHOE of flowers to Jack Brause, 76, and his passenger Margaret Harris Monday after Brause drove his Stanley Steamer to the finish line ahead of his gas-line-powered rival, a Stoddard-Dayton (left), driven by Rube DeLaunty and carrying Eleanor Hall as a passenger.

Also taken to hospitals at Lafayette, about 25 miles south of here, were two young girls standing on the platform, a girl sitting in the depot's waiting room and a 16-year-old baggage room employee. Names of the four injured were withheld pending notification of their families.

'Old' Frivol Gets Elaborate Burial, Rebirth in 1 Day

Fifty students formally buried SUI's humor magazine Monday. The elaborate services for the death of "Frivol" preceded the re-birth of the new magazine. With the black-cad mourners looking on, nine issues of last year's magazine were buried in a ceremony near the Frivol office.

Un-American Group Discovers - Reds Use Sex Appeal

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Communists used the sex appeal of pretty girls to lure soldiers and sailors into a party, a former member told the house un-American activities subcommittee Monday. Free lance writer Harold J. Ashe blueprinted for the committee how the Communist party sought to control the movie industry and surround itself in the film colony with the respectability of "name persons" - used for their value as members, sympathizers, financial angles or "dupes."

Battleship Iowa Passes Trial Runs

ABOARD THE BATTLESHIP IOWA (AP) - The fast battleship Iowa - the biggest afloat - steamed successfully through trial runs Monday preparatory to adding her terrific firepower to the Pacific fleet. There wasn't a hitch as the 58,000-ton battle wagon slipped out of the reserve fleet at Hunters point and eased down San Francisco bay.

Death of Last Year's Frivol

SAD INDEED WERE THE PALLBEARERS as they carried the remains of last year's Frivol, SUI's humor magazine, to the burial grounds. These mourning characters paraded quietly behind a police escort through the streets of Iowa City Monday morning while a group of weeping widows marched behind.

Amvet Officers Deny Responsibility for Beer Permit Probe

Two officers in the American Veterans of World War II, Monday issued a statement clarifying the status of the Iowa City club in relation to a beer permit application now under investigation by the state permit board in Des Moines. The board withheld approval if the permit Saturday because of indictments in 1948 against the club for the illegal possession of gambling devices and liquor.

Allies Capture 2 Hills; Savage Fighting Continues

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) - The Allies seized two heights, were jolted off a third and held on grimly against Red threats to others Monday in savage fighting for east Korea's fog-shrouded hills. The aroused North Koreans threw in counterattack after counterattack against American, Turkish, Ethiopian and South Korean troops.

Registration Today for New Students

Registration moved along smoothly Monday at the Iowa fieldhouse as the veterans of other SUI registrations returned to scholastic duties. Registration was retarded only when students had to consult with advisers or when they failed to read "the fine print" in the registration instructions, Registrar Ted McCarrel said. He estimated that registrants numbered about the same as last year. Exact figures will be released from the President's office Friday.

16 from Here Go to Army

Sixteen men, including 12 from here, went to Des Moines from Johnson county Monday for induction into the army. The men, who will be re-assigned to Ft. Sheridan, Ill., for basic training, made up the September draft quota for the county. Johnson county men drafted were: Robert J. Harney, who volunteered; Robert A. Rossie; John R. Carson; Robert E. Seeber; Roy M. Duffy; Robert Tomash; Charles K. Boyle; Donald M. Schroeder; Emit Gomiz; Merle T. Herdliska; Joseph J. Miller, and Ray Y. Stratton.

Firemen Fight Blaze

Iowa City firemen fought fire for two hours Monday evening in a vain attempt to save a wooden quonset building at the rear of Priebe and Sons Inc., a produce company at 7 E. Benton street. Three fire trucks were used to prevent the fire from spreading to two nearby oil storage buildings. The 20 by 40 foot quonset hut was declared a total loss by firemen.

U.S. Urges Atlantic Pact Include Greece, Turkey

Body of Winner Of SUI Scholarship Found in Waterloo

WATERLOO (AP) - The badly decomposed body of Larry Wiley, 21, Boone, who was expected to enter SUI this fall, was found in Gates park here Monday and police said he apparently shot himself about a month ago. A park employe found the body while mowing grass Monday. It was only about 35 feet from the fairway of the second hole of the park golf course. Police Chief Jerry J. Krieg said it appeared Wiley had shot himself with a .22 caliber revolver which was found near the body. A box of unused .22 caliber shells was also found near the body.

OTTAWA (AP) - The United States, Britain and France Monday night urged the North Atlantic council to recommend admission of Turkey and Greece as full partners in the North Atlantic alliance.

Douglas Bests Truman in Fight Over Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Paul H. Douglas, (D-Ill.), bested President Truman today in their sharp fight over two Illinois judgeships. The senate judiciary committee, siding with Douglas, voted to kill the President's nominations of Illinois State Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington and Chicago Municipal Court Judge Joseph H. Drucker to be federal district judges in northern Illinois. The committee, by varying majorities, voted down all proposals to send the names to the senate floor - either favorably or unfavorably. Douglas said he was "gratified" by the action which gave "real support" to his effort to get the best qualified men for judicial vacancies. He voiced hope it would "open the way to prompt steps to bring before the senate outstanding nominations which will have general approval."

Book Exchange To Open Today In Schaeffer Hall

Books will go on sale at the student council's book exchange in Schaeffer hall. A total of 1,761 books have been received by the exchange for sale through Saturday noon. This is about the same number as was taken in by the exchange last semester. Although the receiving of books was scheduled to end Monday, Carl B. Zimmerman, exchange chairman, said students can still bring in used textbooks today. Office hours for the sale are from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4:45 p.m. If unsold books are not picked up by Sept. 26, they will become the property of the student council. Money from book sales and unsold books may be picked up Sept. 24-26. Students wishing to help in the exchange may sign up in the basement of Schaeffer hall.

Britain to Get Iran Ultimatum

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - The Iranian cabinet decided Monday night to go ahead with Premier Mossadeq's oil ultimatum to Britain despite W. Averell Harriman's refusal to relay it to London. A government source told earlier of Harriman's refusal to send the ultimatum from Washington. It gives the British two weeks to resume oil talks or face expulsion of British technicians still in Iran at the nationalized Anglo-Iranian oil works. The source said Harriman told Premier Mossadeq by letter from Washington that serving the ultimatum would only worsen British-Iranian relations. Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi said the cabinet would meet again today with the parliamentary oil board to decide on procedure for carrying out the ultimatum. It was sent to Harriman in his role as mediator in the now broken-off oil talks.

Truman Foes Meet in Secret Policy Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S. D.) revealed Monday that representatives from 17 states met here secretly last week-end and selected a special committee to create a working "alliance" of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

He said the committee will not sponsor "specific presidential candidates, either Republican or Democrat" but will "explore means of uniting Republicans and Southern Democrats who think alike." Mundt long has spearheaded an anti-Truman movement aimed at a Republican-Conservative Democratic coalition which would support presidential and vice presidential candidates of either major party, so long as they renounced the administration's "Fair Deal" program.

In this connection Mundt said the "delegates" to the secret meeting opposed the administration's "trend toward Socialism." It also was interested he said, in drawing lines between the two present political parties to divide those who believe in "limited government" from those who believe in government activities at the cost of "limited personal freedom."

While the group will not support presidential candidates, Mundt said, some of the delegates are adherents of Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R-O.), Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"Nobody there was for President Truman," he observed. He said the special committee was selected from about 100 delegates from 17 states who paid their own expenses to get here.

Mundt broke the news of the meeting at a press conference. He said he could not disclose the names of the delegates, but that several governors were represented. The conference lasts three days.

While Mundt referred to an alliance of Southern Democrats and Republicans, appointments to the special committee indicate support from anti-administration Democrats north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Selected for the "committee to explore political realignment" were former Sen. Edward R. Burke (D-Neb.) temporary chairman; former Democratic government-Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison and Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison of New Jersey; Donald J. Cowling, former member of the Republican party of Maine; former Sen. Albert A. Hawkes (R-N.J.) and Donald R. Richberg of Charlottesville, Va., a Democrat and NRA administrator during the Mundt denied that the group had any intention of creating a third party or of reviving the states rights Democratic party which captured the electoral votes of four southern states in 1948.

Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me.) helped him invite the various delegates, Mundt said. Brewster supports the idea, he said. Mundt also reported that about a dozen Republican congressmen and another dozen Democratic congressmen are "interested" in the movement but that he could not reveal their names because of "political realities." He said that both the delegates and the congressional supporters don't want premature publicity of their views.

Mundt reported that states represented at the conference were Texas, Alabama, New Jersey, New York, Virginia, Nebraska, Minnesota, Maine, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina, North Carolina, South Dakota, Wisconsin, and Florida.

These films sometimes show the utmost imagination of concept, as in the highly developed techniques of Orson Wells' "Citizen Kane" or his later attempt, "The Lady From Shanghai," or the sensitive fineness of a star's performance such as Garbo in any one of her films, Bergman in "Adam Had Three Sons," or Dietrich in "The Blue Angel."

They can show extremely literate writing as in "Le Diable au Corps," or Lloyd Bacon's "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" and direction that stuns with its impact as Jean Cocteau did with his pseudo-surrealism in "The Beauty and the Beast," and Jules Dassin in "The Naked City," with his newsreel realism.

These films are good but upon leaving the theatre we are apt to say that it was brilliant, and no more, and ask ourselves what it lacked so as to be able to give us a few months of solid greatness. The reason they approach, but do not achieve greatness lies in their preoccupation with the individual. All of the great films to date have dealt with social issues.

They have struck a humanity in their awareness and presentation of the forces that confront man, the injustice that mankind fights. The great film has always been the great social film. Study any one of the remarkable motion-pictures of the past, from Griffith's "Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance" to C.B. DeMille's compelling "King of Kings" and we find the love story, the sub-plot, taking second place to the social issue.

Assuredly they do not neglect love, passion, or the little everyday incidents of life and their greatness lies in the fact that they are able to interweave these with the important issues, never once losing sight of the larger theme.

Charles Chaplin did it in many of his productions. His downtrodden little man, no matter how broke or belabored, was always willing to help someone less fortunate than himself.

As a result, his films such as "The Cure," "The Tramp," and the outstanding film of the past generation, "Monsieur Verdoux," are remembered vividly and have achieved a lasting standard of quality.

The problem of poverty and man's desire to work were treated with compassion and a thorough knowledge of his material by De Sica in "The Bicycle Thief" and again in one of the finest films of its type, "The Grapes of Wrath" directed by John Ford.

Both these productions, along with Jean Renoir's distinguished film, "The Southerner," are notable for their honesty and unobtrusive playing of the dramatic elements, the wisdom of their ideals. Other films could be mentioned to illustrate this basic concept of the social struggle, more than one realizes, and also such political issues that appear in "All Quiet on the Western Front," "The Informer," "Alexander Nevski" and "The Battleship Potemkin."

We soon see the difference between merely a fine or worthy film and one whose greatness will endure and influence for years. The social issues of these great motion-pictures may date but the struggle of man never does.

The Temperamental Grand Opera Star

Preview—THE FILM What Makes a Film Great?

By GIL TAYLOR

As we look the past, through the many years of film creativity, the originality and banality of innumerable productions, the magnetism of stellar personages, the technical excellence of cameramen and directors, certain films stand out from the commonplace welter and fairly 'light up the sky' with their glow of greatness.

Many of these films are old, produced at the time when the silents were first getting their teeth into the art of cinema production and trying fact and fiction to outlive the idea that they were merely a fad.

Some of these films are new, frequently hailed with advance press releases, star names and publicity stunts guaranteed to make the average citizen rush to purchase a ticket.

Many films contain brilliant acting, great ingenuity of camera-work, and a feeling for the passions of mankind on the part of the writer and director, but still miss the mark of greatness. We can say of those films that they are exciting, or wonderful, but we can not give them the final judgment that lasts past movements, individuals and studios.

The expansion would be by private industry but government priorities needed to build new plants would be granted with the view that the output is necessary to national defense. Consumption of wool in the United States is about three times domestic production.

Strong political opposition comes from the states where wool production is an important industry. It is also argued that large-scale wool exporting countries.

Due to defense planning and civilian demand, it is indicated that cotton mills this year will consume about 10.7 million bales, an increase of 20 per cent over last year. However, about 25 per cent of the nation's textile output is now made of rayons and the new synthetics.

Rayon, a generic term since 1924, is hardly a true synthetic since its base is cellulose which exists in all plant life. Nylon, which came along in 1939, was the first true synthetic. Now there are a host of others made from coal, natural gas petroleum or other minerals. They have been loosely called "synthetic wool," to the displeasure of the wool people.

The southwest, center of the cotton-rayon spinning and weaving industry, has a big stake in developments. Most of its new post-war mills have been for the weaving of rayons and synthetics. And the new synthetic fibers are nearly all produced, or will be produced in the region that is also the land of cotton.

Generally, these new synthetics are available only in very limited quantities. They are all different but have many qualities in common. None duplicates all the characteristics of wool but they seem to meet requirements of wool in certain types of fabric.

Many see the advent of these new fibers as broadening the textile base, giving manufacturers a greater variety to work with in reaching desired results. The new synthetics are sometimes used alone, but more often blended with other fibers, natural or synthetic.

The whole trend in the last few years, in fact, has been toward blends of various fibers. Textile chemists say the combining of fibers has really only commenced and that the day seems near when it will be possible to engineer yarns and fabrics for any particular purpose.

Recently the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. completed a $17 million plant near Camden, S. C., for the first commercial production of orlon. It is made now as multi-filament yarn. But an adjacent $25 million plant is going up to make orlon staple. The du Pont company is also now building a $33 million plant near Kinston to make a new polyester fiber, dacron.

A new acrylic fiber called dymel is being made at South Charleston, W. Va., by Union Carbide and Carbon and production has been doubled this summer. Chemstrand corporation is building a giant plant near Decatur, Ala., to make make acrilan, another new synthetic. It is also building a big plant near Pensacola, Fla., to make 50 million pounds of nylon acetate. It is the first licensed U. S. producer of nylon, developed and made by du Pont.

ONCE OVER Lightly

By LEE GARNER

What a joyous occasion! What a cheerful prospect! It is the very first week of school. Who is not glad? The professors are happy, the parents are happier. The city merchants are happiest of all.

This leaves only the student body to be cheered up—a very time. This gives us the time to support all the football games and all-campus affairs.

THEN, TOO, THE CAMPUS has to be beautified, especially two days before the term starts, one day before homecoming day and three days before commencement.

After that, it goes back to normal, if that good.

Every year the old buildings have to be set off against bright new grass, iron fences and "Keep Off" signs. The fences are to make sure that students do not get grass stains on their new white shoes. The "Keep Off" signs are purely decorative to improve the looks of the grounds.

MANY OTHER THINGS are being done or are in the planning stages to make our stay here memorably hilarious: The jovial bookstore crowds, the first thrilling walk to class in the refreshing cool rain, the ID photos—

We would not miss a single bit of it. That is why we take light schedules—so we can go through it all just twice as often.

Nevertheless, all this time and careful effort pays off. Every registration we have attended has been a monumental success. We have never yet been saddled with more than two courses that will fit into our schedule at any one time. This gives us the time to support all the football games and all-campus affairs.

THE registration period must be minutely planned. These three days are otherwise known as the "All-Campus Free-for-all" or the "Student Benefit Schedule Shuffle."

Most students think it is a snap to figure out how to get the fieldhouse so crowded. It is not.

YOU HAVE TO KNOW just how much to underestimate the number of seats required, how to arrange the department tables to insure maximum interference, and how to cram the waiting line into an area that looks larger than a broom closet but really isn't.

We wish we could do it. We wish we had the insight, the patience, the talent—and occasionally the fieldhouse receipts—but, alas,

Wool vs. Synthetics

National Defense Effort Produces Competitor for Sheep Industry

"ARTIFICIAL WOOL" is checked for defects before shipping.

BY HENRY LESSENE

Central Press Correspondent CHARLOTTE, N. C.—Wool is now facing the competition that cotton and silk have struggled with during the last two decades. Silk has fallen by the wayside, and the cotton-rayon competition continues. However, the battle of the 1950s is expected to be one of wool versus synthetics.

In the last few years the new synthetic fibers have been encroaching upon the suiting field and others dominated by wool. The threat is becoming acute now with the disclosure that Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson is considering giving the green light to a $500 million "synthetic wool" expansion program.

The expansion would be by private industry but government priorities needed to build new plants would be granted with the view that the output is necessary to national defense. Consumption of wool in the United States is about three times domestic production.

Strong political opposition comes from the states where wool production is an important industry. It is also argued that large-scale wool exporting countries.

3 DENY CONSPIRACY CHARGE

ESTHERVILLE (AP)—Three Emmet county farmers charged with conspiracy in the dynamiting of a dam this spring pleaded innocent to the charge Monday.

H. I. Spear, Nick Spear and Dale Young were indicted by the Emmet county grand jury last week. They entered their innocent pleas before District Judge Harry E. Narey.

A hole was blasted in an earthen dam on Lake Ingham near here last May 3. The farmers said the dam caused water from the lake to back up on their land.

Michigan's 500-Ton White Elephant Killed in 4 Weeks

By GWEN MATTHEW

Central Press Correspondent LANSING, MICH.—When fire ravaged the state office building here in the capital of Michigan, it left a 500-ton rockpile of about 1,000 huge sandstone blocks weighing from 300 pounds to a ton each and so hard it took mighty blows of hammer on chisel to split them.

The blocks had been removed from the two burned-out top stories of the structure which was gutted by a four-day, $5 million blaze. There was no sale for the blocks because the cost of labor to make them fit for re-use was prohibitive.

Property management folks the rocks, but decided to offer couldn't think of one good reason them to the public free. They say why any sane person would want back pessimistically to await results of their terse announcement.

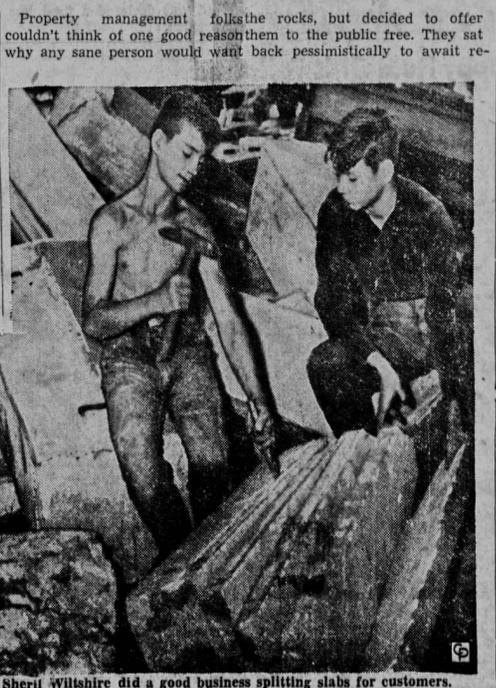

"It's yours for the taking. Come and get it."

And come they did, more than 200 armed with hammers, chisels and other tools. Many split the blocks up on the spot, hauling them away in their cars or small trailers. Others hired equipment with pulleys and cranes to load large blocks onto trucks.

Two teen-age Lansing brothers, Buddy and Sheril Wiltshire, set themselves up in business in the grounds. They split blocks, charging by the hour.

Some of the uses given for the split-up blocks were retaining walls, sidewalks, driveways, walking staves, outdoor fireplaces, pig pens, flagpole bases, and even houses.

Four weeks after the brief announcement, still dazed property management officials were convinced there is virtually nothing that cannot be given away. The grounds were cleared at no cost to the state.

BROTHERS BUDDY (left) and Sheril Wiltshire did a good business splitting slabs for customers.

Life Begins at 8:30—

There is one course all SUI will take this semester. It is a course in philosophy called Life. But you won't find it listed in the schedule of courses.

Long ago, before the days of credits and diplomas, the Greeks taught this course. In fact, it was the only subject listed in Hellenic curricula.

But as living became more complex, this course gave way to other disciplines. In time it was totally obscured by the formalism of the mass education and big universities.

The subject was hardly ever mentioned on the undergraduate level, the belief being that it only had a place in post-graduate work.

Even our language perpetuates the myth that there is something distinct between the world of the campus and non-campus. We speak of the "ivory tower" and "cloistered walls" as being synonymous with college life.

College has been termed a preparation for Life. Nonsense—college is Life.

So as long as each individual must adjust to day-to-day problems, live as a member of a group and conform to social pressures, there is little difference between on campus and off campus behavior.

The world of the student differs in routine from that of the businessman. But in the larger overall order, the difference is one of degree and not kind.

It is a vicious piece of self-deception to believe, "things will be different after I get my degree."

The behavior developed and practiced in college is the compass which guides every student through Life.

If this is so, then there is no place in college for superficial, indifferent students, just as there is no place in society for superficial indifferent citizens.

Like it or not, Life begins at 8:30 a.m. Thursday.

Republicans Ask Brannan Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Republican senators demanded an investigation of the agriculture department Monday and Secretary Brannan accused them of undertaking a "fishing expedition" for political purposes.

Senator Kem (R-Mo.) and 16 other GOP senators called for the inquiry, saying it was needed to determine whether officials of the department have misused public funds.

The Republican group introduced a resolution based on charges aired in a senate speech last week by Senator Williams (R-Del.) that a Kansas City, Mo.,

WSUI Resumes Full Program Time Thursday

Radio stations WSUI and KSUI will return to their regular broadcast schedule Thursday, Richard Setterberg, program director, said Monday.

For WSUI it will mean full-time operation from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. For KSUI it means returning to the air from 6 p.m. until 10 p.m. after being silent all summer. At present WSUI is operating on an 8 a.m. to 2:15 schedule.

WSUI is a standard, AM educational station, heard at 910 on the dial. KSUI is an FM station, heard at 91.7 megacycles. Both are non-commercial.

Featured in the new program schedule will be eight programs produced by the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

The University of Illinois festival concerts will be heard Monday at 8 p.m.; the International Visitors, Tuesday at 2:45 p.m.; the BBC World Theatre, Tuesday at 8 p.m.; the Masterworks Story (music), Thursday at 2:45 p.m.; The People Act, Thursday at 8 p.m.; America and the World, Thursday at 8:30 p.m.; Music for the Connoisseur, Friday at 8 p.m.; and Stories 'N Stuff (children's drama), Saturday at 5 p.m.

In addition WSUI will broadcast all Big Ten conference football games and carry 13 sportscasts each week.

Three programs broadcast directly from the classrooms, nine newscasts each day, and a balance of popular and classical music will complete the new full-time schedule.

Setterberg also reports that the SUI radio bulletin has been revamped this year and will be issued three times yearly. It carries the complete schedule for both stations and can be obtained by writing the station, according to Setterberg.

SUI Housemother Receives Award From Fraternity

Five members of the SUI chapter of Phi Epsilon, Pi and their housemother, Mrs. Sonia Sands, have just returned from the annual national convention of the fraternity which was held at the Roney Plaza hotel in Miami Beach, Fla.

At the convention Mrs. Sands was awarded a plaque commemorating her 10th year as Phi Epsilon Pi housemother at SUI.

Others attending the convention were Sherwin Brotman, C4, Moline, Ill.; Arthur Epstein, P4, Memphis, Tenn.; Jerome Shloff, G, Sioux City; Herbert Holland, A4, Sioux City; Alan Stern, A3, Des Moines, and the president of the local chapter Victor Trumkin, A4, Des Moines.

GOP Eisenhower Boom Begins

Dr. Bean Is Chairman of State Medical Group

Dr. William B. Bean, head of the college of medicine, has been named chairman of the Iowa branch of the National Doctors Committee for Improved Federal Medical Services.

The announcement was made by Francis Johnson, Arnolds Park, chairman of the Kansas committee to inform the people on the reorganization of the federal government.

The National Doctors committee, of which Dr. Robert Collier Page, New York, is chairman, has a membership in each of the 48 states. This group is interested in developing a program for the greatest utilization and coordination of the country's medical facilities and manpower.

Medical manpower wasted by reason of duplication of services, the group feels, is an injury to the country and to the medical profession.

Band to Display New Blue Uniforms At Opening Game

The SUI football marching band will wear their new blue uniforms for the Iowa-Kansas State game Sept. 29. This will mark the first public showing of the uniforms which were purchased last spring.

The new uniform coats are of navy blue whipcord and the trousers and caps are of light French blue. Gold trim and a special Iowa shoulder patch and sash ornament add to the smart appearance of the new uniforms.

Accessories are in black and white and include white cotton gloves.

John Cahill Weds Bernice Ann Dvorak

Miss Bernice Ann Dvorak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dvorak, 435 S. Dodge street, and John K. Cahill, West Branch, were married 10 a.m. Sept. 8 in the St. Wenceslaus church in Iowa City. The Rev. Edward W. Nuezi performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with Queen Elizabeth style bodice with Chantilly lace insets, long tapering sleeves and a long train. Her fingertip length nylon net veil was attached to a white satin helmet and she carried an arm bouquet of Fiji mums. She wore a medal given to her by the bridegroom.

Miss Marian Dvorak, who attended her sister, wore an old rose slipper satin gown with matching veil. Miss Regina Cahill, West Branch, and Miss Helen Lakin, Iowa City, bridesmaids, wore dusty aqua satin gowns with matching veils.

Francis Cahill Jr., West Branch, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Donald Hoyt, Oxford, and Paul Dvorak, Iowa City. Miss Mary Katherine Cahill sang.

"Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" and was accompanied by Mrs. Phil Englert.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and the couple left immediately afterward for a week at Lake of the Ozarks. For her going away costume, Mrs. Cahill wore a green knit suit with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's high school, Iowa City, and the teacher training course at Ottumwa Heights college. She was the primary grades teacher at North Liberty last year. The groom was graduated from West Branch high school and attended SUI.

They are at home near West Branch where Mr. Cahill operates a farm.

ALUMNAE TO MEET

The Phi Mu alumnae will meet at 6 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Oren Alt near New Sharon. New members and members desiring transportation should call 82353.

Child Hit by Car Is in Fair Condition

James M. Haefner, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Haefner, 409

Grand ave., was reported in "fair" condition in University hospitals Monday of injuries suffered when he was struck by a car on Melrose ave.

According to police, a car driven by Walter L. Alberhasky, 1807 G st., struck the youth when he apparently ran into the path of the auto.

Walker, Erickson Balk At SUI Probation Ruling, Head For Ames

'No Discrimination,' Say University Officials

By JACK SQUIRE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Two former West Point football stars who previously were reported coming to SUI will enroll at Iowa State instead, The Daily Iowan learned Monday.

They are Walter (Bo) Walker, former all-state halfback from Ottumwa, and Jack Erickson, a tackle from St. Charles, Ill. Both men played on last year's powerful army team.

The ex-cadets were expelled from the academy in August along with 88 others for violation of the West Point honor system in academic work.

"We were all set and looking forward to going to Iowa," Walker told The Daily Iowan in a telephone conversation Monday.

Changed Their Minds
"But that was before we knew that we were going to be put on probation. That's what changed our minds."

"We definitely feel that it was wrong to put us on probation. Many of the other fellows have been accepted at other schools with no strings attached. Why should Jack and I be the only ones to begin at a school with two strikes on us before we start?"

The pair is being accepted at Iowa State with "no strings attached," Walker said.

"We'll be just like any other transfer student there. All we'll have to do is maintain a 2.0 point grade," he said.

Haven't Discriminated
Commenting on Walker's remarks, SUI officials repeated an earlier viewpoint they had expressed on the matter. One high university official put it this way:

"We certainly haven't discriminated against these boys. Being put on probation here is a rule that applies to ANY student who is expelled from one school and is not eligible for readmittance at that same school."

"In fact, we feel that if anything, we've been generous in giving these boys another chance." The term "probation" could include a wide range of things, Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce said Monday.

"It could mean anything from merely a warning for the record to a strict limitation of activities for the student," Faunce explained.

No Curtailment
"And in this case, there would have been no curtailment of activities," Faunce stated.

Walker, who attended SUI during the 1948-'49 school year before being appointed to West Point, visited Iowa City with Erickson late in August to confer with SUI officials about being admitted for the coming school year.

"When we were down here then we talked to President Hancher, the registrar, and Coach Raffensperger," Walker said. "They all treated us swell and promised that there would be no publicity given to the matter.

At Ames Monday night, an Iowa State official admitted that "we've been contacted by Walker," but refused to comment on the pair's admittance to the school.

Story Next Day
"Then the very next day there was a big story in the papers about us. And two days afterwards the announcement came out that we were being put on probation."

Walker made it clear that he and Erickson contacted SUI first without receiving any "bid" from officials here.

He also stated that the Big Ten rule which would require a two year residence before they would be able to compete in inter-collegiate athletics had "nothing to do" with their decision to go to Iowa State where they will be eligible for competition after one year.

(Prof. Paul Blommers, Iowa's faculty representative in Big Ten athletics, said Monday that there is a "possibility" that the conference might cut the residence requirements to one year under the existing eligibility rules.)

Wrote To Raff
Walker first expressed dissatisfaction over the matter in a letter to Coach Leonard Raffensperger but did not make a final decision on his choice of schools until late Sunday night when he called a friend here and revealed his plans.

"I don't think that we've done anything that doesn't go on at other schools," Walker said concerning his expulsion.

"People just don't know the whole story. The whole thing has been handled miserably for cheap publicity."

Walker was a member of the Iowa freshmen team in 1948 and saw considerable action for Army last season. Erickson was considered one of the better defensive tackles on the Cadet's squad.

Walker said that they will enroll at Ames Wednesday.

DeJohn Stops Sala
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Joey DeJohn, 161, of Syracuse knocked out Lee Sala, 160½, of Donora, Pa., Monday night in 2:29 of the second round of their scheduled 10-round match.

The match was the first staged in the new $4,000,000 war memorial arena.

Sala went down in a free fall, flat on his back on a new "safety" mat used for the first time.

Campanella's Down After Beating

Melchiorre Out on Bond In Basketball Scandal

PEORIA, ILL. (AP)—Bradley basketball star Gene Melchiorre, indicted by a grand jury last week for failure to report a bribe, was arraigned Monday before Circuit Judge Howard White and released on $1,000 bond.

Daniel E. Horan, a Peoria businessman, put up the bond money. Judge White granted Melchiorre 30 days to enter a plea on a charge of accepting a bribe to rig the Dec. 7, 1950 game in Peoria with Oregon State.

Melchiorre also is under indictment on a similar charge in New York.

Tri-Cities Cage Owner Balks at High Rent

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ben Kerner, owner of the Tri-cities Blackhawks, said Monday it's doubtful he will move his National Basketball association team to Milwaukee because of rent in the Milwaukee arena.

"Under the prices the Arena board quoted me Monday afternoon," Kerner said, "it would be impossible to move the club to Milwaukee."

He said he will return to New York today if the board doesn't offer a reduction in rental by then.

The league has ordered Kerner to move the team from Davenport, Rock Island and Moline to Milwaukee by Wednesday or disband it because of dissent.

Fred Miller, Miller Brewing company president, offered to sponsor the team here. NBA President Maurice Podoloff said Saturday the shift appeared to be 98 per cent set.

"If no deal is reached in Milwaukee," Kerner said, "I'm not sure what will happen. It will be up to the league."

NEW YORK (P) — Phil Rizzuto's perfect bunt squeezed home Joe DiMaggio in the last of the ninth to give the New York Yankees a dramatic 2-1 victory over Cleveland Monday stretching their American league lead to one full game.

Steady Eddie Lopat, crafty Yankee southpaw ace, squelched the desperate Tribe with a brilliant three-hitter to reach the 20-win mark for the first time in his long career.

All the drama of a world series finale was packed into the tense ninth when Bob Lemon loaded the bases by yielding two singles and an intentional pass to Bobby Brown.

With one out and DiMaggio straining off third, Rizzuto dumped Lemon's second pitch squarely between the box and the first base line some 12 feet from the plate.

DiMaggio, leading off third with Lemon's pitch, was home and free despite alert work by Lemon. Only a pop-up could have broken up this chance. And Rizzuto, perhaps the best bunter in baseball, wasn't popping.

There was brilliant defensive work on both sides in this tense struggle, particularly by Bobby Avila and Ray Boone for the Tribe and Gil McDougald for the Yankees.

It looked as though Lopat, holder of a 33-8 lifetime record against Cleveland, and Lemon were heading for a double no-hitter in the early frames.

Yogi Berra's liner to center with two out in the fourth was the first Yank hit of the seven off Lemon.

Lopat retired the first 14 men in order until Boone lined a single over short into left field with two out in the fifth.

Hawkeyes Turn to Defense; Raff Pleased with Scrimmage

Iowa's football team turned to defense Monday and it looks as if that phase of the game will continue to be emphasized for a good part of the week's work.

Offense, especially passing, has received primary attention in the Hawkeye drills thus far but with the Kansas State opener less than two weeks off, Coach Leonard Raffensperger has already begun to drill against the single wing attack which the Wildcats will employ.

Raffensperger let half the squad off with light signal drills Monday following Saturday's lengthy scrimmage. But there was plenty of work for the other half as a squad of reserves ran plays against a veteran defensive unit.

Playing on defense were ends Don Swartzendruber and Del Corbin; tackles Hubert Johnston and Andy Buntz; guard Ron Fairchild; linebacks, Chuck Denning, John Towner, and Dick Frymire; halfbacks Duane Brandt and Joe Bristol and safety man Bernie Bennett.

There wasn't much the reserves could do against that opposition, though Iowa City's Duane Davis got off a couple of nice runs.

"Conditioning of the men is better but we still have a lot of work to do," Raffensperger said Monday.

"The scrimmage last Saturday was fairly satisfactory and as a whole the performances are getting better," he added.

Especially encouraging in Saturday's scrimmage was the 10 completions in 14 passing attempts by quarterbacks Burt Britzmann and Jim Sangster.

Britzmann hit five of nine while Sangster connected on all five of his throws.

Monday morning's workout was curtailed a bit by the absence of many of the players who were registering. The twice daily drills will continue through Wednesday after which practice will be from 4 to 6 p.m.

Hawk Notes: Two stars of last year's team have returned to Iowa City and will enroll in school. Halfback Jerry Faske is back after a brief trial with the San Francisco Forty Niners. Tackle Harold Bradley, most valuable Hawkeye in 1950 will probably enroll in graduate school with a major in art. Dick Meyer, a veteran end, has given up football on advice of his doctor. Meyer is bothered by a stomach ailment. Dick Frymire, sophomore tackle is developing rapidly as the middle linebacker in a five-man line.

Baseball Officials At Klem's Funeral

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Leading baseball officials will come here today to attend the funeral of William J. (Bill) Klem, dean of the men in blue.

Ford Frick, president of the National league, will represent the senior circuit where Klem served as umpire for 36 years.

Klem, who had been in failing health for two years, had been hospitalized since Aug. 11 and died Sunday. He was 77 years old. Rosary services will be held at 7 p.m. (Iowa time) today in Walsh and Wood funeral home chapel, with funeral services at 9 a.m. Wednesday in St. Patrick's church, Miami Beach. Burial will be in Miami's Graceland cemetery.

BRUINS SIGN TODD
DES MOINES (AP) — Signing of Al Todd to manage the Des Moines club during the 1952 Western league baseball season was announced Monday by John Holland, the Bruins business manager. Todd, in his first year with the Des Moines club, finished fifth this year.

Ex-Cadets Helping At Kansas State

MANHATTAN, KAN. — The addition of five former West Point linemen to the Kansas State football squad is going to help the Wildcats this season even though the ex-Cadets won't be eligible until 1952.

Coach Bill Meek plans to use the one-time Army stars in scrimmage sessions against his varsity performers.

The young Wildcat grid boss doubts if his club will encounter much stiffer opposition in games than that which will be provided in practice by the newcomers, including Ray Malavasi and Bob Volonino, first defensive guards on the 1949 West Point team, Jerry Hart, tackle, Ed Stahura, guard, and Jack McShulsks, end.

Ohio State . . .

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Tony Curcillo, Ohio State's passing T quarterback, returned to practice Monday after being out most of last week with an injury.

The Buckeyes spent most of their time in two workouts Monday polishing the defense they will use against Southern Methodist in their opening game here September 29.

Meanwhile Coach Woody Hayes said that he had not decided upon a first string fullback to replace John Hlay who was suspended Saturday for taking part in a barroom brawl. He indicated, however, that he is leaning toward Bob Koepnick whose speed goes well with the T offensive.

Minnesota . . .

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota Coach Wes Fesler—who watched his tissue-paper defense allow 13 touchdowns in Saturday's scrimmage—saw his offense crumble in Monday's drill.

FRANK SEDGMAN of Australia danced on one foot as he tried to change direction against Tony Trabert of Cincinnati during the finals of the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament in Los Angeles Sunday. Sedgman won by scores of 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, to give a hint of what might be expected when Australia defends the Davis Cup.

Kiner Hits 40 Homers for Fifth Straight Year

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ralph Kiner's booming bat is rewriting the chapter he inscribed last year in the record book of the National league.

The Pittsburgh Pirates' home-run king now is the first player in National league history—and that goes back to 1876—to hit 40 or more homers in five different seasons.

In 1950, he set the old record when he did it for the fourth season. Kiner's new record is given added lustre since he has done the trick in consecutive seasons.

The old record wasn't set in straight years.

The "Golden Boy" of Alhambra, Calif., clouted No. 40 Sunday while the Pirates were dropping a twin-bill to the New York Giants.

Most experts felt this was Kiner's year to break Babe Ruth's record of 60 homers in one season, but pitchers haven't cooperated. They've walked Kiner 130 times to date, a record for the Pittsburgh club.

Kiner still is far below Babe Ruth's record of belting 40 or more homers in 11 different years in American league play.

Here's Kiner's homerun tally for the past four years: Fifty-one in 1947, 40 in 1948, 54 in 1949, and 47 in 1950.

Canadian Track Star To Enroll Here; Runs 4:17 Mile

A slender young man from Toronto, Canada, who loves to run far and fast and has proved it with a dozen Canadian championships, is preparing to do his racing for Iowa.

He is Rich Ferguson, a 20-year-old athlete of 145 pounds and 5-10, inches who is entering the university to major in biochemistry, with a hobby of distance running on the side.

And the smooth-striding and durable Canadian begins his Iowa career under Coach Francis Cretzmeier with probably the most brilliant background of any track man entering competition for the Hawkeyes.

For the mile run, his best time is 4:17 at the British Empire games in Auckland, New Zealand, in 1950. And in the 2 mile he ran 9:17 in the British championship meet in London, also in 1950. (The Iowa varsity outdoor mile record is 4:25.9 and the 2 mile mark is 9:25 which has stood for 26 years.)

Ferguson in 1951 ran nearly eight seconds faster than the Canadian junior mile record set by Don McEwen, the present University of Michigan senior who has won seven NCAA and Big Ten titles and holds three records in the mile and 2 mile. He is a friend of the Wolverine star, also a Canadian.

The new Hawkeye has started workouts for the cross country season and will run his first race Oct. 6 at Purdue. In mid-November he will have a chance to challenge McEwen, the Big Ten titlist, in the conference cross country run.

Blanchard and Davis — Army Greats Meet Again

— And Tucker, Too
By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Blanchard—Davis—Tucker. What memories those three names bring back so vividly. Memories of crisp autumn days in 1944, 1945 and 1946 when Army football teams were being compared with other great college teams down through the years.

Memories of Glenn Davis, "Mr. Outside," flashing around end or taking a long pass downfield hurled by Arnold Tucker, who should have been called "Mr. Topside," as it was he who directed the devastating attack. And of Doc Blanchard, "Mr. Inside," bursting through the line with a tremendous surge of power.

And here they were together again, for the first time since their graduation from the academy in 1947.

And all in uniform, although not the same kind of uniform. Davis was togged out in a football suit of the Los Angeles Rams, with the familiar "41" on his back.

Blanchard and Tucker were neat and trim in their service uniforms, each wearing captain's bars on his collar and pilot's wings over the left breast.

The Rams are here preparing for their New York Herald Tribune fresh air fund game with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds Thursday night, and Tucker and Blanchard dropped out from West Point, where they are on the coaching staff, to visit their former teammate.

The three corresponded only sparingly since leaving the Point, but that is nothing unusual for close friends, or even relatives. They're still pals, these three mucketeers of West Point football.

PERSONAL
Dear Joe and Jane:
Welcome back to Iowa City. We've been anxiously awaiting your return so that we could tell you the big news in Iowa City.
As you know, for 5 years the Capitol has brought you the finest in foreign and unusual motion pictures. Such theatres are technically titled "Art Theatres." While we have liked the title we haven't exactly felt we deserved it. So we decided this summer to lay full claim to the title by completely remodeling and redecorating so that we could offer to our patrons the intimate atmosphere required of a true "art theatre."
Tomorrow, Wednesday, we unveil your Capitol Art Theatre. We are pleased to announce that we engaged one of the outstanding "interior designers" Mr. Drew McNamara to fashion our new theatre.
Many interesting features have been added, two of which are outstanding and found only in such cities as New York and Chicago are:
—The Capitol Theatre Art Gallery—
In our lobby you may view original art works of outstanding American and local artists. This we feel should be one of the prerequisites of a good "art theatre."
—The Capitol Theatre Coffee Bar—
As a courtesy of the theatre you will be served a delicious cup of coffee at your request.
Altho we may have seemed to have gone "Uptown" with these innovations we want you to remember we are still the same people operating the Capitol Theatre with but one thought in mind as always . . . that of giving you the finest in unusual motion picture entertainment in an intimate atmosphere of Iowa City's unusual motion picture theatre.
Our lineup of films for the coming semester is one of the outstanding of the past several years—pictures such as Teresa, Oliver Twist, Emperors Nightingale, Women without Names, Tales of Hoffman, Tony Draws a Horse, The Browning Version and many other outstanding films. It is a foreign film of unusual merit you will see it at the Capitol.
As Ever,
Ernie Pannos

News of Iowa

PROBE BEATING DEATH

DAVENPORT (P)—Scott County Attorney Clark O. Filseth said Monday he would await a "complete medical examination" before deciding on further action in the investigation of a fatal beating.

Police arrested three men Sunday for questioning shortly after the body of Edward Letterman, 38, Davenport, was found behind a tavern. Letterman was badly beaten about the face.

One of the men, Andrew Kawlewski, admitted he struck Letterman. He said he found Letterman stealing shirts and ties from his trunk, Filseth said.

The county attorney said that an autopsy showed Letterman died of a brain hemorrhage, but medical examiners were unable to say whether it was caused by a blow on the head or something else.

Police arrested Kawlewski and two companions, Lawrence McFadden and Herman Chambers, all of Davenport, when they found several spots of blood on the car they were driving.

The three men told police they found Letterman when they drove into a parking area behind Harry's Lunch.

CAR DEALER SUMMONED

SIOUX CITY (P)—The Des Moines district office of price stabilization asked a federal court here Monday to order a Mason City used car dealer to open his records for inspection.

Federal Judge Henry Graven set Oct. 8 at Fort Dodge as the time and place for hearing the OPS petition.

Attorneys for the OPS told Graven that a customer had complained that Mike Yankovich, Mason City, had overcharged him for a used car.

An OPS official at Des Moines said that Yankovich refused to permit investigators to see his records when they called at his used car lot to investigate the customer's complaint.

A spokesman said that under OPS regulations all used car dealers are required to furnish price records to the government at its request.

NEW PYTHIAS OFFICERS

DES MOINES (P)—Jerry Rasmussen, Maquoketa, was elected grand chancellor of the Iowa Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias Monday.

The Pythians and their auxiliary, the Pythian Sisters of Iowa, are holding their 81st annual convention here.

Officers for both groups will be installed today at the close of the three-day convention.

Other new Pythian officers are W. R. Nelson, Waterloo, grand vice-chancellor and W. P. Yates, Des Moines, grand prelate. Rasmussen succeeded Boyd Mael, Ottumwa, as grand chancellor.

Re-elected were R. R. Hibbs, Marengo, grand secretary, and D. C. Batten, Chariton, grand treasurer.

Edna Gosling, Manchester, was elected grand chief of the Pythian sisters.

Other officers are Parthena Carley, Oakland, grand senior; Maude Main, Cherokee, grand junior; Marion Martin, Martelle, grand manager; Mildred Larsen, Cedar Falls, grand secretary; Evelyn Jones, Davenport, grand treasurer; Igle Johnston, Prairie City, grand protector, and Mable Lohrer, Washington, grand guard.

IOWA FALLS VOTES

IOWA FALLS (P)—Iowa Falls voters Monday defeated 248 to 118 a proposal to change the terms of elective city officials from two to four years.

JAILED ON DRUG COUNT

STORM LAKE (P)—Herman Doak Johnson, 38, one of two men taken off the Illinois Central train here Saturday night, was bound over to the county grand jury Monday on a charge of possessing marijuana.

Johnson denied ownership of a carbox containing clothes in which officers said they found some of the narcotic. He pleaded innocent in justice court and was held in default of $1,500 bond.

Police said Johnson and Morris Gabriel, 28, both of New Orleans, had been drinking and were taken off the train for creating a disturbance. Both had been working with an Illinois Central railroad section gang at Marcus, Ia.

Gabriel was fined $25 in justice court on a charge of intoxication.

POLICE DRAG RIVER

CEDAR RAPIDS (P)—Authorities dragged the Cedar river here Monday for the body of Caroline Satinsky, 7, who fell into the water when a boat overturned Sunday.

The girl was in a boat with her mother and uncle at the time of the accident. The two adults succeeded in swimming to shore, authorities said.

PUBLIC OFFICIAL FINED

STORM LAKE (P)—E. M. Richardson, a member of the state commerce commission, was fined $500 and his drivers license was suspended 60 days Monday on a drunken driving charge.

Richardson pleaded guilty to the charge last Friday. The fine was assessed Monday.

Richardson voluntarily surrendered his state car to the state dispatcher last week.

Only 126 Semester Hours to Go

APPEARING SOMEWHAT BAFFLED BY THE SUI schedule of courses, Faye Workhoven, A1, Iowa City, sat at the first day of registration and puzzled over her first semester of courses at the university. Faye was only one of many students who were found at registration with similar expressions.

Nearing the End of the Line

FOR THE DIMINISHED NUMBER OF VETERANS remaining at SUI, the line, as always, was longer because of forms and requisitions which must be filled out. Carol Madsen, G, Iowa City (right) had just had her registration forms checked by Mrs. James Sangster (left) and found in proper order. Miss Madsen was a navy nurse in World War II. Standing beside her is another veteran, Robert Smith, G.

Not Hard to Take

ONE STOP WHICH NO ONE MINDED MAKING at registration was one where tickets for the Hawkeye's first game were passed out. Later identification cards with pictures of the students on them, will be issued, which are used for admission to all of SUI's sports events. Picking up her ticket above was Ruth Swanson, A4, Red Oak, and A. Truman Gravelle, L4, Mason City, seemed to find his job very pleasant.

16-Year-Old Charged with Friend's Murder

PRESTON, MINN (P)—Husky, 16-year-old Carroll Bakken, who said he "lost his head" when he saw a friend in a parked car with his girl, was charged Monday with the first degree murder of Doeland Peterson, 19.

The first degree murder warrant was issued late Monday and Fillmore County Attorney George Frogmer referred the case to Juvenile Judge Ludvig Gilliekson.

Gilliekson said the boy, despite the fact that he is a minor, would face trial in district court. The judge said a grand jury would re-

Fechteler Reveals Carriers Can Launch Atomic Attack

WASHINGTON (P)—The navy is training crews to carry out an atomic war from plane carrier decks as well as land bases, Adm. William M. Fechteler, chief of naval operations, disclosed Monday.

At his first press conference since taking the top navy post, he also said the navy hopes eventually to have two or three more super-carriers like the 60,000-ton James V. Forrestal which will carry long-range, jet-powered atomic bombers.

On another atomic front President Truman asked congress for an additional $484,240,000 for the atomic energy commission's huge hydrogen bomb plant in South Carolina. This raised to $1,180,000,000 total funds sought for the project.

The budget bureau said the extra money was needed to meet post-Korean cost increases. It also noted that original funds for the mammoth plant were requested before "detailed determination of the scope of the project."

These developments followed closely an air force announcement that it will put into operation Oct. 1 the first "pilotless bomber" squadron in U.S. history.

There also are indications the AEC soon will test production models of guided missiles with atomic warheads.

Fechteler said the navy is training crews in the launching of the twin-engine carrier-based AJ-1 Savage atomic bombers. The navy now has two 27,000-ton carriers, the Essex and Oriskany, which have been modernized to handle the AJ-1.

The navy's land-based atomic bomber is the P2V Neptune. It is used as a long-range, anti-submarine patrol plane and can fly a full military load non-stop to Europe and return without refueling.

Fechteler revealed that forces taking part in the Atlantic fleet war games, which started Sunday, will make simulated atomic bomb attacks, and that carrier-based planes simulated use of the A-bomb last spring. Previous announcements said only that the Atlantic fleet had defended itself against simulated atomic bombings.

Fechteler also said: 1. The navy is thinking about an atomic-powered carrier but has not reached the design stage yet.

2. The atomic powered submarine, for which the Electric Boat company is making the body, should be ready in 1953 or 1954.

3. The navy has no plans now to expand its air arm as the air force is doing.

4. The guided missile battleship Kentucky and cruiser Hawaii projects, are being held up for the present.

Police Hunt 6 Escaped Convicts

MONTGOMERY, ALA. (P)—State, county and city officers hunted without success Monday for the last six convicts still uncaptured following Friday night's daring escape from Draper prison. And at Wetumpka, seat of government in adjoining Elmore county where the prison is located, authorities prepared to ask a grand jury to indict all 19 men involved in the break.

Eight of the escaped prisoners were apprehended Friday night and Saturday. Five more were taken into custody Sunday night and early Monday.

The 19 men fled from Draper after knocking out a guard and stealing several guns, money and two automobiles.

Barbara Payton Wins All

Gets Proposal from Tone, Neal's Confession Of Love and Some Barbells

HOLLYWOOD (P)—Barbara Payton, the kind of girl some men fight over, must be declared the winner in Hollywood's battle of the century.

While Franchot Tone nursed a badly-beaten face and Tom Neal was beside himself with remorse (says he), Barbara walked off with these trophies:

- 1. A marriage proposal from Tone.
- 2. An admission from Neal that he still loves her.
- 3. A part in a new color film based on an 18th century fight for a lady's hand.
- 4. Musclemann Neal's barbells.

The 25-year-old actress disclosed that Tone proposed and that she said yes.

"Franchot told me," she informed reporters, "I'd rather we didn't go on our honeymoon until my face is well. I want to do anything wants to do."

But don't place any bets on the marriage. Hollywood has been through all this before. For weeks she has announced first she would marry Tone, then Neal, then Tone etc. Once, to break the monotony, Tone even said he was not going to marry her.

The fight started early Friday morning when Barbara brought Tone after an evening of nightclubbing. Neal was waiting for them, and he was downright mad. After all, he and Barbara were to be married the next day in San Francisco. Neal had the ring, license and best man. But Tone had the bride-to-be.

The producer said the publicity would make no difference.

"In fact," he commented, "that's the way men used to fight over their girls in the 18th century."

He might have added that a lot of people who didn't know who Barbara Payton was will now pay money to find out.

Neal's barbells still clutter up the patio at Barbara's house. Neighbors said he used to grunt and groan with the weights while Barbara took sun baths.

So far there has been no official legal action in the case. Neal's lawyer, Milton Golden, who conferred with Tone's counsel, opines as how the whole thing will blow over quiet-like.

5,000 Troops Will Train with Atomic Weapons in Nevada

WASHINGTON (P)—The defense department announced Monday that 5,000 officers and enlisted men in the army, navy and air force will undergo training in the use of new-type atomic weapons in secret maneuvers soon to be held in the Nevada desert.

The maneuvers, named exercise "Desert Rock," will be commanded by Maj. Gen. William B. Kean, former commander of the 25th infantry division in Japan and Korea and now commander of the third army corps at Camp Roberts, Calif.

The maneuvers, which will involve at least one and probably several atomic explosives, will be under the general supervision of Lt. Gen. Joseph M. Swing. The sixth army will provide supply and administrative support for the tests at Frenchman's Flat, Nev.

The department said the tests are being held to "indoctrinate uniformed personnel of the three services in the military aspects of nuclear detonations."

"Within the safety and security requirements of the test program," it said, "units in exercise Desert Rock will have the opportunity to test the principles of organization and training applicable to military operations under conditions involved in atomic warfare."

In the exercise, troop units will set up a battle position for an army battalion combat team. They will establish trenches and barbed wire and combat emplacements. But before the atomic bombs burst they will withdraw to "pre-determined positions of safety."

"This military phase is a training exercise which is separate from the scientific development work at the atomic energy commission test site," the department said.

Most of the army troops will be drawn from the six continental armies.

It will mark the first time that army ground forces have received actual field training with the new "tactical" atomic weapons which the atomic energy commission has recently developed.

These are believed to include guided missiles with atomic warheads and atomic artillery shells to be used directly against enemy troops on the battlefield.

Some of the troops already have arrived at the proving grounds by truck from west coast bases, indicating the maneuvers may get underway in a few days.

Senate to Discuss Veto Of Pension Bill Today

WASHINGTON (P)—The senate will take up today President Truman's veto of a bill to increase the pensions of disabled veterans whose disability has no connection with their military service.

Under an agreement reached Monday, the question of overriding the veto will be the first business before the senate tomorrow and debate on it will be limited to one hour.

Siamese Twins Born in Illinois

ROCK ISLAND, ILL. (P)—An "extremely healthy" set of Siamese twins, joined together at the top of their heads, was born in St. Anthony's hospital, it was disclosed Monday.

Dr. S. P. Durr said he attended Mrs. Roy Brodie of East Moline, Ill., Sunday when she gave birth to the twin boys. The 29-year-old mother, who has three other children, was in "very good" condition Monday, Durr said.

"I knew that Mrs. Brodie was going to have twins but not that they would be joined together," the doctor said.

"She and her husband are taking the fact very nicely," Durr described the twins as "perfectly-normal, well-formed infants" except for the joint at their skulls.

He said he was "quite sure" the babies had separate brains but that the brains might be "linked" by nerve tissue which would make it impossible to separate them.

X-rays will be made in a few days to determine the chances for success by separating them through surgery.

"As far as I know, however, the boys probably can develop normally even if the operation isn't possible," Durr said. "Of course, they couldn't live a normal life."

Durr said he was the sole obstetrician attending Mrs. Brodie during the breech delivery and "I got an empty feeling in my stomach when I saw the complications that might occur."

1,086 Mile Trip Ends Steam Auto Wins Race

NEW YORK (AP)—A steam-driven auto and an equally ancient gas buggy wound up their Chicago-New York race Monday, the steamer the winner by about 37 minutes in their battle against age and time.

The two relics off the byways of yesteryear—a 1913 Stanley Steamer and a 1911 Stoddard-Dayton gasoline machine—chugged into modern Rockefeller Plaza and were greeted by a crowd of about 300 persons after the show-down.

The steamer, beyond peradventure of doubt, was the better vehicle in the race from the Windy city that began a week ago.

The steamer was driven by 76-year-old Jack Brause, one-time vice president of the Stanley Steamer company. It wheezed to the finish line a minute ahead of Rube De Launty's buggy.

But the nip-and-tuck last lap, which began this morning at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., some 75 miles away, did not reflect the see-saw battle of the roads.

On the way from Chicago, through Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo and upstate New York—some 1,086 miles—first one, then the other had led upwards of an hour.

The elapsed time was given as 55 hours and four minutes for the winner, and 53 hours and 41 minutes for the loser.

Brause, proudly gripping the wheel of his rolling tea kettle, modestly announced:

"I feel 100 per cent. I was sure all along I would win."

De Launty, 70, grunted.

The mighty argument of the past settled, Brause turned his attention to the future. Is steam here to stay?

Brause doubted it. "All it means," he said, "was that my steamer was better than that ancient vehicle."

Grand Jury Impaneled For New Court Term

Eight grand jurors were impaneled Monday to study criminal cases for the September term of court, including the re-investigation of the death of Andrew Davells.

The grand jurors chosen include Lou H. Kauffman, 4th ward, foreman; Rollie E. Barnes, East Lucas township; Charles F. Buline, Fremont township; Ray O. Hughes, Union township; Louis Rebal, Newport; Frank Slofer, Cedar township, and C. H. Jennings, West Lucas township.

Davells, former waiter in the Princess cafe, died last Oct. 12 in a scuffle in a residential section of Iowa City.

Last May, James Lons, Iowa City, was acquitted of a murder indictment in connection with Davells' death. An indictment of aiding and abetting in murder filed against Lons' brother, George Baculis, was dismissed this month.

But County Atty. William L. Meardon has said he will ask the grand jury to reconsider the circumstances of Davells' death.

Eleven criminal informations, including nine charges of drunken driving, have been filed in Johnson county district court by County Atty. William L. Meardon.

One of the informations filed was a joint charge of breaking and entering against Gail Burkett and Lawrence Thomas. Both have been in the county jail since their arrest last July.

The two are charged of breaking and entering into a Solon gas station July 12 with intent to commit larceny.

Both are in county jail under $3,000 bond, where they have been since their arrest last July.

Also among Meardon's information was a charge of lascivious acts with a 12-year-old girl last June 29 against Thomas H. Kettle, Iowa City. He is in jail under $1,000 bond.

The nine accused of drunken driving are Claude Campbell, Willis Carney, Harold D. Madden, George A. Boyd, Jack Knaack, Clarence A. Blythe, Harry Cleser, LaVerne Christensen and Harold Croy.

Everett Raduechel, Iowa City, has been sentenced to one year in the county jail, after he pleaded guilty to a check forgery charge before District Judge Harold D. Evans.

Raduechel was accused of passing a $40 false check on Aug. 25. Evans provided that six months of the one-year term will be suspended on the condition that outstanding false checks are made good.

Earlier this year, Raduechel was sentenced to 30 days in jail for writing false checks, but that sentence was suspended by Police Judge Emil J. Trott on condition that the checks be made good.

In other action in district court, Daniel L. Hester, Iowa City, was fined $300, after pleading guilty to a charge of drunken driving.

He was arrested Sept. 9 on highway 218 north of Iowa City. Evans also ordered Hester's liquor book cancelled, and revoked his driver's license for 60 days.

Local Fire Department Starts Annual Inspection

The Iowa City fire department Monday began inspections of business and apartment units in preparation for annual fire prevention week, which opens Oct. 7.

The inspections include from 1,000 to 1,200 units in the city, but do not cover separate residential units.

$15,333 Suit Filed Against State for Land Condemnation

A $15,333 land condemnation suit against the Iowa highway commission was filed in district court Monday by Helen Dawson and Helen Reich in connection with the construction of the Coralville cutoff on highway 6.

The highway commission last May took 7.26 acres of land owned by the two for construction of the cutoff.

Miss Dawson and Miss Reich claim that their land is valued at $1,000 an acre and that the land taken by the commission is valued at $7,620.

They also ask $3,000 which they say cost them to move a barn because of the interference of the highway work and $713 for the construction of additional fences and destruction of crops on their land.

They ask another $2,000 for the decreasing of the value of their land and $2,000 for disturbance to be caused by the highway construction.

Iowa City Girl, 6, Becomes Polio Case

JoAnn McCormick, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McCormick, 514 Garden st., is among five polio patients admitted to University hospitals over the weekend.

The girl was reported in "fair" condition by hospital officials.

Others entering the hospitals were Richard Carter, 7, Ottumwa; Marcia Farr, 7, Waterloo, and Terry Lechner, 3, Prairie du Chien, Wis.

Active cases totaled nine Monday, with three patients being discharged and three transferred to the inactive list, including an Iowa Cityan.

Little Girl Fishing — Bitten by Alligator

— Saved by Little Boy

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — A pet that grew into a 6-foot alligator was exiled to the swampy Everglades Monday for breaking the bones of a little girl's arm and trying to drag her into the murky waters of a rockpit.

The reptile rose hungrily to a loaf of bread dangled by Florida officers and was lashed and carried off in a truck. It is against the law in Florida to kill alligators.

The gator had been in the rockpit behind the Coral Gables police and municipal car storage lot for several years, getting bigger all the time.

But nine-year-old Jerry Gustafson didn't know that. She went fishing for minnows Sunday with a schoolmate, Parker Strat, 10, a cub scout.

They were standing on the edge of the rockpit, dangling a makeshift net on a stick, when the gator jumped out of the water "like a porpoise" and bit Jerry's right arm.

The gator jerked and pulled hard several times and then let go abruptly. He was heaving back toward the little girl when Parker dragged her away.

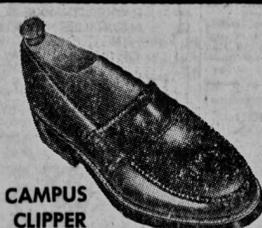

"You saved my life," Jerry reminded him Monday as she sat up in a hospital bed and posed for pictures. Then she told the photographers, "You ought to take his picture, not mine."

Parker was a modest hero. When photographers tried to get the fifth-grader into an affectionate pose, he said gruffly:

"No love stuff." Doctors said Jerry was recovering rapidly.

ROSELAND SEEKS $30

Alfred E. Roseland Monday petitioned district court seeking $30.71 in payment for groceries allegedly delivered to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lenoach in May, 1949.

Auto Stolen Here Found in Dubuque

A new auto stolen in a break-in Saturday at the Nall Motor company here has been found by Dubuque authorities, police reported Monday.

The car was stolen after the thief gained entrance to the building by breaking a window. In driving the car out of the garage he sideswiped a steel girder and scraped paint off the right side of the car.

When found in Dubuque, the car had been driven about 220 miles. There was no additional damage to the car than what was caused when it was taken.
