Attorney Larson Says Local Parlay Arrest May Halt Ring Setup

Gen. Robert L. Larson said in Des Moines Monday, his office, in cooperation with local law enforcement officials, will stamp out any attempt to get a "football parlay ring" started in Iowa.

Attorney general said he was awaiting complete reports on the case of Marion Vandervelden, 23-year-old construction worker and former SUI student, who was fined $200 and given a six months suspended jail sentence in Johnson county district court Monday.

Vandervelden, arrested here Saturday on a charge of possessing and selling parlay cards for betting on football games, pleaded guilty before Judge James P. Galtney.

He was fined $200 for possession of gambling devices and was placed on parole for six months for selling parlay cards.

Police said Vandervelden was arrested after they received a report that he was selling the cards in Racine's Cigar store, 132 E. Washington st.

Authorities said they seized 1,200 cards when Vandervelden was arrested.

Larson said the arrest "may have wrecked the setting up of a large statewide football parlay ring." He added that law enforcement officers "have known for some time that such a ring was getting started."

"Fairly reliable reports have been that the intended headquarters of the ring is in Des Moines," Larson said.

"They are not going to have a parlay card situation develop in Iowa," the attorney general asserted.

Commenting on a report that Vandervelden had received the parlay cards from a Texas company for distribution here, Larson said he thought that wasn't the entire story.

(Several weeks ago, Larson said he was writing a letter to the attorney general of Texas to see if parlay card sales from Texas could be stopped there.)

Larson said he is awaiting a report from Johnson County Atty. William L. Meardon to see how the Iowa City case "ties in with other information we had assembled on the football parlay situation."

Herz Hangs Self In Iowa City Home

Luther Herz, 52, took his life by hanging in the attic of his home at 616 E. Bloomington st. early Monday, according to County Coroner George D. Callahan.

An employee of the Iowa-Indiana Gas and Electric company, Mr. Herz was found by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Vernon Rossler of near Solon, at 9 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. Rossler told police that she had come to Mr. Herz's home to open a door for a repairman, and upon entering found a suicide note from Mr. Herz.

Mr. Herz lived alone in the house.

He is survived by his widow, brothers Herman and Jake; three sisters, Mrs. Joe Biam, Irene and Gladys; and a daughter.

The body was taken to Brush funeral home in Cedar Rapids.

Today Is Deadline For Float Entries

Entry blanks for Homecoming parade floats must be completed and returned to the veterans service office in University hall by 4 p.m. today.

To be judged on originality of design, ingenuity of construction, beauty and humor, the floats may be sponsored by Iowa City merchants if entrants desire. A limit of $50 has been placed on the construction of each float.

Further information may be obtained at the veterans service office.

Senate Board Approves Bowles as Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate foreign relations committee Monday voted 8 to 2 to recommend senate confirmation of Chester Bowles, former Democratic governor of Connecticut, as U.S. ambassador to India.

Senators Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and H. Alexander Smith against the confirmation.

NOT SO SAFE

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. — Jack Hegerhyde told police Monday that a burglar broke into his strong box and escaped with $25. Hegerhyde is a distributor for a safe manufacturing concern.

Gen. Bradley Inspects Korean War Front; UN Forces Advance

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP)—Allied infantrymen, pushing forward in an autumn offensive, partly cleared a Communist ridge-line on the Korean central front Monday and inched forward in hand-to-hand combat in the east.

Hard fighting was under way as America's top military leader, Gen. Omar Bradley, made a close-hand inspection of the eastern front and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters announced the readiness of the eighth army "to strike and strike hard," if the Reds insist on all-out war.

The air war raged on Monday with U.S. fifth air force headquarters announcing one Russian-built MIG-15 shot down and three more damaged in a series of dog-fights over North Korea's MIG alley. No Allied losses were reported.

The air battles involved 27 U.S. F-86 Sabre jets and about 40 swift MIGs.

Bradley, wearing battle dress with a gun and canteen slung from his belt, was in Korea for a brief "survey of the situation."

The chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff was accompanied by Ridgway, supreme Allied commander; Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U.S. eighth army commander, and Charles "Chip" Bohlen, state department adviser on Russia.

They flew in a light plane to an unidentified American division where Bradley and Ridgway decorated two men for gallantry in action.

On the battlefield, the heaviest action of the day was west of heartbreak ridge, north of Yangju. There Allied infantrymen aided by ceaseless artillery and tank fire fought hand-to-hand for another important ridge-line.

On the west-central front AP Correspondent George McArthur said Red troops gave little ground Monday.

Indo-China Nationals Get American Rifles; Reds' Attack Forecast

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP) — A shipment of U.S. army rifles, enough to equip four divisions, was turned over to Viet Nam's national army Monday in readiness for an expected Communist offensive.

The rainy season is ending in Indo-China and the general expectation is that the 600,000 armed men in opposing camps will soon be engaged in the heaviest fighting yet seen in Asia's second biggest war.

Col. Joseph B. Wells, acting chief of the U.S. military aid advisory group, formally turned over the rifles to Vietnamese officers who have formed 30 battalions to support the French. Four more battalions will be activated before the end of the year to complete the four divisions.

This first major American aid shipment to Indo-China arrived on the U.S. freighter Earham Victory, which also brought 100 army trucks and ammunition for French Commander Gen. Juan De Lattre De Tassigny's French forces.

UN Radio Warns Reds Must Decide On Fate of Truce

TOKYO (TUESDAY) (AP) — The United Nations today bluntly warned Communist leaders by radio that "the time for bluffing is over" in the Korean truce talks.

The Reds were told in a tough-talking "voice of the United Nations command" broadcast that they must choose, and choose quickly, between an "honorable armistice" and all-out winter war.

"The United Nations is poised to strike, and strike hard," the message from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters command said — if the Communists choose war instead of peace.

It was the second "gloves-off" statement to the Communists since Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, arrived in the Far East. Bradley said on Saturday that the UN will not listen to Communist demands that the UN is ready to slug it at Red-held Kaesong rather than a neutral site recommended by Ridgway.

And today's plain-spoken notice that the U.N. is ready to slug it out if that is what the Reds want, followed Gen. James A. Van Fleet's thinly veiled threat of yesterday to drive the Communist hordes all the way back to the Yalu river, on the Manchurian frontier, any time the order is issued.

HARRISON CRITICAL

DAVENPORT (AP) — Hugh Harrison, 74, who retired as managing editor of the Davenport Democrat last July 1 after nearly half a century of service on that newspaper, was in critical condition Monday at Mercy hospital. He underwent a major surgical operation there earlier Monday.

GEN. OMAR BRADLEY (right), chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff discusses the Korean war situation with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway (left) and Gen. James Van Fleet. Bradley inspected front line positions Monday.

Roan Offers to Resign After Club 'Incident'

Mayor William J. Holland said Monday the city council had rejected an offer of resignation from City Manager Peter F. Roan, arising from a disturbance involving Roan at a local club.

According to reports, the disturbance arose after Roan visited the Amvets club, 112 S. Capitol st., Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Roan and Holland together issued statements Monday concerning the "incident," but neither would clarify the nature of the disturbance.

Following is Roan's statement: "I have been concerned for some time about the problem of selling intoxicants to minors. We have had matters in police court which indicated that this was going on in Iowa City.

"I felt that it is incumbent on me to see that the laws are enforced if they are visited one of the local clubs Saturday night to determine if they were complying with the law.

"While there, I had several drinks which resulted in an unfortunate situation.

"Sunday afternoon I appeared before the city council members and explained the situation to them. At that time I offered to submit my resignation if they so desired."

Holland's statement said: "The city council met in special session Sunday afternoon to investigate the situation. After hearing Mr. Roan's report, we concluded that his motives for going to the club were proper.

"We recognize that the incident which resulted was unfortunate. But the council does not feel that any further action is necessary at the present time, nor do we feel that anything would be gained by Mr. Roan's resignation.

"The council also has been disturbed by reported violations of the liquor laws, and we hope to work out a satisfactory solution of the problem."

Philippine Violence Precedes Elections

MANILA (AP) — Death, violence and charges of political terrorism mounted in the Philippines over the weekend, six weeks in advance of the Nov. 13 elections which Communist HUKS are striving to disrupt.

Defense authorities, who have served notice they will call out 10,000 army reserves to preserve order during the congressional and provincial elections, blamed Reds for most violence on Luzon island. They said subversive HUK literature is urging Filipinos to use the rifle and bayonet to overthrow the government instead of voting.

In the latest violence two Liberal (administration) party leaders in Bulacan province, just north of Manila, were kidnaped Sunday night by HUKS.

The beheaded body of one was found about 30 miles north of Manila on the eastern fringe of the Candaba swamps. The other is still missing.

This brought an official tally of political killings on Luzon to 25 since Sept. 14.

As many more have been kidnaped.

Fredrick W. Fitch Dies in Des Moines

DES MOINES (AP) — Frederick W. Fitch 81, founder of one of the world's largest hair tonic and shampoo firms, died Monday at his home here.

Fitch had been ill for a year and had been confined to his bed for most of that time. Born in Burnside, Iowa, Fitch founded the F. W. Fitch company in Boone in 1892.

Council Approves Sewer Project; Will Receive Bids Oct. 18

The city council Monday night approved a sewer project for sections of I, Page, High, and Saint Clement sts. Council members set Oct. 18 as the date for receiving bids for the project.

Several landowners in the area appeared before the council to voice objections to the move on grounds that they would be assessed for the work when the project would do their property no good.

Councilman Walter Daykin moved that the sewer project be approved but that the city investigate the methods to be used in assessing the property. The motion passed.

Council members also rejected a recommendation by the city's zoning and planning commission that the area south of the Rock Island railroad tracks be designated as industrial area.

The council also approved the bids of the Eden Motor company for three police cars. Total bid for the three Kaiser automobiles was $3,088 including trade in price on two police cars now in service. The cars are promised for delivery in 20 days.

In other action the council:

1. Received a petition asking for a street light at the corner of the 700 block of Grant st.
2. Received a petition from a group of residents living on Center ave. asking that the name of the avenue be changed to Paul st. in honor of Capt. Lawrence Paul, first Iowa City man to die in the Korean fighting.

Whistle-Stop Campaign

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)—Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee will carry his battle for a labor victory in the general election to the people in a fighting whistle-stop campaign similar to that of President Truman in 1948, it was disclosed Monday night.

Present besides the east-south committee members were members of the national committee's executive committee whose 15 members represent all sections of the country.

At the conclusion of the chairman's speech, J. Bennett Ross Todd, Kentucky committeeman who opposed Gabrielson when he was elected by a single vote on Aug. 4, 1949, moved a full vote of confidence.

Eleven seconding speeches followed in which members who had voted both for and against Gabrielson in 1949 supported him. They said the attacks on him were inspired by those wishing to "take the heat off the misdeeds" of the administration.

Gabrielson Gets GOP Vote of Confidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the Republican national committee from 21 eastern and southern states gave a unanimous standing vote of confidence Monday in Chairman Guy George Gabrielson.

The group was gathered in a regional conference to chart strategy for next year's campaign.

First, however, it considered a demand from some Republicans that Gabrielson resign because he continued to represent the Carthage Hydrocol company in securing an RFC loan after becoming chairman. Gabrielson brought up the question himself. He defended his actions at a meeting originally planned to be private, but opened at his own request.

Tuition Collection To Begin Today In University Hall

Students begin paying first semester fees today at the treasurer's office in University hall. They will have until Friday before a fine will be levied.

All students whose last name begins with A to F are asked to pay their fees today. The rest of the payment schedule includes: G-L, Wednesday; M-R, Thursday; and S-Z, Friday.

The business office urged students to follow the schedule if possible, but said the treasurer's office would accept payments at any time during the week.

Student ID cards, in most cases, will be distributed upon payment of fees.

Holders of assistantships, scholarships or appointments, graduate or undergraduate, must complete their registration by signing their rebate vouchers at the treasurer's office.

If fees are not paid by 5 p.m. Friday, an additional $2 will be assessed Oct. 3 with $1 added for each day of delay after that.

UN Grants Iran Delay In Oil Dispute Hearing

Truman to Remain Firm On Censorship Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration announced Monday it will stand pat on its order authorizing federal civilian agencies to withhold information from the public for security reasons.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said President Truman has no idea of rescinding the order—which has stirred up loud opposition—and added: "There's nothing wrong with the order."

But disagreement poured in.

Senator Taft of Ohio said he agrees with a signed statement by 25 other Republican senators that some folks in the Truman administration are trying to silence opposition through "smear tactics and propaganda techniques."

Meanwhile, Senator Mundt (R-S. D.), one of the signers, called for fast action on a bill to kill the presidential order on information. Such a bill has been introduced by Senator Bricker (R-O.).

The order, Mundt said, is a "dangerous impingement on freedom of the press."

Mundt's assertion closely followed a request by the Associated Press Managing Editor's convention that the order be rescinded by the President.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said the senatorial statement was directed mainly at "these moves by the administration to curb freedom of the press."

Rep. Talle (R-Ia.), in a house speech Monday, described the President's order as "infamous."

Giants Defeat Dodgers In First Play-off Game

BROOKLYN, N. Y. — Two New York Giant home runs and the pitching of Jim Hearn gave the Giants a 3-1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers Monday in the first game of the National league play-off.

Bobby Thomson hit the first New York homer with one on in the fourth inning. This was followed by Monte Irvin's slam in the eighth inning.

Brooklyn's only run off Hearn came early in the game on Andy Patko's homer.

The play-off moves to the Polo Grounds across the river today for the second game in the best-of-three series.

Blocks Russian Move to Ban Talks Entirely

NEW YORK (AP) — Britain succeeded Monday in getting the United Nations security council to take up the British-Iranian oil dispute, but Iran won a 10-day postponement of debate to permit a high-ranking Iranian to fly here to present her case.

The delay was granted, over British objections, after Sir Gladwyn Jebb had assailed Iran's "arbitrary" actions in the oil nationalization question.

Ambassador Ali Gholi Ardalan, Iran's permanent representative at the UN, said he was not empowered to speak for his country in this matter. He said Iran's special representative would need at least 10 days to reach New York and that he, therefore, requested a postponement.

Block Russians

Earlier, the council blocked by a vote of 9 to 2 a Russian effort to prevent its considering the British-Iranian dispute.

Jebb opened the British case at Flushing Meadow after a hurried flight from Britain.

He told the council after the British already had ordered the mass evacuation this week of their technicians from the huge Abadan refinery — that the Iranian government is creating a situation which might threaten peace.

He said the Iranian order expelling 350 technicians from Abadan was an action "entirely contrary to the elementary principles of international usage."

"Threat to Peace"

"Moreover, it is our contention that by so doing they (the Iranians) are creating a highly inflammatory situation which may well be a threat to international peace and security."

In all of this, Sir Gladwyn continued, the Iranian government is rushing madly down a steep hill in pursuit of an illusory objective. He said it is "essential for the council to do something to arrest this apparently suicidal process."

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin argued that the oil nationalization question and the ousting of the British technicians — both were internal matters for Iran and tried to get the British complaint rejected.

Representing Iran at the table was Ambassador Ali Gholi Ardalan, Iran's permanent UN representative. He told newsmen before the meeting that he would seek a 10-day delay to permit a high ranking Iranian leader to arrive to present his government's case.

There still was no definite word whether Iran's aged premier, Mohammed Mossadegh, would come here.

Britain to Evacuate 350 Oilmen in Iran At Abadan Refinery

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Britain bowed to Premier Mossadegh's "get-out" ultimatum Monday and ordered all her 350 oilmen to evacuate the refinery at Abadan without waiting for action by the United Nations security council.

The refinery was Britain's last stronghold in the billion dollar oil empire she has built here in the last 50 years. For several days armed Iranian soldiers at the gates have been in control of the premises.

The action was announced by Alec Mason, manager of the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil company, to a news conference at Abadan.

All but a handful of top executives will leave, probably on the cruiser Mauritius, on Wednesday for Basra in neighboring Iraq, he said. If the Iranians do not permit the warships to dock, the technicians will be taken out in launches.

The order for the middle east Dunckerque was flashed from London after Iranian spokesmen had declared the expulsion order would be carried out regardless of action pending before the security council.

U.S. Ambassador Loy Henderson appealed to Mossadegh in vain for half an hour this morning to delay the ouster.

Suggest Expansion Of Weapons Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate-house atomic energy committee said Secretary of Defense Lovett and the joint chiefs of staff Monday "vigorously recommended a major expansion program" in the atomic weapons field.

The committee, headed by Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn.), declared details of the pentagon officials' recommendations must remain secret at this time, and declined to elaborate at all. The announcement followed a long closed door conference with Lovett and the chiefs.

A committee member, declining to be quoted directly, told a reporter, however, that Lovett and the chiefs had spoken in terms of an expenditure of "billions." This member indicated the total would not run to the $6 billion figures McMahon himself had advocated in a recent senate speech.

Traffic Death May Result in Criminal Charge

Manslaughter charges may be filed today in connection with a traffic fatality which occurred 5 miles north of Iowa City on Highway 261, Saturday night.

Walter John Smith, 65, Horicon, Wis., died of internal injuries received when his car collided head on with an auto driven by James R. Beeler, Des Moines. Highway patrolman said the car driven by Beeler was attempting to pass two other cars in the same lane.

Beeler is expected to be charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Smith, officers said.

Smith's wife and Mr. and Mrs. Beeler were taken to Mercy hospital here and are reported as improving. There were no other passengers in the cars.

Patrolman said Smith's car, a 1950 Ford and Beeler's a 1949 Mercury were completely demolished.

The Beelers had attended the Iowa-Kansas State football game Saturday and the Smiths were enroute to Oxford, Iowa to visit relatives.

In another accident near Iowa City, three Cedar Rapids residents were hospitalized when their car missed a turn on a gravel road 12 miles north of here and plunged into an embankment.

Injured were Arthur A. Pickart, 31, Gwendolyn Holly, 17 and Bud Myers Jr., 26.

All three were taken to Mercy hospital in Cedar Rapids. Highway Patrolman Harold De Gear said George Vrehotchick, Route 1, was aroused by the crash near his home and gave valuable assistance in taking the injured to the hospital.

Two Iowa City men were reported seriously injured Monday near Rushville, Ill. They are Calvin D. Hewitt, 214 E. Davenport st. and Richard D. Kratter, 708 Grant st. Both were taken to a Rushville hospital.

AP Managing Editors Association Assails Truman Gag Rule

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. (AP) — Three resolutions—one on news censorship at its source, one on news suppression, and the third dealing with the Czech imprisonment of correspondent William Oatis — were approved unanimously by the Associated Press Managing Editors' Association.

The texts of the resolutions follow:
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Managing Editors' association opposes as a dangerous instrument of news suppression the President's executive order of Sept. 25, 1951, extending the cloak of military secrecy to the civilian establishments of the government.

Free people have the right to the fullest information about conduct of their own government. They can safely consent to its abridgment only on the plainest demonstration of national peril.

Even then, any curtailment of this right to which they do consent must be so plainly prescribed and so narrowly limited that safety from external aggression is not bought at the internal risk of secret government.

That this is a time of national peril none would dispute. It is, however, a peril that can be met as it was met in World War II, without the sacrifice of essential freedoms.

Information useful to the enemy can be withheld without depriving the American people of the information about their government that they must have to preserve intact the democratic process.

They have no authority to which they can appeal but the authority which made the classification in the first place. They have no means of discovering for themselves or through proper representative agencies, what information is being withheld or if decisions to withhold information have been wisely made.

At no stage in the operation of the classification system is there provision by which a hearing may be given to those who desire to have the interests of information weighed against the interests of security.

5. Heads of the civilian departments, agencies and bureaus are given the broadest powers to delegate a classification authority that frequently has been abused by the military establishments even when administered by the most experienced and competent personnel.

6. The government of the United States, during World War II, found it inadvisable to entrust any such power to civilian or military agencies, without the safeguard and the check of the office of war information and of the office of censorship, established directly under the President to protect the people against concealment or news suppression.

Whatever respect now exists for the top secret, secret, confidential and restricted classifications used by the department of defense and state will not long survive the indiscriminate use of these labels by power of American newspapers to defeat it if every editor does his part.

Our basic strength is that we are fighting not for our right to know but for the people's right to know. This has been demonstrated clearly by the Lake Charles, La., American Press.

The extraordinary attempt to gag that paper's expose of gambling rackets by indicting newsmen for defamation has aroused resentment throughout the nation.

It has been drawn without regard for the lessons of World War II when the government achieved a workable compromise of the sometimes conflicting claims of complete information and absolute security.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Managing Editors' association has been profoundly shocked by the imprisonment of William Oatis, the Associated Press correspondent at Prague.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Managing Editors' association recognizes the challenge of state and local, as well as national, officials who are multiplying their efforts to conceal public information.

THE THREAT is a dangerous one but we have full confidence in the produced at his trial and not have resulted in his cation in the court of any free try in the world.

Severe Penalty
Even if these charges had been supported by more substantial evidence, the severe penalty imposed is inconsistent with humanity and with the practice of civilized nations in dealing with nationals of a power with which they are at peace.

Normal Relations
The department of state is urged to continue its endeavor to seek, by every means consistent with national interest, the release of William Oatis.

It is devoutly to be hoped that this deliverance may be achieved before it becomes necessary for the government of the United States to acknowledge the futility of continuing normal diplomatic relations with the government of Czechoslovakia.

Editor:
As an interested student and an ardent football fan, I would like to make a suggestion concerning future home games in the Iowa stadium.

Would it be possible to have more complete intrastadium announcing of the game and the half-time events? The radio audience often knows far more about what is going on down on the field than we fans up in the stands.

Yes, we do have programs, as well as good eye-sight, but I'm sure many thousands of fans would enjoy being informed of more details, such as the radio audience is treated to.

One suggestion would be to broadcast a regular radio broadcast over the loudspeaker system. If this is not feasible, then merely augmenting the present system should not be too difficult to carry out.

Surely in a school the size of SUI there are many budding sports announcers among the staff or student body who would undertake a task of this nature.

Snakes Alive

BISMARCK, N. D., (AP) — Bob Thompson shuddered Monday as he told of his nightmare hunting trip during which he had to shoot his way out of a slithering ring of rattlesnakes.

Thompson, hunting south of Shields, N. D., Saturday, was moving down the side of a steep bluff when he accidentally stumbled into a den of squirming rattlesnakes.

He fired at one rattlesnake just as it struck. The explosion stirred "a whole den of rattlers."

"I was wearing low shoes, and it seemed like they were all around me," he said. "I was panicky at first when I realized I couldn't run for it."

He was completely surrounded by snakes. His only defense was a shotgun and about 12 shells. Two companions, his brother, assistant Burleigh county state's attorney, Alfred Thompson, and Bob Jones, Fargo, were a quarter of a mile away in their car.

Thompson said he realized his only hope of escape lay in shooting his way through the ring of rattlers. He picked places where several snakes were coiled together and started firing. In all, he estimated, he killed about 30 snakes.

His brother and Jones heard the shots, drove back, and started to get out of the car. They were forced to scramble to the top of the hood when they discovered snakes coiled on both sides of the auto.

They shot two or three, then covered Thompson as he made his way up the bluff to safety.

Officials said six weeks of cold damp weather and the sudden change to warm temperatures brought the snakes out into the sun.

Thompson kept right on hunting. But he went back to his car and put on a pair of hip-length rubber boots.

"It was uncomfortable," he said, "but I sure felt a lot safer."

First Truce Talks in American History Failed to End War with Great Britain

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
WASHINGTON — The Korean war truce negotiations have revived recollections of the first cease-fire meeting ever participated in by the United States—175 years ago.

The participants were Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Edward Rutledge, representing the United States, and Lord Richard Howe, representing Great Britain.

The talks took place on Staten Island, in the Billow mansion, Sept. 11, 1776. Purpose of the meeting was to try to end the fighting which began some two years earlier and had culminated in a declaration of independence by the 13 American colonies.

The American participants were named by the continental congress to meet with the British at a time when the fortunes of war were going badly against the embattled colonists.

Admiral Howe's brother, Gen. William Howe, had defeated Washington's army on Long Island and the Americans were preparing to evacuate New York. The British were getting ready to move in.

IT WAS THUS A RATHER DISHEARTENED group of Americans who met with the British commander-in-chief for the colorful meeting which, unlike that at Kaesong, lasted for only three hours.

Howe was a model host. He sent a barge to ferry the American delegation to the island. En route they saw the anchored British armada which blockaded New York. In a further effort to impress his visitors, Howe had the Americans met at the pier by a heavily-armed guard of honor composed of Hessians.

The truce talks began over a table heavily-laden with fine food, including, to quote one of the participants, "good claret, good bread, cold ham, tongue and mutton."

Howe advised the American delegation that King George III's "most earnest desire was to make his American subjects happy."

His lordship added, however, that he could take no official cognizance of the continental congress, and was meeting with the delegates only as "gentlemen of great ability and influence interested in stopping the calamities of war."

That did not sit well with Adams, who retorted: "Your lordship may consider me in what light you please, except that of a British subject."

Howe turned to Franklin, whom he had known in the days when the American statesman, philosopher and scientist lived in London, and remarked: "Mr. Adams is a decided character."

MR. ADAMS WAS A DECIDED character. He was destined to become America's second president.

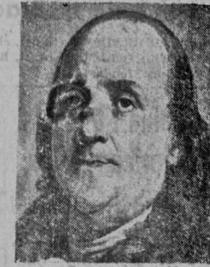

Howe then laid down the British terms. He proposed that the United States renounce its independence, lay down arms, and submit to Britain. He said he was empowered, if this be done, to issue a general pardon to all the colonists who had taken up arms

General MacNider Retires from Army At Mason City Today

MAJ. GEN. HANFORD MACNIDER retires from the army today, his 62d birthday, after serving 37 years. He is a veteran of two world wars and has received the purple heart twice.

MASON CITY (AP) — Maj. Gen. Hanford MacNider, who distinguished himself in two world wars, will come to the end of his military career today when he retires from the army.

It will be his 62d birthday and retirement at that age is mandatory for an officer of his rank.

MacNider will observe the birthday anniversary among relatives and friends in this same city where he was introduced to the life of a soldier 37 years ago.

He won numerous decorations for action on the battlefields of France in World War I and in New Guinea and the Philippines in the last war. He received the purple heart twice, was awarded the distinguished service cross three times and collected three silver stars. In addition, he won decorations from the governments of France and Italy.

It was a Mason City fund raising drive in 1914 that ushered MacNider into military life. The son of wealthy parents, he was chairman of the drive. To put it in his own words, he was thus "selected" a second lieutenant in one of the local national guard companies.

He then went to camp and was intrigued by army life. In 1916 he was with a guard outfit on the Mexican border patrol and the following year he joined the regular army, sailing for France as a second lieutenant.

After the first world war he returned to civilian life but became prominent in Republican politics and was an unsuccessful candidate for the party's vice-presidential nomination in 1932.

Later his views on foreign policy were those of the "America first" movement, but when bombs fell on Pearl Harbor he volunteered his services. He was sent to Australia and served with the 128th infantry, 32nd division in New Guinea as a brigadier general. He was the first general officer in the Pacific campaign to be wounded.

Never a desk soldier and always a fighter, MacNider says that his retirement isn't going to be easy to take. But he summed up how he feels about it when he told the troops during his last encampment at Camp McCoy, Wis.: "Old soldiers never die, but all the young ones wish they would."

MacNider is married and has three grown sons. He is president and general manager of the Northwest States Portland Cement company in Mason City and has extensive farm land and real estate holdings.

His public life between wars included his election as national commander of the American Legion in 1921, his appointment by President Coolidge as assistant secretary of war in 1925 and his appointment by President Hoover in 1930 as minister to Canada, a post he filled for two years.

New Policy Set Forth By Beer Permit Board

DES MOINES (AP) — The state beer permit board launched a new policy Monday designed to convince local governments that the state has no desire to "take control" of liquor and beer law enforcement in Iowa.

The board, in a regular monthly meeting Monday, refused to act on four applications for state permits after the applicants had apparently secured approval of local officials.

Without either approving or disapproving the applications, the board sent the applications back to local officials along with evidence gathered by state investigators purported to show that the applicant's police records "made it impossible for them to receive a state permit."

"In this way," the board said, "we'll give local authorities a chance to show what we have uncovered in cases where they have approved granting of local permits. This action will give them a chance to change their minds and revoke the permits. If they don't revoke them of their own accord after seeing our evidence, then the state board must take action."

Deferment Test Dates Told; Draft Takes 20

The October Johnson county draft call will affect twenty men in this area.

Induction will be in Des Moines on Oct. 15. This will be the largest group from here since last April, and will fill the quota for this county.

The Johnson county draft board also announced the next dates for the deferment examinations for SUI men, Dec. 13 and April 24, 1952. The tests will be given here and at 24 other colleges in Iowa.

These examinations are only for those men who have not taken the test at any other time. Applications are available at all Iowa draft boards now.

Col. R. A. Lancaster, state selective service director, emphasized that "students must realize that the test score in itself does not constitute a directive for a deferment, nor an exemption of any kind."

Military Announces 2-Year Enlistments

All selective service registrants, including those who have dependents, may now enlist in the United States army and air force for an enlistment period of 24 months, the Iowa military district announced Monday.

This ruling is applicable to all selective service registrants who are 18½ years of age or over, provided notice of induction has not been received.

Ojemann Will Open Child Study Series

Prof. Ralph H. Ojemann, child welfare department, will open the Radio Child Study club series of programs over WSUI at 3 p.m. today, discussing "More Than Keeping a Nation Strong."

He will be interviewed by Carl A. Clark, graduate-assistant in the child welfare department.

The club, starting its 20th year, annually enrolls about 1,200 members in courses given in conjunction with its radio broadcasts.

Programs, each Tuesday and Thursday at 3 p.m., will be divided into four phases of child guidance: the family, guiding the infant and preschool child, and guiding the adolescent and youth. Ten broadcasts will be presented in each of the four fields.

In charge of the programs is the Iowa child welfare research station, cooperating with the child development departments of Iowa State college and Iowa State Teachers college.

13 ROTC Students Are Designated As 'Distinguished'

Thirteen senior students in the army ROTC at SUI were designated distinguished military students Monday.

Selection is based upon the student's leadership as demonstrated by activities in the military department, as well as his academic standing in both ROTC and regular university courses.

If he maintains his standing, the student will be designated a distinguished military graduate upon receiving his degree.

Distinguished military students listed by Col. Walter E. Sewell, director of the army ROTC unit, include Gaylord O. Graham, Edward J. McLaughlin, Robert J. Paulus and John A. Smith, all of Iowa City.

2 Scholarships Offered Graduates

Students graduating from SUI are eligible for transportation scholarships to Latin American countries for study in South or Central America, the office of student affairs said Monday.

Pan American World Airways system has offered 25 fellowships covering round-trip transportation from specified U.S. terminals to terminals in the country where study is to be undertaken.

The fellowships are administered by the Institute of International Education, New York, and are open to students with a bachelor's degree who have a knowledge of the language of the country in which they wish to study.

Awards will be made two times this year. Deadlines for applications are Oct. 31, 1951, and March 15, 1952. Further information may be obtained from the office of student affairs.

SUI Dental Seniors Receive Commissions

The two, who were commissioned second lieutenants, were among 50 other students in 40 universities and colleges selected for the air force medical service corps program. They will be stationed at SUI until they receive their degrees, at which time they will go on active duty. Looking on during the ceremonies Monday were Col. Walter E. Sewell (left), director of SUI's army reserve training program; Dean A. W. Bryan (second from left) of the college of dentistry and Col. George A. Bosch (extreme right), director of the air force ROTC program here.

Stassen Says Acheson Would Cut Aid to China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen said Monday that the late Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg told him that Secretary of State Dean Acheson once proposed cutting off aid to the Chinese Nationalists in a dramatic move "toward world peace."

He said Vandenberg told him in November, 1950, that Acheson and Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup made the proposal at a White House conference. According to Stassen, Vandenberg blocked the move by telling President Truman he had votes enough in the senate to kill it.

Stassen, former Republican governor of Minnesota and now president of the University of Pennsylvania, testified before the internal security committee, which is investigating alleged subversive influences on U.S. Far Eastern policy.

Stassen also told the committee that Far Eastern expert Owen Lattimore recommended in 1949 that the state department recognize Communist China and hand over Formosa, island bastion of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist forces, to the Chinese Reds.

He said the department gave "every indication" of "implementing" Lattimore's proposals until the Korean war broke out.

Stassen and Lattimore were members of a round-table conference called by the department in October, 1949. Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins university professor, has denied charges that he was "pro-Communist" in his China views.

Stassen did not know the date of the White House conferences attended by Acheson, Jessup and Vandenberg, but he quoted the former Michigan Republican senator as saying that Jessup and Acheson suggested "dramatically" cutting off U.S. aid to the Chinese Nationalists.

Stassen said the two wanted to halt all shipments, including those then enroute from San Francisco and Hawaii, in the interests of "world peace." But Stassen said the proposed action would have amounted to a blockade of the Nationalists.

Stassen testified that Lattimore and Lawrence Rossinger, a member of the Institute of Pacific Relations, headed the "prevailing group" at the state department conference. He said they submitted 10 recommendations calling for recognition of Red China "at an early date" and other moves favorable to the Communists.

The committee is investigating the institute as part of its overall inquiry.

To bolster his charge that the state department began "implementing" the Lattimore-Rossinger proposals, Stassen cited Acheson's protest to the Chinese Nationalists when they fired on the U.S. ship "Flying Cloud" as it tried to run the Nationalist blockade of the China coast.

He also cited a state department memo of Dec. 23, 1949, which played down the importance of Formosa and a "story—sort of official information from the state department"—that the United States had no intention of defending Hong Kong.

Stassen testified that Lattimore and Lawrence Rossinger, a member of the Institute of Pacific Relations, headed the "prevailing group" at the state department conference. He said they submitted 10 recommendations calling for recognition of Red China "at an early date" and other moves favorable to the Communists.

4 Men Pay Fines In District Court

Four men were fined $300 each Monday, after pleading guilty to charges of operating motor vehicles while intoxicated.

They were George A. Boyd, Clarence A. Blythe, Harold Croy and Willis Carney.

The four pleaded innocent when arraigned Sept. 19, but changed their pleas Monday.

In addition to the fines, the driver's license of Boyd was revoked for nine months; that of Croy's, 60 days, and Carney's, 50 days.

In other action in district court, Thomas H. Kettle, 40, Iowa City, was sentenced to six months in jail, after pleading guilty to a charge of lascivious acts with a child. He was given credit for time spent in jail since arrested.

News of Iowa

100 Extra Draftees
DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa will have to furnish about 100 more men than previously requested to meet its November draft quota, state selective service headquarters said today.

This is because national selective service on Saturday upped the call for next month from 33,700 to 39,000, to make more men available to the marines. Iowa previously had been asked for about 1,000 men in November. About 1,100 now will be required.

National selective service also announced Saturday it will need 16,900 men in December. Iowa's share of that will be about 560 men, state headquarters said.

McIntire Gets Delay
OTTUMWA (UP)—Wapello County Attorney Samuel Erhardt said today the arraignment of Carroll McIntire, 20, Fairfield, on a manslaughter charge has been "postponed indefinitely."

Charges were filed against McIntire, an air force private first class, last Sept. 8 in the death of Martha Lyman, 17, Ottumwa. She was injured fatally in a fall from a moving car. Erhardt said the arraignment was postponed because defense attorneys were busy with other cases.

Authorities said the girl told her mother before she died that McIntire had pushed her from the car. The youth was free under $10,000 bond.

Pay More for Liquor
DES MOINES (UP)—The Iowa liquor control commission reported today that Iowans drank a record-breaking total of more than $40,000,000 worth of liquor during the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1951.

That brought the commission a record net profit of $9,625,124.

The commission's report to Gov. William S. Beardsley showed total sales of $40,607,867 for the year, compared with $39,695,938 during the previous fiscal year. Net profit in the 1950 fiscal year was $8,785,423.

"The rise in dollar volume of sales, however, was not accompanied by a similar increase in the gallonage figure," the report said. "Total gallonage consumption for the year was off 7 per cent."

World Conflict Stresses Need For Education

By The Associated Press
Iowa educators, faced by a sharp drop in enrollments at the college level as a result of the dwindling GI education program, the draft and related defense activity, say that the nation should not overlook the importance of higher education.

Several educators who cooperated in an Associated Press survey stressed that the worldwide struggle between democracy and communism will not be won by arms alone.

"The war in which we are engaged is an ideological war, and there is no use in guarding the safety of our nation from the invasion of military forces without at the same time being concerned about ideas that are contrary to our way of life," said President G. T. Vander Lugt of Central college at Pella.

"What our liberal arts colleges have always done and must do now with renewed insistence and urgency is to prepare young people to be living centers of reconstruction by teaching them to appreciate their inheritance as Christian Americans."

H. H. Brooks, acting president of Coe college at Cedar Rapids, said colleges have an "exceedingly important role" in the national defense emergency.

"Eliminate educated young people and you will tear down the results needed in any national defense emergency," he said. "The elimination of educated people in any nation is an invitation to decadence to that country."

In Des Moines, Dr. Melvin Hyde, assistant president of Drake university, asserted:

"If we are going to defeat communism, we must make democracy more effective. It is in the American colleges that there is opportunity to study values and to effectively develop our democracy."

President Henry Olson of Buena Vista college at Storm Lake said he concurs with "the present policy of deferring college students from military service until they have received the training that can best qualify these students for active and efficient participation in the armed forces."

Peron Charges U. S. Diplomat Planned Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The quarrel between President Truman and Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) over two Illinois judgeships may receive another airing before the senate judiciary committee. Chairman Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) disclosed Monday.

McCarran said he will ask the committee next Monday whether it wants to take further action on Mr. Truman's nominations to fill the vacant posts. On Sept. 17 the committee backed Douglas by refusing to act on the President's appointments.

Asked why he plans to reopen the issue, McCarran replied evasively, "Just for fun."

Mr. Truman chose Illinois Circuit Court Judge Cornelius J. Torrington and Chicago Municipal Court Judge Joseph H. Drucker to be federal judges in northern Illinois.

Douglas declared the President's nominations "personally objectionable" on grounds he was not consulted on their choice, a maneuver which all but assured unfavorable action by the senate.

The Illinois Democrat has proposed Chicago attorney William King and Municipal Judge Benjamin J. Epstein for the posts. A third nominee endorsed both by Douglas and Mr. Truman has been confirmed.

At one time, McCarran was said to be ready to ask the committee to formally reject the nominations because of his displeasure with Mr. Truman's refusal to reconsider his selections. The President told a news conference Sept. 20 that he does not plan to appoint new men to the posts.

But McCarran said Monday he does not plan to request either approval or disapproval by his committee. He added, however, that any of the committee's 13 members is free to make any motion he desires. The committee discussed the nominations Monday, but took no action.

The impasse has jammed Illinois courts with a backlog of 4,000 cases and court attaches have said that some 10,000 cases may be pending within the next year if the two posts continue vacant.

Judges are trying to hold down the number of cases by encouraging litigants to settle out of court. At least one judge held his docket by taking only a two-week vacation when he was due for one of four months.

Teacher Loses Job —

After Wooing Pretty Pupil

— Thinks Dates Proper

AMBOY, ILL. (AP)—The board of education buried the hatchet Monday with teacher Stanley W. Gibson, 31, who dated a pretty 17-year-old pupil, but he apparently still was out of a job.

Gibson and the board issued a joint statement which said merely that the controversy which rocked this small community has been "satisfactorily adjusted."

Neither Gibson nor board members would explain the adjustment, but Gibson said cryptically as he left a meeting:

"I have no plans to announce. But one thing is certain, I am not going to teach at Amboy High."

The handsome English teacher, a devotee of poetry, was fired for wooing blonde Joyce Underhille, who now is a student at the University of Illinois.

His ouster sharply divided the community over whether it is proper for a high school teacher to date one of his pupils.

The board held that it was unseemly, but Gibson said he saw nothing wrong in his "between 25 and 50" dates with the girl and that they did not impair his teaching work.

Pretty Joyce was the valedictorian of her class when she was graduated in June.

Gibson took advantage of the teacher tenure law to ask a public hearing in an effort to hold his job. Hearings were held last week to a capacity audience in the school auditorium.

They were scheduled to resume this Thursday, but the unexpected statement closed the case. It was understood that the settlement was worked out in weekend conferences.
