Group Agrees On Defense Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - A senate-house conference committee agreed Tuesday night on a $57 billion defense money bill after cutting a special $5 billion emergency fund for air power to $1 billion.

Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) who won senate approval of the extra $5 billion for air power, told reporters senate spokesmen agreed to the slash because top defense leaders had failed to provide detailed plans for the expanded air power.

Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex.) leader of house conferees, said the $1 billion would provide ample funds for expanding air power between now and January when congress again will be in session.

Matter in Dispute
One matter still was in dispute as the conferees worked extra hours Tuesday night to reach a compromise on all other matters.

This was a house-passed directive calling for release of all veterans with one year's World War II service who had been called back to duty involuntarily since the Korean war started and had served 12 months.

The senate, on strong pleas from the Pentagon, knocked out this house directive and house conferees agreed to seek a separate vote there on the issue.

O'Mahoney assured a reporter that funds for developing and production of the "fantastic new weapons" that President Truman and congressmen have been talking about "are still in the bill."

Clerks worked Tuesday night and early today computing actual amounts in the biggest non-war defense measure ever considered by the congress.

House Compromise
As it passed the house the bill carried a little more than $56 billion. The senate appropriations committee upped this to more than $61 billion but the senate cut it back to about $59 billion.

The compromise is about $1 billion above the house total and about $3 billion below the senate total.

Both O'Mahoney and Mahon assured a handful of reporters, who waited out the long closed-door conference, that congress still is for vast expansion of air power.

Foreign Aid Bill Approved by Senate Referred to House

WASHINGTON (AP) - The senate approved the $7,483,400,000 foreign aid bill Tuesday after beating down two Republican attempts to sidetrack it. The final vote was 56 to 21.

The compromise measure, authorizing a vast program of military and defense-slanted economic aid to anti-Communist nations, now goes to the house for final congressional action. It provides about $1 billion less than President Truman asked.

Republicans Attack Bill
Republican senators sharply attacked the final version of the bill on the grounds that it contained a key provision which went beyond anything approved originally by the senate or the house.

This provision, written in by a senate-house conference committee, authorizes Mr. Truman to transfer up to 10 per cent of the European military aid funds to economic aid. Both the house and senate originally had approved a five per cent limit on such transfers.

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O.) charged that the conference action would have the effect of wiping out deep cuts voted by the senate in European economic aid, and would allow Mr. Truman to spend up to $250 million more for that purpose than congress intended.

Recommittal Motion Defeated
Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) first sought to toss the whole bill back to the conference committee for revision. His recommittal motion was defeated 48 to 30.

Sen. Henry C. Dworshak (R-Iowa) then raised a point of order against the bill. But Vice-President Alben W. Barkley ruled that the conference committee's action was not a violation of senate rules, and the senate sustained Barkley 41 to 36.

General Assembly Favors Regional Defense Units

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (AP) - A suggestion was formally advanced Tuesday that regional defense forces, such as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's European army, should be called upon to fight under a UN banner in case of an attack.

The suggestion came from a sub-committee of the general assembly's collective measures committee, which has been studying the whole field of political, economic and military measures that might be used against a future aggressor.

The Eisenhower army is being organized under the North Atlantic treaty organization, whose members decided it was necessary to build a regional defense force after an East-West deadlock prevented the formation of a permanent UN army.

First of Area Defense Facts
So far this is the only regional military force of this type, but there are area defense pacts in the Western Hemisphere and in the Pacific which may eventually result in similar forces.

The report of the military sub-committee is intended primarily to prevent the UN from being caught unprepared again as it was in the Korean conflict. It seeks to avoid in the future what many delegates consider as weaknesses.

If your last name begins with G to L, today is the time to make first semester fee payments at the treasurer's office in University Hall.

Tuition collection began Monday and will continue until 5 p.m. Friday before students will be fined for late payment.

A $2 assessment will be levied the first late day and $1 added for each following day.

The deadline for float entries in this year's Homecoming parade has been extended to Thursday afternoon, the parade committee said Tuesday.

British Start Abadan Evacuation; Surrender Iranian Oil Empire

Russia Ready To Move In After British

TEHRAN (AP) - Russia indicated Tuesday it was preparing to move in on the troubled Iranian scene as British workers at the Abadan refinery protested they would lose face in today's "degrading" evacuation by sea.

In a lengthy talk between Russian Ambassador Ivan Sadchikov and Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, the Soviets were reported to have:

1. Renewed Russia's promise of economic assistance to Iran under the recently negotiated barter trade agreement.

2. "Suggested" that Iran ease its restrictions on the Communist (Tudeh) party.

Mossadegh, who announced he would fly to New York in 10 days to present Iran's case to the United Nations security council, thanked the Russian ambassador for support of Iran at Monday's UN meeting.

The Iranian foreign office also thanked Yugoslavia for its opposition to Monday's council vote to consider the oil dispute between Iran and Britain.

In London meanwhile, official circles expressed "keen disappointment" at alleged U. S. coolness toward Britain's security council appeal and conservative newspapers described the evacuation decision as a "shameful Dunkirk."

Must Work Within UN
One of the major criticisms of the MacArthur command voiced at the UN was that it operated almost independently of the UN and seemed to be at odds sometimes with the majority view here.

The sub-committee recommended that in the event of a future attack, the military operations should be handled by an executive military authority consisting of one or more powers. This authority would be required to work closely with all participating countries and would act within the framework of UN policies and objectives as expressed formally in resolutions.

Review Board Says 'No Doubt' About Loyalty of Jessup
WASHINGTON (AP) - President Truman's top loyalty review board notified senate investigations Tuesday that "there is no reasonable doubt" of the loyalty of ambassador-at-large Phillip C. Jessup.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) who has accused Jessup of "an affinity for Communist causes," promptly announced that board chairman Hiram Bingham assured him the board would "never" have cleared Jessup as a "security risk," however.

U. S. Puts Squeeze On Czech Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) - The state department struck two mortal blows at Czech trade with the United States today in long-promised retaliation for the imprisonment of American Newsman William N. Oatis.

The twin actions, which should effectively strangle Communist Czechoslovakia's $34-million a year import business with America, took these forms:

1. Tariff concessions on Czech goods will be suspended Nov. 1, this restoring high import duties of Smoot-Hawley days.

2. An informal "sit down strike" by the U.S. embassy and consulate in Prague on issuing certified invoices which are required for 90 per cent of the Czech goods entering this country.

Prague Staff 'Limited'
The state department rubbed salt into the wound opened by the latter action by announcing blandly that it resulted from the "limitation" imposed by Czechoslovakia on the size of the U.S. diplomatic staff in Prague.

Besides being understaffed, the department added, the embassy has its hands full with "present problems"—a clear reference to the Oatis case.

U.S. exports to Czechoslovakia already have been cut off by a similar expedient—the commerce department never gets round to issuing the export licenses required for any Czech-bound shipment.

Boycott to Help Oatis
American officials believe that the economic boycott will help put the Czech Communists in a mood to negotiate for the release of Oatis, Associated Press reporter in Prague who was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment July 4 on "spy" charges.

Czech Ambassador Vladimir Prochazka hinted at an extraordinary news conference here last week that his country might be willing to bargain for Oatis' freedom if the U.S. trade pressure was lifted.

Since the U.S. tariff concessions were granted to Czechoslovakia originally in pre-war reciprocal trade treaties, the state department could not suspend them until it had completed a complicated process of notification. The final step was taken last week when the Geneva world trade conference approved the U.S. action by a vote of 24 to 1.

The drying up of import invoices, which may be the more effective of the two actions, was disclosed by the treasury department.

Manslaughter Charge Filed Against Man After Fatal Crash

A charge of manslaughter was filed Tuesday against James R. Beeler, 28, Des Moines, in connection with the death of Walter J. Smith, 65, Horicon, Wis., following an accident Saturday night north of Iowa City on highway 261.

The charge asserts that Beeler was operating his car "in disregard for the safety of others and caused an accident which resulted in the death of Mr. Smith."

Beeler's car collided head-on with a car driven by Smith, highway patrolmen said. Patrolmen said Beeler was apparently passing two other cars in his lane when he met the Smith car, coming from the opposite direction.

Hospitalized for injuries received in the accident were Beeler, his wife, and Mrs. Smith. Mercy hospital attendants said Tuesday that Mrs. Smith has been released, Mr. Beeler is in good condition and Mrs. Beeler in fair condition.

Smith died on the way to the hospital after the accident. Date for arraignment of Beeler has not been set. The manslaughter charge was filed in police court by J. L. Smith.

Allied Artillery Opens 'Earthquaking' Attack Along Korean Front

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) (AP) - The entire Korean battle line erupted into action today as American and British artillery opened an earthshaking bombardment of enemy positions, which was described as one of the heaviest of the war.

In the air war, outnumbered American F-86 Sabrejets shot down six Russian-made MIG-15s Tuesday. They also scored a "probable" which would make the Communist defeat the most crushing since last Dec. 22 when six enemy jets were destroyed. Still another enemy plane was damaged.

The eighth army said massed Allied artillery opened up on the enemy at several points Tuesday night and early today, dumping thousands of rounds of shells into enemy positions where entrenched Communists have slowed the Allies' autumn offensive.

On the western front 170 guns of the British commonwealth and American artillery units roared through the night at the enemy, sending American 155 millimeter "long tom" shells and British 25 pounders into enemy lines.

The barrage included the deadly "tot" (time on target) with many batteries of guns timing their fire to land on the enemy positions simultaneously. They were aimed at pulverizing positions the enemy has been free to strengthen since the truce talks began in July.

Refinery Boss Hopes for British Return

ABADAN (AP) - Downcast British oilmen made their last preparations Tuesday night to take their leave and surrender to the Iranians a vast oil empire built up through half a century.

The evacuation, beginning today, is a black hour for the British who are ending the Anglo-Iranian oil company's lucrative development of one of the richest oil areas on the globe.

It is a triumph for those Iranians who had worked for this day since last March, when Iran nationalized the nation's tremendous oil resources. But it could prove a hollow triumph, worse than defeat, if the Iranians are unable to operate their own industry.

Refinery Boss Speaks
The feelings of the British were expressed by Refinery Boss K. B. Ross, who has been here 18 years. "I'm leaving a life's work behind," he said. "There is a lot of Britain in this place."

He expressed the hope that eventually there would be some agreement "so we can come back." "I know if we come back it can't be on the same footing, but Iran and Britain can cooperate to run this place," he said.

Truman Eases Tension
Iranians can't quite believe that their dreams of kicking the British out are being realized. They credit President Truman with easing tension by his advice to the British not to use force.

Iranian sources said there were about 12,000 troops around Abadan who would have resisted any British landing attempt.

Reports that the U.S. embassy was sending 10 observers here to watch the evacuation created a stir of suspicion among some British. A British newsman said the presence of so many observers to watch the humiliation of the British would be "impolitic."

The British — about 300 of a force which once totaled 3,000 — are being escorted out by the Iranians. The Tehran government rejected a British request that the cruiser Mauritius be allowed to dock for the embarkation, or that the British be allowed to use their own boats as ferries to the warship.

Iran Provides Launches
The Iranians are providing 16 launches to carry Britons to the Mauritius, anchored a few hundred yards out in the Shatt-El-Arab, the waterway that separates Iran from Iraq. A ship's band probably will play as they climb aboard.

A handful of AIOC executives will remain behind to supervise the withdrawal of about 350 Indians and Pakistanis by ship to Bombay and then leave by road for Iraq Thursday, the deadline set for their expatriation by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

Mossadegh ordered his officials to handle all arrangements and make the departure as painless as possible.

Joint Chiefs of Staff Agree on Air Force Buildup to 140 Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) - The joint chiefs of staff have agreed on a multi-billion-dollar air force buildup that will expand the nation's air arm from 95 to about 140 groups by 1954.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (R-Mass.) revealed Tuesday.

His disclosure that the army, navy and air force had reached agreement on the controversial issue after months of behind-the-scenes squabbling came as Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett conferred secretly at the White House with President Truman.

The President had given the defense department until Monday to map an air expansion program which could be presented in the budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1. Budget Director Frederick J. Lawton also conferred with Mr. Truman.

Lodge, who has advocated 150 air groups, told the senate that the exact figure of the planned air force buildup is a secret, but that "about 140 groups" is the "general ratio." He said it will provide "much" more tactical (troop supporting) air power—"one of our gravest weaknesses."

Deadline for Homecoming Float Entries Set up to Thursday

The deadline for float entries in this year's Homecoming parade has been extended to Thursday afternoon, the parade committee said Tuesday.

A total of 40 entries had been received through Tuesday, and indications were that the 1951 parade could be the biggest in the history of SUI Homecoming parades.

William D. Coder, parade chairman, said the deadline had been extended from Tuesday to Thursday, after more campus groups had shown a desire to participate in the parade, which will take place the night of Oct. 19.

Float entry blanks are available in the veterans service office in University Hall.

Engineers Ask for Monument Designs

Only one entry has been submitted in the 1951 Homecoming monument design contest which ends Friday.

This was reported Tuesday by the Associated Students of Engineering, sponsors of the contest, in issuing a plea for more contest entrants.

The contest is open to all SUI students (except those in engineering) and the general public. Deadline for entries is 5 p.m. in the office of the dean of the college of engineering.

One of the new features of the 1951 contest is the limitation on size. Because the monument will be mounted on wheels and become a part of the Homecoming parade, its size has been limited to 15 feet in height and a maximum base of 10 by 15 feet.

All entrants are asked to submit front and side views of their design. A $20 cash prize will be awarded to the winner, which will be announced Friday.

Those submitting designs are asked to attach their names and addresses in such a manner that they may be easily removed.

Gambling Report Sent to Larson

A "confidential" report, including statements made by Marion Vanderveiden, 26, arrested here Saturday for distributing football parlay cards, has been sent to Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson, by County Atty. William L. Meardon.

Meardon said the report was filed at the request of Larson, who has announced that his office is working to halt any "parlay card ring" in Iowa.

Vanderveiden was fined $200 in district court Monday for unlawful possession of gambling devices. He received a six-month suspended sentence on a second charge of peddling pools and chances and accepting money as bets on football games.

Community Chest Drive Nets $2,244 After 2nd Day

Four divisions are included in the 1952 drive. Contributions now being received are from the business and employe phases.

Altitude No Problem For Miss Michaels, Six-Foot Beauty

NEW YORK (UP)—Tall school-girls who have date misery because they tower above most of the boys they know can take some comfort from the career of Beverly Michaels.

Miss Michaels has become a Hollywood star despite her five-feet, nine inches. With high heels, of course, she's a six-footer.

She's no gawky, comedy type of star either, but the latest in the long Hollywood parade of sexy blonde glamour girls.

"There are a surprising number of tall teen-age girls and don't try to tell them that the height problem isn't important. It's no laughing matter to them. They're really miserable.

"Girls often attain their growth much sooner than boys. The boys they should be having dates with are sensitive about taking out girls taller than they are, with the result that the cute little tricks get most of the attention. The tall girl, even though she may be pretty, is in danger of being a wallflower.

"I've been all through that period myself. The sad part about it is that I can't give them any quick solution for their problem."

After modeling and stage experience, Miss Michaels went to Hollywood to visit a girl friend who was trying to get into the movies and the first thing she knew she was in them herself. Her big break came this year when Hugo Boss, actor turned independent producer, chose her to be his leading lady in "Pickup," in which she is a beautiful but bad character.

Miss Michaels picked up a certain distinction on her trip home. She is perhaps the only personality decked with one of those publicity-created tags of "sweetheart of _____" or "the girl who _____" who has some legitimate connection with the label.

She was chosen as the bus drivers' sweetheart. Her father, Denzil Michaels, is a bus driver in the Bronx.

Pediatrician to Speak At Hospital Meeting

"Books in the Child Patients' Rehabilitation" will be discussed by Dr. J. C. MacQueen, associate professor of pediatrics in the SUI college of medicine, at the hospital librarians' workshop Thursday, opening day of the Iowa Library association conference in Iowa City. The conference will continue through Saturday.

A clinical demonstration of a book projector and a showing of films concerning hospital libraries will be featured in the morning program, according to Edith R. Pierce, Fort Dodge, chairman of the association's hospital libraries division. In the afternoon session a panel composed of members of the hospital staff will discuss "The Hospital Staff and the Librarian."

Visiting members will inspect University hospital facilities during a tour of the hospitals and visits to the patients' reading rooms.

Florence Botts, Ruth Hillier, and Louane Newsome of the university's library staff will lead a separate workshop on problems of the small city library. Factors involved in the operation of a large city library will be discussed in a workshop led by Joyce Nienstedt, Iowa City public librarian.

College library problems will be covered in a workshop led by Doris Alexander and Clara Hinton of the university library staff. More than 200 Iowa librarians are expected to attend the workshops and general sessions of the conference, the 58th such meeting of the Iowa Library association. Norman Kilpatrick, associate director of SUI libraries, is president of the group.

Concert Violinist To Appear Before Local Service Clubs

He will also appear briefly this morning at all high schools in the city, junior high and some grade schools. This afternoon he will entertain at the hospital-school for handicapped children.

Rubinoff is sponsored by the Optimists and the tickets for the 8 p.m. concert are being sold by club members and at Whetstone's.

Socks Won't Shrink If Properly Washed

If you are one of the many male students who wear woolen socks or hand-knits of nylon, you'd probably like to know how to wash them. There's no need for woolens to shrink or become matted if properly laundered in soap and water.

Here are a few simple rules for washing woolens:

1. Wash socks after each wearing.
2. Use only luke-warm water (that means almost cool.)
3. Use only a mild washing product.
4. Squeeze suds gently through socks while they are under water.
5. Rinse socks in water of the same temperature as the wash water.
6. Press water out of socks with hands, then roll up in a towel to remove excess moisture.
7. Things not to do,
  1. Use hot water.
  2. Soak socks before washing.
  3. Use harsh soaps.
  4. Lift socks in and out of water while washing.
  5. Twist socks, scrub them on board, between fingers, or handle them more than necessary.
  6. Hang socks for drying unless on forms.
  7. Dry socks in direct heat.

One further point refers to argyles or socks of more than one color. Place paper toweling, wax paper, or small cloth towel flat inside sock as it dries. In case colors are not fast this helps to prevent them from running together.

Labine Stops Giants For Brooklyn, 10-0, To Even Flag Playoff

Iowa Pass Defenders Talk with Raff

TWO IOWA FOOTBALL players who should have a busy afternoon against Purdue Saturday are Duane Brandt (left) and For Bristol, the Hawkeye defensive halfbacks. Here Brandt and Bristol discussed ways and means of stopping the expected air attack of Bollermaker quarterback Dale Samuels, one of the top passers in the Big Ten.

Hawks First in Nation on Defense

Bennett Doubtful For Purdue

Halfback Bernie Bennett probably will not be ready for Purdue Saturday, Coach Leonard Raffensperger said Tuesday night.

Bennett has been hobbled by a sprained ankle suffered in the Kansas State game which has failed to mend as quickly as originally expected.

He was in uniform and took part in the Iowa practice Tuesday but was obviously slowed up by the injury.

Well Protected
Fortunately, the Hawkeyes are well protected at Bennett's left halfback post where sophomores Loranzie Williams and Dusty Rice have been operating.

Those two will share the job Saturday if Bennett is unavailable, Raffensperger said.

Bennett's loss would probably be felt more on defense where he and Corky Reister, also on the injured list, are the top safety men. Reister is troubled by a pulled leg muscle but is expected to be ready.

Jack Hess is next in line at the safety position, Raffensperger indicated.

Corbin Hobbled
Another injured Iowan is end Del Corbin, who turned an ankle in practice Monday.

Bernie Bennett Has Sprained Ankle

preparations for their Big Ten opener, it was revealed that Iowa gained some statistical honors from the Kansas State game.

NCAA statistics released Tuesday showed that Iowa ranked first in the nation in both total defense and rushing defense.

In total defense, the Hawkeyes yielded a mere 68 yards on 47 attempts while holding the Wildcats to a minus 28 yards rushing. Chuck Denning came in for individual recognition by placing ninth among the nation's kickers. Denning averaged 41.9 yards on seven punts.

Good Pass Defense
Purdue also ranked first in one department. Coach Stu Holcomb's team rated first in pass defense as it stopped all three of the Texas attempts.

In spite of these impressive figures, the emphasis was on defense as much as offense in Tuesday's drill.

The Hawkeye defensive unit scrimmaged against Purdue-type T formation plays on one end of the field while the offensive platoon worked against the reserves at the other end.

Two members of the JV squad who did well against Wisconsin last Friday are working with the varsity this week. They are Tom Kerf, Iowa City's all-state tackle, and Dan McBride, an end from Burlington.

Purdue ...
LAFAYETTE, IND. (UP)—Purdue Coach Stu Holcomb experimented with replacements for end positions Tuesday because of injuries suffered by veteran wingmen Leo Sugar and Darrell Brewster in last Saturday's opener against Texas.

Bernard Flowers was the lone letterman end to show up for Tuesday's drills in preparation for next Saturday's home game against Iowa. Fred Locks, a junior reserve, and Flowers alternated at Sugar's post while sophomores James Wijehowski and John Kerr subbed for Brewster.

Newcombe vs. Maglie In Big One Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn's redoubtable Dodgers, a single defeat from extinction and supposedly licked to a frazzle, came off the floor Tuesday to hammer the New York Giants into submission, 10-0, and carry the playoff for the National league flag down to the final desperate gasp at the Polo Grounds today.

While Clem Labine, 25-year-old crew cut rookie from Woonsocket, R. I., was carving his initials on the Giants wrecking crew, Jackie Robinson and his fellow sluggers tore into three second-line Giant pitchers for 13 ringing blows, including four home runs, to snap a victory string that had reached eight straight.

Labine, who rejoined the Dodgers late in July from St. Paul, was a picture of poise as he mowed the Durocher men down methodically through the gloomy, rainy afternoon.

He yielded only six hits in gaining his fifth win against one defeat for the season. The Giants only twice came close to scoring on the kid with the crackling curve.

4 Dodger Homers

What the Dodgers did to Sheldon Jones, George Spencer and Al Corwin was a brutal thing. Robinson, Gil Hodges, Andy Pafko and Al (Rube) Walker, the Flock's substitute backstop, all belted homers. Walker's went clean over the right field stands with two out in the ninth inning to close out the slaughter.

Robinson, a somewhat sad figure in Brooklyn's 3-1 defeat in Monday's first playoff game, also bored two singles into the outfield grass, and it was his second safety which knocked Jones, the Giants' starter, out of the one-sided contest.

Walker, playing for the crippled Roy Campanella, also pitched in with a brace of singles preceding his mighty blast. Every Dodger except Carl Furillo scored at least once during the demoralizing assault.

Big One Today

And so, after two contests, the two flaming antagonists were right back where they started, and all the marbles will be at stake when they clash for the last time today.

It shapes up as a burning battle between two of the game's finest righthanders, Sal Maglie, winner of 23 victories, for the Giants against big Don Newcombe, who notched 20 during the regular campaign. Neither pilot had much choice but to come in with his big one. Coach Leo, who pitched 22 victories during the season, has not had his required rest.

Tuesday's bashing, not only snapped a tremendous string of eight stretch victories which finally carried the Giants into the league leadership for 24 hours, but otherwise cooled off a team which had begun to look unbeatable. Up to this debacle the Polo Grounders had won 13 of their last 14 games, 38 of their last 45. Labine's magnificent job supplied a tonic sorely needed by the Flatbushers.

Rain Halts Game

Giants' supporters among the crowd of 38,609 saw a ray of hope for their heroes when, with the Dodgers already five runs to the good, a drizzling rain brought out the infield canvas and interrupted the game. There was just a chance, they reasoned, that the blazing kid would cool off somewhat during the long wait.

Brooklyn ... 300 913 202-10 13 2
New York ... 600 900 000-9 6 5
Labine and Walker; Jones, Spencer (3), Corwin (7) and Westrum, HR; Robinson, Hodges, Pafko, Walker, LF; Jones.
(Best of three series tied at one game each)

Bums Getting Lucky, Says Jackie Robinson; Newcombe 'Ready'

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Robinson's pearl white teeth flashed the broadest smile in the jubilant Brooklyn dressing room Tuesday after the Dodgers had mauled the New York Giants, 10-0, to tie the playoff for the National league pennant.

"They've had their lucky clothes on, now we've got some lucky ones on ourselves," said the great Brooklyn second baseman and clutch player who hit a home run and two singles in the Polo Grounds game.

"That means the whole season is wrapped up in today's game. We're not celebrating. We're just even. Everything goes today."

Newcombe Ready
Over in another corner of the sweaty room, Manager Charley Dressen, grim but obviously pleased, announced he would send Don Newcombe, the towering negro righthander and 20-game winner, against the Giant's Sal Maglie in the climactic contest.

Newcombe, who worked nine innings Saturday and 5 2/3 Sunday to help keep Dodger hopes alive, said he hadn't asked for the assignment but was glad to get it.

"I'm always ready to pitch," he said. "The Giants are tough but they don't worry me none. I'll be ready. I'm not too tired."

Calmer man in the madhouse of humanity was Clem Labine, the 25-year-old righthander who silenced Giant bats with six hits, not yielding a safety in the last 4 2/3 innings.

"Wonderful feeling," he said, "but, shucks, it's nothing when you have guys like Jackie Robinson and those others behind you."

Labine said he fed the New Yorkers a diet of curve balls and sinkers, fanning the Giant's Bobby Thomson in the third inning with the bases full on an overhand curve.

Kersten Happy at Guard

Iowa Veteran Prefers Line Over Backfield Where He Played on '44 Hawkeye Team

From leading ground-gainer as a halfback to guard and linebacker, Kersten may not sound like a rise in the football world but Bill Kersten, linemen, prefers it that way.

As a freshman during the 1944 season, 17-year-old Bill Kersten was leading eastern teams as Col. Villanova and George Washington on its eleven-game schedule. Bill was playing.

Before coming to the Hawkeye campus, Kersten was an around performer at Logan school. As a prep, he was on the all-Southwestern team at a halfback post.

The Logan athlete also earned honors for the all-conference basketball team and was district shotput champion.

Kersten's tentative plans following graduation are to study engineering but he is not set on a definite position.

BRIGHT SETS MARK

NEW YORK (AP)—When John Bright rushed and passed 242 yards while Drake was beating Brown university last Saturday night established a new collegiate ball record.

Kersten, now 24 and losing some hair, is rated as the second left guard on both the defensive and offensive squads behind Austin Turner, a two-year letterman.

He admits that carrying the ball was a lot of fun but now feels the contact of line play is better and states a definite liking for defensive work over playing when Iowa is in possession of the pigskin.

Early in 1945, Kersten joined the Merchant Marine and remained a merchant sailor until June, 1947, when he returned to the Hawkeye campus.

VMI Coach — Not Mad at Leahy

— For Using 'I'

By ED YOUNG

LEXINGTON, VA. (AP)—Irish Tom Nugent, the VMI football coach, looked a little harried. The telephone had been jangling all day. He sighed.

"I am not mad at anybody," he said. "I wish people would stop saying I am. I am not indignant."

In particular, he was not (1) mad nor (2) indignant at Frank Leahy, a fellow Irishman who is coach of the Notre Dame football team.

Folks began thinking out loud that Nugent was miffed at Leahy on Sunday. That was the day after Leahy's Notre Dame team ran over Indiana, 48-6, using the novel "I-T" formation which Nugent believes he invented.

Supplies Films
Leahy, asked about the formation, was quoted as saying he'd heard of "two southern schools" which had used the I-T last year and "we borrowed it." No mention of Nugent, though earlier this year the VMI coach had gone to extensive trouble to supply Notre Dame with films of the I-T as practiced successfully in 1950 by his Keydets.

Leahy made things right Tuesday. In a telegram to the Newport News Times Herald, he said forthrightly:

"All the credit on the I-T formation should go to coach Nugent. He was most cooperative in helping Notre Dame understand the formation.

Nugent, told of the telegram, dismissed it as "nice but not necessary."
"A Misunderstanding"
"I'm sure this has been nothing but a misunderstanding all the way," he said. "I feel quite positive that Frank Leahy was merely misquoted. I have the utmost confidence that at no time did he intend to mislead anyone.

"I'm delighted that he saw fit to use our stuff."

Rumors that he had been "miffed" at Leahy had brought inquiries from distant points and Nugent was tired of talking on the telephone to these people and others who wanted to sympathize.

The I-T, in which the backs line up perpendicular to the line of scrimmage and then go tearing off in many directions as the play begins, is a highly confusing piece of football legerdemain. To opponents it is sorely perplexing. Last year it made a so-so VMI squad into a team with a 6-4 record.

Nugent said he formulated it to fill the needs of his squad. He never heard of anyone else using it until Leahy.

Leahy's comment as to "two southern schools" which used the formation last year left Nugent puzzled.

"We simply can't find the other one," he said. "I expect we were both of them."

Governors Support Indiana's Stand On Relief Rosters

GATLINBURG, TENN. (AP)—The nation's governors unanimously urged congress Tuesday to repeal the federal ban on publishing names of persons on relief rolls.

Gov. James F. Byrnes (D-S.C.) led the revolt against the ban, under which Indiana's $20 million-a-year share in federal welfare funds was cut off after the state legislature passed a law opening welfare rolls for public inspection.

The unanimous vote came after a stormy session of the Republican-dominated 43rd annual conference of state governors in which Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing defended his administration of federal relief laws.

Ewing said the Indiana law violated a congressional act of 1939 passed to prevent political exploitation of relief families. He said he would not recommend that congress repeal this law.

But Byrnes appealed to his fellow governors to demand repeal, declaring pointedly that congress should pay more attention to 48 governors than to the head of any department or agency.

By a show of hands, the governors then voted unanimous belief that a state should be able to publish relief rolls without fear of losing federal contributions.

Another show of hands put them on record 25 to 10 that the states have a right to set their own civil service standards — an issue of dispute between Ewing and New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Utah's Republican Gov. J. Bracken Lee interrupted the discussion on relief rolls to demand that the governors take a stand on such matters as high taxes, inflation, the Korean war, the national debt and integrity in government.

When the conference, after hearing Lee, turned to the business before it without taking up Lee's demands, he threatened to "walk out."

Lee's outburst caught the governors by surprise, but Dewey, who was presiding, immediately brought the talk back to the subject.

Civil Rights May Be Forced Past South Bloc

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.) suggested Tuesday that "economic threats and reprisals" against the South might be considered in the senate campaign for civil rights legislation, but he hastened to add that he did not advocate such a course.

Benton's suggestion aroused the ire of senators from the southern states and won no immediate support from friends of civil rights legislation.

Sen. Thomas R. Underwood (D-Ky.) told reporters "there is no North and South in legislation," while Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) warned "that's something that can be cut two ways." There was sharper language from other southerners who wouldn't be quoted.

Presiding at a meeting of the senate rules committee, Benton denounced southern-led filibusters which have blocked votes on civil rights bills in the past and suggested those who support the bills "take a very long look at appropriations bills affecting the southern states."

Later Benton said he meant his remarks to be part of a listing of "all possible approaches to getting the senate filibuster rule changed and pushing through some civil rights legislation."

The senate rule requires a vote of at least 64 members, or two-thirds of the whole senate, to impose a limitation on debate and thus gag filibusters. Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-Lib. N.Y.) said the rule in its present form is "a plain prescription for potential legislative paralysis."

"I dare say no parliamentary body on earth has such a despotic, such a self-perpetuating rule," Lehman added.

Among other approaches suggested by Benton were a court test of the constitutionality of existing rules, an attempt to outlast a filibuster and then force a vote on a rules change or a civil rights bill, and an effort to require re-adoption of senate rules every two years, as the house does.

Without steps "other than persuasion," Benton told Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), "I don't believe you've got a chance." Humphrey is leading the move to change the rule.

Kitts to Be Returned To Nebraska Prison For 12-Year Sentence

OMAHA (AP)—Kenneth Kitts the elusive Omaha jail break artist and bank burglar, will be returned to the Nebraska state penitentiary to serve out a 12 year sentence, U.S. District Attorney Joseph Votava said Tuesday.

Kitts broke away from a prison guard at the Douglas county courthouse in Omaha last month and a week later was captured at Fayetteville, Tenn. He now is being held at Petersburg, Va.

Votava said he had learned from Nebraska Atty. Gen. Clarence S. Beck that the state would request that Kitts be returned here to finish serving a 12 year sentence for burglary and as a habitual criminal.

Kitts also is under 30 year sentence for the $38,000 burglary of the Laurens, Ia., state bank. Votava said Beck feared if Kitts served the federal sentence first, he might not be required to finish out the Nebraska sentence.

Votava said he talked to Beck Tuesday afternoon after Attorney General McGrath's office in Washington had told him a Nebraska request for custody of Kitts would be honored.

In addition to the convictions in Iowa and Nebraska, Kitts is charged with five South Dakota bank burglaries within the last three years.

Earlier this year, he escaped from the Linn county jail at Cedar Rapids, but later was recaptured at Omaha. At least two other escape attempts have been attributed to him.

Rep. Stefan Dies; 9th Congressman To Die This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Karl Stefan, (R-Neb.) died of heart failure Tuesday at the age of 67. He was the ninth member of congress to die in office this year.

Stefan, who had served in the house since 1935, entered George Washington University hospital Sunday complaining of "severe pains" in the chest and back.

His wife, Ida, and daughter, Mrs. Robert Askren of Chicago, were at the bedside.

A son Dr. Karl F. Stefan of Washougal, Wash., was en route here by plane but did not arrive in time.

Stefan, a native of Norfolk, Neb., represented Nebraska's sprawling third district, which includes 24 counties. He was third-ranking GOP member of the key house appropriations committee, and during the 80th congress was chairman of the appropriations subcommittee for the state, commerce and justice departments.

A strong supporter of bipartisan foreign policy, Stefan played a key role in approving funds for the Marshall European recovery program and Voice of America. He was an official advisor to the U. S. delegation at the San Francisco conference to found the United Nations in 1945.

Fired in Pupil Dating, Instructor Vanishes

AMBOY, ILL. (UP)—Teacher Stanley Gibson, 31, who lost his job for dating a pretty, teen-age pupil, vanished Tuesday and his sweetheart said she had no idea where he went.

Gibson left town after reaching agreement yesterday with an irate school board which had fired him for dating blonde Joyce Underhille, 17.

Although terms of the agreement were not announced, it was understood the board withdrew its discharge order in return for Gibson's resignation.

Friends here said the handsome English teacher did not confide in them where he was going, but speculated that he went to visit Miss Underhille at Champaign where she is now a student at the University of Illinois.

But the girl said at Champaign that Gibson did not come there and she was not expecting him.

"I'm not sure what his plans are," the attractive coed said. "I tell that to everyone, but they don't believe me," she sighed.

Gibson had admitted "between 25 and 50" dates with Miss Underhille before she was graduated from Amboy high school in June. The school board held his conduct was unbecoming a teacher.

Miss Underhille said she and Gibson have an "understanding" to be married in a few years, but that they are not engaged.

In their counter-claim suit, the Moores say the accident was the fault of Mathes.

Tories Hint Plan to Revive War-Time Coalition Cabinet

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Winston Churchill Tuesday guardedly promised to revive Britain's war-time coalition government in order to fight through world dangers and economic crises if his Conservatives win the national election Oct. 25.

Greeted by a tumultuous ovation from thousands who threw flowers and raised his old "V for Victory" sign, the 76-year-old Churchill clearly indicated in his first election speech that he wants to head a "broadly based" cabinet of Conservatives, Socialists and Liberals.

"This will be no vindictive triumph for Tories over Socialists," he pledged, "no dull exclusion of Liberal and independent forces, but rather a period of healing and revival."

"What we need is a period of steady, stable administration by a broadly based government wielding the national power and content to serve the nation's interest rather than give party satisfaction."

"What is required is a government with the power to carry on a tolerant, non-partisan, non-dogmatic system of policy for a considerable time."

"I ask for a substantial and solid majority to bring an end to this period of unavoidable but mischievous party strife, to let the nation get on with its work with the least political interference and to promote the greatest measure of agreement among ourselves."

His address before a party rally of 6,000 in Liverpool stadium caught the British people by surprise. There has not been the least hint that Prime Minister Attlee's Labor party would react with favor to a bid to serve in a cabinet under Conservative leadership.

Churchill spoke only a few hours after Aneurin Bevan, a left-wing rebel in the Labor party, had thrown a chill into the Attlee leadership by capturing four of the seven seats in the political division of the party's national executive committee.

This demonstration of rank and file support for the left-wingers was at the party's conference in Scarborough.

The 28-member committee still was easily under the control of Attlee's moderates, but they feared the surprising strength shown by Bevan would create doubts as to the party's ability to carry through its rearmament program and would drive off the "floating vote" which may decide the election.
