Brooks Falter, 5-4; Series Starts Today

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobby Thomson smashed a three-run homer into the left field stands in the ninth inning Wednesday to give the New York Giants the National League pennant with a 5-4 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the most fantastic baseball comeback of all time.

Never had there been a finish like this. Nor will there probably be another in our times. There just couldn't be.

The Giants, who went into the ninth trailing 4-1 with the odds stacked just as steeply against them as when they trailed the Dodgers by 13½ games on Aug. 11, struck with the swiftness of desperation. And they won all the chips.

Dark Singles

To start that ninth inning, Alvin Dark singled off Gil Hodges' glove. It didn't seem to bother Don Newcombe, the Dodger pitcher, who had been brilliant almost all the way. Nor did he seem disturbed when Don Mueller rifled a second single to put runners on first and third with none out.

Big Newk worked carefully on the toughest Giant hitter, Monte Irvin, the league's top run producer, and Irvin popped out to Hodges.

Then came the crisis. Whitley Lockman whizzed a double to left field to score Dark.

And in that moment came a tragic break. Mueller, hustling player, slid into third and injured his ankle. It was a needless slide because he would have made it easily, and while stretcher bearers came to take him off the field, Manager Charley Dressen decided it was high time to get rid of Newcombe, too.

He brought in Ralph Branca from the bullpen. Then Thomson, who might have been a goat because of an earlier bonehead play, hit his homer of homers. After Branca rifled a three, Thomson swung with all his muscles on the next pitch. The ball shot into the lower left field stands as pinch-runner Clint Hartung, Lockman, and Thomson jogged around the base paths that suddenly became a road to glory.

One Swift Stroke

Thus with one swift stroke by the tall Scot from Glasgow, the Giants added their proudest chapter to the annals of a history studious with the deeds of Christy Mathewson, Carl Hubbell, Mel Ott, and the great John McGraw.

Today they go into the World Series in a renewal of a mighty rivalry with the New York Yankees, the same team they faced when they last were in the classics in 1937. They lost that series in six games. They think they'll do better this time, and if they think so, who is to argue? They do things in a mighty convincing manner.

Before the fiction-finish, Brook-

British Leave Iran; Evacuation Is Quiet

ABADAN, Iran (AP)—The British retreated from Abadan in a 1951 Dunkirk Wednesday, leaving the Iranians in full possession of oil riches which powered Allied navies, armies and air forces in strategic theaters in two world wars.

The one-day mass evacuation of 325 oilmen was carried out peacefully by plane and ship under the eyes of about 100 curious Iranians who squatted silently on their heels.

Only 10 Anglo-Iranian Oil company executives remained here. They will head for Iraq in a three-car procession today, the deadline set by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh for the British expulsion.

Mossadegh is flying to New York Sunday to argue Iran's cause for oil nationalization before the UN security council, where Britain challenged the expulsion order.

Fans, Teammates Mob Thomson

NEW YORK'S BOBBY THOMSON, whose three-run homer in the ninth inning Wednesday beat the Brooklyn Dodger for the National League pennant, is shown mobbed by teammates and fans. Thomson's hit won the third and deciding play-off game, 5-4.

Allies Launch Major Offensive; Reds Answer U.N. Truce Proposal

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (THURSDAY) (AP)—The Allies' autumn offensive erupted with tanks and flame throwers Wednesday along a 40-mile front in west and central Korea. Bitterly resisting Reds were driven north in hand-to-hand fighting.

Heavily censored field dispatches and a communiqué pinpointed the furious action as sweeping northeast from Korangpo to Kumhwa.

Korangpo is 28 miles northwest of Seoul. From Korangpo the thunder of Allied guns carried 12 miles east to Kaesong, site of the suspended truce talks. Kumhwa, southeast anchor of the "iron triangle," is in central Korea 19 miles north of parallel 38.

The Chinese Reds were hit so hard on the ridgeline northwest of Kumhwa that they pulled out Wednesday night and gave up hill positions without firing a shot. Previously they had held off Allied attacks there for three days.

A communiqué today reported gains in western Korea but did not pinpoint them or give their extent.

Allied fliers over the west and west-central fronts looked for any Red moves to reinforce their assault front line troops. They saw no signs but an Allied commander said it was possible the Reds had moved up fresh troops at night.

By midnight, the advancing Allies had gained new hill positions in a general area northwest of the Imjin river.

West of Yonchon, American troops hit even heavier resistance. By noon they had repulsed three Chinese counterattacks.

East front action was limited but French and American infantry repulsed a heavy Red counterattack on the slopes of "Heartbreak ridge."

The U.S. fifth air force reported today that at least 2,200 Red vehicles were spotted on North Korean roads Wednesday night. Of these, 420 were damaged or destroyed.

Allied planes had spotted more than 4,300 Red vehicles Tuesday night.

SUI faculty and students can see the world series, which begins today, on four television sets at the Iowa Union.

Two of the sets are located in the main lounge and two in the side rooms near the front desk.

2 Positions Open On Panacea Board

Openings exist for two members on the Panacea board of directors today, following the resignation of Bob Paulus, A4, Iowa City, committee chairman, due to the illness of his father.

Students interested in serving on the board of the annual all-student talent show or on the production staff are instructed to turn in their names and addresses to the office of student affairs.

Since May membership on the board of directors has been open to any student. Formerly, only members of Mortar Board and the student council were eligible.

Applicants are requested to specify in which positions they are interested.

Deadline for applications is noon Tuesday.

37 Men to Report For Draft Exams

Thirty-seven men will be called this month from Johnston county to take preinduction physical exams.

Local draft board officials said the group will report to Des Moines Tuesday for the examinations.

This will be the first group of Johnston county men to be called for physicals since June when five went to Des Moines.

The indictments were returned by the second grand jury which investigated the case. It heard 21 witnesses, including Leonard Monaco, 21, the sole survivor of the shooting affray. He testified Wednesday, after being held in protective custody in a downtown hotel.

The August grand jury by one vote refused to indict Moretti. This was followed by a storm of civic protest. Moretti was detained to the TOKYO (THURSDAY) (AP)—The Communists today answered Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's proposal that the stalled Korean truce talks be switched from Red-held Kaesong to a nearby non-man's land.

A Communist liaison officer handed the message to an Allied officer at Panmunjom and said it was "in reply to General Ridgway's proposal that the stalled Korean truce talks be switched from Red-held Kaesong to a nearby non-man's land."

The ambassador, a top advisor to Secretary of State Acheson, also declared at one point that a suspect organization which listed him as a sponsor did so "without any authorization from me" and "misused my name."

Community Chest at 12 Per Cent of Goal

About 12 per cent of the Iowa City Community Chest quota had been pledged or contributed by late Wednesday afternoon, Chest officials said.

A total of $3,625.50 had been tabulated toward the campaign goal of $31,625. This represented contributions from the business and employee phase of the drive.

On the basis of the first 60 firms solicited, 89 per cent of the employers had pledged in comparison to 64 per cent of the employees.

The public service and professional divisions of the campaign will begin next week. This will be followed by the university family drive a week later.

Quotas for the university family is $8,826 and the goal for public service and professional is $4,500.

NEW TAX SYSTEM

LONDON (THURSDAY) (AP)—Winston Churchill's Conservatives want Britain's system of taxing formally promised today to re-business and to adopt an emergency excess profits tax on the American model.

Moretti had been beaten in a tavern brawl a few hours earlier.

He pleaded self defense, asserting he fired shots into the automobile after stopping the youths to question them. He testified a shot was fired at him before he opened fire.

The storm of protest arising from the first grand jury probe centered around Boyle, who was criticized for his presentation of the case to the August jury.

The crime commission, through its president, Austin L. Wyman, and managing director, Virgil Peterson, criticized the grand jury's "no bill" as a "gross miscarriage of justice."

state's attorney's office. The state's attorney's office, headed by John S. Boyle, conducted the grand jury investigation which ended in a "no bill."

Next a coroner's jury of experts conducted a hearing and recommended that Moretti be held to the grand jury on charges of manslaughter.

Boyle then withdrew from the case. Two special prosecutors, Harold A. Smith and Richard B. Austin, were appointed by the chief justice of the criminal court, Thomas Kluczynski.

Arthur Gamino, 15, and Edward Salvi, were shot fatally in an automobile early the morning of Aug. 24. Moretti was wounded.

Jessup Denies 'Red' Charges Of McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup said Wednesday he "never faltered" in opposing communism.

Denouncing any idea that he is ready to sell out this country to Soviet Russia, Jessup said Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) had tried to put across that idea in his efforts to block Senate confirmation of Jessup as a delegate to the United Nations.

The ambassador appeared as a witness before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee to reply to McCarthy's 10-hour barrage of charges aired before the inquiry group yesterday.

"To associate me with appearance of the Soviet Union is categorically contradicted by the facts of my record as a public servant," Jessup said.

He said some of McCarthy's evidence was "absolutely dishonest."

Dealing with McCarthy's charges one by one, Jessup told the senators at the outset:

"I will begin with the unqualified declaration that McCarthy's allegation that I was affiliated with six Communist fronts is false—his photostats notwithstanding."

Then, referring to McCarthy's assertion that Jessup had "followed all the twists and turns of the Communist line," the witness said:

"I will submit evidence which will demonstrate that I have not been a follower of the Communist party line. I will introduce evidence that the Communists have attacked me with a violence equal to that displayed by the senator from Wisconsin—and with far greater justification."

The ambassador, a top advisor to Secretary of State Acheson, also declared at one point that a suspect organization which listed him as a sponsor did so "without any authorization from me" and "misused my name."

The Reds broke a 7-day silence on Ridgway's proposal.

Contents of the message were not disclosed at once. But the only matter pending was Red reaction to Ridgway's Sept. 27 proposal that the talks be moved 6 miles southeast of controversial Kaesong in Red-held territory to a town near Songhyeon.

Today, in response to a Red request, two helicopters flew from Munsan, 23 miles southeast of Kaesong, to the Red checkpoint at Panmunjom. There Allied liaison officers were handed the message about 10 a.m. Fifteen minutes later, the party arrived back in Munsan for transmission of its contents to Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo.

Ridgway suggested the switch in sites because Kaesong, in Red held territory, had been plagued by "incidents." The Allies have denied responsibility for all but two. They accused that some of the rest were fabricated by the Reds.

Now Need Dean's O.K. to Drop Course

Wednesday was the final day that students could add courses to their schedules with the consent of their advisers.

A student now must have the consent of both instructor and adviser, and the approval of the dean or administrative committee.

Courses may be dropped during the first six weeks of the semester with the grade of "W" upon obtaining the signatures of the advisers and the dean or administrative committee.

After that time, students who drop courses will not be given a "W" unless certified by the instructor.

Friday Is Last Day To Pay Tuition Fees

Only two days remain for students to make their first semester fee payments at the treasurer's office in University hall.

Any payment after 5 p.m. Friday is subject to a $2 fine the first late day and $1 for every additional day.

Students whose last names begin M to R should pay their tuition today and the rest of the students Friday.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Suspension Question Considered Today

Final action on the week-long suspension of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity is expected to be considered today by the faculty committed on student life.

Committee Chairman J. W. Howe called the meeting, after Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce ordered "all fraternity activities" at the chapter house stopped last Thursday.

Faunce said he found a 3-gallon milk jug full of beer in the pantry of the chapter house at 702 North Dubuque st. on an inspection tour Sept. 26.

Fraternity President Joe Campbell, A4, Keosauqua, later claimed that the inspection was made at his invitation and that the beer was "stale."

The committee hearing today will be closed to the public, Howe declared. Any action resulting from the committee investigation will be announced by Faunce, he said.

State Department Admits It Convened To Cut China Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department reversed itself Wednesday on the issue of whether there was ever a White House conference on cutting off aid to Nationalist China as Harold E. Stassen testified on whether his memory was "playing him tricks."

Stassen testified before a congressional committee that there was such a conference but the state department said that no such conference took place and that Stassen's memory was at fault.

Wednesday night, however, the department said that the meeting did occur.

The department, after rechecking its records, acknowledged there was a White House conference in Feb., 1949, at which congressional leaders objected to a general's proposal for a temporary halt in U.S. arms aid to Nationalist China.

It said the proposal, made by Maj. Gen. David S. Marr, senior U.S. military representative in China, was turned down by President Truman and shipments were continued to keep up the Nationalists' will to resist the Chinese.

Stassen testified before the Senate

Chiang Warns of Insincerity In Communists' Negotiations

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW
United Press Staff Correspondent

TAIPEH, Formosa (UPI)—The people of the free world will be well-advised not to take peace overtures and soft words of the Communists at face value, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek told the United Press in an exclusive interview.

The man who heads the largest single army in the Orient devoted himself to opposing the spread of Communism, and who has had wide experience with the Communists both in negotiations and in battle, cautions against over-enthusiastic acceptance of any peace overtures by the Reds.

"As a military man I feel that if the Communist army is thoroughly and decisively defeated in North Korea the interests of peace in Asia and throughout the world will be best served," Chiang said.

The generalissimo, an erect man with a quiet ready smile and brown eyes, was interviewed at his hillside home at Chao-Shan-Grass mountain. Madame Chiang was present. The large pleasant room was decorated with pictures completed recently by the Madame, who has become an artist of note and an art enthusiast.

The man who heads millions of free Chinese on Formosa was asked to comment upon the idea expressed in Korea that the present partial stalemate there is working to the benefit of the United Nations in that the Chinese Communist army is pinned down and prevented from conducting aggressive wars anywhere else in Asia by a minimum commitment of UN troops.

"I cannot subscribe to that belief," Chiang Kai-Shek said. "I am sure that military men of the world will agree that the way to decisively and finally complete the campaign in Korea successfully is to defeat the Communist armies in the field."

"It has been argued that with the Communist armies pinned down on the Korean peninsula guerrillas throughout China are given an opportunity to grow in power and consolidate their forces against the day of reckoning.

"I think this is faulty reasoning. The way to win a war is to defeat the enemy, not let him get out of a difficult situation by political maneuvers so that he can live to fight again another day."

"This is particularly important where the Communists are concerned. In negotiations they are never to be believed, and never trusted. They will respect no pact that is not entirely to their own exclusive advantage.

"It is to be hoped that United Nations military leaders will be given the authority to prosecute the war through to a successful and definite conclusion, so that the same Communist army will not have to be met soon again by the United Nations on other battle-fields of Communist choosing."

The generalissimo declined comment on his offer to place 33,000 trained troops in the United Nations lineup in Korea. Since the offer was not accepted, he said, the matter had not recently been raised.

The generalissimo seemed to be in good health and spirits. He wore a tan uniform with no insignia of rank. He smiled readily during the interview and occasionally he thoughtfully tapped the arm of the chair with his lean fingers.

There is little doubt of the singleness of purpose in the mind of the generalissimo about the day when his armies will return to the Chinese mainland. He thinks it can be done and the army, navy and air force he commands know it can.

TO THE EDITOR:

Universal military training is not a dead issue, as General Marshall made clear this week in his plea that the United States enact a UMT program in order to prevent "disastrous and defeating economic results."

So far, public pressure has stalled final congressional decision on UMT, but with the continuation of the war in Korea and the increasing hostility towards Russia on the part of this country, the atmosphere is becoming more favorable for a UMT program. Therefore, for those of us who still fear the consequences of UMT, it remains necessary to voice our objection again now as we have in the past.

In a letter to The Daily Iowan last spring, Mr. Vic Bryant stated a number of valid objections to UMT, and three, in particular, are worth re-emphasizing: namely: (1) UMT cannot prevent war; (2) UMT would cost more than all the money now appropriated for public education in this country; and (3) In case of war, a refresher course would still be needed for the UMT trained person.

To these objections I would like to add the following: (1) UMT would not assure victory in case of war, a conclusion that can be drawn from the fact that all the major countries defeated in World War II had a compulsory military training program in peacetime; (2) UMT would not prevent casualties, nor appreciably lessen them, and in case of an atomic war UMT would be of no value whatsoever;

(3) UMT would contribute, in many ways, to the lowering of the moral and health standards of those in training, for it is a fact that the peacetime army in the U.S. has had, proportionately, a higher venereal disease rate and a larger number of mental disorders than found in civilian life;

(4) UMT is essentially undemocratic, for the values it instills are those of unquestioning obedience to orders, disregard of human life, and reliance solely on violence as a means of settling disputes.

Furthermore, one has no choice (there is no balloting) in the selection of one's leaders; in case of trial, it is by one's superiors rather than by one's equals; and there is unquestionably a curtailment in freedom of speech;

And finally (5) There is the danger that if a UMT program extended over a period of years, militarization would seep into every corner of civilian life so that in the end our industries, schools, and churches would find themselves subordinate to the military.

Instead of considering a compulsory military training program for our country I think we should be working through the UN for world disarmament.

Grenville Clark, a vice-president of UWF, has recently said:

"We are only trifling with the problem of world order until we realize that disarmament is the precondition of peace, and further that disarmament must apply not only to all nations but to conventional as well as atomic weapons. We must realize also that disarmament and a general political settlement are interdependent."

Of course, the tremendous obstacles yet to be overcome are obvious from Mr. Clark's statement. But until we affirm our faith in such a program—something which the U.S. has not yet done—there is no hope that such a goal can be achieved.

To Discuss Beef Supply At Washington Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Will American farmers ever be able to supply consumers with all the beef they would like to have?

That question is expected to be debated by livestock experts at an agriculture department farm outlook conference opening here Oct. 29 for a week's discussion of farm production problems and price prospects.

Many farm educators and state farm officials will attend.

This beef question will be up-most in minds of the conferees because of wide public interest in beef and cattle prices, which are at record levels, and the contention of some cattlemen that current government price controls will discourage production of beef cattle.

Department meat experts say the present high beef prices reflect a consumer demand for more beef than is available. Beef supplies are running at the annual average of about 58 pounds for each consumer compared with about 63 pounds last year. This average is sharply below the record of 74.1 pounds in 1909.

Consumption of all meat-beef, veal, pork, lamb and mutton—set a record average of 163 pounds in 1908. This year the average is expected to be about 142 pounds.

Next year's beef supply may be a little larger, but perhaps only 3 or 4 pounds more than this year's consumer average, department experts say.

Cattle numbers on farms are at a record level. Officials predict the number next Jan. 1—the date of the next official census—will be about 90 million head compared with 84,179,000 last Jan. 1. This compares with about 60 million on Jan. 1, 1909, the year beef consumption reached its record, from the standpoint of the consumer average.

At that time, the population was about 61 million, making about one cow on farms for each inhabitant. Today there is just over one cow for each two people.

CHRISTIANSON CONVICTED

GRUNDY CENTER, IA. (UPI)—Richard Christiansen, 25, Marshalltown, was convicted of grand larceny here Wednesday by a jury of 10 men and two women.

Concerning S-E-X

This column is only two weeks old and we have already received six letters complaining that there is not nearly enough sex in it.

This is a matter of opinion. We have been told by analysts of one sort and another that our writing is about as loose and questionable in character as it can hope to get.

Still, we are not one to shrink from a topic so vital to the interests of readers of all ages. If it is more sex you want, it is more sex you shall have. Aren't you glad? We are too. We are tired of writing letters of complaint to our selves.

WHERE DID SEX COME from? This is a good question. It is almost as good as "What is sex?" and "Where is sex heading?" Freud thought he discovered it. Little Egypt thought she uncovered it. They were both wrong, though if we had to give the edge to anybody it wouldn't be to Freud.

NO, IT IS COMMON KNOWLEDGE that a Russian invented it. We will know which Russian it was just as soon as it can be announced in Pravda. A lot of other more important inventions have to be announced first.

We do not pretend to know what will happen to sex after it turns Communist. There might be loyalty oaths, there might not. Rest assured there will be oaths of some sort or other. Sex might be put under party discipline or even eliminated as a decadent bourgeois indulgence.

Interpreting the News —

U.S. Policies Become Issues In British Election Campaign

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The policies and world position of the United States have, almost incredibly, become major issues in the British election campaign.

The Bevanites, who also swept most other government supporters from the committee and took control of party tactics, intend to make a last ditch fight, against what most observers consider an inevitable Churchill victory, on the protestation that return of the Conservatives will mean war.

The Conservatives, on the other hand, paced by Churchill, are playing up the matter of American friendship, with the old warrior in customary form.

Instead of seeking to emphasize the split in the nation, they promise a broadly based government suggesting that even Laborites may be included as during the wartime coalition—and how they will not play pyrotechnical policies with issues which are vital to the survival of Britain.

The Conservatives split with the Attlee-Morrison governmental group which cooperates with the United States and in European defense, the Bevanites ousted from the party executive committee two men whose own attitudes have been sufficiently left of Attlee to worry Americans interested in Allied security, but who have gone along with the government. These are Defense Minister Shinwell and War Minister Strachey.

THE OUTLOOK IS BLACK.

But let us not worry. We feel certain there will be a strong underground movement.

Meanwhile, things remain pretty confusing about sex in general. For long time sex was thought to be just one of those odd three-letter words to fill the odd spaces in crossword puzzles.

This led to a lot of peculiar solutions. What you want in there when you come across Horizontal 26: "Unit of energy," is not "sex" but "erg."

A LOT OF WORDS HAVE been written about our subject for today, but apparently they have not been the right ones. Questions still seem to keep cropping up. There is always a new generation coming along demanding to know about sex and hardly anybody around to make it all clear to them. Kraft-Ebing is no help either. His best lines are in Latin.

After a few more years of this kind of going on, sex is likely to get discouraged and go into retirement and then where would our novelists, song writers and movie censors be?

a rhetorical question, so there is no cause for alarm. We will even go out on a limb and declare flatly that sex is here to stay.

This seems to finish up our topic for today in good order. If there are still one or two questions about the finer points, please send them in. We do not know all the answers, but we know a small boy who does.

Let Contracts for Highway Repairs

AMES (AP)—The Iowa highway commission let contracts Wednesday totaling $1,076,610 for highway resurfacing and paving projects in Iowa.

The commission also let a contract for a highway bridge across the Des Moines river at Douds, in Van Buren county. That contract went to the A. Olson Construction company of Omaha for $335,461.

Letting of a contract for paving of a .10 of a mile at the junction of Iowa 13 and U.S. 151 east of Marion in Linn county, was deferred.

The paving and resurfacing contracts went to:

Guthrie County—Jay W. Craig company of Minneapolis, $336,124 for asphaltic concrete resurfacing of 22.72 miles of U.S. highway 6 from Adair northeasterly to Casey, Menlo and Stuart to the Dallas county line.

Buchanan county—E. M. Duesenberg of Clear Lake, $97,134 for a total of .46 of a mile of concrete paving on two stretches of highway 20—one in Independence and the other east of Independence.

Lee county—Mid-West Pre-Cote company, Kansas City, $348,012 for 22.69 miles of asphaltic concrete surfacing on highway 218 from Henry county line south to Donnellson southeasterly to U.S. 61.

Marshall-Story counties—Fielding and Shepley, Inc., Minneapolis, $295,271 for asphaltic concrete resurfacing of 20.11 miles on Iowa 330 and Iowa 64 from the Jasper county line northeasterly via Melbourne to the west city limits of Marshalltown.

YWCA Hospital Program Needs Volunteers

PART OF THE YWCA HOSPITAL program is reading to children in the Iowa Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children. Pictured are Marge Martin, C2, Hamburg, chairman of the craft program and Helen Roseberry, A3, LeMars, helping entertain the children in the hospital. Girls who are interested in doing this type of work should attend the introductory meeting at 4:10 p.m. today in room 105 Macbride hall. There are 16 different programs in the hospital program and they call for both new and experienced persons. If you are interested and unable to attend the meeting leave your name at the YWCA office in the Union.

Vegetable Beef Pie

TRULY A MEAL in a dish is this hearty beef stew topped with a golden biscuit crust that invites you to cut on the dotted line.

Beef stew is always a specialty in restaurants that cater to men. Why not make it a specialty at home, adding a cover of flaky biscuits?

Biscuit topping dresses up beef stew and also makes it more economical. Roll the biscuit dough out to fit the size of your casserole. Then, with tines of a fork, press squares, or other design, into biscuit dough before baking. The result is a professional look for your casserole dish at no extra cost.

Four people can eat heartily of vegetable beef pie for as little as 30 cents a serving. It's a wonderful way to get essential food values, since enriched biscuit has protein, B-vitamins and food iron to add to those of meat.

Accompany vegetable beef pie with a tossed salad garnished with tomato wedges, and cold milk, and the main part of your meal is complete. For dessert, plan on fresh pears and Camembert cheese.

Iowa C of C Heads To Meet at SUI

Iowa Chamber of Commerce Executives will make the SUI campus the center of activities for their fall meeting Oct. 11-13.

A demonstration on retail area analysis, roundtable discussions, and reviews of SUI services are features of the program for the ICCE. The conference also will present panels and individual talks on business statistics, office practices, the economic situation and political issues in 1952.

President Virgil M. Hancher will speak at one of the dinner sessions and the Iowa-Pittsburgh football game will conclude the 3-day schedule of activities.

Acting President William J. Terrell, Fort Dodge, heads the ICCE with its approximately 375 local officials, of whom 60 are full-time Chamber of Commerce executives.

Notice to All Iowan Readers

To all SUI and Iowa City clubs and social organizations: If you would like announcements of your meetings and activities to appear in The Daily Iowan please call 4191 or visit the society desk, located in the basement of the east wing of East hall by 4 p.m. the day before you want the news to appear.

Regular Care Extends Life Of Good Pillows

The housewife who has good pillows on her beds is fortunate indeed, for the best pillows—those made of waterfowl feathers and down—are becoming scarce. She should take extra precautions with her pillows now, especially, to see that she gets the maximum benefit from them.

The care of pillows is not difficult at all. The easiest way to keep them in good condition for comfortable sleeping is to fluff them every day when making the beds. By removing the pillow slips during the fluffing process, fresh air is forced in.

Pillows should be aired outdoors often in cool, dry air, for this not only clears them of any possible dust, but also helps prevent lumping of feathers. About once a month they should be hung on the clothesline or placed on newspapers or a sheet on the ground. It is best to place them in the shade, however, as the heat from the sun's rays will dry out the natural oils of the feathers.

By protecting her investment of good pillows, she is assuring her family of many nights of restful, relaxing sleep—which is impossible to attain on droopy, lifeless pillows.

A CAPE WRAP of blue and black imported tweed for fall and winter fits close and curving. By Hansen Bang, the jacket has a collar of black velvet and the lining is black taffeta.

Jersey With Matching Stole

A GRAY AND BLACK JERSEY dress with matching gray stole is worn by Jacqueline Daily, who modeled in the Profile Preview tryouts. Her shoes are gray flannel and the hat is of velvet in the same color. The style show, sponsored by University Women's association, will be presented Oct. 11, at 8 p.m. in the River room of the Iowa Union.

Here Are Tips on Avoiding Fatigue Due to Housework

If a day of homemaking gives you a pain in the neck—literally—take a second look at your working conditions.

Experts in the field of correct habits for the housewife constantly emphasize the importance of proper height of work surfaces and the most scientific construction of those surfaces for ease of cleaning. The basic rules concern selection of height to suit the housewife's own stature, and installation of materials such as clay tile to make the kitchen drainboards, bathroom and kitchen counters, and laundry centers simple to care for.

The height of work surfaces will vary, depending upon the individual homemaker, her properties, and her posture. It may be as low as 30 inches from the floor for beating and stirring operations involved in meal preparation, and as high as 38 inches for other activities. A good way to test for height is to stand with the arms slightly bent, and the palms of the hands extended. They should rest easily on a surface when the worker stands erect.

Incorrect height of work surfaces may not be the only problem when a housewife becomes fatigued out of all proportion to the amount of work she does. Often she labors with outmoded equipment and under unscientific conditions. A look into the kitchen floor plan might help. For example, are the clay tile work areas aligned for the greatest efficiency? Experts recommend a continuous arrangement to allow a homemaker to follow through on a job, such as meal preparation, without wasting motions and steps.

Look Who's Crying—

It seems rather odd that a school which has made a practice of demolishing rival football teams and winning national championships with monotonous regularity should cry about being outbid for grid talent.

But that's the stand abused Notre Dame has taken after several of its promising freshmen stars decided to seek their education elsewhere.

And one of the big meanies helping itself to the Irish haul is Iowa, which has succeeded in luring away a sure-fire end prospect.

This and other Notre Dame troubles was revealed by Frank Leahy and Notre Dame athletic officials in a recent interview with Harry Grayson, sports editor of the NEA syndicate.

"The contention here is that a long list of prize freshmen linemen and swivel-hipped backs who preferred Notre Dame were corralled by faster-talking proselyters," states Grayson.

"We practically have to keep our freshmen football players under lock and key," moans Edward W. (Moose) Krause, the Irish athletic director.

"A half dozen or more fine prospects who enrolled this fall are now in other schools," Backfield Coach Bernie Crimmins declares.

One of these fine prospects, according to Crimmins is Kevin Cahill, "an excellent end out of West Branch, Iowa, who left without saying a word."

It may interest Crimmins, then, to know that Cahill is now a student at Iowa, and is eagerly looking forward to playing football for Leonard Raffensperger.

It may also be of interest to Crimmins to learn why Cahill is now attending Iowa, his own state university and a school 10 miles from his West Branch home.

Foot Injury Prompted Change

"I was at Notre Dame for summer school and while there broke the arch on my foot," Cahill explains.

"When I got home, Aug. 10, I was in bed for 10 days and was told by the doctors that I wouldn't be able to play this season. Since I had considered Iowa strongly anyway, I decided to transfer and be closer to home. I probably would have stayed at Notre Dame if it weren't for my foot."

As a result, poor Notre Dame, which won only 39 straight before last season and smothered Indiana last week, 48-6, has lost another of the boys "who are constantly being lured away."

Of course, the subject of "luring" is a familiar one to Leahy and company if we may regard Cahill's case as typical of the numerous prep stars who choose Notre Dame each year.

The come-on began last fall when Cahill was sent tickets to the Notre Dame-Iowa game here by the Irish athletic department. Cahill sat on the Notre Dame bench during the game.

"After the game I talked to the coaches in the locker room and in February, I went to South Bend for three days. There they fixed me up with the usual Notre Dame scholarship—free room, board, tuition, books, and laundry. Every player on the squad gets that."

"A lot of the fellows have a sponsor, an alumnus who sends them money for train tickets, clothes and stuff like that."

"Then they wrote to me to come down for summer school so we could get in shape and have informal practices with the other freshmen."

"I liked the place, and as I said, I probably would have stayed if I didn't get hurt. I'm taking it easy now and hope to be ready for practice here next spring."

In his story, Grayson also lists Illinois quarterback Tom O'Connell and Ohio State's highly touted Doug Goodsell, a freshman half-back, as among others who were either at Notre Dame or were set to go there.

But, somehow, despite these "raids" by Iowa and other desperados, we find that Leahy will manage with the meager talent left at his disposal. Or was that merely Notre Dame spirit that wrecked the Hoosiers?

Spartans over Bucks—

Picks Purdue over Hawkeyes

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (AP)—Plenty of first-rate collegiate football crowds into this World Series weekend.

Best of the week: Michigan State at Ohio State. This is a struggle of Midwest titans and after the manhandling Michigan State gave Michigan's Rose bowl champs a week ago we'll string along with the Spartans to down Ohio State.

Elsewhere around the nation: The East.

Navy over Princeton—the gears figure to mesh this time. Holy Cross over Fordham—experience makes the difference. Cornell over Colgate—power plus speed.

Also: Brown over Yale, Bucknell over Lehigh, Columbia over Harvard, Pennsylvania over Dartmouth, Syracuse over Lafayette, Villanova over Penn State, Rutgers over Temple.

The Midwest.

Illinois over Wisconsin—those Illini backs are nifty. Northwestern over Army—give Army a little more time. Stanford over Michigan—a squeaker. Notre Dame over Detroit—may not be as easy as Indiana.

Also: Purdue over Iowa, Pittsburgh over Indiana, Kansas over Colorado, Nebraska over Kansas State, Marquette over Iowa State, Cincinnati over Hawaii, Wichita over Bradley.

Yanks 8-5 Favorite As World Series Starts Today

Durocher Chooses Koslo To Face Allie Reynolds

NEW YORK (AP) — The never-say-die New York Giants won the National league championship Wednesday in baseball's greatest comeback and turned with fierce confidence to face the New York Yankees in the World Series today.

Bobby Thomson's ninth inning home run with two on powered the Giants to a 5-4 victory in the third and deciding play-off game with the Brooklyn Dodgers and provided spectacular, fairybook finish for baseball's most dazzling success story.

Since Aug. 11, the Giants have won 39 out of 47 games, for an incredible percentage of .830, overcoming a Brooklyn lead of 13½ games.

Yet the Yankees were 8-5 favorites to beat them in the big show because their good pitching staff was well rested since clinching the American league pennant last Friday.

Koslo vs. Reynolds

Manager Leo Durocher—baseball's onetime "bad boy" and now sitting on top of the world—will send Dave Koslo (10-9) to the mound against the Yankee ace, Allie Reynolds (17-8).

The first two games of the series will be in Yankee stadium in the Bronx, which seats 70,000, and then play will move to the Polo Grounds, across the East river on the island of Manhattan. The Polo Grounds holds 55,000.

Two, or if need be, three games will be played at the Polo Grounds in the best four-out-of-seven series, and then play moves back to Yankee stadium if the world title has not yet been settled.

Unless weather intervenes, play in the series will be on these consecutive days:

Thursday, Oct. 4, and Friday, Oct. 5, Yankee Stadium; Saturday, Oct. 6, Sunday, Oct. 7, and Monday, Oct. 8, Polo Grounds; Tuesday, Oct. 9, and Wednesday, Oct. 10, Yankee Stadium.

This is the 18th time the New York Yankees have won the American league championship. The Giants won the National league title 15 times previous to this year.

Yanks Series Vets

In the World Series, the Yankees have won 18 times and lost only four. The Giants have won three of their National league championships coming when no series were played.

The Giants and the Yankees have met five times before in the World Series, and the Yankees held the edge, three to two. The last encounter was in 1937, when the Yankees under Manager Joe McCarthy won, four games to one.

Bill Terry managed the Giants.

This is the first World Series to be televised on a network that stretches from coast to coast, and the television and radio fees amount to $1 million.

This series will draw the richest gate receipts ever, for each park is the biggest in its league. When the same two teams last met in the series in 1937, ticket prices were modest compared to the 1951 scale.

Sands Tops Olson In Slow Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — Dave Sands, Australia's No. 1 contender for the world middleweight champion, whipped Hawaii's Carl (Bobo) Olson in the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night, but he added little to his luster as a flashy 180-pound fighter.

Sands, who weighed 164½ to 163½ for Olson, triumphed unanimously in a slow fight. But neither of the scrappers resembled the hard-punching middleweights who have been prominent since 1946.

It continued to appear doubtful whether halfback Bernie Bennett would be ready for the Boilermakers, but trainer Boyie Albus is hopeful that Bennett's sprained ankle will respond to treatments.

End Del Corbin and back Corky Reister showed improvement on their leg injuries but it is still not known whether they'll be available Saturday.

Tuesday will be the last practice before the team leaves by train Friday morning for Lafayette.

Denning Misses Drills For Second Day; Hawkeyes Scrimmage

Giants Win...

lyn was all ready to uncork the champagne for its own celebration after a thunderous three-run rally in the eighth inning against Sal Maglie. It was a wild pitch by the usually complacent Maglie which sent over what looked like the winning run at the time.

Pee Wee Reese had started the rally with a one-out single. Duke Snider—with Dodger partisans in the crowd pleading in unison "let's go Duke, let's go Duke"—responded with a single to right that sent Reese to third.

Reese Scores

With two on and the menacing Jackie Robinson at bat, Maglie worked carefully and pitched the first ball outside. The next one also was wide and into the dirt—and Reese streaked home on the wild pitch.

Maglie seemed then to lose his composure completely. After the pitcher walked Robinson, Andy Pafko scored Snider with a single that caromed off Thomson's glove at third. Here also, Thomson might have been fitted for horns, because the ball could have been fielded, perhaps to have started an inning-ending double play.

Flag Play-off Has Slight Effect on Averages

NEW YORK (AP) — The batting averages of members of the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers underwent slight changes during the three game playoff series between the two clubs for the National league pennant.

Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson owned a .335 record after Sunday's games and tacked on the points during the playoffs to wind up with a .338 figure.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals finished the regular season Sunday with the batting championship. Musial picked up his fifth crown with a .355 mark. Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia came in second with a .344 average.

Giant Dressing Room Scene of Wild Joy

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobby Thomson, Scottish-born resident of metropolitan New York, wrote a story book finish to the National league pennant race Wednesday and then pandemonium broke loose in the Polo Grounds.

Never in history has the home of the New York Giants reverberated with such sound as followers of the new National league champions cut loose.

They had been quiet most of the afternoon, especially after the Brooklyn Dodgers took a 4-1 lead in the eighth inning. With a mighty roar that continued long afterwards, they opened all their pent-up emotions as Thomson's 32nd and most important home run of the year settled in the lower left field stands with two mates aboard.

"It was a high fast one and a little inside," Thomson shouted above the din of the dressing room noise. "I saw Branca (Ralph) let loose with his fast pitch and I was all set."

Big Confusion

The Giants' dressing room was such confusion that hardly anyone could get in a word.

But out of the backslapping noise and general hullabaloo came: "Never saw a greater finish," declared Ford Frick, newly elected baseball commissioner. "And I have been watching games for more than 30 years."

"It'll be Dave Koslo tomorrow," shouted Leo Durocher as he tried to catch his breath.

There was only one note of sadness to the Giants' first pennant since 1937. Don Mueller, whose single to right field kept the New Yorkers' ninth inning rally going, will not be able to play the first and probably the second game of the World Series opening against the Yankees today.

Sprained Ankle

Into the jam-packed, hot dressing room came Warren Giles, new president of the National league; Manager Charley Dressen of the Dodgers, Jackie Robinson, the Dodgers' great second baseman, Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooks, and scores of other high in baseball to heap their words of praise on a team that was considered out of the race less than two months ago.

Somebody grabbed Durocher around the shoulder and yelled that he did a great job of masterminding in the ninth inning.

"I sure did," said Durocher jokingly. "It didn't take much masterminding to get those hits that set it up for Bobby."

Asked if he had said anything on the bench before the start of the Giants' ninth, Durocher replied:

"I told the boys we had three big outs left. You haven't given up all year so don't give up now. Let's get some runs. And the reply, almost in a chorus was, 'We'll get the Bums.'

"I knew I hit the ball hard but it started sinking very fast," said Thomson of his 32nd homer.

"But when I saw it go into the stands I don't think I touched the ground a single time the remainder of the way. I just floated around. It was that kind of a feeling."

Harriers Work for Purdue

Fifteen Iowa runners now are working for the cross country season under Coach Francis Cretzmeyer, looking ahead to four dual meets and the Big Ten championships.

The Hawkeyes meet Purdue Saturday at Lafayette.

Only two lettermen, Virgil Von Ahsen, Williamsburg, and John Collins, Chicago, Ill., are among the group which includes eight sophomores. Collins won a letter two seasons ago but his status is doubtful due to the draft. Von Ahsen was a letter winner last year.

Sophomores Bernard Lainson, Council Bluffs, and Arthur Fudge, New Sharon, and freshmen Herbert Moreh, Postville, and Galen Hassen, Council Bluffs, along with

'Wasn't Bad Pitch', Mourns Ralph Branca Of Home Run Ball

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Branca sat on the steps, eyes wet, his head buried in his arms. Manager Charley Dressen paced the floor like a nervous lion. Big Don Newcombe moved around, silently and aimlessly as if trying to figure out a reason for it all.

The others sat on the short, three-legged stools in their dressing room, eyes boring holes through the floor. None spoke. The room had a funeral quiet about it.

"It was a high fast one and a little inside," Thomson shouted above the din of the dressing room noise. "I saw Branca (Ralph) let loose with his fast pitch and I was all set."

Robby Explains

"We are three runs ahead going into the ninth inning," said Jackie Robinson, the Dodgers' brilliant second baseman. "We see ourselves in the World Series. And then—boom!—five minutes later we are sitting in the clubhouse."

Once before these Dodgers had started counting World Series money—amounting to $5,000, maybe $6,500. That was when they were 13½ games ahead on Aug. 11. Then the great Giants' surge collared them and they fought back twice from the brink of elimination to Wednesday's final game.

Then it was all wiped out with one tremendous blow in the ninth inning by New York's Bobby Thomson, giving the Giants an unbelievable 5-4 victory.

"It wasn't a bad pitch," said Branca in a low, smothered breath. "It was a high curve ball."

Got Both Losses

The big righthander was disconsolate because he was charged with both of the defeats in this best-of-three playoff for the National league pennant. He lost to the Giants, 3-1 Monday at Ebbets Field.

Branca relieved Newcombe, who had pitched magnificently for just a breath away from the eight innings to carry his mates championship.

The Brooklyn dressing room was closed to the press for about 15 minutes and, while the newsmen were still warming their heels in the corridor, Dressen was escorted across the hall to congratulate the Giants' Leo Durocher.

"I sure did," said Durocher jokingly. "It didn't take much masterminding to get those hits that set it up for Bobby."

Asked if he had said anything on the bench before the start of the Giants' ninth, Durocher replied:

"I told the boys we had three big outs left. You haven't given up all year so don't give up now. Let's get some runs. And the reply, almost in a chorus was, 'We'll get the Bums.'

"I knew I hit the ball hard but it started sinking very fast," said Thomson of his 32nd homer.

"But when I saw it go into the stands I don't think I touched the ground a single time the remainder of the way. I just floated around. It was that kind of a feeling."

SUI Receives Grant For Study of Stuttering

Often referred to as the "stuttering capitol of the world," the SUI speech clinic has received a grant of $58,400 to expand its stuttering research program.

The grant was made by the Louis W. and Maude Hill Family foundation, St. Paul, Minn.

First installment of $20,659 has been accepted by the finance committee of the state board of education, President Virgil M. Hancher said Wednesday.

The new investigations are expected to provide more effective education of parents for the prevention of stuttering in young children and better training for professional workers in speech pathology, physicians, child welfare workers, teachers and all others who affect the lives of stutterers in important ways.

The research program includes three projects, one of which will take three years. The program will be under the direction of Prof. Wendell Johnson, chairman of the council on speech pathology and audiology at SUI and will be conducted with the cooperation of the University of Minnesota.

One of the projects involves publication of a book of several stuttering studies already completed. It will be published by the University of Minnesota press.

The other two projects are concerned with a study of conditions associated with the onset and early development of stuttering, which will take three years, and determinations of speech fluency norms, which will take two years.

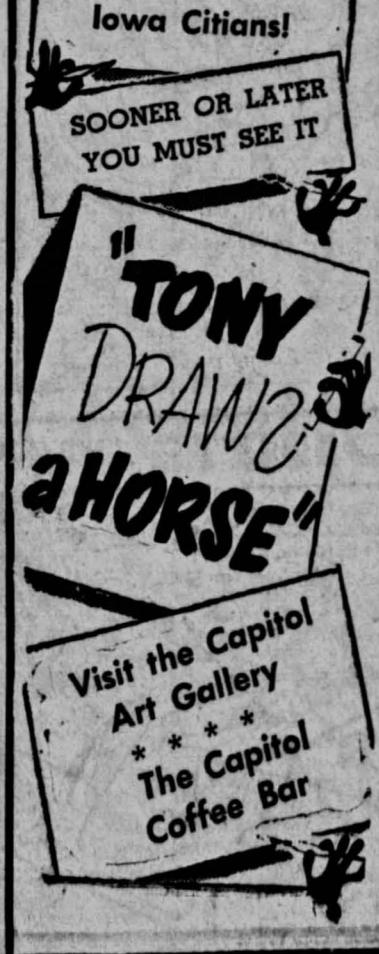

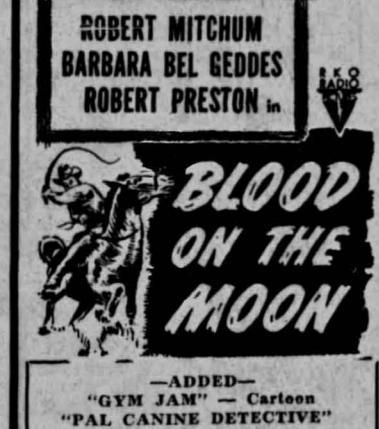

Methods to be used in the second new project were evolved from previous research conducted at SUI on conditions surrounding the start and development of stuttering.

These studies were directed by Johnson. One was a doctor of philosophy thesis in speech pathology by Frederic Darley of the university's speech pathology and audiology program.

First steps in the procedure are selection of valid stuttering cases in which the stuttering has started recently, and in which there is assurance of parental cooperation. Selection of a nonstuttering child for each stuttering child is also made, matching the two for sex age and socio-economic level of parents.

Next, each parent is carefully interviewed as to the onset of the child's problem, together with physical, mental and social development of the child, and the relation of parental attitudes, policies and practices to the start and development of stuttering.

The children are examined clinically and are given tests on personality adjustment and intelligence.

Local Man Faces Preliminary Hearing On Traffic Charge

Monte R. Grant, 318 E. Benson st., will face a preliminary hearing Friday at 5 p.m. in police court on charges of failure to have his car under control.

Grant was involved in a two-car crash at the intersection of Page and Dodge sts. Tuesday afternoon. The car he was driving on Page st. struck a car driven by Betty Fisher, R.R. 7, going north on Dodge st.

Mrs. Charles Mills, 904 S. Dodge st., and her granddaughter, Elizabeth Ann Silvers, 2, passengers in the Fisher car, suffered bruises and shock.

Police said Grant's car left skid marks for 27 feet before the impact and that the Fisher car showed no skid marks. Damage was estimated at $200 for the Fisher car and $75 for Grant's car.

SUI Marketing Group Elects Barron President

Roy Barron was elected president of the SUI Student Marketing club at the group's second meeting of the fall semester Wednesday.

Other officers chosen were Jim Schuetz, vice-president; Jack Wessberg, secretary-treasurer, and Roy Rae, corresponding secretary.

Prof. William Knoke, marketing department, was named faculty adviser.

Appointed co-chairmen of the group's professional development committee were Leo Erickson and Carlene Armstrong. Wessberg was also named publicity chairman.

Technical consultants for the program are SUI Profs. James F. Curtis, Frederic L. Darley and D. C. Sprenzelbach, and Profs. Bryng Bryngelson, Ernest H. Henrikson and Spencer F. Brown, University of Minnesota.

The six have worked together over a period of many years. All received their graduate training in speech pathology and their doctor of philosophy degrees in speech pathology at SUI.

Heiress Found Nude — Companions Wife Sues

Claims 'Frameup'

MILWAUKEE — Pretty blonde heiress Suzanne Froedert Poulos, who was found nude in a theater with the manager, was sued for $50,000 heart balm Wednesday by the manager's wife.

Suzanne, 21, who is trying to get a divorce from her show salesman husband, has claimed that the theater incident was a "frameup."

The heart balm suit was filed by Mrs. Elaine Kavalary, mother of four children, who charged that Mrs. Poulos stole the affection of her husband, James, 26.

Kavalary reported finding Kavalary naked Sept. 20 in the theater Kavalary manages.

Court appearances are scheduled for the two next Thursday on disorderly conduct charges.
