Sex Appeal

Is 'Boxoffice' Secret Of Male Athletes

By ALINE MOSBY
UP HOLLYWOOD CORRESPONDENT

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Esther Williams has figured out the "box-office" secret of male athletes in the world of sports—sex appeal. The world's most beautiful lady athlete says anybody who thinks women go to football and basketball games just to cheer at the players isn't up on his Freud. "It's not brains or brawn that draw women to games," she said. "It's handsome athletes. "I think the sports managers sell the woman customer short. Sure, it takes athletic ability to make a winning team. But how about keeping the boxoffice jumping? That takes good looks." The movie mermaid doesn't mean that big league baseball managers should hire a guy for his looks instead of his pitching arm. But, she points out, some of the most popular sports stars are "boxoffice hits" in their fields because they're handsome, too. And she took time out from playing a wave in "Skirts Ahoy" to name the "puriest" men athletes: Baseball, Gene Beardon; tennis, Budge Patty; track, Bob Mathias of Stanford; polo, Bob Skeen; golf, Frank Stranahan; boxing, Irish Bob Murphy; swimming, John Marshall; wrestling, Lou Thesz and football, Frank Gifford of USC. A special award, added Esther, should go to New York Yankees' catcher Yogi Berra. "Well, he's not exactly famous for his good looks," she admitted. "But I think his appearance is of the type that women wish that helpless feeling go for."

Air Force Orders Changeover of Base For Defense Setup

SIoux City (AP) — Mayor Dan Conley said Wednesday that army engineers at Omaha have received orders to begin work immediately on plans and specifications for the new air force fighter-interceptor base here. He said plans called for immediate use of the Sioux City Municipal airport by the fighter-interceptor unit of about 1,350 men, including 250 officers and 1,100 airmen. Conley said the base would be used in the midwest defense setup and would not be a training center. The mayor said the overall plans for the base called for preparations to house bomber groups, but that would depend on the development of the midwest defense setup and the war situation. Conley said the base, a World War II air force base, would still be used by 9Mid-Continent airlines, but that all other civilian and private flying would be banned. He said a survey showed the need for at least 500 additional housing units to take care of the air force personnel that will be stationed here and housing units would be needed to take care of the 200 persons that live at the base now.

Whose Representatives?

The SUI student council apparently has sneaked off into a solitary corner to think deep thoughts. In its latest two actions this body politic, supposedly representing the mass of students, has behaved rather strangely, it seems. First of all, the council flatly refused to take any action in the Johnny Bright case despite considerable student clamor for the council to send a protest letter to officials at Oklahoma A & M. The shameful incident in which Drake's all-America candidate was assaulted by an Aggie lineman was a sin against the moral foundation upon which intercollegiate athletics is based. Yet, the SUI council displayed no interest in the matter. Now the council has suddenly become excited over an issue which seems quite petty in comparison to the greater implications of the Bright case. The student representatives feel that the university's no-cut rule should be changed. Expressing no sound reasons for altering the rule, the council has offered three possible changes. Strangely enough, the council's suggestions, if enacted, would make the no-cut rule harsher than it now is. It is inconceivable that the masses of the students would willfully penalize themselves more, but the representatives of these same students apparently would. All of which leads one to wonder what is going on in the high echelons of student government. The council's actions last week were of a somewhat dubious nature and undoubtedly led to some bewilderment on the part of good many SUI students. Whose representatives are the council members?

Crowds Visit Goose Refuge -- But So Does Tax Collector

FEEDING HIS WILD GESE, Gaddy is probably mulling his tax problems.

By HENRY C. NICHOLAS
Central Press Correspondent

ANSONVILLE, N.C. — Lockhart Gaddy knows how it feels to have a bull by the tail. You can't hold on and you can't let go. That lasted a week. By then the wild geese had learned they had a friend, and they spent the rest of the winter at the pond. The next year 35 geese came to stay; the year after 115 spent the winter there and lived on Gaddy's larder. Soon the Canada geese began dropping out of the southern migration flight in great numbers. In 1950 Thanksgiving day more than 4,000 geese had taken up residence at the pond. By early January, after the gunning season was over, the number had largely increased. Gaddy expects he will be feeding at least 7,000 hungry geese in January, 1952. The strain on Gaddy's pocketbook was so serious, with geese, requiring from 25 to 40 bushels of corn a day at the peak, that some years ago he began charging visitors 25 cents, except for groups of school children brought in by teachers. The pond has been enlarged to 3 1/2 acres and is easy to reach, only 1 1/2 miles off U.S. highway 52. Between October and April thousands of visitors came from all over the United States and from foreign countries. Every cent received from admission fees, Gaddy says, went for food for the geese, and while the receipts did not cover all expenses it did make it possible to keep the refuge going. Things began looking up, but not for long. One of the visitors on vacation proved to be an internal revenue representative and Gaddy found himself in dutch with the tax collector. The fee he was charging, he learned, was subject to the federal amusement tax — and Uncle Sam wanted his cut. The government wanted it not only for one year, but for all the preceding years in which a charge was made.

Letters to the Editor

To the Point

TO THE EDITOR:
It was indeed difficult to read to the end the letter of the president of the student council on the "Bright Incident." It was as pseudo-intellectual as an amateur lawyer's case brief; it was that cold, aloof, and impersonal. Much more to the point was the letter of John Seesser which appeared in the editorial page two days later, Oct. 26. Here, you felt, was being expressed what undoubtedly a majority of the students unconsciously, if not consciously, feel: that what happened to Johnny Bright in some way happened to each and every one of us.

Needs 'Idea' Men

TO THE EDITOR:
One of the things students on our campus do most consistently is to make unconstructive criticisms without taking constructive action to remedy the situation. This is true of the current criticism, and that during the past year, of Frollo. If Frollo is below standard as a humor magazine, it is because we have failed ourselves as a contributing force. Putting the magazine back on its feet isn't a job for just a few members of the staff; they need help not only from writers and artists, but also from "idea men." Frollo is becoming an outstanding college magazine. Those who read the last issue from cover to cover found it a magazine no longer dependent entirely on smutty jokes and off-color stories for reader appeal. Frollo can and will succeed when the entire campus realizes it's their own magazine and will contribute to it and back it. Margaret M. Anderson, A4

VETERANS WHO SERVED IN THE ARMED FORCES SINCE THE KOREAN CAMPAIGN STARTED ARE ENTITLED TO VA HOSPITALIZATION ON THE SAME BASIS AS WORLD WAR II VETERANS

Such a philosophy, as Seesser points out, if widely held, would seriously undermine our democratic framework and render it that much more susceptible to the forces of totalitarianism in the world. Consequently, what is needed in the Bright incident, as in any other instance involving an abridgement of our democratic and religious beliefs, is a widespread and general identification of oneself with the victim; and a similar expression of our indignation over the act of injustice. For such a demonstration of emotion and conviction is further

The winner will be chosen by a committee of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary leadership fraternity.

Researchers Find Relationship Between Size, Occupation

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (AP) — If you're a skinny young fellow and a bit on the unmuscular side, don't be surprised if you wind up as government official or a clergyman.

These conclusions were reached by two Harvard anthropologists who said that there is a definite relationship between the American male's physique and his occupation.

Researcher Frederick Stagg and Prof. Earnest A. Hooton, author of "Men, Apes and Morons," came up with some rather disquieting conclusions after two years of digging into the subject. For instance: Scientists tend to be moderately thin with a better than average supply of muscles.

Artists are generally a little heavy and not very muscular.

Lawyers are mostly portly men with flabby biceps.

Teachers and social service workers are included to be scrawny.

However, Stagg and Hooton also concluded that there apparently is something more about a soldier than just his uniform. Professional military men, they claimed, are often perfect physical specimens.

The anthropologists based their report on studies made of two separate groups of men. Data on the first group, 2,631 men who graduated from Harvard between 1876 and 1912, was acquired from detailed records kept by the late Dr. Dudley A. Sargent, one-time physical director at Harvard.

The study of the second group, some 45,000 World War II GI's, was based on body-measurement photographs supplied by the army. Stagg and Hooton have not yet completed this phase of their study, but the army hired them to do the job in the hope it will aid in making more efficient use of manpower.

Analysis of the medical histories of the Harvard graduates who have died showed that men with certain physiques seemed to be more susceptible to particular ailments.

Many stocky men in the group died of coronary thrombosis or cancer while tuberculosis claimed many tall, thin muscular men.

From the data on the Harvard men, Stagg said a distinctive "American type" male body has emerged. Men in this category are tall, not too thin and muscular, he said.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 25
THE SEA HORSE

This little gee-gee was all at sea. It was enough to upset his equine-imity. He'd been reading about those rush-rush cigarette tests — the quick sniff, the fast puff. "Hardly the scientific approach," he said in his confusion. But then he realized that one test is an equine of a different pigmentation—a thorough, conclusive test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Fesler Can Still Smile--He Has Giel

MINNESOTA COACH WES FESLER (right) doesn't have nearly the material he possessed last year at Ohio State, but in Paul Giel (left) Fesler has come up with one of the top new faces in the conference. Giel, a sophomore halfback, is Minnesota's chief threat to Iowa this Saturday. Giel runs, passes and punts well. Against Michigan last week he hit on 12 of 25 passes, gained 104 yards rushing, and averaged 40.5 yards on his kicks.

C. Junction Bows, 32-0, To U-High

By JORDAN MATULEF
University high used a well-balanced attack of rushing and passing to overpower Columbus Junction, 32-0, Wednesday afternoon on the Iowa junior varsity practice field.

The victory put the Bluehawks in a position to at least share second place in the Eastern Iowa conference regardless of the outcome of Friday night's game involving first place West Liberty and second place Wapello.

U-high drew first blood midway in the first period by traveling 83 yards in 4 plays for its first touchdown. A 55-yard pass from Gardner Van Dyke to Mell Ritterger placed the ball deep in Columbus Junction's territory and two plays later Van Dyke skirted right end from 10 yards out to score.

A sustained drive of 80 yards gave the Bluehawks their second tally in the second quarter. Van Dyke set up the marker by racing 53 yards to the visitors' 27 yard line. Sophomore John Price scored from 1 yard out on a quarterback sneak. Ritterger converted to let U-high lead, 13-0, at the half.

In the third period Price's passes featured a 58-yard drive to pay dirt. Tom Kent plunged over from the 2 to score the Bluehawks' third touchdown.

The Bluehawks scored two more times in the final period, one of which was a 97-yard run by Kenneth Stock after he had intercepted an enemy pass. Stock also scored the other tally during the quarter.

Van Dyke and Stock led the U-high offensive game while guards Maynard Hebl and Ed Bowers stood out on defense. The passing of Price was also outstanding.

Failure of the visitors to score marked the third shutout this season for the Bluehawks. U-high has allowed its opponents only 5 touchdowns so far in 7 contests.

Roy Campanella Named Most Valuable in NL

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella, quick and durable Negro catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was named the National league's most valuable player for 1951 Wednesday in one of the most wide-open votes in the 27-year-old history of the award.

Campanella became the first first catcher to win the N. L. award — the official annual Kenesaw M. Landis plaque — since 1938 and the second player of his race to achieve the honor by polling 243 votes from the committee of 24 writers. He received 11 first place votes and was named on every ballot except one.

Campanella's closest pursuer was the great Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals who finished with 191 points. Outfielder Monte Irvin of the New York Giants finished third with 166 points; teammate Sal Maglie was fourth with 163 and pitcher Preacher Roe of the Dodgers was fifth with 138.

Point Procedure
Fourteen points are awarded for a first place vote, nine for a second place vote, eight for third and so on down to one point for a 10th place vote.

Seven other players — Musial, Irvin, Maglie, Roe, Jackie Robinson, of Brooklyn, Bobby Thomson of New York and Murry Dickson of Pittsburgh received first place votes but Musial was the only player whose name appeared on every ballot.

Campanella, who joined the Dodgers in 1948, caught in 143 games and batted .325 — fourth best in the league. He made 164

Texas Star Beat-Up By Five Teen-Agers

AUSTIN, TEX. (AP)—Star University of Texas halfback Gib Dawson took a beating from five teen-agers Tuesday night but was not hurt seriously enough to keep him out of football practice Wednesday.

Scoring ace of the Southwest conference, Dawson said he hoped the four stitches required to close a split lip would not keep him out of action against SMU in Dallas Saturday.

Dawson told police he pumped a hotrod car Tuesday night at one of its five riders tossed orange against his windshield.

Raff Drills New Punt Receivers

Seeks More Speed On Kick Runbacks

Some new men may be used on punt returns this weekend against Minnesota. Coach Leonard Raffensperger indicated in Wednesday's practice session.

Until now defensive halfbacks Duane Brandt and Joe Bristol have been used most as punt returners, but several new faces received the major attention in the three quarters of an hour kicking drill Wednesday.

Obviously trying to get more speed at this position, Raffensperger had Dusty Rice, Loranzie Williams Bob Phillips, and freshman and is considered unlikely to see service against the Gophers.

But Jim Sangster, his replacement, worked for the first time this week and showed improvement in his neck injury.

The Hawks also practiced several new offensive plays which might be sprung this week.

Iowans continued to have a good representation in national and Big Ten statistics, latest releases showed.

The Hawks rank fourth in the nation in punting and fifth in rushing defense.

41.2 Average for Denning
Chuck Denning who has booted all 32 times for Iowa, has a 41.2 average, while the Hawkeye defensive platoon has held opponents to 90.6 yards rushing per game.

In the Big Ten, Bill Reichardt is second in rushing with 310 yards and a 5.2 average; Fred Ruck is second in pass receiving with 11; Britzmann is fifth in passing, and Chuck Denning is second in punting with 42.6 yard average.

With less than 2,000 tickets remaining for the Dad's day clash with the Gophers, Business Manager Frank Havlicek anticipates a crowd of more than 50,000.

Minnesota ...

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—As the Iowa game draws closer, Coach Wes Fesler's Minnesota football team gets stronger, at least in manpower.

Left halfback George Hudak rejoined the Gopher squad Wednesday after being dropped from the team two weeks ago for cutting classes.

Hudak became the third player to rejoin the team this week.

He follows halfbacks John Baumgartner and Chuck Swanum who slipped on uniforms after recovering from early-season injuries.

Coatta, Ameche Lead Conference In Passing, Rushing

CHICAGO—Despite his surge to the front on the basis of a new Big Ten one-game record for total offense, Tony Curcillo of Ohio State still must concede top individual honors in conference play to Wisconsin's great pass and run combination, quarterback John Coatta and freshman fullback Alan Ameche.

Official statistics for conference play, released Wednesday, show that Ameche has retained his rushing leadership over fullback Bill Reichardt of Iowa while Coatta's brilliant passing record not only has placed him at the top in aerial offense but has retained his lead in total yardage gained.

Leads by 81 Yards
Ameche has run up 391 yards on 76 rushes for an average of 5.1 yards to stay abreast of Reichardt who has a total of 310 yards and a 5.2 average. Both have had their average gain topped, however by Michigan's Wes Bradford with an 8.4 average on 24 attempts. Karras last week set a modern era record in conference play with an 88-yard run from scrimmage against Indiana.

Coatta shows a net loss of 57 yards in rushing, but his 679 yards by passing, made in one more game than the other leaders, still leaves him a comfortable margin over Curcillo in total offense. Curcillo's record of 308 yards against Iowa sent his three-game total to 469 yards.

Jerry Witt, another Badger who graduated from the junior varsity squad this fall, holds the conference scoring lead at 36 points, a touchdown more than Karras, who has played one less game. Don Oldham of Michigan and Al Brosky of Illinois share top honors in pass interceptions with three each.

Janowicz Leads Kickers
Ohio's Vic Janowicz, hobbled by injuries last week, kept his leadership in punting with an average of 43 yards although Chuck Denning of Iowa crept up on him by boosting his average to 42.6 yards.

Lowell Perry of Michigan, a favorite target for Bill Putich, who has the best pass completions average of .625, leads conference pass receivers with 12 catches for 324 yards. Perry also moved to second place in punt returns, although his average return was still topped by the 21.2 yard average return of Purdue's Phil Mateja.

Hawkeye Harriers Ready for Gophers

The Iowa cross country team will be host to Minnesota this Saturday. The race will start at 10:30 a.m. and will be held on the track east of the stadium.

Minnesota and Iowa have both run against Marquette's this fall. The Hawks defeated the Hilltoppers, 23-36, while the Gophers won 27-30. However, Marquette's number one man, Bob Allen, did not run against the Hawkeyes, but did race against Minnesota.

Twelve men have been working out this fall under the direction of Cretzmeier and his assistant Med Rosen. Rich Ferguson, Neil Wheeler, Virgil Von Ahsen, Ted Gruver, Art Fudge, Galen Hasson, LeRoy Ebert, Herb Morch, Bernie Lainson, Norm Bernstein, Bruce Nolf, and Bob Gerleman are included on the squad.

Eight of these men will be chosen to participate in the meet Saturday.

Ted Wheeler, ranked as number two man at the present and Galen Hasson, number four, have been hampered with injuries during the week. Both are expected to be able to run Saturday, but probably not up to par.

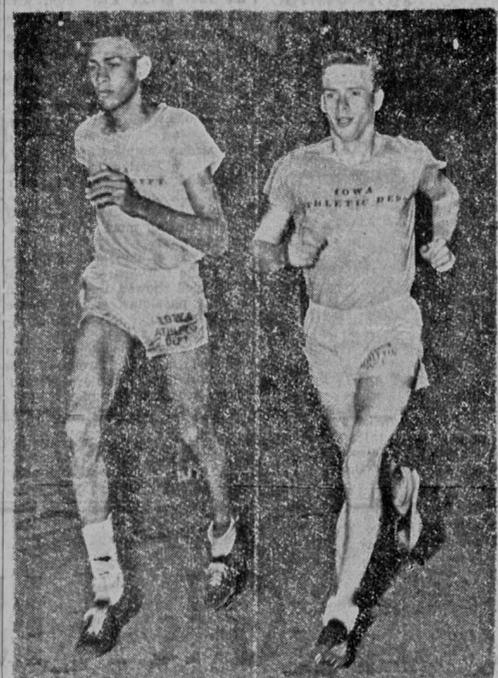

If Wheeler's leg responds to treatment a three way race is expected to shape up for first place honors. Main contenders for this position will probably be Rich Ferguson, Hawkeye freshman from Canada, Wheeler, and a Minnesota sophomore, Dennis Hanson.

Two Fresh Linemen Advance at Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP)—Merle Reed and Kent Landefeld, a pair of hefty freshman linemen, moved up to the Indiana varsity Wednesday as the Hoosiers went through a lengthy scrimmage to prepare for Saturday's Big Ten football clash with Wisconsin.

Head Coach Clyde Smith said the two newcomers may make the trip to Madison after today's drills. Smith said Bill Daugherty may get the nod to start at left halfback in place of Bill Holzback.

Holzappel in DM

Iowa Gymnastic Coach Dick Holzappel will direct a demonstration of tumbling and trampoline tonight in Des Moines.

The demonstration will be part of the annual Iowa teachers convention in Des Moines this weekend.

Holzappel is currently working with the varsity gymnastic team in preparation for the coming Big Ten season.

Fred Ruck, who hasn't been injured in five games thus far this season, sat out Wednesday's practice with a bruised toe.

Ruck suffered the injury when 6-6, 235-pound tackle Hubert Johnston stepped on the toe while the pair were "horsing around" prior to Tuesday's practice.

The mishap is not serious, though, and Ruck will be in uniform today.

Bobby Stearnes handle most of the kicks in the drill.

Bernie Bennett, who has seen some action as punt returner, also worked there Wednesday.

Brandt and Bristol have been sure fielders on punts but neither has been effective on the runbacks.

In addition to the lengthy work on punts, the squad moved indoors later in the afternoon where it continued to scrimmage against Minnesota plays.

'Bear with Me,' Louis Requests Public

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis Wednesday asked the public and various athletic commissions to "bear with me while I think out my future plans."

Louis issued a statement from his Theresa hotel headquarters through the International Boxing club. Obviously it was promoted by Tuesday's statement from the Illinois Athletic commission that the commission would bar Louis if he decides to continue fighting.

The 37-year-old former champion, stopped by Rocky Marciano Friday night, said Monday he would defer any announcement until his return from an exhibition tour of Japan. He will leave for Seattle, Nov. 10, enroute to Japan.

In his statement Louis said he was grateful for past kindness and had always conducted himself so his friends never would have to apologize for any of his actions.

"Now we have come to a turn in the road," he said. "And many people undoubtedly kindly disposed and in all good will, have had varied opinions on my future."

Farm Tenant Kills Self After Shooting Landlord

HANSELL, IA. (P) — A farm tenant was killed and his landlord critically wounded Wednesday in a shooting in connection with the leasing of the tenant's farm to a new operator.

Dead was William Moehle, 49, tenant on a farm near here, who shot himself, Sheriff Lee Lemke of Hanpton, said as officers closed in on him in a manhunt following the shooting of farm manager Donald S. Etnier, 32, of Sheffield.

Critical Condition

Etnier was reported in critical condition in a Hampton hospital with a shotgun wound in his back.

The shooting occurred Wednesday morning on the farm which Moehle has been operating as a tenant for five years. The farm house was set fire during efforts of officers to apprehend Moehle after the wounded Etnier was found lying in the barnyard.

Searching officers found the body of Moehle a short time later lying in a cornfield, a shotgun beside him.

A tenancy suit was recently filed in district court at Hampton against Moehle by Etnier. Wednesday morning Etnier and Duane Bobst, who recently made arrangements to lease the place, came to the farm.

Flees For Help

Etnier was shot as he got out of the car and stopped to close a barnyard gate after he and Bobst had inspected some of the fields. Bobst attempted to get the car out, backed into a fence, and abandoned it, fleeing to a neighbor for help.

Authorities immediately started a search for Moehle. They fired tear gas into the house, which the

Off-Duty Officer Prevents Break-in

DAVENPORT — An attempted burglary at a camera shop in the downtown area was foiled Tuesday night by an off-duty policeman who was riding home in a city bus.

Police Officer Larry Ceurovost saw one youth attempting to crawl through the transom of the front door and another youth posted as a "lookout."

Ceurovost jumped from the bus and arrested James Warren, 17, at gunpoint. The youth's companion and "lookout," Richard Baker, 19, was arrested several hours later as he telephoned police from a hotel booth.

family had left, when it was believed he might be hiding there. Sheriff Lemke said this may have set the house on fire.

Six Children

The Moehles have six children, ranging in age from 2 to 16. One of them, Douglas, 3, was returned just last Saturday from University hospitals at Iowa City and is recovering from polio. The older children were in school at the time of the shooting.

Eugene Sukup, 22, a neighbor, described Moehle as a "hard-working, good neighbor." He said Moehle had been unsuccessful in his efforts to find a new farm.

The farm, which is located 5 miles north and 1/2 mile east of Hansell in Franklin county, is owned by Donald Etnier's father, also of Sheffield.

Wildlife Agents Attempt to Free 2 Fighting Moose

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (P) — Two huge bull moose locked in mortal combat before an audience of hungry wolves were the object of an intensive air-rescue operation by agents of the U.S. fish and wildlife service Wednesday.

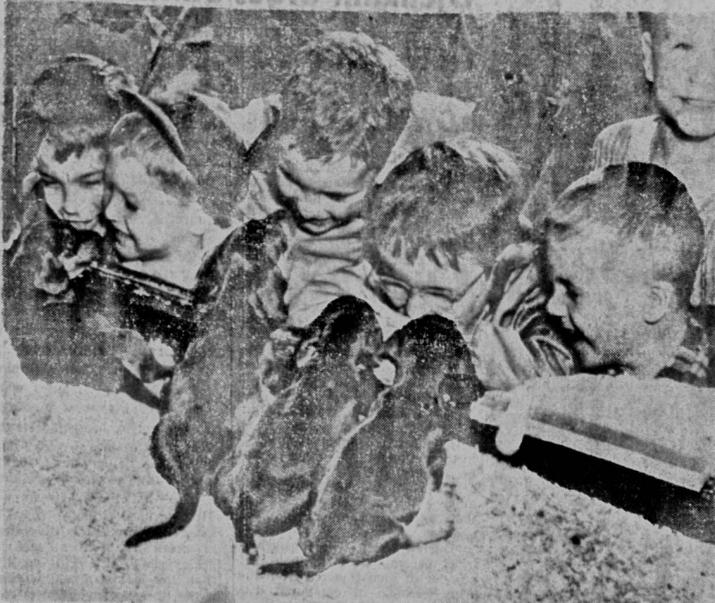

The two bull moose were locked horn-to-horn in a remote area near the banks of the Tanana river 20 miles south of here. Agents said the animals apparently engaged in a battle for supremacy over a herd of cows, their horns locked and they were unable to pull free.

Wildlife Agent Charles Gray discovered the animals Monday while flying game patrol.

He swooped low in his plane and found the moose trapped head-to-head. One was lying on the ground and appeared to be either seriously injured or dead. The other was standing and making desperate efforts to pull free. Gray said a wolf was lurking in the brush nearby and the area around the two animals was covered with wolf tracks.

Ray Woolford, chief fish and wildlife agent here, flew over the animals in a light observation plane Tuesday. One moose was still struggling to get free. The fish and wildlife agents, determined to save both moose if possible, loaded a cross-cut saw in the plane and were to attempt a landing near the animals. They planned to saw off the horns of one of the moose if possible.

Professor Wyckoff Dies at Grinnell

GRINNELL (P) — Garrett P. Wyckoff, 80, professor emeritus of sociology at Grinnell college and internationally known Red Cross worker, died at a hospital here Wednesday.

Prof. Wyckoff organized and served as a director of the League of Red Cross societies in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1919 and 1920. In 1920 he organized the Czechoslovakian Red Cross at Prague.

A native of Fairview, Ill., Prof. Wyckoff was graduated from Grinnell in 1894, and served on the Grinnell faculty from then until 1921.

He was professor of sociology at Tulane university in New Orleans from 1921 to 1937, and in 1927 founded the Tulane school of social work. He was chairman of the Louisiana state library commission at one time and in 1928 organized the first New Orleans Community Chest.

Halloween Pranksters Dream Up New Tricks

Halloween pranksters were up to their old tricks Wednesday, but with a few new twists.

At Holland, Mich., 19 Campfire girls went out for "trick or treat" but instead of asking for goodies they passed them out.

At Lincoln, Ill., 10 students were suspended from Lincoln college for putting a dead skunk in the bed of a fellow student.

"For Sale" signs appeared on the high school grounds at Pierre, S. D., and at Crown Point, Ind., 85 chilled pupils were sent home because of 62 broken school windows.

As usual, police and civic groups strove to cut down waves of window-soaping, overturned garbage cans and other vandalism.

Milwaukee garbage cans offered ripe targets. The garbage collectors there have been on strike for six days.

At Ashland, O., and Rochester, N. Y., police came up with identifical solutions to the problem of discouraging pranksters. Squad cars were stocked with pretzels and officers had orders to hand out free bags to the kids. Rochester police stocked up with 75,000 pretzels.

At Ashland, the Optimist club compiled a master list of homes with children in a "stay at home" contest. Club members were prepared to hand $2.50 checks to any child found at home. But for those who wouldn't stay, there was a costume contest downtown.

For night-riders there was bad news—the price of brooms is going up. The National Association of Broom Manufacturers said that night witches but a shortage of broom corn is driving the price higher.

Merchants at Riverside, Calif., thought they licked the soapy window problem with a water color contest, but the whole thing backfired with damages of $500 to seven large store windows.

Contestants were invited to decorate the windows with water colors and they piled their brushes with a will. But when the sun went down dark patches of painted glass retained the sun's heat while lighter portions cooled rapidly, resulting in uneven contraction.

"Next year give us soap," the Riverside merchants agreed.

'Skippy' Walks Home 1,800 Miles

MORRIS, MINN. — The owners of a weary bulldog told Wednesday how their pet, although he had never been in Minnesota and didn't know where they lived, followed them here from Seattle, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Fossen gave their dog, Skippy, to a friend in Seattle more than eight months ago when they left for Minnesota.

Late yesterday the 2-year-old dog turned up at their house here, footsore, weary and bedraggled. Mr. Fossen said the dog must have walked "thousands of miles." His paws were cut and bleeding when they examined him this morning. It is approximately 1,800 miles from here to Seattle.

Mrs. Fossen said Skippy had never been in Morris before and had never seen their home.

"I can't imagine how he found his way here," she said. "He didn't know where we lived—that I'm sure."

Skippy is assured of a lifetime home now.

Three Infants' Diets Are Subject of SUI Tests

By ARLENE KING

There may be good news soon for tomorrow's youngsters who take those hard-to-get-down doses of cod liver oil.

The pediatric laboratories at SUI are now working on new ways to put vitamin D into a child's diet in water solutions in place of those feedings of fish oil.

The pediatric laboratories conduct many such experiments during the year as part of the research to determine what a growing child should have in his diet.

Dr. Genevieve Stearns, associate head of pediatrics, explained that even now experiments are still being conducted to find out if babies can use vegetable substances, such as carotin, to supply them with vitamin A.

Three healthy babies, two boys named Jimmy and Mike, and a dark haired baby girl, affectionately called "Madame Pompadour" by laboratory personnel, actually live at the laboratories and are daily fed prescribed foods. Their growth and progress is noted carefully.

"Records of first teeth, when the baby first sits up, are kept more carefully than a mother would do it," Dr. Stearns said.

Most mothers, Dr. Stearns stressed, feed the baby too many vitamins.

"Most mothers feel that more vitamins are better than a moderate dose, but really too many vitamins will make him unhealthy," she said.

The laboratories, under the direction of Dr. P. C. Jeans, are sponsored solely by grants from private corporations. Most of the contributors are manufacturers whose products are used in infant feeding.

The last large grant was a gift of $4,000 from the Meade Johnson

'Mary Stuart' Tickets Go on Sale Today In Schaeffer Hall

Ticket sales for "Mary Stuart," the University theater's second play of the year, will begin today. Any SUI student may obtain a ticket by presenting his identification card at the box office in Schaeffer hall.

The play, a historical drama by Friederich von Schiller, will be presented Nov. 9-17. The setting of the play is England during the 16th century.

The various scenes of the play take place in a common apartment in the castle of Fotheringay, the throne room in Westminster hall, a park at the castle of Fotheringay, an antechamber to Queen Elizabeth's apartment in Westminster, and the apartment of Queen Elizabeth.

The production staff is under the direction of Harold Crain, with settings designed by Prof. Arnold Gillette. He is assisted by Harold Shiffler and Stephen Joseph, graduate assistants. Lighting is by Walter S. Dewey, and costuming by Prof. Margaret Hall.

It costs approximately $30,000 a year to run the laboratories, which are staffed by 15 dieticians and biochemists.

National Departments Express Approval of SUI Foreign Studies

U.S. state and defense departments have notified SUI of their approval of the university's program of foreign studies.

Prof. Erich Funke, coordinator of the program, has been informed of the state department's need for cultural study center workers in foreign countries.

The armed forces security agency of the defense department has expressed decided interest in successful candidates of the program.

The foreign studies program was established in the fall of 1950 to train students for work in foreign areas.

Areas studied are Russia, France, Spain, and Latin America, Germany and China.

The training includes language spoken in the area, familiarization of students with cultural and political traditions of the people and, to some extent the geography and economy of the country.

Students receive basic training for work with armed forces, (intelligence and liaison officers, interpreters, interrogators, area advisors, nurses) and as teachers, missionaries, and business representatives.

SUI departments participating are economics, geography, history, foreign languages, oriental studies, political science, and journalism.

Upon completion of the program, students will receive foreign area certificates which shows they are prepared for work in foreign country.

Plant Heads Hear Effective Results Of Quality Control

Quality control puts more money in the employe's pocket, and hence more into the employe's pocket, members of the ninth SUI course in quality control by statistical methods were told Wednesday.

This view was presented by Kurt K. Pfabe, assistant factory superintendent of the Carter Carburator corporation, St. Louis, Mo. He delivered the principal lecture of the afternoon to a record-breaking enrollment of 96 engineers and industrial managers representing plants from Maine to California and from Michigan to Texas.

Pfabe said his plant, which supplies 70 per cent of the world's carburators—some 85 million parts per month—started quality control eight years ago and in nearly all instances it has eliminated trouble spots and increased production.

Following the end of the course Friday, a special follow-up program of at least a pair of two-day clinics will be presented. Industrial representatives attending the course can meet with a representative of the university during these sessions to discuss the application of quality control to specific manufacturing problems in the industrialist's own plant.

IC Woman Sues City for Injuries

Mrs. Sophia Amrine filed suit in district court Wednesday asking judgement of $5,825.79 for injuries suffered in a fall on an Iowa City sidewalk.

The defendant in the action is the city of Iowa City. The plaintiff charges that on Jan. 17, 1951, she fell while walking on the sidewalk near the intersection of Van Buren and E. Burlington st.

She claims the sidewalk was rough and broken at the point where she fell and that the city was negligent in allowing the sidewalk to fall into disrepair.

Mrs. Amrine claims that she suffered a fractured arm, a dislocated shoulder and severe cuts and bruises.

Local Boy Swallows Pencil

(Daily Iowan Photo)

JUST BECAUSE Francis Suetpell Jr., 13, has a 2-inch pencil lodged in his stomach, that doesn't mean he can't go about his business as usual. He swallowed the pencil in class Tuesday at St. Mary's high school when he laughed too hard at a classmate's joke. His father said that doctors are withholding an operation in hopes that "nature will take its course." The boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Suetpell, 223 N. Dodge st., holds a pencil here similar to one he swallowed.

Hidden Soloists — First Concert Is 'Nice'

— Satisfy 600 Persons —
By MAURIE ROSEN

Mild enthusiasm greeted the university mixed chorus in its opening concert of the season Wednesday night in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Nearly 600 persons filled the Union's main lounge for the concert. The program was varied, ranging from a difficult contrapuntal selection by Johannes Brahms to a nonsensical piece about some goldfinch's matrimonial experiences.

Performances of six soloists could be likened to "voices from nowhere," for almost without exception, the solo performers were hidden away in the rear of the chorus.

Some of the more pleasant notes originated from the right side of about the fifth row, where contralto Corrine Hamilton, G. Greene, soloed in "He's Goin' Away," by Gail Kubik.

Miss Hamilton, according to the ballad, is unable to woo baritone Wayne Jipson, A3. Elkader, away from his family. Kathryn Kelly, A4, Iowa City, sang a soprano part in the selection.

A rousing spiritual, "Ain't That Good News," drew continued rounds of applause, and Conductor Herald Stark replied with an encore of the same number.

Helen Toedt, A2, Newton, sang a well-received soprano part in "So Soberly and Softly," by F. Melius Christiansen.

The chorus effectively hummed the difficult countermeasures in Brahms' "The Song of Fate."

Soloists as the chorus sang a Kentucky mountain song, "One Morning in May," were soprano Mary Mullenberg, G. Alton, and tenor Stephen Hobson, G. Cedar Rapids.

Next concert to be presented by the SUI music department will feature the university symphony orchestra Nov. 14.

Ojemann Urges New Attitude Toward Child

A change in child-parent and child-teacher relationships is needed if children are to grow up with a favorable mental attitude, Prof. Ralph H. Ojemann of the Iowa child welfare research station told the SUI engineering faculty luncheon club Wednesday.

He said that emphasis at present is placed on the "surface approach," or what the child did, instead of the "causal approach," or why the child did what he did in these relationships.

"Children are told what they did but are not told why it is wrong," Ojemann explained. "This is not a situation where the individual can grow normally."

If children would learn early in their schooling something about personality differences, a better relationship between them and other children, their parents and their teachers would develop, he asserted.

"During World War II psychiatrists became worried about the number of men rejected from the army because of emotional disturbances," he said. "Many times this could have been prevented, if somewhere in the child's development the causal approach had been used instead of the surface approach."

Ojemann said that text books in social studies are being rewritten with the causal in addition to the surface approach. This is necessary if the child is to get a better understanding.

SUI Journalists Offer Open House

The offices of The Daily Iowan will be opened to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. Friday and from 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday, for a Dad's day open house sponsored by the school of journalism.

Cartoons by Frank Interlandi, A2, Elmhurst, Ill. and a picture series showing Norma Sexton, women's editor, getting a story for the Iowan will be posted on the Iowan's bulletin board.

James Morrison, head of the newspaper production laboratory, said that the lab will be kept open so visitors may see its equipment in operation.

A display of Iowan photographs will be prepared by Prof. Edward F. Mason, head of pictorial journalism courses.

Radio station WSUI will be open to visitors during the same hours.

Unitarian Installation Monday

The Rev. Frederick May Elliot, president of the American Unitarian association, will speak at the installation services for Rev. Alfred J. N. Hendricksen at the Unitarian church here at 8:30 p.m. Monday.

Participants in the service include the Rev. Randall S. Hilton, secretary, Western Unitarian conference; Dean Allen W. Dakin, president of the board of trustees; the Rev. Waldemar Argow, minister of the People's church in Cedar Rapids, and Philip Bezanson, organist.

The Rev. Mr. Elliot graduated from Harvard Divinity school in 1915. In 1911 he studied administration of European cities while abroad. After his return, he taught municipal government at Harvard. He was the minister of Unity church, St. Paul, Minn., for 20 years before becoming president of the Unitarian association.

He is chairman of the board of trustees of Mount Holyoke college and president of the board of Lackey school in Tarrytown, N.Y. The Rev. Mr. Elliot has honorary degrees of doctor of divinity from Carleton college and Meadville Theological school. He also has honorary degrees of doctor of laws

Bad Check Artist Is Armless Midget

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Orville Rambo, an armless midget, can write with a pencil held between his chin and shoulder. Wednesday the 4-footer was sentenced to San Quentin prison for a term of one to 14 years for writing a worthless check.

The little man, who is crippled as well as armless, had pleaded guilty to three counts of issuing worthless checks. Superior Judge Clement Nye, in explaining the sentence, said Rambo had a 18-year police record which included bunco and false pretense charges.
