Dean Stuit Offers Possible Suspension Of No-Cut Rule

Abolition Depends On Student Reaction

By RUSS WILEY

A strong possibility loomed Friday that SUI's controversial no-cut rule may be suspended.

But it's up to the students. The rule, which requires class attendance 24 hours before and after regularly scheduled holidays, has popped up in student council, faculty meetings and throughout the campus in general for many years.

Penalty for failure to comply with the rule is the addition of one hour per cut to the student's graduation requirements.

During this semester the rule seems to have gained added attention by students and faculty. At least the results seem the most optimistic of any previously attained.

The highest note of optimism was reached Friday when Liberal Arts Dean Dewey B. Stuit announced that suspension of the no-cut rule for Thanksgiving and Christmas vacation trials may be possible through certain action. That certain action is this:

Next week members of the student council will solicit opinions from students about their feelings concerning the rule. A council spokesman said Friday that students will be asked, principally, if they believe suspension of the rule would result in heavy class cutting before and after vacation. Results of the solicitation will be discussed at next Thursday's council meeting, the spokesman said.

If both the council's solicitation and the discussion show an approval of suspension, which appears likely, then the council will refer the matter to the deans of the four schools which have no-cut rule.

Stuit said that final decision—whether the rule gets thumbs up or down—lies with those four deans.

In addition to Stuit, the deans are Sidney G. Winter, commerce; Francis M. Dawson, engineering; and Myrtle E. Kitchell, nursing. Those schools represent approximately two-thirds of the student body.

Dean Stuit wished to make it clear that "suspension" and "abolition" of the no-cut rule would be two different things.

He said that although the school deans have the authority to "suspend" the rule for a certain length of time, the matter of "abolishing" it altogether would require additional faculty attention.

"Our present concern," he emphasized, "is over the question of possibly 'suspending' the rule for a trial period. If this is adopted, students must not assume that the no-cut rule will no longer exist."

Following is a partial text of a statement by Stuit submitted to The Daily Iowan:

"Last winter at the time of Christmas vacation various questions were raised in the student council regarding the no-cut rule which is in effect in the colleges of engineering, commerce, nursing and liberal arts. . . .

Dean Stuit Hints Rule May Go

"Despite the fact that this rule has been in effect for some time there is no feeling on the part of the faculties of these undergraduate colleges that the rule represents the perfect solution to the problem which the rule is designed to solve. Very briefly the problem is:

"How does one make sure that class attendance will not decline almost to the vanishing point during the week before a vacation and that students will return promptly following a vacation?"

"The faculty is interested in doing everything possible to encourage students to assume responsibility for their own education. This is one of the distinguishing features of a university environment.

"The faculty believes that the number of rules and regulations should be kept to a minimum on the assumption that students should develop a mature point of view regarding their education.

"Attendance at classes just before and following vacations without having an attendance rule, in effect, would represent further concrete evidence that students can be given responsibility for their education.

"If students will demonstrate through their governing bodies such as student council that they are capable of imposing discipline upon themselves, the faculty would be only too happy to revise rules and regulations which appear to interfere with the freedom of students.

"As a result of conversations between Deans Dawson, Kitchell, Winter and myself it has been agreed that we would be glad to have the student council study the problem of class attendance just before and after vacations. If, following such a study, the council would like to make a recommendation as to how this problem could be handled better, we would be glad to (take) appropriate action."

In a personal interview Friday Dean Stuit expressed his observation even further.

"What I think is needed to discourage students from cutting classes around vacations is to establish a sort of 'esprit de corps' within the student body," he said.

"It should become a 'mores' of SUI student life that cutting classes around vacations 'is just not the thing to do.'"

Stuit said he hopes that student housing units will instill into their members the responsibility of attending class during the days in question.

He said that to meet this problem successfully it would be necessary for a certain "social pressure" to induce students to go to class.

Council President John Bunce, after learning of Stuit's stand on the question, issued this statement to the Iowan:

"Here is an opportunity for us students to demonstrate to the faculty and administration that we can undertake responsibility and show mature decisions and actions WITHOUT rules and regulations.

"The decision is up to us." That, at least, is the first step.

Ships' Officers Continue Talks; No New Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Ships' officers erased a midnight strike deadline Friday, sparing the snarled east coast a grave new ship tieup.

Union President Charles F. May said negotiations will continue until strike-bound east coast ports return to normal.

The ports of New York and Boston already are tied up by a record 19-day, billion dollar wildcat strike of AFL longshoremen. A vital defense cargo of nickel was turned away at New York during the day. A government plea to unload it came too late.

A walkout of the 12,000 east and gulf coast AFL ships' officers might have frozen American-flag vessels in ports from Maine to Texas. Thus far, the ships are free to come and go even in New York, although most of them can't unload anything but passengers.

The issue between the ships' officers and some 40 shipping firms centered around union pension demands.

In the dock tieup, more than 20,000 of the east coast's 65,000 stevedores—members of the AFL International Longshoremen's association—are in revolt against a new contract.

The contract, initiated by ILA President Joseph P. Ryan, raised wages a dime to $2.10 an hour. The rebel dockers want 25 cents an hour more and other improvements.

Modern German Art Exhibit Opens Sunday

Fifty-seven paintings by contemporary German artists will go on exhibit Sunday in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Formal ceremonies opening the exhibit will take place between 3 and 5 p.m. Sunday, and a background of modern German music has been arranged for the opening. The paintings will be displayed until Nov. 25.

The exhibit, termed a "sleeper" by a national news magazine after it had escaped the attention of several big museums, has attracted nationwide attention.

Representing the post-war work of 24 German artists, it was compiled by Charlotte Weidner of the Carnegie institute, who says, "It contains top-flight examples of three main trends in modern art: expressionism, surrealism and abstractionism."

Iowa City is the only place in the midwest where the collection will be exhibited during its 40 showings in the United States, according to Union officials.

Accused Knifer Report Due Soon

Physicians at University hospitals will report next week on their examination of John A. Masterson, accused of the stabbing of his ex-girl friend in a Des Moines cathedral, authorities indicated Friday.

Masterson, 24, Des Moines, was brought here two weeks ago for psychiatric examination. Entry of a plea to charges of assault with intent to commit murder has been delayed, pending report on the tests.

Masterson was charged with the stabbing of Theresa O'Connor, 23, Sept. 11 as she approached the altar rail during mass.

Warmer Today — But You'd Better Bundle Up

It may be a bit warmer in Iowa City today, but you still better bundle up well if you plan to attend the Iowa-Minnesota football game.

The weatherman predicted the thermometer would get as high as 33 today, but then would dip to 12 tonight.

The coldest reading for a Nov. 2 here—9 above—was felt Friday night.

1951 Selections for Dad, Student Dad

Buffer Zone Talks Narrowed to Debate On Status of Kaesong

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — Buffer zone talks in the Korean armistice negotiations narrowed down Friday to one main issue—the status of Communist-held Kaesong, just south of parallel 38.

Except for minor adjustments, the Allies and Reds appeared generally agreed on the remainder of a cease-fire line stretching in a lazy S-shape northeastward across Korea.

The Reds insist on keeping Kaesong, which straddles the historic invasion route toward Seoul—the rubbled Korean capital 34 miles to the southeast.

An Allied spokesman said the United Nations' demand that the Communists withdraw from Kaesong was firm but not final.

The Communists have agreed tentatively to accept an Allied proposal for a 2 1/2-mile-wide buffer zone generally following the present battlefield in central and eastern Korea. That plan provides for Allied withdrawal from about 200 square miles of territory—to positions south of Kumsong in central Korea and south of Kongsong on the east coast. The Allies would hold the "Heartbreak Ridge" area, the hard-won string of peaks in east-central Korea.

The Reds were still refusing Friday to withdraw from an equal amount of territory in western Korea—the area of rolling hills dominated by the Kaesong road hub.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, UN command spokesman, described the Communist stand as "one that takes everything and offers nothing."

Even so, the Allies for a long time have offered to make a further concession—relinquish control of all the coastal islands off North Korea, including strategic spotting positions inside Wonsan harbor.

1st Mental Health Lab Opens Monday

A five-day workshop to train community leaders in mental health—the first of its type in Iowa—will open at SUI Monday with an expected enrollment of about 30 Iowans.

The workshop is intended to fulfill the need in Iowa for more people who are equipped to promote the cause of mental health in their communities.

The entire program is designed to help each participant select and develop a specific project which will be applicable to his own community.

Sponsors of the meeting are the Iowa society for mental health and the Iowa mental health authority. Members of the SUI faculty and leaders in mental health movement in Iowa will serve as advisors.

Pep Rally Fizzles Out; Ellwanger Student Dad

What was supposed to be a rousing pep rally opening the Dad's day celebration at SUI fizzled to nothing Friday night, as only a handful of Hawkeye supporters gathered at the south bandshell of the Iowa Memorial Union.

It was probably one of the worst displays of enthusiasm in SUI history.

At 7 p.m. the SUI band, a half dozen fans were present. At 7:15 p.m. when the rally was scheduled to begin with there was none.

The pep rally was then called off. The thermometer had dropped to 9 degrees—a record low in Iowa City for Nov. 2—but the chilling temperatures did not in the least match the cold reception shown the football team before their game with Minnesota this afternoon.

One bright note in the limp opening of the Dad's day weekend was the naming of Cyril A. "Mike" Ellwanger, L4, Clinton, as student dad and George C. Murray, Sheldon attorney, alumni dad.

They were scheduled to be introduced at the pep rally Friday night. They will be honored at halftime ceremonies today together with a number of fathers of members of the football team.

Ellwanger has two children, Michael, 16 months, and Stephanie, 2 months. He and his wife, Alice, live with their two children at 203 Hawkeye Village.

State Defense Boss To Aid SUI Course

Rodney Q. Selby, state civil defense director, will participate Monday in the first day's activities of the civil defense training course at SUI, which extends to next Friday.

Eight off-campus experts and 16 university authorities will conduct the lectures and demonstrations of the five-day school, designed to prepare local civil defense leaders to establish civil defense programs in their own areas.

The course is conducted by the university in cooperation with the state civil defense administration. Effects of conventional bombing, atomic bombing, biological and chemical warfare will be covered in the sessions, in addition to civil defense operation during natural disasters such as fire, flood and storm.

Highlight of the course will be a field demonstration Friday in which course participants will restore vital services to an area under conditions simulating the results of an atomic bombing.

This is the fourth course in civil defense training conducted by SUI. More than 40 persons attended the last course Aug. 20-24.

Eisenhower Called Home by Truman For Military Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was flying home from Europe Friday night for a quick round of Washington talks which he said would be "strictly military."

The supreme commander of the Allied powers in Europe told reporters before taking off from Paris that, as far as he is concerned, politics is out for this trip.

Nevertheless, politicians hoped for some clue to just what Eisenhower will do about the 1952 presidential campaign.

He was asked specifically if any political subjects would be discussed with President Truman and he replied "not from my point, it won't."

Most of Eisenhower's two days in Washington next Monday and Tuesday are expected to be devoted to plans for whipping together a closeknit fighting force in Europe, and ways of ending a reported clash between Washington civilian government leaders and the Pentagon over the organization and speed of military production.

Mr. Truman summoned the general from Paris to Washington with the announced plan of conferring on matters affecting the supreme Allied command and the North Atlantic defense setup.

Dawson Receives Honorary Certificate

Dean Francis M. Dawson of the college of engineering has been presented an honorary certificate for his work in engineering education and plumbing codes.

The presentation was made last week at the 33rd annual convention in New York. The national association integrates a number of associations dealing with standards.

Three other awards were made, one of them to former President Herbert Hoover for his work in standardization while he was secretary of commerce.

Dawson's certificate was presented in recognition of "his inspiring leadership in engineering education, his continued emphasis on research in hydraulics as the basis for protection of the public through plumbing codes, and his understanding guidance and active participation in committees engaged in the development of national plumbing codes."

Dawson has worked for several years to develop a national plumbing code, for which he has been recognized widely by governmental agencies. He is chairman of a coordinating committee which incorporated a number of past plumbing codes into a national code.

Hancher to Talk At Business Clinic

President Virgil M. Hancher and six SUI faculty members will speak before the fourth Iowa small business clinic at Waterloo Sunday.

President Hancher will give the luncheon address at the meeting sponsored by the Iowa Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Faculty members participating will be Prof. Wendell R. Smith, head of the marketing department; Prof. W. A. Knoke, J. T. Purnoy, James Moyer, all of the marketing department, and Prof. Ellis Newsome and J. Richard Stevens, of the marketing department and the school of journalism.

Owner Seeks Return Of Lost Purse, $180

Eljean Larson, 1019 E. Washington st., reported to The Daily Iowan Friday night the loss of a black purse containing $180. She said she lost the purse between 5 and 5:30 p.m. Friday on E. Washington st. Finder of the purse is asked to contact Miss Larson at city phone 7158. A substantial reward is offered.

Hawks Seek 1st Victory In Big Ten

By JACK SQUIRE Daily Iowan Sports Editor

A battle of shakey defenses will be waged today as Iowa concludes its home season against Minnesota before a Dad's day crowd of about 50,000.

The game is generally considered as the Hawkeyes' best opportunity to pick up a conference victory this year as powerful Illinois and Wisconsin wait ahead.

Thus far the Hawks have dropped all three of their Big Ten starts while winning from Kansas State and Pittsburgh in non-league games.

Defensive troubles, specifically a constantly leaky pass defense, has been Iowa's chief nemesis in its losses to Purdue, Michigan, and Ohio State.

Have 1-4 Record Minnesota, likewise, has seen defensive mistakes converted into touchdowns by its opponents as it won't.

Probable Lineups

Table with columns for Iowa and Minnesota players and positions (QB, RB, FB, etc.).

the young Gophers have yielded an average of 35 points per game in compiling a 1-4 record.

Minnesota's lapses are readily understandable, though, since Wes Fesler, in his first year at Minneapolis, has been working with a predominantly freshmen and sophomore squad.

No fewer than 16 frosh and seven sophomores are listed on the three deep Gopher roster, by far the youngest club in the Big Ten.

It would appear, then, that the team committing the least defensive errors will win the battle to stay out of the Big Ten cellar, for both clubs have demonstrated ability to move and score on offense.

Rice, Ruck Drill Coach Leonard Raffensperger, in an effort to install more speed and maneuverability in his defensive backfield, has had two of the top offensive hands working there all week in practice.

They are Dusty Rice, number one halfback, and Fred Ruck, the team's leading pass receiver. Freshmen backs Binkey Broeder and Bobby Stearnes and end Don Bjork have also drilled on pass defense in anticipation of a busy afternoon on the part of Minnesota's fine young sophomore passer, Paul Giel.

There's no worry about the Hawks' rugged defensive line, though, which has given up a mere 90 yards rushing per game to rank fifth in the nation.

Bratzmann Injured The Hawks may be handicapped somewhat today by the poor physical condition of quarterback Burt Bratzmann who will see limited service at best due to a twisted knee suffered against Ohio State last week.

But Iowa City's Jim Sangster is considered an adequate replacement.

Otherwise the Hawkeyes are ready physically. The Minnesota team on exhibition today will be a radically different one from the traditional Gopher eleven.

Gone are the huge linemen and backs who featured the old single wing teams of Bernie Bierman, and in their place is a faster, more versatile group who put the punch in Fesler's intricate patterns.

Emphasize Deception The Gophers work primarily from the single wing with the emphasis on deception rather than power. Their attack is similar to the one Michigan showed here two weeks ago which showed reverses, spinners, and buck laterals.

Plays are also run from the T, the double wing, short punt, and

Interpreting the News —

Former British Ambassador Suggests U.S.-British Merger

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst

Lord Halifax has come pretty close to proposing a merger of the United States and Britain. The former British ambassador to Washington didn't spell it out, but suggested "something more than a partnership — something which cannot be dissolved."

Most Americans do not consider American-British ties dissolvable anyway. The facts of life in the modern world all point the other way. But the idea of reunion for the English-speaking peoples is not a new one among the international philosophers. Some of them have considered it almost inevitable.

To oversimplify, the idea on this side of the ocean is that Britain's position is essential to American defense, and that if Britain is not going to be able to maintain it alone, the U.S. must do so. If Britain and America were federated, then no period of sleepiness or isolationism would threaten American awareness of this prime necessity.

Today Britain is weak, materially if not spiritually. It seems inevitable, as the rest of the world overtakes the head start she got in the industrial revolution, that her economy and influence shall come more and more insular. Common citizenship with the United States might then become of extreme value to her.

But as of now she doesn't want it. Her ancient spirit still burns, and she still resents such dependency upon the United States as is already essential. It is all right for Halifax to take a broad view from the standpoint of his own international philosophies. But not yet for Britannia.

The picture of a merger, with its implications of American leadership of the entire British commonwealth, is one on which some Americans might dwell with pleasure. But the historical American attitude as a whole is to live in peaceful intercourse with good neighbors, rather than to assume the responsibilities which would accompany such an arrangement.

Tavern Operators Combine to Defeat 2 Council Candidates

DES MOINES (AP)—A group of tavern operators has formed an association here with the announced purpose of defeating Good Government association candidates in next Tuesday's city election.

About 100 tavern operators met here Thursday night and elected Frank Duffy, operator of Duffy's Tavern on the east side, as chairman.

One tavern operator said "all of us kicked in $10" each to support the campaign. Other tavern operators in the city will be asked to contribute the same, he said.

There are approximately 200 licensed taverns in Des Moines. The Good Government association is a group of private citizens who organized originally to promote the change from the commission form to present city manager form of government.

It has endorsed Ruby Holtin, incumbent, and Joseph J. Van Dereser, an east side coal dealer, as its candidates for the two city council seats. The other candidates are Byron Edgett, a south side weekly newspaper publisher-editor, and Keith Kernahan, Polish manufacturer's representative.

The association has been opposed by some labor groups which fought the switch to the city manager form of government.

New Oil Field Found

— Richest Oil Field

By ANDREW R. BOONE Central Press Correspondent

EDMONTON, Canada — The western world may not need Iran's oil, since the richest oil field yet mapped on the North American continent has gone to work supplying fuel and lubricants for American machines. It is a vast underground sea formed of tropical coral.

The flat, sedimentary basin of Alberta's plains now being explored could take in all of California, Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, with room to spare. Already several rich strikes have been reported.

Promising even greater strikes in the future, the ancient sea extends from the North Pole to the Gulf of Mexico.

The California Standard company, Canadian subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of California, discovered the clue to Canada's first production in the deep Devonian limestone at the Princess field seven years ago. Since then other discoveries have come in the Calgary-Edmonton area.

Today, exploration looks to the north along the plains that lead to the Arctic ocean. Finding oil in Canada's wilderness involves constant warfare against nature.

Some of the vast area is only sketchily indicated on maps. All is wild and forbidding. It is North America's coldest area, beset by Arctic gales and temperatures as low as 72 degrees below zero. Lake flows into lake in endless chains over thousands of square miles. Muskog, a peat-like moss, becomes a quivering bog in summer, ready to swallow man and machine.

Only in winter can the oil exploration crews work. Through frozen earth they carefully place their drills at measured intervals along bulldozed trails.

Cold is so intense water for drilling shot-holes must be carried in a boiler, its fire fed by logs, to keep it from freezing. When the thermometer drops to 30 below, lubricants solidify in a running motor, steel buckles like plywood, batteries freeze and rubber crumbles.

Despite the Arctic cold, the prize sought by these explorers is formed of tropical sea. Coral reefs in long barriers rise above layers of sedimentary rocks.

Oil has seeped upward, to be trapped in the crowns of these reefs, and in porous layers above. To find and map these reefs accurately is the exacting job of the seismograph crews.

TECHNICIANS LOAD snothole drilled through frozen roadway nearby. Cold is so intense water for drilling must be carried in a boiler to keep it from freezing.

Court Injunction Prevents Gable's Nevada Divorce

SANTA MONICA, CALIF. (AP) — A court injunction was issued Thursday to bar Clark Gable from divorcing the former Lady Sylvia Ashley in Nevada.

Mrs. Gable has filed for divorce in California. The actor answered her suit and recently filed a separate action in Las Vegas, on the ground that he is now a Nevada resident. Both charge cruelty.

If Gable should disregard the ruling and obtain a Nevada decree, he would be liable for contempt of court charges here.

His estranged wife has until Monday to appear in Nevada courts and contest his action there. However, one of her attorneys said she will not do so.

Originally the injunction was sought under a new untested California law forbidding "quickie" divorces in other states of residents of California.

Gable's attorney countered this with claims that his client, negotiating to buy a Nevada cattle ranch, has Nevada license plates on his car and is even paying that state's poll tax.

CAMPUS POLL

Question: Do you think the prices of university dances are too high?

Mary Daine, A3, Ames: "I haven't been to any of the dances yet, but I believe there would be a bigger turnout if the prices were cheaper."

Alan Rowe, A2, Fairfield: "At a small university like this, you should expect to pay the present prices for good entertainment."

Niles Wallgren, C1, Keokuk: "Everything else has been added to tuition, so why not dances? Yes, the price is too high for individuals."

Beverly Bauer, A1, Eldora: "With everything else so high, students can hardly afford to pay the high prices on dances so far."

Kay Freyder, A3, Iowa City: "I don't think the prices are too high, if they have good bands."

Bob Blosser, A3, Ottumwa: "I haven't been to many dances here, but the prices seemed cheaper at Iowa State college."

For the past two weeks folks have been exaggerating a few lapses of etiquette on the football field into flagrant violations of sportsmanship and the Ten Commandments. Only disgruntled spoilsports who can't get 50-yard line seats would think of casting reflections of this type on the cleanest and purest of American big businesses.

Why, football has never been in court on a monopoly or stock watering charge. Sports fans are like that though. The next thing you know, they will be going into bars and protesting about keye-eyed players who slap pin-ball machines in sudden fits of Mother's day enthusiasm.

PEOPLE SHOULD BE MORE careful about slandering the noble game of File-On-Go-Crunch. There have even been wild rumors that these sweet boys from Oklahoma A&M have not acted like the gentlemen and true scholars they really are. This is not likely to raise Oklahoma's admiration for sports fans, and also makes for low ticket sales.

We realize there is a high ideal at stake. There is a mighty big difference between being deliberately tapped on the jaw when you are standing alone and having your face casually hamburgered in a crowded line. The latter is not half so unsportsmanlike as it cannot be photographed.

There is nothing wrong with another team's football that a few brass knuckles would not cure. As we are just out of brass knuckles, we herewith pass out a few rules of etiquette for football in case some of the boys have forgotten their manners. In two weeks, football will be all pure again.

WHEN TWO OPPOSING teams meet it is proper for the host team to greet its guests and welcome them at the train with corsages of forget-me-nots. "So nice that you could come," is the usual greeting though it sounds rather stuffy and formal. Perhaps a friendly pat on the back with a baseball bat would give a more striking first impression.

The host coach at this point might smile his greeting and admonish gently that "Boys will be boys, won't they?" This will cause everybody to laugh and the tension will be relieved. First meetings are always so awkward anyway.

We must not forget our guests. At this time they should express their genuine pleasure to be there as they may not have a chance to do so later on. One does not sound too convincing in tone if one waits to express his pleasure as one is being carried formally off the field in a stretcher.

IT IS NOT DE RIGUEUR TO show off one's brass knuckles at this early point in an acquaintance. Such forward demonstrations are usually reserved for only VERY close friends no more than 12 feet apart. The second half is quite time enough for intimacies of this nature.

Sometimes one may encounter an old fuddy-duddy referee who insists on having football played by rules his mother learned. This contingency is not likely to happen, but if it does it is best in that case to be a good sport about it and hand over your brass knuckles and billies with a good grace and take it in a humorous light as part of the game and the disappointments of life in general. This will still leave you with your elbows and cleats to defend yourself.

THE PROPER DISPOSAL OF the elbows and feet cannot be stressed too much. No one likes to look awkward in the presence of company. If you commit a faux pas and carelessly let your elbow fall across your host's neck instead of his nose, it is proper etiquette to request pardon immediately.

"Oh, do pardon me!" is quite acceptable and with just the right emphasis on "do" any host will realize it was all quite accidental. One need not wait for a verbal response from the host as one should not hold up the game over 15 minutes. Friends will see that he is helped off the field with finesse and given all the rites due a real gentleman.

AFTER THE GAME FELICITATIONS are in order. Sometimes such a good time will be had by all that the coaches and water-boys may express farewells for both groups. This saves running back and forth between hospitals.

There are a lot of little things which will come up in the course of a game for which there is no rule of etiquette. Just let your good sense of what constitutes the social graces see you through and you will make few noticeable mistakes. Etiquette is really easy. All anybody needs is a little practice to become perfect.

Narcotic-Like Cactus Product Called Scourge of Navajos

By HOWARD DE WALD Central Press Correspondent

PHOENIX, ARIZ. — Peyote is dooming hundreds of lives on the vast Navajo Indian reservation of northern Arizona and New Mexico, declares Dr. Clarence G. Salsbury, who lived among the Navajo 23 years as the famed "sagebrush surgeon" at Ganado, Ariz.

Dr. Salsbury, now Arizona commissioner of public health, welfare and correction, is fighting a running battle with the United States bureau of Indian affairs to have peyote labeled a narcotic and outlawed on the reservation.

Peyote (Pay-o-tee) is the dried button of the mesal cactus which grows in the Rio Grande valley and Mexico. The plant is also grown commercially for miniature cactus gardens.

It is chewed or made into a tea by the Indians. A combination of the effects of whisky, cocaine and marijuana results, says the doctor. There are hallucinations and stimulation as from marijuana, the habit-forming and moral degeneration as from cocaine, and the excitement and craving as from whisky.

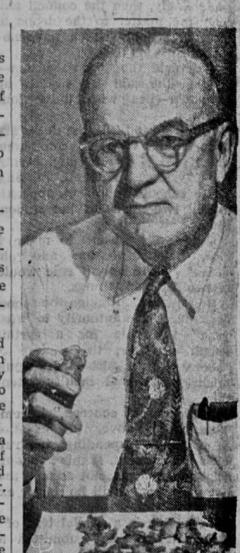

The Indians have visions of grandeur, often followed by seeing monsters, grotesque faces and gruesome shapes, Dr. Salsbury says. Continued use of peyote can bring insanity, native police say.

The dried button is also a sexual stimulant and is believed responsible for some of the most violent orgies that have occurred on the reservation, Dr. Salsbury claims.

The long range effect is similar to opium smoking in China, Dr. Salsbury declares, who years ago was a Presbyterian missionary on the Asiatic island of Hainan.

Under continual prodding from Dr. Salsbury and others interested in the Indians, the bureau of Indian affairs is conducting surveys to determine if the drug is as dangerous as asserted.

The bureau has believed for years that because peyote is used in the Indian church as a ritual and sacrament it should not attempt to control the button.

DR. CLARENCE SALSUBURY examines some peyote mesal buttons.

For proof of peyote's destructiveness the bureau needs only to write the 100 Indian traders on the Navajo reservation, the 100 missionaries, or the 100 Navajo tribal councilmen and alternates, he says.

The Navajo tribal council has outlawed the drug, but the ruling is ineffective unless backed by the federal government. Arizona has labeled its possession as a misdemeanor, but the state has no jurisdiction on the reservation.

Salsbury has also received complaints from the United States army Navajo ordnance depot near Flagstaff, Ariz., where there are reports that Indian workers are giving peyote to their children. Depot officials also cite a loss of efficiency from workers known to use peyote.

Use of peyote spread from Oklahoma Indians to the Navajo and Dr. Salsbury has a recent report from the superintendent of the Cheyenne Indian reservation in Montana that its use there has been detected.

Coeds Entertain Dads For Weekend

WAITING IN LINE FOR THE BATH (left to right) Heller, Martin and Ewers may have been a little impatient. By tonight they will be even more so, because there will be at least 20 fathers staying in the sorority house.

Twenty fathers have moved into their daughters' rooms for the weekend at the Pi Beta Phi sorority house, 815 E. Washington st. It's the third year that the custom has taken place and the girls say that it will soon be a tradition.

Most of the fathers arrived Friday evening or early this morning. Plans include taking them to the game, to the house for a coffee hour following and out on a date tonight.

After hours they will be entertained with a serenade, skits and group singing.

Sunday they will join their daughters at church and return to the house for dinner, which ends the weekend activities.

Most of the fathers seem to enjoy the weekend very much. Roy Ewers of Iowa City whose daughter, Jean, A1, is a Pi Phi pledge said he was sorry that his daughter didn't live in the house so he could spend the night there, too.

Harold Martin, father of Marge Martin, C3, Hamburg, entered his daughter's room, bounced on the bed, and proceeded to become "right at home." His daughter agreed to take good care of him and tucked him in bed Friday night.

Harold Heller, Appleton, Wis. and his daughter, Carla, A3, ate dinner together at the house Friday night and planned to spend a quiet evening in preparation for the full day of activities today.

SUI Newcomers Club Will Meet Monday

The November meeting of the SUI Newcomers' club will be Monday at 2 p.m. in the University clubrooms of the Iowa Union.

The speaker will be Mrs. George Glockler on the topic "Craft Ideas for the Holidays." Mrs. Glockler was instrumental in organizing the Iowa City craft club 10 years ago. It has grown from 12 to 124 members at present.

Tea chairman is Mrs. Hugh A. Keasing and the hostess is Mrs. Harvey Davis.

113 Dental Alumni Return for Meeting

One hundred thirteen graduates of the SUI college of dentistry attended the first session of the 34th meeting of the college's alumni association here Friday.

They were welcomed to the campus by Loren Hickerson, director of the university alumni service, who explained the service's expanding program of information for SUI graduates.

In the afternoon the dentists witnessed a demonstration of the potentialities and limitations of hypnosis in dentistry by Dr. William T. Heron, professor of psychology at the University of Minnesota.

Today's program will include discussions and presentation of papers on problems encountered in dental practice. The meeting will adjourn in time for alumni to attend the Iowa-Minnesota football game.

Hawklets Down Roosevelt, 19-7

Get Fourth Place In League Standings

Hawklet Runs into Trouble

CITY HIGH'S JOHN WHITE ran into trouble Friday night after picking up 5 yards on an end run in the third quarter of the Hawklets game with Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids. White's advance was stopped as five Roughriders closed in for the tackle. But City won, 19-7, to get fourth place in the Mississippi Valley conference.

By LEE CANNING

City high's Hawklets gained fourth place in the final Mississippi Valley conference standings here Friday night by dumping Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, 19-7, in the last league encounter for both teams.

The Little Hawks overcame a 7-6 halftime deficit with touchdowns by Jim Freeman and John White in the second half. It was City's third victory against two losses and a tie in conference play.

Roosevelt finished loop competition with four losses and two ties.

40-yard Drive

City started the scoring midway through the first quarter with a 40-yard drive. A 15-yard pass from White to end Don Brennan moved Coach Frank Bates' team to Roosevelt's 15 after the Hawklets had gained a first down on the 30.

Freeman lost a yard on the next play but halfback Bob Frantz wheeled around the Roughriders' right end for 16 yards and a touchdown. Freeman's attempt for the extra point was wide.

Roosevelt replied with less than three minutes left in the half. Co-captain Wayne Selzer returned a Freeman punt 20 yards to City's 18 and in four plays halfbacks Russ Blood and Gary Droz moved for a first down on City's 6-yard line.

Visitors Lead at Half

Two plays later Kas Kullander got Roosevelt a touchdown from the 2-yard line and Dave Mitchell converted to give the visitors a halftime lead.

A poor Roosevelt kick, right after the second half opened, gave the Hawklets their second scoring opportunity, from Roosevelt's 20.

White and Frantz lost 6 yards in two tries and a third down pass fell incomplete. Freeman faked a fourth down punt and went to the Riders' 6 before being piled up. He was held for no gain on his first run from the 6 but banged across on try number two. His second attempt also was wide.

White Tallies

With little more than seven minutes left in the fourth quarter, White put City in position for its last touchdown with a dazzling 34-yard punt return to Roosevelt's 2-yard line. He struggled over on the next play.

Freeman's third attempt for the point after was good.

City's rugged defensive line gave the Little Hawks a wide edge in rushing by holding Roosevelt to only 5 yards on the ground. The winners gained 99 rushing yards.

U.S. Golf Pros Take 3-1 Lead In Ryder Cup

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — The United States Ryder cup forces wove a pattern of birdies in the blustery winds and chilling rains that were supposed to favor the British Friday and stepped off to a 3-1 lead in the international battle of golf professionals.

The sharp-shooting Americans now only need to win four of Sunday's eight singles assignments to keep the coveted gold trophy they have won six times out of eight since 1927. They are overwhelmingly favored to do better than that.

Only the keen putting blade of Charles Ward, a 134-pound mite from Birmingham, Eng., and fine iron play of Arthur Lees, 43-year-old Yorkshire pro, kept the British from suffering a complete rout this miserable day over Pinehurst's No. 2 course.

Oliver, Ransom Lose Ward and Lees, one of the invaders' lightly regarded players, turned back Ed (Porky) Oliver of Seattle and Henry Ransom, of St. Andrews, Ill., 2 and 1.

But in the other three opening foursome matches, in which players hit the ball alternately, the gentlemen from golf's native land couldn't match the strokes of the tourney-toughened campaigners of the new world.

While it was a team proposition Friday, it wasn't difficult to pick out individual stars and these honors definitely went to curly-haired Jackie Burke of Houston, 28-year-old baby of the U.S. squad, and Sam Snead, the PGA champion from West Virginia who heads Uncle Sam's forces.

British Best Bow

Burke teamed with Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N.C., to beat Max Faulkner, the British open champion, and Dai Rees, rated Britain's greatest match performer, 5 and 3.

Snead, his irons whistling the ball dead to the flag throughout the day, paired with Lloyd Mangrum, the cool veteran from Niles, Ill., to down the highly-rated Scottish twosome of Jimmy Adams and John Panton, 5 and 4. The Scotch pair didn't win a hole until the 25th and won only two in the 32 holes played.

Iowa Harriers Oppose Minnesota Here Today

By CHUCK BOYLAN

The Iowa cross country team will meet Minnesota this morning at 10:30. The race will cover 4 miles and will be run over Finkbine golf course. It will be started and finished on the track east of the stadium.

All indications point to a close race with fourth, fifth, and sixth placers deciding the final outcome. Iowa's Rich Ferguson and Ted Wheeler and Minnesota's Dennis Hanson are expected to battle it out for first place honors.

Coach Francis Cretzmeier has named Virgil Von Ahnen captain of this meet. Von Ahnen is the only letterman on the team and is also the only Iowa runner with any cross country experience. Le Roy Ebert, Art Fudge, Galen Hasson, Bernie Lainson, and Herb Morch are the other members of the team participating in today's meet.

Fudge is recovering from the flu but is expected to be in near top shape. Wheeler's leg has responded to treatment and he should be ready to go.

Lainson looked better in trials Wednesday than he has all fall. It is Cretzmeier's hope that he will come up to pre-season expectations today.

Minnesota has beaten St. Thomas and Marquette and has lost to Wisconsin this fall. However, Minnesota's ace, Dennis Hanson, is still undefeated. The Hawkeyes have won their two previous starts against Purdue and Marquette.

Cage Official Charged with Fix

Professional Referee Rigged NBA Scores

NEW YORK (AP) — Referee Sol Levy was charged Friday with taking a bribe to fix a professional basketball game last November and held under $15,000 bail for a Nov. 13 hearing. Police said six National Basketball association games were involved, and that in three the referee failed in fix attempts.

An assistant district attorney said the baldish 41-year-old referee from Brooklyn helped involve college players in the mushrooming national scandal by withholding vital information from the police.

Vincent A. G. O'Connor, assistant district attorney, said Levy had information in the spring of 1950 that could have prevented the bribing of many college players. The prosecutor said the referee helped bring about the "tragedy" that came to the families of many of the youths involved by not divulging information to the police.

Linked to Sollazzo

Linked by police to gambler-fixer Salvatore Sollazzo, who is accused of paying off Levy, the referee insisted he had done no wrong and taken no money.

It was the first time the professional game had been drawn into the scandal in which 32 players from seven colleges already are deeply involved.

Specifically, Levy is charged with soliciting and accepting $1,000 to rig the score of an Indianapolis-at-Boston NBA game, Nov. 12. Boston won 78-75.

Two members of the Indianapolis team—Alex Groza and Ralph Beard of Kentucky's 1949 national champions, recently admitted taking bribes to fix a college game.

District Attorney Frank Hogan said Levy received a total of $3,000 for fixing the final scores of the Nov. 12 game and two other NBA games — Boston at Washington, Nov. 11 and New York at Syracuse, Nov. 19, both in 1950. He said Levy failed in three other attempts to fix scores.

According to police, Levy admitted knowing Sollazzo and Eddie Gard, former Long Island university player arrested earlier in the year, in connection with the fixing of college games.

Called Incompetent

Levy had been released by the NBA last February and called "incompetent or at least not big league" by NBA President Maurice Podoloff.

O'Connor said Levy called unnecessary fouls on star players of teams whose scores he was trying to regulate. When a player nears the limit of six personal fouls, he plays cautiously and limits his effectiveness.

This is the way Hogan described Levy's alleged actions: The first attempted fix was a Minneapolis at Washington game

Hawks-Gophers Clash Today

Nov. 4, 1950, when the referee tried to arrange for a Minneapolis loss by fouling out Minneapolis star George Mikan. Minneapolis took a big half time lead before Mikan was chased and won 91-85.

"Penitent" at his failure and begging for "another chance," Levy did better a week later when Boston shaded Washington, 78-77, Nov. 11. Hogan claimed the referee received $500 from Sollazzo, and $500 deducted from his "advance."

practically every other conceivable formation.

The Minnesota attack did not really mesh, though, until Giel took over at tailback when George Hudak was dropped from the squad several weeks ago.

Hudak is back now but Giel is the man to watch. The 185-pounder from Winona, Minn., runs, passes and kicks well and is regarded as the best Minnesota back since George Frank starred in 1941.

Engel at Fullback

There's nothing startling about the rest of the Gopher backfield, however, which has freshman Don Swanson at quarterback, Marty Engh at right half, and probably Mason City's Ron Engel at fullback.

Engel has been sharing the duties with two others at fullback but will start today, Fesler said earlier in the week.

Up front, center Wayne Robinson is a standout but the rest of the line is only mediocre.

The Gophers' lone win was a 39-20 victory over Nebraska. Losses were to Washington, California, Northwestern and, last week's 54-27 defeat by Michigan.

Floyd of Rosedale, bronze statue of a pig, will again be at stake today, and, as every year since 1935, will go to the winner. Iowa currently holds the trophy after last year's 13-0 win over Minnesota.

Minnesota, however, has a 32-12 advantage in the 60 year series between the two schools, a series that has been marked by several stormy incidents.

Minnesota's 130-man marching band will perform at pregame and halftime ceremonies.

Don Comback and Andy Buntz, two of the 19 Iowa seniors making their final home appearance today, are the Hawk's co-captains.

There's nothing startling about the rest of the Gopher backfield, however, which has freshman Don Swanson at quarterback, Marty Engh at right half, and probably Mason City's Ron Engel at fullback.

Engel has been sharing the duties with two others at fullback but will start today, Fesler said earlier in the week.

Up front, center Wayne Robinson is a standout but the rest of the line is only mediocre.

The Gophers' lone win was a 39-20 victory over Nebraska. Losses were to Washington, California, Northwestern and, last week's 54-27 defeat by Michigan.

Floyd of Rosedale, bronze statue of a pig, will again be at stake today, and, as every year since 1935, will go to the winner. Iowa currently holds the trophy after last year's 13-0 win over Minnesota.

ARE YOU A GROPER?

Throw Some Light on a Dark Situation with ADEQUATE ELECTRIC WIRING

THE Groper leads a troubled life. Fumbling for a wall-switch on the other side of a blacked-out room, feeling his way cautiously down dark stairs, running the risk of stumbling, tripping or sliding—these are but a few of his woes.

Some of the other headaches include flickering lights, frequent fuse blowouts, networks of extension cords and poor operation of appliances.

The Groper's real trouble is a case of inadequate electric wiring—wiring that lacks sufficient branch circuits, convenience outlets, switches, etc., to take care of today's electrical needs.

If you plan to buy, build or remodel, make sure now that you'll enjoy the benefits that adequate wiring makes possible. Remember, it is the key to modern, electrical living.

For complete information on adequate wiring, check with your electrical contractor or this Company.

ADEQUATE WIRING THE KEY TO ELECTRICAL LIVING SERVES SAVES

ADEQUATE WIRING MUST INCLUDE

- * Adequate service entrance
- * Enough well-placed convenience outlets
- * Enough permanent lights and switches
- * Enough branch circuits with large-enough wires

Youths Caught By Posse After Thieving Spree

GRINNELL — Two teenagers surrendered to a posse of state police and local officers late Friday after a day-long search of the cornfield where they had been hiding.

Larry Miller, 13, and William McNeal, 15, both of Albia, surrendered without resistance when they were surrounded by 50 highway patrolmen, Grinnell police and sheriff's deputies from surrounding counties.

The youths told police they left home early Thursday and armed themselves with a small arsenal and 14 silver dollars stolen from a home in Hiteman. Armed with a rifle, shotgun and pistol, the youths said they stole a school bus at Hiteman but abandoned it in a ditch near Attica. After walking to nearby Pershing, the pair said they stole a car and drove to Ottumwa where a second car was stolen for the trip here.

SUI Host to Fine Arts Groups

The annual conference of the American Society for Aesthetics will meet at the SUI art building Nov. 9 and 10.

Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the art department, is vice-president and program chairman of the conference. He has arranged papers by various scholars on the subjects of the nature of creativity in the arts, relations between art and anthropology, and the aesthetics of modern art.

Among those from SUI scheduled to speak at the sessions are Prof. Earl E. Harper, Philip G. Clapp, Edward C. Mable, Lester D. Longman, and Warren Carrier. Prof. David B. Stout will speak on the aesthetics of primitive art, and Prof. Joseph Cobitz will take part in a round table discussion on the subject of aesthetics and modern art.

A dinner for conference members will be held in the Iowa Memorial Union Friday evening. Following the dinner, Susanne K. Langer, author of the book "Philosophy in a New Key," will speak, followed by a program of contemporary woodwind chamber music.

There will be an exhibition of selected work by students and faculty of the art department in the Art building and an exhibition of recent paintings by Berlin artists in the Union lounge.

Iowa Supreme Court to Hear Woodlawn Case

The Woodlawn play school case will go before the Iowa supreme court Nov. 14, a year after Judge James P. Gaffney first held hearings on a petition asking for a permanent injunction against its continued operation.

A ruling was handed down by Gaffney in January of this year permitting the legal operation of the school, but enjoining the owners to observe certain restrictions of operation.

Both plaintiffs and defendants appealed the case to the supreme court after the decree was handed down.

The school, located in an eastern Iowa City residential district, is operated by David C. and Madeline Davis.

Plaintiffs who filed the original action in May, 1950, were W. Ross Livingston, Mabel Evans and Klara Robbins, who lived in the Woodland school neighborhood. Mrs. Evans since that date has died.

The plaintiffs charged that the school constitutes a nuisance in the neighborhood.

Defendants obtained a stay of execution in May of this year until the full case could be argued before the supreme court.

While the case was before the courts, the school remained in operation.

Col. John D. Craig To Give Travel Talk In Mountaineer Series

Col. John Craig
Photographs the World

Col. John D. Craig will deliver a lecture entitled "Across the World and Underseas," at 8 p.m. Sunday in Macbride auditorium. This is the third in a series of travel lectures sponsored by the Iowa Mountaineers.

During World War II, Craig, an air force cameraman, completed 36 missions. He was in charge of the air force motion picture unit that photographed the Bikini atom bomb tests.

Craig has produced documentary films of 47 countries, across five continents and under four oceans.

Craig photographs jungle beasts, primitive savages and underwater killers all over the world for his motion pictures.

Recover 3 SUI Science Balloons

Three balloons which were dispatched from SUI Thursday morning carrying radio transmission equipment in cosmic ray experimental studies have been found at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Leslie Meredith, G, Iowa City, said the balloons traveled about 300 miles. He said he believed they traveled about 60 miles per hour and at an altitude of about 80,000 feet.

The balloons were a preliminary to a larger flight which will be released later. They will be returned here and the recordings made by equipment they carried will be studied before the larger flight is dispatched.

The purpose of the balloon experiment is to study the vertical intensity of cosmic rays.

Suit Asks Payment Of Promissory Note

The Johnson County Broadcasting corporation has filed suit in district court asking judgment $133.40 against William L. Parker, Iowa City.

The suit charges that Parker gave the plaintiff a promissory note for $258.40 on Oct. 17, 1949. The note was due Sept. 1, 1950.

Eye, Ear, Throat Specialists Hold Convention at SUI

Eye, ear and throat specialists opened their annual convention of the Iowa Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology Friday morning at University hospitals.

Dr. Francis Lederer of the University of Illinois and Dr. D. M. Lierle, head of SUI's otolaryngology, spoke at the morning session.

After a luncheon at the Jefferson hotel, Dr. Alson Braley, head of SUI's department of ophthalmology, presented new methods of treating eye diseases.

Afternoon clinical cases held by Dr. George Albright, and Dr. A. L. Sals, head of neurology, discussed phases of embryology and anatomy.

Dr. Russell Meyers, head of University hospital's neurosurgery department, closed the session with a discussion of the diagnosis and treatment of eye disorders.

Convention delegates will adjourn this afternoon to attend the Iowa-Minnesota game.

2 Suits Filed for Highway 6 Damages

Two more damage suits were filed in district court Friday in connection with construction of the highway 6 cut-off south of Coralville this summer.

Both suits ask for an application for condemnation proceedings. These are the sixth and seventh such actions arising from the construction.

Samuel Markovitz and Sam L. Robinson, who operate the Capitol Oil filling station west of Iowa City, charge that the new construction has placed their place of business in a ditch.

They also said the raising of the highway has impaired drainage and access to their property.

Louis Shulman, who filed the second suit, claims that the highway acts as a dam, causing water to stand for long periods of time before draining off.

Hanchers to Give Tea for Faculty Tuesday in Union

President and Mrs. Virgil Hancher will give their annual tea for the faculty from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. Tuesday in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Invitations have already been issued for the formal affair. Wives of faculty in the schools of medicine and dentistry will be hostesses.

Those pouring are Mrs. W. R. Ingram, Mrs. J. R. Porter, Mrs. H. A. Mattill, Mrs. M. E. Barnes, Mrs. W. B. Bean, Mrs. A. L. Sals, Mrs. John Randall, Mrs. A. E. Braley, Mrs. D. M. Lierle, Mrs. E. D. Warner, Mrs. E. G. Gross, Mrs. H. M. Hines, Mrs. H. D. Kerr, Mrs. Robert Tidrick, Mrs. Wilbur Miller, Mrs. C. I. Miller, Mrs. A. W. Bryan, Mrs. F. D. Francis, Mrs. John Whinery, Mrs. Erling Thoen, Mrs. L. B. Higley, Mrs. Alton Fisher, Mrs. Robert Leighton, Mrs. Ray V. Smith, and Mrs. George Easton.

Jury Awards Defendant $150 in Damage Suit

A district court jury awarded $150 to Lloyd Brown Friday in a suit which originally had been brought against him by Charles K. Wheeler.

The jury began deliberation about 5 p.m. Thursday. Wheeler had asked $447.82 for damages to his car from an accident which occurred on Riverside drive Jan. 19, 1951. Brown in his counter claim had asked $200.

Psychiatrist to Speak To Fellowship Group

Dr. Hunter Comly, psychiatrist at student health and associate professor of psychiatry, will speak at the Roger Williams fellowship meeting, Sunday on the topic "Choosing Your Mate."

The next three evenings of the fellowship will be centered around questions and problems concerning dating, the engagement period, marriage and parenthood.

An informal discussion period will follow Comly's speech. A supper at 5:15 will precede the evenings.

Jaycees Sponsor Democracy Contest

A five-minute speech may win a $500 scholarship and an expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., for some high school junior or senior here Nov. 17.

The local "I Speak for Democracy" contest, sponsored by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held in the Iowa City high school auditorium at 9:30 a.m. on that date.

The local winner will receive a $50 defense bond and a recording of his speech will be entered in the state contest. The second place winner will receive a $25 defense bond.

The winner of the state contest will receive a four-year scholarship to Parsons college at Fairfield and will be entered in the national contest.

Four national winners will be chosen and rewarded with a $500 scholarship to any accredited school of their choice plus an expense-paid trip to the nation's capital to meet the President and other government officials.

Nine entries have been received by the Iowa City Jaycees for the November elimination. Only high school juniors and seniors are eligible to enter. Tom Doling is chairman of the event.

Iowa Pre-Meds To Meet at SUI For Conference

The third annual conference for premedical students and advisors will be held at SUI Friday.

Dr. W. W. Morris, assistant dean for student affairs in the college of medicine, said invitations have been sent to 100 premedical students and 30 premedical advisors representing nearly every college and university in the state.

The conference is designed to acquaint premedical students in schools other than SUI with academic requirements and admittance procedures for the college of medicine.

Tours of University hospitals and the medical laboratories to familiarize the students with the college's physical plant are also being planned, Morris said.

He said advisors will have an opportunity to air their views this year in panel discussions and question-answer periods.

3 Ask Judgments Against IC Store

Three suits totaling $1,388.39 have been filed in district court against the McNamara Furniture company of Iowa City.

F. Schumacher & Co, charge that McNamara's owe them $471.26 balance on merchandise purchased between Aug. 31, 1948 and Dec. 22, 1950.

Katzenback & Warren company ask judgment of $569.73 for merchandise purchased from them between Oct. 3, 1950, and Sept. 21, 1951.

The Standard Chair company asks $347.40 for goods sold to the defendant March 30, 1951.

Handicapped Children's 'Big Brothers' to Meet

Volunteers for "big brothers" at the school for handicapped children will meet Tuesday with David Ray, assistant at the school.

"Big brothers" are persons who will entertain a child during weekends to help him become socially adapted.

The meeting will be an orientation session in which the big brothers will meet the children of the school and become acquainted with the big brother program.

Ray said that possible projects for the children and their big brothers will be discussed at this time.
