Chinese Launch Attack As Tank Clash Rages

TOKYO (Thursday) - Chinese Communists launched a heavy attack in western Korea Wednesday night and front dispatches said the first tank battle in more than a year was raging on the muddy battlefield.

The armored clashes came west of Yonchon in the area some 40 miles north of Seoul where the Communists launched an offensive under heavy rocket and artillery fire to knock Allied troops off a series of hills guarding an invasion route to South Korea.

Communist tanks and self-propelled guns moved up with the Red infantrymen. UN tanks swung into action and slugged it out with the enemy armor at pointblank range.

Seven enemy tanks and a self-propelled gun were knocked out in the action. Allied officers said then it was still too early to tell whether the Communists were mounting any major offensive.

Communists attacking in the area west of Yonchon have in the past week used up to 22 tanks in their assaults on UN positions. They were tentatively identified as Russian-made T-34's of the type the Russians used during World War II.

Truce Talks...

MUNSAN, Korea (THURSDAY) - The United Nations command today held up final judgment on a new Communist buffer zone proposal which carried a veto clause on adjusting the cease-fire line in Korea.

The Red proposal, offered near the end of Wednesday's subcommittee meeting at Panmunjom, contained certain "ambiguous or mutual contradictory" key phrases, an Allied spokesman said.

An Allied spokesman declared "If there is some clarification... that can be obtained from subsequent meetings, perhaps we are closer (to agreement) than we think at the moment."

The Allies have insisted that hostilities must continue until a full armistice is signed. The Communist plan would freeze the buffer zone now while other armistice details are worked out.

Iowa City Stores Begin 'Thrift Days' Promotion Today

Fall "Thrift Days" begin in Iowa City today. The city-wide bargain event, promoted by the retail trades division of the Chamber of Commerce, will be held today, Friday and Saturday.

SUI Highlander Bonnie McKittrick, A1, Des Moines, was revealed as "Miss Thrifty" Wednesday. Window show cards, pictures and posters featuring "Miss Thrifty" have been placed in local stores participating in the event.

Robert Yetter, promotion chairman of "Thrift Days," said there has been considerable planning for this week's event. "The values to be offered are good and just about every store in Iowa City is participating in 'Thrift Days,'" he said.

SUI Town Men Elect Officers

Walter Jewell, A3, Decorah, was elected president of the SUI Town Men at a meeting in Macbride hall Wednesday night.

Other officers elected were Bill Hegeman, A2, Waukon, vice-president; Truman Blair, A1, Manchester, secretary-treasurer; Ralph Cocksfoot, A4, Atlantic, student council representative; Tom Jackson, G, Saskatchewan, Canada, athletic director; and Bob Berg, A4, Des Moines, music chairman.

Richard Sweltzer, a member of the staff of the office of student affairs, was named student counselor.

Other items on the program included an explanation of the intramural organization by Prof. Frederick Beebe, director of the SUI intramural program.

Big 3 Offers 4-Point Program

PARIS—The United States, Britain and France jointly issued a plan Wednesday night containing four major points for world disarmament.

These nations offered to tell Russia how many atom bombs, guns and the size of the armies in the democratic arsenal in exchange for similar information on Communist armed strength.

But the offer was coupled with a warning that the West will continue to rearm until the Korean war is ended and so long as Russia remains a threat to world peace.

- The four points outlined in the plan are: 1. A census of present strength. 2. International inspections to verify the census figures. 3. Gradual reduction of arms to agreed limits. 4. A system of continuing United Nations controls on arms production.

The Western peace move appears designed mainly to throw the Russians on the defensive and nullify any benefits they might expect from their own peace offensive.

The major political issues which have caused the world division can and must be settled concurrently with the taking effect of any such program, the proposal said.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson is scheduled to speak to the UN assembly today and is expected to expand further on Wednesday night's peace plan. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, who broke precedent this year and asked in vain to speak before Acheson did, will follow the American immediately. He is expected to give an inkling of Russia's answer at that time.

In 1948, the Russians demanded that atomic bombs be included in any census of world armaments but the U.S. objected at that time by insisting such a count be held to conventional armaments such as cannon, planes and guns.

The U.S. alone had the A-bomb then but Russia has since set off three atomic explosions.

The Big Three said they thought the proposal should be discussed immediately but could not be put into effect "while UN forces are resisting aggression in Korea."

Asks for Plan To Discontinue Weapons Race

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Truman challenged Russia Wednesday night to accept a "foolproof" disarmament plan under which United Nations inspectors would police each country's forces and weapons, including atom bombs.

That is the path the free world would prefer to take toward real peace and security, the President said but added:

"We will do it the hard way if we must—by going forward as we are doing now, to make the free world so strong that no would-be aggressor would dare to break the peace."

Broadcasts to World

Mr. Truman's bid for the Kremlin to join in "this great enterprise for peace" was made in a radio and television address to the nation, and was beamed throughout the world by the Voice of America.

It was a follow-up and expansion of a proposal which the United States, Britain and France jointly had made a few hours earlier, for submission to the UN general assembly in Paris.

Heretofore Russia has balked at the continuing outside inspection which Mr. Truman in his speech and the three nations in their UN proposal made the basis of their plan.

The President took note of that record and asserted:

"Any nation which is not willing to agree to this step, and to carry it out, is not really interested in disarmament."

Truman wary of Reds He took note, too, of the "gloomy history of our negotiations with the Soviet Union" and said it is true that "we have experienced much bad faith, deceit and broken promises."

Nevertheless the effort must be made because it is "the right thing to do," Mr. Truman said—"We cannot permit the history of our times to record that we failed by default."

The President coupled his proposal with an implied promise that a share of this country's savings from reduction of the arms burden would be devoted to peaceful improvement of the lot of peoples.

"If that cost could be reduced—if the burden of armaments could be lessened, new energies and resources would be liberated for greatly enlarged programs of reconstruction and development," he said.

War on Want He termed that "the only kind of war we seek—the war against want and human misery."

The President laid his main emphasis on the call for an honest, continuing inventory of all armed forces and armaments, including atomic weapons.

"No country can afford to reduce its defenses unless it is sure the other fellow is reducing his at the same time," he said.

He's Report Good Mr. Truman said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, on his visit here this week, gave him "an encouraging report of the progress that is being made" under his command in Europe. But he said serious difficulties still remain and require "vigorous effort from us and from our allies."

As a result of Eisenhower's visit, he said, "Arrangements are being made to speed up the training and equipment of the combined defense forces in Europe."

"Fighting is going on in Korea, and the threat of Communist aggression hangs over many other parts of the world."

In that situation he said the United States and other free countries are arming because they must.

CIO Convention Hits Wage Freeze

NEW YORK (AP) - The CIO declared Wednesday it would "never submit to discriminatory wage freezes" and President Philip Murray warned his United Steelworkers they may have to strike to win a wage increase in negotiations which open in a few weeks.

Murray said the government "may have a bludgeon in its hand to bash our brains in" but that his steelworkers will endure all hazards to win "a little more bread and butter."

Gunmen, Girl Captured After $92,571 Theft

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Three gunmen, using careful timing methods, staged a $92,571 bank holdup Wednesday but were captured within a few hours after they switched cars and fled to Illinois with a girl companion.

The four were seized without resistance by two Lake County, Ill., deputy sheriffs when they stopped for a traffic light on route 41 near Waukegan in northeastern Illinois.

FBI agents from Chicago found bundles of bills in original bank wrappings in the rear compartment of the car and additional large sums of money on the girl and one of the men.

Sheriff Walter Atkinson of Lake County said James Joseph Leatherer, 36, Chicago, and Harold Dennis Nall, 19, who gave his last address as Los Angeles, had made oral statements that they took part in the holdup.

Others seized were Glenn Morrow, 19, and Anne Snyder, 20. The holdup took place in mid-morning in the northwestern branch of the First Wisconsin National bank, largest in the state. The branch is about 5 miles from the downtown shopping district.

Two men stood guard near the door armed with a rifle and pistol, while the third vaulted over a low railing and began scooping packages of bills into two pillow slips.

After only a few minutes, one of the men near the door started counting backwards in a loud voice:

"Twenty two, 21, 20..." When he reached seven he shouted:

"Come on, boys, let's get out of here."

The man scooping up the money dashed for the door and his two companions followed. They jumped into a dark colored sedan and sped west in a heavy snowstorm over slippery streets.

An alarm was broadcast and road blocks were set up in Illinois. The original get-away car was found later in an alley, 6 blocks from the bank.

FBI agents from Chicago said all they counted of the loot was $90,304, which did not include $1,100 leather carried. Leather claimed the $1,100 was his own. The sum does include $3,500 which Miss Snyder carried in one of two purses she had with her. The FBI said all four persons will be returned to Milwaukee.

Election Results Give GOP Hopes for '52

WASHINGTON (AP) - Republicans Wednesday hailed Tuesday's election results as proof that the voters "want a change in 1952" and are out to "replace incompetence and corruption with honest, efficient government."

Democratic officials, for the most part, were silent on everything except the fact they elected a mayor in the GOP stronghold of Philadelphia for the first time in 67 years.

Republican National Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson singled out as especially "significant" and "gratifying" the GOP victories in the third Ohio congressional district, replacing a Democrat, and the mayoralty contest in Little Rock, Ark.

Council to Consider No-Cut Suspension At Meeting Tonight

The SUI student council is scheduled to meet in the lounge at Westlawn at 7:30 p.m. today to discuss the possibility of suspending the no-cut rule.

Students wishing to express opinions and other interested students are urged to attend the meeting.

Dean Dewey B. Stuit of the college of liberal arts said that if the council recommends suspension, he feels that the deans of the colleges affected by the no-cut rule will be happy to give it a try.

Those colleges are liberal arts, engineering, nursing and commerce.

"As a result of conversations between (the) deans... and myself," Stuit said, "it has been agreed that we would be glad to have the student council study the problem of class attendance just before and after vacations."

"If, following such a study, the council would like to make a recommendation as to how this problem could be handled better, we would be glad to (take) appropriate action."

Council President John Bunce said that if the council approves suspending the rule for Thanksgiving and Christmas trial periods, it will recommend such action to the deans.

The no-cut rule requires class attendance 24 hours before and after regularly scheduled holidays. The penalty for infraction is the addition of one hour graduation requirement for each class missed.

Bulletin

NEW YORK (THURSDAY) (AP) - President Truman offered to support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as a presidential candidate in 1952 during the general's visit to this country this week, but Eisenhower did not accept the offer, the New York Times reported today.

A Times Washington dispatch signed by Arthur Krock said the offer "presumably" was made at a private luncheon between the two last Monday. Krock said the offer paralleled a similar one which Mr. Truman made the general during the 1945 Potsdam conference concerning the 1948 presidential election.

"General Eisenhower did not accept the new offer, which necessarily concerned only the Democratic nomination," Krock said. "He did not reject it. But he strongly implied rejection by suggesting that great difficulties were presented by his fundamental disagreement with the administration on labor policies, proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley act and other policies and programs in the domestic field that have been sponsored by Mr. Truman."

No Name, No Office

FRANKFORT, KY. (AP) - It would have been lots better for Republican Herbert Lamb if he'd had Democratic opposition for circuit court of Crittenden county.

Since he had no opponent, somebody forgot to put his name on the ballots, and no votes were cast for him. Atty. Gen. A. E. Funk said Wednesday that means Lamb is out when his present term ends next Jan. 2.

Railroad Mileage Lowest Since 1936, Commission Reports

DES MOINES (AP) — Abandonment of Iowa branch line railroad mileage was the greatest last year of any year since 1936, the state Commerce commission said in a tabulation recently completed.

The total trackage dropped from service during 1950 was 140.35 miles. Six abandonments were involved in the total. The number of miles abandoned in 1936 was 147.84.

That made the total in 1950 the highest since records started in 1911, except for 1936.

On last January 1 there was a total of 8,584 miles of railroad lines in use in Iowa.

The total has been reduced rather gradually ever since 1911. Since that year, 1,403.42 miles of lines have been dropped from service.

The railroads obtained permission from the Interstate Commerce commission in Washington to abandon the lines dropped in recent years. That is the only source which can authorize such action.

The Universities Scholarship, Hysteria and Freedom To Teach or to Fear

(Editor's Note: The Daily Iowan brings to you today the second in a series of eight articles dealing with problems facing American universities. We feel this report has special significance for Daily Iowan readers, who are primarily members of a university community. These articles from The New Republic are, above all, provocative. The editors of The Daily Iowan invite readers to express their opinion on the controversial issues introduced.

University Professors, have done much to create better understanding of the harm these methods do. This association, intended by its organizers to promote the general improvement of the profession, has its inception in the early stages of World War I. One of its first tasks was to agree upon the nature of the "academic calling." In 1915 an AAUP report emphasized that scholars and teachers require freedom to investigate and to publish, and that this freedom cannot be assured in an organization unless members of its teaching and research staff have secure tenure of their appointments.

In a time of international tension and widespread fears for the safety of our accustomed mode of life, it is not strange that suspicion should be directed, among others, against scholars and teachers. Their profession involves tolerance of the unconventional, a willingness to consider the unfamiliar, to formulate and test ideas not generally accepted. The honest, open-minded seeker of truth always travels a dangerous way; the peril is intensified when the existence of the familiar society itself seems to be at stake and many, in its defense, become fearful of any change and suspicious of those willing to question the merits of things as they are or have been.

Under the guise of promoting general security, even of safeguarding freedom itself, limits are prescribed beyond which those in quest of truth may not go. Efforts are made to insure that only tried and trusted friends of the accepted are licensed to venture beyond the frontiers of the known. Defensive measures, such as trying to restrict scholars by oaths and to fetter out of faculties members who are skeptical of the current orthodoxy, invariably damage the cause they are intended to serve. The institutions to which they are applied suffer disruption and are hindered in some degree from performing the functions for which they were established. This is notably true of the institutions which in the past few years, in an effort to eliminate Communists and to oppose Communism, have dismissed members of their faculties or have required restrictive oaths.

Lately there has been a diminution in the use of these undesirable methods. For one reason, the organized members of the profession, the American Association of the BTOOC or similar gibberish. It's publicity that gets out the vote for the aforementioned phonic impossibility. It is also publicity that will get out the blood. Left delback Wojekowski of Upper Ipswitch may not play in the crucial game Saturday because of a sprained knee; Cpl. Wojekowski, with a bullet in his guts may not live until Saturday. Yea Team! Yea Team!

Whether by premeditated design or not, colleges and universities in the U. S. are organized with a clear awareness of these difficulties. It is the duty of the lay boards and trustees and of their administrative agents to see that scholars and teachers are provided with equipment and facilities to do their work, and to see that they have the freedom to do it. It is the business of scholars and teachers to justify this confidence placed in them and the expenditure which society makes on their behalf by addressing themselves open-mindedly and objectively to any pertinent questions that suggest themselves.

Those charged with the administration of the institution cannot prescribe restrictions on the professional performance of teachers without casting a reflection on themselves for having appointed a teaching staff qualified only to carry out instructions.

When it became apparent that the tension between the Soviet Union and the Western Powers was intensifying the fears left in the wake of World War II, the responsible officers of the AAUP faced again the old question of whether an established scholar or teacher should be dismissed from his post because of association with a group which later came under suspicion or whether he should be judged on the basis of his own personal qualities and behavior. The decision had to be that scholarship is an individual achievement and that behavior disqualifying a scholar for a post long held is necessarily personal and cannot be demonstrated by proof of mere association with, or membership in, any group whatsoever. It followed that a scholar or teacher, entitled to security of tenure in his appointment, ought not to be removed without following an established procedure designed to ascertain whether or not he was personally unfit for his post.

This announcement does not apply to the filing of applications for loans from the dean's Panhellenic loan fund for emergency purposes.

Letters to the Editor

Feathers Fly
TO THE EDITOR:
After having read your editorial in The Daily Iowan of Nov. 6, I must say I was very disappointed. I knew that sooner or later someone would say something about the school spirit here and I also knew that Tailfeathers would be brought in.

It is very true that the main function of the organization is to try to promote school spirit but in the last few months that has not been a very successful project. I will say that we have tried, but with no cooperation from the students and very little from our school paper, the task has become an almost impossible one.

You will notice however that we have tried almost every means possible to stir the students up but they break each effort with their lack of cooperation. Each week we have tried to bounce right back up along with the team and get things moving again as they are trying to do. Well, Saturday they bounced up and right along with them a few thousand students went crazy. As John Townser said, "The crowd sure helps." Sure it helps. The students have been told time and time again that their cheering helps the team but yet they just sit there like icicles hanging from a frozen man's body, cold, dead, and useless. They saw Saturday that their cheering helped. How much more proof do they need?

By the way, last Saturday, Tailfeathers relinquished their section to the students. They sat on the twenty-five yard line behind the band and they yelled plenty. As a point of clarification there are no student seats on the fifty yard line.

Also, as long as we are singing things around, I would like to know if the author of the editorial on school spirit was at the rally, and why not?
A few more questions: Why were only nine tickets sold for the student trip? Surely more students than that are going.
Why can't we have a streamer across the top of the paper a little more often about the rallies? How come there are usually only little columns saying that there will be a rally?

There is no organization responsible for the lack of spirit on this campus. The one responsible is the student himself—every student at SUI. The team has three darn tough games ahead and I know that if we get in front of them and pull them up they won't let us down. . . . GO HAWKS.

Dislikes DI Policy
TO THE EDITOR:
I am somewhat disappointed that The Daily Iowan, and certain of its readers have been so niggardly in raising high the banner of their crusading drive to create a moral paradise.

The fail to demand our student council to enter a formal complaint regarding the Wichita-Mariquette football controversy, also the Calif-USC rhubarb; after all the troubles arose on a football field and SUI has one, ergo we are directly involved.

They fail to demand that the student council bitterly denounce the Universities of Kentucky, Bradley, et al, whose players have maliciously and viciously involved basketball in its present mess; after all SUI plays basketball too, so it is our immediate concern.

For that matter why stop with sports; let's have the student council denounce everything that is bad or in error, which might be found in its "pure" state at SUI.

While I do not concur with Mr. Bunce's reasoning, his conclusion was commendable. SUI and its student council can find much more important things to do than involve themselves in a football occurrence. An occurrence which despite its being indelibly recorded is nothing new, and certainly not warranting the deluge of vituperative shrieks currently arising.

No one can condone what occurred, but no reasonable person can believe that any amount of editorializing will put an end to such occasional displays.

My main reproach is reserved for The Daily Iowan. At a time when our free press is undergoing severe criticism (refer to the report of the Freedom of Information Committee at the April 1951

Suggests Program
TO THE EDITOR:
In an institution of the magnitude of SUI, there is probably no other organization, committee, or publication so influential as The Daily Iowan. One of the duties of your journal should be the selection and promotion of worthy causes. As to what is a worthy cause, suffice it to say that your editorial staff should be capable of at least a certain degree of empirical analysis.

The Daily Iowan could back a program to bring 10,000 pints of blood, and it could be done as fast as the facilities became available. The whole bottleneck seems to be in the middle-men, or more rightly the lack of middle-men.

The radio is constantly telling us how much blood the armed forces need. They mention the fact and then they fumble the ball. "Where's the job?" It is most certainly our job, not the men in Korea. They're giving their blood all right, spilling it more truthfully. Bloody Ridge wasn't named, as such, by any geography book.

During World War II, in any of the major cities of the country you would see long lines of people waiting to get into the room where their blood would be taken. The need is no less urgent now!

The Daily Iowan could provide the impetus for the organization and planning of a drive that would far surpass the election for

No Longer Gun-Shy — Policewomen Want Guns

— Iowa Meeting Reveals

DES MOINES (AP)—Policewomen and matrons of Iowa decided Wednesday not to be gun-shy.

They will seek information in handling and firing a revolver, they decided at their meeting here. The session was held in connection with the convention of the Iowa Association of Chiefs of Police and Peace Officers.

Louise Crooks of Ottumwa, chairman of the women's group, asked how many owned a revolver. One woman held up her hand.

"But I couldn't hit a barn with it," she said.

The women decided to find out if an instructor is available and to hold target competitions among themselves. They won't try to compete with the men sharpshooters on the police force, they added.

The women's meeting heard a talk by Mrs. Cecelia Storm of Waterloo, a police matron who has never had to use a gun to handle a prisoner. In fact she has never had to strike a blow, she said, although once she did find it necessary to douse an intoxicated woman with a pail of water.

Mrs. Storm talked to the women about the new problems which women face because of social changes.

She urged police women to heed particularly the problems of children in this changing period. These are created through broken homes, poor environment and the leaving of children for longer times, she said.

The main session of the chiefs of police convention was presided over by Chief of Detectives H. A. Thorsden of Davenport, president of the association.

The co-operation given his agents by mid-western peace officers was praised in a talk by James L. Dalton, agent in charge of the FBI in Omaha.

Belted Chinchilla

DES MOINES (AP)—Any World War II veterans from Oregon who now live in Iowa probably will have to wait awhile before they get their Oregon soldier's bonus.

Ed Kallemyr, secretary of the Iowa bonus board, said Wednesday he had received word from Oregon bonus officials that they are having trouble marketing the $40 million worth of bonus bonds authorized by the Oregon legislature.

Oregon officials said that when they sought to sell the first $500,000 issue of bonus bonds they learned that the federal voluntary credit restraint committee had advised financial interests not to take the bonds.

The committee is one which has been set up nationally to urge bankers and others to hold down on major loans as an anti-inflationary move.

Star Writes Own Publicity

Mexico's Katy Jurado Works in Hollywood

Interviews Self for Mexican Papers

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mexican star Katy Jurado confessed recently she doesn't need a press agent because she writes her own publicity.

The black-haired beauty currently is rolling her big eyes at Gary Cooper in "High Noon". But back home in Mexico City the fiery actress is a movie columnist, too.

"So after Hollywood hours Katy runs behind the camera and interviews herself.

These pearls of information she then ships to newspapers in Mexico City, "where I have many friends," and the next morning the Mexicans read all about Katy in their morning tequila.

"I ask studio here for peccettes of myself and I send to Mexico City papers," explained Katy. "These is the way I keep my money for my children.

"Some stars theenk publicity doesn't matter. This is wrong. "We are in the hands of the people in the papers. If all the newspapers are quiet and silence, nothing happen. I help get along!"

Senorita Jurado has pals on the journalistic side of the fence back home because she's a writer, too. She pens a daily beauty column for Mexican newspapers and magazines. She's also a leading movie critic back home—but the other movie stars there don't know it.

She signs another name to her daily reviews that tear the movies apart.

"I don't use my name because I want to tell the truth and when you do you lose your friends," said Katy, who's practical, among other things.

"They don't like the truth. It hurts. But as an actress, I like movie critics. The only way you learn is to read them. Otherwise you never know. Some actresses are selfish. They think they are good and get upset at the papers. They don't like the truth.

"I often get letters of complaint from other actors. Is good they don't know it's me!"

Columnist Katy's favorite interviewee—is actress Katy.

"During 'High Noon' I send stories about the scenes and saying Katy did this scene or that so people in Mexico know what I am doing.

"I am no fool, no?"

No.

Ava Gardner Weds Frankie

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner were married Wednesday night and the crooner's first reaction was to grasp Judge Joseph E. Sloane's hand and say, "Well, we finally made it."

Ava Gardner Sinatra rushed across the room after kissing her bridegroom, and wrapped her arms about Sinatra's mother, who burst into tears and patted her shoulder affectionately.

Sinatra wore a tuxedo with a black bow tie and a white carnation in his lapel.

Banker to Head Demos

'Strong on Reality,' McKinney Rose from Poverty To Become Millionaire Politician

INDIANAPOLIS (P)—Francis Edward (Frank) McKinney, new Democratic national chairman, is a tough-minded, wealthy Irishman who early made up his mind about what he wanted and never quit until he got it.

Unlike most kids who aspire to become cops, cowboys or railroad engineers, McKinney always wanted to be a banker.

At 30, he achieved his ambition and became one of the youngest bank-presidents in America.

Named National Chairman

At 37, he's top official in the Democratic party. The national committee named him Oct. 31 with President Truman's blessing.

McKinney's old-time associates were surprised. They recall that a couple of years ago he said he "would not take any job, either appointive or elective."

McKinney took the chairmanship after "the thought came that thousands of Americans were turning their backs on the duties of citizenship."

"It was this challenge," he said, "which prompted me to accept."

Frank McHale, long-time Democratic national committeeman from Indiana, considers him "an astute politician, not much for sentiment, but strong on reality."

Serves Without Pay

McKinney will serve without pay. His predecessor, William M. Boyle Jr., drew $35,000 a year. McKinney doesn't need the money. Intimates say he is worth a million dollars.

He will serve the party as a part-time head until next January. Then he'll take over six days a week. He doesn't plan to take his family to Washington, D.C.

McKinney was born June 16, 1904, in a frame house on the south side of the Hoosier capital. His father, Roscoe, was a city fireman who in 40 years became and still is Indianapolis fire chief.

He Quit School

Young McKinney quit high school in his sophomore year to become a bank messenger. That was in 1919. Three years later he was a teller in another bank.

Eventually he became bookkeeper and cashier.

When the Democrats began their political comeback in the early 1930's William E. Clauer, south side party boss, began looking for new political blood. He gave McKinney the nod because "Frank was a smart young Irishman."

In 1934 Clauer picked McKinney as the party's candidate for county treasurer. McKinney was elected.

In those days the treasurer was permitted to keep 3 per cent of all delinquent taxes collected. The last two years he was in office, a 1937 state law permitted the treasurer to keep 6 per cent of personal delinquent taxes collected.

Prospered as Treasurer

The New Deal's pump-priming commenced to have its effect. People began to pay their overdue taxes. The treasurer's office suddenly became good for $30,000 to $40,000 a year. McKinney held the office four years.

As this bonanza was starting, McKinney still wanted to buy a bank, and the Fidelity Trust Co. was for sale. He bought it for $100,000, secured by a note and a $100,000 term insurance policy.

The day McKinney sat down in the president's chair the bank had assets of little more than $1 million. Today the assets are almost $30 million.

McKinney's detractors — and there are some — consider him a "political opportunist." They say he's stubborn to a fault but admit he "commands" and gives "loyalty" to his friends.

He has been accused of trying to use influence in the past to get government steel priorities for U.S. Pipeline Co., of which he was an officer. The company said he resigned before he became Democratic chairman.

Texan's Block Penalties On Illegal Entry

WASHINGTON (P)—Texas congressmen have blocked a house immigration subcommittee report proposing much stiffer penalties for hiring or helping "wet-back" Mexican farm laborers who enter the country illegally, it was disclosed Wednesday.

The report, written by Dr. Francis S. Wilder of Lafayette college after an investigation, recommended up to 2 years in prison and a $5,000 fine for anyone employing, harboring or transporting an illegal immigrant away from the Mexican border.

The Texans, headed by Rep. J. Frank Wilson of the house judiciary committee, which must approve the report, objected particularly to a suggestion that immigration officers be allowed to search any vehicle or building, except a private home, without a warrant if they think it holds illegal entrants.

Wilson pointed out that the immigration law already makes it a felony knowingly to aid, abet or hide an illegal alien, but he said the subcommittee proposals called for penalties that actually would discriminate against U.S. citizens of Mexican ancestry. He said employers would hesitate to hire them for fear they might be wet backs falsely claiming to be citizens.

Piggy Banks Blamed — U.S. Needs Small Coins

— Shortage Acute in East

DENVER (P)—Pennies and nickels won't get you much these days, but Uncle Sam wishes you'd take them out of those piggy banks and spend them because there is a terrific shortage of small coins.

Banks throughout the nation are calling for more pennies and nickels and in some cases, dimes. The shortage is particularly acute in eastern states and in New York small coins are being rationed to 25 to 50 per cent of demand.

What's the reason for the shortage?

There's a general public impulse to drop small coins in banks and that contributes much to the scarcity, is the belief of F. H. Larson, cashier of the Denver federal reserve bank.

Sale taxes, parking meters, vending machines of all kinds, and odd-cent prices increase the demand for the coins, Larson added.

Also figuring in the dearth of pennies and nickels, according to the official, is the fact that most United States mints decreased production before their congressional operating appropriations ran out last June.

Moses Smith, superintendent of the Denver mint agreed with Larson that parking meters and vending machines have created the tremendous demand for these humbler products. "Every city and town which has parking meters," Smith said, "has tied up a tremendous amount in pennies and nickels."

Plumber Sues for $197
 Frank J. Yabornicky, Iowa City plumber, filed suit in district court Wednesday asking judgment of $197 against Maurice and Barbara Kirkhofer, operators of the Van Meter hotel.
 The plaintiff seeks that amount for an oral agreement with the defendants for installation of a furnace boiler section. Yabornicky charges that the defendants attempted to cancel the agreement after the boiler section had been placed on order.

Traffic Signals Worth Cost, Officials Say

Saving children's lives at busy school intersections is worth a lot of money to Iowa City citizens. Expensive push-button actuated traffic signal lights have been in operation on four street corners here for more than two years, and lately some citizens have been petitioning for more of them.
 Of conventional stop light design, the signals flash green at all times, until a button on one of the standards is pushed. The light then changes to red, permitting a pedestrian to cross the highway.

"Motorists appreciate the signs because they don't stop traffic unless some one is ready to cross," Police Chief Edward Ruppert explained.

"They also use standard heads," the police chief pointed out. "Persons unfamiliar with state laws often don't know what to do when stall signs of the sort used here, they come to a flashing sign."
 It's a costly operation to install. The signals cost about $1,000 per intersection, around three times as much as the simple flashers, which have been eliminated from Iowa City streets.

"We think it's cheap insurance," said W. H. Bartley, attorney for the Iowa City school board. "A child hasn't been injured at any of the intersections since the signs were installed."
 "Money could not be better spent to protect youths from traffic hazards," C. F. Mighell, former city council finance commissioner said.

Motorists entering Iowa City on highway 6 encounter three of the four special lights. They are located along Muscatine ave. at intersections with Seventh ave. and Court st. and at the corner of Burlington and Summit sts.

Shortly before the signs were installed, a youngster walked into the side of a car at the intersection of Muscatine and Seventh aves. She was hospitalized. Another auto struck and severely lacerated a small girl at the Burlington-Summit corner.

The city council authorized construction of the lights at the request of representatives of the Iowa City school board, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Parent-Teachers' association and other civic groups. Locations were suggested by the citizens' group.

A light is also in operation on busy South Dubuque st., near another grade school.

City Manager Peter F. Roan voiced the only objections to operation of the lights. "Motorists coming along the 'wrong' street see a green light shining along the other street and only a metal stop sign to guide them. Youngsters standing around pushing the buttons are another nuisance."

"Even so," added Roan, "the lights are more than three times better than flashing signals. That's what's important."

Professor to Address Wesley Church Group

Prof. Cyrus R. Pangborn of the school of religion will speak to the Wesley foundation at 5 p.m. Sunday in Fellowship hall, Methodist church.

Pangborn's topic will be "Church and Society—Religion and Interaction." A supper at 6 p.m. will follow his talk.

Miss Varnay Sings — Crowd Likes Music Recital

By JOHN SIMMS

That soprano Astrid Varnay's recital Wednesday night in Macbride hall was a success cannot be questioned. The hall echoed that fact with the resounding applause of an admiring and enthusiastic audience.

That a singer is a success in operatic roles does not necessarily mean that he or she is an equal success in the presentation of recital programs.

However, Miss Varnay is a recitalist par excellence, able to establish an intimate relationship with her audience. She projects the individual characterization, emotion and expression of each song and aria at will.

There are several factors involved in the success of her song presentations. First, it is obvious that Miss Varnay is more interested in the expressive beauty of a work than in the purity of vocal line or sheer beauty of sound.

That is not to say that her voice is not a magnificent piece of vocal equipment. It is! But one always felt that it was being used for expressive purposes. Her aptness of gesture and pantomime underlined this expressive approach to her selections.

The recital was sponsored by the Iowa City Civil Music association.

Tentative Date Set For Masterson Trial

DES MOINES (AP)—The trial of John A. Masterson, 24, arrested for the knifing of Theresa O'Connor during mass at St. Ambrose cathedral Sept. 11, was tentatively set Wednesday by District Judge Tom K. Murrow for next Monday.

Masterson is under indictment for assault with intent to commit murder. He is in the state psychopathic hospital at Iowa City for examination and treatment.

Judge Murrow said he was awaiting a report from the hospital as to the time Masterson can be returned here, along with a report on the hospital's findings.

He said if Masterson is found to be mentally ill and incapable of assisting in his defense on the attempted murder charge, he will be tried before a jury on his sanity.

Iowa State Contest Flops

AMES (AP)—Editor Don Muhm says it is beginning to look as though sociologists who call young folks of today "the silent generation" are correct.

A few weeks ago the Iowa State Daily, campus newspaper, invited the more than 7,000 Iowa State college students to compete in an essay contest on the topic, "What Can I Do to Help Preserve World Peace?"

Thus far there hasn't been a single entry, although the paper has been promoting the contest vigorously. (The journalism students who put out the Daily are not eligible to compete).

In an editorial which will appear today, Muhm says: "It would be tragic indeed if a college student didn't know what part he needs to play in establishing and preserving world peace."

'Begin to Doubt' — Coach Sheds Real Tears

By STEVE SNIDER
NEW YORK (AP)—Hughie Devore, once the toast of Notre Dame as both player and coach, is the latest victim of the football coaches' graveyard—New York University.

The situation at NYU is so hopeless that Hughie just choked up in the middle of a speech to New York football writers this week and sat down with tears streaming from his eyes.

This is the sensitive son of a large family who went to Notre Dame in its lean football years, became an all-American end, and as a fill-in coach for Frank Leahy during the 1945 campaign once was voted United Press Coach of the Week for a stunning upset over Illinois.

Devore hasn't been under fire by NYU, as have so many others, and being a fighter of the old school he isn't likely to quit.

Success and Frustration
But as he sat on the same platform with Ed (Moose) Krause, who played the other end at Notre Dame in Hughie's time, it presented a strange picture of success and frustration.

Krause now is athletic director at Notre Dame and his retired but admired basketball coach as well as football assistant.

New York U., once a major football power, is one of the nation's largest universities but now has a pitifully small football squad. It's a basketball school, if anything, Hughie couldn't muster two platoons if he fielded all his players and their male relatives.

Devore began to get that dazed look early and it's only his second season there.

"Nothing Right"
"Sometimes, you know, you begin to doubt your own powers as a coach," he said once. "You try to do things and nothing comes out right. You see these kids try so hard, you know they aren't real talented, but you begin to think it's your fault they don't win."

Princeton, Rutgers, Holy Cross, and Boston U. all ran up more than 50 points on Hughie's hapless team. It beat King's Point, but the high point of the season was another defeat—25-20 at the hands of tough little Lehigh.

"Our line looked better against Lehigh than it had since I came to New York U.," said Devore. "Before that game, when a play was directed at one side of our line, the other side would stop and look to see what happened. I sometimes wondered if they were ebering the tackler or just wondering how far the ball carrier would run."

Doesn't Joke
That's about as close as Hugh came to joking about his boys. He wouldn't have done it even then if he hadn't been so proud of their showing against a sharp little team.

But it seems the hope he felt just a week ago was premature for Harry Aganis and Boston U. ripped NYU to bits last Saturday, 52-6.

With a microphone in his hands Monday, Devore broke down in the middle of his second sentence. Later he said:

"I guess we're sort of down."

Hawkeye Swimmers Start Conditioning

Eleven returning lettermen will strengthen Iowa's 1952 swimming team as practice opened this week for the nine-meet schedule.

While Coach Dave Armstrong is recuperating from an emergency appendectomy, Jim Counsellman, assistant coach, is putting the athletes through their early conditioning workouts.

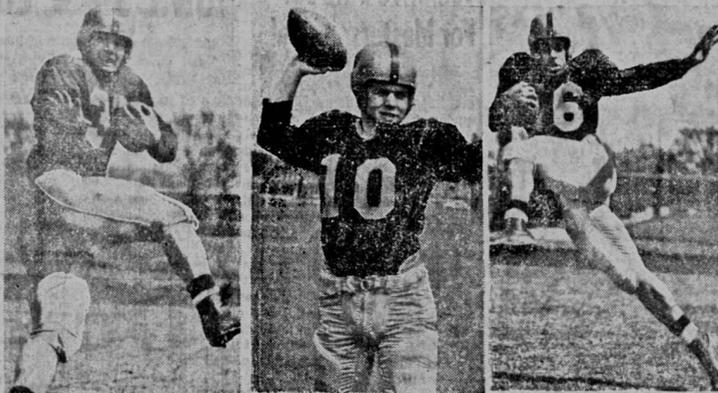

Included among the veterans are: Wally Nicholson, Des Moines, sprints; Otto (Bunny) Broeder, St. Louis, Mo., diving; and Bowen Strassforth, Pacific Palisades, Calif., breast stroke. The eight other returning letter-winners are Lee Hoefft, Oak Park, Ill.; Richard Johnson, St. Louis, Mo.; Richard Labahn, Evanston, Ill.; Kiyochi Mana, Honolulu, T. H.; Vincent McGuire, Chicago, Ill.; Don Watson, St. Louis, Mo.; Willis Werner, Iowa City; and George Yim, Honolulu, T. H.

Counsellman reports that there are some promising prospects among the freshman candidates this year. They are Fred Gerres, St. Louis, Mo.; Ed Mullahey, Des Moines; Dick Pennington, Phoenix, Ariz.; Gaither Rosser, Chicago, Ill.; and Bob Steir, Duluth, Minn.

Six members of the varsity squad were named to the 1951 all-America swimming team. They are: Watson, Nicholson, Labahn, Mana, Broeder and Johnson. These men along with two-time all-American, Bowen Strassforth, should be among the top performers on the Hawkeye squad.

The schedule includes dual meets with Illinois, Wisconsin, Purdue, Northwestern, Michigan and Minnesota and the Big Ten, NCAA and National AAU championship affairs.

All This and Karras Too

JOHNNY KARRAS IS ILLINOIS' big name but Coach Ray Ellis has other backs who aren't far behind. In addition to Karras, Iowa will be confronted with quarterback Tom O'Connell (center) a standout passer, halfback Don Stevens (right), a fast, shifty runner, and fullback Bill Tate.

More Defensive Work for Iowa

Potent Illini Offense Worries Hawkeyes

If Iowa is unable to stop Illinois' high powered offense at Champaign Saturday, it won't be for lack of work on defense this week.

For the second straight day, the Hawkeye defensive platoon worked overtime Wednesday as Coach Leonard Raffensperger sought the right combination to slow down the Illini's all around attacking strength.

In addition to the usual passing worries, Raff is confronted with one of the most dangerous collections of runners on any college team today.

JV Snowed Out

Iowa's scheduled JV game with Illinois at Champaign Friday has been cancelled because the Illini's snow covered practice field will not be in playing condition by Friday.

Workmen at Champaign are now concentrating on removing snow from Memorial Stadium where the Iowa-Illinois varsity game will be held Saturday.

The JV squad will now disband, Coach Wally Schwank said. The team turned in a 2-2 record.

Karras Top Threat
Johnny Karras, an old Iowa nemesis, is the big threat to the Hawkeyes last year, and fullback Bill Tate are also dangerous ball carriers.

Officials said they were giving no thought to postponement of the homecoming clash with Iowa Saturday. The Memorial Stadium field was covered with a tarpaulin and workmen Wednesday began shoveling the snow off of it.

The Illini passer is Tom O'Connell only a sophomore, but already recognized as outstanding.

Iowa will probably have to cope with this offense without its rugged defensive tackle Pete Spanjers, who's unlikely to make the trip due to a knee injury.

Peterson Absent
There are no other serious injuries on the squad but Bill Reichardt and center Ron Peterson have colds that have slowed their work in practice. Peterson was excused from drills Wednesday.

The Hawkeyes, of course, are planning a few offensive surprises of their own. The Iowa attacking unit figures to be the same as usual, though its likely that freshman Stinkey Broeder, impressive against Minnesota, will see more duty at right halfback.

There's also a suspicion that Loran Williams will be employed more than on previous occasions at left half.

Punts and punt returns were also stressed Wednesday as the squad practiced in the stadium for a short time and then moved indoors to the fieldhouse.

Illinois ...
CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP)—Illinois gridgers worked indoors for the second day Wednesday as heavy snow covered the practice field.

Officials said they were giving no thought to postponement of the homecoming clash with Iowa Saturday. The Memorial Stadium field was covered with a tarpaulin and workmen Wednesday began shoveling the snow off of it.

But his accountant, Ted Jones, said he believed the former champ has decided to throw in his gloves.

Buena Vista Player In Critical Shape

SPENCER (AP) — Dick Bengford, Buena Vista college football player from Carroll who was critically injured in an automobile accident Saturday, was operated on Wednesday.

Bengford suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries in the accident north of Sioux Rapids on highway 71. Three other Buena Vista football players were injured in the crash, none critically.

Hospital authorities put out a call in the Storm Lake area for blood donors Wednesday. Doctors said after the operation that Bengford remained in "very critical" condition.

Louis Will Reveal Plans After Tour of Japan
CHICAGO (AP)—Joe Louis said Wednesday he will tell his fans sometime next month whether he's through with fighting or is determined to keep trying to regain the heavyweight championship.

The aging Brown Bomber said he will make a definite statement on his ring career after he returns to the United States after Dec. 12 from a barnstorming trip to Japan.

But his accountant, Ted Jones, said he believed the former champ has decided to throw in his gloves.

Earl Blaik Gets Mention For Hoosier Coach

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP)—Earl (Red) Blaik's name popped up Wednesday as a possible successor to Clyde Smith, who resigned under fire as football coach at Indiana University.

In the aftermath of Smith's surprise announcement Tuesday one group of university adherents was reported plugging for Blaik, coach of West Point's Black Knights, as the new leader here.

Blaik, the group was said to feel, is "unhappy" at West Point since the cribbing scandal undermined his potential 1951 power-house.

Indiana officials, however, said that no one has an inside track for the job and that no names have been mentioned officially.

Prof. John Mee, chairman of the athletic committee, said the problem will be discussed at the committee's regular meeting Nov. 16.

Will Finish Season
Smith's resignation is effective at the end of the current season. Mee and Athletic Director Paul (Pooch) Harrell said that if a successor is chosen shortly, an announcement probably would not be made until after the Indiana-Purdue game Nov. 24, final contest of the season.

Other candidates mentioned included former IU star Chuck Bennett, now a coach at Lagrange, Ill.; Northwestern University grid assistant Johnny Kovatch, formerly IU end coach; Pete Rucinski, veteran prep coach at East Chicago, Ind., and Florida State Coach Don Veller, who starred at IU in the 1930's.

Opinion over Smith's sudden resignation was divided. The "pro-Smith" camp was hopeful of the likeable Pennsylvanian will reconsider if the team shows well against Minnesota this Saturday, and Michigan State and Purdue.

'Isn't the Man'
Others believed a change will be to Indiana's advantage, that Smith "isn't the man for the job."

"I resigned because I wanted to, and that's all there is to it," Smith said. He said he has no plans, and no offers for another coaching position. "I'm not making any plans until after our last game," he added. He refused further comment.

A survey by the Daily Student, campus newspaper, revealed that the majority of the students is for Smith.

Boros Leads Field In North-South Golf
PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Julius Boros, husky 31-year-old professional from the Mid Pines club at nearby Southern Pines, shaved two strokes from par on each nine Wednesday for a 34-34—68 to lead the North and South open golf tournament's first round by two strokes.

Boros led veteran Cleveland professional Henry Picard and Tommy Wright, lanky professional from Kingsport, Tenn., by two shots as the more highly regarded players had their troubles on the 7,007-yard course.

FROSH REPLACES ENGH
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. (AP)—Gopher Coach Wes Fesler Wednesday said freshman Buzz Meighen would probably take over Marty Engh's right halfback post against Indiana Saturday.

OTTO VOGEL IN LINE FOR ILLINOIS POST
Otto Vogel, Iowa baseball coach since 1925, is under consideration for the same post at Illinois, it was revealed Wednesday.

Vogel said Wednesday night that he has been contacted by Illinois Athletic Director Doug Mills in reference to the Illini opening created by the death of Wally Roettger last month.

"I'm not sure what it's all about now," said Vogel, "but I plan to talk to Mills while I'm in Champaign this weekend for the football game and I should know more then."

Vogel, who graduated from Illinois in 1923, said that he would "naturally consider any good offer."

"Vogel has had marked success in his long tenure at Iowa. In modern era records (since 1938) his teams have piled up a conference record of 85 wins against only 42 losses to post the second best record in the Big Ten."

Undefeated Illinois is runnerup in the defense department with a 230.3 yards per game, but ranks seventh in total offense. Minnesota shares second place in offense with Iowa.

Wisconsin's offense was slowed only slightly on a snow-packed packed field last week against Indiana. The Badger offensive average dropped only 10 yards to 387.8 yards a game.

Wisconsin made all 10 of the points that have been scored against Illinois, the leader, in three conference games this year.

Wisconsin Dominates Big Ten Statistics

CHICAGO (AP)—Wisconsin, nestling in third place in Western conference football standings, dominates the loop's statistical field.

Official compilations released Wednesday show that Coach Ivy Williamson's Badgers have maintained their leadership in both team offensive and defensive play. They lead the nation and the conference on defense, limiting their opposition to an average of 136.2 yards per game.

Undefeated Illinois is runnerup in the defense department with a 230.3 yards per game, but ranks seventh in total offense. Minnesota shares second place in offense with Iowa.

Wisconsin's offense was slowed only slightly on a snow-packed packed field last week against Indiana. The Badger offensive average dropped only 10 yards to 387.8 yards a game.

Notre Dame-Spartans Bitter Grid Rivals

EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP) — A couple of old friends will be at each others throats when Michigan State collides with Notre Dame in football here Saturday.

The Spartans and the Irish have been like a couple of tough kids on the same block that no one else would play with. Until MSC was accepted in the Big Ten, the pair were the biggest independent powers in the Midwest.

Snooted by the Western Conference, they were faithful to each other in basketball through long series that dates back to 1909. The old buddies competed in other sports and organized the Central Collegiate track meet as an attraction to rival the Western Conference meet.

No Love In Football

When it comes to football, however, the brotherly love turns into a bloody Cain and Abel battle.

Notre Dame, beaten only by Southern Methodist, will try to wreck Michigan State's bid for its first unbeaten season since 1913. After this clash MSC will likely be favored to dump Indiana and Colorado in its season closers.

Eut MSC Coach Biggie Munn thinks the idle Saturday his squad had last week will hurt. The Spartans haven't played since they squashed Pitt Oct. 27.

Fears Letdown

"A lot like that can hurt a team's sharpness in hitting and timing. There is a big risk of a letdown," he said.

However, the idle weekend has given Bob Carey, MSC's great offensive end, a chance to rest from injuries that bothered him most of one season. He has sparkled in scrimmages.

Notre Dame, then, riding high, wallopped Michigan State 26-7 and 34-21 in 1948 and 1949. Last year after one of the most bitterly contested battles of the season, MSC came out on top by a 36-33 score.

Although nothing official, there have been complaints here about Notre Dame roughness. A recent scouting squabble, quickly smoothed over, showed the tension between the schols when it comes to football.

Ramblers Win Over Cosgrove

St. Mary's overcame a bad first quarter Wednesday night to defeat Cosgrove, 47-30, in the Junior high gym.

The Ramblers, ice cold in the early going, trailed 8-0 at the end of the first period.

But by halftime St. Mary's had a 14-11 lead as Cosgrove lost the range in the second quarter.

Bob Suplel with 17 points and Dave Cahill with 16 led the Rambler's scoring. B. Johnson of Cosgrove had 14.

Iowans Discuss Community Service Techniques

Mental Health Problem Outlined at Workshop

The mental health problem is the biggest problem we face in this country today, participants in a mental health workshop at SUI were told Wednesday.

The Rev. Waldemar Argow, Cedar Rapids, told members of the workshop that the problem should be faced and handled on the community level.

He sketched briefly the development of the Linn county mental health service center, Cedar Rapids, and described the support given it by civic groups, state and local government bodies.

The Linn county center offers the services of two psychiatrists, a clinical psychologist and two psychiatric case workers. Two graduate students from the SUI school of social work also assist in the mental health center's operation.

The Rev. Barney Crockett, Anamosa, reported to workshop members on his study of several mental health institutions. A description of readings, recordings and other available resources for public education in mental health problems was provided by Iva Aukes,

New York city, a representative of the National Association for Mental Health.

Sponsored by the Iowa Society for Mental Health and the Iowa mental health authority in co-operation with SUI, the workshop will continue through Friday.

Dr. Leinfelder Will Talk To Horace Mann PTA

Dr. P. J. Leinfelder, SUI professor of ophthalmology will speak on "Eye Problems in School Children" at a meeting of the Horace Mann PTA Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

All parents or guardians of Horace Mann pupils are urged to attend and all other persons interested are invited.

100 Delegates Due Here for Church Meeting

About 100 student delegates will attend the Gamma Delta Regional convention of the Missouri Synod Lutheran student organization here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Friday's activities begin with registration at St. Paul's Lutheran chapel at 4 p.m. Evening events include dinner at the Union cafeteria at 5; regional executive board meeting, Union sun porch, at 7; social program in the student center of the chapel at 7:30; resolutions committee meeting, Union sun porch, at 8, and a candlelight service conducted by the Rev. W. J. Fields, Ames, Regional Pastoral advisor, at the chapel at 11.

There will be a general business meeting in the student center at 8 a.m. Saturday. Lunch will be served at the Union cafeteria at noon.

Three workshops are planned from 1 p.m. to 2:30 and from 3 p.m. to 4:30, Saturday. "The Significance of the Six Symbols for Students," will be discussed in the student center.

The integration of the Iowa City chapter's program panel will be discussed in the house chamber of Old Capitol. Those planning this workshop are Clarence Kalsen, G. Ochevedan; Robert Marolf, E3, Davenport; Jerold Buddenhagen, P3, Allison; Carolyn Hornung, A2, Iowa City, and Dorothy Widmann, A1, Cedar Rapids.

Waneta Strackbein, G, Correctionville, will lead the workshop on personal growth, mental hygiene and adjustment in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Milton Zagel, German department, will be the speaker at a banquet at the Ox Yoke inn, Amana Colonies at 7 p.m. William Kniffel, Springfield, Ill., will be master of ceremonies. Cars will leave the student center for the banquet at 6:15 p.m.

The Rev. E. H. Yohr, Pastoral advisor here, will conduct vesper services at 11:30 p.m.

Actor Charles Coburn Here for Program Nov. 29 at Union

Tickets for the Charles Coburn program will be available at the main desk of the Iowa Memorial Union beginning Nov. 19. The price is $1, including tax, and all mailed orders should include a self-addressed envelope to facilitate ticket return. Checks should be made out to the State University of Iowa.

Coburn's performance is scheduled for Nov. 29 and is sponsored by the central party committee. The program will include a talk by Coburn about some of his experiences during his 61 years in the theater and a number of his most famous stage and screen characterizations.

After a 40-year stage career, Coburn successfully stepped into Hollywood roles. He won an Academy Award for his performance in "The More the Merrier."

About 30 years ago he developed defective vision in his right eye, but he turned the misfortune into an asset by adopting the monicle which has become his special trademark.

Despite the monicle, Coburn is not English but a native of Georgia.

Education Annual Prints Article by SUI Provost

An address on "The Contribution of Professional Schools" by Harry H. Davis, SUI administrative officer in charge of educational activities, has been published in the volume "Addresses on Current Issues in Higher Education 1951."

The volume contains the addresses presented at the general sessions of the sixth annual National Conference on Higher Education, 1951.

DENTISTS ELECT COLES

Dr. Frank Coles, Mt. Pleasant, has been elected president of the alumni association of the SUI college of dentistry.

2 Additional Suits On File Against State Commission

Two more damage suits were filed in district court Wednesday in connection with the construction of the highway 6 cutoff south of Coralville this summer.

Both suits are against the state highway commission and ask that condemnation proceedings be initiated to assess the amount of damage caused to the plaintiffs. These actions bring the total to 10 such cases arising from the construction.

Charles Morganstern and C. B. Oldaker, who own property north of the highway about one mile west of Iowa City, charge that raising the grade of the highway has impaired access to the property, altered drainage, and cut trade to business establishments on the property.

The property in question is leased by Margaret and Ernal Loghry, who operate a service station.

Meryl Heltbride, who filed the second suit Wednesday, owns land north of the highway about one-quarter mile west of Iowa City. She also claims that access to the property has been impaired, and the drainage altered.

Myron Collins, 43, denied the charge when arraigned before Federal Judge Theodore Levin. "I was framed," he said. "The money was planted in my room."

The ex-sergeant was arrested by FBI agents Tuesday night when they found $100 in marked "payoff" money in a bureau drawer at his home.

Truman Appointee WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman Wednesday appointed Charles A. Coolidge of Massachusetts to be assistant secretary of defense to succeed Daniel K. Edwards.
