Reds Propose 30-Day Trial Truce

Truman Dares GOP To Make '52 Issue Of Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman dared the Republicans Tuesday night to make foreign policy an issue in the 1952 elections, and accused the GOP of rolling up "enormous slush funds" to wage a "dirty smear campaign" against Democratic candidates.

In a fighting campaign speech reminiscent of his 1948 "give 'em hell" technique, Mr. Truman lashed out at what he called the money-laden "special interests" and the "bitter, partisan backward-looking 'old guard'" of the Republican party.

He said they are ready to apply on a national scale the "lies and smears" and "all the tricks of propaganda they used in last year's senatorial elections, notably in Maryland and Utah. They got away with it once," he said, and "think they can do it again."

Best Demo Issue

But the President said the GOP will be "overwhelmingly" defeated if it tries to "play with dynamite" and makes an election issue of the administration's foreign policy, "the best issue the Democratic party has."

Mr. Truman interrupted his Florida vacation to fly here and deliver one of his sharpest political speeches in recent months before the National Women's Democratic club. But he still left unanswered the question of whether he plans to run for re-election next year.

Again Denies Ike Deal

He made the address denying again that he ever offered Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, either directly or indirectly, the 1952 Democratic presidential nomination. The President had not yet arrived in Washington from Key West when Rep. Fred F. Busbey (R-Ill.) demanded that the Democratic National committee pay expenses of his trip because Mr. Truman had flown in the Independence, the plane provided for his use by the government.

Busbey noted that Mr. Truman is flying back to Key West today taking Mrs. Truman with him, and estimated the round-trip would cost the taxpayers $2,280. Neither the White House nor the Democratic National committee had any comment.

Kansas Solon Says Ike a Republican If He Should Run

PARIS (AP)—A personal friend of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said Tuesday he is hopeful the general will run for the presidency and declared that if he runs, it will be on the Republican ticket.

Fresh from an hour's conference with the Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers in Europe, Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kans.) said:

"If Gen. Eisenhower runs for president it will be on the Republican ticket. There is no question—there never has been any question—about that. I am hopeful that the situation will be such that he will be available."

This hour's talk was perhaps the longest session that Eisenhower has had with any visiting editor or politician in recent weeks. Carlson was asked point blank at a news conference at Eisenhower's headquarters after the interview as to whether they had talked politics.

"Kansans never meet but that they get into politics," Carlson replied.

Carlson was only one of many travelers who saw Eisenhower Tuesday. But he is the only one who indicated that politics was brought up.

A party of touring newspapermen brought to Europe by the army to look at defense preparations here got a regular "pattern" talk. They were given a detailed briefing on military plans and wishes by Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Eisenhower's chief of staff.

immediately at the President's address, accepting his foreign policy challenge and attacking his "slush fund" accusations.

Republican National Chairman Guy S. Gabrielson said the GOP will spend what is necessary "within the limitations of the law" to bring "all of the issues before the voters." He also said that the three Democratic National committees spent $2,066,372.50 in last year's elections compared with $1,444,894.77 by the Republicans.

Truman Considers Expert on Russia For Ambassador Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said Tuesday that George F. Kennan, one of the nation's top experts on Russia, is being considered as ambassador to Moscow in a major shift in ranking American diplomatic representatives in Europe.

The President's word aroused immediate speculation in diplomatic circles here that Kennan, a principal author of America's containment policy against communism, might not be acceptable to Soviet leaders.

Appointment of an ambassador always is preceded by a note to the country involved seeking approval of the nominee. While Russia never has turned down an American nominee, official quarters feel that Soviet leaders might reject Kennan.

If named to the post, the 46-year-old Kennan would succeed Adm. Lan G. Kirk, now in Paris attached to the American delegation to the UN.

In the German post, Kirk would relieve U.S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy, who also is known to want to return to this country. McCloy is reported to have turned down an offer to be first American ambassador to Western Germany.

Kennan, now on leave, long has been one of the state department's top specialists on Russian affairs. He speaks Russian fluently and spent several years in the American embassy in Moscow as a career diplomat.

Too Much Neal — Tone Files For Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Franchot Tone—still faced with the problem of too much Tom Neal—decided Tuesday to give up Barbara Payton.

After 58 days of marriage, Tone filed a divorce suit charging her with extreme mental cruelty—just as she was on the verge of doing the same to him. She dropped her plans for a suit later.

"We had arguments and quarrels," Tone told a reporter, "mostly around one subject." Fun-loving Barbara, said her 46-year-old husband, refused to break off her association with actor Tom Neal, whose fists sent Tone to the hospital Sept. 14.

But when she insisted on making plans for co-starring in a motion picture with Tom Neal, Tone decided he had enough.

"Her contemplation of making a picture with Neal," said Tone, "is absolutely incompatible with my ideas of what would be good for the industry—and entirely out of line in consideration of our marriage."

Miss Payton at first authorized her attorney to go ahead with a counter-suit, but later in the day changed her mind.

There'll Be Thanksgiving in Korea

'Considerable Evidence' Backs Red Atrocities

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) (AP)—General headquarters said Tuesday there was "considerable evidence" that approximately 6,000 U.S. soldiers captured by the Communists were victims of "death by atrocity."

The statement from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters emphasized, however, that "there is no conclusive proof as to the number of dead" among the 10,836 Americans still carried as missing.

The estimate was 500 higher than that made last week by Col. James M. Hanley, chief of the U.S. eighth army's war crimes section.

Both the Chinese Communist and the North Korean radios hotly denied Hanley's charge. The Communists in turn accused the UN command of killing or starving to death 17,000 Red prisoners.

Hanley apparently anticipated this. His report declared that all Red prisoners were well cared for in accordance with the Geneva convention governing treatment of prisoners of war.

While public information officers would not comment, the latest statement from the headquarters of the supreme UN commanders apparently was issued at the prompting of the Pentagon.

The defense department asked for clarification of a statement issued by Ridgway over the weekend which backed up Hanley's report of atrocities but gave no figures.

The latest statement said the total number of known U.S. dead as a result of Red atrocities was 365. Of this number, 254 victims were identified and relatives were notified they were killed in action.

"Of the 10,833 persons still carried as missing in action," the statement added, "there is no conclusive evidence to justify a presumption of death by atrocity of a large number, which may approximate 6,000. Neither the fact nor manner of death in individual cases has yet been established."

The weekend statement by Ridgway expressed regrets that

SUI Family Plans Variety of Events

SUI's big university family—10,000 strong—will set aside their class work today in anticipation of Thursday's Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings.

Many of the family members will usher in the holiday season right here in Iowa City.

To them, the four-day vacation will be a chance to catch up on sleep—maybe a little studying—after eating a Thanksgiving dinner in an Iowa City restaurant or at the home of a friend.

Osage to Help

Foreign students, faculty members and married students make up a big share of those who will spend their Thanksgiving here.

One group of 45 foreign students, however, will become acquainted with the American Thanksgiving tradition as guests of the townpeople of Osage.

The Westlawn nurses' home won't be affected too much by the holiday atmosphere. All nurses except the freshmen will have to work two of the vacation days.

While these students go about their usual routine today, hundreds of others will be riding buses, waiting for the next train or thumbing a ride along the highway.

Expect Heavy Traffic

Traffic out of Iowa City is expected to be heavy after noon today.

The Union bus depot here reported that three buses filled with students will be eastbound at 12:05 p.m. and four more will head west with additional students at 1:15 p.m.

United Airlines said 16 extra sections have been added to the daily flight schedule in expectation of a new high in holiday travel. Seventeen SUI students have reserved seats to go by air.

Three extra cars will be placed on the interurban timetable today to accommodate the student travelers.

The Rock Island railroad in Iowa City said five coaches will be added on their line.

Good Weather News

Students who plan to travel today have encouraging news from the weatherman. Iowa is scheduled to have cloudy skies today, but warm temperatures.

The weather outlook for Thanksgiving day in Iowa is for partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures.

Thanksgiving will have a new twist for SUI students this year. For the first time in 30 years, the no-cut rule is not in effect with this vacation as the first trial period.

New Proposal Could End War By Christmas

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) (AP)—The Communists made a 30-day trial truce proposal of their own today that appeared on the surface to be close to the latest United Nations plan that could end the fighting in Korea by Christmas.

The Communist counter-offer was made in a two-hour session of the joint truce subcommittee at Panmunjon at which the Red delegates had been scheduled to reply to the Allied proposal. United Nations negotiators requested an adjournment to study the Communist proposal. The next truce session was scheduled for 11 a.m. tomorrow (8 p.m. Wednesday CST).

The Communist counter-offer could be in effect a favorable reply to the UN proposal.

If the proposals were basically the same, today's action would be in line with past Red face-saving methods of attempting to get their own proposals accepted by the UN rather than accepting virtually the same proposals when introduced by the Allies.

The Communist proposal made three points:

1. That the actual line of contact become the military demarcation line and that both sides withdraw two kilometers from this line to establish the demilitarized zone.

2. That the subcommittee delegates immediately set the line of contact to fix the cease-fire line and demilitarized zone.

3. That hostilities will continue until the full armistice is signed but that the cease-fire line will not be changed for 30 days despite actual battle changes. If the armistice is not cleaned up in 30 days, then the cease-fire line shall be altered to reflect battle changes.

Communist spokesman Alan Winington, who passed copies of the Communist proposal to the Allied press shortly after the meeting began at Panmunjon, said:

"This is basically your proposal. It accepts all of your ideas but clarifies it."

Smooth Trip Iowa 'Sailors' Enjoy Pacific Cruise

DES MOINES (AP)—The U.S.S. Iowa is a smooth-riding ship, B. J. Palmer, Davenport, president of radio stations WOC, Davenport, and WHO, Des Moines, said in a ship-to-shore telephone interview Tuesday.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher is one of the 14 Iowans aboard the battleship as special guests of the navy during the shakedown cruise to Hawaii.

"We are running some sea, but no one is seasick," Palmer told radio station WHO. He said at the time he talked with the station that the Iowa was about 500 miles west of Long Beach, Calif.

No one should be seasick, Palmer said, "because the ship rides as smooth or smoother than any train or plane in ordinary weather."

Each of the Iowans has an individual cabin, he said.

"We are very comfortable," he said. "The food is excellent. The captain, all other officers and the crew are courteous and considerate and are doing everything possible to help us enjoy this trip."

Palmer said the Iowans were all well and that all send greetings to their families and friends.

ROKs Continue Push Over Mountain Area

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) (AP)—The South Korean 6th division swarmed down mountain slopes on the central Korean front yesterday in a mile and a half advance that sent off-balance Chinese Communists retreating northward.

Hard-driving South Korean soldiers have gained up to five miles along the 9-mile front southeast of the former Communist stronghold of Kumsong since opening a limited offensive last Saturday.

Prisoners Sing Marine Hymn

A GROUP OF CAPTURED CHINESE COMMUNISTS, previously tutored by members of the fifth marine regiment, line up to sing their version of the Marine Hymn. Warrant Officer Pearly Stone, Dahlgren, Va., says they sing only the first few lines and at the end throw their hats in the air and shout "Gung Ho." Gung Ho is Chinese for "pull together." The marines say the prisoners repeat this process voluntarily several times a day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Interpreting the News - Foreign Policy Approach Unchanged by Churchill

(Readers are invited to express opinion in Letters to the Editor. All letters must include hand written signature and address—typewritten signatures not acceptable. Letters become the property of The Daily Iowan; we reserve the right to edit or withhold letters. We suggest letters be limited to 300 words or less. Opinions expressed do not necessarily represent those of The Daily Iowan.)

TO THE EDITOR:
Stranded as we are on the remote island of Manhattan, our principle source of information concerning the University of Iowa and its many talented people is The Daily Iowan. We appreciate the thoroughness and adroitness with which this news is brought to our attention.

We salute you, but since we pay for the subscription we reserve the right to criticize you once in awhile. Unaccustomed as we are to writing letters to newspaper editors, we must now put forth the suggestion that some attempt be made to bring order out of chaos in your play reviewing department.

In the past The Daily Iowan reviews of the University Theatre productions, although not always agreed with by the performers and the first-night spectators, have often been of a high quality in a journalistic sense. In addition, the reviewers in the past years have written thoughtfully and with a sense of responsibility. And most important, they all had a good knowledge of the drama, which is the prime requisite for a dramatic critic.

We regret to inform you that none of the reviews that have appeared so far this year have lived up to the standard set in the past. And, moreover, this failure to live up to the critic's standards has been shockingly consistent.

Our evidence is in your morgue; those dead reviews by Wayne Danielson. This is not to call into question Mr. Danielson's character, integrity, private life or even his IQ. But the significant fact is that The Daily Iowan is not living up to its duty to the theatre-going public, the University Theatre and its performers.

What meager reward for diligent and honest effort to turn to the columns in The Daily Iowan and find Mr. Danielson displaying his limited vocabulary of "Stirring," "Admirable," and "Outstanding" in his description of performances! Does Mr. Danielson aspire to the tinsel throne of a Hollywood blurb writer?

Please understand that this criticism is intended kindly and constructively and we don't wish to deprive anyone of a satisfying job on the Iowan. However, a re-evaluation of talents may be in order.

When we boast of the achievements of the University Theatre and even of the school of journalism to our newly won eastern friends they question our veracity upon perusing Mr. Danielson's copy. We deeply resent this! We have so few friends. Please help us win friends and influence people.

As recent graduates and for the sake of our Alumni association dues we hope this solemnly intended plea bears fruit.

Study Shows Colleges Replace Vet Tuition With Business Aid

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Education Reporter

NEW YORK—Now that Uncle Sam's tuition payments for veterans are running out, the colleges are scouting around for a candidate for the role of "uncle."

They think they've found "a rapidly growing provider of students and hard cash in American business."

Uncle Sam's educational fling paid off so well in preparing veterans quickly for business jobs that hundreds of firms are sending experienced employes for short periods of training.

This is the finding of Dr. Robert A. Love, president of the association of university evening colleges who has just completed a nationwide check of his 77 member units. These include the evening branches of most of the large urban universities.

Dr. Love also is director of the evening and extension division of the City College school of business, New York, which, with an enrollment of 11,000 students a semester, is the largest business training organization in the world. In the last year 141 companies sent employes for one or more terms of its training.

Dr. Love reports the number of business organizations sending their personnel to colleges shot up rapidly when these organizations saw the results of the veteran training. Today, with personnel shortages growing, companies in all types of fields are protecting themselves by getting employes trained.

High taxes are another accelerating influence, he says. The tax provision authorizing five per cent tax reductions for educational purposes has spurred establishment of college scholarships by business firms.

Another form of business aid is the active sponsorship of particular courses by hundreds of business organizations.

Designs 'Insect Flight' Plane

WILLIAM B. STOUT, inventor of all-metal tri-motor transport, poses in his studio with model of the ornithopter—or flapping wing airplane.

Inventor Has Model — Flapping Wing Airplane

— Of New Ornithopter

By HOWARD DE WALD
Central Press Correspondent

PHOENIX, ARIZ. — Private planes of today are not self-sufficient as a mode of travel, says William B. Stout, prominent aeronautical engineer and inventor, and he plans to do something about it.

"In many cases more time is spent getting to a plane at an airport and, after the flight, getting from the airport to the destination than if the traveler had made the trip by surface transportation," Stout says.

An airplane is needed that could take off and land in a space no bigger than necessary to park an automobile and with enough speed to make long flights, says the white-haired man who designed the famed Ford tri-motor transport plane in the early 1920's.

"Until we have an airplane that will do all an automobile will do, and more, use of the personal airplane will never become popular," says Stout. "The answer could be an ornithopter."

The ornithopter would be a flapping wing, insect-type airplane that could land and take off in its own length better than a helicopter and with the necessary

Berlin Airlift Is Over, But— North American Airlift Speeds Mining of Ore

By HARRY WARNER JR.
Central Press Correspondent

The days of the Berlin airlift are gone—but a civilian airlift, right here in North America, has helped to open up one of the world's richest treasure troves.

Iron ore is the treasure. There's a fantastically rich deposit of it in northeastern Quebec and Labrador. But there is no practical way of reaching it by land transportation yet—the region is a long distance from nowhere, protected from humans by mountains, undergrowth and terrible terrain.

The other day, a Fairchild C-119 came back home to its place of construction — Hagerstown, Md.— and its crew told how they played a major role in making possible the mining of the vital metal. The plane, together with a dozen others of smaller dimensions, has been hauling everything from groceries to 20-ton pieces of construction equipment to the little group of pioneers who are preparing for mining in the Saguenay country near Knob Lake, Labrador.

The United States air force buys all the C-119's that Fairchild builds. But through special arrangements by the state department, this one was lent to the Iron Ore Company of Canada. Fairchild's flight test department supplied a 10-man crew.

As a result, first shipments of ore will probably be made by 1954. That's years ahead of the schedule that would be necessary if it weren't for this North American airlift.

Fairchild crew members kept track of their work, and discovered that in 135 flights during two months of operation, they hauled 2,031,905 pounds of equipment and supplies. Most of it was digging and building equipment, brought by conventional means to the port of Seven Islands, Que. From Seven Islands, the C-119 Packet flew the equipment into the wilderness, using two hurriedly constructed airports to land for deliveries.

This also represents the first big railroad to be constructed with the help of airplanes. The railroad is being built across 360 miles of wilderness to transport iron ore from the deposit to Seven Isles. Planes came into the picture because hauling dismantled construction equipment to the site was a painfully slow job.

Flying the Knob Lake airlift presented some problems that the fellows over in Berlin didn't have. There aren't any Russians in the vicinity of the iron ore to worry about. But the huge iron deposits ruined even the best compasses. The hastily built landing strips chewed up tires. There was little information on weather conditions, but that didn't matter much—the weather could usually be counted on to be bad. No one thought about forced landings, because there wasn't a clear spot from Seven Islands to the destinations.

The C-119 carried nine-ton caterpillar tractors and 15,000-pound rotors without dismantling them. Twenty-ton loaders and shovels were torn down into two halves, and taken on a pair of trips. When there was room, the plane brought bridge timbers, 48-inch culvert pipe, food and other necessities of life to the men who are building the railroad, preparing for the mines, constructing highways and erecting dams.

Geologists and engineers have known since the 19th Century that the ore field exists near Knob Lake. But nothing could be done about it, in the past, because there wasn't anyone there to dig it and there wasn't any way of getting it to civilization, once dug.

Only a few Indians eked out their existence in that territory in the past. A new city that will house more than 3,000 persons is now on the drawing boards, as the heart and center of the new mining project. It's all being done by civilian companies, but the governments of the United States and Canada are interested because of the importance of iron to their defense programs.

Currently, about 600 men are doing the construction work, living in tents, and camping on land which is dotted with chunks of loose, surface rock that contains 60 per cent iron. Only three white women have seen the land.

Honeymooners who want to do things the hard way could have a wonderful time trying to get to these regions. Airlift pilots have spotted in the distance an enormous waterfall, bigger than Niagara, which isn't even on the maps.

More Insurance Payments

NEW YORK (AP)—Iowa families received $2 million more in life insurance death benefit payments in the first nine months of this year as compared with the same period a year ago, the Institute of Life Insurance reported Tuesday.

The Institute said families received $16,447,000 in benefits for the first nine months of this year compared with $14,505,000 in the same period of 1950.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE Florida beach looked beautiful, and the waves broke gently over it—but the tourist from Philadelphia noticed that nobody was venturing into the water. "Are there alligators around maybe?" he inquired of a native. "Ain't seen one in nigh on twenty years," averred the native. Reassured, the tourist plunged into the briny. After he had paddled out about a hundred yards he suffered fresh misgivings, and hollered, "Are you absolutely sure there are no alligators here?" "Of course I am," hollered back the native. "They wouldn't dare come around here. They are scared to death of the sharks."

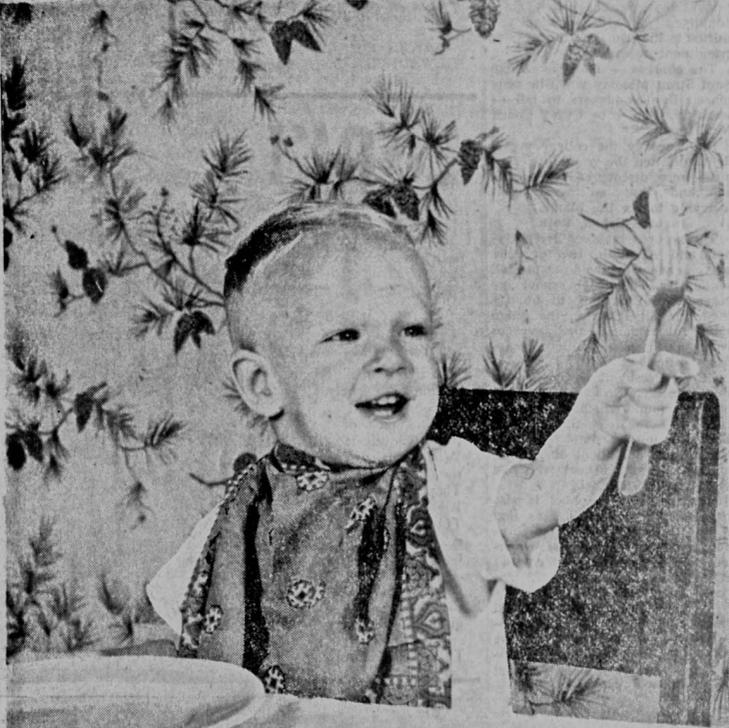

A smug socialite once boasted to Dorothy Parker, "I've held my husband now for seven years." "Don't worry, my dear," rasped Miss Parker. "If you can only hang on long enough, he'll come back in style."

Back Seat Driving

DES MOINES (AP) — One Iowa hunter's wife has decided to return to "back seat" driving. A state game warden Tuesday told of following a hunter's car on a gravel road. All of a sudden the car went off the road and turned over. A man and a woman crawled out. She was angry. "I told you I couldn't drive this car," she shouted at her husband. She had been driving while her husband watched for pheasants. Both were unhurt.

Thanksgiving

"HURRY UP WITH THAT TURKEY, MOM" is what Billy Francis, 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Francis of Stadium Park seems to be saying. Like many Americans, the Francis family is planning on a turkey dinner Thursday and Billy's plate won't remain empty then.

GARY HACKER REALLY GOT THE BIRD when he went pheasant hunting near Old Man Creek this week. Appropriately enough the bird was a turkey which Gary caught bare handed. The turkey, which will undoubtedly be a dinner guest at the Hacker home this Thursday, weighs about 30 pounds. Gary, an 18-year-old senior at City high, lives at 1001 Friendly drive.

The first vacation of the school year starts at noon today and most of the students are taking advantage of it by going home for a little rest and a big turkey dinner.

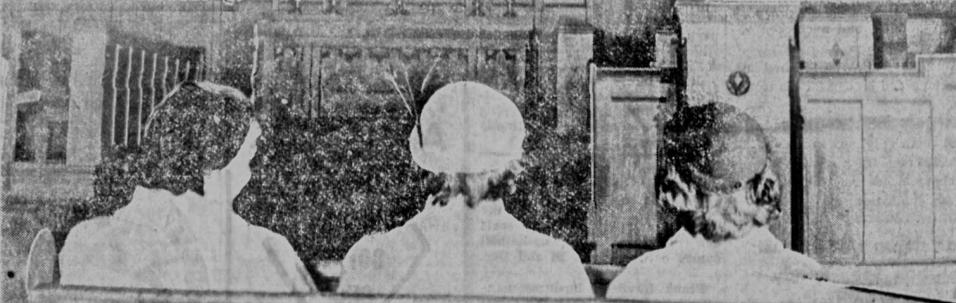

For the first time since the 1920's, the no-cut rule isn't in effect. The attendance at today's classes will determine if the rule will be suspended again for the Christmas holidays or if it will be re-instated.

The transportation companies in the city have also cooperated by enlarging their services to handle the expected heavy traffic.

As can be seen from the pictures on this page, the celebrating of Thanksgiving can take many forms. Most of these forms however center around a turkey feast topped off with some good old fashioned relaxing.

A Happy Thanksgiving

WHEREVER AMERICANS OBSERVE THANKSGIVING, there will be special church services. Thanksgiving originated with the deeply religious Pilgrims after they had survived the first rugged winter in America. As the years have passed, all the frills that go into making a national holiday have been added but religious observance of the day has remained as one of the most important items.

THERE WILL BE A MASS EXODUS of students from Iowa City today on their way home for a four-day vacation—the first of the school year. Here six coeds board a train at the Rock Island depot. They are, left to right, Mary Ellen Wygle, A3, Clarksville; Jaunita

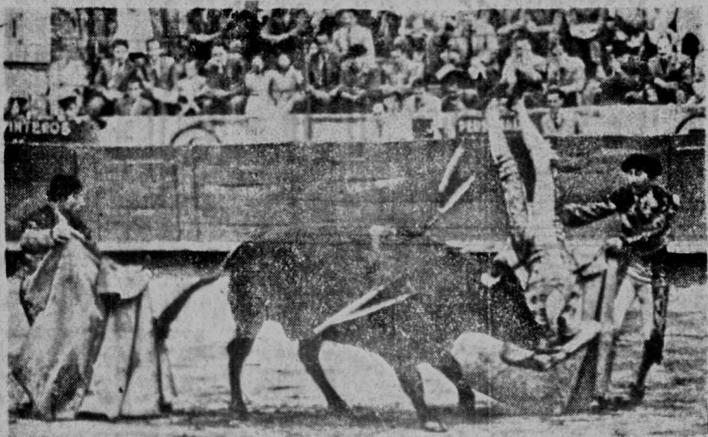

Bethke, A3, Cherokee; Joann Tracy, N1, Ankeny; Lois Powers, N1, Manchester; Marilyn Meyer, N1, Ackley and Margaret Arley, A3, Hampton. These girls were able to leave early because they had no classes this morning.

NOT ALL THE STUDENTS will be able to go home this vacation, either because of jobs here or because of the distance. Card playing, listening to the radio and studying will be the main activities of those remaining. A few plan on attending the Notre Dame football

Camera Catches Matador in Trouble

MEXICAN MATADOR Jorge Medina, gored in the left thigh, was tossed on the horn of his enraged opponent in a Barcelona, Spain, ring, as the injured bull-fighter's assistants tried to distract the beast. The bull caught Medina and knocked him to the ground before goring him. Although seriously injured, Medina is expected to recover.

Reichardt on UP Big Ten Team

Hawkeyes Work On Passing Attack

Iowa's Bill Reichardt was almost a unanimous choice on the all-Big Ten team selected by the conference coaches for the United Press.

The UP team, released Tuesday, had Reichardt at fullback after the Iowa senior received the nod from eight of the nine coaches. One coach placed him on the second team.

Only Lowell Perry, Michigan's stellar end, obtained such wholehearted backing.

Otherwise, though, there wasn't another Hawkeye on the three teams selected.

Two Repeaters

Reichardt currently leads the Big Ten in rushing by three yards but will almost certainly yield to Wisconsin's Allan Ameche who has another conference game Saturday.

Meanwhile, Iowa concentrated on passing Tuesday for the season's finale with Notre Dame at South Bend, Saturday.

Most of the time spent outdoors was devoted to work on the Hawkeye air game which fell off against Wisconsin last week. Several new pass patterns were worked on.

See Irish Plays

The squad moved indoors for the second part of the afternoon where reserves ran through Notre Dame T and I formation plays.

Though the Hawks have not fared well as far as winning games, several Iowa players continued their assault on Iowa records.

"Dusty" Rice had a new Iowa modern season's scoring record, Reichardt added figures to his new rushing yards and attempts records, and Fred Ruck came within two of breaking the pass-catching mark as the Hawks approached their final 1951 football game.

Tops Reichardt's Mark

Rice now has 48 points, four more than the Iowa record set in 1949 by Reichardt. He has eight touchdowns, five on passes, and that total of eight is two more than the former Iowa record made by Jack Dittmer in 1949.

Every time Reichardt carries and gains, he adds to his own records, broken after seven games. His season's total now is 158 rushes and his yards 664.

The 1951 season already has produced six new Iowa records and five others have been equalled, either single game or season's. In addition to Ruck's approach of the pass-catching mark, Burt Britzmann can break the Iowa pass completion record if he hits seven vs. Notre Dame Saturday.

Hawklet Cagers Open Season Against Marengo Here Tonight

By JORDAN MATULEF

City high will open its 1951-52 basketball season here tonight when it meets Marengo at 8 at the City high gym.

The contest will be a non-conference affair and will serve as a tuneup for the little Hawks.

Added height on this year's squad may give the Hawklets a better record than last year in the always tough Mississippi Valley conference. Last year City sported one of the smallest clubs in its history and won six of its 11 conference games and finished fourth in the league behind state champion Davenport, Clinton and McKinley of Cedar Rapids.

Four lettermen from last year's squad are on hand but only one of them, Jim Freeman, is likely to be in the starting lineup tonight.

Freeman, who performed regularly at center last season, has been shifted to a guard position to provide extra rebounding strength under the defensive bucket.

Teamed with Freeman at the other guard will be John White who stands 5-9 and is rugged enough to be aggressive under the boards and good at drive-in shots.

At center will be senior Ted Dunnington, who stands 6-3 and who is a much improved ball player according to Coach Howard Moffit.

The forwards will be Bob Frantz, 5-9, and Jamie Andrews, 5-11.

This year, under Moffit, the Hawklets will play a set style of ball, fast-breaking only when a good opportunity is evident. The forwards will do a lot of driving in Moffit's system.

The biggest problems confronting the Hawklets will probably be lack of speed and inexperience. Freeman will be the only experienced man in the lineup and the added size will certainly handicap the speed of the team.

Attacks Continue On College Athletics

Up to Colleges To Clean House, Judge Streit Says

NEW YORK (AP) — The judge who handed out jail sentences in the basketball bribery scandal told the nation's colleges Tuesday it was their task—not the district attorney's—to keep their athletics clean.

Judge Saul S. Streit followed up his sentencing of a fixer and former players by declaring: "Unless the colleges take heed, all the efforts of the district attorneys, the state and the entire exposure will serve no purpose whatsoever."

The tall, 53-year-old jurist commented to newsmen in his chambers in the face of disclaimers from officials of some of the colleges he named Monday as over-emphasizing commercialism or winking at athletes' scholastic abilities.

"Condition Exists" Streit said, "and denials, reports and surveys will serve no purpose unless the college administrations change their present methods."

He scarcely had spoken before the College of the City of New York announced it was adopting a rigid new policy that automatically would eliminate CCNY "as an athletic power in the future."

Streit Monday named Maryland, Oklahoma, Texas, Texas A. & M., Southern Methodist, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Kentucky as examples of schools over-emphasizing football — and drew quick reaction concerning some.

In Maryland, Gov. Thomas McKeldin asked for an investigation of aid to athletes at the University of Maryland, which has one of the nation's foremost football teams.

The governor asked the university's board of regents to determine whether Maryland athletes were recruited through "deceit" or in any manner that would dishonor the school.

Neyland Dissents
In Knoxville, Coach Bob Neyland said Streit's remarks that academic standards of athletes are a laugh "does not apply at Tennessee." The Tennessee football team is ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press weekly poll.

Neyland said the scholastic average of the Tennessee football squad in 1950-51 "was 20 per cent above the average of all male students for the year."

Tennessee President C. E. Brehm said: "We don't think the athletic department has over-emphasized athletic activities to the detriment of our academic program."

Judge Streit said that, in the basketball scandal, commercialism overlapped into the buying and selling of players and finally to bribery.

NCAA Policy Council Hits Post-Season Tilts

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association's policy making council Tuesday proposed a program of rigid athletic controls. It hit especially at lax academic standards, professionalism trends, and post-season competition, possibly leading to the end of bowl football games.

The council, drafting a concise reform list for presentation to the full NCAA convention in Cincinnati Jan. 9-12, 1952, approved a resolution banning post season contractual commitments in all sports which extend beyond Jan. 2 1953.

The resolution directed the NCAA's extra events committee to begin immediately a full year's study of the pressure implications inherent in the playing of intercollegiate post season games in all sports.

Includes NCAA Game
The resolution specified NCAA-sponsored post season competition, as well as implied reference to bowl football games.

The council explained that such prior commitments as the Rose Bowl game between the Pacific Coast conference and the Big Ten the next three years, and possibly the Cotton Bowl game, would not be affected.

Hitting at excessive financial aid to athletes, the council recommended to the Cincinnati convention a code of amendment requiring all financial assistance to be administered or approved by individual institutions. This would strike at under-the-table gifts to star athletes from over-enthusiastic alumni.

The penalty for violation would be ineligibility of the involved athlete.

Two Proposals
In proposing amendments of out-of-season practice, the council offered two proposals, one would confine "organized practice sessions" in football and basketball to the recognized seasons of those sports. The other would limit off-season practice to 20 sessions.

Another recommended constitutional amendment dealt with the principle of sound academic standards.

CCNY Fixed Grades Of Roth, Cohen

NEW YORK (AP) — City College of New York admitted Tuesday that at least two basketball stars convicted for bribery were admitted to the school on the basis of fraudulent records.

The charges — made by Judge Saul Streit Monday when he sentenced five ex-players to jail — were first denied by CCNY Coach Nat Holman.

But Tuesday the college president admitted the fraudulent records were discovered six weeks ago, and that an investigation is trying to fix the blame.

Involve Cohen, Roth
The records involved Herb Cohen and Al Roth, two of nine players who received suspended sentences. Their high school averages were too low to qualify them for City College, the judge said, but somehow the averages were upped in the college registrar's office.

CCNY President Harry Wright said Tuesday, "No evidence as yet has been found which would indicate who falsified the records. The situation is complicated because there are about 50 persons in the recording offices who had access to the files."

Wright said the school is also probing the judge's charges that coaches lured players to the campus with the promise of work-free jobs and "winked at" courses of study.

Answers Charges
"Assistant Coach Harold Sand (mentioned by the judge) appeared before the investigating committee and answered in detail the charges made against him," Wright said.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 26 THE ROOSTER

You have to get up early in the morning to put one over on this cock-of-the-walk! When it came to making "quick-trick" experiments of cigarette mildness, he stated flatly, "That's strictly for clucks"! How 'ya going to keep 'em down on the farm—when they know there's one convincing way to prove cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test... the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke—on a day after day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

I Card Tickets

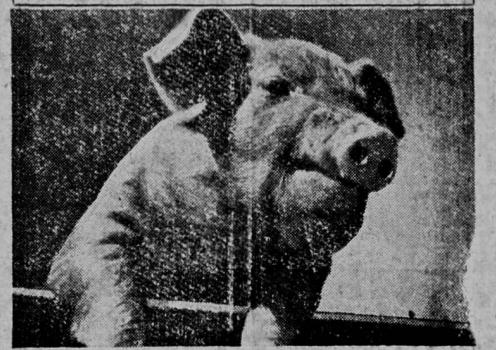

Holders of "I" cards can make arrangements for reserved seats for the Iowa home basketball games between Nov. 26 and Dec. 1.

Frank Havlicek, business manager of athletics, said that staff members who own cards may bring or send the cards to the department of athletics for assignment of seats.

If several persons desire to sit together, they should submit their cards in one batch. It is not necessary for the cards to be brought to the office personally if staff members desire to mail them but in the latter case a stamped addressed envelope should be enclosed.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

WHENEVER SHEEDY gave a gal the glad ham she turned up her snoot. Poor Paul took pen and oink and wrote a litter home: "I'm sty-mied. All the gals think I'm a boar. To get a date is a pig's feat!" His mother wrote back: "Even a dullard like you should know enough to borrow his roommate's Wildroot Cream-Oil! It's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Makes your hair look neat and well-groomed." That was the pig-me-up Sheedy needed. Now he's imporkant... hogs and kisses all the girls. 2 Trainmen Face Federal Charges For Mail Thefts

CLINTON — Two Chicago brakemen who confessed robbing the mails on a train run from Chicago to Clinton Monday probably will be named in federal mail theft charges, authorities said. Fred Suhr and Charles Spencer, both 31, were arrested by Clinton police early Monday after an automobile chase. Officers said they found $2,000 worth of stolen clothing in their car. Both men confessed to the robbery in signed statements. Police Chief Jens Kair said, and Spencer admitted thefts on the same 138-mile Northwestern railway run over the past year and a half. Both were held in jail without bond.

The F.B.I., postal inspectors, railroad agents, Clinton police and Illinois authorities had been investigating since the thefts began 18 months ago on Northwestern's train No. 15.

They said some railroad employees had been tossing packages from the train at crossings on the Chicago-Clinton run and hurrying back in a car to pick them up.

Railroad agents were waiting when Suhr and Spencer got off No. 15 at the end of the run early Monday. The two jumped in Spencer's car and drove across a Mississippi river bridge into Illinois. The agents chased them but lost them.

IC Assessor Applicants To Take Test Nov. 29

The Iowa City examining board filed notice Tuesday that examinations for the position of deputy city assessor will be held in the county courthouse at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 29.

Applications must be filed with the city clerk not later than Nov. 28. Application blanks may be obtained at the city clerk's office in city hall.

Warren Urges Wide Use of Lincoln Library

Louis A. Warren Tuesday urged departments of SUI to use the important Lincoln collection left them by the late Judge James W. Bollinger of Davenport, in his address concluding the formal dedication of the collection in the University library.

Warren warned that the collection "will soon gather dust" unless students and faculty take full advantage of the opportunity to learn more of the great statesman.

"The responsibility rests on you, and Lincoln collectors will watch to see what is being done with the Bollinger-Lincoln collection," he said. Warren is director of the Abraham Lincoln foundation, Ft. Wayne, Ind. Harry E. Pratt and Ben

Narron Fined $300 For Drunk Driving

Robert C. Narron, Iowa City, has been fined $300 in district court on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Narron pleaded guilty Monday to information filed by County Atty. William L. Meardon. He was arrested Saturday night by Iowa City police on Washington st.

In addition to the fine, Narron's drivers license was suspended for 60 days and his liquor permit revoked.

City Council Hears Zoning, Other Problems

A new and more realistic zoning ordinance which would be strictly enforced may result from the planning and zoning commission's recent request for investigation of possible violations in a class A residential area.

Last week, in a letter to the city council, the commission requested investigation of industrial installations in the area along the Rock Island railway between Lucas and Webster sts. and north of Page st. This area is presently classed as residential "A."

Monday night City Atty. Edward W. Lucas told the council that one oil company has been located in the area as long as 28 years and that it therefore pre-dates the 1936 zoning ordinance.

'Stage Door' Is Next SUI Theater Play

"Stage Door," a three-act comedy-drama written by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, will be presented from Nov. 30 to Dec. 8 as the University theatre's third production of the season.

Persons in the cast include Janice Wilson, Mary Patterson, Jayne Stewart, Jo Ann Sabbath, Donna Anfinson, Betty Kanzell, Virginia Anderson, Jean Ogden, Peggy Madden, Barbara Hammond.

Sonya Goering, Marge Metier, Elizabeth Engrav, De Fisher, Angeline Thomas, Jean Witte, Rosemary Wayland, Marilyn Hart, Dean Wagner, James Goltz.

Jack Hobbs, Robert Paulus, David Byrd, James Silberman, Nancy Burnam, Victor Ferris, Richard Williams, Dale J. Gould and Howard Sible.

The play is under the direction of Prof. Gregory Foley, assisted by Carolyn Silverthorne. The setting was designed by Dean Wagner, supervised by Prof. A. S. Gillette and lighting is under the direction of Walter S. Dewey, with costuming by Margaret Hall.

The action of the play takes place in the Footlights Club, a boarding house for young actresses situated somewhere in the west fifties of New York.

A new and more realistic zoning ordinance which would be strictly enforced may result from the planning and zoning commission's recent request for investigation of possible violations in a class A residential area.

Last week, in a letter to the city council, the commission requested investigation of industrial installations in the area along the Rock Island railway between Lucas and Webster sts. and north of Page st. This area is presently classed as residential "A."

Monday night City Atty. Edward W. Lucas told the council that one oil company has been located in the area as long as 28 years and that it therefore pre-dates the 1936 zoning ordinance.

City Engineer Fred Gartzke said that the board of adjustment, acting beyond its legal powers, had granted a permit for one of the installations in 1940.

Commenting on the request of the commission, City Manager Peter F. Roan said, "There may be some businesses in that area that do not conform to law but we probably have 500 such cases in the city."

"If we start correction on this, there will be no end to it. We should enforce the zoning law as it pertains to new activities and when a new ordinance is enacted, it also will be enforced."

City officials agreed with Roan that many of the nonconformities now causing difficulty could have been avoided if the laws had been enforced in the past.

A public hearing on a new resolution for sanitary sewers will be held before the city council at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 17.

Monday night the council passed a resolution of necessity to start the new legal procedure on the proposed project.

The sewer project includes work on sections of I, Page, High and St. Clements sts. and First ave. Contracts were let on the work, which was to have started this month, but legal technicalities halted it.

Five residents of St. Clements st. filed written objection to locating the sewer in that area. A resident on High st. objected to the estimated assessment.

Following the public hearing, it will be necessary to re-advertise for bids and re-let contracts for the work.

Police Judge Emil Trbit told the city council Monday night that the city ordinance prohibiting all-night parking on streets pertained to all streets but was being enforced only in the business district.

Judge Trott said that the law should be enforced in residential districts as well or else the law should be changed to permit all-night parking in residential areas.

The police magistrate also recommended that living conditions in the city jail be improved. He told the council that the jail is extremely cold on winter nights and that the city may be sued by someone who may suffer undue hardship while confined there.

He suggested that steps be taken to heat the jail or that arrangements be made to take prisoners to the county jail.

The city council passed authorizations Monday night for the purchase of uniforms for the police and fire departments and for a new accounting and billing machine in the sewer rental office.

City Manager Peter F. Roan told the council that a bid of $5,778.60 from St. Clair-Johnson, an Iowa City clothing firm, was the lowest of six bids received on merchandise that conformed to specifications. Roan said that the uniforms will be delivered after Jan. 1.

Purchase of the accounting machine was authorized from the National Cash Register company at a cost of $4,020.

Under new state law the resolutions must remain on file for a specified length of time. Final action is scheduled for next regular council meeting in December.

Women's Group Organizes SUI Singing Contest

"Carousel" has been selected as the title of this year's University Sing sponsored by the University Women's association.

All SUI housing units are being contacted now by the Sing committee, which is planning a song leader's meeting in December.

The women's semi-finals are scheduled for April 28. The men's semi-finals will be held a week later on May 5. All finals will be held May 11 in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Marge Kurtz, A3, Iowa City, is chairman of the committee. Other members of the committee are: Dick Williams, A2, Iowa City, finals co-chairman and MC; Elsie Jerdee, N2, Clermont, finals co-chairman; Tom Olson, A4, Red Oak, semi-finals co-chairman; Helen Roseberry, A3, Le Mars, semi-finals co-chairman.

Joan Smith, N3, Hudson, S.D., rules and judges chairman; Beth Larsen, A3, Waterloo, publicity chairman; Julie Olson, A3, Iowa City, entertainment, co-chairman, and Joanne Smith, A3, Rockford, entertainment co-chairman.

There will be one more member of this committee appointed by the UWA freshman council at a later date.

Iowa City Kiwanis Initiates, Gives Pins at Ceremony

The Iowa City Kiwanis club gave membership pins to four new members and received two transfer members at their meeting Tuesday.

New members are: Prof. John McAdam, SUI college of education; Walter Schmidt; Col. Walter Sewell, professor and head of military science and tactics at SUI, and Ira Pierce, professor of pharmacology.

City Manager Peter F. Roan and the Rev. Alfred Hendrickson are the transfer members.

The Rev. L. L. Dunnington presided at the initiation ceremonies and Pierce spoke on "Lies and Liars."

H. J. Dane was given a 25 year membership certificate by the club. His son, George Dane, made the presentation.

Sig Eps Select Hansen President

Gail Hansen, E3, Audubon, has been elected president of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity.

Other new officers include Darrel Croot, G, Sioux City, vice-president; Bill Foster, A3, Newton, comptroller; Jim Gordon, A3, Indianola, delegate-at-large; Gar Houck, A3, Waterloo, secretary; Don Asby, C4, Mt. Pleasant, historian; Bob McCarty, A2, Iowa City, guard; Don Clay, P3, Mt. Pleasant, marshal; Wally Ingram, E3, Iowa City, junior marshal, and Ron Rodgers, A3, Ainsworth, chaplain.

New pledges include Jim Albright, C3, Des Moines; Lee Albright, A3, Waterloo; John Jaqua, A1, Humboldt; John McDonald, A2, Cherokee; J. D. Miller, E3, Ft. Madison; Bob Verhille, A1, Ottumwa; Tony Williams, A2, Cherokee; John Wood, A1, Ottumwa, and Jim Young, A3, Waterloo.

SUI Needs Players To Balance Out Bands

Players are needed to complete the balance of the concert and variety bands, Prof. C. B. Righter, director of University bands announced today.

Players of woodwind and percussion instruments interested in bandwork should arrange for auditions at the band office, room 15, music building, beginning Monday.

Flutes, oboes, clarinets and alto clarinets are needed for the concert band.

Some instruments are available without cost to qualified players, he said.

SUI's Library Cited as Leader in Innovations

SUI's new library impresses Carl Stroven, University of Hawaii librarian, as "a leader among the nation's libraries in using new ideas to make the building inviting and pleasant to students and faculty."

Stroven and architect Cyril Lemmon arrived in Iowa City Tuesday to inspect the library in their tour of new libraries in this country. They are gathering ideas which they will use in drawing up plans for a new library building to be constructed soon at the University of Hawaii.

Lemmon expressed special interest in the "modular" system employed in the university structure, by which partitions can be moved to allow expansion of certain sections in the library. Lemmon explained that the flexibility of this plan is important in view of future changes which may be necessary in the library.

The visitors plan to visit libraries at the Universities of Nebraska, Colorado and California before returning to the islands.

Books Will be to SUI Typography Lab

T. H. Foster, late chairman of the John Morrell meat packing company, has left all the books "pertaining to typography and printing" to SUI's typography laboratory.

Foster's will, filed Monday for probate in the Wapello district court, left the remainder of his estimated 6,000 volume library to his son, Robert.

Prof. Carroll Coleman, head of the typography laboratory, said Tuesday that the university would not receive the books until the library is examined and the books placed in the right category.

3 Coeds Suffer Bad Burns

Jean Ogden, A1, Cedar Rapids, was reported in "very good" condition Tuesday after suffering burns when a sterilizing vat used for washing dishes tipped over at the Russell house, 3 E. Davenport st., about 1:15 p.m.

Two other SUI coeds, Mary Ellen Sawyer, A2, Hawarden, and Joelle Wahl, N1, Council Bluffs, suffered minor burns. All three were taken to University hospitals. Miss Sawyer and Miss Wahl were treated and released and Mis Ogden was later taken to the student infirmary.

Infirmary authorities said Miss Ogden suffered second degree burns about both feet and one hand, but later Tuesday afternoon she was not suffering severe pain or shock.

Robert J. Cotter of the university housing units explained the dish-washing vat rests on a gas plate about two feet off the floor. He said it holds about four or five gallons of water kept at near boiling point.

He explained that dishes are submerged into the vat in a wire basket, then taken out to air-dry. Cotter said the accident apparently happened when the girls were taking the basket out of the vat and failed to lift it high enough, thus pulling the vat over.

The biggest ALARM of all...

WHEN FIRE STRIKES, you may hear one alarm . . . or two . . . even a third. But the biggest alarm of all is the alarm in your heart.

"Was anybody caught inside? Anybody I know . . . hurt? . . . burned? How'd it start? How much loss?"

You burn up with unsatisfied suspense and curiosity . . . until you see your newspaper.

You grab your paper and all the answers are there. First, in detail, full of local color - as it never is anywhere else.

It's there with all the other news that matters . . . Plus a hundred things you'll find nowhere else.

It doesn't take a fire. You can be just as wrought up about a plan in the town council to widen your street. You never know what's coming . . . so you read your paper every day.

Everybody else is just like you. Everybody reads the newspaper every day. To a housewife, the fire sale can be just as important as the fire.

That's why when you have something to sell, the newspaper is the one place to reach all the people all the time.

In advertising, why deal in fractions? . . . Magazines reach only fractions of your market. Each one appeals to some people - not to others. No magazine is read by everyone who can possibly buy.

Radio and TV programs reach only fractions of your market. Each one appeals to only a special audience - sports fans, homemakers, kids, etc. And how many of these can listen at the time you broadcast?

The newspaper talks to everybody in town. All your customers read the paper - at the time they choose, for as long as they choose.

Only the newspaper is first with the most news . . . the most people . . . the most advertisers!

The newspaper is always "first with the most"
