Price Lid Still Needed Johnston Tells Truman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic Stabilizer Eric A. Johnston said in his final report to President Truman Thursday that wage and price controls will be needed for another 18 to 24 months to prevent an inflationary crackup.

Simultaneously, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States urged that wage-price controls be abolished at once in the public interest. It said in a statement that inflationary pressures are off and the government has other powers to keep prices in check.

Johnston issued his statement shortly after Roger Lowell Putnam was sworn in as his successor. Putnam will take over as the $20,000-a-year director of the stabilization program when Johnston leaves Saturday.

The oath was administered to Putnam, 57-year-old former Democratic mayor of Springfield, Mass., by Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark. The new stabilizer said he has no "illusions" about the "tough job" ahead.

Johnston said inflationary pressures are "in hand" right now, largely because of present controls and the "inherent good sense of the American people."

But he dismissed as "wishful thinking" the idea that present price stability is permanent. He said the danger of a runaway price rise will continue as long as rearmament shortages exist.

Johnston recommended four basic measures which he said would "do the job" of preventing inflation:

1. A balanced, pay-as-we-go budget, with taxes high enough to maintain defense spending but not so high as to destroy incentive for either individuals or corporations.

2. Credit restrictions strong enough to prevent unnecessary expansion of purchasing power without choking off funds for expansion of essential production.

3. Allocation policies that will assure a flow of raw materials to essential production and eliminate less essential business spending.

4. "Price and wage controls that hold down costs without disrupting essential production."

Tickets Still Available for Beneke Dance

There are many tickets still available for the all-university Christmas formal, the central party committee said Thursday.

The dance, featuring Tex Beneke and his orchestra, will be held in the Union lounge from 9 to 1 p.m. tonight.

Members of the committee finished the last touches on decorations today for the main lounge and sundeck in holiday color and red-and-white candy canes were added to the program.

The ceiling of the lounge will be lowered with the effect of colored balloons. Santa Claus will greet guests at the door of the lounge, and refreshments will be available on the sun-deck.

Ticket cost is $3 per couple, and they may be purchased at the Union desk or at the door. Committee members will also sell tickets on the campus today.

All university women students attending the dance will receive automatic late leaves until 1:30 a.m.

'Kapers' to Give Intermission Show

Bob Devoe, A4, Iowa City, will introduce talent of the '52 Kampus Kapers show during the All-University semi-formal dance intermission tonight at the Union.

Devoe, director of Kapers, and Donn Sparks, A4, Keokuk, will present a comic interview. Allen Hall, A1, San Diego, Calif., and Julie Hamill, A4, Newton, will give a pantomime. Mary Annise, A1, Davenport, and Gerald Mason, A1, Milwaukee, Wis., will dance.

The semi-formal features Tex Beneke's band. Tickets are $3 per couple.

Subcommittee Delays Action on McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senate subcommittee Thursday postponed until January final action on a demand that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) be expelled from the senate.

Subcommittee chairman Guy M. Gillette (D-Ia.) said his group will not have time enough to render a decision on its investigation until then. The special elections subcommittee now is examining the 1950 Ohio senatorial campaign in which Sen. Robert A. Taft defeated Democratic State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

McCarthy said that the investigation into his activities is a "dishonest" attempt to prevent his reelection next year.

"These investigators should be paid by the Democratic national committee—not the taxpayers," he said.

Young Republicans Blast McCarthy

The SUI Young Republicans unanimously passed a resolution Thursday night condemning Sen. Joseph McCarthy and asking the U.S. senate to censure him.

Attentive Students Watch Coburn Perform

AN OLD TROUPER DOES THE TALKING as a group of dramatic art students listen to Charles Coburn discuss the theater during an afternoon tea in the dramatic arts building Thursday afternoon. In this picture, Coburn keeps his audience attention with coin tricks. Coburn made a personal appearance in the Iowa Memorial Union in the evening relating some tales from his 50 years experience in the theater and presenting a few of his more famous characterizations. Left to right: Rosemary Wayland, A1, Tipton; Peggy Madden, A2, Des Moines; Peggy Van Patten, A3, New Virginia; Coburn, and Stanley Moody, G, Iowa City.

Coburn Recalls Stage Career, Performs Macbeth Scene at Union

"I would like to see universities place the theater on the same level as law, medicine or chemistry," actor Charles Coburn told an Iowa Memorial Union audience here Thursday night.

Coburn, in his first appearance here since 1924 when he played in an open air performance of "So This is London," gave a two-hour program that ranged from career to a scene from Macbeth.

The 75-year-old star of the legitimate stage, movies and radio, said that he could never recall having wanted to be a policeman or a fireman. He always wanted to be an actor.

In his recollections of early days in stock companies, Coburn remembered that he joined a troupe in Tama, and later was given the role of the giant in "Quo Vadis" while playing a one-night stand in Ames.

Wednesday night, Coburn spoke at Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls where he was shown old programs with his name appearing as stock company manager.

Coburn called Shakespeare the most modern playwright he knew and added that if any young man was thinking about becoming an actor he should let his mind run to the classics. He said he felt that acting could only be learned by practice, not by theory.

Coburn said that after he was invited to Hollywood in 1937 to play the role of the doctor in "Of Human Hearts," he soon discovered the difference in procedure

Blood Drive, No-Cut Discussed by Council

The no-cut rule and a blood donation campaign were the main topics under discussion at the student council meeting Thursday night.

The council heard Jack Wensberg, G, Iowa City, outline the progress of the no-cut issue. He will meet next week with Dean Dewey B. Stuit, liberal arts, to discuss the success of the suspension at Thanksgiving.

Council members also discussed ways to encourage attendance at Christmas if the suspension is ok'd next week. No definite action was taken. In talking about a blood donation campaign, the council said a mobile blood unit cannot be expected in Iowa City until Feb. 6.

The council expects to distribute blood donor blanks for students under 21 year of age to secure parent's permission during Christmas vacation. More complete action will be taken at the Dec. 13 meeting.

The annual Christmas sing was set for Dec. 13 and will be held in connection with the Union party the same evening.

Meal prices at Iowa Memorial Union came up for discussion, but no set policy was determined by council members and they voted to investigate the matter more thoroughly.

Peggie Lutz, A3, Des Moines, said preparations for the SUI Campus Chest campaign have made. Solicitors will meet Tuesday evening to get the three-day drive underway Wednesday.

Huge Cake Baked To Fete Churchill

LONDON (AP) — Winston Churchill will celebrate his 77th birthday today around a 75-pound cake in the shape of his square derby hat — what the British call a bowler.

For the first time since the war, the prime minister will hold his birthday party at No. 10 Downing st., the official residence of prime ministers.

He plans a full day of work as usual. Then, in late afternoon, he will put on his siren suit—the wartime battle dress he always wears off duty—and welcome 20 guests.

NOTICE

Midsemester delinquent slips are available in room 109 Schaeffer hall. Residents of SUI dormitories and individuals belonging to fraternities and sororities can get their delinquents from their scholarship chairman.

IC Recreation Group To Sponsor Exhibits

The Iowa City recreation department will sponsor a series of exhibits and demonstrations featuring suggestions for Christmas gifts, wrapping and house decoration on Dec. 3, 10, and 13.

The exhibits and lectures will begin at 8 p.m. in the club rooms of the Community building. The first meeting, Dec. 3, will explain how inexpensive gifts may be made from scrap materials.

Ways to make tree, table, mantel, door and house decorations will be demonstrated at the second meeting on Dec. 10. At the third meeting, Dec. 13, exhibits of imaginative gift wrapping by the use of oddly shaped boxes and unusual papers will be shown.

All Iowa City women are invited to attend the meetings. There will be a 25 cent charge for admission, to be used for purchasing equipment for the craft shop.

TOBACCO PRESIDENT DIES

CHARLES CITY (AP) — S. M. Kiser, 55, president of the Capital Tobacco corporation, died of a heart attack at his office here Thursday. Kiser organized the Capital Tobacco company in 1922 and formed the Capital Tobacco corporation in 1934.

All He Wanted Was a Stamp

PEORIA, ILL. (AP) — An unidentified patient went looking for a stamp in the St. Francis hospital lobby Thursday and got eight companies of the Peoria fire department instead.

The patient pulled the handle of what he thought was a stamp-vending machine. It was really the hospital's fire alarm box.

An emergency alarm went out. The firemen rushed into the lobby to find the patient still standing there, holding an unstamped envelope.

Reds Mass Equipment Behind Calm Battle Line

Gradual Reduction Of Troops Seen As Compromise Basis

TOKYO (FRIDAY) (AP) — Truce negotiators met today with the Allies prepared to ask a series of pointed questions on the newest Communist proposal which appeared to offer the framework of a compromise on safeguarding the proposed peace in Korea.

The Communists indicated Thursday they would settle for something less than an immediate withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea once an armistice is signed.

Gen. Nam Il, chief Red truce delegate, said the Communists would be willing to discuss a gradual reduction in armed forces. It was learned that the UN considers this the basis for a compromise. And it was possible that item No. 3 of the truce agenda—ways to safeguard the armistice once it is achieved—might be turned over to a joint truce subcommittee. The smaller and less formal group solved item No. 2, the cease-fire line.

Inspection Right

However, it was emphasized that any gradual withdrawal would have to be coupled with the right of inspection.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the UN truce team, acknowledged Nam's hint of a possible compromise in the present deadlock. He was ready to ask for further word on it when the main truce teams sat down at Panmunjom today.

Dispatches from the Allied camp at Munsan said the UN might adopt a loose timetable for withdrawal if some plan of inspection and arms limitation could be adopted for the armistice.

Truman Denies Slow Down By UN Forces

KEY WEST, FLA. (AP) — President Truman announced Thursday that the fighting will continue in Korea as long as there is a possibility of United Nations forces being caught "off balance" by the enemy in a peace trap.

"The continued pressure of our forces on the enemy constitutes the strongest incentive for the latter to agree to a just armistice," the President told reporters.

"Any premature slackening of our effort would cost us more casualties in the long run than need be lost."

The President followed the reading of his prepared statement with an off-the-cuff lecture to press associates and newspapers on what he said were fake cease-fire stories that grow out of hot competition for news.

The President said he understood Wednesday's (AP) story out of Seoul sprang out of the intense competition for news. The story speculated that orders from the highest sources, possibly the White House had brought ground fighting to a halt in Korea.

Addressing himself to the representatives of the press associations and the independent newspapers at the conference, the President said they must be very careful to stick to the truth.

Mr. Truman, in his prepared statement, said he hoped every body understood "there has been no cease-fire in Korea and that there can be none until an armistice has been signed."

He said it is our duty to continue fighting until UN objectives are achieved.

"Only then will the future safety of the United Nations forces, including those who are prisoners of the enemy, be assured," he said. "We cannot allow our men to be caught off balance by the enemy in case we cannot reach a satisfactory armistice agreement."

A spokesman for the AP in New York said:

"There is no foundation for suggesting 'pressure' was involved in an Associated Press news dispatch from Seoul Wednesday. It was a fact that the ground shooting was halted as a result of orders or directives given to the UN fighting forces."

"The AP dispatch in question was part of a front line reportorial effort to explain the effect as well as the possible origins of orders which are still surrounded by mystery."

Wherry, GOP Senate Leader Since '49, Dies

Kenneth E. Wherry Senator from Nebraska

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican leader of the senate and one of his party's most vocal champions of isolationism and free enterprise, died Thursday of cancer and complications following an earlier operation.

The unexpected death of the 59-year-old Nebraskan confronted Republicans with the task of choosing a new senate leader whose policies will have a strong bearing on the fate of party candidates in next fall's general elections.

Wherry died at 11:45 p.m., CST, in George Washington University hospital, several hours after he had been readmitted in critical condition. He was placed in an oxygen tent and his family was summoned immediately.

Wherry first entered the hospital last Oct. 4 suffering from a persistent virus infection.

He left the hospital late last month and returned to his Alexandria, Va., home to convalesce. He was taken back early Thursday morning when "respiratory complications" developed. He is survived by his widow, a son, David, and a daughter, Marilyn.

Wherry's office said the October operation showed he was suffering from cancer.

3 Explosions Destroy Ammunition Plant In Korean Port City

PUSAN, Korea (FRIDAY) (AP) — Three explosions destroyed the largest ammunition plant in South Korea today and an army official estimated hundreds were killed or injured by the blast.

There was no immediate official report of casualties, but dozens of persons were injured by bits of flying steel and glass, and many were reported missing.

No American casualties were suffered in the blast. The only damage to American installations were some broken windows in a nearby housing area.

The cause of the explosion was not known immediately. The blast tore through the Korean army's No. 1 arsenal between 4 a.m. and 4:30 a.m.

Fire followed immediately, spreading quickly to the close-packed huts nearby being used to shelter refugees from the north.

Unexploded hand grenades were scattered throughout the area and there were occasional minor explosions as they went off unexpectedly.

Fire companies fought the blaze but by 6 a.m. the arsenal was left a glowing steel skeleton.

URGENT RUSSIA TO DISARM PARIS (AP) — The Western big three formally agreed Thursday to a small power proposal for brass tacks arms talks with Russia. Through a British spokesman, they again urged the Russians to make a sincere new start on the road to disarmament.

Proposal to Resist World Aggression Readied for Debate

PARIS (AP) — A proposal which would authorize the UN to call on the North Atlantic pact armies or similar regional agencies to resist aggression anywhere in the world is being prepared for UN debate next week.

This was disclosed by authoritative quarters Thursday night as the UN political committee cleared the decks for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky and U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup to speak today in the closing stages of a drawn-out general discussion on disarmament.

The political committee hopes to put the disarmament questions in the hands of the Big Four for a week or so to see if they can agree on anything in private talks.

Epidemic?

BERLIN KREMLIN

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is one of a series of 12 articles, telling starkly and bluntly the truth of life for a Russian soldier in the Soviet-controlled zone of Germany as told by Maj. Gregory Klimov, a former member of the Russian general staff in Germany. Disgusted with the system under which he lived, Major Klimov fled to the western (Allied-occupied) zone of Germany. Here is his own story, told for the first time.)
By MAJ. GREGORY KLIMOV
Formerly of the Russian General Staff in Germany

BERLIN—The illusions of many Russians about the Communist "paradise" at home began crumbling with their first glimpse of Germany, although Germany itself was little more than a mass of ruins.

In most cases it was a single incident of one kind or another that touched a wand to our eyes and broke the spell that the Kremlin had worked so hard to cast upon us.

Flowers
With me it was flowers. Everywhere among the dead, rubble-filled streets of Berlin were flower shops. On a corner the gutted frame of a building would jut into the sky, a sea of debris surrounding it; and in the middle of this desolation a house would smile with the bright colors of fresh blooms in its windows.

Is this amazement difficult to understand? People elsewhere in the world may ask themselves "What kind of barbarian is that? He has never seen flowers?" There is no answer for astonishment.

In the Soviet Union, flowers are "class enemy elements." What do they contribute to the building of communism? None. So throw them on the garbage heap as a leftover of bourgeois mentality.

The only exceptions are at the funerals of high Soviet officials and special occasions such as a reception for foreign diplomats.

Then there were the houses of the "oppressed" German workers whom we were going to "liberate." They were furnished in a way that defied comparison to anything in Russia. It seemed to us as if they had been freshly painted for our arrival.

Stalin's Mistake
It was understandable that their appearance excited such wonder, virtually no house in the Soviet Union has been renovated or repaired a single time since the 1917 revolution.

Stalin made a big mistake when he showed the Russians Europe, and showed Europe the Russians. The Russians began to regard events in the Soviet Union much more critically and on the other hand, many in the West began losing their illusions about Stalinist communism as they beheld its true aspects.

Everywhere in the rubble of Berlin, in the land of men who yesterday were our enemies, we found things which left us speechless with astonishment.

Everyone knows the words of the Soviet soldier who at his first sight of an European worker's home asked: "You capitalist? Every Russian who has seen Europe with his own eyes is lost to the Soviet rulers.

Like a mechanical man he continues to fulfill his duties but the truth has left its mark. Yet those who return home find it difficult to relate their impressions. Who is to be sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment because of "anti-Soviet agitation?"

One of the most shameful sights was that of the Soviet soldiers recuperating in the military hospitals in Berlin. Like prisoners, they wore striped pants and jackets. Many of them occupied them-equipped and had much more freedom than we Russians. We noticed that the American soldiers and generals smoked the same kind of cigarettes, while in our army different kinds of cigarettes were issued for each rank.

RED SOLDIERS WERE SURPRISED to see the large number of flowers and shrubs growing around the homes in Berlin. This street in the German capital housed U.S. army personnel.

Pensions
As soldiers it was bitter for us to learn that in conquered Germany wounded war veterans were receiving much higher pensions than those in the Soviet army.

One could understand why the Red army cripples swarmed the streets like angry hornets. With alcohol they wanted to extinguish their wrath. Through fights and quarrels they tried to lighten their hearts.

These were the heroes of the war, whose breasts sparkled with medals who later in Russia would barter for tobacco and beg for alms in order to live.

When a man is released after a long period in prison he cannot adjust himself immediately to his freedom. He is afraid of the wide, unlimited world around him. We experienced the same reaction in our first days in Berlin.

In the beginning we had comparatively many opportunities to meet our Western Allies. In another year these will be nothing but memories but for the moment the doors of the Allied soldiers and officers' clubs were open to us.

In Karlshorst one of the most frequently heard tales was that of a Soviet soldier who lost his way while traveling through Berlin and landed by mistake in an American barracks.

He was scared to death but the Americans were overjoyed, and when they saw that his field kit contained only a hunk of black bread, they provided him a meal the like of which he had never seen outside a dream. In the morning as he left they filled his kit with a multitude of wondrous things to eat and drink.

In most of the versions of this story Ivan was said to have tried to enlist in the American army. Everyone of us knew that the Allied soldiers were better

The Record of Iowa Drivers

Highway Patrol's Story is One Of Arrests and Assistance

During the first nine months of 1951, Iowa highway patrolmen have worked 33,837 man days and have traveled 5,107,733 miles in the state enforcing traffic laws and in safety work.

Patrol Chief S. N. Jespersen said that 909 drivers have been arrested for driving while intoxicated during this period while 3,689 accident investigations were handled.

Jespersen added that 10,999 memorandum tickets, 20,439 court summonses, 45,268 equipment tickets, and 14,463 summonses for moving violations were issued during this period.

From traffic summonses, $373,896.55 in fines have been assessed of which $352,197.30 has been paid. Jespersen also said that patrolmen have assisted 19,280 motorists with flat tires or other troubles along the highways.

Jespersen pointed out that court summonses issued for moving violations included the following: Operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, failure to stop at stop signs, prohibited passing, reckless driving, truck speeding, speeding in restricted zones, failure to dim lights, defective brakes, no operator's license, and operating under suspended or revoked licenses.

He said nonmoving violations included: Intoxication or drinking on the public highways, improper registration of vehicles, stopping on a traveled way, failure to make accident reports, and parking a vehicle without flares or markers.

Memorandum tickets are issued as a reminder to those who have violated a traffic law, but not such a serious violation as to require a court summons. Jespersen said they included the following:

Failure to stop at a stop sign, improper passing, speeding on the open road, speeding in a restricted zone and failure to signal.

Tickets for illegal or faulty equipment are issued on a non-moving violation basis. Jespersen explained that a patrolman issues the memorandum ticket which requires the motorist to correct the equipment within 48 hours and return a certified card of correction to the patrol office.

If the card is not sent to the patrol office, Jespersen said a patrolman is sent to the offender's house or place of business to make a check.

Jespersen also said that at present there are 187 members of the patrol, including all officers. This is a jump of 42 over last year, although some newly appointed patrolmen do not have their own cars yet, Jespersen added.

Wormley Clarifies Tax Credit Law

DES MOINES (AP) — Persons buying homes on contract were warned Thursday that they cannot receive homestead tax credit unless the contract shows a down payment of at least 10 per cent.

Henry Wormley, assistant attorney general assigned to the tax commission, told a county officers meeting at Hotel Savery that 35 tax credit applications had to be turned down recently because the contracts did not conform with the credit law.

The crediting of rent which had been allowed as a down payment had not been stated in the contracts, he said. As a result the contracts recorded in these cases failed to show the 10 per cent down payment the law says they must show, he said.

Interpreting the News - Secrecy of Cease-Fire Leads to 24-Hour SNAFU

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

General Ridgway's headquarters took a perfectly logical action in Korea in an illogical fashion, without any apparent regard for its impact on anxious publics throughout the world, and turned an event of major significance into a 24-hour SNAFU.

Officials were still busy Thursday trying to clear up just what happened in Korea Wednesday about stopping the shooting.

Troop commanders received orders to keep up reconnaissance but send out no raiding patrols; react against enemy action but initiate no attacks; avoid casualties and demonstrate Allied willingness to observe a cease-fire.

Orders Marked Secret
The orders were marked secret, as though that would have any effect when they reached 150,000 men and the guns stopped. Barred from the official wording, reports used such terms as "de facto cease-fire," "gentlemen's agreement," (the latter based on Communist compliance in some sectors), and speculated that the orders might probably have come from the White House.

The President's press secretary immediately denied any cease-fire order, apparently playing on the word.

It was indicated later that the actual order was issued without the knowledge of the defense, state or executive departments. Ridgway's command acted, presumably, under its broad authority to do what was necessary about conducting the Korean war.

Necessity of Order
That such an order was necessary is unquestioned. The truce negotiators had agreed upon the present battle line as a line of demarcation provided other cease-fire prerequisites could be agreed upon in 30 days. To spend lives now for more territory which might have to be returned later would have violated all concepts of humanity and, politically, would have been taken as evidence of Allied doubt that the tentative buffer zone agreement would ever amount to anything.

Here was relief for hundreds of thousands of anguished Allied mothers and fathers, not only of men in Korea, but of the men in the army who might be going to Korea, even of boys still to be inducted into the services. Even if it could not be taken as the beginning of the end of all the fighting, it could at least be taken as a 30-day respite from death. To everyone in the world it meant a concrete hope that active fighting might not have to be resumed and that the danger of spreading war would be eased.

But the people were kept in agonized suspense, instead, because even after the blurred picture began to emerge, they got denials and not explanations.

There is doubtless some excuse for not wanting to tell the enemy your plans in such a case, although Communist inactivity suggests that doesn't apply this time either. But the total lack of a public relations policy in such an event is hardly excusable.

IMPORTANCE OF BLOOD
U.S. army medical reports show that one soldier wounded in Korea survived because he was given 26 points of whole blood.

Pressure Prompts Quick Korean Truce

TOKYO (AP)—This week the war in Korea began grinding to an inconclusive end.

Fighting might break out again, from time to time on a small scale, but there was every indication that UN troops heading into North Korea had come to the end of the trail.

Thousands of casualties every month had taught the Chinese and North Korea Communists that without more planes and tanks from Russia they had no hope of ever cracking UN defenses again.

Despite denial from everyone in the long chain of command, from the White House right on down, an order had gone out to front line doughboys advising them to take it easy.

The order went into effect at midnight Nov. 27. It coincided with establishment of a temporary cease fire line along the front which had been agreed upon that day by UN and Communist delegates to the armistice talks at Panmunjom.

The only trouble with all the denials was that they denied a cease-fire had been ordered. But nobody said there was a cease-fire. There was an order to halt aggressive action. This was as good as a de facto cease-fire, which is a cease-fire without the necessity of signing documents.

A de facto cease-fire was exactly what UN negotiators at the Korea armistice talks had been saying all along they wouldn't stand for.

Then what caused the sudden change in policy?
Pressure.

The folks at home were putting pressure on their congressmen. The congressmen were putting pressure on the state department. The state department was putting pressure on Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the commander of all UN forces in Japan and Korea.

Before the great calm fell along the front this week, the armistice talks which had been bumping along unsteadily took a sudden lurch forward. The Communists and UN delegations agreed upon a cease-fire line. Thus in four and one-half months armistice talks had produced agreement on two-fifths of the agenda which starts like this:

1. Adoption of the agenda.
2. Location of a cease-fire line. Before an armistice is reached the negotiators will have to agree on:
3. Enforcement of the armistice.
4. Exchange of prisoners.
5. Recommendations to the interested powers.

When the talks started last summer, it was well known that Ridgway was mainly interested in two things:

"The old man wanted to see an exchange of prisoners and a provision to send security teams behind enemy lines," an officer on Ridgway's staff said.

Hawkeye Seniors to Seek Game With Iowa State-Drake Seniors

Propose Des Moines As Contest Site

By JACK SQUIRE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

A team of Iowa football seniors, who will play the Waterloo Wildcats semi-pro club at Waterloo Saturday, said Thursday that they will seek a game with a team composed of seniors from Drake and Iowa State.

The Hawkeye players said that they will contact Al Coupee, former Iowa star and now a sports broadcaster in Des Moines, to arrange the game.

The proposed site of the contest is Drake stadium in Des Moines but that would have to be cleared by Drake athletic officials.

Not Enough Seniors

The reason given for combining the Drake and Iowa State players is that neither school has enough seniors to field a complete team by itself.

No answer is expected for several days.

Concerning the game at Waterloo Saturday, the following tentative lineup was drawn up after a meeting of most of the players involved:

Arnie Caplan and Dave DeProspero, ends; Hubert Johnston and Andy Buntz, tackles; Bill Kersten and Bob Lage, guards; John Towne, center.

Ruck at Quarterback

The backfield, working from the T, will have Fred Ruck at quarterback, Jerry Fasko and Don Commack at halfbacks, and Gerald Nordman at fullback.

Ruck was a quarterback for two seasons before being switched to end.

Others on the Hawkeye squad thus far are Ron Fairchild, Austin Turner, Chuck Denning, Joe Paulsen, and Joe Bristol.

The Waterloo team is comprised mostly of former high school and small-college players.

It is reported that the Iowa team will receive either $500 or 60 per cent of the gate.

The contest is at 2 p.m. at the West high field.

Wichita Will Remain In Missouri Valley

WICHITA, KAS. (AP)—The University of Wichita expressed its regrets Thursday that Drake and Bradley universities have quit the Missouri Valley conference in the wake of the Bright incident.

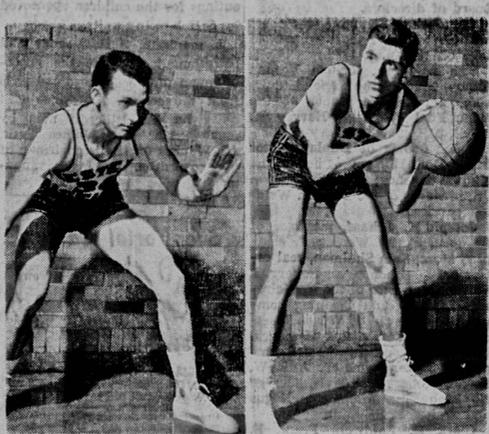

However, the university announced it will stay in the conference.

The Wichita announcement said it hopes to continue the fine athletic relations which have been enjoyed in past years with both Drake and Bradley.

MISSOURI REPLACES AGGIES DES MOINES (AP)

Drake university has scheduled home-and-home basketball games with the University of Missouri to replace games originally scheduled with Oklahoma A & M this season.

Bronco Stars Back Again

TWO WESTERN MICHIGAN players who gave Iowa trouble last year will be back again Saturday night when the Broncos help Iowa open its basketball season at the fieldhouse. The Western Michigan stars are co-captains Bob Adams (left) and Joe Shaw who hit for 22 and 20 points against the Hawks last year when the Broncos won at Kalamazoo, 58-49. They are two of seven returning lettermen including the entire first five that defeated the Hawkeyes. Both are 6-foot seniors.

Anamosa Here Tonight Against Little Hawks

By JORDAN MATULEF

City high will be seeking its third consecutive victory of the young basketball season tonight in a nonconference game with Anamosa at the City high gymnasium.

Owning victories thus far over Marengo and Independence, the Little Hawks have improved with each performance. This contest will be the last chance for the Wildcats to get set for competition in the tough Mississippi Valley conference.

The starting team for this contest will be the same five that has been used in the two previous games, although four other players will see action.

Bob Frantz and Jamie Andrews will start at forward, Ted Dunnington will be at center, and veteran Jim Freeman and playmaker John White will be stationed at the guards.

Forward Dan Brennan, center Paul Lemme, and guards Ellis Kondora and Bob Ogeson will back up the starters.

Anamosa, holder of a respectable 14-8 record last season and victorious over Olin in its only contest this season, will bring down a squad including 6 lettermen.

The sophomore teams will open the evening's entertainment at 8:45. The varsity contest will start at about 8:15.

Texas A&M Edges Rival Texas, 22-21

COLLEGE STATION, TEX. (AP)—Texas A & M wound up its football season in one frenzied afternoon and beat its greatest rival, Texas, 22-21, Thursday in a wild, rib-cracking game that saw members of the two teams coming to blows in the finish.

It was A & M's first win over Texas in 12 victory-straved years. A crowd of 40,500 went wild as A & M staved off two mighty Texas drives in the last minutes and June Davis missed a field goal from the Aggie 30-yard line with 10 seconds to go.

So bitter was the battle that players on both sides swung at each other repeatedly in the last quarter and once a Texas player came off the bench to hit Charley Hodge, Aggie end, during a pileup at the sidelines.

A & M had reached the end of the gridiron road without a victory in conference play this season. Texas still was in the race for a share of the title, but Aggie had won't be denied this time.

Princeton Players Say Kazmaier Roughed Up By Dartmouth End

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Princeton quarterback George Stevens was quoted Thursday as saying that Dartmouth "was out to get" all-America Dick Kazmaier in last Saturday's rough-and-tumble football battle.

Kazmaier, triple-threat tailback, was forced out of the game — his last in collegiate competition — with a broken nose and a mild concussion. Undefeated Princeton won the game, 13-0.

The Daily Princetonian, student newspaper, Thursday quoted Stevens:

"Kaz was being roughed up on just about every play in the first quarter by Dartmouth's number 80 (end Don Myers)."

The paper also quoted two other Princeton players, defensive end Frank McPhee and defensive guard Brad Glass as saying the Dartmouth eleven played dirty and illegal football.

The paper's interview with Stevens went on:

"On the buck lateral series, where I fake a handoff to Kaz, he was given a going over by Myers, even though he didn't have the ball. When I asked him if he was all right, he said that number 80 was out to get him on every play. . . I told the referee what was going on and to watch Myers. The very next play Myers was caught fouling Kaz and the referee penalized Dartmouth 15 yards."

At Hanover, N. H., Tuss McLaughry, Dartmouth's head coach, pointed out:

"As head coach of the East team that will play in the Shrine game in San Francisco, I knew several days before the Princeton game that Kazmaier had accepted an invitation to be one of our players. Therefore it should be obvious that I did not desire to have him banged up against Dartmouth."

Marion Signs with Browns As Coach, Will Play Again

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Marty Marion was back in St. Louis major league baseball Thursday.

The smiling, thin man, fired only recently as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, signed not one contract but two with the St. Louis Browns for a three-year hitch. One contract was as a coach and the other as a player.

Knee Better

That's because Marty feels sure that he is about to overcome a bad knee and back which last season kept him from his 11-year stand in the Cardinal infield where he became known as Mr. Short-stop.

Owner Bill Veeck, himself full of smiles at the signing Thursday, explained that while Marion was nailed down by two contracts he could leave the Browns anytime he gets a chance to manage a major league club.

To get Marion, Veeck reportedly had put $15,000 a year on the line as a coach and another $10,000 or so if he makes his comeback as a shortstop. Marty reportedly got around $35,000 for his one year as manager of the Cardinals.

Browns Being Overhauled

Veeck hired him primarily as a coach but he left no doubt Marty would be a happy addition afield for the Browns who are undergoing a winter overhauling.

Marty says his knee is well. He was out last season following an operation on it.

The 33-year-old Marion turned down an attractive offer with the Boston Braves because "I wanted to stay in St. Louis."

Marty steered the Cardinals into third place in the National league race last season.

CR Athlete Dies Trying to Reduce

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Kenneth Averill, 16, a McKinley high school wrestler, was found dead in a shower room at the school Thursday while taking a steam bath to reduce for a wrestling match and an autopsy showed he died of a heat stroke and suffocation.

The autopsy was performed after Coach Lloyd Wilson found the youth on the shower room floor. He said Averill was taking the steam bath to lose a pound and a half for a scheduled wrestling match.

Wilson said he left the room briefly and on his return, found the youth lying on the floor.

The room was filled with steam and Averill suffered steam burns, Wilson said.

Meanwhile, Clyde Parker, superintendent of schools, issued a statement saying in part: "Perhaps our athletic practices from the standpoint of health need investigation."

Bluehawks Host To Durant Tonight

By JIM COOKE

University high will open its 1951-'52 Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference schedule when it plays host to Durant here tonight. The Bluehawks will also be gunning for their first victory of the season after dropping their first two games to Williamsburg and Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, by scores of 51-29 and 36-27 respectively.

Coach Lou Alley has named a starting lineup of Gardner Van Dyke and Tom Kent at the forwards, Mel Rittger and Bruce Miller at guards, and either Crafty Perrin or Tom Ewers at center.

Statistics after the first two games show Kent as the leading scorer with 16 points, followed by Rittger with 9 and Miller with 8. Perrin is the leading rebounder with 18 in the two games and Kent 13.

The Durant squad is expected to have a strong advantage over the Bluehawks inasmuch as it began practice November 5 and have already played 5 games, including 2 conference foes, Mt. Vernon and Lone Tree.

Zoning Tabulation

Iowa City Engineer Fred Gartzke and City Manager Peter F. Roan will direct the task of tabulating local businesses, industries, and apartments which do not legally conform to the zones in which they are located.

The work to be done by the city engineer's office, is in the planning stage. The planning and zoning commission, which for more than a year has been studying the city's zoning problems, requested the plotting of the nonconforming units.

The planning and zoning commission passed a resolution Nov. 20, asking the assistance of the city engineer's office in locating the nonconformities.

The commission hopes to locate all industrial and commercial establishments that are operated in the wrong zones. Multiple dwelling units, other than duplexes, are prohibited in class A zones. The city will attempt to find where this is violated.

City officials point out that many violations came through permission of the board of adjustment, which in some cases went beyond its legal powers.

The planning and zoning commission is now compiling information which may lead to a re-writing of the city's zoning laws.

SUI Production Of 'Stage Door' Opens Tonight

The SUI University Theatre will present its third play of the season tonight with the opening performance of "Stage Door," a three-act comedy by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman.

The play, which enjoyed a successful run on Broadway, is concerned with the struggles of young, aspiring actors in New York and Hollywood. The theme of the play is universal—the sacrifices an individual is willing to make to succeed in something in which he has a profound belief.

The cast is almost entirely composed of freshmen and transfer students who are newcomers to the SUI University and have done no work for the Theatre before this year.

The leading roles of "Terry Randall," a young actress to whom the theatre is life, and "Jean Maitland," an actress who succeeds in Hollywood, will be played by Rosemary Wayland, A1. Tipton, and Sonya Goering, A2, Walcott.

Miss Wayland won an "outstanding performance" award at the 1951 Iowa High School Play Festival, held in Iowa City, for her role of "Columbine" in "Aerdecapo" and played the title role in the play "Claudia" at Tipton high school.

Miss Goering has performed in several plays at Clarke college, Dubuque, and acted as stage manager for their production of "The Heiress."

The leading male roles will be handled by Jerome Silberman, A1, Milwaukee, in the part of "Keith Burgess," a young and ambitious playwright, and David Byrd as "David Kingsley," a successful Hollywood producer.

Silberman has performed with the Milwaukee Players and has done radio and television work in Milwaukee. He also was in summer stock in New York and Wisconsin and recently appeared as "Dickie Winslow" in the SUI production of "The Winslow Boy." Byrd was seen as the house steward in the University Theatre production of "Mary Stuart."

The play is directed by Prof. Gregory Foley. It is scheduled to run through Dec. 8 with performances beginning at 8 o'clock every night except Sunday in the University Theatre.

Screen Success Predicted for These Beauties

SUI Printing Service To Provide Daily Pickup, Delivery

Beginning Saturday SUI's printing and mimeographing service will provide daily pickup and delivery service for work that must be handled on a rush basis.

Fred W. Ambrose, SUI business manager, in a letter to all deans, directors, and departmental heads, announced that delivery of completed jobs will start from the printing service at 3:30 p.m. daily. This will enable all departments to receive the finished work before closing time.

The pickup service will be available during all general office hours, but is primarily to speed work where time is important. All other job orders will be sent through the university exchange mail.

Urgent service may be obtained by calling university exchange 2108.

3,500 SEE FILMS

Special films shown here during traffic safety week were viewed by about 3,500 citizens of Iowa City. Elementary, junior high and high school students and teachers saw the safety films, and they were exhibited at a meeting of the Lions club Wednesday and at City hall on Tuesday.

Hancher to Speak From U.S.S. Iowa Over Radio Today

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher and Prof. William J. Peterson, history department, will be heard from the battleship Iowa in a broadcast over WSUI at 8 p.m. today.

Others who will be heard on the program, prepared while the battleship moved toward Pearl Harbor, are the captain and executive officer of the ship, and the other 12 Iowans who made the trip.

The tape-recorded report was produced by Ralph Evans, Davenport, executive vice-president of stations WOC, Davenport, and WHO, Des Moines.

Iowa City Competes for Place Among Top 11 U.S. Cities

Iowa City this week vied with other cities throughout the nation for a place among the 11 all-American cities, to be chosen on the basis of local government improvements.

Prof. Russell Ross, SUI political science department, spoke for the city before a panel of municipal leaders at the National Municipal League's conference held in Cincinnati, O.

Dr. George H. Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion and an SUI graduate, headed the panel.

Ross based his case for the city on the successful campaign for the present form of government and the changes which have taken place since it was instituted.

Although the panel heard the cases of many cities, the top 11 will not be announced until the end of the year.

Mougin Released On $500 Bond

Paul L. Mougin, of Riverside, was released on $500 bond Wednesday after pleading innocent to a vehicle financial responsibility charge in police court. He was bound over to the grand jury.

Mougin is accused of driving a car which authorities said is not covered by the Iowa financial responsibility act. He was authorized to drive another car which does carry financial responsibility, they said.

31 Receive Traffic Tickets

Thirty-one traffic tickets were issued by highway patrolmen in a spot check of automobiles at the intersection of Dubuque and Benton sts. Wednesday.

About 100 cars and trucks were stopped, Patrolman J. L. Smith said. Twenty-six motorists were advised to have faulty equipment repaired, four were charged with driver's license violations, and one truck driver was charged with failure to carry flares in his vehicle.

Rotary Club Hears SUI Doctor Discuss Heart Diseases

Dr. James W. Culbertson, professor of internal medicine in the SUI college of medicine, spoke to the Iowa City Rotary club at its meeting Thursday noon on "The Modern Approach to Congenital Heart Disease."

Congenital heart diseases are those abnormalities of the heart structure with which people are born. One of these defects, which results in "blue babies," is caused by a lack of oxygen in the blood.

For many years nothing could be done to treat these defects, Culbertson pointed out.

Diagnosis of this condition is made by one of two main methods, he added, the first of which is relatively simple. The physician would study the case history of the patient, give him a complete physical examination and would probably use X-rays.

By the second method blood pressure levels and samples of blood are taken from the region of the heart. The blood samples are tested for the amount of oxygen present and the samples are then correlated with the pressure levels and the diagnosis of the heart condition is made.

The doctor said this heart condition kills more people than any other disease because many former killers, mainly infectious diseases, have been conquered. Heart disease kills the same percentage that it did a generation ago, he said.

Another reason is that people now live longer and are more likely to fall prey to heart disease.

3 Students Attend National Meet

The SUI Town Men and the Town Women will send three delegates to the central district convention of the National Students association in Valparaiso, Ind., today and Saturday.

Doris Foster, A1, and Alma Marie Miller, A4, Des Moines, will represent the Town Women. Walter Jewell, A3, Decorah, will represent the Town Men.

Failure to Yield Right of Way No Crime: Trott

The traffic charge "failure to yield the right-of-way" does not constitute a crime in Iowa, according to a ruling handed down by Police Judge Emil G. Trott this week.

The charge was brought against Joseph Gene Hettrick, A2, 2013 I. st. Hettrick, through his attorney, A. C. Cahill, pleaded innocent to the charge on Nov. 21, referring to the Iowa code and supreme court decisions.

In his ruling, Judge Trott said the phrasing of the charge does not state a criminal offense under the law. He stated that the decision to dismiss was based on the law, not on evidence presented.

Hettrick was charged after an auto accident at Washington and Linn sts. Nov. 9.

Similar charges have been filed frequently in recent years against motorists but none had previously been challenged in court.

No Advance Orders For License Plates

The 1952 Johnson county license plates go on sale Saturday and for the first time no advance orders are being accepted.

Licenses will be sold in the treasurer's office in the courthouse and the numbers will be sold as they come. Sales will continue through December and January.

A major change in Iowa's licensing procedure is that only one plate per auto will be issued and this should be placed on the rear of the car.

The color of the 1952 Iowa plates will be black with white numerals.

Iowa Editor to Speak At Waygoose Dinner

J. E. Ratner, editor of "Better Homes and Gardens," Des Moines, will discuss "Are Editors Going Nuts About Research?" at the annual Waygoose banquet, SUI school of journalism dinner, Jan. 11.

The Associated Students of Journalism will sponsor the modern version of an ancient printers' festival, it was announced Thursday.

The event will be in the Methodist church. Tickets will go on sale early next month.

Invitations will be sent to friends and alumni of the school of journalism now engaged in advertising, public relations, radio, magazine, television and newspaper work in Iowa.

Polson Talks Here On Public Safety

Ed Polson, division of safety education of the Iowa state department of public safety, told the Iowa City Lions club Wednesday that a high percentage of cars now on the highway have defective equipment or careless drivers, often teen-agers.

Many are good drivers when they are alone, he said, but with a group of their friends they want the speed that causes good drivers to become reckless.

Fred Lewis, Iowa City patrolman who introduced Polson, pointed out the city's past record of one traffic death every three years. The rate has risen to one a year, he added, and will probably continue to climb.

The meeting also saw a traffic safety film which had already been seen by more than 3,300 Iowa City students.
