Reds Refuse Talks Of POW Exchange

UN Delegates Call Tactics 'Blackmail'

MUNSAN, Korea (FRIDAY) (AP) — Communist truce negotiators held out for a "price" Thursday on discussing exchange of Allied prisoners of war in Korea. An official United Nations command spokesman called it "blackmail."

The Reds said Allied acceptance of a Communist plan for supervision of a truce which offered some concessions to the Reds.

The Communists were expected to answer the revised UN plan or submit a new one of their own at a fourth subcommittee meeting, scheduled for 11 a.m. today (8 p.m., Thursday) at Panmunjom.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, senior UN subdelegate, put the prisoner issue to the Reds Thursday, proposing to speed consideration by placing a second joint subcommittee at work on it immediately.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Song Cho, Red subdelegate, heatedly replied: "When there is no prospect for progress of the meeting, our senior delegate (Lt. Gen. Nam Il) will not give you any answer about the prisoners of war."

The modified eight-point Allied plan called for behind-the-lines inspection by joint Red-Allied observation teams, as before. But it accepted the Communist view that the inspection should be confined to ports of entry agreed upon by both sides.

These were the eight points proposed by the UN command: 1. All armed forces, ground, sea and air, under the control of either side, shall cease all hostilities within 24 hours after the armistice agreement enters into effect. 2. All armed forces shall be withdrawn from the demilitarized zone 72 hours after the armistice becomes effective, except for police work mutually agreed upon by both sides.

3. There shall be a military armistice commission of mixed membership on an equal basis responsible for execution of the armistice terms. Its members shall be picked by the commander in chiefs of the UN command and the Chinese-Korean Communist forces.

4. (A) The military armistice commission, and its joint observer teams shall have authority to observe at ground, sea and air posts of entry and communication centers throughout all of Korea as mutually agreed by the two delegations, together with freedom of movement for the above teams over principal lines of communication throughout all of Korea. (B) The military armistice commission shall have the right of joint aerial observation and photo reconnaissance over all of Korea. (C) The military armistice commission shall have the right to complete joint observation of the demilitarized zone.

5. Neither side shall increase the level of units, personnel, war equipment, military facilities or material existing in Korea, at the time the armistice becomes effective. 6. Within 72 hours of the entering into effect of the armistice agreement, each side shall withdraw the armed forces under its control, ground, sea and air, from the territory controlled by the other side.

7. Each side will administer that portion of the demilitarized zone lying on its side of the median line and in accordance with the terms of the military armistice agreement. 8. The armistice agreement shall not enter into effect until the military armistice commission has been organized, is staffed, and is ready to begin the exercise of its assigned function.

The last point was entirely new. It was intended to cover the possibility that it might take some time to set up the commission after the armistice pact is signed.

Atomic Arms Ready Soon, Collins Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. J. Lawton Collins said Thursday the United States has developed atomic artillery and he indicated that such weapons may be ready for combat use in the "not too distant" future.

The army's chief of staff said atomic weapons will not revolutionize ground warfare but they will "greatly enhance the power of defense" and be of greater value in defense than in attack.

Collins added the army already is making plans for the day when atomic artillery and guided missile battalions will replace some of the conventional heavy artillery.

Carrier Based Planes
(In Memphis, Tenn., Adm. William F. Fichteler, chief of naval operations, said U. S. carrier-based planes could deliver atomic bombs on any target in the world within 600 miles of the sea.)

Collins declined to say when the army expects to have tactical atomic weapons. "It is not in the too distant future," the general said, "but that is all I am going to say." He made these statements in a radio recording.

Weapon Developed Now
Discussing atomic artillery, Collins said: "We have developed such a weapon now. The time as to when it would be practicable to put it into use on a large scale, I don't want to go into because—needless to say—any potential enemy would like to have that information."

Then the general went on to say atomic artillery "has been tested as a weapon." He added: "That does not mean it has been tested as an atomic weapon. It doesn't have to be. It has been tested and the weapon has been developed."

8 Johnson County Men Leave for Army Induction

Eight Johnson county men left Iowa City Thursday for induction into the army at Des Moines. Seven were draftees and one a volunteer.

This group fills the Johnson county quota for December. However, Wayne E. Hopp is scheduled to be inducted Dec. 13.

Under present selective service scheduling, the men will be sent to Ft. Sheridan, Ill. from Des Moines for reassignment. Those drafted Thursday were: Donald E. Shimon, R.R. 7, Iowa City; Dennis A. Kahler, Oxford; Ivan W. Turnipseed, North Liberty; Richard H. Meardon, R.R. 2, West Branch; Dwayne H. Johnson, Oxford; Milo F. Machacek, Solon; Richard O. Stonebarger, Lone Tree, and William R. Schlapkol, Lone Tree, who volunteered for service.

Campus Chest Fund Slowly Grows

GROWTH OF THE CAMPUS CHEST FUND, which has been a little slow to date, is shown in a phase of its development Thursday. Bob Doerr, Al Sioux City, and Mary Hauer, Al Sheldon, are shown adding coins to the large poster in the Iowa Memorial Union lobby. The poster has an adhesive covering that causes the coins to stick.

Campus Chest Nets $415 In Two Days Campaigning

The 1951 Campus Chest wound up today's campaign efforts with a total of only $415 collected.

Chest officials said solicitors turned in $215 Thursday, the second day of the drive, compared to the opening day total of $200. Last year's four-day campaign netted the Campus Chest about $2,000.

Only one fraternity and one sorority among the housing units have reported and officials believe this may be the reason donations are behind those of 1950. Students and faculty who haven't contributed are urged to do so today. Donations can be given to campus solicitors or placed on the large "I" in the Union lobby.

Officials did not set any monetary quota, but instead hope for 100 per cent contributions by students and faculty. An estimated 90 per cent donated last year.

The money raised by the drive will go for food, clothing, medical care, books, housing and scholarships for students here and abroad.

IC Community Chest $6,000 Short of Goal

The 1952 Iowa City Community Chest campaign reached the $25,000 mark Thursday as the drive neared the end of the 10th week. A deadline has been omitted in order to give everyone an opportunity to contribute, chest officials said.

Campaign funds are still about 20 per cent short of the $31,126 goal.

The drive was originally scheduled to end Oct. 22, but was extended to Nov. 1 when donations amounted to only about one-half of the quota. It was then extended indefinitely, officials said, when contributions lagged behind.

Police Chief Edwin J. Ruppert said Thursday that policemen have been instructed to tow in cars found on the streets belonging to motorists who have delinquent parking, illegal zone or traffic tickets.

Cars will be held until the fine, towing and storage charges are paid, Chief Ruppert said.

Motorists with unpaid tickets should appear at the police station as soon as possible to pay fines to avoid having their cars towed in, the chief advised.

He said records of a large number of delinquent ticket holders are held by police.

At dawn Thursday the fighter-bombers went to work with rockets, napalm jelled gasoline and 500 and 1,000-pound bombs. In its record-breaking 11 consecutive days of air fighting through Thursday, the fifth air force shot down 33 Red planes, plus two probables and 32 damaged. Of the kills, 22 were MIG jets.

BEVERLY, MASS. (AP) — The two gunmen who entered Mrs. Victor Savageau's house Thursday added insult to $285 worth of injury. While one bandit held her arm behind her back, the other commented: "Hicks always keep their money under the mattress." That's where it was.

Millionth Traffic Death Bureau to Send Letters Asking Correct Taxes

CHICAGO (AP) — Only 1,900 more traffic deaths will occur before the nation's millionth fatality takes place, probably Dec. 21, the National Safety Council said Thursday.

The council reported that the total of traffic deaths in the U.S. since 1899 has reached 998,100.

It is still possible, the council said, that the millionth death might be postponed one day — to Saturday, Dec. 22 — if pre-Christmas travel volume is lower than expected, due to bad weather or other reasons.

During the week of Nov. 30 to Dec. 6, the council reported there were approximately 800 traffic deaths, including those of persons who survived some time after accidents, and delayed reports. The toll last week stood at 997,300.

Updegraff Named To State Committee

Prof. Clarence Updegraff, SUI law college, was named Thursday by Gov. William Bardsley to a committee to study the possibilities of an Iowa public utilities commission.

Iowa and Texas are the only states which do not regulate the activities and rates of such utilities as power and light and telephone companies.

Two bills calling for such a commission failed to pass the 1951 legislature. The recommendations of Bardsley's committee will be given to the 1953 legislature.

Others named are Senators Frank Byers (R-Cedar Rapids), DeVerre Watson (R-Council Bluffs), and George E. O'Malley (D-Des Moines); Representatives Fred Schwengel (R-Davenport), J. E. Hanson (D-Des Moines), and Dwight W. Meyer (R-Odebolt); E. J. Van Nostrand, Creston newspaperman and Dr. Samuel Stevens, president of Grinnell college.

Dean Rusk Resigns State Department Job

KEY WEST, FLA. (AP) — President Truman accepted the resignation of Dean Rusk as assistant secretary of state Thursday, but disclosed that Rusk will continue as consultant on Japanese treaty affairs.

Rusk, who had shouldered many problems of the Korean crisis and forging the U. S.-Japanese security pact, resigned to become head of the multi-million-dollar Rockefeller foundation. No successor had been named.

Mr. Truman gave Rusk a "well done," and said "we shall continue to lean heavily upon you in carrying into effect the administrative agreement called for" by the pact with Japan.

Commerce Sorority President Resigns After Anti-Negro Vote

Mrs. Grace Marken, C4, Manly, said Thursday night that she recently resigned as president of the Phi Gamma Nu, professional commerce sorority, because "it's against my principles to be president of an organization which practices racial discrimination."

Mrs. Marken said that the group voted not to admit Negro girls into the sorority after she had brought up the question for discussion.

Gwendolyn Moore, A3, Negro girl from Manly, had previously asked Mrs. Marken about admittance into the sorority. At the time Mrs. Marken said that she would "see about it."

Miss Moore was one of the 25 or 30 girls on a list of candidates submitted early this semester by the college of commerce.

At a regular meeting of the sorority the question of Negro girls was brought up. A secret vote was taken. At that time the group voted nine to one against admitting colored girls.

Mrs. Marken said that she did not vote at the session because she was the presiding officer.

According to Mrs. Marken, the sorority once had a clause prohibiting Negroes but had since eliminated it from the constitution. After the vote was taken, Mrs. Marken told the group that she would consider resigning because of their decision. She resigned at the next regular meeting.

Mrs. Marken told of her resignation after a letter was written to The Daily Iowan concerning the situation by Pat Vannice, C3, West Liberty.

Miss Vannice was also a prospective member but declined an invitation to the rushing party.

B-36's Make Flight To Africa Non-Stop

FT. WORTH, TEX. (AP) — Six B-36 Sky Giants, designed to deliver the atom bomb more than 10,000 miles, returned to home base Thursday with a nonstop training flight to Africa.

They came back to Carswell air force base from one of several supersecret American air force bases being built around the world for global defense. The trip was about 4,984 miles each way.

It was the first time the big fellows had landed at the new field at Sidi Slimane, French Morocco, according to Maj. L. A. Proulx, intelligence officer of Southbridge, Mass.

Pied Piper of the Highway

BERLIN-KREMLIN

COMMUNIST YOUTH of East Berlin goose-step to the command of their Red leaders. Bitter disillusionment has been the fate of the older German "Comrades."

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is one of a series of 12 articles, telling starkly and bluntly the truth of life for a Russian soldier in the Soviet-controlled zone of Germany, as told by Maj. Gregory Klimov, a former member of the Russian general staff in Germany. Disgusted with the system under which he lived, Major Klimov fled to the western (Allied-occupied) zone of Germany. Here is his own story, told for the first time.

By MAJOR GREGORY KLIMOV

I recall one incident before the Elbe: A group of Russian soldiers encountered a lone German who, with a knapsack on his back and a bicycle at his side upon which he had loaded all of his possessions, was heading eastward. As he spied the Soviet soldiers he let out a yell of enthusiasm: "Stalin good. . . Communist. . . Comrade. . ." He tried to make it clear to the soldiers that he was on his way to the Soviet Union. The soldiers looked at one another silently, then turned the German toward the west, and gave him a good-natured kick. When he resisted their efforts, and insisted upon continuing toward the east, the soldiers became angry and relieved him of his knapsack and bicycle in a most ungentle manner.

Decorated Cars

The high-ranking German Communist officials, had the practice of decorating their cars with a bevy of red flags and racing through the streets of Berlin like fire engines.

Laughed at Complaints

Colonel Maximov, the Karlshorst commandant, only laughed when he received complaints of such incidents. The average Soviet soldier regarded the German Communist with loathing. A Russian who has seen Europe is convinced that only a degenerate in the pay of Moscow could be a voluntary member of the party.

Good Turn

I believe that the Soviet soldiers had intended doing the man a good turn, in wanting to prevent him from making good his desire to go to Russia.

Began to Sink

For a time these methods had some success, but the number of new members in the KPD began to sink drastically and finally stopped altogether. It is becoming clear to all Germans that the Communists could exist as a party only with the aid of Russian bayonets.

Next — Even Russians laugh at Red German newspaper lies.

For political reasons, of course, the occupation government did everything possible to enrich the Communist party in power among the German people. First, the Soviets applied the tested techniques of giving the Communists all conceivable privilege, and intensifying the pressure on those who did not want to join—the time-honored policy of the whip and the sugarbread.

It is significant that only in the Russian zone there any organized German underground resistance to the occupation power.

Next — Even Russians laugh at Red German newspaper lies.

How You Can Better Enjoy Christmas

To Miss Joyce Horton, A4, Osage, we want to say "many thanks." While the rest of us plotted our Thanksgiving vacations, dinners, and trips, Miss Horton was thinking along a less selfish line. She was planning a trip and dinner at home in Osage—not for herself alone, but also for 41 other students. These were students representing 18 foreign countries. Each was a potential good will ambassador. After their four-day holiday at Osage, we feel sure that these students returned to SUI with a better impression of the average American. Miss Horton and the people of Osage helped to convince these students that the average American is not selfish or self-centered.

At this time of year, with Christmas less than three weeks off, many of us get what is referred to as the "Christmas Spirit." It is evident that university students generally have little spending money. And sometimes it is pretty rough trying to balance the budget—especially at this time of year. There will be the trip home and maybe parties. It all costs money.

But there is also your conscience. Want to make yourself easier to live with? Then ask yourself if you are one of the unselfish Americans. One of the most worthy causes sponsored at SUI each year is the Campus Chest. The money from which goes to the World Student Service fund, foreign student aid, National Scholarship service and fund for Negro students and CARE.

Give a little of your Christmas money to the Campus Chest just to prove to yourself as well as others that the American is not a selfish person—and that he is sincerely interested in the rest of the world. That is how you can better enjoy Christmas.

Stop, Look, Listen—and Think

The most fatal month of the year, as far as traffic accidents are concerned, opened last weekend in Iowa with nine persons being killed on the highways.

These recent accidents seem to point out that careless driving is the basic cause for them. Last weekend the weather conditions were favorable for pleasurable driving, but safe and sane driving was absent.

Drivers have to stop to think. This year's death total is 577 as compared to 562 last year at this time. Both are too high. The National Safety Council annually strives to save lives on our highways in its campaigning.

Drivers must act. Safe driving habits have to be employed. Rules, helpful hints and suggestions set forth by the Safety Council are available to every driver. The let down comes when drivers continue to ignore the campaign and speed over the highways recklessly and carelessly.

If traffic fatalities total nine on weekends with favorable driving conditions, what will happen on the future weekends when driving conditions are hazardous?

It is true that on exceptional weekends such as the last one, with good weather, the number of people out for pleasure riding is greater than usual. But add poor weather conditions to the kind of driving being done on our highways and you get a staggering answer—an even larger number of traffic deaths.

From an Authority

TO THE EDITOR:

After reading Mr. Prescott Harmon's letter, I wonder why articles like Major Klimov's are bothering him and make him believe they may lead only to further the tension between East and West.

Can this tension increase? Or is it the truth he does not like and does not want to face? Then I cannot agree with him that Russian communism and American democracy are serving the same purpose. I could have done this if Mr. Harmon would have omitted the word Russian, because there is a difference between Communist ideology and the way Russian communism operates.

But I feel I could say more about the means Russia uses to achieve its "humanitarian" aim. I wonder if Mr. Harmon ever saw a concentration camp or ever lived in constant fear under a totalitarian pressure? Speaking for myself, I get fed up also, if somebody says these means will achieve a humanitarian aim.

I had a very impressive experience with these means for six years during the Nazi occupation of Czechoslovakia and also had "the pleasure" of being questioned three times by the Gestapo. I can assure Mr. Harmon that these means did not impress me as serving a humanitarian aim.

Mr. Harmon speaks only about Communist repressed countries of Eastern Europe and does not mention Czechoslovakia (maybe because it is in central Europe or because so many Czechs are fleeing the country under this wonderful "People's Democracy" regime), but knowing the conditions and people there, I can say that the masses "love" all those new industrial and social developments.

Before World War II they were living in peace, but today they are forced to work where ordered. In some of these countries the machines that were left in industries after Nazi occupation and war destruction were disassembled and shipped to Russia.

For some social "improvements" they go after work to meetings where the Russian Communist ideology is hammered into their heads, and for recreation on Sunday they work "willingly" on brigades in coal mines or in fields with no pay.

According to Mr. Harmon, these people do not know how well off they are by slaving for a Russian Communist dictator.

Being grateful for once again having the freedom I was accustomed to in Czechoslovakia until 1939, I want to give Mr. Harmon some friendly advice: If he should visit any of these repressed countries, he should not tell these large masses of people about the wonderful social and political improvements they enjoy. They may not understand.

Good View

TO THE EDITOR:

I am sorry that Mr. Prescott Harmon Jr. is distressed over the "tension" that articles such as the "Berlin Kremlin" series produce in this already dangerously divided world I submit, however, that the world will still be tense and divided, articles or no.

Of course Mr. Harmon has the advantage point of viewing East-West differences and Iron Curtain countries from South Clinton street. This gives him definite advantages over people who have lived in Eastern Europe and who have managed escape westward, or men like Major Klimov, formerly of the Russian general staff in Germany. (Incidentally, how many people from the West are trying desperately to get into the Communist zone of Germany?)

Mr. Harmon's arguments remind me somewhat of the old sure-cure formula for headaches, in which the procedure is to blow the patient's head off. While we may deplore the means used to further this program, at least its "aim" is a humanitarian one (to relieve pain). And who are we to say that this method is not supported willingly by the majority of the patients so treated?

Dangerous Views

TO THE EDITOR:

Mr. Harmon's letter of December 4, expresses what I consider to be the most dangerous sentiments possible for a citizen of this country to hold when the world situation is such as it is today.

I am referring, of course, to his statement that the Russian Communist's so-called motives are inspired by a regard for humanitarian principles.

It is quite obvious that he is confusing the avowed aims of Marxian communism with the practices of Stalinism.

The methods are similar, but under the Marxian doctrine the Russian people would obviously have reaped personal results from one of the many five-year plans which have been completed with so much avowed success.

Mr. Harmon is in the ridiculous position of calling a man who has lived under the regime all of his life a liar, because he tells us what Mr. Harmon does not wish to believe.

If he could point out one instance in which Major Klimov has strayed from the path of truth, either explicitly or by implication, his "vicious attack" on the editorial feature of the Iowan could be considered in an adult way. Up to this point, that has not been done.

The sooner the people of this country wake up to the fact that humanitarian principles have no place in Russian policies, the sooner we will be able to destroy our own worst enemy—complacency combined with inertia.

Accomplishment?

TO THE EDITOR:

RAH RAH for KXIC — they really did something the other evening. They sent a 20-year-old boy into a local club and he indirectly forced them to lose their license.

What did this prove? What is the outcome? From reading the article one would think that the Amvets was the only bar serving Minets. If this is true, then they really accomplished something.

However, if it is not true, why aren't they continuing their campaign against the rest of the establishments in Iowa City and surrounding territory that serve beer?

Why didn't they call the proper authorities and let them take care of the matter, or are they publicity hounds at heart?

The Amvets was easy prey, indeed, for any one desiring a little publicity, as it had been in bad scrapes in the past and the venture of the other evening took no great daring. If the reporter would like to live dangerously why doesn't he try it in some of the "reputable bars" that have no blots on their record.

When you have it so it is tough to get served in any bar in this area unless you can prove your age, then I will take my hat off to you and not until that time!

Confusion

TO THE EDITOR:

The letter by Prescott Harmon Jr., which appeared in the Iowan of December 3, has confused me. The first paragraph states that the East and the West must understand each other so that another war will be avoided.

In the second and third paragraphs of the letter to censure the articles of Major Klimov, a man who wrote so we of the West might increase our understanding of the East, Mr. Harmon states that the articles will only further the tension between East and West.

He does not seem to realize that this increase in tension will be the result of increased understanding of the East by the West.

Heading for Holiday Parties

A CENTER PART and side wings make this short hairdo party-going.

The holiday round of parties is starting. And everywhere you go, your hair goes with you!

That means your hair will be subjected to smoky rooms, and to overheated rooms. Your hair will tend to pick up the odor of smoke and to get lackluster.

But that's nothing to worry about nowadays, when you have new type special detergent shampoos to bring out all the natural sparkle and lustre of your hair.

It's wise to shampoo your hair twice a week during the party going season. Your dancing partner will appreciate it and your appearance will benefit. What used to be called a woman's crowning glory is still her most valuable beauty asset.

Also, the party-going season is a good time to experiment with your hairdo. Very short hair worn like a curled cap is new and easy to wear. Slightly longer hair looks

COLLAR LENGTH HAIR brushed into an updo lends a look of elegance to your appearance. Huge brilliant earrings compliment it nicely.

most fashionable when it is styled full in front and curled up softly in back. Newest of all is the up-do of either short or long hair. Complement it with sparkling earrings and lovely party necklaces.

DAR to Present Program on WSUI Saturday

The D.A.R.-sponsored program, "Original Compositions by Iowa Composers" will be broadcast Saturday at 11:30 a.m. on radio station WSUI.

Arranged by Mrs. Paul B. Shaw, the program will feature two works composed by Wendell J. Rider, graduate student in the SUI school of music.

The first will be two recordings of "Anniversary in Y'sdom," a cantata written in the spring of 1950 for performance by local choral groups of Washington, Iowa on the 25th anniversary of the Y's Men's club of that city. It consists of six choral numbers depicting the aims and ideals of YMCA and the Men's club as they apply to the future of American youth.

In the final number the chorale theme from Sibelius' "Finlandia" is heard. This chorale is the official song of the Y's Men's clubs. The recording is by the chorus and orchestra of the Cleveland Heights high school of Cleveland, Ohio, under the direction of Harold Barbee.

The second number is "Concerto Grosso for Three Trumpets, Three Trombones and Strings." The work consists of two movements: Maestoso: Allegro and Very Slowly. The work is performed by the symphony orchestra of Northwestern university under the direction of Herman Felber.

WHAT'S SO DIFFERENT ABOUT ENGLEWOOD, N. J.?

In Englewood, the local telephone exchange looks pretty much like the telephone building in any other town.

And Englewood's telephones seem just the same as the twenty-seven million other dial telephones in the country.

But there's a difference . . .

You can pick up a telephone in Englewood and dial San Francisco telephone numbers direct!

In fact, you can dial any one of eleven million telephone numbers in thirteen widely scattered areas from coast to coast.

That's what makes Englewood different—the new kind of Long Distance telephone service on trial there by the Bell System.

Long Distance dialing is another example of the Bell System's constant search for ways to provide you with ever-better telephone service.

Churchill Sees Lag in British Arms Schedule

LONDON (P) — Prime Minister Churchill said Thursday night Britain will be unable to complete her $13 billion defense program on schedule in 1953.

"We shall get on as fast as we can," Churchill told the house of commons in reply to a question from Laborite left-winger Aneurin Bevan. "We shall do our best, but I should be very wrong not to warn the house that there will be a lag, as there has been in all munitions programs I have seen or been connected with."

Speaking at his own defense minister in debate, the Conservative chieftain referred to Bevan's prediction of last spring that Britain was trying to rearm too fast. Churchill told the house that even this year's $3,500,000,000 defense spending was behind schedule.

Churchill told the house: "Britain has made considerable progress toward building an A-bomb."

There is less danger of World War III now than at any time since the Berlin air life of 1948 because of "deterrents against aggression" created by the United States, Britain and other nations of the free West.

He refused to merge British troops in the French-sponsored project for a unified European army though Britain agrees "there should be a European army and that Germany must take an honorable place in it." He said Britons would take their place beside such a European army.

On atomic research, Churchill said that when he came into office as prime minister six weeks ago he found much work had been done. He said this work was "not only on making the crucial materials required for the atomic bomb but in preparing to manufacture the weapon."

Witches Brew

Ireland Seeks Outlet For Potent Potion

DUBLIN (AP) — A member of the Irish dail (parliament) Thursday suggested exporting Irish moonshine to the United States to earn dollars for Ireland.

The illegal potent brew, called "poteen," is distilled from potatoes.

The Dublin Evening Herald offered another suggestion in an editorial:

"We suggest that poteen should be tried first on the Russians who no doubt would class it as another of their discoveries if they were in a fit condition to do so after sampling it."

Explorer Scouts Have Rough Training at Camp

By GEORGE YOUNG

Certain local boys go through three days' basic training, long marches, climbing mountains and uniforms. This may sound like the army, but it isn't.

It is all part of the program at the Philmont scout ranch in New Mexico. Several years ago the president of the Phillips Petroleum company gave a 127,000 acre ranch to the Boy Scouts of America for them to use in the scouts' explorer program. After a scout is 14 years old, he may become an explorer scout.

A boy may spend a week, 10 days or all summer at the ranch for a price ranging from $17 for the 10-day trip up to $150 for the summer. Last year Iowa City sent a total of 32 scouts and 2 leaders on two trips to the ranch. This year there are 30 reservations for Iowa City scouts at the ranch.

After a scout reaches the ranch he is given a thorough physical examination. Following this the basic training begins. The scout receives instruction in cooking at high altitudes, handling horses and burros and various other things to help him during his stay.

The hikes are started as soon as the basic training is over. The scouts then spend the next several days out on the trail.

The ranch is a game preserve with many kinds of animal life in the forests, and the scouts sometimes are able to help the conservation agent plant some beaver in the streams or release some wild fowl to its new home.

Ottumwa Trial Awaits Move On Testimony

OTTUMWA (P)—Shall a jury of four men and eight women be permitted to hear a mother tell her story of statements by her dying daughter?

Beginning today District Judge Heinrich C. Taylor will hear attorneys discuss this issue in connection with the manslaughter trial of Carroll McIntire, 21. After the arguments are completed the judge will rule on the matter.

McIntire is an air force private from Fairfield. The state contends he willfully caused the death of Martha Lyman, 17, an Ottumwa high school senior, by pushing her from his moving car. McIntire says he is innocent.

Mrs. Robert Lyman, Martha's mother, took the stand Thursday in McIntire's trial. Shortly after she began her testimony, the state asked Mrs. Lyman if her daughter said anything about events surrounding the injury.

At this point the defense that the jury be excused. This move was made under a rule of law which provides that a dying declaration shall be passed on by the court as to its admissibility before a jury.

After the jurors left, the judge told Mrs. Lyman to tell her story. At one point, Mrs. Lyman testified her daughter told her:

"Oh mommy, Carroll pushed me out of the car."

In the arguments scheduled for today, the defense is expected to contend that the girl's statements are not admissible as a dying declaration because she had not been told that she was going to die.

Local Man Fined On Assault Charge

Gymnastics Is a Sport, Too—

We who choose sports writing for our profession are supposed to be some kind of authority on what we write. But—and this may be treason—that isn't always the case.

Today, for instance, it's our intention to discuss gymnastics, a subject with which we are thoroughly unfamiliar. But until some bright young reporter who's fully versed about the sport joins the staff, our efforts will have to do. It's either that, or this fine sport would get practically no publicity at all in these parts.

Not that that would matter much to Coach Dick Holzapfel and the 35 candidates working on the gymnastics squad at present, for they'll go on enjoying themselves regardless of how many people know about their endeavors.

But it does seem that Holzapfel, probably the least known coach in the Iowa athletic department, should step front and center once in awhile for the remarkable job he's done in revitalizing a sport that was never too healthy around here in the first place.

Holzapfel came to Iowa four years ago when there had not been a gymnastics team here since before the war. He was greeted by some beat up old equipment, a handful of eager but thoroughly inexperienced young men, and a situation in which he "had to start a sport in a state where it was nonexistent."

Today "Iowa is as well equipped as any school in the country," candidates are much more plentiful, though still green, and there's some definite signs of increased activity throughout the state.

And in the process of building, the Hawkeys have managed to win a respectable amount of dual meet victories and develop a Big Ten champion in Bill Harris of Cedar Rapids.

But the job is still far from done. "Our big problem is the same today as when I first came here," said Holzapfel.

"The boys who come out for the sport usually are starting completely from scratch. Most of them have never even seen a gymnastics meet. Can you imagine a football coach getting players who've never seen a football game? So you see we have to concentrate on fundamentals for the most part.

"Then, too, there's the fact that most of the fellows who've learned the sport here and could teach it in the high schools are either going into the service or taking jobs out of the state."

Is a Sport for Enjoyment

These are problems, it's true, but it's misleading to associate gymnastics with problems, for it's basically a sport for enjoyment. Watching a workout in the gym, you can't get any other impression.

Team members (and others, too) practice about an hour and a half a day, five days a week, from September to June, although the actual season lasts only for three months.

"All the fellows practice voluntarily but the truth is that we just can't keep them away from the place, even when we want to close up," Holzapfel said.

"Everyone's out because he likes it. Nobody cares about glory or anything like that. I guess we all enjoy it so much because it's a death-defying sport. It's a case of pitting your skill against the risk of an injury. You know there's more risk of injury in gymnastics in one hour than in any other sport in one month. But, actually, we've had very few injuries."

To demonstrate his point, Holzapfel pointed to a muscular individual working out on what they call the parallel bars. He won't attempt to explain the whole procedure involved on that apparatus except to mention that had this fellow come down with his head a few feet in either direction from where it did, it would have been a pretty gruesome sight.

But, as the coach says, it's "that certain bit of daring in everyone's soul that gets these kids out here."

Whatever the stimulus is, it's evident that here is a sport in its purest and most amateur form. There are no big names on the squad, no alumni came to their home towns to get them, and no one has any kind of financial "deal." Just a bunch of kids and their coach having fun and developing their bodies in the process. It's refreshing, to say the least.

Bluehawks Travel To Mt. Vernon

University high tonight travels to Mt. Vernon in quest of its third straight Eastern Iowa Hawkeye Conference victory. The two reserve squads begin action at 7 o'clock with the varsity game scheduled for approximately 8:15.

The Blues, winner in their last two starts against conference foes, Durant and Lone Tree, may be without the services of Gardner Van Dyke.

The junior forward, leading U-high scorer with 35 points, missed practice Thursday with a cold.

Coach Lou Alley has indicated that Johnny Price and "Smookey" Stover may see considerable action if Van Dyke is unable to start against the tough Mt. Vernon squad, which is also undefeated in conference play.

Little Hawks Open Conference Schedule With Wi'son Tonight

City high, owning three consecutive victories thus far this season, opens its Mississippi Valley conference competition tonight by entertaining twice-beaten Wilson high of Cedar Rapids at the Hawkiet gym.

It will also be the first conference test for the visiting Ramblers, who have divided their four games this season, losing to Marion and Grinnell.

City high Coach Howard Moffitt indicated that the Hawkiets' starting lineup will include the same five used in all previous games — Jamie Andrews and Bob Frantz at forwards, Ted Dunnington at center, and Jim Freeman and John White at the guards.

Wilson will field a squad containing nine lettermen, four of whom will be lost at mid-year due to graduation. The starting five averages over 6 feet per man. The Ramblers concentrate on a 2-1-2 zone defense and a fast-breaking offense.

The Hawkiets who average 5-11, will continue to use a man-for-man defense and a slow, deliberate offense, led by Freeman, who scored 25 points against Anamosa last Friday.

Coach Moffitt feels that if the Hawkiets can match their opponents in the all-important rebounding department, they will stand a good chance of winning. However, if the rangy Ramblers utilize their superior height, the going will be tough for the home team.

The thrice victorious City high sophomore aggregation will tangle with the Wilson sophomore squad in the curtain raiser. The first game will start at 6:45 and varsity contest will begin at 8:15.

Hettrick, Davis Impress In Hawkeye Practices

By JACK SQUIRE Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Some impressive practice performances by freshman Deacon Davis and sophomore Gene Hettrick, injuries to Bob Clifton and sophomore Paul Stark, and the recovery of Chuck Jarjigan were the main topics in Iowa basketball Thursday as the Hawkeys continued preparations for DePauw here Saturday night.

"We've put in a hard week of practice to clear up the mistakes we made against Western Michigan," said Coach Bucky O'Connor.

Hettrick in Pivot: "Some of the boys have shown up pretty well, too. Hettrick has looked impressive in the pivot and Davis has also done well there."

Hettrick, the 6-5 former City high star, will understudy Chuck

Darling at center while Davis, a flashy performer against Western Michigan, will be used primarily at forward, though he, too, can be called on to relieve Darling.

Clifton, who jammed his thumb in practice, will start Saturday but will be handicapped somewhat in his ball handling. Stark, a guard from Boone, will miss the game because of a sprained ankle.

Back Better: A back injury, which handicapped Jarjigan last week, is just about healed, and the promising Newton sophomore appears ready to go at full speed.

O'Connor is anticipating stiff competition from DePauw, a team which made the Hawks hustle last year before bowing, 74-67.

Iowa again will be confronted with Kent Guild, who scored 21 points here a year ago, and a good center in 3-4 Lee Hamilton.

Jackson Burial Sunday

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP) — "Shoelless Joe" Jackson, 63, famous American league slugger banned from professional baseball for his alleged part in the 1919 "Black Sox" World Series scandal will be buried here in Woodlawn cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Warns Big Ten Of Violations

Wilson Asks League For Stiffer Controls

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO — Big Ten Commissioner Kenneth L. Wilson, granted "dictator" powers last year, swung a "big stick" Thursday warning members that he has hired a former FBI investigator to discover facts "necessary to reinforce confidence in the integrity of our program."

At the same time he urged faculty representatives and athletic directors to stiffen rules on recruitment and subsidization, control of alumni funds, a "C" average for competition, coaches' tenure, limitation of football and basketball practice, and reports of suspected violations.

Wilson said the investigator, who "will not be a Gestapo agent," already has conducted two investigations. He said he might "employ other investigative services, should occasion demand."

Major Problems: "Our major problems... are the problems of recruiting and subsidizing," he said. "In those... lie the basic pitfalls of... intercollegiate athletics."

"Institutional responsibility is undoubtedly the one positive and certain bulwark that we have against any single abuse of intercollegiate athletics or violations of its principles."

He pointed out that the NCAA was to consider a regulation making any student receiving aid not approved by his institution automatically ineligible and suggested its consideration as a conference regulation.

"These words signify that the institution itself shall take full responsibility for the assistance which its athletics receive," he said.

"We have recently modified our recruiting rule," he said. "It now permits a coach... to initiate contact with a prospective athlete."

Wants No Contact: "I suggest that you give serious consideration to a rule of no contacts whatsoever. From my point of view I see in such a rule no problems of enforcement that correspond to the damaging aspects of the rule as we now have it."

Wilson said he was making a "thorough study" of funds raised by alumni, and that he feared "they may be used... as a means of financing recruitment and even as a source of undercover aid."

He suggested a limit of 18 days over a 25 day period on out of season football practice, meaning spring sessions, and a rule prohibiting basketball practice before Oct. 15.

Should Require Reports: He asked that the present rule allowing athletic directors to use "discretion" in submitting reports of suspected violations be changed to "require" such reports to the commissioner.

His report was the highlight of the opening day of the winter meeting. Other actions included rejection of an offer by a Madison, Wis., club to present a basketball trophy, decision to award a sixth place medal in the swimming meet, cancellation of the track coaches annual December meeting, transfer of the wrestling coaches' meeting from December to May, and rejection of a request by the American Baseball congress for waiver of its rule against outside competition by athletes after school has begun.

Purdue Tops DePauw, 68-56; Hoosiers Win

LAFAYETTE, IND. — Purdue's Hoosiers pined by the brilliant sniping of veteran Carl McNulty, led at all spots Thursday night to defeat DePauw, 68-56, in its home basketball opener.

McNulty, 6-foot-3 senior who alternated at center and forward, tossed in 26 points, including 10 fielders. Guard Harry Stewart got 20 for DePauw.

Purdue took command of the game from the outset, and after the visiting Tigers scored a free-throw, the Riveters took complete command of the game. They missed only six of 26 free throws, while DePauw erred consistently from the 15-foot stripe.

The victory gave Purdue an even break in two games. They lost their opener at Kansas State last Saturday.

At Bloomington, Indiana's Hoosiers rallied in the second half Thursday night to open their 1951-52 basketball campaign with a 68-59 triumph over tall Valparaiso.

Trailing at the half, 27-25, the Hoosiers scorched the nets for 29 points in the third period to take a lead they never relinquished. Their drive was sparked by 6-foot-3 sophomore forward Dick Farley and senior guard Bobby Mcesters, who hit three of four Indiana baskets as the third stanza opened.

Kazmaier Tops AP All-America

Lauricella, Isbell Also on Honor Team

By TED SMITS
 NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Kazmaier, the phenomenal triple-threat star of Princeton, heads the Associated Press all-America football team for 1951, repeating his 1950 honors.
 He leads a spectacular backfield, other members of which are, Larry Isbell of Baylor, Hugh McElhenny of Washington, and Hank Lauricella of Tennessee.

Iowans Get Mention

Iowa's Bill Reichardt and Dusty Rice received honorable mention on the AP all-American selections.
 offensive guard; Jim Weatherall of Oklahoma, defensive tackle and Les Richter of California, linebacker.
 Tennessee and Michigan State, the number one and two teams of the land, each won two places on the squad.

The Honor Team

This is the team:
Offense:
 Ends — Bill McColl, Stanford, and Bob Carey, Michigan State.
 Tackles — Bob Tonnef, Notre Dame and Dan Coleman, Michigan State.
 Guards — Bob Ward, Maryland, and Marvin Matuszak, Tulsa.
Center — Doug Moseley, Kentucky.
Backs — Dick Kazmaier, Princeton; Hank Lauricella, Tennessee; Hugh McElhenny, Washington; Larry Isbell, Baylor.
Defense:
 Ends — Pat O'Donahue, Wisconsin, and Dewey McConnell, Wyoming.
Tackles — Jim Weatherall, Oklahoma, and Pug Pearson, Tennessee.
Guards — Ray Beck, Georgia Tech, and Joe Palumbo, Virginia.
Linebackers — Keith Flowers, Texas Christian, and Les Richter, California.
Backs — Bobby Dillon, Texas; Al Brosky, Illinois; Ollie Matson, San Francisco U.

Selected by Board
 The offensive and defensive all-America team takes into account the complete season's games through Dec. 1 and was selected in consultation with a board of 11 newspapermen representing every section of the nation. Hundreds of writers and sportscasters served as advisers.

With Army in temporary eclipse as a gridiron power due to the cribbing dismissals, the East is represented only by Kazmaier. The South, Southeast, and Southwest landed nine men on the team, the Middle West seven, and the Far West five.

In keeping with the offensive spirit of 1951, this year's first team attacking backfield is a potent combination.
 Kazmaier, a slender lad of whom little was expected when he showed up at Princeton, has placed his name on the select list of gridiron greats. For his entire season's record, he carried the ball 149 times for 861 yards by rushing and nine touchdowns. He attempted 123 passes and completed an astounding 77 for 966 yards and 13 touchdowns. He punted 29 times for an average of 37.2 yards. In three years of varsity ball he scored 20 touchdowns rushing, and passed for 35 more.

Great Against Cornell
 His greatest day in 1951 came against Cornell, beaten by Princeton 53-15. He made two touchdowns by rushing, carried 18 times for 124 yards, attempted 17 passes and completed 15 for a net of 236 yards, and three of his passes went for touchdowns.

Isbell of Baylor — termed by Coach George Sauer as "the greatest quarterback I ever saw" — was equally versatile. He scored five touchdowns, carried the ball 52 times for 126 yards, kicked 61 times for an average of 38.3 yards, and passed 214 times for 105 completions and 1,430 yards, with 10 touchdowns thrown in.

Lauricella is another all-around backfield man in a day of specialists. Taking into account the full season, he ran 111 times for 879 yards and five touchdowns; threw 51 passes, completing 24 for 352 yards and five touchdowns; and punted 43 times for a 36-yard average. Said his coach, Gen. Bob Neyland: "He's the finest all-around triple-threat tailback we've ever had at Tennessee."

McElhenny Stars
 McElhenny, the pride of the Pacific coast, made a full season's total of 936 yards rushing with 169 carries, caught 26 passes for 339 yards, and scored 17 touchdowns in addition to making 23 conversions. Over three years he made 2,499 yards rushing and scored 233 points.

The 1951 AP defensive team is strictly that — defensive players under the two platoon system, although a few played offensive ball as well.

Walcott, Eagan Honored by Boxing Writers

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Edward Eagan, former chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, Thursday were voted the Boxing Writers association's two top awards.
 Jersey Joe, who won his title at the age of 37 and in his fifth try for boxing's most precious crown, will be awarded the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque for having done the most for boxing during the year.

 Eagan, a one-time Olympic boxing champion who recently resigned his commission post after 6½ years service, was chosen for the James J. Walker memorial award "for long and meritorious service" to boxing.
 They will receive their trophies at the writers annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria, Jan. 17.
 Walcott joins a select company of ring standouts in being singled out for the Neil award, perhaps the most coveted award in boxing. The plaque is named in honor of Neil, the former Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in 1937 while serving as a war correspondent in Spain.
 Eagan, a Rhodes scholar and attorney, won the light heavyweight boxing championship at the 1920 Olympics.

Archbishop Intends to Keep Title

KRASIC, Yugoslavia — Archbishop Aloysius Stepinac, free after more than five years in prison, donned his scarlet cap of office Thursday and declared he will not recognize Marshal Tito's efforts to deprive him of his title and position as highest Catholic prelate in Yugoslavia.

The Yugoslav government, in announcing the release of the 53-year-old churchman from Leopoldovka prison, where he had spent five years and 55 days of a 16-year sentence, described him as "the former Archbishop of Zagreb."

"I am the legitimate archbishop, not the former archbishop," he told a group of reporters who joined the villagers of Krasic who turned out in the dawn Thursday to hear him celebrate his first mass since his release.

"I have never left the country under compulsion," he said. "I shall remain here until the Holy Father says otherwise."

The prelate said he never asked the Yugoslav government for his freedom "because I do not feel guilty."

He was convicted by a Yugoslav "people's court" on charges of war crimes and collaboration with Hitler's Nazi occupation forces.

He was released Wednesday night on condition that he remain in Krasic, the village of his birth.

"The Holy Father will never be satisfied with this," he said, "though for myself I am very content. I never sought any high church dignities and I will relinquish my position only if the Holy Father desires, but I will never give it up under pressure."

Alert and well, but appearing thin, the churchman refused to discuss his experiences in prison. He waved all questions about his treatment aside with the comment:

"He who talks too much cannot remain without sin. For that reason, I do not wish to talk too much."

He told the reporters, whom he received in the vestry of the village church between services, that he did not know until Tuesday that he was to be released.

Nation-Wide Strike Will Be Vote Issue Of CIO Meat Packers

CHICAGO (AP)—The CIO United Packinghouse Workers union announced Thursday a nationwide strike vote will be taken during the week of Dec. 10 by the union's locals.

Ralph Helstein, union president, said the union has been negotiating since July with the leading meat packing companies on its demand for a $3,000 minimum annual wage and other benefits.

Helstein said the companies have flatly rejected the $3,000 demand and "have consistently refused to offer any counter-proposal."

The strike ballot, Helstein said, will affect workers in plants operated by the so-called "big four"—Wilson, Armour, Swift and Cudahy—and a number of independent packers.

The vote, by secret ballot, will be sent to the union's Chicago headquarters for tabulation.

In addition to the minimum yearly wage, the union seeks a cost of living bonus, a social service fund, a union shop, time and a half for Saturday work, and other benefits.

Helstein said the union regards a $3,000 yearly wage minimum "as a basic requirement to improve the substandard earnings of the packinghouse workers, nearly a third of whom earned less than $2,500 last year."

Reds Refuse to Help UN Captives Get Food

GENEVA (AP)—The Chinese Communist Red Cross refused Thursday to take any action toward persuading the North Koreans to let food and medical supplies reach United Nations prisoners in their hands.

At Thursday's meeting of the executive committee of the League of Red Cross Societies, Mrs. Li Teh Chuan, Communist China's minister of health and president of the Chinese Red Cross, said:

"We have only a working contact with the North Korean Red Cross, and furthermore we cannot be expected to take over the league's duties in this respect."

Campus 'Counterfeiters' Raided

"COUNTERFEITERS" are rounded up by a U.S. secret service agent on the campus of the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, but are not put under arrest—just frightened. The students had printed 5,000 three-dollar bills as a stunt to promote the college "Humor" magazine. Edith Clark holds one of the bills bearing a likeness of Harold Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania.

State Draft Chief Fears Men, 18, Not Registering

State selective service headquarters, in a recent letter to SUI Registrar Ted McCarrel, expressed fear that many Iowa youths were placing themselves in jeopardy by failing to comply with selective service law requiring registration of 18-year-olds.

Col. R. A. Lancaster, state director, said he could make no estimate of the number of eligibles who were not registered but that local draft boards have instructions to submit names of suspected delinquents to federal authorities for investigation and prosecution, if facts warrant.

"There is not—and never has been—any intention to persecute," Lancaster said, "but the obligation to register at 18 is plainly set forth in the law and since failure to comply certainly makes a youth a delinquent, all we can do is act accordingly."

Some Fail Unwittingly
"They do it unwittingly or because of an 'I-think-I-can-get-away-with-it' attitude," he added.

Lancaster explained that a man is required to register at a local draft board office within five days of his 18th birthday. But if he should be away from home at the time he can register at the nearest office and the record will be sent to the board having jurisdiction.

The state director pointed out that it is also mandatory that a registrant keep his local board informed of any change of address and that this applies even after he becomes 26.

Veterans Must Register
Lancaster said that the man who fails to register because he is on active duty with the armed forces is required to register within 30 days after his separation from service.

The Colonel said that noncitizens, entering the United States for the first time are required to register within six months following their date of entry.

The maximum penalty for violation of any of the provisions of the selective service law is five years in prison or a fine of $10,000 or both.

William D. Coder, local draft board chairman, said Thursday that since Iowa City is not particularly large most eligible men are familiar to board members and therefore nonregistration presents no problem here.

Morrison Awarded $4,500 in Land Suit
Sam T. Morrison Iowa City, who had filed suit for $23,525 for land used by the state highway commission in the relocation of highway 6, Thursday was awarded $4,500 judgment in district court.

Jurors deliberated 12 hours Wednesday night before returning the sealed verdict at 4:30 a.m. Thursday. The verdict was opened at 9 a.m. by District Judge Harold D. Evans.

Morrison had filed the suit for about four acres of his land used in the construction of highway 6 south of Coralville last summer. He also charged that the remainder of the new highway's location.

After the verdict was returned Thursday, Judge Evans directed the jury panel to report for trial of another case beginning Monday at 10 a.m.

Prof. Howe Honored For Weather Research
Prof. Joseph Howe, SUI department of mechanics and hydraulics, was among those mentioned in "The Cooperative Weather Observer," a book issued by the U.S. department of commerce to honor volunteer weather observers throughout the country.

Howe recorded weather observations for the department of commerce for 13 years, from April, 1937, to November, 1950.

Ex-Auctioneer — Raises Roof At Tax Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leather-lunged ex-auctioneer emerged from the background of the house's tax scandal investigation Thursday, and it's doubtful if the eardrums of the investigators will ever be the same.

This witness, Larry Knohl, tried to keep his voice down. He leaned far back from the microphones. He almost whispered. And still his resonant tones filled the large hearing room of the ways and means committee.

Then he got mad, leaned forward, raised his voice, and—brother!

A crashing volume of sound rattled the gilt chandelier. There was no containing it. You could have sat on the front steps of the house office building and heard every word.

Knohl, a firm-chinned man with an air of great self-assurance, left the auctioneer's field some years ago in favor of oil production, restaurant management, tax investigation and other profitable pursuits.

The tax subcommittee headed by Rep. King (D-Calif.) wanted to know all about his relations with T. Lamar Caudle, the assistant U. S. attorney general fired recently for "outside activities," but Knohl's wrath exploded before the Caudle question even arose.

"All right," he said grimly, and with growing volume, "I was once convicted of a crime. I was accused of taking money from one account and putting it in another. It was nothing but a piece of political obstruction—I didn't take $1."

"That was 15 years ago—and now you bring this up before my wife and children."

Knohl took a deep breath and then really let loose:

"The first man that didn't sin, let him come here and cast the first stone!"

Committee counsel Bruno Schachner, calm, low-voiced, had been looking over Knohl's income tax returns and found some interesting sources of revenue—$10,000 here, $25,000 there from betting.

"Are you in the gambling business, Mr. Knohl?" he inquired.

The witness, who lives in Long Beach, N.Y., acted as if he couldn't believe his ears.

"I have never in my life been in the gambling business," he shouted, "and that's a lie!"

'Let's Get Down to Business'
NEW YORK (AP)—The hoboes want to try to settle the East-West cold war, since all else has failed.

Ten of them, including cigar smoking queen, "Boxcar Betty," marched Thursday in front of the Russian delegation's Park avenue mansion. They carried signs reading:

"High level talks getting nowhere—let's have low level talks."
"U.S. hoboes and Russian tromboniks (hoboes) must meet to discuss peace."
"Stalin, you send the vodka, we'll bring the beer."
"Stalin can't call this a capitalist plot."

Prof. Howe Honored For Weather Research
Prof. Joseph Howe, SUI department of mechanics and hydraulics, was among those mentioned in "The Cooperative Weather Observer," a book issued by the U.S. department of commerce to honor volunteer weather observers throughout the country.

Howe recorded weather observations for the department of commerce for 13 years, from April, 1937, to November, 1950.

Nature Photographer Will Give 2 Lectures At Iowa Union Sunday

Dick Bird 25,000 Miles a Year

Dick Bird, Canadian wild life photographer and naturalist, will present two illustrated lectures in the Iowa Memorial Union Sunday.

"Camera Trails Along Nature Trails" will be given at 2:30 p.m. and "Jungle Wild Life in British Guiana" will be shown at 8 p.m.

The travelogues are sponsored by the Iowa Mountaineers.

Bird estimates he travels about 25,000 miles a year, mostly in Canada, securing wild life motion picture films. His wife accompanies him and takes "still shots" which the couple makes into slides.

Born in England, Bird has photographically covered wars, famines, and strikes and has been a movie producer. A bullet parted his hair while taking pictures of a labor riot in the early 1920's. He photographed Adolph Hitler and he once made a pictorial record of bomb victims in Madrid, Spain.

The British Guiana film, made in the summer of 1950, is Bird's latest. It is a color movie, presenting a combination scenic, informative and nature objects.

"Camera Trails Along Nature Trails" is described as a colorful and spectacular panorama of nature; different, dramatic and colorful.

Admission to the films is by membership card or by buying tickets at the door.

Iowa Youth Saves 2 Brothers, Sister From House Fire

JEFFERSON, IA. (AP)—A 9-year-old boy saved his two brothers and a sister but two other brothers perished in a fire which destroyed their converted boxcar home here early Thursday.

The victims were Mike, 2, and Ronnie, 4, both sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McPherson.

The other children, Teddy, 8, Stephen, 1½, and Sherill, 7, were saved through the efforts of Bobby, 9, their elder brother.

The father said he left the home to get Mrs. McPherson who works in a cafe six blocks away. When they returned the home was a mass of flames.

The parents said a coal oil stove apparently had exploded.

Bobby said he woke when he saw the stove, near the entrance to the home, get redder and redder, wrapped Stephen in a blanket and climbed through a window with him. Then he aided the others through a window.
