

Art Exhibit by James Lechay Opens Today in Art Building

LECHAY IS PICTURED here with one of his works in oil—"Goldfish and Flowers." It was done in 1947 and is included in the 35 exhibited in the main gallery of the art building.

(Editor's note: An exhibit of 35 recent oil, watercolor and casein paintings by Prof. James Lechay, SUI art department opens today in the main gallery of the art building.

Lechay, who has taught at SUI since 1945, has won prizes in several art shows throughout the country. The current show includes paintings exhibited in Macbeth gallery, New York city, and some that have never been shown before. It will be exhibited until Dec. 31.

Below is a review of Lechay's exhibit by James Umland, junior in art at SUI.)

This event presents an opportunity for townspeople, students, and faculty alike to view the recent works of one of the Midwest's most competent painters.

Lechay is an honest painter. He does not disguise what he sees about him by painting the characteristic temporal structures of this time or that place, nor does he manufacture a reality known only to himself. He does not paint a picture that exists only for its ingratiating line and color.

Lechay's work, rather, insists on telling the perpetual poetic truths—the truths that are obscured by the obvious that surrounds us. He has painted only what he knows, and thereby what he knows to be true.

You will find as you walk about the gallery that the artist, a native of New York, has preoccupied himself almost entirely with "architectural landscapes," buildings, streets, and the other evidences of man, whose existence with his environment is implied rather than active.

His color is quiet with small areas of strong pigment that intimate rather than specify the life that animates the cities that he discovers.

The forms are not, again, specific in such a way as to deny the witness the pleasure of exercising his own remembrances of experience in filling in what the artist has left unsaid.

The pictures to be shown were chosen by the artist as those most indicative of his style. He has included in the show several paintings never before exhibited. These should be of particular interest to those who know his work as well as those who would like to acquaint themselves with the work of James Lechay.

While the show was being exhibited in the Macbeth gallery in New York, it drew the following comment from Carlyle Burrows in the New York Herald-Tribune:

"Mr. Lechay portrays rather restrained, palpably poetic depictions of deeply spaced architectural vistas and other landscapes of quiet tonality... his work is strongly imaginative and consists of variety of rich color impressions... resolute imagery and deeply personal reaction to the observable world..."

Hospital School Plans Holiday Fun

The trimming of their seven-foot Christmas tree opened a week of holiday activities for the students at the Iowa Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children Friday.

While the older students trimmed the tree with the assistance of the hospital school staff, pre-school members started their Christmas shopping early for gifts for their "big brothers" and "big sisters," SUJ students who devote time weekly to entertain their individual "wards" at the school.

David Raye, assistant to the director of the school, said the Christmas shopping was the children's own idea to do something for their "big brothers."

The staff of the Iowa City veterans administration will hold a Christmas party for the children on Monday night, complete with refreshments, entertainment, and gifts given out by Santa Claus.

The annual Christmas party given by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday evening. The presents that will be given by Santa Claus were donated to the hospital by church groups, SUJ's Panhellenic group, and the Iowa City Legion 40 and 8 post.

All students will leave for the holiday recess on Dec. 14, and return Jan. 2.

City High Students Take Planned Course In Drivers' Training

Following the policy of many other schools in Iowa, Iowa City high school offers a semester course in drivers' training to students of 15 or over.

At the completion of 36 hours of class work, 20 hours of observation in a car, and 5 hours of actual driving, the student receives credit for the course, and an operator's license may be obtained if the student is 16.

The cars used in the instruction are donated for a year's service by local dealers. Care, maintenance and insurance are paid for by the school.

The drivers' training program, which has been quite successful nationwide, was begun three years ago in Iowa City high school. The present instructor, George Bowman, 222 Ronalds st., received his training at Ames college and Iowa State Teachers college.

No adult instruction is offered in drivers' training at the Iowa City high school, but the plan has proved very popular in the Des Moines public schools.

State tests for vision and distance judging defects are given once a year in Iowa City high school, so that the student may learn how to compensate for such defects in actual driving.

Britain Defies Egypt; Plan to Raze Town

SUEZ CANAL (SATURDAY) — British troops and labor battalions were ordered today to demolish an Arab village and start building a military road in defiance of an Egyptian government threat to "meet force with force" if the plan is carried through.

Egypt's threat to use force to block the British project was issued after a heated cabinet session which discussed the situation at Suez where two pitched battles between Egyptian police and civilians and British troops were fought earlier this week.

Iowa City Ministers Comment on Ruling In Waterloo Trial

Three Iowa City ministers commented this week on the Waterloo trial which left unanswered the question: "What is a Christian?"

A Waterloo doctor, W. B. Small, left the income from a $70,000 trust fund to "persons believing in the fundamental principles of the Christian religion."

The heirs of the estate contested the will and District Judge S. B. Charlton ruled that the qualification was "unenforceable and invalid."

Following are the comments on the trial by the ministers:

Father Robert J. Welch, chaplain of the Newman club, Catholic student center: "In effect it means that, for the purposes of the trial, a Christian is anyone who calls himself a Christian, which is as confusing as we can get with labels."

The Rev. P. Hewison Pollack, pastor of the First Presbyterian church: "The decision showed ignorance in the field of religion. There is definitely no reflection on religious organizations."

The Rev. Elmer Dierks, pastor of the First Baptist church: "They didn't establish that there is a unanimity among Christians, but I firmly believe there is."

Hawk Cagers Favored Over DePauw At Fieldhouse Tonight

Veteran Five to Start, Newcomers Later—Bucky

By JACK SQUIRE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowans get another look at what they hope will be Big Ten title contenders when the Hawkeyes oppose DePauw at the fieldhouse tonight.

The visiting Tigers, from Greencastle, Ind., appear to be of a similar caliber to Western Michigan, a team the Hawks defeated, 72-68, in their opener last week.

It's likely, then, that Coach Bucky O'Connor will have further opportunity to freely shuffle his personnel as he attempts to strike a balance between the proven veterans of past years and a batch of promising newcomers.

The former group will again start tonight, having Ev Cochrane and Herb Thompson, forwards; Chuck Darling, center, and Bob Clifton and Skip Greene, guards.

This combination played about half the time last week and built a substantial lead before yielding to replacements.

That figures to be pattern tonight, although O'Connor said Friday that the newcomers will see action regardless of the closeness of the game.

That will give local fans another look at flashy freshman Damon Davis, and sophomores Ken Buckles, Billy Stenger and Chuck Jarigan among others. Jarigan, along with Cochrane, is fully recovered from a back injury and should be more effective than last week.

74-67 Last Year
DePauw, a team described by O'Connor as "bigger than Western Michigan and just as fast," put up a scrappy bid here last year before losing, 74-67. But that game, as was the case a week ago, was not as close as the score would indicate.

The Tigers have retained most of that club, including forward Kent Guild, who hit for 21 against the Hawks, and 6-4 center Lee Hamilton, the team's high scorer for the entire season.

Hamilton was held to four points against Purdue at Lafayette Thursday night as DePauw bowed, 68-56, but guard Harry Stewart accounted for 20.

As usual, Iowa will have a decided height advantage, which will cause DePauw to use a fast break and an occasional full-court press.

Worked On Defense
The Hawkeyes exhibited their own fast break last week, but O'Connor was not satisfied with the

Frosh Rule Restored

Big Ten Coaches Approve Spring Drills

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten Friday decided to ban freshman athletes from varsity competition at the end of the school year and heard its football coaches approve spring grid practice.

The policy-making faculty representatives, at the second-day session of the league's annual winter meeting, revoked a waiver of a one-year residence rule for freshman athletes.

That means, beginning next fall, freshmen will have to wait until their sophomore year for varsity eligibility.

This year, because of fears that military inroads would deplete campuses of athletic talent, freshmen were allowed to join varsity squads.

Frosh Starred
Minnesota, for instance, had a half-dozen frosh considered first-line varsity footballers, while Wisconsin's fullback Alan Ameche was the leading conference rusher as a freshman.

The football coaches, meeting with the athletic directors, expressed the opinion that, as the conference conducts it, there is nothing wrong with spring practice. The National Collegiate Athletic Association's council has recommended elimination of spring practice or a limit of 20 sessions. The Big Ten has no limit.

The athletic directors, considering the possibility of curtailing length of sports seasons, decided to hear recommendations from coaches of all sports on what they consider proper limits.

Situation Changed
In abandoning the one-year residence rule, the faculty representatives agreed that "there is nothing in the present situation which makes further waiver of the freshman rule advisable."

Concerning spring football practice, the opinion of the coaches still awaits approval of the faculty representatives. The conference session continues today and probably Sunday.

The athletic directors voted to authorize commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson to select five-man "teams" of officials which will work as units throughout the football season, regardless of school affiliation. In the past, officials were selected individually for each game, seldom handling a contest of their alma mater.

The Big Ten this year supported the NCAA's program of controlled live television. The program for 1952 promises plenty of fireworks at the NCAA's Cincinnati convention next month.

The faculty representatives and athletic directors still must tackle the formidable subjects of recruiting and financial aid to athletes.

Bluehawk Rally Falls Short, 63-53, To Mt. Vernon

By JIM COOKE
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

MT. VERNON—University high dropped its first Eastern Iowa conference game, 63-53, to a big, fast Mt. Vernon squad in a rough and tumble contest here Friday night.

Forty-five fouls were called in the game with Mt. Vernon being guilty of 30.

Sparked by the shooting of Bill Kamerling and Dick Moore, Mt. Vernon jumped off to a 23-10 first quarter lead and then coasted home to its third conference win in as many starts.

Kamerling got 23 points and Moore hit for 16 before fouling out early in the fourth quarter.

U-high, trailing 35-24 at the half, staged a third quarter rally that brought them within four points of the Mt. Vernon team, 37-33.

Leading this drive were Craig Perrin, who turned in his finest job of the season at defensive center and collected 18 points besides, and Tom Kent, senior forward who finished the evening with 12 points.

Mt. Vernon was a vastly improved team over the one that lost to Wilson and Marion. Its first quarter free throw average was little short of sensational as it made good on all seven of its attempts.

Wamerling was virtually unstoppable with his long one-hand push shots and Moore and Brown were towers of strength under both backboards.

U-high also lost the reserve game, 32-27. Drahos of Mt. Vernon led the scorers with 14 points, while Jim Holderness collected 10 for the Bluehawks.

Iowa's Skip Greene —

Wants Radio Career

— After Graduation

By LEE CANNING

Skip Greene doesn't like to ride the bench any more than the next player and as an Iowa basketball guard he hasn't had to do much of it.

But when his eligibility is finished, Skip hopes to do just that—not a player's bench but a radio announcer's bench from which he can broadcast sports contests.

Right now Skip (his name is Herald but don't call him that) is too busy as a regular guard and co-captain of the 1951-52 Hawkeye basketball team to do much thinking about his radio career but his basketball and baseball experience should be valuable.

As a ninth grader, Greene got his first taste of the cage sport and a year later he grabbed a regular guard job on the Davenport high school team which came to the state tournament.

On Title Teams
He was regular guard on the title team of 1947 and a year later became an all-state selection although his team was runner-up in the state tournament.

Playing on top teams became almost a habit for Skip for he was a second baseman on Davenport's 1947 state baseball champions—and was picked as an all-star in that sport, too.

Greene is a crafty court tactician, always cool, and a fine playmaker. He is a quick pass artist who can rattle the ball to a team mate when opponents don't suspect such a maneuver. In fact, Skip sometimes out-foxes his own team mates who have to keep alert for those side flips.

He is not a heavy scorer but last season made 13 points vs. Purdue and hit for 12 against DePauw to spark a second half rally which brought a 74-67 win. He has played in 40 games and has totalled 169 points as an Iowa player.

Can Steady Team
His worth was shown by his performance in the 1951-52 opener vs. Western Michigan Dec. 1. After the visitors had cut an Iowa lead to nine points in the fourth quarter, Coach Bucky O'Connor sent Greene back in to steady the team and within a minute he had helped boost that margin to 14 points.

Stanford's Taylor Coach of the Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Coach Charles (Chuck) Taylor, who put his Stanford Indians into the Rose Bowl in his first season as a head coach, was named football Coach of the Year Friday.

Taylor, who succeeds Charles Caldwell of Princeton as Coach of the Year, was an all-America guard at Stanford in 1942.

The selections are made by the nation's coaches in a poll conducted by the New York World Telegram & Sun and other Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Now 31, Taylor will be given a plaque Jan. 10 at a dinner in Cincinnati during the convention of the football coaches association. He received 102 of the 422 votes cast for the honor. Gen. Robert Neyland, coach of Tennessee's No. 1 football team, received 84 votes. Clarence (Biggie) Munn of Michigan State, 66, and Caldwell, 37 votes.

Frantz, Brennan Lead Little Hawks Over Wilson, 49-35

By JERRY HARGITT

Wilson high of Cedar Rapids fell, 49-35, Friday night to City high on the winner's court.

Though Howard Moffitt's quintet may have the City high power of old, it wasn't yet evident in the Hawkeyes' fourth win of the season. The get-together was the initial Mississippi Valley conference game of the year for both crews.

Wilson's rangy five pulled up from a 22-14 intermission deficit to a third period count of 34-29.

Freeman Rebounds
City high pivot-man Jim Freeman drew in the majority of the loose balls underneath both boards, despite the 6-foot average of the Cedar Rapids starting five.

Wilson's outstanding weak spot was undoubtedly its inability to retrieve the ball. The Ramblers held the edge in height, what with the 6-2 Hensch twins on the floor, but still there were many shots that lacked Wilson rebounders.

Though Freeman, who pumped in 25 points against Anamosa last Friday, wasn't up to par, his place was capably taken over by starting forward Bob Frantz and reserve Don Brennan. Frantz and Brennan pushed in enough one-handers to accumulate 11 tallies apiece.

10 for Hensch
Dick Hamilton and big Eld Hensch paced the visitors with 10 point totals.

Sloppy play and roughness contributed 31 personal fouls for City high, while Wilson chipped in 23 in the same department. Ted Dunnington left the game in the second stanza with five personals, while Frantz was removed in the final minutes on the same charge.

Panthers Get Upset Over Miami, 21-7

MIAMI, FLA. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Panthers, climaxing a red-hot comeback after seven straight defeats at the start of the football season, smashed favored Miami's Hurricanes, 21-7, Friday night to close out the campaign with a three-game victory streak.

The Pittsburgh attack upset the surprised Miami club, which had won a Gator bowl bid after winning seven of its first nine games.

Forget and Forgive

Admiral Who Planned Sneak Attack Wants Americans to be Allies of Japan

TOKYO — The admiral who planned the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor 10 years ago said Friday he hopes Americans will forget about it and be friends and allies of Japan forever.

"I feel haunted by the ghosts of the Americans who died at Pearl Harbor," Rear Adm. Sadatoshi Tomioka told the United Press in an interview.

"I hope Americans will forget the saying 'Remember Pearl Harbor,' and change it to 'No More Pearl Harbors.' We Japanese will say 'No More Hiroshimas.'"

Ten years ago Friday, the admiral was head of the operations section of Japanese imperial headquarters and in this capacity directed the actual planning for the attack.

He has been purged from public life by the Allies and has been living quietly and writing a history of the Pacific war.

Tomioka said that only Japanese Premier Tojo and four or five other top Japanese government officials knew of the plan to attack Pearl Harbor.

The admiral, on secret instructions from his superiors, began preliminary plans for the attack in September.

Tomioka said the Japanese diplomats in Washington were not informed of the planned attack.

"Our intention was to have the ultimatum delivered in Washington one hour before the attack," the admiral said.

The attack became a surprise, he explained, because of a delay by the Japanese embassy in Washington in decoding an ultimatum sent from Tokyo.

"I regret the unhappy circumstances which acted to make the attack a surprise," Tomioka said. He said the Pearl Harbor attack was timed for Sunday because observations had shown that the greatest number of U.S. warships were concentrated in the harbor over the weekends.

"If the fleet had been elsewhere, we would have attacked it there," he said. "We were more interested in the U.S. fleet than Pearl Harbor."

"The purpose was to destroy the fleet. We realized later that we should have concentrated on the oil tanks and naval shore facilities."

More than 200 U.S. army chaplains of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths are currently serving with military units in Korea.

A Look At The Veterans' Hospital

THE 500-BED VETERANS HOSPITAL, built at a cost of $10 million, is now nearing completion and a tentative dedication date has been set for March 16. Dr. Leland E. Stillwell, manager of the hospital, said a limited number of patients may be admitted prior to that time. The building is 13 stories high.

SHOWN ABOVE IS THE HOSPITAL'S LOBBY which has been finished in verdantique marble, a veined rock obtained from Yellowstone park. The lobby will contain the main passenger elevators and information desk. The building will be serviced by eight elevators in all.

TERMINATION OF THE HOSPITAL'S 11,000 feet of pneumatic tubes is shown above in the "tube room." From this point, messages, drugs, and small equipment can be sent through the system to any point in the building. One wall in this room, termed the "breathing wall," has thousands of tiny holes in it to produce circulation without any noticeable draft.

A SERVING KITCHEN WILL BE LOCATED ON EACH FLOOR with food being brought up by dumb-waiter from the first floor. Facilities for keeping the food warm and dish-washing machines are located here. Kitchens, such as above, operating rooms, and utility rooms are furnished in various colored glazed tile, 400,000 of which were used in the interior.

LOCATED THREE LEVELS BELOW THE MAIN FLOOR, three stoker-fed boilers will keep the 1,500-room structure heated. Also located on this level is the hot water heating system and water softening tanks. It was estimated by George Miller, resident engineer for the corps of engineers, that the boilers consume from eight to ten tons of coal in a twenty-four hour period.

THE CHAPEL, LOCATED ON THE NORTH END OF the main floor, is perhaps the only such place of worship ever designed to accommodate three types of services. By use of sliding doors on the altar, Catholic, Jewish, or Protestant services may be performed.

WARDS CONTAINING 16 BEDS EACH will have an individual light and radio for each person. Night lights in these wards are operated by silent switches. The wards are located in the north wing and will have light and ventilation from three sides.
