Council Clears Iowan Of Censorship

Truman Plans To Clean House

Corruption, Wrongdoers To Be Ousted

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Truman indicated Thursday he will soon set up a special house-cleaning agency to sweep out corruption in government and oust wrongdoers "no matter who they are or how big they are."

But the President said emphatically he is not going to dismiss Attorney General McGrath or Chairman Frank McKinney of the Democratic national committee, both of whom have been under fire.

Mr. Truman hit strongly at government officials having outside interests—such as a law practice—which might conflict with official duties. Something is going to be done about that, he said.

Tax Scandals Discussed
Discussing the nation-wide tax scandals at a news conference, Mr. Truman said his administration has always taken drastic action against "wrongdoers" in its own midst. At that point, he broke off to chide a woman reporter who was looking at him with what he evidently regarded as a skeptical eye.

As to the forthcoming clean-up action, the President advised reporters to have a little patience—they would learn something later in the week. And if he does set up an investigating group it will be his own kind of committee. There was a Truman committee in the past, he said, recalling the senate war contracts inquiry committee he headed as a U.S. senator early in World War II.

Truman Minimizes Scandals
In general, the President appeared to minimize the scandals that have broken in black headlines around the justice department and the tax-collecting bureau of internal revenue in recent weeks.

He predicted with an air of confidence that the current wave of scandals will not become an issue in the 1952 presidential elections. The whole thing will be cleared up before then, he said.

Republican leaders have said the scandals definitely will be a big issue.

Mr. Truman went on to say that despite all the disclosures turned up by a house tax-scandal inquiry committee, there haven't been any more firings in the tax bureau this year than in any recent year.

5 Year Average 46
Only two days ago, Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap announced that at least 113 tax officials have been ousted so far this year. The average of dismissals for the last five years was 46.

The President caused a stir of surprise when he said the administration had conducted its own private investigation of T. Lamar Caudle, ousted assistant attorney general, long before the house investigating committee headed by Representative King (D-Calif.) turned the spotlight on Caudle's outside activities. Mr. Truman fired Caudle on Nov. 16.

A reporter recalled that Attorney General McGrath testified only last Tuesday that he personally never had had any suspicions against Caudle.

Tartly, Mr. Truman replied that he doesn't keep books for his attorney general—that he keeps them for himself.

Oliphant Identifies Himself as Personal Friend of Grunewald

WASHINGTON (AP) - Charles Oliphant, resigned chief counsel of the internal revenue bureau, identified himself Thursday as a close personal friend of Henry Grunewald, "mystery man" of a house committee's tax probe.

Oliphant testified that he had given Grunewald information about tax fraud charges pending against Abraham Teitelbaum, and that later Grunewald suggested that he keep quiet about their conversation.

Until Grunewald made this suggestion, Oliphant told the investigators, "I had no reason to consider him anything but a reputable member of the community."

Grunewald's shadowy figure has thronged its way through most of the testimony taken recently by the inquiry group, a house ways and means subcommittee headed by Rep. Cecil King (D-Calif.).

His name—and his nickname, "the Dutchman"—has been mentioned by half a dozen witnesses. He has been described as a private investigator, a rich man, a confidante of Washington higher-ups, but no one has stated his interest in the internal revenue bureau or attempted to weigh his influence there.

King and other members of the committee tried to question him Wednesday at Georgetown hospital, where he is being treated for "nervous tension." Grunewald refused to talk. He said it was on the advice of his attorney. But when he feels better, he added, he will be glad to testify at a public hearing.

State Department Fires John Service On Doubt of Loyalty

WASHINGTON (AP) - The state department announced Thursday night that veteran diplomat John S. Service has been dismissed following a decision by the government's top loyalty review board that "there is a reasonable doubt as to his loyalty."

Service, in a statement issued some two hours after he received notice of his dismissal, called the board's findings "a shock, a surprise and an injustice."

"I am not now and never have been disloyal," he said. In making this decision, the loyalty review board of the U.S. civil service commission in effect reversed previous findings of the state department's own loyalty security board.

The state department's board on at least half a dozen occasions over recent years has declared Service to be neither disloyal nor a security risk.

Service has been under almost constant investigation, in congress and by loyalty boards, since Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) made him one of the main targets of his Red-in-government charges last year.

Former Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley has repeatedly assailed Service for his alleged activities during the time that Hurley was ambassador to China, accusing him of sympathy for the Chinese Reds.

Senator McCarthy, in repeated references to Service, has declared that his record as a pro-Communist was "crystal clear."

Service was on his way to India in March, 1950, to become first secretary of the American embassy when the latest accusations against him were lodged by McCarthy.

He was brought back for a hearing before the state department's board, which cleared him.

The loyalty review board, however, took up the case for a post-audit and the new finding is the outcome.

Student Council Hears Charges Against Iowan

EDITOR OF THE DAILY IOWAN, James MacNair, A4, Newton, turns to answer a question during discussion at the student council meeting Thursday night. MacNair, standing in the center of the picture, was present at the meeting to answer charges of "censorship" and "suppression of news" leveled at The Iowan. A crowd of 120 was present in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Reds Continue Silence On Allied POWs' Fate

MUNSAN (FRIDAY) (AP) - The fate of approximately 100,000 Allied prisoners of war in Korea was still as great a mystery today as it was more than five months ago when the armistice talks began.

United Nations negotiators Thursday declared there was something "sinister" about the Communist refusal to produce a list of UN soldiers they hold as prisoners.

Lt. Col. Howard A. Levie, official UN spokesman said "staring" by the Reds on the questions of prisoner exchange and means of supervising the armistice might be because the Communist delegates were waiting for new instructions.

Delegates to Meet Today
Both problems were scheduled for further discussion in separate subcommittee sessions in Panmunjom at 11 a.m. today.

Levie said the Allied negotiators were still trying to obtain the names of prisoners held by the Reds in the interest of the "families of husbands and fathers."

It is believed, Levie said, that some of the 85,000 South Korean soldiers who are missing, as well as 12,000 American and 3,000 other UN soldiers unaccounted for, may be imprisoned in camps on the east coast near Hungnam.

The Allies want to know where the camps are and how many POWs are in each one before an exchange point, such as Panmunjom, is agreed upon.

Sabre Jet Pilots Destroy 13 MIG's In 2 Air Battles

SEOUL (Friday) (AP) - The Red air force took one of its worst lickings of the Korean war Thursday when Sabre jet pilots ran wild and shot down 13 Communist MIG fighters in two fierce air battles.

America's latest jet ace personally destroyed four MIGs. It was the greatest all jet victory of the war. The far east air forces in Tokyo said two MIGs probably were destroyed and two were damaged for a total of 17 destroyed or damaged.

The actions flared over north-west Korea and blazed more than 135-air miles across the peninsula's midriff to the east coast Red port of Wonsan.

A 31-year-old Texan, Maj. George A. Davis, of Lubbock, set a new record for U.S. jet pilots. His guns downed four Russian-built jets—two in the morning and two after lunch. This brought his Korean bag to 12 in 16 days. He shot down seven Japanese planes in World War II.

Altogether, 64 Sabres were pitted against 145 MIG-15s. Despite these odds, the fifth air force announced the loss of only one Sabre, attributing it to fuel exhaustion, rather than enemy action.

Publications Board Discontinues Frivol

Frivol, campus humor magazine was officially discontinued after 32 years of publication by the board of trustees of Student Publications Inc.

However, the board announced it would publish a new magazine next semester, the first issue to appear in March. No immediate plans were made for its publication.

The board discontinued the Frivol after Cecile Rhinehart announced her resignation as editor last Monday. Miss Rhinehart was the third editor in less than a year.

The magazine had been criticized by students for two years. Constant Financial Drain

The basic reason given for the discontinuance of Frivol was that it has been a constant financial drain. During a session that lasted three hours and fifteen minutes

GOP Leaders Accused Of Unethical Tactics By Demo Chairman

CHICAGO (AP) - Democratic chairman Frank E. McKinney Thursday night accused some Republican leaders of "scuttling and run" tactics.

"They are disciples of doubt—trying to sneak into office in a cloud of negative criticism," he charged in a speech prepared for the Democratic national committee midwestern states dinner.

"In their frenzied scramble for power they are resorting to tactics which are undermining confidence in government."

McKinney singled out as his targets The Chicago Tribune, The Washington Times Herald, Col. Robert E. McCormick, editor and publisher of the newspapers, and Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.).

He asserted that a "campaign of fear and smear" is "making decent patriotic men and women hesitant about entering government service." He told his audience of Democrats the present national campaign is being waged similarly to that in Maryland which last year unseated former Senator Tydings.

In the Maryland campaign, he said, a "fraudulent newspaper" which printed a "fake photograph" of Tydings apparently in friendly conversation with Communist Earl Browder "was inspired by Senator McCarthy and was printed—at cost or below cost—in the plant of The Washington Times Herald—which is owned by Col. Robert McCormick and published as the Washington edition of The Chicago Tribune."

"Was that ethical?" McKinney asked.

He said some Republican leaders see in the Maryland campaign of last year "a blueprint for victory in 1952."

Western Union Asks Race News Curtailed

NEW YORK (AP) - Western Union said Thursday night it wants to crack down on racketeering by sharply curtailing its racing news facilities.

It needs government approval of the curtailment, however. A proposed new tariff effective Feb. 1 would limit racing news facilities of the telegraph company to newspaper press associations, licensed radio or television stations and publications with second class mailing privileges.

The tariff—a set of working rules required by law—must be approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

Up to now, Western Union has contended it is required by law to furnish service to all comers and is not to blame if some of them use the facilities for illegal gambling or racketeering.

As a result, the company has run into trouble in New Jersey and Michigan where its equipment allegedly was used in violation of state gambling laws.

Said Western Union in a statement: "For years the congress of the United States, as well as every state legislature, has endeavored to find some way to stop professional gamblers and racketeers."

the board also gave a vote of confidence to James MacNair, A4, Newton, editor of The Daily Iowan. (For further details of this action, see story on right.)

Frivol was initiated in 1919, and during the 1920's the magazine flourished. However, since 1930 it has failed to be self-sustaining. Until 1941, the magazine was sold on the streets and newsstands, as it has been since last fall. From 1941 to 1951 it was sold as a part of the student fee payment.

Publication Board Members

The board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc. includes nine members, four faculty members and five students. The faculty members are appointed by the president of the university and serve indeterminate terms. The students are elected by the student body, four for two-year terms and one for one year.

Present members include: Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism, president; Dean Mason Ladd, college of law; Dr. George Easton, college of dentistry; Prof. Wendell Smith, college of commerce.

Harry Groves, A4, Waterloo; Robert Rozeblom, A3, Ames; Ann Wells, A3, Story City; Charles Reilly, LA, Chicago, and Paul Olson, C3, Mitchell, S. D.

Water Tank Bursts, 4 Persons Killed, FBI Asked to Investigate

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) - A big steel water tank, splitting like a melon, loosed a deadly 1,250,000 gallon torrent and killed four persons in downtown Tucumcari Thursday.

There was quick suspicion of sabotage, but City Manager A. J. Fleming said he was reserving judgment on this pending an official investigation.

He also revised downward original estimates that damage would amount to millions. Fleming said $500,000 should cover all losses, including private property.

There was a close contest between sabotage and a mysterious "fireball" in speculation among Tucumcari residents on the possible cause of the tank's collapse.

Capping a report that a possible meteorite hit the tank or nearby, Editor Walt Rogal of the Tucumcari Daily News said a series of small batteries were found amid the wreckage. He described them as about the size of those fitting a miner's cap.

Several witnesses reported a fireball plunged to earth beside the round, ground-level tank which towered 30 feet. Within moments, at 5:10 a.m. (CST) they heard the tank collapse.

The federal bureau of investigation was asked to help check both this angle and the possibility of sabotage.

Millionth Victim Of Auto Accident To Be Anonymous

CHICAGO (AP) - The unknown soldier in the continuing battle between the human being and the motor vehicle will die soon—possibly next week.

He will be the millionth victim in the nation's toll of deaths in motor vehicle accidents.

The National Safety council says this man—or it may be a woman or a small child—may die on Dec. 21, a week from today.

But whoever this person is—this millionth victim—he is destined to remain anonymous. His identity cannot be definitely established.

Suppose, for example, that the count reaches 999,999 at 12 noon (CST), on M (for million) day. A half hour goes by without a reported fatality.

Then an automobile crashes into a telephone pole in New York city. A policeman hustles to the auto and discovers that its only occupant, John Doe, is dead. The cop glances at his watch. It is 12:30 p.m. (CST).

The death of Doe could be listed only as the millionth reported.

Decides Paper Was Negligent In Racial Story

By BOB HESS

The student council Thursday night cleared The Daily Iowan of any charge of censoring the news. Meeting in the house chamber of Old Capitol before about 125 persons, the council heard 90 minutes of discussion before adopting this motion:

"That the charge of suppression of news be disavowed by the council. However, we believe The Daily Iowan showed some negligence in this case."

The motion carried by a 14 to 1 vote.

Publications Board Backs Editor
Earlier, the board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc. passed a resolution reaffirming their confidence in The Iowan's editorial discretion. They further stated that while welcoming constructive criticism, the criticism of The Iowan and Hawkeye should be addressed only to the board for official consideration.

The student council made its stand on the issue behind closed doors in executive session.

President John Bunce told members it was the duty of the council to determine the reaction as the representative group of the student body and not as a tribunal to make judgment.

Action by the council was asked by campus political and social action groups who charged The Iowan with suppressing the story of racial discrimination when the Phi Gamma Nu commerce sorority refused membership to a Negro girl.

Ragland Begins Discussion
Discussion at the session began when George Ragland, G. Oklahoma City, Okla., said, "It is my firm conviction that The Daily Iowan deliberately chose not to put the story into the paper."

He charged that The Iowan policy does not include representation of the minority.

Ragland emphasized that the real issue in the case is censorship, not discrimination, and demanded that the council take a stand on the incident.

He charged that the story was withheld because The Iowan staff thought it might create trouble, put the university in an unfavorable light and was contrary to consensus of opinion in the community.

MacNair Refutes Charges
Daily Iowan Editor James MacNair categorically refuted each of the charges by Ragland.

He said the statement that he wouldn't print anything that put the university in a bad light is the most ridiculous thing he had ever heard.

He said, "At no time did I consider the story such bad publicity that we refused to publicize it," and added that "I don't want to print anything until we have the absolute facts."

MacNair urged the campus groups to form a definite plan to combat racial discrimination other than just a desire to print a letter to the editor.

Bill Ayers, local Associated Press correspondent, said he first heard of the story Monday evening, Dec. 3, and released the story Thursday.

"As far as I can see," Ayers said, The Daily Iowan was doing nothing."

Defends Checking
Charles Barnum, assistant publisher, defended the checking of the story.

Advance Reservations Needed for Holiday Train
Advance reservations are necessary for students planning to take the special Iowa City to Chicago Rocket, Wednesday, 2:05 p.m.

The railroad is running this train for students whose Christmas holiday begins Dec. 19. The streamliner, which starts from from Grinnell, is scheduled to arrive in Chicago at 6:45 p.m.

Needy Kids Feted at Fraternity Party

SANTA CLAUS AND TOYS—That's what 15 needy Iowa City children got Thursday night at the Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity house. The boys are shown here enjoying a story between Christmas carols. Santa, the master of ceremonies for the evening, led the group in the carols and had a busy time passing out toys, stockings filled with candy, and ice cream and cake. The boys are students at St. Patrick's and Sabin schools. The fraternity had invited 16, but one was sick.

Letters to the Editor

(Readers are invited to express opinion in Letters to the Editor. All letters must include hand-written signature and address—typewritten signatures not acceptable. Letters become the property of The Daily Iowan; we reserve the right to edit or withhold letters. We suggest letters be limited to 300 words or less. Opinions expressed do not necessarily represent those of The Daily Iowan.)

TO THE EDITOR:

In a previous letter, I spoke out against certain individuals' flagrant disregard for presenting facts to support their vituperative accusations of Iowan "censorship." My attitude toward the ill-reasoned criticism of the paper remains unchanged. I should like to take this opportunity to extend my views on a nearly ignored matter.

I allude to the original charge of discrimination. I reiterate my disapproval of such practice. However, I cannot neglect certain fundamentals in attempting to approach the problem along the plane of realistic thinking.

One, it is fundamental in our society that we reserve the right to choose our companions and associates. While our choice may be unwise, and as claimed in the particular instance, based on discrimination, it is nevertheless essential to our uninhibited citizenship that this be allowed AS LONG AS IT FAILS TO INTERFERE WITH ANOTHER'S RIGHTS.

We possess no right to belong to a social group, in or out of college. It is a dubious honor conferred by members of the group. WHERE WE HAVE NO RIGHT, NONE CAN BE VIOLATED. If certain groups choose the course of bigotry, I say let them while you pity their nonsense.

The second fundamental is directed at unrealistic proposals such as have been put forth by the NAACP. They would ban organizations guilty of discriminatory practices. It just isn't practical. One, you cannot legislate a state of mind. Two, what test is capable of ascertaining that state of mind?

All legislative attempts to achieve social equality in a single sweep are doomed to failure. IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO ERASE THE PREJUDICES OF THE MIND BY THE MERE PASSING OF A LAW OR THE IMPOSITION OF A BAN. We must realize that the elimination of racial prejudices is a process of evolution. Sad, but true.

Last, what test would determine whether or not a campus group was guilty of discrimination. Granted that the presence of a "Caucasian clause" is absolute proof. But where do we go when, as in the commerce sorority case there is no such clause?

What then, my friends? I don't believe you expect bigots to admit bigotry. Let's be realistic, not naive, constructive, not sensational.

Tom Riley, L3 Cedar Rapids

TO THE EDITOR:

Your publication of recent letters to the editor involves a question of "dates" . . . the letters on the "Desert Fox" were evidently written before and during the recent showing of the film at the Englert. . . Why were they not printed?

Incidentally, after having fought against the Germans it is hard to see how any German general can be glorified on an American screen. They were all seeking the same end . . . killing American soldiers and murdering inhabitants of concentration camps were merely means to the end.

It is one thing to "forgive and forget" but another to remember and praise the ugly. AGAIN WHY WERE THE LETTERS NOT PRINTED. . . AND WHY IS IT SUDDENLY DEEMED O.K. TO PRINT THEM?

Vivian W. Henderson, G 22 Hawkeye-Village (EDITOR'S NOTE: Would the above author please read the editor's note which appeared in column 4, page 2 of The Daily Iowan, Dec. 12, 1951.)

TO THE EDITOR:

I submit this letter for publication in answer to the letter of Mr. Walter Jewell Jr., which appeared in the letters to the editor column of The Daily Iowan Dec. 11.

You, Mr. Jewell Jr., feel very secure in your role of being a member of the majority group. You automatically assume that when a member of a minority group is discriminated it is perhaps cosmopolitan and sophisticated, but its shallowness is tragicomic. You in your great and glorious role of Mr. Majority have failed to consider that even you on certain occasions are a minority. What then of absurdity?

You earnestly attempt to project your thoughts into the intentions of Miss Pat Vannice. You feel that it is your duty to slap the hands of a well-meaning but naughty representative of the majority group, who is obviously being misled. However, you as Mr. Majority speak glibly of their viewpoint, which you express as follows:

"We the majority of the students of SUI are willing to pay lip-service and agree in principle with those who denounce racial discrimination, but we the majority recognize the necessity of discrimination and consider those who do not absurd."

You contend that class distinction precludes individual evaluation, and that certain campus organizations should discriminate according to class, because of the nature and purpose of the certain organizations. What are the aims and purposes of these organizations that make discrimination necessary? Specifically what are the aims and purposes of the Independent Town Men of which you are president.

Paul J. Rausch, C4 247 Hawkeye Village

TO THE EDITOR:

Your editorial of Dec. 11 is conceived to misconstrue the intentions of the sponsors of the handbill. The first sentence of the editorial reads, "The Daily Iowan has been challenged by a group who would have a free press, and yet, by their own actions are attempting to control the press."

Pat Vannice's letter was submitted in October. A handbill was made in December for the purposes of independently publishing the letter and criticizing the censorship policies of the Iowan. If in wanting a free press, this group took the one action open to it — criticism, is this action to be interpreted as an attempt to control the Daily Iowan?

A group spontaneously formed to promote a freer newspaper takes a purely critical stand, which is not the stand of a pressure group which carries the involvements of personal interest. If you must insist on the label "pressure group," you should stop depending on the vague implications of the label. You should specify the one "personal interest" of the group, which is the desire for the upholding of the principles of a free press.

This group came into being for that express purpose, and as an organization, has no backlog of self-interest of political conviction. Furthermore, never has this group made the claim of being a large representation of the population. You say that the self-discipline of a newspaper manifests itself in checking the facts of a story, verifying rumors, etc. This was not a story or rumor to be printed as a news-story, but a letter to be printed in the Letters to the Editor section.

As a letter, it would have been the sole responsibility of its author and open to the challenges of Phi Gamma Nu, and open to the public in its provocative nature, as either defensible or unjustifiable.

I signed letters to the editor are also known to be verified as are objective news stories, why did the Iowan, having the letter in its possession for six weeks, finally print it in the form of a handbill which was to be distributed in the next few days.

Dolly Pennybacker, A3 703 E. Jefferson

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Author of the above letter might be interested in knowing that the newspaper "is responsible for everything it prints." — See page 286, "The Newspaperman and the Law," by Walter A. Steigeman. That includes "Letters to the Editor."

TO THE EDITOR:

Although I am neither a student of journalism nor someone who has any professional insight into the rules of the game, I do have rather pedestrian convictions about what I shall tentatively call "fair play" and "freedom of the press."

I do not believe that there are any recipes, rules of thumb, or inviolate laws regarding what constitutes behavior in accordance with such vague principles.

You may wonder why, if I don't have too much knowledge as to how newspapers work and what is "good" journalistic practice nor any recipe which I insist that you follow, I have any right to object to or question two items which have appeared on your editorial page.

If I have no right to object, then it is implied that there is some rule or recipe stating that people who really know how a newspaper ought to be run or people who want you to follow some clear cut rules which hold in all cases and which would somehow control the press are the only people who have a right to criticize or object.

My objections concern what I believe to be your defense against anyone who believes that the Vannice letter and the news regarding Mrs. Marken's resignation were mishandled by the Iowan and who honestly would like to know exactly why this was the case. Your defense so far has been resided in your editorial of yesterday (Dec. 11) and your cartoon of today, both of which attempt to show that a pressure group is seeking control of the Iowan.

This label "pressure group" is inaccurate and worthless in so far as it attempts to characterize those concerned with the matter. I am sure that what it means to convey to the readers of the Iowan that only "notorious radicals" are responsible for these current criticisms.

The convictions of those who support the handbill, those who attended the ad hoc committee meeting at the Union, and many speakers at the Young Democrat's meeting last night do not constitute the basis for what is commonly known as a "pressure group."

More serious, perhaps, is the fact many people of the SUI community who have so far had nothing to do with the problem are interested in seeing the facts presented and might have constructive suggestions to offer if they did not feel that in doing so they would come under the heading of a "pressure group attempting to control the press."

Bruce Pennybacker, A4 703 E. Jefferson

TO THE EDITOR:

Well, have you been catching it! The undersigned, not being habitual writers of "letters to the editor" thought it was time to take pen in hand (as the cliché goes) and tell you that we rather like your paper.

We think you are perhaps doing the best job possible under existing conditions. It seems you try to practice a sweet enough reasonableness for "reasonable" conservatives and "reasonable" liberals.

The fanatic and phrenetic you will never satisfy. They have the function of supplying we of the masses with our circuses (rather loud and vituperative ones too!)

Again, we like your paper and its policy of knowing before printing. Yours for calm and objective reporting,

Arthur L. Weldon, G 624 S. Clinton st. Paul V. Prior, G 210 Stadium Park

TO THE EDITOR:

At the meeting of the Young Democrats last Tuesday night there was a discussion on the reasons why questions regarding race, color and creed, as well as requests for photographs should be removed from university application blanks.

In this discussion some facts were established that have a very direct bearing on this issue, but due to an unfortunate lack of time they received little consideration.

It was specifically revealed that the university gives information regarding a person's race to prospective employers seeking it.

In this connection we wish to make the following comments: 1. Employers seeking information of this type usually practice racial discrimination. By helping them to obtain this information the university aids in discrimination.

2. It is often argued that refusal on the part of the university to supply such information would not result in any practical improvement because the individual employers can, in any case, discriminate if they choose to. We dispute the validity of this argument.

We may point out that obtaining information on a person's race without his knowledge provides a very simple and convenient means of enforcing discriminatory employment policies while maintaining the semblance of fairness.

How much easier is it not even to consider a prospective employee than to refuse him employment face to face? If such secret means of obtaining racial information were denied employers, the carrying out of discriminatory policies would become less convenient, more embarrassing and much more obvious to the public. This would constitute a serious pressure against such policies.

3. Opponents of the proposal to remove race from university records raise the objection that SUI graduates might, in such a situation, suffer from limitations of their opportunities because of the inconvenience presented to certain employers.

This, we feel, is precisely where SUI can play an important part as "a salient" in the battle lines against racial discrimination," — to use President Hancher's words.

SUI should take the initiative in strengthening the nationwide movement towards the goal that employers throughout the United States no longer ask discriminatory questions.

They would surely be discouraged from such practice if NO university would supply them with such information.

The administration of the State University of Iowa can and should exert much influence on the administrations of other institutions which still supply discriminatory information, so that a united front be presented to make people who would practice discrimination increasingly more uncomfortable. Of course, the first step must be that our university stop supplying such information.

4. The problem would obviously not exist, were such information absent from official university records. We are convinced that removing all such information from university records is the only way to ensure that prospective employers will not obtain it from academic institutions.

BERLIN KREMLIN

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is one of a series of 12 articles, telling starkly and bluntly the truth of life for a Russian soldier in the Soviet-controlled zone of Germany, as told by Maj. Gregory Klimov, a former member of the Russian general staff in Germany. Disturbed with the system under which he lived, Major Klimov fled to the western (Allied-occupied) zone of Germany. Here is his own story, told for the first time.)

By MAJOR GREGORY KLIMOV Formerly of the Russian General Staff in Germany

BERLIN—A return visit which I made to the Soviet Union brought with it a shock and disillusionment which made an ultimate break with the Stalinist system inevitable for me.

It was a sordid, tragic picture that greeted me. During the war all Russians were sustained almost solely by the hope that when victory came, a new and better life awaited them. The attitude of the Kremlin during that period emphasizing nationalism rather than Communism had given a certain basis for such a belief.

Now the Kremlin was busily settling old scores. Arrests and deportation for vague political crimes were increasing.

Populations Shifted Whole populations such as the Tartar Republic were shifted to other areas of the country as penalty for alleged collaboration with the Germans during the occupation.

The restoration of the church during the bitter years of combat had given the people perhaps more cause for optimism than any other single step by the government. Now the church had revealed itself as merely another arm of the MVD.

Enlarged In short the gigantic apparatus of power had been enlarged rather than diminished in the slightest; the Kremlin had torn off its recent mask, letting the Russian people glimpse the true abhorrent features of its worst enemy.

The newspapers were screaming hysterically of the danger of a new war by the West. The streets were filled with soldiers. The whole economy was geared to martial preparations at the expense of the things the people needed most.

At the Kremlin academy and among the general staff members with whom I talked, there was guarded speculation on what fresh conquests the Kremlin was planning; some believed it would be in the Far East, others in Europe. All seemed agreed that, whatever direction the Kremlin would take, the decks were being cleared for a showdown with the United States.

Hunger gripped the entire country. Food prices which had sunk a little during the last year of the war, had begun to climb rapidly.

Court Ruling Frees Waterloo Mother

WATERLOO (AP) — Jubilant over an Iowa supreme court decision which freed her from going to the women's reformatory for refusing to serve on a jury, Mrs. Jeanette Watson, 38, of Waterloo, mother of two children, commented Thursday:

"I think everyone should serve on juries but I still think the first duty of a mother is to her children. I hope I have an opportunity to serve when my boys get older."

It was because her boys are small and that she had no one with whom to leave them that Mrs. Watson refused to take the oath as a juror in a murder trial at Waterloo. The trial was that of Edward J. "Buddy" Beckwith who was twice convicted and is now awaiting execution for a slaying at Morrison, about 30 miles southwest of Waterloo.

THIS BROKEN CITY which is East Berlin, beginnings of which is seen just beyond this sign, looked good to Major Klimov after Russia.

most Russians were forced to augment their wholly inadequate rations by trading in the free market where prices had soared to astronomical heights.

All in all, the victors were suffering as much, as the vanquished — perhaps more, for while the Nazi tyranny had been crushed, no end of ours was anywhere in sight.

When people learned that I had met Americans in Berlin, had even talked with them and shaken their hands, they regarded me as some kind of strange specter.

There was still a pleasant glow from the remembrance of the wartime allies. However, thanks to the one-sided, and incessant agitation through all means of press and propaganda, the masses, contrary to their personal conviction, were beginning to regard the Americans as cannibals. The poison of propaganda was beginning to do its work.

The people were bitter and felt betrayed; privations prevailed everywhere, and the government had no legitimate pretext for justifying it as it had during the war.

Moscow We moved on as we talked a short distance away a grunte-obisk stood in our path. Cut into his sides were excerpts from the counterfeited Soviet constitution of 1936, guaranteeing every Russian inviolable, basic rights; and the usual exaltation of the "paradise" established by Stalin.

The old man, whom the state had swindled and who was now searching the streets for a meal, asked me to read the inscriptions for him. The mockery was too great for me to do so.

I had come to Moscow for a rest, but instead I found myself gripped by a deathly fatigue and despair.

With 10 days of my vacation still remaining, I left for Germany. NEXT—Farewell to Red tyranny.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

TIME, as I believe someone has pointed out, marches on! John Gunther reports that work has been resumed on several sections of the long-abandoned Maginot Line. It's being converted into atomic bomb shelters! And a Chicago reporter was aboard a hospital train last month in Japan. A Japanese waiter was feeding an American soldier patiently and devotedly. The two were conversing in animated fashion. The train ground to a stop and the reporter, looking up, noted the name of the station. It was Hiroshima!

Mr. Greco, the Madison Avenue tonorial expert, paused while shaving a cranky customer named Colonel Pass, and asked solicitously, "Well Colonel, how do you like this new lather?" "Fine," sputtered Colonel Pass. "You must have lurch with ME some day."

Holiday Decoration—House of Sugar, Frosting

A HOUSE MADE OF SUGAR CUBES, FROSTING AND CANDY, by Mrs. Telford Larew, 215 Woolfe ave., will be one of the principal Christmas decorations in her home during the holiday season. Mrs. Larew used approximately one and one half boxes of cube sugar to build the frame of the house. She then covered the walls with egg-white frosting. The roof and chimney are made of frosting covered with red and green colored sugar. The sidewalk is of cinnamon. The house, about 6 x 9 x 5 inches is mounted on a large tray. Mrs. Larew, who enjoys making things of this type, at one time made a park of similar materials which covered the top of a buffet.

'Symphony in Snow,' Currier Formal Dance To Be Held Tonight

"Symphony in Snow" annual winter formal of Currier hall women's dormitory will be held tonight from 9-1 a.m. in the South dining room of the dormitory.

Del Clayton's orchestra will provide the music.

The wintertime theme will be carried out in decorations and programs, Helen Wolfe, A4, Cedar Rapids, social chairman, announced.

A tea will be held during the intermission for members of the executive council, chaperones, and faculty guests.

Chaperones will include: Prof. and Mrs. Russell Ross, Prof. and Mrs. Donald Johnson and Prof. and Mrs. D. Caryl Spriestersbach.

Social board members are: Billie Welch, A4, Des Moines; Marilyn Lewis, A4, Williamsburg; Harriet Moses, A3, Trinidad, Colo.; Kathy Beckman, A3, Grundy Center; Jackie Daley, A3, Burlington; Shelby Spellman, A1, Flossmoor, Ill., and Janine Ek, A2, Cedar Rapids.

Engaged

Ellen Sideman

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Sideman, Des Moines, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ellen, A4, to Richard M. Caplan, M1, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Caplan, Des Moines.

Miss Sideman is a member of Motar Board, senior women's honorary society. Mr. Caplan is a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi, social fraternity and Phi Beta Pi, medical fraternity.

Newman Club To Hold Party

Newman club will hold its annual Christmas party Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Catholic student center.

Members will decorate a Christmas tree at the center. This will be followed by caroling at 7 p.m. at the Iowa City hospitals.

Abolish Football Bowl Games, College Heads Recommend

Propose Program To Cure Abuses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The abolishment of all post-season football bowl games was recommended unanimously Thursday by 10 college presidents studying intercollegiate sports.

The recommendation was part of a proposed program which would supervise the athlete from high school until he finishes college.

Dr. John Hannah, president of Michigan State college and chairman of the committee, said the educators were all agreed that:

1. Sports competition should be confined to its season. Football should be played between September and around Dec. 1. "Out go the bowls," Dr. Hannah said.

2. "Lavish entertainment" of prospective sports stars should be strictly prohibited.

3. Freshmen should be barred from varsity teams.

4. College athletes should be made to keep up with their classes, with grades good enough to get them a degree at the end of four years. Those who can't keep the pace should not be allowed to compete.

5. Booster and alumni clubs should not be allowed to give scholarships directly to athletes. The schools themselves should handle all funds.

Stiff Penalty
The penalty proposed for breaking the rules: Any violator would jeopardize its academic standing.

The committee was named by the American Council on Education to study what is wrong with sports—and to find a cure.

Oddly, the American Council on Education has no power to enforce its decisions. But Hannah said at a previous news conference that the council is made up of almost all educational associations, universities and colleges in the country.

Its influence is so great, he said, that any decision it reaches carries great weight.

Enforcement would be left up to the nation's five accrediting organizations, Hannah said. There are five of these, which set standards not only for the colleges and universities but also for the high schools.

Stormy Time
The presidents began their studies at a time when college sports were rocked by bribery and cribbing scandals.

Thursday they came up with the first of their answers. There was no formal report, and there still remain several fields in which no agreement has been reached.

Hannah told a news conference he hopes the entire program can be worked out within a month. He said it might be completed at a meeting here Jan. 6-7.

The committee's work still must be approved by the executive council of the Council on Education, and many details on enforcement remain to be worked out. But Hannah said that—if the program is acceptable—it might go into effect by next September.

This might not mean the immediate end of bowl games because, Hannah said, present contracts between conferences and football bowl organizations would be honored.

Hawklets Get Test With Dubuque Tonight

By JORDAN MATULEF

City high will risk its perfect record of four consecutive victories tonight in a Mississippi conference battle with Dubuque on the Rams' home court at Dubuque.

It will be the second conference game for both teams, each having won its opening conference contest with ease last Friday. The Hawklets defeated Cedar Rapids Wilson 49-35, while the Rams subdued Cedar Rapids Franklin 52-42.

City high Coach Howard Moffitt expects tonight's contest to be the Hawklets' toughest battle thus far this season. Not only will the Hawklets be playing away from home for the first time, but they also will have to contend with a vastly improved team that has won four out of five contests, losing only to West Waterloo early in the season.

Although the Rams lack overall height, their speed and versatility combined with a constant full-court press make them potentially dangerous against any team.

Little change will be made in the Hawklets' starting lineup. Jamie Andrews and Bob Frantz will start at forwards, Ted Dunnington will begin at center, and Jim Freeman will remain in a guard position.

However, Ellis Kondora, who has recovered from an injury suffered in a automobile accident this fall, might replace John White at the other guard to increase the Hawklets' scoring potential.

Enforcement would be left up to the nation's five accrediting organizations, Hannah said. There are five of these, which set standards not only for the colleges and universities but also for the high schools.

SEEKS CAGE TITLE

By Alan Maver

HARRY COMBES, ILLINOIS BASKETBALL COACH, WHO'S OUT TO FOLLOW UP THE ILLINI CONFERENCE FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP WITH ANOTHER CAGE TITLE!

THIS IS ONLY HARRY'S 5TH SEASON AS HEAD OF THE HOOPSTERS, BUT HE'S ALREADY WON 2 CONFERENCE CROWNS—IN 1949 AND 1951!

HIS FIRST CHAMPIONSHIP OUTFIT FINISHED 3RD IN THE N.C.A.A. TOURNEY, AND SO DID HIS 2ND—WHICH ONLY LOST TO KENTUCKY BY ONE LAST-SECOND GOAL!

Gophers Stun Kentucky, 61-57

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota engineered the impossible Thursday night with a stunning 61-57 defeat of the Kentucky Wildcats, NCAA champions, for the visitors' first basketball loss in 35 games.

Big Ed Kalafat poured in 30 points as the Gophers came from behind a 27-33 halftime deficit to dominate the last half of the contest. The Minnesotans marched to a 45-43 edge at the end of the third quarter.

So far this year, Kentucky has victories over Xavier, and Washington and Lee. Minnesota had won only from Nebraska before Thursday night.

Kalafat, 6-6, 240-pound Gopher center, went on a nine goal rampage in the second half after Kentucky's Cliff Hagan went out on fouls early in the game, leaving no one to cope with the towering Minnesotan. The remaining Wildcat lineup could find no defense against his devastating right and left handed hook shots.

Kentucky was playing without the services of its seven-foot center, the injured all-American Bill Spivey.

It was a rough contest as the two teams, manned by rangy and husky athletes, fought for every offensive and defensive rebound. Frank Ramsey, starting guard for the visitors, and Hagan both went out on fouls before the end of the third quarter.

The well-balanced Kentucky scoring machine wasted little time in building an advantage over the Gophers and had a 19-12 margin at the end of the first period.

Arizona Trip Slated For Hawkeye Nine

Fifteen Big Ten games, including five double-headers under the new league scheduling plan, plus six games in Arizona on a spring training trip, form the major portion of Iowa's 1952 baseball schedule.

From four to seven non-conference games are yet to be booked, it was explained this week by Coach Otto Vogel. The conference now allows 24 regular season games, not including those of the spring training trip.

The new Big Ten arrangement means that every other conference team will be played at least once a season and one natural rival, in Iowa's case Minnesota, will be met three times in one weekend.

The Arizona trip, first ever made to that state by an Iowa athletic team, gives the Hawkeyes the unusual situation of playing the same team—University of Arizona at Tucson—on six consecutive days, April 7 through 12. Most of the trip occurs during Easter recess.

This is the schedule as it now stands:

April 7-12—Arizona at Tucson
April 13-16—Notre Dame at Iowa City
April 17—Minnesota at Minneapolis
April 18—Michigan at Minneapolis (double-header)
May 2—Michigan at Iowa City
May 3—Michigan State at Iowa City (double-header)
May 4—Indiana at Bloomington
May 10—Purdue at Lafayette (double-header)
May 16—Northwestern at Iowa City
May 17—Wisconsin at Iowa City (double-header)
May 23—Ohio State at Columbus
May 24—Illinois at Champaign (double-header)

Hawks Leave On Road Trip

Iowa's entire varsity squad, minus the injured Paul Stark, will leave by bus this morning for its first road trip of the season.

The Hawkeyes will meet Missouri at Columbus, Mo., Saturday night and proceed to St. Louis for a Monday night clash with Washington university of St. Louis.

The large seating capacity of the bus has made it possible to take a squad of 18, the usual travelling party being about 12 men.

Coach Bucky O'Connor has scheduled a workout in the Missouri gym later today.

O'Connor said Thursday he will continue to start the five veterans who have opened against Western Michigan and DePauw.

Missouri, a team which will come close to matching Iowa in height, opened its season with a doubleheader victory over Central college, 48-35, and Missouri Valley college, 62-48.

Iowa defeated Missouri here last year, 63-53.

The Hawkeye JVs will play Wartburg at Waverly tonight.

Time Trials Set For Track Team In Five Events

Iowa's 1952 track team pulls off some of its wraps Saturday afternoon in the field house when Coach Francis Cretzmeier sends part of his 35-man squad through time trials in five events.

Workouts during the past weeks have been mostly concerned with conditioning and Saturday will be the first time the Hawkeye runners have been officially clocked.

Three track events, the 330-yard, 660-yard and hurdle races, plus two field events, the broad jump and high jump, will make up the trials. The first two track events are less than normal distances of 440-yards and 880-yards.

Coach Cretzmeier reported that the squad has made satisfactory progress for such an early date and that more intensive workouts would be started following the Christmas vacation.

Iowa's 1952 indoor schedule does not open until Feb. 16 when the Hawkeyes face Wisconsin in Iowa City, but Cretzmeier is trying to arrange a practice meet with a nearby college for the early part of that month.

The annual all-University Relay Carnival will take place in the latter part of January.

Rifle Team Leaves For Wisconsin Match

Six SUI varsity rifle team men will leave today for the northern district Big Ten rifle shoot at Madison, Wis., Lt. Col. Harold E. Dille, director of rifle marksmanship, announced Thursday.

Squad members who will shoot Saturday morning against Wisconsin university are Jim McLaughlin, Bob Eest, Stan James, Jack Westwick, Bob Doctor and Jim Mayer.

Latest results show that the SUI team has won six postal matches, defeating the University of Michigan, Knox college, Henderson State Teachers college, Arkansas State college, Loyola university of Chicago and Ohio Wesleyan.

Badgers Romp Over Loyola (South), 66-47

MADISON, WIS. (AP)—Held in check the first quarter, Wisconsin's basketball team found its eye in plenty of time to romp to a 66-47 victory over Loyola of the South Thursday night.

The New Orleans quintet battled the Badgers evenly in the first quarter, which ended with Wisconsin in front, 16-15. Wisconsin then outscored Loyola, 18-6, in the second quarter, 16-11, in the third, and—with reserves in the lineup—16-15 in the fourth quarter.

The Badgers held a 34-21 half-time lead.

Both teams handled the ball loosely in the first half. Heavy scorers for Wisconsin were Paul Morrow and Pete Anderson, with 17 points apiece, and Ab Nicholas with 10. Two centers, Tom Ketchum and Ed Galvin, each picked up 11 for Loyola.

 lisher of The Iowan defended the paper's extensive checking of the story.
 Barnum said the faculty exercises no control over the staff. Daily Iowan Managing Editor Herbert Duncan agreed with Barnum's contention that the staff is free to publish anything it wishes.
 Several students wanted to know why it took The Daily Iowan six weeks to check the facts in the story.
 MacNair said the story was being checked by Ira Schneiderman, but the matter was dropped temporarily when Schneiderman resigned, which resulted in an entire staff reorganization.
Staff Reorganized
 MacNair said the paper was without an editor from Nov. 15 to Nov. 28 when he was appointed. "No checking was done during that time," MacNair said, "because of the daily pressure of getting out a paper without a complete staff."
 In the executive session after the discussion, Jim Mergen, WSUI announcer, made a motion to the council, stating, "that The Daily Iowan is guilty of suppressing the news and should be reprimanded by the proper channels."

 The council defeated the motion by an 11 to 4 vote.
Properly Reprimanded
 Phil Bigelow, A4, Council Bluffs, chairman of the group which brought the matter before the council, said that he believes The Iowan has been properly reprimanded.
 When asked about any further action, he said emphatically that he would advise against such a thing.
 "The censorship issue took two hours to decide, but throughout the conduct of the group was orderly."
BUEHLER FIRE COSTS $53,000
 A final estimate of $53,534 in damages has been set in connection with the fire at Buehler Bros. market Nov. 3.
 Fire Chief Al Dolezal said Thursday this is 30 per cent more than the entire amount of fire damage in Iowa City in 1950 which totaled $40,297.97.

Woodlawn School Wins Appeal Case

The Iowa supreme court ruled Thursday that the Woodlawn pre-school may continue to operate in a private residential district here despite objections of other residents in the area.
 The decision was given by the court in Des Moines late Thursday morning. The dispute has been in the courts since May 28, 1950.
 The opinion was written by Justice P. G. Garfield of Ames with the other eight justices concurring.
Neighbors Bring Suit
 In the original action, W. Ross Livingston, Mabel Evans and Klara Robbins, Woodlawn residents, termed the school a nuisance and asked the district court to order it to cease operations. Defendants were David C. and Medeline Davis, operators of the school.
 The high court upheld the decree of District Judge James P. Gaffney handed down Jan. 9, 1951, in which he found that the school had a legal right to operate in a residential district.
 The supreme court said, however, that the district court erred in ordering the school to lower a wooden fence around the school, in prohibiting parents from taking their children to the school by using nearby drives and in ordering the school to get health and fire protection assurances.

The Hillel and Wesley foundations will hold a joint party at 8 p.m. Saturday night, ending Dedication week at the new Wesley house.
 This is the third year the two student groups have held the Hanukkah - Christmas party, termed "an outstanding example of inter-faith cooperation" by a Hillel spokesman.
 The party will open with two skits, one by Hillel depicting the Hanukkah tradition, the other by the Wesley group showing the beginning of the tradition.
 The Hillel square dancing group will demonstrate Isbell folk dances. Wesley foundation will demonstrate other square dance formations.

1st National Bank Wins $23,000 Suit For Unpaid Notes

Judgment has been given in favor of the First National Bank, of Iowa City, in a district court suit filed against Carl and Alma Scott.
 The plaintiff's claim to collect $23,388.28 due on promissory notes signed by the defendants was approved Tuesday by District Judge Harold D. Evans.
 Both parties involved have signed a stipulation of settlement which has been approved by the court. This will provide a method of refinancing the debt by the defendants agreeing to pay $500 per month, and selling part of their property to apply against the principal of the loan.
 According to the agreement, a special execution will be issued against livestock yards owned by the defendants at Clarence. However, the agreement states that no action to foreclosure is to be taken within one year.

Services Scheduled For Mrs. Chadek

Funeral services for Mrs. John Chadek, 93, former Iowa City resident who died Wednesday in Milwaukee, Wis., will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Wenceslaus church.
 Mrs. Chadek made her home with her daughter in Milwaukee until her death.
 She is survived by a son, Joseph Chadek, Iowa City, and two daughters, Mrs. F. E. Hunzinger of Milwaukee, and Mrs. P. W. Prizler, Altadena, Calif. A sister, Mrs. Kate Shonka, Iowa City, and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren also survive.
 Her husband and one son preceded her in death.
 The rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. at the Hohenschuh mortuary. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.
