Reds Hint Rejection Of UN POW Plan

MUNSAN, Korea (THURSDAY) (P)—Communist negotiators Wednesday indicated they would reject a surprise Allied compromise offer for the exchange of Korean war prisoners and civilians.

There seemed only a slight chance of a quick Red acceptance when truce negotiators meet again today.

No progress was made Wednesday in the deadlocked truce supervision talks but Allied and Red sub-delegates were due to reconvene today on this issue.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby, Allied negotiator in the prisoner exchange talks spent more than an hour reading the United Nations command proposal. It would:

1. Exchange 11,599 or more Allied prisoners for an equal number of captured North Koreans and Chinese troops.
2. Swap about 105,000 more Koreans and Chinese prisoners on a man-for-man basis with South Korean civilians held by the Reds.
3. Turn the floodgates loose for an all-for-all exchange of thousands of other displaced civilians caught in the backwash of the Korean war when opposing forces swept up and down the peninsula in 1950 and 1951.
4. All repatriations shall be on a strictly voluntary basis, with International Red Cross teams making sure that no one is sent back against his will.

Red Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho took a hasty look at the UN proposal Wednesday and said in effect—"It stinks," Libby reported. It was considered politically unacceptable to the Communists.

After the meeting Libby said that Lee had perhaps misunderstood the proposal in the first reading and quick translation.

The Reds, however, asked for an adjournment to make a more detailed study.

UN command sources did not want to speculate on the plan. They were reluctant to amplify it until they heard the official Communist reaction.

Husband Leaves Police, 6 Wives

MESA, ARIZ. (P)—Six women who claim they are wives of a cultist were freed on $500 bond each Wednesday when they appeared before Justice of the Peace Jack Hunsaker on charges of adultery and open and notorious cohabitation.

The purported husband, George Merrill Dutton, is being sought by police. He is charged with bigamy. Charges against Dutton and the women were made Tuesday by Bishop Wendel A. Davis of the Mesa Stake's Almalward, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons).

Davis said Dutton and the six women, along with two other women who claimed to be his wives, were excommunicated from the Mormon church about 12 years ago. Dutton, the bishop said, is a member of a cult that broke with the Latter Day Saints church over the question of polygamy.

Records in the office of Gov. Howard Pyle show Dutton was accused of unlawful cohabitation in Salt Lake City Sept. 20, 1950, but have never been called for and are on file in the governor's office. Dutton was arrested in Phoenix on the Salt Lake City charge at that time.

Winnie Determined To Meet Truman

ABOARD THE QUEEN MARY (P)—Winston Churchill is determined to keep a Blair House date on Saturday with President Truman, and if necessary will leave the Queen Mary before she docks and fly to Washington, his aides said Wednesday.

The British prime minister, together with Foreign Sec. Anthony Eden, would leave the liner about 20 miles off the American coast to make the trip to Washington by plane if that becomes necessary to keep the luncheon date.

Suit Against McCarthy

WASHINGTON (P)—Charles E. Davis of Pasadena, Calif., Wednesday filed a $100,000 suit against Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.). He charged slander and breach of contract.

Davis, a Negro, recited that he carried out his part of an agreement until Nov., 1950, when he was arrested in Geneva, Switzerland. At that time, Davis said, McCarthy disclaimed any association with or employment of Davis.

Monkey Business — Ape Snarls Ship Line

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (P)—An escaped live monkey in the engine room of a steamship here is acting like a monkey wrench in the works.

The American President Lines freighter President Arthur can't sail until the beast is caught. Line officials fear he might get into the machinery or distract a crew member working near moving parts of the engine.

They have sent out the word to get him "dead or alive—preferably alive."

The monkey is one of 30 the vessel brought here Sunday from Singapore for a New York animal dealer.

It escaped from a crate a few days before the ship docked and has eluded all attempts to trap him.

The line is sending an animal expert to the ship to try his wiles. If he fails, Jersey City authorities will be called in.

2 Youths Arrested In Hit-Run Deaths

PONTIAC, MICH. (P)—Two youths were jailed on open charges Wednesday in the New Year's eve deaths of teen-aged Barbara Holloway and Jessie Anastos.

A volunteered story from Anthony Redmond, 20-year-old truck driver, apparently had solved the day-old mystery surrounding the girls' fate.

Worried and conscience-stricken, young Redmond came to the Royal Oak police station Tuesday night to say he was the driver of the car.

Barbara and Jessie, high school girls, had left one party to hitchhike to another. A car struck and killed them on the outskirts of Royal Oak. Their bodies were found in a snow bank.

Fred Ziem, assistant Oakland county prosecutor, said Redmond told of having had "a couple of beers — maybe three but not more than four" — before hand. He told of going on a round of other parties.

Accompanying him to the police station were two 15-year-old girls and Donald Cushing, 17, Royal Oak high school student. All were riding in the car when the accident occurred.

Globe-Trotting Grandma

82-YEAR-OLD Mrs. Berta McMillan, grandmother of 15, left Cleveland Wednesday for Japan where she will visit her soldier son and meet his wife and new grandson. Mrs. McMillan said she "was getting a little bored" so she decided to take the plane trip to Japan. She is holding a geisha doll sent by her son.

Truman Outlines Shakeup Plans

PRESIDENT TRUMAN checks with John W. Snyder, secretary of the treasury, as he outlines a sweeping shakeup plan for his scandal-ridden internal revenue bureau. The plan calls for abolishing the 64 offices of district collectors of internal revenue and putting them all under 25 district offices.

Airmen Begin Task Of Moving 28 Bodies From C-47 in Arizona

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (P)—The difficult task of removing the bodies of 28 victims of an air force C-47 crash from an Arizona mountain-side began Wednesday.

An evacuation team of airmen struggled up the icy side of 7,000-foot Armer mountain this morning and found the mangled bodies among the scattered wreckage of the twin-engine plane.

The victims were 19 West Point cadets, four crew members and five other military passengers. Their plane became lost in a storm Sunday and smashed into the mountain, 65 miles northeast of Phoenix. The C-47 exploded upon striking a cliff about 100 feet below Armer's snow-capped crest.

First Lt. Donald C. Humphreys of Lowery air force base, Denver, who commanded the first group to reach the crash scene said, "All were killed instantly."

It probably will take two or three days to bring all of the bodies down.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

WASHINGTON (P)—Peter I. Bukowski received Wednesday the official announcement that President Truman has accepted his resignation as deputy administrator of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) — effective Monday night.

Tug Races to Help Capsizing Freighter

LONDON (P)—A British tug Wednesday night raced to the rescue of New Jersey's one-man crew on the Flying Enterprise wallowing in strong new gales 350 miles out in the Atlantic from Falmouth.

Capt. Kurt Carlsen, who stubbornly brushed aside all suggestions that he abandon the 6,711-ton freighter, was spending his fifth lonely night on the ship as it drifted helplessly and almost flat on its side.

If Carlsen left the freighter, it would become a derelict and a "free prize of the sea" for its salvagers under British admiralty law.

This is the view set forth by admiralty law experts in London.

In New York, however, an Isbrandtsen line spokesman declared "it makes no difference one way or the other" in salvage rights whether Carlsen stays aboard — any salvager would receive compensation set by an arbitration committee of the insurance firm, Lloyd's of London.

McLaughlin, operating manager, said Carlsen is motivated by "traditions of the sea" and not by business reasons in staying aboard. He said he was sure, however, that

$10 School Gift Starts March of Dimes Drive

With a $10 donation Wednesday by the school children of Iowa City the Johnson county March of Dimes drive began aiming at its $10,000 quota. Sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., the drive will continue through Jan. 31.

Officials pointed out that in 1951 Johnson county suffered a record

Army Asks for Information from POW Letters

WASHINGTON (P)—The army said Wednesday it would like to get from relatives of American prisoners of war any information they have about efforts by the Reds to communicate their captives.

In announcing last Thursday details for sending and receiving mail from soldiers held by the Chinese and Korean Reds, the defense department said that "next of kin reasonably may expect to find Communist propaganda in letters delivered through Panmunjom," the clearing point for mail exchange.

The department's announcement added that "such propaganda has been the rule in letters made available to the department to date—and it's likely to continue."

An army spokesman said Wednesday the best check that could be obtained, in a continuing study of efforts to use American prisoners for propaganda, would be to see mail from the prisoners. Such letters should go to the Adjutant General of the Army, Casualty branch.

Truman Plans Overhaul In Revenue Department

Moneyhounds Picked Up His Trail

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Almost anybody could follow the trail left Wednesday by a gunman who robbed Buddy Clark's Roundup, a tavern, of $400. And just about everybody on the street did. The robber piled his loot in a paper sack which had a hole in the bottom. Passersby were so busy picking up money that nobody thought to call the police.

Violent Death Toll At Least 611 After Long Holiday Period

America's 1952 death toll in accidents is off to a flying start.

A survey showed at least 611 persons met violent death in the four-day holiday period which ended Tuesday night, with the biggest single day toll of 177 occurring Jan. 1. The deaths averaged about 152 daily.

Only 424 accidental deaths were reported during the 3-day holiday period a year ago — an average of about 141 a day.

The combined Christmas and New Year's holiday accidental death toll this season reached nearly 1,400 — more than 900 of them in traffic mishaps. Iowa's death toll stood at 16 of which 15 were from traffic accidents.

Traffic accidents killed 375 persons over the New Year's weekend. Another 69 died in fires and 167 met death from miscellaneous causes. The national safety council had forecast 350 traffic fatalities.

Traffic deaths totaled 535 during the long Christmas holiday period.

Dark String Stops Irish Potato Thief

HEWRY, Northern Ireland (P)—A shrewd Irish farmer who suspected that someone was dipping into his potato pile came up Wednesday with his own Irish-style solution.

The farmer testified in court that he sewed some black thread into each of his potatoes, put them back into the bin outside his house and waited.

Then, when the pile again went down suddenly one night, the farmer summoned a constable and began a check of the neighbors' houses.

In one of the houses the constable found a pot of boiled Irish potatoes. He cut open each spud and found in each of them the tell-tale pieces of black thread.

The neighbor pleaded guilty and paid a fine of two pounds ($5.60).

Truman Quiet About 1952 Political Plans

WASHINGTON (P)—President Truman kept the lid of secrecy on his 1952 political plans Wednesday. The White House said he has made no commitment even about the date when he will announce whether he will run again.

A new flurry over the President's intentions arose when Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) quoted Truman as saying he hopes to disclose before Feb. 6 whether he will seek another four years in the White House.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short quickly declared Truman had made no commitment.

But Hays, who made the statement to newsmen after a White House visit, stuck to his guns.

"All I know is what the President told me," Hays said following Short's statement. "I quoted him exactly as he said it."

Hays said Truman gave him no hint as to his intentions during their talk. Asked if he thought the President would be a candidate, Hays replied without hesitation:

"I got the impression he probably isn't — just from the way he talked the last three times I have seen him."

Earlier, Hays had told White House correspondents that in his discussion with Truman he pointed out Feb. 6 is the deadline in Ohio for candidates to file for the posts of delegates to the Democratic national convention.

It is also the deadline for presidential candidates to give their consent in writing for their names to be entered in the Ohio primary.

Truman told a news conference some time ago he had made up his mind, but would not announce his decision until after his annual "state of the union," economic and budget messages to congress this month.

Gun Accident Kills Girl

KEOKUK, IA. (P)—A 3-year-old girl was fatally injured Wednesday when she pulled a .22-caliber rifle off a shelf.

The girl, Kathryn Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gilbert, died at Graham hospital Wednesday night.

It's DIMES Square Now

TIMES SQUARE IN NEW YORK is changed to Dimes Square for the 1952 March of Dimes drive which began Wednesday. Officiating in the ceremony is Manhattan borough president Robert Wagner. Helping are police victim Michael Halloran, Astoria, L.I., grand marshal of the Mother's March on Polio; Sherill Hallberg, Staten Island, and Sydney Smith, TV chairman of the Mother's March.

Dunlap Ousts 53 More Men In Latest Step

WASHINGTON (P)—President Truman decreed a far-reaching overhaul of the scandal-ridden internal revenue bureau Wednesday as Commissioner John B. Dunlap disclosed the ouster of 53 more employees.

The "very solvency of our country," Mr. Truman said, depends in part on the integrity of its tax collectors.

Designed to convert the revenue service into a "blue ribbon" corps of civil service workers, the President's shakeup plan will be submitted to congress under the government reorganization act. It will go into effect 60 days thereafter unless the house or senate disapproves.

Hoover Recommendations

President Truman's move to put the internal revenue service almost completely under civil service is in line with recommendations made 2½ years ago by a commission headed by Herbert Hoover.

The Hoover commission on government reorganization deplored the system of selecting collectors of internal revenue by political patronage methods.

It urged that these posts, and other government positions historically treated as political plums, be filled by the civil service commission.

166 Lose Jobs

Dunlap's announcement brought to 166 the number of tax officials and employees fired or forced to resign or retire in 1951. A total of 113 "disciplinary" separations from the bureau had been announced previously to complete the score through October.

There were only 40 separations in 1950 and 36 in the previous year.

No names or details were given in connection with the 53 ousters announced Wednesday. Officials said all of them were not necessarily involved in the scandals.

Truman intends to put the entire internal revenue bureau under civil service with the exception of the top commissioner, who would be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the senate.

Strong Inspection Service

Additionally, he plans "a strong, vigorous inspection service," independent of the rest of the tax collecting machinery.

Indicating further moves to come, the President said in a statement that the shakeup was "one of a series of actions I am taking to insure honesty, integrity and fairness in the conduct of all government business."

Truman backers are hoping that such moves will remove the corruption issue from the coming presidential campaign. Republicans say it is too late for that.

Former Russian Foreign Minister Litvinoff Is Buried

MOSCOW (P)—Pallbearers chosen from among high officials of the Soviet foreign ministry carried the remains of Maxim Litvinoff to his grave among Russia's great Wednesday.

There was no religious service for the former commissar of foreign affairs who played the leading Soviet role in reestablishing diplomatic relations with the United States after the Bolshevik revolution. Born a Jew, Litvinoff did not belong to any church.

Deputy foreign minister Andrei Gromyko led the group of official mourners and acted as a pallbearer.

The death of Litvinoff, who broke through Russia's diplomatic isolation from the West after World War I and was her spokesman at the old league for a system of collective security and disarmament, was announced in eight paragraphs on the last page of Pravda Wednesday.

Pravda, organ of the central committee of the Communist party of which Litvinoff had been a member, called him an "Old Bolshevik and outstanding Soviet diplomat."

editorials War Is a Piker!

On December 11, 1951, while a snowstorm whipped Cleveland, Ohio, a little spinster stood on a corner waiting for the traffic light to change.

As it turned green she started across. She was less than two blocks from home. Yet, home she never reached.

A tractor-trailer struck her as she neared the middle of the crosswalk.

Eleven days later she died in a Cleveland hospital.

This little spinster, who, ironically, had never driven an automobile, became the nation's millionth traffic fatality.

Through the efforts of safety organizations, radio and newspapers, the millionth traffic death had not been averted—but merely postponed!

Do we stop there?

Let's look at it another way.

Between the beginning of the Revolutionary war and Dec. 25, 1951, the nation suffered approximately 1,004,000 military deaths. Traffic deaths for the nation stood at 1,000,500 on Dec. 25!

And war had a 125 year head start on the automobile.

This should make the headlines of automobile drivers more apparent than ever.

The Association of Casualty and Surety Companies has predicted that unless the new year starts with a marked decline in traffic deaths or Korean casualties increase greatly, next month will see traffic deaths exceed the nation's number of military dead for the first time since 1775.

Millions of Americans have joined with the rest of the world and condemned war for the loss of thousands of lives. But the highway killer is making a piker of war.

Can the wholesale slaughter on the highways be curbed?

The answer lies with you!

Interpreting the News —

Occupied Japan Blocks Red Plans in Far East

By RELMAN MORIN
(For J. M. ROBERTS JR.)
AP News Analyst

In sending out his New Year greetings, Josef Stalin addressed one to the people of Japan, expressing sympathy for their "sufferings under occupation."

That means us. The United Nations are using Japanese troops, air bases and military installations to conduct the war in Korea. American troops are garrisoned in Japan. Mr. Stalin, for wholly understandable reasons, would like to see them leave.

Defenseless Japan

He is aware that, without foreign forces, Japan would be defenseless. She has no army, navy, nor air force of her own.

At the same time, Japan, potentially, is the dominant nation in the Orient. The people have the qualities that make for greatness in a nation.

These people, more than any other, stand squarely across the path of Communist operations in the Far East.

Only Nation

China is gone. India's position, between the Western world and the Communists, is at least ambiguous. The only Oriental nation that can frustrate Red plans in the Far East is Japan.

Hence, not long ago, the Soviet Union made some overtures which were, in fact, an offer of cheap raw materials. Japan, like England, is a highly industrialized country which must import a raw product and export a finished article. The terms of trade, as economists say, are hard today for nations in that position. Market prices on raw materials are very high.

Didn't Take Bait

The Japanese did not take that piece of Soviet bait.

Stalin's message on New Year's continues the campaign.

Mr. Stalin's gambit is not a bad one. It may give some Japanese a mental image of him as the kindly, pipe-smoking old philosopher—a kind of Slavic Santa Claus—who has only their best interests at heart.

But there will be other Japanese who are still waiting for a husband, son or brother to return from Soviet prisoner-of-war camps. The Japanese government has claimed that nearly 300,000 Japanese soldiers who surrendered to the Soviets have never been returned.

More Convincing

These people may consider—as Western diplomats frequently have remarked—that some such concrete instance of good will would be more convincing than mere words in a New Year greeting.

Our own efforts in Japan, since the war, have been eminently specific. During the years of actual occupation, a policy of rebuilding and reconstruction was pursued by General MacArthur. The basic forms of Japanese life were left undisturbed. And American technicians and engineers exerted immense efforts to help the country get back on its feet.

This was a job well done. It will have its effects for many years.

BERLIN-KREMLIN

THE LINE BETWEEN FREEDOM AND SLAVERY—in Stresemannstrasse, Berlin—is exemplified by this row of American MPs with their jeeps (right). Major Klimov crossed the line in Thuringia to find long-sought liberty.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the last of a series of 12 articles, telling starkly and bluntly the truth of life for a Russian soldier in the Soviet-controlled zone of Germany, as told by Maj. Gregory Klimov, a former member of the Russian general staff in Germany. Disgusted with the system under which he lived, Major Klimov fled to the Western (Allied-occupied) zone of Germany. Here is his own story, told for the first time.)

By MAJOR GREGORY KLIMOV
Formerly of the Russian General Staff in Germany

BERLIN—As the Western powers began increasing their resistance to Soviet policy in Germany, the Kremlin applied the whip to the occupation staff with a new vigor.

Inspection

Laurenti Beria, chief of the Soviet secret police, made a personal inspection of Russian installations in Berlin and the Eastern zone. This was followed by a drastic purge of "unreliables" among the occupation personnel, and the inauguration of a hysterical campaign of "vigilance."

All of us received new and exhaustive MVD questionnaires designed to reveal any flaws in our backgrounds. We were expressly forbidden to visit the Western sectors of Berlin under any circumstances except on official business.

Example

General Dravtin, the chief of staff, made an example of a number of officers' wives who were accused of having frequented fashionable restaurants in the Allied sectors and having bought a number of luxury items in the Western shops.

The guilty ones were deported to Russia within 24 hours, and their husbands received a scathing reprimand for their "inadequate Bolshevik watchfulness."

At the same time Dravtin announced that any transgressors of the new regulations would be returned to the Soviet Union immediately. Here, for the first time, it was officially admitted that the severest punishment for any Soviet citizen abroad would be to send him home.

Government Loans Drake $1 Million

DES MOINES (AP)—The federal government Wednesday granted Drake university a $1 million loan which Dr. Henry G. Harmon, Drake president, said would assure the construction of a proposed $2.5 million university dormitory.

The loan was announced in Washington by the housing and home finance agency. Harmon said the exact date when the project can be started will depend on the time required to get the necessary steel but that the loan carries the second highest allocation allowed by the government.

closest associates, Major Dubov and Captain Belyavsky were dismissed from the army and ordered back to Russia. I never heard of them again.

Both of them had been outstanding officers and had exemplary records in the war and later in the occupation. Belyavsky's guilt apparently lay in having a father, who had been classed as a "state enemy" for some unknown reason.

Dubov had once been arrested in a purge of non-Communist workers in a Leningrad factory, where he was employed as engineer.

Pardons

Dubov had later been released, and because of his brilliant career in the army, had been pardoned and allowed to join the party. However, in the Soviet Union no one can ever make full recompense for his past.

Discharge

One night while on duty at headquarters, I was handed an abrupt order for my discharge from the armed forces and for my immediate recall to Russia.

Because I had never been a member of the party and had always managed to evade the invitations I had received to join, I feared the worst. The fate of Dubov and Belyavsky was painfully fresh in my memory.

During the next days I began a double life: On the surface I made all the arrangements for my return trip, rejoicing loudly in my "good fortune."

Flight to Freedom

When I left the office I donned civilian clothes and sought a way to flee to the West. I delayed my departure for two weeks past the deadline, and at my house a dummy lay in readiness in case the MVD should decide to intervene.

It was a German factory director and member of the East German Communist party who arranged my escape. From an East German Communist police officer he obtained German identity papers for me and arranged for me to be taken to the West German border in Thuringia, and from there to be smuggled to the United States zone, where I was to live "black."

I did not want to risk what perhaps would have been an easier way, that of simply proceeding to West Berlin. I was not sure as to what help I could expect from the Americans or the other Western powers; I knew of many cases in which Russian refugees had been forcibly returned to Soviet authorities.

Not Easy

Adjusting to my new status has not been easy. Whenever I saw a uniform I had to turn away and conceal myself. Not even completely free; for I knew that the MVD often has sent agents disguised as fugitives.

Today I stand between two worlds—the way back to the one is irrevocably barred, and to the other I do not yet fully belong.

If I could give the West one bit of advice, it would be this: Use every moral, psychological and political means to win the Russian people as allies.

Remember

It must not be forgotten that millions of Russians were willing to surrender to the Germans in World War II in order to escape the oppression of the Communists. Only the stupidity of the Nazis drove them back to Stalin's arms.

Today, Stalin can maintain his hold only by appearing as the guardian of national interests. Nothing serves him more than collective judgments against "Russian barbarians" and a failure to differentiate between the Russian people and the Communist system which enslaves them and uses them in pursuit of its aspirations of world conquest.

The Kremlin has sealed off Russia in the knowledge that an isolated people is helpless before terror. It is necessary to break through these monstrous barriers. No people needs the friendship of the free world more than the Russians.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ASKED HOW WELL he spoke French, Fred Allen replied simply that in Paris he had ordered a pair of andirons in an antique shop in words the salesman understood without difficulty. Unfortunately, when he got home and opened the package, he discovered that he had purchased two old ladies, one of whom was in bad condition.

Allen adds that Parisians have two booming industries: shuffling and eating, and that the traffic is all cluttered up with devil-may-care optimists on bicycles who actually believe they're going to get home alive.

A shoestring Hollywood producer tapped George Jessel furiously on the arm the other day and whispered, "Be a pal and lemme have five hundred till television blows over."

Des Moines Man Says He Shot Cab Driver

DES MOINES (AP)—Detective Inspector Jack Brophy said late Wednesday that a man identified as Lewis Arthur Burkett, 27, of Des Moines, has admitted shooting a Des Moines cab driver to death Dec. 22 but that his story is being checked.

"We're not wholly satisfied that Burkett did it," Brophy said. "Some things about his story ring true but other parts of it don't wholly check with the facts as we know them."

Brophy said Burkett voluntarily made the admission.

At first, according to Brophy, Burkett said his companion shot Groves and robbed him. Later in the questioning, however, Burkett said he was the one who killed Groves, Brophy added.

"He demonstrated how he held the gun and that seemed to check with the manner in which Groves was shot," Brophy said. "However, he claimed he gave the gun to his mother and we have failed to find the gun."

Brophy said Burkett continues to claim that his companion robbed Groves.

Groves, who had been shot three times and robbed, was found slumped in his taxi at about 1:45 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 22. His firm, the Ruan company, had last heard from Groves about two hours earlier when he said he was going to pick up a fare in downtown Des Moines.

Brophy said Burkett had once been a patient at the Woodward state hospital.

AN EX-GI STUDENT discusses his future with Dr. Rogelio Diaz Guerrero, head of the "Psychological Service Center" of Mexico City college.

Draft Call a Mistake; Mrs. Riley Won't Go

CHICAGO (AP) — Selective service made it clear Wednesday that it has no plans to draft Joe Willie Riley.

One reason is that Joe Willie Riley is a gold star mother — a woman who describes herself as middle-aged and lets it go at that.

She told newsmen Tuesday that she had been classified 1-A last spring and recently had received an induction notice.

Col. Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois selective service director, stated Wednesday the draft people never had any intentions of inducing her.

He said the case got started this way:

A thief stole a check from Mrs. Riley's mail box in August, 1949. In order to get identification papers so he could cash the check, the thief registered for the draft, using her name.

Col. Armstrong said Mrs. Riley went to a selective service office Nov. 22, 1950, and told how she had been receiving draft mail and

New Clinics Planned For Palsied Children

The state services for crippled children has developed a plan to provide special clinics for Iowa's children afflicted with cerebral palsy.

Dr. Raymond R. Rembolt, SSCC director, said the clinic plan was fostered by the interest in such a service expressed by many Iowa communities. During 1951 a total of 250 patients have been treated in the SSCC's mobile clinics throughout the state.

Tax-Supported Agency
The SSCC is a tax-supported state agency with offices on the SUI campus. One of the agency's major functions is to provide free diagnostic and consultation services to Iowa's crippled children, and it carries a full staff of specialists trained in the evaluation and management of patients with cerebral palsy.

According to Dr. Rembolt, the new clinics would be similar to the agency's present mobile clinics, with the exception that more time would be spent with individual patients, that cerebral palsy patients only would be seen and that clinics would be held at more frequent intervals.

Briefly, the cerebral palsy clinics would provide:

1. Examination and consultation for cerebral palsy patients referred to the clinics by their local doctors.

2. A clinic staff — composed of specialists in medical service, speech and hearing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, dental hygiene, psychology, special education, nutrition, medical social service, public health nursing and parent counseling — headed by Dr. Rembolt, a member of the American Academy for Cerebral Palsy.

3. Consultation and recommendations for the patient's medical and educational program with his family and his doctor.

4. Follow-up services by qualified personnel, continuing the cerebral palsy patient's program, observing his progress and altering that program as the need arises.

Dr. Rembolt added that the participating clinic staff members will be happy to take part in special meetings with parents or physicians in the community, at which time problems of the cerebral palsied might be discussed.

In many communities, parents of cerebral palsied children have joined together in parent groups. These groups, Dr. Rembolt, says might well initiate plans for establishing a clinic in their communities.

Whatever group might initiate clinic plans, the county medical society should be consulted and the request for a clinic forwarded through that group, he says.

Groups or individuals seeking further information concerning the new program or wishing to request a clinic may contact Dr. Raymond R. Rembolt, director, state services for crippled children, State University of Iowa.

$15,000 Contribution

In connection with the state program the Des Moines Kiwanis club Wednesday presented the Iowa Society for Crippled Children with a check for $15,000 to help finance the society's clinic there.

A spokesman for the club said the fund represented most of the proceeds from the annual Kiwanis-sponsored football game. The remainder of the fund is to be presented to the society later.

The classes will meet each Monday and Wednesday. Textbooks cost 70 cents. Mrs. Norman Kilpatrick, assisted by Mrs. Melvin J. Veveva, will be the instructor at the first meeting.

Persons interested in registering for the course should call the Red Cross office, 6933.

Joe Blows Snow, Yearns for Sun

JOE DIMAGGIO, FORMER STAR outfielder of the New York Yankees, blows snow from the motor of his automobile after finally getting it off snowbound Mt. Rose, near Reno. Joe; his ex-wife, Dorothy Arnold, and his son were stationed on the mountain for four days during violent blizzards. He indicated he prefers "sunny Los Angeles."

Paul Brown Quits Senior Bowl Squad

MOBILE, ALA. (P) — Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns, Wednesday night abruptly quit the Senior bowl where he was scheduled to coach the North team Saturday.

Jimmy Pearce, general manager of the Senior bowl, said Brown would fly to Los Angeles this morning in time to fulfill conditions of his professional contract calling for him to coach one of the teams in the Jan. 12 Professional bowl game.

Pearce said there were no hard feelings between himself and Brown, or between the Senior bowl and Bert Bell, commissioner of professional football.

Pearce said he had a clear understanding with Bell and Brown that should Brown's Cleveland team win the American league championship, Brown might have to leave the Senior bowl.

Cleveland won the championship.

Two regular Cleveland Brown assistants, Fritz Heisler and Wilbur Eubanks, already here to help with the North team will directly coach the squad of 25 college seniors.

Vito (Babe) Parilli and Ed (Big Mo) Modzelewski play on opposite sides in the Senior bowl.

Both were standouts in their respective New Year's day bowl victories. Their separate scoring tactics added fuel on both sides to the old passing vs. running argument.

The hard hitting Modzelewski ripped Tennessee's line to shreds in Maryland's 28-13 rout of the Vols in the Sugar bowl. He out-gained the entire Volunteer team, picking up 153 yards in 28 tries.

Parilli thoroughly confused Texas Christian university with an exhibition of passing, running and kicking as Kentucky toppled the Horned Frogs, 20-7 in the Cotton bowl.

Modzelewski is expected to be the power boy in the North backfield which also boasts two top-flight passers in S.M.U.'s Fred Benners and Michigan State's Al Dorow.

Besides Parilli, the South is coming up with another passing ace in Vanderbilt's Bill Wade, rated by some pro scouts as superior to Parilli in the aerial department, particularly on long tosses.

Coach Steve Owen's South squad doesn't have a power runner to compare with Modzelewski, but it has an elusive back in Tennessee's all-America Hank Lauricella and a couple of good all-around backs in Miami's Jim Dooley and South Carolina's Steve Wadiak.

In addition to Modzelewski, the North forces boast of Iowa's Bill Reichardt, Maryland's Bob Shemanski, and Southern California's Frank Gifford.

Crisler Attacks Grid De-emphasis 'Experts'

LOS ANGELES (P) — Athletic Director Fritz Crisler of Michigan said Wednesday there are problems to solve in connection with college football, but he deplored what he called "hysterics by self-appointed reformers" and appealed for continued emphasis on winning games.

"Are we going to de-emphasize winning?" he asked. "If so, then what are we to emphasize—losing?"

America, he continued, was made great because of a winning attitude. "It certainly would be no fun to come in second in a war," Crisler declared.

He championed postseason bowl games and said abolition of them would not solve any of the problems of the sport.

Long renowned as a coach before stepping up to the athletic directorship at Ann Arbor, Crisler said the main trouble, and he included Michigan in the list, was that the policy has developed "where the institution seeks the kids instead of the kids seeking the institution." He said this can be corrected by the conferences or the governing boards of the respective schools.

Crisler spoke before the Southern California chapter of the Football Writers association.

2 Athletic Board Members Replaced

Two members of Iowa's athletic board, retired Dean Chester Phillips of the college of commerce and Prof. Frederic Higbee, were replaced during the holidays.

The university president's office, which made the action, named commerce Dean Sidney G. Winter and Ned L. Ashton of the college of engineering to handle the vacated positions.

Phillips retired as dean on July 1, and Higbee will soon be eligible for retirement. It is usual for retiring committee members to relinquish committee duties that they perform.

Iowa Given 12th Ranking in AP Poll; Kansas Gains Lead

NEW YORK (P) — Iowa's basketball team has been ranked 12th in the nation by an Associated Press poll after its fine showing on the West coast. The Hawks had been chosen 13th earlier this week by the United Press.

Kansas university is the new No. 1 team on the AP list, and probably isn't too happy about it. Up to now every team to win top ranking has been beaten in its next games.

The Jayhawks edged out powerful Illinois (7-0) for the top berth, receiving 31 first place votes to 23 for the Illini. On points, Kansas won 751 to 739 with 107 sports writers and sports casters participating in the poll.

Washington, Kentucky, and Indiana complete the first five in the list in that order.

Mexico Cop Arrested In Bithorn Shooting

EL MANTE, Mexico (P) — A policeman involved in the fatal shooting of a stranded U. S. baseball umpire was arrested Wednesday and sent to jail in a nearby town.

He is Cpl. Ambrosio Castillo Cano. His arrest was ordered by District Attorney Jesus Govea, who is investigating the death of Hiram Bithorn of Chicago on Dec. 29. Govea said he would decide today whether Castillo Cano should be freed or held for trial.

Govea questioned all witnesses to Bithorn's death Wednesday. The policeman said Bithorn struck him and attempted to get away when he was detained for questioning about the registration of his automobile. Bithorn had attempted to sell the car after telling a hotel man he was without money.

Bithorn, a star pitcher for the Chicago Cubs in 1943, was an umpire in the class C Pioneer league this year.

El Mante itself has no jail, so Castillo Cano was sent to the nearest one, a few miles away.

Writers Stop Kidding Themselves

Coast Admits Big 10 Better

PASADENA, CALIF. (P) — Westerners stopped kidding themselves Wednesday. The votes are in, and the consensus is that the Big Ten plays too tough a game of football for the Pacific coast.

The post-mortems of Illinois' 40-7 shellacking of Stanford in the Rose bowl followed one theme. Ray Haywood of the Oakland Tribune put it this way: "With the Big Ten, college football is a science, almost a profession. With us, it is a game."

Score: 185-55

In the six years since the Big Ten and the Coast conference signed an exclusive pact the Coast has been beaten six times. The point total at this stage is: Big Ten 185, P. C. C. 55.

Partisans have tried to excuse some of the past defeats by the breaks. But this time the opinion is almost unanimous that it's simply a matter of better training, better conditioning, better football.

In a way, the voice of Dick Hyland was a dissent. Hyland played in the Rose bowl for Stanford back in the '20's, and is a strong rooter for the Indians. But in his Los Angeles Times column Wednesday he complained that he saw two football players drinking malted milks at their hotel two night before the game, and added, "The self-indulgent taste-tickling Stanford belly-pamperers ate their way out of yesterday's game."

Credit to Eliot

Much of the credit went to Ray Eliot, Illinois coach, and his staff on two counts. They changed their pass defense in the second half to stall Gary Kerkorian's passing, and took advantage of Stanford's failure to change its ground defense pattern through which Illini backs were powering for long gains. Eliot expressed surprise that Stanford kept the same defense—guards and line backers spread wide, leaving an inviting path down the middle. Some other comments from the subdued typewriters of western sportswriters:

Prescott Sullivan, San Francisco Examiner: "If there is another Rose bowl game next year, the west will be given some kind of handicap, or spot. A better and more humane idea might be to let the whole thing off. Big Ten football is just too much for us boys."

'P. C. C. a Sucker'

Al Santoro, Los Angeles Examiner: "The P. C. C. is a sucker who has not yet learned the old frontier adage 'never play a man at his own game.' Football is the Big Ten's game. I'm beginning to suspect that our former Rose bowl winning coaches (before the P. C. C.-Big Ten pact) were just better matchmakers."

Al Wolf, Los Angeles Times: "Let's have no more silly talk about de-emphasizing football. It's already been done out this way. And if those college presidents succeed in abolishing bowl games, let's beg 'em to make 'em retroactive to 1946."

George Davis, Los Angeles Herald-Express: "A problem is presented by this situation that demands a solution — and one suggestion is that we start teaching real football fundamentals in the high schools, with more emphasis placed on the rudiments of the game than on intricate plays and the winning of championships."

Darrell Wilson, San Francisco Chronicle: "The Illini defenders, who were advertised as wildcats, quick, snarling and rugged, proved just that. They are all normal human beings, however. We checked that very carefully. Not a man among 'em had three arms."

W.S.C. Assistant May Get Head Job If Evashevski Quits

PULLMAN, WASH. (P) — A Washington State assistant coach may be in line for the head coaching job here, if Forrest Evashevski, who reportedly conferred with Iowa athletic officials last week, should resign.

Assistant Coach Alton S. Kircher is reported to have some backing for a promotion if Evashevski quits.

Evashevski has been mentioned as a candidate for coaching positions at both Iowa and the University of Indiana.

The Daily Idahoan at nearby Moscow, Idaho, said Wednesday that a reliable informant, who first disclosed Evashevski's consideration of other jobs, reported that Dean Golden Romney of physical education at W.S.C., favored Kircher for the top position, if it becomes vacant.

Evashevski receives $12,000 a year. His five year contract has three years to run. Kircher, as assistant, coaches the backfield.

Kircher was a letter winner in basketball, football and baseball at Michigan State college and coached high school athletics in Michigan for several years before joining the staff at Michigan State in 1939. He came to Washington State with Evashevski two years ago.

13 Criminal Cases Set for January Trial

Thirteen criminal cases have been assigned for trial in Johnson county district court beginning Monday, Jan. 14. District Judge Harold D. Evans announced Wednesday.

The petit jury panel has been directed to report at 10 a.m. that date when the first five cases are scheduled to begin.

Eight OMVI Cases

Of the 13 cases assigned for trial, there are eight charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, two charges of breaking and entering, one charge of manslaughter, one charge of assisting escape from an officer, and one charge of obtaining narcotic drugs by misrepresentation, fraud and deceit.

Those cases scheduled for Jan. 14 are:

The State of Iowa vs. William Binz.

The State of Iowa vs. Clyde Lester Jones.

The State of Iowa vs. Harry Skriver.

The State of Iowa vs. Glenn Dill.

Dill and Skriver are charged with first offense drunken driving, while Binz is charged with third offense.

Jones is charged with two counts of breaking and entering. One charge states he broke into the Nail Motor company, Sept. 15, 1951, and the other charge states he broke into the Amvets club Sept. 20, 1951.

Cases scheduled for Monday, Jan. 21 are:

The State of Iowa vs. James Beeler.

The State of Iowa vs. John Agnew.

The State of Iowa vs. Joseph Prochar.

The State of Iowa vs. Louis Eckrich.

The State of Iowa vs. Dr. Gerald F. Brown.

The State of Iowa vs. Marion Jones.

The State of Iowa vs. Arthur Walter.

Beeler, Prochar, Eckrich, Jones and Walter are all charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. All are charged with first offense with the exception of Prochar, who is charged with second offense.

Manslaughter Charge

Beeler, in connection with the drunken driving charge, is also charged with manslaughter. His car was involved in the accident Sept. 29, 1951, on highway 261 north of Iowa City in which Walter John Smith was killed.

Agnew is charged with assisting the escape of Louis Eckrich from the custody of Peace Officer Wendell Simonson Dec. 5, 1951 at Tiffin.

Dr. Brown is charged with obtaining narcotic drugs by misrepresentation, fraud and deceit from the Louis drug store July 21, 1951.

Judges Appoint 4 To County Boards

District Judges Harold D. Evans and James P. Gaffney Wednesday appointed three members to the Johnson county estate inheritance tax appraisers board.

They are: R. P. White, A. A. Welt, and Glenn F. Houston, who will each serve one-year terms.

A. C. Cahill, Iowa City attorney, was appointed to a two-year term on the county commission of insanity. Other members of that commission are R. Neilson Miller, clerk of the court, and Dr. Paul Reed.

POTATO QUEEN, Alice Paul from Clinton, Mo., poses standing on a mirror in New York while awaiting contest of "queens" Jan. 15 for the title, "The American Beauty Who Best Typifies the Beauty of Bali." Bali or no, who could complain about Alice's contours?

Iowa Chief Suspended from U.S. Crop Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alvin J. Cook, Iowa director of the federal crop insurance corporation (FCIC), was ordered suspended for five months Wednesday for prohibited political activity in 1950.

COOK

The civil service commission found that Cook violated the Hatch act limiting political activities by federal employees. Its decision was based on comments Cook allegedly made favoring Al Loveland over Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) in the 1950 Iowa senatorial campaign.

The commission's order is mandatory. There is no appeal for Cook. He will be suspended without pay from his $6,400 a year post.

North Liberty Man Asks Judgment of $321 Note

Suit has been filed in Johnson county district court by Frank Pecka, North Liberty, asking judgment of $321 on a promissory note.

Pecka states that Fred C. Tharp signed the note on Dec. 14, 1950 for $300 and that it was due in 60 days. He asks judgment for the face value of the note plus interest accumulated in the past year.

Danger of Immediate Steel Strike Lessens

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — The danger of any imminent industry-wide steel strike practically vanished Wednesday night on the eve of a specially-summoned CIO steelworkers union convention.

Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the steelworkers union, broadly hinted to reporters that the union's officers will recommend indefinite postponement of the strike.

MURRAY

Murray told a news conference that the union's powerful 35-man executive board, at a meeting on Wednesday afternoon, unanimously decided on a recommendation for the convention.

While declining to say specifically what the recommendation will be, Murray went on to tell newsmen he expects to be in Washington next Monday for initial wage stabilization board hearings on the union's wage and other demands.

Murray added that he hoped the WSB would expedite handing down a recommended compromise on the union's 18 1/2 cent hourly wage increase request and other demands. President Truman sent the case to the WSB to avoid a scheduled New Year's day strike, requesting the union to remain at work.

Clerk's Office Grosses $10,236 in Last Quarter

R. Neilson Miller, Johnson county clerk, reported Wednesday that the receipts of the clerk's office in the fourth quarter of 1951 totaled $10,236.54.

He said that most of the sum, $6,787.50, was collected in fines and forfeitures on criminal charges during the last three months of the year.

Attorney of Davelis Estate Acts to Oust 1 of 2 Administrators

A hearing on an application to remove one of the administrators of the estate of Andrew Davelis was held Wednesday by District Judge James P. Gaffney.

The application was filed by the estate attorney, Edward W. Lucas. It asks that Thomas Davelis, brother of Andrew, be removed as co-administrator of the estate.

The other administrator, Stella Davelis, is the widow of the Iowa City waiter who died of stab wounds Oct. 12, 1950.

The application states that checks have been written on the estate account, among them one for $300, cashed on Dec. 8, made payable to Thomas Davelis.

Lucas said the checks were issued without proper order of the court. "It appears to this applicant that the proceeds were used for the personal benefit of Thomas Davelis," his application states.

Pechman to Head Supervisors

J. E. Pechman Wednesday was named chairman of the Johnson county board of supervisors for 1952. He succeeds Robert Mahoney.

Election of the new chairman was the first action as the board held its first regular meeting of the new year. Members had met in a special session Monday night to count the cash in the various county offices.

In a passed resolution, the board has prohibited trucks with a gross weight over 4 tons from traveling on gravel and asphalt county roads during the spring months. The action was taken to prevent rutting of the soft roads when thawing begins.

Most appointive officials in the county have been renamed to their positions, the board announced. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leuz were reappointed steward and matron of the county home.

The three members of the board of supervisors, Pechman, Mahoney, and Marvin A. Stahl and two other persons were renamed to the county social welfare board. The

Of a total of $20,712 awarded to 11 universities and institutions for ocular research the University hospitals grant is the second largest in the group.

The grant is for $2,700 and will be used by Dr. Hermann M. Burian in his investigation of the electrical response of the retina and brain in children and adults where one eye has defective vision.
