Truman Confirms Stories Of Murphy's Acceptance, Refusal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Thursday confirmed widespread reports that Federal Judge Thomas F. Murphy of New York once accepted and later turned down appointment to head an investigation of corruption in government charges.

But the President turned aside questions about a report that Attorney General McGrath has offered to step out of the cabinet. McGrath has been under fire by critics who say he has not been vigorous enough in cracking down on irregularities in government.

Mr. Truman declared that his own governmental cleanup program will go forward uninterrupted.

Predict Congressional Approval

He predicted congress will approve his plan, announced Wednesday, to reorganize the nation's tax collection system and take its employees out of politics.

The President said he'd favored such a plan for a long time but that some members of both parties in congress have blocked it.

Asked about a report that McGrath had expressed willingness to be replaced as the nation's top law enforcement officer, the President said he wasn't going to say anything further about his cleanup plans until he was ready.

Refuses Reporters

McGrath himself refused to see reporters who sought comment from him.

Truman said that he'd be glad to have a political talk with Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), former head of the senate's crime investigating committee, who is being boomed by fellow Tennesseans and others for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Won't Summon Kefauver

All Kefauver has to do, the President said, is pick up the telephone and ask for an appointment. The implication was plain that the President himself has no intention of summoning Kefauver to the White House.

Mr. Truman vigorously defended his recent appointment of a commission of the health needs of the nation (CAPS) — assailed by Dr. John W. Cline, president of the American Medical association, as a "misuse of emergency funds" for political propaganda.

Government in Red By $7,467,242,215 For Half Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The treasury reported Thursday that the government was $7,467,242,215 in the red Dec. 31, the halfway point in the current fiscal year.

The deficit, 13 times greater than a year ago, was the largest for a six-month period since the flood of public spending in World War II.

Defense spending was up almost 200 percent in the period from July 1 to Dec. 31, 1951. The government's fiscal year ends next June 30.

Treasury officials said heavy income tax payments in the next few months are expected to reduce the year-end deficit to about six billion dollars.

At this time last year the deficit stood at $599,354,042 and the national debt was $256,731,304,988. Right now the national debt is $259,480,778,794.

Russia May Offer Japan Peace Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — Diplomatic sources said Thursday they believe Russia may offer Japan a peace treaty.

They said this would be a logical step following Russia's violent objections to the American-sponsored peace treaty concluded last year in San Francisco. They reasoned that Prime Minister Stalin's unprecedented New Year's greetings to the Japanese people opened the way for such a move.

There is no doubt here that Stalin's message signifies a new Soviet policy toward Japan.

Diplomatic observers agree on this and Moscow's newspapers are quoting Japanese commentators as taking this view.

Navy Releases Plans for 2 Missile Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The navy has picked two swift cruisers to become the first guided missile warships for bombarding inland cities of an enemy with atomic or conventional explosives.

It announced Thursday that the 13,600-ton heavy cruisers Canberra and Boston are being taken out of the mothball fleet at Bremerton, Wash., for conversion into missile ships.

The navy thus resumes, with some changes, a project it started soon after World War II and shelved in 1946. At that time, it proposed to use the partially completed 45,000-ton battleship Kentucky and the 27,000-ton battle cruiser Hawaii for missile ships.

However, the missile development program was not then at a point which would justify going ahead, and it was decided to postpone work on the ship hull conversions.

Since then, the navy apparently has decided that for tactical purposes, the faster cruisers would be more satisfactory. They could speed in toward an enemy coast, launch their long-range bombardment and then hurry away to safety at sea.

The two cruisers, it was learned, will be brought to the east coast for remodeling.

The brief navy announcement said: "How long the conversions will take and what type of missiles will be utilized is not feasible at this time due to the fact that details are incomplete."

New Gambling Tax Not Too Effective As a Moneymaker

The new tax on gambling is sending a trickle of cash into the U. S. treasury but it is too early to say whether the trickle will swell to a big flow.

An Associated Press survey disclosed Thursday that the government has taken in more than $265,000, but most of the registered betting parlors are still to be heard from, not to speak of the unregistered ones.

The $265,000 figure is based on incomplete reports from about half the 48 states. Since the levy is 10 per cent, the $265,000 represents about $2,650,000 in bets made on horse races, punchboards and other gambles since the law went into effect Nov. 1.

It's a good bet, however, that the figure is a drop in the bucket compared to what has been wagered around the country in the last 60 days.

Many gamblers are reported to have gone deeper underground, for one thing. And only a scattering of the gamblers who registered and bought the occupational tax stamps have thus far paid any taxes. In Kansas for instance, the take was only $23.40.

The tax is 10 per cent of the "handle" — that is, 10 per cent of the gambler's gross business. Returns are required.

When the law was passed by congress last fall its backers estimated it would yield 400 million dollars a year. This runs to well over 30 million dollars a month.

More Fighting Reported in Suez Canal Zone

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The Egyptian government said Thursday Egyptian police had battled with an 1,800-man British force armed with tanks and artillery in the Suez canal zone Thursday, but the British called it "a small action to wipe up snipers."

An interior ministry communiqué said about 15 Britons were killed in the engagement and 14 Egyptians wounded. The British version, given by a military spokesman at Fayid in the canal

This Is a Stickup, Pardner!

YOU MIGHT NOT BE immediately frightened, but Dickie, age 7, is serious. This is a real stickup, and that tough hombre behind the gun wants a dime—a dime to keep him out of that iron lung in the background. Other March of Dimes funds got him out of there, and additional contributions may enable him to move more of his upper limbs than his left hand. He's a victim of bulbar polio.

20 Cent Gifts Can Make Dimes Drive A Success

If every resident of Johnson county gave approximately 20 cents to the March of Dimes, the county's quota of $10,000 would be filled.

In terms of the amount of money, the investment is not a big one by itself. But the amount of good that the dimes do cannot be measured.

If every person in the U. S. gave the March of Dimes 20 cents, $30 million would be collected.

Also, if every resident of Johnson county would give one cent a day to the drive, the county would go over its quota with a good surplus.

Right now there are 350 containers for contributions in stores all over Johnson county. These containers are placed where customers will see them and, it is hoped, use them.

Every time a citizen receives a few pennies in change from his purchases, he is urged to put them in a container.

In addition, 1,000 cards were mailed out to rural families soliciting donations.

The drive for dimes will continue until Jan. 31, but Johnson county solicitors expressed hope that the quota will be reached before then.

Father of Airman Held by Reds Dies

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The father of Capt. John J. Swift, one of four American airmen "ransomed" from Communist Hungary last week, died Thursday night in a hospital.

Captain Swift was at his father's bedside when death ended their three-day reunion. The pilot had arrived by plane Monday on emergency leave.

John J. Swift Sr. was a retired railroad engineer. His death was attributed to cancer. He was 65.

3 Instructors Report Perfect Student Return

Although attendance checks are not yet completed, several instructors have reported less class-cutting following than before Christmas vacation.

Reports from three faculty members, Frederick Bargebuhl, department of religion; Prof. Allen Craig, department of mathematics, and Prof. Arnold Gillette, department of dramatic arts, showed perfect attendance.

Prof. Vernon Van Dyke, department of political science, said there were a few more absences than usual in his class but attendance was fair. Prof. Don Lewis, department of psychology, said that attendance in his lecture class was decidedly better than before vacation. Prof. Jacob Cornog, department of chemistry, reported 10 percent attendance.

The no-cut rule was suspended over Christmas vacation for a more complete check than was possible at Thanksgiving.

Michigan Youth Faces Trial for Auto Deaths

PONTIAC, MICH. (AP) — The state decided Thursday to prosecute Anthony Redmond, 20, in the New Year's eve highway deaths of Barbara Holloway and Jessie Anastas.

A charge of leaving the scene of a personal injury accident was sworn out against the Royal Oak youth after two days of investigation into juvenile drinking parties of the holiday.

The charge against Redmond is a felony. If found guilty, he could go to prison for a maximum of five years.

Barbara and Jessie, Pontiac high school girls, were hit by Redmond's car as they were hitch-hiking in Royal Oak at midnight Monday.

U.S. Blasts Russian Charges of Arming Chinese Nationalists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department accused Russia Thursday of trying to "cover up the aggressive designs of international communism" with its charges that the United States is arming Chinese Nationalist forces in south-east Asia.

Reacting swiftly to a violent speech made by Andrei Vishinsky, the Soviet foreign minister, at the United Nations assembly in Paris today, the state department said through Michael J. McDermott, its chief press officer:

"Soviet Tactics"

"Mr. Vishinsky's statement is another example of the usual Soviet tactic of attempting to cover up the aggressive designs of international communism by charging others with misconduct. It has been clearly stated in the past and now I will say it again that the U. S. is not supplying arms to the troops of Gen. Lei Mi on Burmese soil or anywhere else."

Officials Concerned

Officials here did not attempt to hide their concern over the threat of a Red Chinese attack on Indo-China in the harsh light of Vishinsky's words.

The Soviet spokesman, speaking before the 60-nation U. N. political committee, hinted ominously at events to come in south-east Asia. Accusing the United States of fostering aggression along Red China's southern border, Vishinsky declared:

"These illegal — flagrantly illegal — acts of the United States, we can be sure, will be declared to be defensive measures against China's aggression whenever events begin to take their course on the southern border of China, in Thailand, Burma and Yunnan Province (of China)."

House Slide

Muddy Bluff Threatens 150-Foot Plunge

OAKLAND, CALIF. (AP) — A disintegrating two-story house Thursday slid toward the edge of a bluff for what appeared to be an inevitable 150-foot plunge onto three units of a 15-building apartment project below.

The rain-soaked bluff itself was cracking and showering earth and rocks onto the apartment buildings.

Both the occupants of the house and about a dozen occupants of the three apartment units nearest the foot of the bluff were evacuated under police orders.

An officer who ventured inside the house this morning said it was "rocking like a boat."

Only some deeply rooted oak trees prevented a quicker collapse. Cracks in the ground were as much as 30 feet long and two feet wide.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Kramer spent a wakeful night Wednesday night in the house in East Oakland. Cracking sounds kept them awake.

They left hastily on arising and finding the house was slipping off its foundation.

More Blizzards Threatening West

(AP) — A threat of more snow Thursday plagued the southern Colorado mountain country, hard hit by storms and subzero cold this week, while snow and freezing rain spread into New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

Elsewhere in the West, residents were digging out from under the blizzard which bridged the old and new years. By the time this storm had subsided, rail and highway traffic was snarled, hundreds of motorists were marooned and four persons were known dead in Colorado in addition to two missing.

Colorado had its most severe cold of the year during the night with the mercury dipping to 40 below.

Ask Top Level Talk on Korea, World Tensions

PARIS (AP) — Russia called Thursday for a high level meeting of the UN security council — attended by chiefs of state or foreign ministers — to consider a successful conclusion of Korean armistice negotiations and methods to relax world tensions.

In a speech, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky hinted ominously at events to come in southeast Asia. He accused the United States of preparing aggressive measures against Red China along her southern borders.

The surprise Russian proposal for a special security council meeting was quickly rejected by American sources here and in Washington. Diplomatic authorities in Washington said such a session — where Russia would have a veto — would worsen the prospect of peace in Korea by bringing political issues into the armistice negotiations.

Delegates See Warning

Some delegates construed Vishinsky's speech to the 60-nation political committee as a warning that Communist China may use the charges of U.S. aggression to launch new military action on her southern flank.

There have been rumors of heightened Red Chinese military preparations in south China. Some French quarters have expressed fear of a possible Communist Chinese attack on French Indochina if hostilities stop in Korea. Vishinsky did not pursue further what he meant by "events."

Russia Refused Meeting

Prime Minister Stalin turned a cold and deaf ear to Secretary-General Trygve Lie early in 1950 when he conferred with the chiefs of state of the Big Four in an attempt to arrange a meeting such as Vishinsky proposed Thursday.

There was no explanation from Vishinsky why the Russians now want such a meeting but there was some speculation that Vishinsky tossed out the idea slightly in advance of the talks in Washington between President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill in case Mr. Truman and Churchill discuss a big power meeting.

American sources objected that there have been in past assemblies and at the Paris session various measures intended to remove existing tensions but the Russians have fought them all.

UN Forces Drive To Prize Position

SEOUL, Korea (FRIDAY) (AP) — Armored Allied forces are driving toward a western front outpost which they lost to the Reds Dec. 28, the U.S. eighth army reported Thursday night.

The tank-supported troops fought short but heavy engagements Thursday with an uncertain number of enemy and captured two positions very near the prized outpost, an army briefing officer said.

Fighting in this sector broke out soon after the expiration of the 30-day provisional buffer-zone agreement at midnight Dec. 27. Three days of bitter hand-to-hand fighting followed as the Allies struggled unsuccessfully to regain the ground.

The eighth army said the enemy lost more than 400 killed and wounded during the first three days of attack.

In Washington, the defense department announced U.S. battle casualties since the start of the Korean war now totaled 103,739. It was an increase of 321 including 75 dead, 287 wounded and 21 missing since last week's report.

Wife of Bombing Victim Succumbs to Injuries

SANFORD, FLA. (AP) — Mrs. Harriett Moore, wife of bomb-slaying victim Harry T. Moore, died in a hospital Thursday from injuries received in the Christmas night bombing of the Negro leader's home at Mims, Fla.

1952 Hawkeye Gets Early Preview

LOOKING OVER AN EARLY COPY of the 1952 Hawkeye are, left to right, Fran Swartz, A3, Iowa Falls; Jo Vogt, A3, Springfield, Ill., and Barbara Boyd, A3, Cedar Rapids. The new issue, which will come out this spring, will contain 400 pages. Most pictures have been taken and work is nearing completion on the new yearbook. According to Hawkeye workers, it is designed to give recognition to all campus groups and will include more art work than usual. The staff urges persons wanting the 1952 Hawkeye to submit their order to The Daily Iowan Business office as soon as possible.

Putting 'Dummy' on TV Proves Gigantic Task

By CELIA WEBSTER
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK — Rehearsal for a big network television show can sometimes be a highly temperamental experience for all those who participate.

This is not the case on the day of the big show which stars television's leading ventriloquist, Paul Winchell.

In a typical rehearsal, scenes were repeated time and again to insure a letter perfect production. (One scene in that night's show had 74 cues.) Previous to the show, Winchell had been working all week with his writers, writing and submitting many of his own ideas.

The handsome Winchell, who is 27 years old, studied sculpturing as a young boy. Out of this art grew an interest in making puppets. To his creations he added his voice, thus began his career.

Ten years ago, Jerry Mahoney, Winchell's puppet partner, first saw the footlights.

Jerry Mahoney sat quietly in his theater seat, waiting for a cue and Paul's helping hand. Jerry's eyes gave evidence of great expectancy. His carrot red hair was neatly parted, the expression on his impassive face was full of animation.

Jerry was wearing one of his 32 outfits, all of which are size 6. Paul says Mahoney's mentality is that of a 12-year-old. The script called for Jerry to wear football garb in one scene, and to be attired as the blonde heroine of an old "horse opera" in another.

Later, in Winchell's dressing room, Paul placed the blond wig on Jerry. Picking up the wig, Jerry said, "I have to do this to you, kid." Jerry had his wig fastened to his head and uttered not a word.

For a long time, Jerry has been referring to Knucklehead, his rather unattractive chum. Up to now, Knucklehead has been an imaginary character, but Winchell will bring him to life before the television cameras. Paul says, "Knucklehead has a bump on his head, crossed eyes, immense ears, and very little hair. His voice is highly pitched."

Winchell speaks of Jerry as a puppet. It is difficult to believe he is not a personality, but only a doll. His mechanism is very intricate. The head and neck diminish to a long handle on which there are many complicated devices. These roll and close the eyes and operate the wisecracking Mahoney mouth.

Winchell reveals, "In making Jerry's head, I have used such ordinary things as paper clips, rubber bands and parts of wire coat hangers." Paul has recently added a new gimmick which will enable Jerry to blow smoke and exasperate.

Winchell is noted for his ventriloquy, but recently has included a dramatic sketch in his television show, "What's My Name?" These offerings have proved his dramatic ability as well as the talent to throw his voice.

Paul, his lovely wife, and their 5½-year-old daughter, Stephanie, live in a large apartment in New York. He tells of taking two Jerry Mahoney dolls home to his young offspring. He found her attempting to imitate her famous daddy. Her conception of ventriloquy is quite different. Paul says, "Stephanie had a doll on each arm. One's voice was very squeaky, the other's as low as she could speak."

Car-Train Crash Kills 2 At Sioux City Crossing

WITHOUT PAUL WINCHELL, Jerry Mahoney might have made a shillelagh; with him, he acts like a smart cookie.

Far East Speculates on Red Invasion of Chiang's Formosa

By F. K. WU

Central Press Correspondent
HONG KONG — Soviet Russia will supply the Chinese Communists 500 bombers, 50 submarines and other aid to clear units of the United States seventh fleet in the Strait of Formosa as a prelude to the invasion of that Nationalist base, provided a ceasefire in Korea becomes a reality in the very near future, in the opinion of some Hong Kong observers.

Reliable Peiping dispatches said Premier Josef Stalin and Chinese Red chairman Mao Tse-tung consider the "liberation" of Formosa as a means to remove a threat from the flank in the forthcoming advance into Indo-China, Burma, Siam, Malaya and India. Furthermore, his senior colleagues have announced the imminent invasion of Formosa so many times that they will lose face if a start does not take place in the near future.

Building Ships

The Chinese Communist army will need 10,000 craft of various categories for crossing the 100-mile-wide Strait of Formosa. They are being built in Whampoa near Canton in South China, Swatow and Amoy along the southeast coast and even in Wenchow and Shanghai in east China. The ships are fitted with diesel engines supplied by Russia, said Canton reports.

Export Curtailed

Because of the construction of these wooden ships ranging from 100 to 400 tons each, all export timber from Red China to Hong Kong has been greatly curtailed. Small vessels, trawlers and medium landing ships were sold out here months ago. Communist purchasing firms in Canton also bought considerable crude oil via smuggling routes for the use of the many diesel-engine vessels.

Peiping will mobilize one million crack soldiers to overwhelm Formosa, with half a million in reserve, and will be prepared to bear over 500,000 casualties in the conquest of that "island under American occupation."

Hinted

Mao in October hinted that "American seizure" of Formosa obstructed Communist occupation, but later Premier and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai declared that Communist occupation of that nationalist stronghold "will come despite American interference."

Chinese military observers here expect that Soviet submarines will attempt to sink American warships on the Strait of Formosa and will bar the entrance of other warships into that area, while Soviet bombers will attack hostile naval craft and bomb strategic points in Formosa. In conjunction with the bombers, the submarines will shell the coast of Formosa to soften up the beaches for the landing of the Communist invaders, it is predicted.

Gamble

Such amphibious warfare will be a big gamble on the part of the Chinese Communists, said these observers, in view of the strength of the United States' seventh fleet in Western Pacific. They fear that should the Communists assume the risk of invading Formosa, they would not only clash with the American navy but will be directly at war with the United States. The might of the United States seventh fleet is seen in Hong Kong as American aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers are coming into this port very often for a respite after operational duty on the Strait of Formosa, Korean waters and elsewhere in the Pacific.

Warships

In fact, two or more American warships are at anchor in Hong Kong harbor by rotation all the time, while American sailors and officers are familiar everyday sights in downtown districts. So many of them put in here that shore patrols are given the facilities of British naval transportation and a temporary headquarters ashore.

Despite the protection of Formosa by the United States navy as ordered by President Truman on June 27, 1950, Communist preparations for the overseas expedition are reportedly stepping up without fuss and publicity. Some of the crack troops of the fourth field army are coming back to be assigned for the overseas invasion. A Canton dispatch said that the crack units are much depleted by casualties in Korea and are being replaced by raw recruits in South China.

Commander

Gen. Teng Hua, until recently the Chinese representative in the Korean cease fire talks, is mentioned by well-informed sources here as the commander of the Communist expeditionary force, because he is glorified as the "overseas hero in the liberation of Hainan island" off the south China coast in April, 1950. He trained his landlubber soldiers how to withstand seasickness on rocking boats and how to storm the beaches of tropical Hainan, although in earlier attempts the invading Communists were wiped out.

CAPTURE of strategic Formosa would carry Red armies a long step toward the Philippines.

Invasion Easy

Informed quarters pointed out that the invasion of Hainan was comparatively easy as the strait is only 10 miles wide as against 100 miles along the Formosa strait. President Chiang Kai-shek's fortress is well defended by 500,000 combat troops, an air force of 300 first line planes, but no jets, and a squadron of coastal patrol escorts as well as a squadron of destroyer-escorts. During the past several weeks the defense strength has been greatly increased through the American military mission headed by Maj. Gen. William C. Chase.

Nevertheless, the same sources believe the Reds will brave the Atlantic as mapped out by the Moscow-Peking axis in their grand scheme of world revolution.

Interpreting the News — Stassen Enters Political Race To Stop Taft

By RELMAN MORIN
(For J. M. Roberts Jr.)
AP News Analyst

Harold Stassen made his second move on the political chessboard yesterday. He announced he would enter the primaries in Ohio, Minnesota, and Pennsylvania in his bid for the Republican nomination for the presidency.

He said Sen. Robert A. Taft had challenged him, and that, by seeking delegates in Ohio, he was challenging right back.

Even more important, Stassen said he would postpone a decision on the New Hampshire primaries — the first in the nation — until something definite is known about the intentions of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. There are plans, by both Democrats and Republicans, to enter Ike's name in New Hampshire.

Two Points

Two points clearly emerge. Stassen will contest Taft's campaign all along the line. Also he does not want a collision with Eisenhower, if or when the general formally enters the race. So these questions naturally arise:

1. Does Stassen hope to win the GOP nomination this time?

His statements yesterday were much less optimistic than the ones he was making, in 1948, on the very eve of the balloting at the Philadelphia convention. He concedes that Taft now has made long strides in the race, and recalled the hare-and-tortoise story, with himself as the steady plodder.

In 1948, Stassen came to the convention with slightly fewer delegates than Taft. He may have reason to believe he has gained strength since then, but there is no factual evidence to indicate it. Therefore, it would seem doubtful

Sheaffer Pen Co. Says Profits Down; Blames Tax Hike

FORT MADISON, IA. (AP) — Craig Sheaffer, president of the W. A. Sheaffer Pen company, reported to stockholders Thursday that despite a 15.9 increase in sales during the first nine months of 1951 profits were down 17.4 per cent because of an 84.9 per cent increase in taxes.

Sheaffer reported sales of $19,321,760 for the first three quarters of 1951 or a gain of $2,653,994 over the corresponding 1950 period. Taxes, he said, jumped from $1,848,650 in 1950's first nine months to $3,415,110 in the same 1951 period. Net profit per share for 1951's nine months was $2.53 as against $3.09 in the first three quarters of 1950, he said.

Describing the 1951 tax figure as "a whale of a lot to pay," Sheaffer said:

"We aren't complaining about taxes if they're really needed and if they're spent in the best interest of the public. It is important, though, that we not let ourselves get kidded into thinking payment of the large sum can be shifted to that mythical 'other fellow' or some impersonal, inanimate thing called a corporation. Sooner or later we'll be the ones to foot the bill for corporate taxes—whether as consumers, employees or stockholders."

Next Sunday, a press conference called by Senator Lodge may throw real light on the picture. Speculation is that it will be about the New Hampshire primary.

Governor Adams, of New Hampshire, has said, "There will be news within a few days of great interest" to Eisenhower's adherents.

FRENCH CONFIDENCE VOTE

PARIS (AP) — The 5-month-old coalition government of Premier Rene Pleven won a narrow vote of confidence Thursday in the national assembly, staying off for the sixth time the threat of a collapse. Pleven had called for the vote on general issues, declaring it would mean the assembly "recognizes the nation's need for a balanced budget."

Man Dies from Wounds Received Christmas Eve

CANTON, OHIO (AP) — Jonah Jolly, a 74-year-old pensioner, died Thursday in Aultman hospital of a wound received in an odd shooting incident at a night club last Christmas Eve.

Police said Acie Greer, 43, celebrating the holiday at the club, suddenly pulled out a .35 caliber revolver and fired five shots into the floor. One of them struck Jolly, who was sleeping on a cot in the basement.

Greer was convicted of unlawfully discharging firearms and sentenced to a year in jail.

Leahy and Sons Cool Off

FRANK LEAHY, Notre Dame football coach, and his two sons hit the sand after a dip in the surf at Miami Beach Thursday. Leahy is spending a short vacation from his grid duties. The sons are Jerry, eight, (left) and Jimmy, four.

Have Received No Offers, Evashevski Tells Newsmen

SPOKANE (AP) — Forest Evashevski, football coach at Washington State college, admitted Thursday he has been contacted by other schools but has received no offers and has made no overtures to get any.

Other than that, the ex-University of Michigan backfield star had no comment on rumors he is considering the head coaching job at Iowa and Indiana of the Big Ten. He declined to say who contacted him.

"I haven't talked to anyone or made a move in any direction to secure another job," he told reporters.

Dissatisfied? There have been published reports that Evashevski was dissatisfied at WSC and went to Denver last month to talk with Denver officials. The weekly Pullman Herald, quoting an unnamed member of the WSC athletic council, said Evashevski had demanded certain changes in the setup and wanted pay raises for himself and his staff.

"I haven't made any demands," he said Thursday. Evashevski gets a reported $12,000 a year.

Evashevski, now in the second year of a five year contract, gave WSC one of its most successful seasons in history last fall. The Cougars won 7 and lost 3 with a young team and are tabbed Rose bowl contenders in 1952.

Spoke to Club Evashevski has been unavailable to reporters since the Iowa rumor but talked with newsmen Thursday when he came here to speak at a service club luncheon. He declined to answer any questions about his future but said: "We have a tough job at Washington State college next year. I'm worried about our opener with Southern California."

After the luncheon, Evashevski said he planned to meet with James McCluskey, a Spokane hotel manager and chairman of the WSC board of regents. But he wouldn't attach any unusual significance to it.

Fitch Denies Story

End Coach Bob Fitch Thursday denied published reports that he was "out" at Iowa.

The stories quoted friends of Fitch as saying that he would not return next season.

"I have never made such a statement to anyone and have no idea how it started. The first I knew about it was what I saw in the papers," Fitch said.

Earlier in the week, Head Coach Leonard Raffensperger was quoted as saying that Fitch would be retained if Raffensperger continues as coach.

Kentucky Abandons Grid Recruiting From Out-of-State

LEXINGTON, KY. (AP) — Coach Paul Bryant announced Thursday that Kentucky will cease all recruiting of football players outside the state.

The plan is effective immediately and will apply to newcomers in the 1952 season.

Bryant said this did not mean the school would not accept out-of-state players, but it will limit the number of scholarships available to non-Kentuckians to five in any one year.

As far as is known here, Kentucky is the first school participating in big-time football to adopt such a policy.

Must Apply

This provision "in most part, is to accommodate sons and brothers of alumni but in all instances these out-of-state students must seek us out and apply for scholarships," Bryant said.

"We will make absolutely no effort to recruit them," he added. "Also we are confident that if other institutions will follow this plan, all the evils attendant on recruiting will be ended."

The plan will take about four years to produce results. Many out-of-state players are on grid scholarships at the university, some with three years of eligibility left. These players will be retained.

Has Used Outsiders

Kentucky, rising from a Southeastern conference doormat six years ago to a respectable position nationally and three straight major bowl appearances, has used many outsiders in its rebuilding program.

These include Doug Moseley, all-America center this year from Luverne, Ala.; Vito (Babe) Parrilli, the Rochester, Pa., rifle-arm passer who rewrote many national passing records, and Bob Gain, an all-America tackle last year from Weirton, W. Va.

Despite wide scale recruitment in the past, Kentucky's 1951 team had more home grown gridders than customary.

Pointing out there are more than 100 high schools in the commonwealth that play football, Bryant said the new system will put the emphasis on Kentucky's ex-schoolboy gridders. He said he is counting on Kentuckians to see that nobody leaves the state.

Spartans First League Foe—

Hawks Off To Lansing

By JACK SQUIRE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Still undefeated and now ranked 12th in the nation, Iowa's basketball team was scheduled to leave by plane at 8 this morning for the start of its Big Ten competition.

Coach Bucky O'Connor and the same 15-man squad that made the California trip during Christmas vacation are bound for East Lansing, Mich., for Saturday night's rugged conference opener with unbeaten Michigan State.

The Hawkeyes also have a Monday night engagement with Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Crucial Game

The meeting with the Spartans, originally thought of as a comparatively easy opening assignment, has now taken on the aspect of a crucial game in the Hawks' Big Ten campaign in view of Michigan State's early season success.

Capped by Wednesday's 66-52 win over powerful Notre Dame at South Bend, the Spartans show seven consecutive victories as they held their first six foes to a mere 44 points per game.

Iowa also brings a 7-0 mark into the contest including three triumphs during the Christmas recess.

The Hawks posted a 59-46 win over Oklahoma here Dec. 20 with Chuck Darling tallying 30 points, and then traveled to the San Francisco Cow Palace for a pair of victories over California and Oregon.

Darling Ranks Sixth In National Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Clyde Lovellette, Kansas university's record-breaking center, Thursday held his national basketball scoring lead but an 18-year-old unknown from Louisiana State — Bob Pettit — is moving up fast on the Jayhawk star.

According to NCAA service bureau figures, Lovellette heads the field with a 27.3 average made on 23 points in 10 games.

But Pettit, a 6-9 native of Baton Rouge, La., is making a strong bid to oust Lovellette from the lead. In seven games, Pettit has scored 179 points for a 25.6 average.

Chuck Darling of Iowa is sixth with 177 points.

The top major college individual scoring leaders:

Seven Lettermen To Help Gymnasts

Some veterans who know their way around on the apparatus will help Iowa's gymnastic team through its nine-meet schedule, Coach Dick Holzapfel believes.

Seven lettermen from the 1951 squad, headed by Frank LaDue of Sioux City, star trampoline performer, are working for the schedule. LaDue was runner-up for the Big Ten title and last month won the event in the Mid West open meet in Chicago.

Al Fienup Jr., St. Louis, Mo., who shared high scoring honors on the 1951 team, has returned for the horizontal bar and parallel bars.

Other lettermen are Bernard Westfall, Iowa City, and Bob Lewis, West Liberty, flying rings; Earle Duggan, Davenport, parallel bars; and Frank Engels, Glenview, Ill., side horse.

Hawkeyes open their schedule Feb. 9 with a home triangular meet with Northwestern and Western Illinois Teachers.

This is the remainder of the schedule:

Feb. 12 Minnesota at Iowa City	Feb. 16 Nebraska at Lincoln
Feb. 23 Indiana at Iowa City	Feb. 29 Wisconsin at Madison
Mar. 1 Chicago and Navy Pier at Chicago	Mar. 7, 8 Big Ten championships at Bloomington, Ind.
Mar. 21 NCAA championships at Boulder, Colo.	May 2, 3 National AAU championships and final Olympic trials at Peoria State (site tentative).

Hawkeye Mat Team Is Unknown Quality

Thirty years of coaching wrestling at Iowa have made Coach Mike Howard ready for anything.

And that's his attitude for 1952 — ready for a fairly good team or maybe one which will have a rough season. Usually optimistic Mike, however, is afraid there may be some troubles ahead during the schedule of seven Big Ten dual meets and two championship affairs.

The number of major lettermen returning, six, is somewhat deceptive because only two of them, Captain Phil Duggan, Davenport, 130-pounder; and Dick Hickenbottom, Clinton, 157, won more dual meet bouts than they lost as regular starters.

Duggan won six of eight bouts in dual meets and was third in the National AAU 123-pound class. Hickenbottom won five of eight in the dual meet season.

Myers Third George Myers, Rochelle, Ill., heavyweight, had a win and a draw in dual meets but entered the 191-pound class in the National AAU and placed third. He and Roy Hutchinson, Ft. Dodge minor letterman, are tussling for the heavyweight spot now.

In the 167-pound class, Don Heaton, Council Bluffs, is a much improved wrestler. He won the 177-pound title at a recent intercollegiate tournament at Cedar Falls. Last season he had a draw and five defeats in dual meets.

Ken Carman, Cresco, a medical student, won a letter in 1950 but did not compete last season. Now he hopes to help again in the 137-pound class. The sixth letterman is Dean Lansing, Iowa City, 177-pounder, who had a 1-4 record a year ago.

Coach Howard has the choice of two freshmen in the 123-pound class; Jerry Reeder, Cedar Rapids; and John Engelby, Iowa Falls. Engelby, however, will not be eligible until the second semester because he is carrying fewer than the required number of classroom hours and so will miss the Wisconsin and Indiana meets.

Others Challenge Walter Hemsey Jr., Cedar Rapids, is challenging Carman; George Miller, Correctionville, is Heaton's rival in the 167-pound class; and Richard Peterson, minor letterman from Council Bluffs, is making Lansing hustle at 177 pounds. The probable 147-pounder is Charles Woodruff of Burlington, who has no intercollegiate experience.

This is the schedule:
Jan. 19 Wisconsin at Iowa City
Jan. 21 Indiana at Iowa City
Feb. 9 Northwestern at Evanston
Feb. 11 Michigan at Ann Arbor
Feb. 18 Illinois at Iowa City
Feb. 23 Purdue at Lafayette
Mar. 1 Minnesota at Minneapolis
Mar. 7, 8 Big Ten championships at Ann Arbor
Mar. 28, 29 NCAA championships at Ft. Collins, Colo.

IBC to Provide Boxing Insurance

CHICAGO (AP) — The International Boxing Club and its radio-television sponsor plan to provide free insurance for all boxers in IBC matches, the Illinois Athletic Commission said Thursday.

Joseph Triner, IBC chairman, said an insurance program being worked out for Illinois bouts will provide $10,000 for a fighter's heirs if he is killed in the ring, plus full protection against ring-incurred injuries.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the IBC, confirmed the arrangements. He said similar coverage will be provided in other states in which the IBC promotes professional fights.

City, Bluehawks On Road Tonight

City, suffering from three consecutive setbacks in Mississippi Valley Conference competition, will travel to Clinton tonight to battle the always potent River Kings in a conference struggle.

Hawkeye Coach Howard Moffitt plans to start a revised lineup for the contest in hopes of stopping his team's current slump. For the first time this season, Jim Freeman will start at center, a position he played all last season. He replaces Ted Dunnington.

John White and Ellis Kopchova will be teamed at guards and Don Brennan and Bob Frantz will begin at the forward slots.

The Little Hawks currently own a 1-3 conference record, losing to Davenport, Dubuque, and Franklin of Cedar Rapids and winning over Wilson of Cedar Rapids while the River Kings own a more respectable conference record of 4-1, losing only to the powerful Blue Devils of Davenport.

Meanwhile, U-high travels to Wilton Junction for an Eastern Iowa Conference contest.

SUI Nurses Co-Sponsor Chronic Illness Institute

Eighteen SUI staff members in various medical and hospital fields will attend sessions Monday through Friday at the college of nursing covering all aspects of the care and treatment of the chronically ill.

The five-day institute is being held at the request of the state department of health. It is sponsored jointly by the health department's division of public health nursing and the SUI college of nursing.

The institute program was planned and outlined cooperatively by Mattie Brass, director of the division of public health nursing, and Prof. Marie Neuschaefer, college of nursing.

Miss Neuschaefer said the institute is designed for Iowa nurses who are working in public health nursing positions. Also invited is one representative from each visiting nurse service and one community nursing instructor from each Iowa school of nursing.

Care of Aged a Problem

The institute is of great importance, Miss Neuschaefer emphasizes, in view of Iowa's increasing number of older persons. Their care and treatment in the years to come, she points out, will present serious challenges to persons charged with such care.

General theme for the institute will be set by Jane Wilcox, public health nursing consultant, division of chronic disease and tuberculosis, U.S. public health service, Washington, D.C. Miss Wilcox will open the institute by discussing the overall purpose, "Chronic Disease as a Problem."

The five-day program will feature lectures and discussion periods planned to bring public health nurses up-to-date on the chronic diseases — diabetes, heart disease, cerebral vascular acci-

3 Persons Injured In Auto Accidents Still in Hospitals

Three accident victims injured on highways near here during the past month are in improved condition at Iowa City hospitals.

Mrs. George Gorsh, 58, Cedar Rapids, was reported in good condition Thursday by officials of University hospitals.

Mrs. Gorsh suffered minor face and mouth injuries Wednesday when the car in which she and her husband were riding smashed into another car directly in front of it. The second car was turning into a driveway. The accident occurred a mile south of North Liberty.

Hugene (Skipper) Carson, 12, who suffered five fractures as a result of being struck by an auto Dec. 27, is still on the serious list at University hospitals.

Hospital officials said, however, that he is fully conscious and is responding well to treatment. Carson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Carson, 1027 Third ave., Iowa City.

Jerry Heintze, A1, Cedar Rapids, is still in fair condition at University hospitals. Heintze was a victim of an auto wreck Dec. 13 and was trapped in the car for two hours during a snowstorm.

dents, tuberculosis and cancer.

32 Will Participate

Participating in the program will be some 32 persons interested in problems of the older age groups. Participants will represent the state department of health, Iowa sanatoriums and hospitals, public health nursing services, SUI's colleges of nursing, medicine and other departments.

The final day of the institute will feature summary talks and discussions of the important emotional aspects of chronic disease. A tour of Oakdale Tuberculosis sanatorium will conclude the five-day conference.

SUI participants include: Sara C. Washem, Amy Frances Brown, Marjorie Perie and Mary Lohr, college of nursing; Drs. T. Lyle Carr, James W. Culbertson, Robert C. Hardin, Thomas B. Summers, E. D. Warner, H. B. Elkins and John H. Randall, college of medicine and University hospitals; Ann Reimer, dietitian, Leontina Murphy, supervisor social service, Olive Farr, physical therapist, Betty Collins, occupational therapist, Kate Daum, director of nutrition, all of University hospitals; Emily Hanson, staff nurse, Children's hospital, and Frederick Darley, speech pathology.

Final Examination Schedule

The schedule for final examinations, Jan. 26 to Feb. 2, was released Thursday by the registrar's office.

Afternoon examination periods begin at half-past the hour, instead of ten minutes past as has been the case this semester.

The general plan: Tests in courses whose sections are to be combined for the examination are listed by department and course number. Examinations in all other courses having their first weekly meeting on Monday or Tuesday, are listed by the day and hour of the first weekly meeting.

Hours and days for courses not included in either of the above categories will be announced later.

Students with two examinations in the same hour and/or more than three examinations in one day, should file a request for change of schedule in the registrar's office by noon Saturday, Jan. 19. Graduate students make arrangements with their instructors in case adjustments are necessary.

Female Cab Driver Teaches Hackies About 'Fare' Play

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
AP Newsfeatures

EMDEN, Germany — Frau Vera Hahn, a 26-year-old refugee, has become a heroine to German women. She settled in this seaport city and started driving a cab for a living — over the violent protests of her male competitors.

Vera's feat gains importance in a country where millions of women, whose men fell in the war must earn their own livelihood.

It wasn't easy for Vera. When she first drove her taxi along Emden's streets, male hackies scowled. Some German women drive cabs in inland cities, but none had tried it in a boisterous seaport.

Vera, who also can repair her car, had no trouble with her fares, even sailors on shoreleave. She worked only in daylight hours.

But male drivers suddenly tried to crack down. First she had trouble getting a phone number for her stand. Then she was barred from joining the cab drivers' union. Vera picked up the gage of battle with a cheerful grin. Her cab rolled out each morning, and business was always brisk. So, the male drivers went to court about it. A woman's place, they intimated, was at home.

The court decided that the Federal constitution which guarantees equality to women protects the right of women to earn a living under the same conditions as men. The grumbling male drivers were out 100 marks ($23.80) in court costs.

The male drivers mutter: "We have nothing against Frau Hahn personally. Both she and her fares have conducted themselves very well. But," they add ominously, "what'll she do when she picks up a drunken seaman?"

City to Remove Street Decorations

Removal of Christmas decorations has presented a manpower problem here.

Iowa City's street decorations are nice to look at during the Christmas holidays, but afterwards they are just something to take down.

The Chamber of Commerce is looking for volunteers to help remove the decorations from downtown city streets, Harold Reedquist, committee chairman, announced Thursday.

The decorations will be removed Sunday morning, Jan. 6. Any persons who wish to help are asked to call the Chamber of Commerce.

Taxi Companies Increase Fares

i Taxicab fare rates in Iowa City are increasing.

Each of Iowa City's five taxi companies said Thursday that increased rates will go into effect at midnight Monday.

Rates charged by each company will be the same. They will be: 35 cents for one passenger for the first mile, (present rate is 25 cents); 15 cents for each additional passenger (present rate is 10 cents); and 35 cents per passenger from trains, interurban, buses, dances, night clubs and entertainments (present rate is 25 cents).

Rates to remain the same are: no additional charge for children under school age; 25 cents for extra stops; and $3 per hour waiting time.

Company spokesmen said increased cost of equipment and operating costs have caused the boost in fare.

1,800 Packers Walkout In Chicago Wage Bout

CHICAGO, (AP) — Some 1,800 workers in Armour & Co.'s Chicago pork packing plant walked off their jobs Thursday, after the company offered its 30,000 CIO employees in 23 plants a six-cent hourly wage increase.

The workers indicated, an Armour spokesman said, they would return to their jobs today but that another 1,800 employees, this time from the beef division, would stage a similar walkout later in the afternoon.

The CIO united packinghouse workers did not comment on the Armour wage offer. The union said the walkouts were not planned or union.

Spontaneous Demonstration
"They appear to be spontaneous local union demonstrations against the wage increase offer," a union spokesman said.

Armour said it knew of no other similar walkouts in its other plants, but the union spokesman said he had heard of other such demonstrations Thursday at Omaha, Sioux City, Atlanta and Kansas City plants of Armour.

A six-cent an hour wage increase offer was accepted Wednesday by representatives of Armour's 10,000 AFL workers in 13 plants. The AFL union, the amalgamated meat cutters and butcher workers, signed a like agreement with Swift and Co. a week ago. Both AFL contracts are subject to a rank and file vote at a Chicago meeting today.

Swift Raises Wages
When the AFL union agreed to the six-cent boost from Swift, the president of the CIO union, Ralph Helstein, termed it "a good deal for packing companies." The CIO has demanded a $3,000 yearly minimum, which the packers have refused.

CIO delegates have been summoned to a Chicago meeting Sunday to consider action against the packers.

The six-cent increase would give packinghouse workers an average hourly wage of $1.66. Armour said the offer, subject to wage stabilization approval, would be retroactive to Dec. 17 but that it would not be retroactive more than eight weeks if WSB approval is delayed.

Smooth Charm Program Spells Winter Glamour

Now is the time for all who would be beautiful to dig up those nourishing creams and lotions that lie dusty upon the shelves.

As any glamor queen can tell you, winter is the chapping season—icy gales and cold rains take their toll of face, neck, hands and legs. If you want to keep your skin as baby-smooth as it is in mild weather keep your epidermis greased when you venture out of doors:

1. Wash your face every night with warm soap and water. Pat it dry. Apply a dry-skin lotion or your favorite nourishing cream.
2. In the morning use a weather lotion or a special dry-skin lotion if skin is sensitive. These lotions, which counteract chapping, roughness and redness, help to soothe without leaving stickiness.
3. Use an anti-chap lotion on lips before using lipstick so that lips do not become swollen and chapped and perhaps even painfully cracked.
4. Rub legs and hands with lotion.
5. A woman's neck can be particularly unattractive in the winter time. Lines, wrinkles and even scrawiness seems more apparent during the cold weather. "Chicken skin", that look that most women fear, shows up particularly during winter. If you keep your neck and face greased chances are your age won't show.

Man May Face Trial In 1932 Iowa Death

BEDFORD (AP) — County Attorney A. Elton Jensen said Thursday night he is undecided whether he will prosecute 76-year-old Elza Jones for the 1932 slaying of his son-in-law, Tom Allen, 26.

Jones, a former farmer near Bedford, spent the last 20 years in the ward for the criminal insane at Anamosa state reformatory. He was returned to the southwest Iowa town Wednesday night after a state board of psychiatrists found that he had recovered from his psychosis.

Still pending against him is an indictment charging that he killed his son-in-law with an axe and left the body in a shallow grave on the 260 acre Jones farm when Allen and his wife had lived prior to the slaying.

Distressed Freighter, Skipper, Await Help

AS A U.S. DESTROYER, the John W. Weeks (background), stands by, the freighter Flying Enterprise wallows in gale-tossed seas 350 miles off the Atlantic coast from Falmouth, England. Aboard the 6,711-ton Isbrandtsen line craft is Capt. Kurt Carlsen of Woodbridge, N.J. One of Britain's fastest and largest deep-sea tugs, the Turmoil, is en route to the scene for a salvage attempt.

Tug Rescues Captain And His Ship

LONDON (AP) — The British tug Turmoil made her rendezvous with the hull-cracked freighter Flying Enterprise and her one-man crew, Capt. Kurt Carlsen, in the Atlantic late Wednesday night.

"Preparations are now under way for taking the Flying Enterprise in tow," said a radio message to U.S. navy headquarters here Thursday from the U.S. destroyer John W. Weeks.

The Weeks has been standing by to warn shipping away from the helpless craft and rescue Carlsen if necessary.

The Turmoil, described by her owners as the most powerful tug in the world, came alongside the drifting Isbrandtsen line vessel at 11 p.m. (5 p.m. central standard time). Her captain, Dan Parker, immediately started the work of getting lines aboard.

Fortified by U.S. navy coffee, Carlsen neared the decisive hour when the lines would be shot to the crazily leaning craft he has storm damage caused him to order his passengers and crewmen to rescue ships.

Square-jawed Carlsen, with a wife and two daughters in Woodbridge, N. J., was concerned for the crew of the "tin can" which was pitching and rolling in the still raging storm.

"You fellows are taking a worse beating and suffering more than I am," he radioed a few hours before the coffee relay.

The master of the Turmoil, Britain's biggest and fastest tug, hoped to reach the Flying Enterprise Thursday night. It was presumed he would have to wait for daylight before trying to put a skeleton crew and towlines aboard the 6,711-ton freighter.

Then will come the still more ticklish job of attempting to tow the crippled vessel, with its cracked deck, its badly shifted cargo of some 2,650 tons and a 60-degree list sometimes rolling to 80, back to England's Falmouth harbor.

Carlsen had been alone on his ship since last Saturday, when he ordered his 40 seamen and 10 passengers to abandon ship. One of the crewmen was lost. The Flying Enterprise had at that time been buffeted for five days by the worst Atlantic storm in half a century.

Eddie Warth, Associated Press photographer who flew over the ship in a royal air force plane, said it was "just lying on her side with the propeller half out of the water."

$1,000 To Be Given In Iowa Artist Contest

Ghost Work

Spook's Antics Attract Neighbors' Curiosity

LOUISVILLE, KY. (AP) — The Henry Thackers locked their doors Thursday to keep out curious neighbors, but they were uncertain whether a fun-loving spook was locked in or out.

The spook was blamed for a series of strange antics in the house this week. Members of the Thacker household reported seeing objects bouncing around on the floor and through the air in a mysterious manner.

A corn cob reportedly floated out of the basement into the dining room, a small box sailed from one room to another and a photograph album apparently flew through the air without assistance, members of the household said.

Curious neighbors, attracted by stories of the spook, also reported seeing strange movements of small objects inside the house. They helped with a wake Wednesday night, but nothing much happened.

All this excitement has kept the Thackers awake a lot at night and has brought an increasing flow of visiting neighbors.

"My doors were locked Thursday to everyone," Mrs. Thacker said wearily. "I'm not letting in even my closest neighbors. We've got to have some peace and quiet."

There was some evidence — not much — that the spook was locked inside the house Thursday. Mrs. Thacker said members of the family reported a fruit jar and a bottle top sailed out of the dining room.

"No one was in the room at the time," Mrs. Thacker said.

Neighbors on the outside saw nothing of the spook, though, and they figured maybe it was resting Thursday, somewhere behind the locked doors of the Thacker home.

SUI Will Prepare Questions for Use In Statewide Quiz

Thousands of Iowa high school students will take part March 5 in a statewide quiz to determine how much they know about the world they live in.

The students will try to answer 75 questions on their knowledge of contemporary world developments when they tackle the annual "Test of Contemporary Affairs" prepared by SUI's testing programs.

One part of the test concerns students' knowledge and understanding of social, economic, political and military events, while other questions deal with developments in science, technology, and medicine.

In last year's test more than two-thirds of the students answered this typical question correctly — "On what ground did many people oppose continuation of the European Recovery Program (Marshall plan) for the fiscal year 1950?" They answered, "Europeans countries were not doing enough to help themselves recover."

But only one-fourth were able to answer the more difficult question, "Why was the recent election of Vargas as president of Brazil noteworthy?" (He was once a dictator.)

After students complete the test, their papers are sent to the university for correction and scoring. Tests are promptly returned to participating schools while interest is still high, so classroom discussions can be held on the correct answers to the test questions. According to E. F. Lindquist, director of the Iowa testing programs, many schools have reported that the value of such discussions is alone sufficient to justify participation in the program.

Hospital Officer Tells Purchasing Plans

The Veterans hospital here will try to give as much of their purchasing to the local business man as possible, John Thomas, supply officer for the hospital, told the Iowa City Rotary club Thursday.

The local hospital supply office will maintain a directory of all prospective bidders, Thomas explained, and also a commodity index file. Formal bids must be taken on all items over $500.

Since the hospital budget is prepared two years in advance, all expenditures have to be justified long before they are made, Thomas said. Firms are invited to contact him about purchasing procedures.

All buying will not be limited to this area, however. Thomas added, for "getting the best product at the cheapest price is the guide that will direct purchasing for the hospital."

Items that are not bought locally are procured through the Washington, D.C. office. These items are kept in storage depots in New Jersey, Illinois and California, Thomas said.

Oxford Official, Wife Will Visit Campus

E. Trevor Williams, secretary-elect of Oxford university's Rhodes scholarship trust, and Mrs. Williams will arrive in Iowa City tonight for a two-day visit on the campus. They will be guests of President and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher.

While visiting with President Hancher, himself a former Rhodes scholar, the Williamses will meet university administrative officers and faculty in the areas of Williams' academic interests, as well as other Rhodes scholars from this area.

The Williamses are in the midst of a year-long tour of main Rhodes scholar constituencies overseas before Williams takes over his duties as warden of Rhodes house, Oxford, next September.

A former officer of the King's Dragoon Guards, he served with the eighth army as General Montgomery's chief intelligence officer in North Africa, Sicily, and Italy. He was promoted to brigadier before going to Normandy in 1944 and served with the British army of the Rhine from 1945 to 1946.

Williams was a director on the Security Council Secretariat of the United Nations in 1946 and in 1947 secretary to the Conventional Armaments commission.

Mrs. Williams is also a veteran of World War II, having served on General Eisenhower's intelligence staff in SHAEF from 1944.

Native Iowa Citizen Dies in California

Burial for Mrs. Margaret Louise Fink of Iowa City, was held December 27 in Oakland cemetery. She died December 19 in San Francisco, after a long illness.

She was born in Iowa City on June 9, 1911, and was graduated from Iowa City high school in 1928. She attended SUI, the University of Illinois, and the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Walker is survived by her husband, a brother and two sisters.

Dogs Lose Barks, Get Reprieve

LIFE WILL GO ON for Joey and Honey, celebrating with their master Lloyd Sagon, now that they have lost their barks. Judge Lenore Underwood in San Francisco ordered the dogs destroyed because a neighbor complained about their barking. However, the order was rescinded when Sagon had operations performed on his pets to remove their barks.

Earl Ingalls Charged With Equipment Theft

Preliminary hearing on a charge of larceny against Earl M. Ingalls, 30, of 7 Riverside court, is expected to take place in police court this morning.

Ingalls was charged Thursday in connection with the theft of tools and lead from a construction firm tool shed Nov. 9. He was arrested at his home Thursday by Detective Harland Sprinkle and Deputy Sheriff Don Wilson on a warrant issued by Police Court Judge Emil G. Trott.

Sprinkle and Wilson, who conducted a joint investigation since the report of the theft, said Ingalls signed a confession statement Thursday admitting the thefts. He was held overnight in county jail in lieu of $2,500 bond.

Sprinkle and Wilson said Ingalls told them he took the equipment while employed with the Moorehead Construction company at the site of the new Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children.

He admitted taking a power saw with set of blades, hand drill with a set of drills, bolt cutter and about 200 pounds of lead.

Sprinkle said Ingalls told him he sold the lead in Washington, Iowa, and some of the other items in Iowa City. Arrest was made after locating part of the stolen items where they had been sold, making it possible for authorities to trace the items back to Ingalls, Sprinkle said.

Ingalls told police he broke into the tool shed where the items were kept and loaded them into his car, selling most of them within the next week.
