Truman Will Work Against Ike If He Wins GOP Nomination

Changes Plans For Cleanup Of Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman made plain Thursday he will take the stump against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower if the general wins this year's Republican nomination for president.

The President said he did not think any Republican would be good for the country.

Truman also announced he has discarded his plan for a special commission to root out corruption in government and has given the housecleaning job to Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath.

Draws Fire

McGrath's selection drew immediate fire from Republican members of congress.

Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif.) said the move means "a whitewash is coming." He demanded in a statement that the house investigate the justice department, headed by McGrath.

"The President might well clean up his own house," commented Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.).

Scandals

There have been numerous reports in Washington recently that McGrath might leave the cabinet as a result of tax scandals unearthed by a house ways and means subcommittee and involving operations in the justice department.

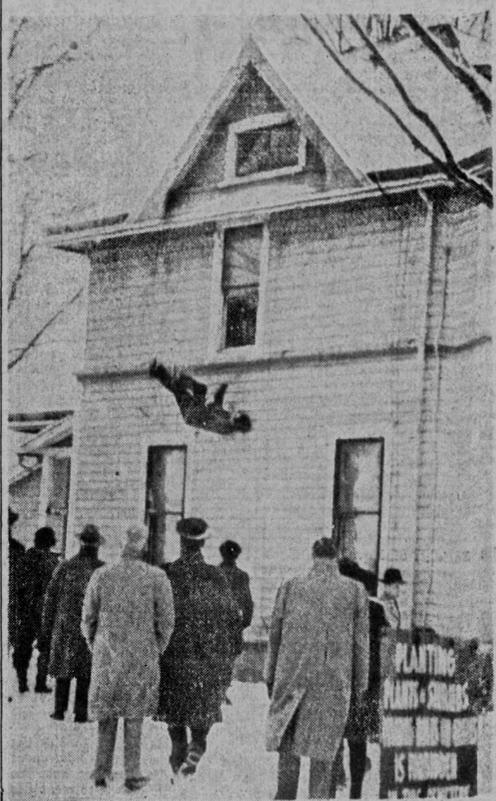

Mr. Truman scotched these at his news conference Thursday. He not only announced his choice of McGrath for the cleanup job but said, in response to questions, that the attorney general is not stepping out of the justice department.

No Special Commission

There will be no special commission to conduct an overall probe of corruption in the government, Mr. Truman said. He added that he had given the matter a great deal of thought and had come to the conclusion that the job rightfully was one for the justice department.

Mr. Truman wouldn't say whether or not he himself will run for president again. He said he would make that decision some time before the Republicans hold their convention in July. But he told his news conference no matter whom the Democrats, nominating, he would work to get him elected.

Repeatedly the President spoke glowingly of Eisenhower, of what a grand man he is and how good a job he's doing. Mr. Truman said he will keep him on as supreme commander of the Allied forces in Europe as long as Eisenhower will stay there.

Gunman Falls from Window

DOWNED BY HIS OWN BULLET, a desperate gunman, who held a woman hostage and barricaded himself in this Auburn, N.Y., house for six hours, Thursday fell from a second-floor window. The man, who gave his name as Daniel Walker, 22, of New Jersey, shot himself in the stomach and fell from the window after police had tried in vain to get him to give up. He was later reported out of danger. See story on page five.

SUI Book Exchange To Operate in Feb.

The student council's book exchange begins its second year of operation next month when it opens Feb. 4 on the main floor of Schaeffer hall.

Plans for the project this semester were outlined at the council meeting Thursday night.

Books will be accepted Feb. 4, 5 and 6 with sales expected to begin on Feb. 5 and continuing the rest of the week.

The first three days of the following week will be used to return the unsold books.

Money and books left unclaimed after 30 days will become the property of the student council.

Last semester, 2,134 books were sold with students paying about $2,500.

Panacea Presentation Set for March 18-22

SUI's all-university musical production, Panacea, will be staged March 18-22 instead of earlier in the month as originally planned.

The announcement was made Thursday night by Jim Mergen, chairman of the campus show, who outlined the progress of Panacea at the student council meeting.

Mergen also said that the Kamuro Kapers variety show, sponsored annually by the Newman club, has been discontinued this year.

Crews Begin Clearing Ice-Filled City Alleys

Residents who have had trouble with their ice-filled alleys are getting a "break" this week. The city maintenance crews began work Thursday morning on a city ice-clearing project which is expected to take about three weeks.

The bad condition of the alleys, brought about by the last thaw, is even worse than last year, Peter Roan, city manager, said.

It costs the city about $84 to have one alley cleared of ice and snow. Four men, two chipping ice and two shoveling and driving the maintenance trucks, are needed to clear one alley. Each alley takes about two days.

The sum of $2,750 has been allowed this year for the ice-breaking project, $250 more than last year. The additional costs of maintenance are due to an increase in salary of the workers, Roan said.

So far this winter, $1,935.16 has been spent on ice and snow clearing work in Iowa City. This sum represents only the cost of labor, not machinery maintenance.

Besides hand labor and machinery, calcium sulphate has been used extensively this year for the first time. This substance melts ice and makes cleaning much easier, Roan explained.

6 SUI Doctors Get VA Staff Positions

Appointments of key personnel for Iowa City's new multi-million dollar Veterans hospital were announced Thursday by Dr. Leland E. Stillwell, hospital manager.

Six of the professional staff members will come from the University hospital and the SUI school of medicine and dentistry. University staff members who will assume positions at the Veterans hospital are:

Dr. Edgar S. Brintall, chief of surgery. Dr. Brintall is an associate professor of clinical surgery at the university.

Dr. Robert C. Hickey, assistant chief of surgery, is also in the university.

Dr. Walter M. Kirkendall will be chief of medical services at the new hospital. He is an assistant professor of medicine at Iowa.

Dr. Richard D. Eckhardt has been appointed assistant chief of medical services. Dr. Eckhardt has been granted a six-month leave of absence from the VA to do research on yellow jaundice for the army in Japan.

Dr. Duane W. Lovett has been appointed chief of dental surgery. He is a professor in the SUI college of dentistry.

Dr. William K. Hamilton will be acting chief of anesthesiology. He is now a resident physician at University hospital.

Another doctor who is doing work at the university will also be on the professional staff of the new hospital. He is Dr. Gwilyn S. Lodwick who will be chief of the X-ray department.

Other Members Named

Other members of the professional staff receiving appointments are Dr. O. D. Green, assistant chief of surgery; Dr. Elwood Buchanan, assistant chief of medical services; and Dr. Kenneth R. Cross, chief pathologist. Drs. Green and Cross have been with the veterans administration center in Des Moines and Dr. Buchanan at Dearborn, Mich.

Recommendations for appointment of Dr. Willard V. Ergenbright as chief of orthopedics and Dr. Cecil Baker as chief of neuro-psychiatry have been made by the deans committee and are now being processed by the VA in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Ergenbright, an SUI alumnus is with the VA in Albany, N.Y. and Dr. Baker is in private practice at St. Louis, Mo.

A chief of professional services to head the entire professional staff will be appointed by the veterans administration in Washington.

Staff Appointees Screened

Professional staff appointees were screened by a committee of deans of the SUI school of medicine who in turn made recommendations to the VA. Chairman of the committee is Dr. Robert Hardin, associate professor of medicine at the university.

Dr. Hardin said Thursday that Veterans hospital will be active in teaching at the school of medicine. He also said that the deans committee hopes to set up a plan in the future following medical students to take advanced training at the VA hospital.

Chief nurse of the new hospital will be Miss Marion E. Dunn, former army nurse, who came to Iowa from a VA installation at Lincoln, Neb.

Nurses to be Recruited

Miss Dunn said Thursday that the nursing staff of the new hospital will be built up gradually, partially through a recruitment program in the state. The chief nurse said that a number of applications have been received up to this time and that some are from nurses now on duty at the university hospital.

The new assistant nurse in charge of nursing education is Miss Ruth M. Anderson, formerly with the VA center at Fargo, N.D. Head dietitian is to be Miss Dorothy Ruggles, now with the VA hospital at Hines, Ill.

Dr. Stillwell said Thursday that the administrative staff is nearly complete. Recent appointments are: Claude E. Bowen, finance officer; Robert G. Daily, registrar; Leonard E. Hunn, special services officer; Mrs. Florence Thompson, social services officer, and James A. Huron, assistant manager.

The work of equipping the hospital has just started and full-scale progress is expected in a week or two.

'Unfair Taxes' Charge Brings City's Action

Mayor William J. Holland Thursday night appointed a five-member committee to investigate charges of unfairness and inequality in the Iowa City tax assessment system.

Appointed to investigate tax conditions, costs of reappraisal and action of other cities in similar cases were: Alva B. Oathout and Mrs. George Horner, school board members; Prof. Walter L. Daykin and J. M. Hottel, council members, and Marvin Staley, member of the Johnson county board of supervisors.

Holland appointed the committee at the request of representatives of Iowa City's three taxing bodies (the school board, the city council and the county board of supervisors) who met Thursday night to consider a report on tax conditions filed early in December by Miss Della A. Grizel, local realtor.

Assessment Called 'Unfair'

Miss Grizel's report to the taxing groups claimed that the 1949 real estate assessment was unfair to hundreds of Iowa City taxpayers. Miss Grizel further charged that the assessment was not made in accordance with tax laws and that the present system is one that has been discarded in most taxing districts.

Victor J. Belger, newly appointed city assessor, told the taxing bodies Thursday night that he felt that a local group could do a better job of reappraisal of property than an outside firm. Belger said that he had recently visited Muscatine and studied the system installed there after a reappraisal had been made by a group of experts.

Miss Grizel commented on Belger's proposal for a local appraisal group: "We had one homemade appraisal in the '30s. It took three years to complete, cost the taxpayers a lot of money, and resulted in the present tax muddle."

Assessors Experts Needed

Miss Grizel's report had asserted that the tax assessment system here was in such a muddle that the help of experts would be required to straighten it out.

Following Thursday night's meeting, Miss Grizel said, "I think that the appointment of an investigating committee is all right if they seek expert opinion and if they investigate thoroughly."

"I think that the committee should examine the results of the present system as well as investigate the system itself," she added.

Group's Job Outlined

School board member William Bartley told the taxing bodies that he felt that the investigating committee should consider recommendations of the board of review and chamber of commerce.

Daykin, professor of labor and industrial management at SUI, commented, "the main purpose of the committee should be to discover if there are inequalities existing."

Mayor Holland said that when the committee had finished its investigation, another joint meeting of the taxing bodies would be called to determine a course of action.

Wayzgoose Celebration Attracts Professionals

The Wayzgoose banquet, at which journalism students give modern connotations to an ancient printers' feast, will attract many professional guests to SUI tonight.

The origin of the banquet dates back to 17th-century England, when journeymen printers were rewarded for their efforts in repairing the paper windows of the shop, with a banquet given by the master printer. According to the legend, the latter also contributed money for an evening at the "Ale house."

The banquet was held each year when a goose, fattened by its gleanings of the fields for loose wheat, was ready to eat. It was called a "way goose" and the banquet's name originated from that usage.

The expected guests include: Jack Shelley, news director of radio station WHO in Des Moines; Hugh Norman, president of radio station KSTT, Davenport; Guy Neff, book editor of Better Homes and Gardens, Des Moines; William Simpson, personnel manager for Meredith Publishing company, Des Moines, and James Wilson, publisher of the Carrol Times-Herald.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, will initiate professional members this afternoon and has invited them to attend the banquet. Included in this group are:

Glenn E. Whitehead, publisher of the Perry Chief; Willard Archie, publisher of the Shenandoah Sentinel; Carl Sexauer, publisher of the Ogden Reporter and president of the Iowa Press association; Guy Harris Sr., publisher of the Donnellson Review; Lloyd A. McCutcheon, publisher of the Sibley Gazette-Tribune; Lester G. Benz, publisher of the Mitchell County Press and the Osage News and Charles Barnum and Robert J. Cranford, instructors in the school of journalism.

G. M. Ludwig Seeks Second Term

Ludwig to Enter Race for Reelection

State Rep. G. M. Ludwig, Tiffin, announced Thursday that he had requested nomination papers for placing his name on the Republican ballot for second-term nomination in the June primary.

Ludwig, who operates a farm near Tiffin, is now completing his first term as Johnson county's representative to the Iowa legislature.

Ludwig has been a resident of Johnson county for 24 years. He served as basketball coach and school superintendent at Sharon, Oxford and Tiffin during that period. He is a member of the Sharon Evangelical United Brethren church.

Ludwig received his education at Western Union college, Western Reserve university and SUI.

2 Men Rescued As Ship Sinks

FALMOUTH, Eng. (AP)—The Flying Enterprise sank Thursday with her fate sealed in a gale that hammered her beyond endurance.

Capt. Kurt Carlsen and Mart Kenneth Dancy leaped from the crippled 7-year-old freighter into the sea, scrambled aboard the British tug Turmoil and watched the Enterprise make her death plunge.

Debris from a million dollar cargo littered the water.

Foghorns of escort craft wailed in salute at this end to an epic two-week struggle against the sea.

The 6,711-ton Isbrandtsen line ship, listing heavily to port since a hurricane cracked her decks Dec. 26, started sinking about 9:18 a.m. CST. Within a few minutes Carlsen and Dancy were off. Her funnel dipping into the whitecaps, the Enterprise thrashed crazily flat on her side in the boiling swells. Stern first, she finally slid out of sight at 4:10 p.m.

A small American flag flew from the aft section of her superstructure as she plunged to the bottom about 35 miles southeast of Lizard Point, where English channel tides challenge the currents of the Atlantic.

Stay-Put Carlsen's luck had run out.

Skipper Watches from Turmoil

The Danish-born skipper, 37, watched wearily from the deck of the Turmoil this end to his dream of riding the Flying Enterprise back to a safe harbor with the 2,650 ton cargo of mail, pig iron, coffee, and furniture that was stowed below when he headed her out of Hamburg for New York, Dec. 21.

The U. S. navy invited Carlsen and Dancy to spend the night aboard the U. S. destroyer Willard Keith, one of the escort vessels, but Carlsen finally decided to remain on the Turmoil.

The tug anchored in the choppy water of Falmouth's outer harbor about 2 miles from the main quays, as flashing motor car lights and the tooting of small boat whistles gave a preview of the heroes' welcome Carlsen and Dancy are to get ashore today.

Among those on hand for the welcome were Carlsen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Carlsen of Hillerod, Denmark, the captain's birthplace. They flew to Britain Sunday.

Men Rescued by Tugs

Carlsen and Dancy were rescued from Atlantic waters after a helicopter gave up trying the rescue because of bad weather. A signal light on the Turmoil spelled out "c-l-o-s-e" before the two men dived into the sea.

The tugs maneuvered in from positions 300 yards or more away and waited, ready to snatch up either man if he appeared among the fragments of cargo eddying from the hatches in a swelling stream. Both swam to the Turmoil and safety.

At Carlsen's home in Woodbridge, N. J., his wife was overcome by emotion. Ill several days through concern over his plight, she said: "I'm very happy my husband has been rescued."

U.S. Defense Expense $24 Billion Yearly

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Lovett told congress Thursday American production lines are pouring out tanks, guns, planes and other military equipment at a rate of 24 billion dollars a year — and the tempo is quickening.

He emphasized, however, that it may be some time before serious delays and bottlenecks in the production of major defense items are eliminated.

Earlier, Chairman Richard Russell (D-Ga.) of the senate group had told reporters that Lovett was "optimistic" that delays in producing jet planes, modern tanks and other weapons would soon end. Russell indicated this country would soon get a defense production lead over Russia. President Truman told congress Wednesday that Russia is producing more war planes than the free nations.

Fail to Find Crew Of Abandoned Ship Off Canada Coast

SEATTLE (AP)—Two ships Thursday steamed into the area where 45 men abandoned the disabled freighter Pennsylvania but found no trace of the vessel or its crew.

A misty dot on a radar screen was the lone reported clue.

The liberty ship Cygnit III radioed near mid-day that its radar had picked up an unidentified object 16 miles away in the stormy north Pacific.

Hours passed without any further report after the ship said it was going to investigate.

At least one other ship, the Canadian weather vessel Stone-town, was in the area about 46 miles west of Vancouver island, off Canada's west coast. It radioed in mid-afternoon it could find no trace of the Pennsylvania or lifeboats. Other ships were speeding to join in the search.

It was from the north Pacific area that the Pennsylvania's radio sent the final series of tragic messages late Wednesday afternoon, ending with a laconic: "leaving now."

The seas had been battering the ship with waves described as more than 40 feet high. Whether the crew was able to get safely into the four 40-man lifeboats under such hazards remained a mystery.

A U.S. coast guard plane scouted the area for four hours Thursday without finding a clue. Its dwindling fuel supply forced it to start back on the 800-mile flight to Seattle.

Bathtubs: An Old Issue
An old issue was revived Thursday; to bathe or not to bathe. The Daily Iowan carried a feature story about a walk-in bathtub, invented to prevent painful falls into the curving, gleaming white, but very hard body-bathers. It's one more argument against those persons who have used the excuse of the dangerous bathtub. The same day, Samia, the dancer who married a Texas richman, came out with a statement that American girls aren't pretty because they take too many baths and their skins resemble dried-up parchment. She recommends two spongings a week with water and frequent anointments with olive oil. Eccentric Benjamin Franklin invented a heated, shoe-type body soaker. Other more eccentric countries have advocated community bathing or passing the time of day in a bathhouse rather than over a cup of coffee. And of course there are those die-hards living to the age of 103 who claim either good, clean living or awful, dirty living as reasons for their numerous birthdays. Still, there are those who have never rinsed a wrist and are scared to death of a finger bowl. Of course, one can't help but be influenced by the miraculous adventures of Bathless Groggins. It's still an issue!

Patti Page Says— Omaha Is Toughest City for Entertainers

By MEL HEIMER
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK — The city of Omaha, Neb., is a community of some 39 square miles, situated on the west bank of the Missouri river, and is famous as one of the largest meat-packing centers in the world. However, while it is famous, it also is notorious — because according to singer Patti Page, it's the toughest town in America for an entertainer.

"I don't know what it is," the pretty Patti says, "but they just don't seem to like show people in Omaha. It's not that they say or do nasty things. It's just that they sit on their hands. You knock yourself out, singing or acting for them — and the result? Nothing."

Patti is giving voice to an old tenet of show business in making her wistful complaint. "There are three tough periods of the year," she says, "Lent, Christmas week — and Omaha."

The brown-haired singer has had four full years of traveling around the country, so her comments on tough and easy audiences are authentic.

She also found the going a little tough — or as she says, "I laid a bomb" — in Buffalo and Houston, although she did make a return appearance in Houston that saw 16,000 persons come to hear her in one day.

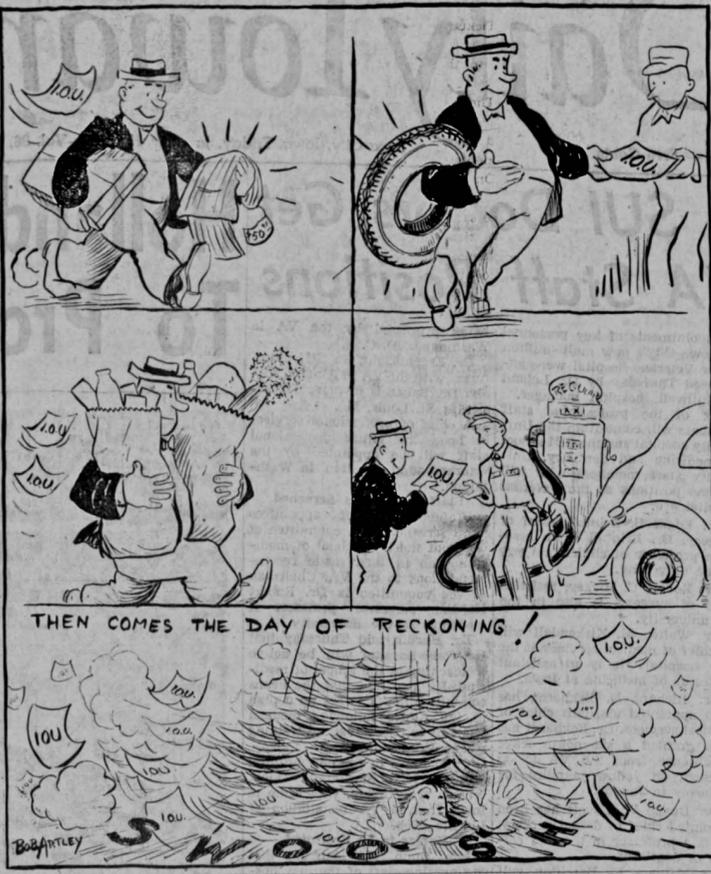

The warmest, friendliest audiences, she says, she found in Montreal, "Pittsburgh and Philadelphia also were easy to win over," she said. "I think that was because, for some reason, those are great towns for buying records and also for buying teen-age dances."

Miss Page has just finished an enormously successful five-week appearance at a New York movie house—and, all things considered,

Interpreting the News— Production Goals Differ From Policy Statement

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

President Truman and Winston Churchill said in their post-conference communique that Anglo-American policy is based on the premise that war is not inevitable. But President Truman told congress in his state of the nation message that "the world still walks in the shadow of another world war." Anglo-American policy is based on that, too. And the latter is far more demonstrable than the former.

The First
If the first were not believed, there would be no excuse for the better part of the "guns and butter" program. I'm still confused over the defense mobilization board's determination to continue the "guns and butter" program in the face of defense production administration's plans for a big cut in household goods.

The Second
If the second were not believed, the nations of good will could concentrate on the really fundamental business of improving the lot of man to the point where communism would have no appeal, and

Attorney Named For Man Accused of 1932 Slaying

BEDFORD, IA. (AP) — James A. Lucas, of Bedford, was named Thursday as defense attorney for Elza Jones, 78, who has been returned here for trial in a 1932 axe slaying.

Claude Trumbo, longtime guardian for Jones, named Lucas to represent the defendant.

Jones was indicted in 1932 in the death of his son-in-law, Tom Allen, 26. He was adjudged insane, however, and was committed to the insane ward of Anamosa reformatory.

In a recent examination, Jones was found to have recovered his sanity. He was returned to the custody of Bedford county Jan. 2.

A date for Jones' trial is expected to be set when Judge T. W. Miles convenes court Jan. 28.

Some of the original records in the case have not been located. Final decision on whether a trial actually will be held has not been announced. One problem Taylor county officials are studying is that raised by the death of witnesses in the intervening years.

Thieves Take $1,039

STORM LAKE (AP) — County Auditor Francis Gibson said late Thursday $1,039 in cash was taken from the county treasurer's office by thieves who entered the courthouse through an unlocked basement window earlier in the day.

U.S. Seeks Claim to Sea Speed Crown

By JOHN SEMBOWER
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam will be back in the running for the "ocean greynhound" speed title of the world as soon as the sleek superliner United States—now 85 per cent completed — is finished with its elaborate interior fitting at the Newport News naval yard, but shipping authorities wonder whether the great vessel ushers in a new era or ends one.

There is no doubt that next season, when the trim ocean-going greynhound starts plying the north Atlantic run, England's proud Queen Mary, present holder of the record, had better look to her laurels.

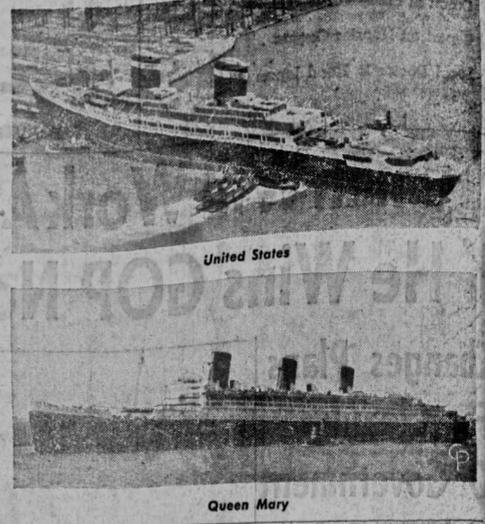

Not since the famous clipper ships wrested the shipping lead from John Bull's sailors exactly a century ago, has the United States been in such a strategic position to challenge and eclipse its world rivals on the high seas. However, the incomparable Flying Cloud rounding Cape Horn from Boston to San Francisco in 89 days, beating the previous mark of 110 days. But the steamship already was in the immediate offing.

Granted that the United States may shade the Queen Mary's memorable 1935 crossing at an average of 31.69 knots, will other methods of vessel propulsion — such as atomic energy—soon make it obsolete, or the mounting role of air transport over the Atlantic outmode liners altogether?

United States Navy Secretary Dan A. Kimball believes vastly greater speeds are needed than those of even the new United States and the prideful Queens Mary and Elizabeth of the Cunard line.

Recently he chided members of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers that while airplanes have increased 600 per cent in speed since 1930, and automobiles and trains have doubled their miles per hour, surface ships are only 10 per cent faster and submarines 15 per cent.

Consequently, even before the

United States
Queen Mary

United States sails on its maiden voyage, the issue is not here whether she should represent the climax of this nation's shipbuilding along her lines, or whether new plans should be made to expand the United States civilian fleet to meet the inevitable counter efforts of at least four nations.

With the new Constitution and Independence, 29,500-ton sister-ships costing $25 million apiece, which entered Atlantic service last season, and the 51,500-ton $35 million United States, this country now boasts 79 passenger liners, only 47 of which are in active service now.

England has 279 first class passenger carriers, led by 80,000-plus Queens; Holland, 89 fine passenger liners and a possible addition soon of a sister-ship to the Nieuw Amsterdam; France, 72, and Italy 48. No other nation can hold a candle to these.

Not since the yacht America was taken to England a century ago to win the coveted racing trophy which now bears its name, have American and British seafaring men been more stirred than by the prospective speed rivalry of the United States and the Queens.

That is going some, considering that English sportsmen have spent an estimated $20 million over the years in futile efforts to recapture the yachting trophy. David P. Brown, vice-president and chief suveyor of the American bureau of shipping here, reported after a recent return from Europe that it is a major topic of "coffee house" discussion.

The rivalry may be spiced by the almost legendary "Blue Ribband" trophy which is supposed to go to the fastest liner in the Atlantic. A $4,000 pile of jewelry, it was donated by the late Harold

Let's Face It, Girls—Men Are Better When It Comes to Tournament Cards

JOHN R. CRAWFORD (he's national canasta champ, too) instructs a class in bridge at New York's card school.

By MEL HEIMER
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Unless this country begins producing a new breed of Amazons, it'll be a long time before American women gain equal rank with men as card players — in spite of the fact that more women than men play cards. This considered opinion is that of Peter A. Leventritt, who with Dick Kahn holds the world's master pairs bridge title, won last August in Washington, D.C. Leventritt is perfectly willing — almost anxious, matter of fact — to concede that women play as well as men. However, they never win the big national and international titles because, he says, they don't have the stamina.

When Leventritt talks of stamina in relation to playing bridge, he's not being precocious. He knows what he's talking about. The big, good-looking 35-year-old "card shark," a director and teacher of the new card school in midtown New York, is a former Princeton hockey star and later played that roughest, toughest of sports professionally. "Do you know what a grind tournament bridge play is?" Leventritt demands. "Take the nationals — you play from Monday afternoon through Sunday night. You play three hours in the afternoon and three hours at night. The teams that stick it out to the last several rounds, playing as well at the end of the week as the beginning, are the tourney-toughened teams, just like tourney-tough athletes. "You can't escape it — most women just don't have enough stamina. Look, for one round or even a little more, a good woman bridge player can give a man a real battle, but over a long period of play, they tire too easily." Leventritt believes that's the big reason why, out of, say, the 100 best bridge players in America, only five or so are women. He's a good example of his theory, incidentally. By grimly sticking to business and having good stamina, he and Kahn came from way back in 22nd place to win the world's title this summer.

Actually, for short hauls women make sometimes brilliant card players, Levintritt adds. "It's a game where you have to be as cool as a cucumber all the time," he says, "and, although you'd think they'd be emotional, they fill the bill fine." Leventritt, who might be mistaken for one of the Topping heirs, is, incidentally, a typical bridge player in that he's highly superstitious. Like baseball players, many of the good ones won't change their ties when winning, or do anything differently. One big star won't change his clothes at all when he's winning. "When Kahn and I were going so well in the world's pair tourney," Leventritt grins, "we had a big crowd of kibitzers around — and I wouldn't let one of them go away." The card school, which offers instructions to everyone from beginners to experts, was opened last February and already is knee-deep in customers. Its faculty includes three men who, as part of a five-man American team, just returned last week from winning the world's bridge championship from the Italian team at Naples. The president is John R. Crawford, the national canasta champion and the man who introduced samba — or three-deck canasta — to America. Leventritt calls Crawford the nation's "decathlon" card champion, and says that if you were to pick out 10 card games and have the contestants play all 10, Crawford would beat anyone in the world.

Although canasta has made great inroads on America's card action, incidentally, bridge still is more popular, Leventritt says. "Out of 100 card players these days, about 70 play bridge and 30 play canasta," he declares. Leventritt has only one complaint about being involved in the operation of a card school. "I don't get time enough to play cards," he complains. "I'm lucky now if I get to play twice a week."

Hair Care

During Winter Months Special Needs

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Your hair needs special care during winter months. Just because you can pin it up and conceal it under your hat when out of doors is no reason to neglect your crowning glory.

You'll notice that your locks will seem especially dry or oily about this time of the year. Unless you have been advised against it by a hair expert, it is best to wash your hair at least once a week.

An olive-oil massage, popular hair treatment in Granny's day, still is recommended as the ideal preshampoo treatment. It is more effective if the warm olive oil is applied to the scalp the night before you plan to shampoo, particularly if the scalp is very dry. If this method is not convenient, massage olive oil into your scalp at least a half-hour before the shampoo. Warm the olive oil and rub it gently on your scalp with your finger tips or section the hair and apply the olive oil with cotton to the area around the parted locks.

Use a pure soap or shampoo when washing your hair. Two soapings are required to remove the oil and assure yourself of complete cleanliness. Rinse the last bit of soap out or you will have no sheen on your hair when it dries. Towel your head and brush it dry to make it shine. Dampen some cotton pads soaked in good quality witch hazel (which will dry faster than water and give some added lustre) and apply cotton to your hair when you are pin-curling.

Unless you are a particularly hardy type or have an excellent hair-drying machine, don't attempt to wash your hair at night and then go to bed with a wet head.

There are times, of course, when it is inconvenient to wash the hair because of illness or because we are just too busy. If that is the case clean the hair with cotton-dipped witch hazel or use a dry shampoo — a number of good ones now are available.

Besides all this, he and his shipmates at the naval communication station, San Juan, Puerto Rico, celebrated the Spanish version on Three King's day, Jan. 6.

New Ideas in Formal Wear—Textured Cottons

Fashion has a new fillip! Formal in texture-rich cottons feature the added attraction of "textural" trimming. Imaginative embroidery, beading, buttons and inserts are some of the devices used to create this third-dimensional glamour; reports the National Cotton council.

In a group of real masterworks, Pauline Trigere adds sparkle with innumerable, tiny pailletes. They cover the bodices of her deceptively simple little demiformals, fashioned in such cottons as jacquard, petitpoint and striped pique. In addition to pailletes, she uses extras like midriff-tucking to emphasize a high bustline and tiny waist. . . and subtly accents dark grey, one of her important colors, with smoky pearl buttons. Fabulous Turkish embroidery of gold and silver is one of the extra layers of glamour provided cotton formals by Tina Lesser. A designer whose imagination runs to the exotic, this stylist creates clothes for women who demand the dramatic. Marked with the metallic embroidery are decollete, full-skirted short formals in sheer, dobby-embroidered cotton — in lustrous, aquamarine broadcloth — in tissue-thin cotton chambray. White embroidery, reminiscent of thick frosting, is another of her glamour layers. It completely covers the top of a lime-green pique ensemble, and coats the skirt-panel of a dress in coral cotton satin.

Fiction Inspires New Fashions

CONFERENCE IN THE CLOUDS

Among the undergraduates on any college campus, you'll find the talk reaching up to the clouds. And once in a while—in a classroom, around a study table, or even in a bull session—a really big idea is born.

Big ideas come, too, from the men and women in laboratories, business offices, shops. But often these professionals are exploring a path first glimpsed in college.

How do we know? Because of the many college people who have come into the Bell System, where big ideas and a lot of dreams have taken their place in progress. The human voice, carried along a wire, first across a town, then a state, a nation, and now the world. Music and pictures and things happening delivered into cities and hamlets all across the land by radio and television networks.

We're always looking for the men and women who get big ideas—whether they're about people, or machines, or ways of doing things. It's the only way the Bell System can keep on giving this country the best telephone service in the world.

The Coaches Meet—

Did you ever wonder what happens when several hundred football coaches get together in one meeting? That's what's going on right now in Cincinnati where the football coaches association is holding its annual meeting as part of the NCAA convention.

Never having attended one of these affairs, we wouldn't know for sure just what does go on other than what comes out in the official reports. But who's to say that the following didn't take place when Chairman Tom Hamilton of Pittsburgh called the first session to order a couple of days ago:

"Gentlemen," Hamilton undoubtedly began, "as you are aware, we are gathered here as our custom every year to discuss and solve the problems of our great game of football. And you are equally aware that this year, more than ever, our great game of football, despite all its virtues as a great character builder and a great recreational endeavor for countless thousands, is being viciously attacked in many quarters. Thus, gentlemen, the floor is open to your discussion on to the problems facing our great game."

"The floor recognizes Gen. Bob Neyland from Tennessee."

"Mistuh Hamilton, suh, ah'll tell you what our biggest problem is. It's all that yappin from you Yankee schools on how Tennessee is taking your talent away. Ah mean, like up in Iowa, where every time a young gentleman from Davenport or some other city in that state decides to go to Tennessee, all those Iowa City sports writers start crying about raiding. Suh, can we help it if Tennessee has one of the finest communication skills department in the country which attracts students from both far and near. You don't hear New York crying because we were lucky enough to get half of their all-city team last year do you?"

"The floor is open to comments. The gentleman in the blue suit has his hand up."

"Anderson's the name. Dr. Anderson, I could make several comments about that situation but I'd rather bring up another point. It seems that things have reached a pretty sorry state of affairs when a football coach can't go on a football field. I'm talking about our game with Tulane when the officials gave us a penalty that cost us the game when I accidentally walked on to the field. Why of all things! And I was only out there to give the referee medical aid because no one in his right senses could have called that play the way he did. How can we build character under those circumstances?"

Extra Curricular Activities

"The chair would suggest that Dr. Anderson choose between coaching and medicine. Let's proceed to the next speaker. Mr. Herman Hickman, how do you view our problems?"

"Well, I'm not one to do much speaking, except, of course, when I'm speaking about my kin folks down in Tennessee. But I'd like to discuss a grave infringement upon the rights of a coach. Now just because I have several extra-curricular activities like appearing on television shows and eating at Toots Shors every Monday afternoon, and my team at Yale doesn't do too well, is no reason for people to put two and two together and get four."

"One thing hasn't got anything to do with another. And besides a man's free time is his own. Even a coach's. I happen to have a 10-year contract, so I don't care how much they criticize me. It's your fellows and the great game of football that I'm worried about. Incidentally, now that Yale has dropped spring practice, I'll have more time for TV shows, in case you know of an opening."

"Mr. Hickman may the chair suggest that you bring your case up before our Coaches' Welfare committee and that we limit our discussion to points pertinent to our great game itself. Mr. George Munger of Pennsylvania is recognized."

"Mr. chairman, I speak for Rip Engle of Penn State and myself in proposing that colleges should use only players from within their state."

"Mr. Gustafson of Miami is recognized."

"Suh, if that goes through the South will secede."

"Gentlemen, Gentlemen. Let's have order. The chair recognizes the gentleman with the $100 bills sticking out of his pocket."

"Evashevski's my name. I'm from Wash—er, I mean Iowa. And what I want to know is, where the heck is Iowa City, anyway?"

City-Roosevelt Here Tonight

After a disastrous road trip that resulted in three Mississippi Valley conference losses, City high will return to the friendly confines of its own home court tonight, meeting Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids in a battle for seventh place in the conference standings.

The Hawklets, who own a 1-4 conference record to date, need a victory tonight in order to stay out of the league cellar position while the Roughriders will enter the contest with a 0-4 conference record needing a victory to move into seventh place.

Coach Howard Moffit indicated that the Little Hawks starting lineup would be the same five that started last week's game against Clinton with the exception of Jamie Andrews, who will return to a starting position at forward. Others on the starting five include forward Don Brennan, guards John White and Ellis Kondora, and center Jim Freeman.

City high's sophomore team, sporting an impressive 6-2 record, will encounter the Roosevelt sophomore squad in the curtain raiser. The varsity game will begin at 8:15, with the opener scheduled at 6:45.

Marines Call Gerry Coleman, Reds' Merriman

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball, still feeling the shock of Ted Williams' call-up, received more jolts Thursday with the news that the marine air corps also has recalled infielder Gerry Coleman of the New York Yankees and outfielder Lloyd Merriman of the Cincinnati Reds to active duty.

Like Williams, $100,000-plus star of the Boston Red Sox, Coleman and Merriman have been ordered to report April 2 for physical examinations. If found fit, all three will go on active duty May 2 for at least 17 months.

Down in Montgomery, Ala., Willie Mays, rookie outfield sensation of the New York Giants, was ordered to report for another test on Jan. 16. Willie failed to pass his mental aptitude test on his first try last October.

Owners Fret
Club owners began to scan their player rosters and fret. All but a few big league teams have a key player or two who is a reserve officer from World War II. If they were in the navy or marines their prospects of being recalled soon appear brighter than if they were in the army.

Outfielder Bob Kennedy of the Cleveland Indians, who taught Williams how to fly at Pensacola, expects to hear from the marine air corps any time now. He's a first lieutenant. Al Rosen, the club's star third-baseman, was a deck officer in the navy.

Dark an Officer
Captain Al Dark of the Giants was an officer in the marines. Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's home run clouter, was a navy pilot. So was pitcher Joe Coleman of the Philadelphia Athletics. That is just a small sampling, sufficient to give some idea of what might lie ahead. The draft will, of course, continue to make heavy inroads on the younger talent.

Under the present national emergency, all the armed services can recall any reserve officer to active duty if he is physically qualified. This takes in every man who held a commission in World War II.

Penn Continues To Push Plan for Unrestricted TV

CINCINNATI (AP) — The University of Pennsylvania, which last fall rebelled against and then bowed to the NCAA's restricted football television program, is still fighting for all-out freedom of broadcasts.

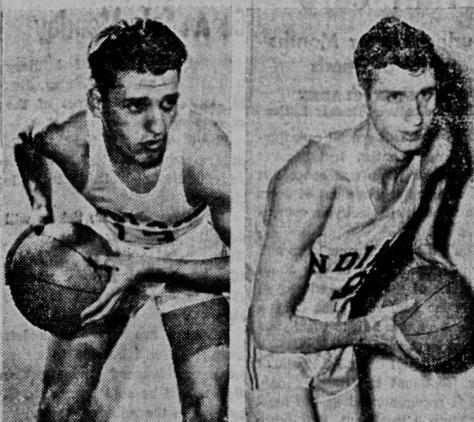

Francis T. Murray, Penn's militant athletic director, carried the fight — which appeared a losing one — to the floor of the National Collegiate Athletic association's 46th convention Thursday.

After listening to a 31-page report by the television committee lauding the results of the restricted program and advocating that it be continued, Murray offered a 14-page rebuttal and said he'll "be in there punching" for unrestricted telecasts until voted down today.

Last fall, following adoption of the NCAA plan, Penn announced it would not fall in line but would telecast its home games. The university was declared not in good standing, and after four opponents said they would not go through with scheduled games at Pennsylvania, the school reconsidered and played its schedule minus telecasts.

Murray told the delegates he believed the restriction were in violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws, and that the NCAA was faced with a possible federal suit.

Flashy Indiana Guards

TWO SLICK INDIANA guards who Iowa will have to contend with Saturday night are Sammy Esposito (left) a flashy ball handler, and Bobby Masters, an all around star. Esposito, a touted sophomore from Chicago, alternates with Sammy Miranda, while Masters will be in there most of the time.

18 Tankers to Champaign; Cold Keeps Nicholson Out

The largest squad ever named by Iowa for a dual swimming meet, 18 men, will open the season Saturday against Illinois at Champaign.

Co-Captain Wally Nicholson will not make the trip due to a cold and Don Watson, senior, has been appointed acting captain for the Illinois meet. Bowen Stassforth, the other Hawkeye co-captain, is ineligible until the second semester.

The team will leave this afternoon. The Hawkeye squad performed as expected in time trials on Tuesday and Wednesday and Coach Armbruster stated that the team looked fairly good for this early in the season.

The 18-man traveling squad is larger than usual because Armbruster wants to see what some of his newcomers can do in actual competition.

Iowa will be depending on George Yim, Keo Mana, Dick Labahn and Dick Pennington in the sprints to stop an Illinois team which has increased its strength over previous years. All four Iowans showed up very well this week in time trials.

Breaststrokers Albert Higgins, Bob Stein and Don Labahn should give Iowa power in that department while four backstroke men are listed on the squad. Junior letterman Ron Johnson heads that group with veterans Herb Martin and Willis Weber and freshman Ed Mullahey not far behind.

Rifle Team Leaves For Wisconsin

Six SUI varsity team men will leave today for the northern district Big Ten rifle shoot at Madison, Wis., Lt. Col. Harold E. Dille, director of rifle marksmanship announced Thursday.

Shooting in the meet Saturday are Jim McLaughlin, Bob Best, Stan James, Jack Westwick, Bob Doctor and Jim Mayer.

The meet was originally scheduled for December 15, but had to be postponed when snow and slippery highways prevented Iowa from making the trip at that time.

Williams Scouts Indiana—

Report On Hoosier's

By JACK SQUIRE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Interested in the Indiana players who'll give Iowa its severest test at the field house Saturday night? So is Coach Bucky O'Connor and here are some excerpts from the scouting report that O'Connor and the Hawkeye players have been studying all week.

The report was compiled by Rollie Williams, who watched the Hoosiers against Notre Dame and Butler at Indianapolis. For reasons of strategy, certain comments on the players have to be left out as well as that portion of the report describing Hoosier offensive and defensive maneuvers.

Following is Williams' appraisal of Indiana's top men:

Leonard Clever

Bob Leonard, 6-3 forward — "Most consistent shot on the team. Hits well from out ahead. Moves well and is a clever forward."

Charley Kraak, 6-5 forward — "Hard driving forward. Fair shot."

Dick Farley, 6-3 forward — "May be a starter against us. Looks like a comer. Fair shot."

Don Schlundt, 6-9 center — "As fine a center as there is in the conference. Moves well and will reverse either way. Has a nice layup shot."

Bob Masters, 6-3 guard — "Outstanding guard. Shifty and deceptive. Good scorer. Likes to fake. Good outside shot."

Miranda Fast

Sammy Miranda, 5-10 guard — "Fast and clever. Fake and go. Excellent dribbler. Best shot from out ahead. Key man on fast break, middle position. Will play out in front on defense."

Sam Esposito, 5-9 guard — "Will relieve Miranda. His floor game looked better than Miranda, but he isn't as good a shot. Handles the ball exceptionally well on their fast break.

Sherman Hill, 6-1 forward — "Shows possibilities. Fair shot."

Hawk Notes — Freshmen McJensen and Ben Dorsey have been dropped to the JV squad and McBride has moved up. The JVs will be at Pella tonight in a game with Central college's team. Chuck Darling is sixth in the national scoring figures.

Canham to Give Initial Murray Lecture at SUI

Erwin Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, will be at SUI Feb. 25-28 to deliver the first John F. Murray memorial lecture and will meet in a number of sessions with students and their instructors during the two days.

Tentative plans are now under way for Canham to confer with Iowa newspaper and radio news executives, according to Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism.

To Speak at Union
He will deliver the Murray Memorial lecture the evening of Feb. 28 in the Iowa Union.

The annual Murray lecture was established by funds from the estate of the late Bessie Dutton Murray, formerly of Wheatland. Her bequest of approximately $150,000 also provides for five annual scholarships at SUI in addition to the lecture.

Representing the field of journalism, Canham will be followed as Murray lecturer by prominent leaders in law and advertising, as specified in the Murray will. Speakers will be selected each year in rotation from one of the three fields so that all will be represented during a three-year cycle.

Murray Died a Millionaire
Born in Monroe, Murray was associated with the William Wrigley company's advertising department and later founded the American Home Products corporation. He died a millionaire in 1936.

Beginning as a reporter on the Christian Science Monitor in 1925, Canham rose through posts as foreign correspondent, Washington bureau chief and managing editor to become editor-in-chief in 1945. The Monitor publishes daily in three editions, Atlantic Pacific and central, and circulates throughout the world.

Can't Look at Girls, He Charges Cruelty
ST. JOSEPH, MICH. (AP) — Robert Smith of Benton Harbor filed a suit for divorce Thursday. He specified that whenever he took his wife to a movie, and scenes "featuring bathing suits or abbreviated costumes" appeared on the screen, she made him stand in the lobby.

He charged his wife, Dorothy Seates Smith, with cruelty.

Old Friends Meet in New York

'French MacArthur' Is Near Death in Paris

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Jean De Lattre De Tassigny, former French resistance hero who has sparked the drive against the Communists in Indochina, is near death in a Paris clinic, the state-owned French radio announced Thursday.

The broadcast said the 61-year-old soldier—who became both French high commissioner and commander in chief in Indochina in December, 1950—is "considered lost." The five-star general, often called the "French MacArthur," recently underwent an operation for a tumor of the prostate gland.

Wednesday, officials said, his condition suddenly worsened.

Faces 3d Drunk Driving Trial Jan. 14

Trial of William Binz, charged with drunken driving, will begin Monday in district court, Judge Harold D. Evans said Thursday. Binz had been convicted twice before on the same charge.

The Johnson county grand jury indicted Binz Dec. 8. The indictment states that he had been convicted once Feb. 9, 1948, in Johnson county and again on March 30, 1948, in Iowa county.

Graduates Get Aid, Too

SUI, Other Agencies Offer Scholarships Which Could Put Athletes to Shame

Football players aren't the only college students with scholarships these days.

SUI's graduate college presently is looking for students who would like to continue their study and not be bothered by financial worries.

The size of most of these grants would put the athlete to shame.

Up to $7,000
Aid from fellowships and scholarships ranges from $720 up to $7,000 yearly, and an abundant number will be doled out within the next few months.

At least 750 grants will be awarded by SUI alone, and additional aid from other universities is fair game for capable SUI graduate students.

Dean Walter F. Loehwing of the graduate college has been concerned, however, that these opportunities are being by-passed by students here because they know nothing about the grants.

March 1 Deadline

Information on all financial aid is at the graduate college, 4 Old Capitol. The deadline for SUI assistantships is March 1.

Some of the biggest opportunities, Loehwing points out, can be found in the fellowships offered by outside agencies.

Here's a sampling of what graduate students here have overlooked:

Predoctoral graduate fellowships for persons who can give full-time to advanced scientific study or research gives basic stipends ranging from $1,400 to $1,700.

Tuition and laboratory fees will be paid plus additional allowances for dependents and travel expenses.

The Social Science Research council offers aid to predoctoral and postdoctoral students who wish to obtain more advanced research training than that which is provided in the usual Ph.D. program. The basic grant is $2,500.

AEC and RCA Grants

For those with ability in the general field of electronics, the atomic energy commission and the Radio Corporation of America give stipends up to $2,100.

Students who wish to teach in the humanities at universities in the United States and Canada may secure fellowships for further study through the American Council of Learned Societies.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis offers fellowships to candidates whose interests are research and teaching in medicine and related sciences.

Outside Agencies

These are only a few examples of the aid from outside agencies, but they are the toughest to get. Only students with marked ability in their related fields are chosen by these sponsoring groups.

Thus, financial help from SUI is the student's best chance for aid. Half-time assistantships in more than 50 different fields are available with grants of $720 to $1,350 for a nine-month period. About 20 hours of service work each week is required.

In addition to the cash payment, the student fee is remitted for the school year and adjacent summer sessions.

Scholarships and fellowships which involve no service work are also available.

Loehwing reminded staff members that they are eligible for some of the fellowships just as well as the graduate students.

Kansas Professor To Give 3d Lecture Of Bose Memorial

Amiya Chakravarty
Educated in India

Amiya Chakravarty, currently visiting professor in the department of humanities at Kansas university, will be the speaker for the third annual Sudhindra Bose memorial lecture at 8 p.m. next Thursday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

His topic for his speech here will be "India and the United States—A Survey of Two Democracies."

The Sudhindra Bose memorial lectures were established by Mrs. Bose in memory of her husband, a native of India, and a professor in the SUI political science department for 35 years. All lectures in this series concern some Indian subject.

Chakravarty was educated in India and at Oxford university. He received his doctorate at Oxford and was a senior research fellow.

Chakravarty is now at the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N.J., and in 1950 was appointed adviser to the Indian delegation at the general assembly of the United Nations.

He served as literary secretary to Dr. Rabindranath Tagore and while with him traveled in both Asia and the west to study the interrelationship of eastern and western civilizations.

He joined Mahatma Gandhi in his missions of peace between Indian communities. There will be no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Porter Discusses Time Magazine At Rotary Club

Time magazine has never pretended to be as objective in reporting the news as newspapers and wire services have, Prof. William Porter, head of the magazine sequence in the SUI school of journalism, told the Rotary club Thursday.

If there's a "side" in the news, Time will play the story that way, he added. Time was founded with the idea it would take sides and then discuss the pertinent and significant facts in the news and tell what they meant, Porter said. Time was started in 1923 and became an immediate success. It was founded with $75,000, Porter said.

In other business the club initiated three new members, Dr. William Yetter, Robert Yetter and Ned Ashton.

This Car Thief Was A Little Destructive

WATERLOO (AP) — Whoever stole Harold Weatherwax's car apparently was in a destructive mood.

When Weatherwax recovered the car Thursday he found:

The anti-freeze had boiled away, the tire chains had been broken and the dash clock torn off. The wiring in the car was destroyed, the key to the glove compartment was broken off in the lock and a sun visor was torn off.

The rear view mirror was smashed, the left rear vent window was broken and the radio aerial was bent beyond use. The left front wheel and axle were badly sprung, the license plates were bent, the upholstery slashed and torn, the motor damaged and the body dented.

Fugitive Wounds Self After 6-Hour Holdout

AUBURN, N. Y. (AP) — A desperate fugitive shot and wounded himself Thursday after holding a woman hostage for six hours in a cemetery caretaker's house surrounded by 100 policemen.

Then the mustachioed man, whose name police did not know, toppled from a second-floor window. He landed at the feet of a 17-year-old girl who had been traveling with him before she was arrested Wednesday.

Doctors said the bullet wound was not serious and that the man would live.

He gave the name of Daniel Walker, 22, of New Jersey, but told a reporter that was not his real name.

The dramatic series of events began Wednesday when Walker fired at a trooper who had stopped him near Syracuse for speeding.

Gunman "a Christian"
Mrs. James Wadsworth, 66, who was held at gun point by Walker throughout the hours he was in her house, cried when he shot himself and said he had been "a Christian" at the end.

Throughout her ordeal, Mrs. Wadsworth had talked continuously to Walker and to police and two priests who stood outside appealing to him to leave the house.

The girl, Jacqueline Cooperman of Los Angeles, was brought to the scene from a Syracuse jail after police appeals to Walker failed.

Walker and Miss Cooperman exchanged a few words and Walker dropped her a note from the window. Then he shot himself in the stomach and plunged to the ground.

The note started: "My Dear Jackie," and was signed "Bob." He was reported to have written that he was sorry to have involved her.

He barricaded himself in the Wadsworth home at 8 a.m. Thursday after two Auburn policemen found him walking along a highway and fired a volley of shots at him.

Threatens Suicide
Troopers, sheriff's deputies and Auburn police converged on the house.

Walker fired one shot at them that went wild. They did not return the fire.

Walker then threatened to commit suicide and police began their six-hour attempt to talk him out of it.

Mrs. Wadsworth, a frail, white-haired woman, thought Walker died when he jumped from the window.

"He died a Christian," she said. "He was holding my hand and had his arm tight around me when he pulled the trigger. I think he put of his mind part of the time. He had a gun to my head all the time."

Services Saturday For Mrs. Fuhrmand

Funeral services for Mrs. S. K. Fuhrmand, 58, will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Mary's church. Mrs. Fuhrmand died early Thursday morning at Mercy hospital.

She was born August 2, 1893, at Centerville, the daughter of James and Mary Cloud. She was married to Stanley Fuhrmand in 1929 and has been a resident of Johnson county since her marriage.

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Catherine, a student at Marycrest in Davenport, and a son, Robert, a student at St. Mary's high school here.

Two sisters and seven brothers, residents of Ottumwa, Centerville and Waterloo, also remain. She was preceded in death by one daughter, Mary Elizabeth, in 1941.

The rosary will be recited at 7:30 today. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Guzik Freed of Congress Contempt Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, who refused to testify in the senate crime committee's sensational investigation, was acquitted Thursday of contempt of congress.

U. S. District Judge Edward A. Tamm ruled that Guzik, whose name long has been linked with the Capone gang and other Chicago crime syndicates, was within his constitutional rights in refusing to answer the committee's questions.

In granting a defense motion for a judgment of acquittal, Judge Tamm said he reached his conclusion "with some difficulty," adding:

"But the court feels we are committed to a government of laws, not of men."

The ruling followed previous decisions by other judges that a witness cannot be compelled to answer questions that might tend to incriminate him.

Guzik, showed no emotion when the judge freed him. Asked by reporters whether he felt "pretty good" about the outcome, Guzik replied: "Naturally I do."

Fear of Jail Kept Him Silent, Costello Claims

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Costello's lawyer said Thursday the racketeer balked at senate crime probes' questions for fear he'd land in jail.

Defense Attorney George Wolf

made claim to try to prove Costello acted in good faith and was afraid he'd incriminate himself before the Kefauver crime committee last March.

A jury hearing contempt of the senate charges against Costello was sent out of the courtroom while Wolf offered his arguments to Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

Wolf said the senate committee branded Costello head of a national crime syndicate that cost the government huge sums in tax revenues.

The government — about ready to rest its case — claims Costello waived his privilege against self-incrimination when he agreed to answer the committee's questions.

The Bennetts are from Conway, Pa., where Betty Lee is a fifth grade pupil.

Confessed Tax Evaders To Face Prosecution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The treasury Thursday abandoned a long-standing policy of letting tax evaders escape criminal prosecution if they voluntarily confess their fraud and pay up.

Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder announced the reversal in policy as part of a new "get tough" drive in the wake of the nationwide tax scandals.

Meanwhile, it was learned, the treasury and the justice department are feuding backstage over one step in the drive.

The treasury is cutting out lengthy reviews of tax fraud cases by high officials in Washington. It wants the justice department, which handles the cases in court, to do the same. But justice officials insist their reviews are needed to perfect the cases and protect taxpayers from unjustified prosecution.

A treasury survey of 969 tax fraud cases in 1951 showed that the average case languished in various internal revenue bureau offices 292 days — almost 10 months.

This was the period from the time a case first was pronounced ready for the courts by special treasury field investigators, to the date it was sent to the justice department for action.

New policies will reduce this lag to about 100 days, treasury officials estimated.

Local Doctor to Direct Medical Study in Japan

Dr. Richard D. Eckhardt, Iowa City physician, has been named civilian director of a yellow jaundice project at the U. S. army hospital in Kyoto, Japan.

Eckhardt has also been named assistant chief of medical services at the Veterans administration hospital here, but has been granted a six months leave of absence to head the project. He plans to leave Tuesday for Kyoto.

Former SUI Staffer Eckhardt, a former staff member at University hospitals, will work on the project with a SUI alumnus, Merme Bonnell, a dietitian, who received her M.S. and dietetic training at SUI. She left for Japan last August.

Besides Miss Bonnell, Eckhardt's staff will include three army doctors and approximately 50 Japanese assistants trained in dietetics and laboratory work. The group will study the treatment of yellow jaundice, an acute inflammatory disease of the liver, and attempt to speed the recovery time of army men afflicted.

They will also conduct a study of the various vitamin diets, drugs and other factors that effect the length and extent of the disease.

Auspices of Harvard The hospital in Kyoto takes care of all army men in the area of Japan and Korea who contract jaundice.

The group will work under the auspices of the army through the services of the Harvard medical school, from which Eckhardt graduated in 1943. Eckhardt's undergraduate years were spent at the University of Illinois. He interned at Harvard, took residence training there and had three years of research in nutrition and liver disease there and at Boston City hospital.

Richard Eckhardt Also Named to Post Here

He served duty in the navy at Chelsea naval hospital, and joined the University hospital's staff in 1949 as a member of the department of internal medicine.

His wife and two children will remain in Iowa City.

Polio Drive Total Stands at $89.13

With 21 days of the drive yet to go, less than one per cent of the drive goal of $10,000 has been reached. Store containers will not be checked until the end of the campaign, Jan. 31.

The Iowa City Boy Scouts will co-sponsor a block of dimes for the fourth consecutive year. The block of dimes will be held Saturday, Jan. 26 on Washington st. between Dubuque st. and Clinton st.

Radio station KXIC is the other co-sponsor of the block of dimes. The scouts will collect the contributions and KXIC will broadcast a spot announcement on drive progress every half hour.
