Larson Pledges To Stop Liquor Sale To Minors

DES MOINES (AP) — The chairman of the state beer permit board said Monday: "We welcome the attorney general's support of our program to bring about more rigid enforcement of Iowa's beer and liquor laws."

Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson had announced earlier in the day he plans to prosecute peace offi-

County Atty. William Meardon said Monday he had first heard Larson's declaration that same day and had not as yet planned any definite action.

"Of course," he added, "we certainly will not tolerate selling beer to minors."

Any person under 21 buying beer faces a fine from $300 to $1,000 and from three months to one year in jail. Any tavern owner selling beer to minors faces the same fine and jail term and the loss of his license.

E. J. Kuppert, Iowa City chief of police, said department personnel were making periodic checks of every local establishment that sells beer. "Anyone violating the beer law will be arrested and held for trial," he declared.

Persons who fail to do their duty in halting the sale of beer and liquor to minors. He declared: "I'm going to stop beer and liquor sales to minors or know the reason why."

Sec. of State Melvin D. Synhorst, beer board chairman, said he "welcomed" Larson's "support" and commented:

"If the enforcement officers in the field will bring the board evidence of convictions for such sales the board will see to it that the violating tavern keepers' permits either are revoked or renewal denied."

Synhorst pointed out that a board investigator "has been working for months" with local officials "to clean up the situation," and added:

"This has been going on quietly and we feel that much has been accomplished without publicity and fanfare. Practically all peace officers have welcomed help in correcting the local situations."

Larson had said the primary thing which touched off his statements of Monday was the failure of a Bremer county grand jury last week to hand down any indictment in connection with what had been described as beer sales to minors in that county.

Presented to the grand jury was evidence in a case in which three Bremer county youths drowned about two months ago, after their car crashed into the Cedar river near Plainfield. The only survivor was quoted by authorities as saying the youth bought beer before the mishap.

Sweater Blazes, but Fails To Explode in Local Test

By RUSS WILEY

What may have been "explosive" sweaters turned up in Iowa City Monday afternoon, and Iowa City firemen were skeptical of the stories going around about them.

Two firemen, who did not want their names mentioned, agreed that the sweater tested "was no more inflammable than any other loosely woven garment."

A sweater, and a matching vest, were brought to the police station about 3:30 p.m. Monday. Capt. Laurence Ham said the man who brought them in did not identify himself, but he quoted the man as saying the sweaters were purchased in Carroll.

Blaze Easily Put Out

Police were curious about the fleecy texture of the vest. "It feels like spun glass, or real soft steel wool," one commented.

Police had not determined the composition of the sweaters Monday night.

The vest was taken to firemen, who experimented by lighting a match to it. "It blazed right up," said a policeman.

Stories from other cities have told how the sweaters "go pool!"

Snow, Rain Hit California in Raging Storm

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A raging storm roared across northern California and Nevada Monday, covering mountain towns and roads with snow and drenching already flooded lowlands.

It gave California its worst winter in half a century.

Winds reached 100 miles an hour at Donner summit in the Sierras. Blizzards blocked rail, air and highway traffic, temporarily isolated Reno from the outside world and stranded hundreds of travelers.

Waves Batter Breakwaters

Huge waves crashed breakwaters along the coast. A dynamite-laden barge broke its mooring on San Pablo bay, an arm of San Francisco bay, but was quickly colared by the coast guard.

San Francisco's rainfall for the season reached 17.91 inches, the most on any comparable date since 1890. Other points reported record or near-record rain.

Thousands Driven from Homes

The rains, coming as they did on the heels of a downpour Saturday, drove thousands from homes in the lowlands around San Francisco bay. Many had returned to clean out the mud, only to be driven out again.

There was flooding and mud slides on virtually every major highway across California and up and down the coast.

The mountains were hardest hit. Wind-driven snow closed all roads, down to the 2,000-foot level.

Truman to Appoint New Vatican Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — An influential group of senators welcomed Monday the dropping of Gen. Mark Clark's nomination as ambassador to the Vatican, expressing hope that President Truman has given up his idea of an American envoy there.

But the White House made it clear that Clark's exit from the controversy did not mean Mr. Truman has changed his mind.

"The President plans to submit another nomination at a later time," the White House said last night in announcing Mr. Truman had abandoned his plan to resubmit Clark's name.

Touch of Spring Hits Iowa City

PAR FOR THIS COURSE would be snow shoes and sunglasses, according to Iowa City's erratic thermometer. Sunny skies and 55 degree weather Monday dispelled morning fog and brought out pretty Dorothy McCallum, A2, Evanston, Ill., for a few practice swings at a snowball. A thin film of ice in city streets, formed after early-morning freezing rain, turned to slush and mud midway through the afternoon. The outlook for Wednesday calls for more rain and rising temperatures. Contrasting Iowa City's warm weather were sheaths of ice over about two-thirds of the rest of the state. However, warm afternoon weather was rapidly clearing Iowa highways, trees and powerlines of the slippery coating.

No cash is needed when placing orders. But bills will be sent out at the first of next month. The price is $5.

It is necessary to make a reservation for a copy today as the staff is not planning on having any extra books printed.

Seniors are not required to sign up for a copy.

Korean Truce Talks Turn to Name-Calling

MUNSAN, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) — Korean truce talks deteriorated Monday to a level of bitter name-calling with the Communists accusing an Allied negotiator of engaging in deceit and "a big lie" in urging a prisoner exchange favorable to both sides.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby, the UN negotiator, demanded the Communists prove the charge or "retract your ill-considered remarks."

"I do not know whether I've been personally called a liar, but I got a strong inference," the American admiral snapped angrily. He said he would study the record to make sure.

"As a representative of the UN command, I shall not sit here and listen to unfounded charges that the UN command is making a deceitful proposal and is engaging in lies," Libby told Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, the North Korean delegate who had hurled the "lie" charge.

2 Positions Lost By South Koreans

SEOUL, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) — Troops of the South Korean first division Monday momentarily regained and then lost two advanced western front positions which the Chinese Reds seized Dec. 28.

Attacking amid snow flurries at 4 a.m., the South Koreans took one of the heights within 40 minutes but lost it again at 5:50 a.m., the U. S. eighth army reported.

The South Koreans took the second position at 5:45 a.m. After a hand-to-hand battle, but lost it at 6 a.m.

The first Red counterattack was made by an estimated two companies (possibly 400 men) while the second was by a force of undetermined size.

There were at least three smaller separate fights nearby, involving as many as 80 Reds each.

Big Three Asks UN Review Of Soviet Plan

PARIS (AP) — The three big Western powers Monday called on the UN political committee to send Russia's revised atomic proposals to the new disarmament commission for a thorough examination.

They rejected completely the remainder of Moscow's peace package — the demand for UN condemnation of membership in the North Atlantic Treaty organization, Russian ideas for ending the Korean conflict and the proposal for a Big Five peace pact.

Refers Russia's Proposals

Losing no time after weekend consultations, French delegate Jean Chauvel introduced for the United States, France and Britain a brief resolution simply referring to the disarmament commission the proposals on atomic energy offered by Russia's Andrei Vishinsky.

In his revised resolution put up at the end of a two-hour speech Saturday, Vishinsky changed signals on these two points: he said 1. a convention should be drawn up for the prohibition of atomic controls, to take effect simultaneously, and 2. there should be continuing inspections for atomic violations.

Heretofore Russia has consistently demanded, except for a brief time in 1948, the immediate prohibition of atomic weapons with a scheme for controls to be agreed upon later.

Joker in Russia's Proposal

Western delegates pointed out that the joker in Vishinsky's new proposal is that while he says prohibition of the atomic bomb should be "legally binding" only when controls take effect, he also proposes that the general assembly now proclaim a general ban on atomic weapons.

These delegates said that would give him a moral weapon to throw at the West even if the West and the Russians never could agree on a single convention incorporating legal and binding prohibition plus controls at the same time.

36 Men Take Physicals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Monday nominated William H. Draper Jr., New York banker and former undersecretary of the army, as roving ambassador to supervise the multi-billion-dollar European aid programs.

This group is half of the record monthly quota scheduled for physicals. The other 35 will be examined Jan. 28. On that date 14 others will be inducted into the army.

Witnesses Criticize Company, Carlsen At Inquiry of Sinking

NEW YORK (AP) — Witnesses Monday criticized Capt. Kurt Carlsen and the Isbrandtsen company at an inquiry into the sinking of the company's freighter, Flying Enterprise.

Three crew members, testifying before a coast guard board, raised three questions:

1. Why didn't the skipper send a distress call immediately after the ship's deck and sides were cracked in a hurricane?

2. Why didn't the damaged vessel head for the nearest port after the seas had calmed?

3. Why was a heavy cargo of pig-iron loaded into two holds, while a third hole contained only light cargo?

The Flying Enterprise sank off the English coast last Thursday after all passengers and the crew, except Capt. Carlsen abandoned ship. He stayed aboard to try to bring the ship in until it went down.

Seaman Testifies

Clark E. Hall, 37, a seaman aboard the vessel, said he could not understand why more than a day passed before a distress call was sent out when the ship's plating was found cracked the morning of Dec. 27.

"It was a question then and it's a question now," Hall said. "As to why we stood there for 88½ hours without sending a radio distress call."

"No one knew about the ship being cracked during that time except the Isbrandtsen office here in New York," the Ashland, Ky., seaman said.

Arthur Janssens of Manhattan, the ship's boatswain, blamed the ship's cracking on what he called mis-stowage of 1,271 tons of pig iron taken aboard at Rotterdam.

Congress Receives President's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman submitted to congress Monday his plan to lift the scandal-plagued internal revenue bureau out of the realm of political patronage. And he renewed his promise to crack down on wrongdoing in government.

In a message to the lawmakers, the President declared:

"The most vigorous efforts are being made and will continue to be made to expose and punish every government employee who misuses his official position."

Northwestern Fourth Victim In Conference

By JACK SQUIRE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa got by another hurdle in the ever sizzling Big Ten basketball race here Monday night, sending Northwestern's young team away with a 78-64 spanking. It was the fourth such conference success for the high-geared Hawkeyes, keeping them tied for the top with Illinois' defending champions, who whipped Indiana Monday night, 78-66.

In all, the Hawks now have won 11 games without a loss, but this one against the predominately freshmen and sophomore Wildcats was not an entirely impressive one.

Certainly, Iowa was not the overpowering team of the Indiana game two nights previous, but, fortunately, it didn't have to be.

Northwestern, a scrappy club with a fair fast break never had much of a look in except for the first few minutes of the contest and a brief time midway in the third quarter when it cut Iowa's lead to 50-46, and hinted at trouble with a confusing zone defense.

Otherwise, though, the Hawks managed to keep a safe distance ahead — usually from 6 to 10 points — and whenever the visitors did get troublesome, there was always an Iowan to take charge.

Most often it was Chuck Darling, who again hit double figures with 24 points to lead the scoring. But Darling must share the Iowa honors for this one with Skip Greene, who in addition to coming through with his usual good floor game, had his hitherto little used set shot working for 12 timely points.

Six of those came in the first period when it looked as if Iowa might still be reading its Indiana press clippings, especially in some of the battling for rebounds.

There was nothing the matter with the Hawks' shooting, however, as a torrid .422 first half mark accounted for an 18-11 first quarter lead and a 46-35 halftime advantage. For the game Iowa shot .333.

Northwestern was considerably cooler with a .278 game mark. Top Wildcat scorer was Frank Petranek, a promising 6-8 sophomore center, who made 17.

Petranek was also kept busy guarding Darling, a task with which he often had the aid of one or two teammates. And when the Wildcats went into their zone early in the third period, Iowa found it increasingly difficult to get the ball into its big center.

It was then that Northwestern made its bid, as the confused Hawks dropped from a 46-34 lead at the half to 50-46 after six minutes of play in the third period.

But a set shot by Greene, a free throw by Chuck Jarnagin, and two baskets by Darling sent the Hawks out of danger and moved them to 61-49 at the close of the period.

In a preliminary game, the Iowa JVs defeated Muscatine junior college, 68-54, with Bob Miller and Jim Trentleman each getting 17 points.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MOST of those tall tales you hear about Texas are circulated by Texans themselves. These lusty, slam-banging, generous, and generally irresistible people are proud as all getout of their native state, but they're able to laugh at themselves, too.

It was Fort Worth's Boyce House who first told the story of the Texas governor who asserted, "I've decided to collect miniatures, and I'm a-goin' to start with Rhode Island." And it was Lampasas's Stanley Walker who quoted the booster from San Antonio to the effect that all Texas needed was more water and a little better class of people. His Eastern friend pointed out, "Why man, that's all Hades needs, too."

A home-makers' magazine chronicles the dismay of a man who had just completed a sparkling new sidewalk in front of his suburban castle when a mischievous urchin gleefully stamped across it, leaving a track of his footprints the length of the job. The lady next door chuckled disapprovingly at his string of epithets, and added, "I thought you were so fond of little kiddies." "In the abstract, yes," growled the man, "but in the concrete, NO."

Network Radio Observes 25th Anniversary

By FRED HIFT
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK — Like a punch-drunk fighter taking a weak-kneed bow between rounds to acknowledge shouts of encouragement, network radio is celebrating its 25th anniversary.

It has been an eventful quarter of a century and few of those who participated in that memorable and history-making 25-station inaugural program back in 1926 could have imagined the fabulous extent to which radio would eventually help shape the entertainment pattern of the nation and mold and influence its thinking.

Not even the most proficient among the industry prophets could have predicted at that time that, a comparatively short spell after radio's development into a mature art, it would already be relegated to comparative obscurity by that brash newcomer — television.

History
The history of network radio, with its distinguished and thrilling achievements, inevitably also is the story of the National Broadcasting company, the country's first radio network. It was organized by RCA in 1926 to, as the newspaper ads of those days read, "provide the best programs available for broadcasting in the United States."

Imagination
The inaugural show immediately fired the imagination of the public which had already discovered the fascinating possibilities of radio through Frank Conrad's broadcast of the returns of the Harding-Cox election and the later airing of the Jack Dempsey-Georges Carpentier fight.

The much-loved Will Rogers spoke from Kansas City, Mary Garden was heard from Chicago and Walter Damrosch and the New York Symphony orchestra were among the musical organizations participating.

Beginning
That program marked the beginning of one of the great romances of America. As the public took to radio in wide-eyed wonder at being able to turn in its favorite performers, radio quickly grew out of the hands of the kitchen-experimenters and found its rightful place in the parlor where it became of immediate interest to the commercial advertiser.

Blow to France
The death of Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny, who only recently had turned the tide against the Vietminh rebels in Indo-China, was a serious blow to France. It just happened to come when France and Britain were conferring with the U. S. over increased American aid for their anti-Communist campaigns in southeast Asia, and when Communist forces in China were making new threatening movements.

Eden's "Warning"
Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign minister, said at Columbia university Friday that "it should be understood" that Communist intervention in southeast Asia would create a new situation similar to that met and faced by the United Nations in Korea. This was taken by some to be a warning to the Communists. But its surrounding context and timing in connection with the Anglo-French-American discussions in Washington seemed to make it just as much an appeal for solidarity of Western thinking and preparation.

Interpreting the News — Western Powers Seek United Stand in Asia

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

The Western Allies are moving toward a united stand regarding the possibility of Communist aggression in southeast Asia, and thus seeking to avoid the mistakes which invited the long and costly war in Korea.

Committed to Action
Meanwhile, the United States already was committed to action through the United Nations in cases similar to that of Korea. In Paris the nations had voted to have troops ready if that body should issue a new call as it did in 1950. And that seemed, in the long run, to be the way any new aggression would be met, even though the greater part of the preparation would be through the three-power talks in Washington.

Blow to France
The death of Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny, who only recently had turned the tide against the Vietminh rebels in Indo-China, was a serious blow to France. It just happened to come when France and Britain were conferring with the U. S. over increased American aid for their anti-Communist campaigns in southeast Asia, and when Communist forces in China were making new threatening movements.

The Communists were quick to accuse the Western conferees in Washington of planning war in the area. This was taken by many to be another case of accusation parallel with Moscow's own intent. But for the moment it seemed just more propaganda. Each side is trying to warn the other of the dangers of a new outbreak.

Iowa Corn Loses Title

THIS AREA OF A REDWOOD TREE FARM has been harvested once and is about ready to be replanted.

California Has World's Tallest Farm Crop

By BOB J. BURANDT
Central Press Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO — California has, with all of its native modesty, just laid claim to having the "world's tallest farm crop" within its golden borders.

It looks like the dethroned champion, the tall corn that Iowans boast so lustily about, will have to bow its tassels in submission for the new skyscraping "farm crop" happens to be those towering, world famous redwood trees.

These majestic trees are the latest species to be included in America's vast "tree farm" movement. From now on, redwoods will be thought of more and more as one of the nation's vital farm crops. Of course, they will always be sufficient giant redwood trees, principally in the "redwood empire" along the Pacific coast north of here, to satisfy the scenic tastes of tourists.

Management
Redwood tree farms will be managed like agricultural operations, except that they won't produce as many crops as a potato patch or a cornfield. However, these tree farms will require no plowing, weeding, fertilizing or artificial irrigation. Mother Nature already has these tasks well in hand.

However, the tree farmer can look forward to regularly recurrent crops of different sizes, since in a 40-acre stand of timber there may be trees of all sizes, from 12 inches to 12 feet in diameter.

The whole secret of tree farming, of course, is in the highly beneficial practice of "selective cutting." Under this method, only the mature or over-mature trees on a particular acreage are logged or "harvested."

"Crop" Trees
Immature trees are left to provide future "timber crops" for coming years. In addition, enough "crop" trees — at least four per acre — are left standing to generate a new crop of seedlings.

In past years, before the advent of the tree farm movement, timber owners often removed all trees from a certain area in order economically to justify the huge expense of logging railroads and the old logging cable systems. This was known as "clear cutting."

Formerly, the heavy cables sometimes destroyed many of the smaller trees which were not cut. Today, however, tree farmers use highly specialized logging equipment, designed to permit the removal of selected mature trees from a tract without seriously damaging the young trees.

Contrary to popular belief, the redwood is not a slow-growing tree, except where forests are dense and it becomes crowded and does not receive adequate light. Under the favorable conditions that tree farms afford, the redwood grows as fast as any other species.

The California Redwood association, with headquarters here in San Francisco, is aiding in the sound establishment of tree farms in the "redwood belt," which extends along the coast from Oregon border to the southern boundary of Monterey county.

While redwood is the prime species, the tree farms may include other species, such as pine, or a mixture of species. Before an owner can have a tree farm "certified" by the association, he must agree to follow a number of rules and principles. These include:

1. Maintenance of the tree land in a condition which will produce "forest crops under forest practices."
2. Provision for reasonable protection of the tree farm from fire and other damage, including excessive grazing livestock.
3. Harvesting the crop of standing timber on the tree farm in a manner which will assure future crops.

After a Tree Farm certificate awarded, periodic inspections are made to insure that the rules are being observed. So far, well over 100,000 acres of redwood tree farms have been established.

Previously, nearly 700,000 acres of western pine lands elsewhere in the state had been designated as tree farms under the program of the Western Pine association.

From its tiny start of 121 acres in the Pacific Midwest in 1941, tree farming has now increased to 23 million acres in different states. This integrated program may well be America's "insurance policy" to provide adequate supplies of lumber for the needs of coming generations.

The Dangers of Osculation

NEW YORK (AP) — The topic of kissing—and its dangers—is being studied by a house investigating committee.

The congressional committee technically is investigating the use of chemicals in cosmetics.

Dr. Marion B. Sulzberger, a Fifth avenue dermatologist, said a committee hearing that a man can incur irritation by kissing a woman if he is allergic to ingredients in her lipstick.

"I have seen men with lipstick dermatitis from kissing the wives' lips," he said.

"Necessarily from their wives?" asked Rep. Gordon McDonough (R-Calif.).

The reply, if any, was lost in laughter.

Toll Bridge Has — One Way Pawn Shop

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Delaware river bridge toll collectors operate a one-way pawn shop for motorists who are temporarily short of cash.

Apparently there are many who can't pay the 20-cent toll to cross the bridge that links Philadelphia with Camden, N.J., but collectors don't haggle. They'll accept anything for security.

Twenty years ago a distinguished-looking man took off his pince nez and left it as security. But he never came back to redeem the glasses.

A society gal who couldn't pay the toll left a diamond ring. An hour later her chauffeur bought it back with 20 cents.

In a store room on the Camden side of the bridge are hundreds of unclaimed items: a policeman's badge, a baby carriage, musical instruments, beach chairs, lace curtains, fountain pens, watches, wallets, jewelry.

Once a man even removed a car seat and left that. About 30 husbands who probably didn't like their wives' hats found a solution: They left the hats.

When the bridge opened in 1926, motorists lacking tolls were permitted to pass on the promise they'd pay up later. But few did. So the order went out that non-payers must put up security.

Dealers have offered to buy the "pawned" goods but Horace J. Stradley, treasurer of the bridge commission, has refused. He said the pledged items will be kept indefinitely.

"Many people return," Stradley said, "even years later. We're not in the curio business, nor do we wish to make a profit on the items we take as security."

"We just insist on something anything, just to show the motorist he shouldn't make a habit of trying to get away with nothing."

On the average day about 10,000 cars average day about cross the bridge.

New Style Trends Revealed in N.Y. Preview

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—A satisfactory share of America's $11 billion a year fashion business goes to a tiny woman with a sparkling smile. Despite her miniature size of less than 5 feet she is known as one of the giants of the New York garment industry.

Mrs. Adele Simpson is dainty, petite and the equal of any two-fisted tycoon in Wall street when it comes to business acumen. Mrs. Simpson, who runs a home with one hand and a colossal business with the other, adds to her business sense an instinctive knowledge of what women will want to wear a year hence. On this talent has piled up solid success and fortune.

Showing her advance spring collection to the nation's fashion press during the current week of style previews, Mrs. Simpson introduced "crystal colors," a "new slant" skirt and "taxi pleats." All are destined to play an important part in American habits of dress during the coming season.

The crystal colors are delicate pastels shown usually in shiny, crisp shantung taffeta, forecasting next summer's styles. With them Mrs. Simpson shows crystal beads in two colors, worn instead of the inevitable pearls. Herein lies a trend already being feverishly copied by the costume jewelry industry.

The "new slant" skirts have the slightest of flares and are lined with taffeta, eliminating the need for petticoats. Show in both suits and coat dresses in the collection, they have a graceful and flattering line.

"Taxi pleats" are set into the back of a slim skirt for the simplest of reasons, to allow a woman freedom to step into a taxi or bus or her own car without splitting her skirt.

Also among the grand finale showings of the crowded week was Claire McCardell, idol of U.S. college girls, who this year introduces "old school tie" pedal pushers and swim suits, these being satin-faced cotton in regimental stripes of the sober colors.

The conclusion drawn from the week's style previews is that women are going to buy just as many new clothes as ever this spring, and that husbands aren't going to object too much, because the new styles are so feminine and flattering.

AN EXAMPLE of the dresses shown at the week of style previews is this two-piece dress in egret gray taffeta. Featuring the unpressed hemline, and pleated skirt, this dress was the highlight of designer Hattie Carnegie's collection.

Week of Music Begins Here: SUI Concert Band, Pianist

The first concert of the 71st season of the SUI concert band, under the direction of Prof. C. E. Righter, will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of the Union.

The program will be mostly classical with a few popular selections. Included in the concert are works of Strauss, Elgar and Prokofieff.

This band is made up of all the better musicians of the marching and basketball bands, as well as those who are not included in the membership of those bands. The band consists of both men and women.

The concert band differs from the others in that there are several divisions of the brass and woodwind sections. Divisions are made according to range, method of tone production, character of tone, size, and pitch of the instruments.

"Full appreciation of the modern concert band demands at least some basic knowledge of the band's structure," Prof. Righter says. "Its artistic and technical achievements are largely matters of taste and opinion, and depend upon the musicianship and skill of the players and the director.

Free tickets for Wednesday's program may be obtained at the Union desk, Whetstones and the band office, room 15, Music building.

Wildcats Gang Up on Clifton

IOWA'S BOB CLIFTON put everything he had into this drive-in shot but Northwestern's Frank Ehmann (left) and John Biever (No. 12) put the squeeze on Clifton to stop the shot. But the Hawkeye red head got two free throws for his troubles. Iowa won at the field house Monday night, 78-64.

Illini Extend Streak, Rip Indiana, 78-66

Winners Stay In Tie for 1st

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP) — Four players scored 15 or more points Monday night as Illinois stretched its undefeated basketball record through 11 games with a 78-66 Big Ten romp over Indiana.

Illinois was ahead from the start in gaining its fourth straight conference win.

The Illini wheeled into a 50-35 halftime margin behind the hot shooting of Red Kerr with 14 points, Rod Fletcher with 15 and Clive Follmer with 10.

Keeping Indiana in the ball game during the first half stampede was lofty Don Schlundt, freshman center, who flicked in 13 of his total 23 points for the night. He was withheld in the third quarter after piling up three personal fouls.

The closest Indiana could come in the last half was 60-51 with six minutes remaining. The Hoosiers, absorbing their third straight conference loss, hit 23 field goals in 81 shots while Illinois counted 28 out of 79.

Bucks Down Purdue For 2d Win, 85-69

LAFAYETTE, IND. (AP) — Ohio State, led by a 23-point performance by center Paul Ebert, defeated Purdue's basketball team Monday night, 85-69, for a 2-2 record in the Western conference campaign.

Center Carl McNulty of Purdue, who entered the game with a 22-point average that topped the Big Ten, made only 14. He missed all of his four free throws.

Ernie Hall, a Purdue regular forward, was dropped from the squad Monday for breaking training rules and being charged with assault and battery in a neighborhood fight.

Ohio State repeatedly shook men loose for open shots and easy short ones. The Buckeyes' elusiveness was reflected by a 417 shooting average from the field — 33 baskets in 79 shots. Purdue took 77 shots but hit only 25.

Purdue got off to a 10-4 lead in the first three minutes and then went scoreless until after five minutes of the second quarter. Ohio State led at the half, 37-30, and had a 62-47 advantage at the end of the third period.

The loss was Purdue's second in three conference games.

Dawson New Pitt Grid Coach

Quits Michigan State, Signs 3-Year Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Lowell (Red) Dawson, backfield coach at Michigan State, Monday was appointed head football coach at Pittsburgh university.

The selection of Dawson came close to being a unanimous decision. He was the first choice of athletic director Tom Hamilton and of the student body.

A veteran of 20 years coaching experience, Dawson gets a three year contract. His salary was not disclosed. A Pitt spokesman said the new coach will visit Pittsburgh in the near future to look over the scene.

Announcement of Dawson's selection followed a two hour meeting of the Pitt board of trustees. They acted favorably on a recommendation of their athletic committee that Dawson be given the post.

Dawson, who is 44, could have had the job last summer by merely saying yes. But he turned it down, saying acceptance would mean giving Michigan State a very skimpy notice.

The vacancy was created last

July 17 when Pitt coach Len Casanova suddenly quit to take the coaching job at the University of Oregon. He said his family wanted to live on the coast and illness in the family made the move imperative.

Athletic Director Hamilton jumped into the breach and served through the 1951 season as both coach and athletic director, playing a tough schedule he had drawn up himself.

Hamilton suffered one defeat after another until seven losses had been chalked up. But his team finished the year with three victories, beating Miami of Florida, Penn. State and West Virginia.

When Hamilton took over as coach he made it emphatic that he would not consider remaining in the dual role.

Some of the biggest football names in the nation are on the 1952 Pitt schedule. The Panthers will open against Iowa and take on Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Army, West Virginia, Indiana, Ohio State and North Carolina before closing with Penn State.

Kircher, WSC Confer About Head-Grid Job

PULLMAN, WASH. (AP) — Alton Kircher, who has been selected but hasn't accepted, conferred Monday with Forest Evashevski and school officials to decide whether he'll become football coach at Washington State college.

WSC termed as "untrue" reports that Kircher had already signed a contract here or even that he has told Washington State that he'll stay.

Kircher, 41-year-old backfield coach at WSC, is scheduled to go to the University of Iowa as an assistant to Evashevski who resigned a week ago.

Washington State picked Kircher to be Evashevski's successor last Saturday. There were more than 50 applicants for the job.

Kircher, who would get $8,700 a year at Iowa, said he told Evashevski he would go with him to Iowa when Evashevski accepted an offer there a week ago.

Don Faris, athletic news director at WSC, said he expected Kircher to make known his plans soon. Faris denied published reports attributed to him that Kircher had already decided to stay.

Louis, 2 Others, Appear To Challenge PGA Ban

SAN DIEGO, CALIF. (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis and two other Negro golfers showed up Monday to challenge what they said was a professional golfers association ban on nonwhite players.

They appeared for pretournament qualifying tests in the PGA-sanctioned San Diego Open, starting Thursday.

Horton Smith, the PGA's president, announced meanwhile, that the Louis case was not closed and that he would present it to the PGA's national tournament committee. He said he had not personally barred Louis.

The question of the ban on Louis and the two others, announced by the tournament sponsoring committee here Sunday, became involved in what appeared to be conflicting interpretations.

Joe Louis Claims Discrimination

Banned by Law

Members of the local committee said they were told by Smith, after they had invited Louis to play as an amateur exempt from qualification, that he was banned by a PGA by-law.

Smith himself said at Pebble Beach that there was a long-standing PGA rule against non-white players in tournaments sponsored by the PGA.

A spokesman at Chicago headquarters of the PGA said the non-white ban applied only to PGA membership.

Harry Moffitt, PGA secretary, said at Toledo, Ohio, that Louis was barred from the San Diego open because he hadn't signed a required players agreement.

Informed about the statement, Louis declared that it was just another means of enforcing the non-white ban.

He said that Bill Spiller and Ted Rhodes, Negro professionals, had applied three years ago for such agreements and were still being told the matter was under consideration.

Comiskey Resigns White Sox Position

CHICAGO (AP) — Twenty-five-year-old Charles A. Comiskey II Monday resigned as vice-president and secretary of the Chicago White Sox in an apparent bid for the club presidency held by his mother.

The latest family squabble in the Comiskey clan was disclosed as Chuck announced he was quitting his dual post because of "long-standing dissatisfaction" with his salary and lack of office tenure.

Louis and Los Angeles professionals Spiller and Eural Clark reported at club links for the qualification required of players not among the accepted list of top players.

The former champion was told at La Jolla country club he was an invited amateur exempt from

Howard Picks Probable Lineup

Iowa Wrestling Coach Mike Howard has named a tentative starting lineup for next Saturday's conference opener against Wisconsin at the Iowa field house.

The selections were made on the basis of showings in the intrasquad meet held here last Saturday afternoon, but Coach Howard has stressed that some changes may be made before meet time.

Four veterans are among the eight probable starters. Captain Phil Duggan, of Davenport, has been named in the 130-pound class; Don Heaton will go at 167 pounds; Dean Lansing in the 177-pound spot, and George Myers will probably start in the heavyweight division.

Newcomers Impress

Among the newcomers who are likely to see action are Jerry Reeder at 123 pounds; Dick Salome in the 137-pound division; Charles Woodruff in the 147-pound spot, and Dick Hickenbottom at 157 pounds. Hickenbottom has won one previous letter.

Any of these eight tentative starters will be subject to challenge by men in the same weight class, and if beaten by the challenger, will relinquish the position on the starting lineup to him.

In Saturday's intrasquad meet, team A, led by Duggan, Heaton, and Myers, outgrappled team B, 22-18. Four falls were registered by Duggan at 130 pounds, Heaton in the 167-pound class; Miller at 177 pounds, and Lansing, who wrestled at 191 pounds.

Reeder Wins

Freshman Reeder of Cedar Rapids looked good, beating Jerry Graham, 3-0, and Salome, Cedar Rapids senior who has had no previous intercollegiate experience, was a surprise winner at 137 pounds, 3-0, over Jack Engelby.

In other matches, Woodruff beat Phil Doster, Don Nelson won over Nunn, and heavyweight George Myers decimated Streeter Shining.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

NONE of the girls were wild about this Wildcat. His hair looked like something the cat dragged in! "I'm feline mighty low," he told his Paw. "Every Tomcat, Dick and Harry on campus has dates but me!" "Yes, Siam aware of that, son. You need Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. All the cats are using it because it's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Help you puss—I mean pass the Finger-Nail Test." So Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil, and now he's the most popular Persian at school. Purr-haps it's what you need! Take some small change out of your kitty and pussy-foot it to the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for professional applications at your favorite barber shop. Hurry—meow is the time!

4 Get Land Raises From Dam Project

A federal jury in Davenport Monday awarded Coralville residents substantial increases over government offers for property to be used in the Coralville flood project.

The largest award was made to A. J. Larew for his 201.8 acres condemned for use in the project. He was voted $38,525, an increase of $3,525 over the government's offer, but less than the $48,000 he asked.

Frank Coufal was awarded $36,850 for his 227.4 acres. The government had offered him $29,150 and he had asked $51,100.

An award of $19,000 was made to Edward Kadera for his 71.8 acre farm and James Riddle was voted $2,800 for his property.

The land involved in the suits was condemned by the government to form the huge reservoir area behind the Coralville dam when it is completed.

Most of the area would be flooded after the dam is finished, but work on the project now has virtually stopped while engineers wait for new appropriations from congress.

Agnew Fined $300 For Failing to Aid In Making Arrest

John Agnew, Tiffin night club owner, pleaded guilty in district court Saturday to a charge of refusing to assist an officer in making an arrest. He was fined $300.

County Atty. William L. Meardon filed an information setting forth the charge, a misdemeanor, after Judge Harold D. Evans dismissed, on Meardon's recommendation, a grand jury indictment charging Agnew with assisting a prisoner to escape from an officer. The latter charge is a felony.

Tie That Bandage a Little Tighter, Please

He Really Enjoyed It — Police Take Lessons From Graduate Student

A 23-year-old SUI graduate student turned teacher graduated one of the most unusual classes of his career last week—22 members of the Iowa City police force.

Jack Brake, a political science and law enforcement student from Sioux City, was instructor of a 16-hour advanced course in first aid sponsored by the Red Cross.

"I really enjoyed instructing these cops," said Jack, "because they did very well as a group. They were required by the city to take it, and you know how some people don't do a thing well when it's required — but these guys did a good job. None flunked."

Cops Enjoy Course

The policemen liked the course, too. Several cops, including Chief Ed Ruppert, commented: "Brake knows what he's talking about. He sure explains things so they're easy to understand."

Teaching courses for the Red Cross is not a new thing to Jack. He recently taught the same course to personnel at Oakdale sanatorium, and he has been in Red Cross volunteer work for six years.

When he enters the army next June Jack hopes to become an intelligence officer, a swim coach and — a first aid instructor.

Wins ROTC Honor

Last year he was honored as an ROTC distinguished student, a rank attained through a combination of high university academic standing, ROTC academic achievements and ROTC drill leadership qualities.

Thus, when Jack, a marine veteran, begins his army appointment June 15, he will become a second lieutenant.

As for entering intelligence work, Brake is depending on a year's law study at SUI and a little marine experience to gain that aim. Jack said he became interested in intelligence while doing military security duty in the marines.

Enters SUI in 1950

Brake came to SUI in the fall of 1950 as a senior. He enrolled for law, having studied prelaw at Morningside college in Sioux City.

His desire to be a swimming coach stems from swimming experience in high school and the marines.

"In my first year at Morningside I played football, basketball, and swam on the Sioux City swim team," Jack said. "In fact, at that time I planned to make athletics my major concern in college."

Suffers Injury

But after he returned to Morningside as a marine vet of two years he suffered torn ligaments in a football injury. That was in the fall of 1948, as a sophomore, and Jack's athletic future looked dim.

"I had to forget football and basketball altogether," said Jack. But he was able to stick with swimming as a coach and water safety instructor.

The following year he coached the Sioux City team, and in the summers of 1950 and '51 he was waterfront director of a Red Cross water training center near Battle Creek, Mich.

Brake thinks he may make a career out of army life, if he can keep up with his interests. And, judging from his background, it seems he stands a good chance — given a few breaks.

TRAFFIC TOLL REACHES 18

Iowa's 1952 toll of traffic deaths was up to 18 Monday, two under the figure for Jan. 14 a year ago.

Settle $90,651 In Auto Suits Out of Court

Three automobile accident damage suits asking judgment totaling $90,651.33 have been settled and dismissed in Johnson county district court.

Terms of the settlements were not revealed.

The three actions resulted from a two-car collision on highway 1 about 5 miles north of Kalona on Aug. 2, 1950.

All the actions were brought against Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cochrane and were filed by G. A. Robinson, Palmer H. Moen and the Iowa state highway commission.

The crash occurred when a car driven by Robinson and owned by the state was struck by a car driven by Cochrane and owned by his wife. Moen was a passenger in the state vehicle.

Robinson had asked $75,000 for injuries he received, and Moen had asked $15,061.33 for his injuries. The state had asked $590 for damages to the auto.

All 36 Passengers Saved As Airliner Plunges into River

NEW YORK (AP) — A fog-shrouded airliner, groping by radar for a landing, undershot busy La Guardia field Monday and crashed in shallow waters of the East river. All 36 aboard were saved.

The radar screen at the airport, used to talk the Northeast Airline plane down, lost the twin-engine image moments before the Boston-New York airliner hit the water with a mighty splash.

Had the plane come in from almost any other direction it would have crashed in thickly-populated Queens.

Only two of the passengers—including five women—were seriously injured. Surface ships plying the river quickly went to for rescue operations, which took only about 15 minutes.

All of the 33 passengers and three crew members on the Convair transport were from New England, most of them from Massachusetts. The plane took off from Boston at 6:35 a.m. (Iowa time). It crashed at 8:10 a.m.

Jurors Selected For Binz' 3d Trial Of Drunk Driving

Jurors were selected in Johnson county district court Monday for the trial of William Binz, who was indicted by the grand jury for third offense drunken driving.

Those chosen were: Mable Lindley, Ray Westfall, Ed Kadera, Eli Braverman, William Smothers, Paul Kaerling, John H. Grothaus, William Jordan, Ed Kessler, Rita Lepic, Audrey Wymore, and Myrtle Conklin.

Binz, indicted on Dec. 8, is charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated on highway 6 west of Iowa City on Oct. 18, 1951.

Binz was convicted of drunk driving, 1943, and in Iowa county on driving in Johnson county on Feb. 20, 1948, the indictment states.

Morrison will discuss the Republican national convention of 1948 and convention aspects in general.

3 DIE IN CRASH

YOKOHAMA, Japan (TUESDAY) (AP)—The Yokohama area was searched today for possible survivors of a navy Privateer patrol bomber which crashed and burned in a rice field Monday night with the known loss of three crew members.

2d Drunk Driver Offense Brings Fine of $500

Joseph L. Pracher has been fined $500 and costs in Johnson county district court on a charge of second offense drunken driving.

Pracher appeared before District Judge Harold D. Evans and changed his former plea of innocent to guilty. He was indicted by the grand jury Dec. 8.

The indictment against him stated that he was arrested near Swisher Nov. 29, 1951. It also said he was previously convicted of drunk driving in Linn county Dec. 26, 1946.
