Indiana Kills Iowa's Streak, 82-69

Darling Scores 31; Hawkeyes Fall from Top

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP) — Indiana's tall basketball team knocked Iowa out of the Western conference leadership Monday night, 82-69, and ended a string of 12 straight victories for the nationally fourth-ranked Hawkeyes. The game was close until Chuck Darling, the Big Ten's leading scorer, fouled out of the game after collecting 31 points. Indiana led only 68-64 at that point, with four and a half minutes to play.

poured in the next nine points. Bobby Masters, veteran guard, got five of them.

Freshman Don Schlundt led the scoring for Indiana with 22 points. Sammy Miranda hit five of eight field goal attempts for the Hoosiers in the second quarter to give them a 39-35 halftime lead. They had been knotted with Iowa at the end of the first quarter, 18-18. Iowa pulled in front in the third period, 58-55, with Darling hitting four hook shots.

Hoosiers Tie at 60-60

The Hawks held the lead until the last eight and one-half minutes of the game. Indiana caught up at 60-60 on a three-point play by Sam Esposito, who scored as he was fouled by Greene. Iowa again went ahead on a Darling hook shot and Herb Thompson's free throw, 63-60. Indiana tied it up on Schlundt's free throw and Esposito's long two-hander with 5:56 left. Bob Leonard's long jump shot and another fielder by Masters gave Indiana a 67-63 working margin. Iowa was coming back when Darling fouled out. Four of his personal had been against Schlundt, the 6-9 Indiana freshman. Indiana hit 32 of 82 shots from the field and Iowa made 26 of 85.

Iowa had inflicted one of Indiana's three defeats Jan. 12 at Iowa City, 59-78. That was midway in a three-game Indiana slump that the Hoosiers ended with an 82-77 victory at Purdue last Saturday night.

AMBASSADOR RESIGNS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stanton Griffis, American ambassador to Spain since March, 1951, resigned Monday.

Winter Returns With Snow, Ice

Snow and freezing rain whipped by a biting 20-mile wind hit Iowa City Monday, dropping the curtain on a two-week preview of spring.

By 10 p.m. Monday night an inch and a half of snow lay on the ground, crusted over by the steady afternoon and evening drizzle. The weather bureau predicted two and a half more inches of snow by morning.

Despite icy streets, Patrolman James Dalton said no accidents had been reported. Motorists were leaving cars at home, he added, and many found even walking hazardous.

Busses were running one to two hours late, with drivers reporting blizzard conditions in the eastern half of the state. The state highway patrol reported that roads were icy or snow covered in the entire western half of the state and in the southeastern section, while a light to heavy snow fell in the eastern and northwest areas.

The storm, described in some sections as the worst of its kind in recent years, was accompanied by strong winds that caused drifting of the snow where the fall was heavy.

Busses coming into Des Moines were running behind schedule and traffic at the Des Moines airport was halted during the afternoon.

The weatherman said the sleet and snow would be followed by a sharp drop in temperature, reaching zero in the north. Continued cold weather is on tap for today with more snow in some portions of the state.

$85-Billion 'Security' Budget Meets Congressional Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman laid down Monday a "road to security" spending program of $85,444,000,000 for 1952-53. Many members of the election year congress promptly protested it was too much and would have to be trimmed by billions.

It was by far the largest federal budget since World War II, and the largest in history, except in time of all-out war.

Pointing to a prospective deficit of some $14.4 billion in the fiscal year which starts July 1, the Republican leadership in the house

Stocks at 21-Year High

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market averages rose to a new 21-year high Monday as President Truman placed in the lap of congress an $85 billion budget, surpassed only in years of all-out war.

The budget message spelled for Wall street continued high production and full employment.

Fries moved ahead fractions to around a dollar during the late rally, with rails and oils leading the parade.

put out a statement saying the budget "proves that spending and more spending is the only answer the President has for any problem, large or small."

Many Democrats joined in the outcry against the size of the budget, but such complaints are heard every January.

Senator Walter F. George (D-Ga.) called for cuts of "about five to seven billion." Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Texas), head of the subcommittee which considers military appropriations, said "we are going to have to pare" the request for $51.2-billion for the armed services. Senator Herbert R. O'Connor (D-Md.) urged cuts of four or five billion dollars.

Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, the GOP floor leader, called the fiscal blueprint "shocking."

Rep. John Taber of New York, senior Republican on the house appropriations committee, said "We must reduce appropriations to a point where we can balance the budget."

Mr. Truman acknowledged he has given up hope of that during the nation's defense buildup. He said he will settle reluctantly for a tax rise of perhaps 4 1/2-billion dollars. That would leave a deficit of nearly 10 billions.

At a budget briefing, Mr. Truman told newsmen he wants the same tax rates he asked congress to vote last year. The legislators turned him down then, and many of them have said they will do so again.

This is an election year for all house members and a third of the senators.

Mr. Truman also said he will ask congress to approve an expansion of the nation's atomic program of between five and six billion dollars. This was not included in the budget, because actual spending will not come in the next fiscal year. Mr. Truman said it would be spread over about five years.

The third of the SUI symphony concerts will have Dimitri Mitropoulos, of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, as piano soloist and James Dixon, A4, Iowa City, as guest conductor.

Dixon, a student of Prof. Philip G. Clapp, director of the SUI symphony, was recommended to Clapp by Mitropoulos.

This concert is an encore of a performance given here last April 25, when Mitropoulos appeared with the SUI symphony orchestra.

The program includes: Respighi's Toccata, with Mitropoulos as soloist and Dixon conducting; Bach's Fantasy and Fugue in G Minor, for Organ, Dixon conducting; and Berlioz' Fantastic symphony, conducted by Clapp.

Out-Foxing a Fox

CHEROKEE (AP) — Farmer Harry Bengston outlasted a wily red fox in a personal duel near here Sunday. Bengston fired at the fox but wounded it only slightly.

The fox bolted for cover. Bengston, who had fired his last shell, took off on the run and chased the wounded fox across field into a hog house. He chased all the hogs out and a companion, John Huseman Jr., arrived and shot the fox.

Dr. Brown Fined $1000 On Narcotics Charge

Dr. Gerald F. Brown, 420 Lexington ave., Monday was fined $1,000 after pleading guilty in Johnson county court to a charge of illegally obtaining narcotic drugs.

Dr. Brown had earlier pleaded innocent to the charge filed in October in an information by County Attorney William L. Meardon. District Judge Harold D. Evans followed Meardon's recommendation in levying a maximum fine and in not imposing a prison sentence.

Meardon recommended leniency after quoting a letter from Dr. Wilbur Miller, head of psychopathic hospital, which said that Dr. Brown has successfully completed a course of withdrawal from drug addiction.

Meardon said there was no evidence to show that Dr. Brown had obtained the drugs for use by anyone except himself and his wife, Dr. Bernice E. Brown, who was fined in December on a similar charge.

Dr. Brown was specifically accused of obtaining narcotic drugs from an Iowa City pharmacist by falsely using the name of a deceased former patient.

House Group Assails Tax Bureau Shuffle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a house inquiry committee Monday assailed President Truman's plan to reorganize the internal revenue bureau as a hastily contrived package designed to soften the impact of tax scandals.

Legislators in both houses of congress have generally been cool to the President's plan. Among other things, it would abolish the 64 regional collectors of internal revenue, who are politically appointed. They would be replaced by 25 civil service regional collectors.

Nevertheless, Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) told newsmen after a White House visit this forenoon he is confident the house will approve the program. Rayburn said he passed that word to Mr. Truman.

The speaker said the house will vote on the measure this week, probably Saturday.

Outspoken criticism emerged as Budget Director Frederick J. Lawton and Revenue Commissioner John J. Dunlap appeared at a hearing before the house expenditures committee.

The house group is considering a resolution to reject Mr. Truman's reorganization plan. It will go into effect automatically unless the house or senate rejects it.

Lawton conceded that the plan would not insure honesty in the nation's tax-collection service, but declared it would provide "a better climate" for integrity.

The budget director also acknowledged that he lacked any estimate of the cost of the President's plan. He said it would call for hiring 7,400 extra employees—added to the present 57,000—chiefly to enforce the gambling tax enacted by congress last year.

His impeachment, however, was not even hinted at.

Or, If You're Busy, Count Your Blessings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every time the clock ticks off a minute in the next fiscal year, the government would spend more than $163,000 under President Truman's new budget — almost 10 million dollars an hour.

No one would want to tackle it, but just say you wanted to count out the budget, dollar by dollar — If you counted a dollar every second for eight hours a day, 40 hours a week, it would take you 11,416 years to do the job.

These are indications of the scope of the $85,444,000,000 federal spending program the President proposed to congress Monday for the year beginning next July 1. Any way you look at it, it's big.

British Investigate U.S. Nun's Death

ISMAILIA, Egypt (AP) — The controversy over who killed the American nun, Sister Anthony, grew more confused Monday and the British ordered a secret military court of inquiry into the incident.

Even as fresh contradictions developed over the death of the 52-year-old nun, killed on the porch of a French convent during a battle in Ismailia Saturday, Britons and Egyptians fought a new skirmish in a cemetery.

The nun, who was Brigitte Ann Timbers of Peekskill, N.Y., before she took the veil in the French order of Saint Vincent De Paul, was killed Saturday when she stepped out of the convent to welcome British tanks during a four-hour battle in Ismailia.

Gen. Sir George Erskine, British commander in the Suez canal zone, stoutly insisted Monday there were eyewitnesses inside the convent who saw Egyptian "thugs" shoot her down.

Egyptian officials, including the acting foreign minister, has categorically asserted that she was killed "by British bullets."

Grid Meeting Tonight

All prospective members of the 1952 varsity football squad should be at the field house at 7:15 tonight for a meeting with Iowa's new head coach Forest Evashevski, Athletic Director Paul Brechler announced.

In addition to the research group, the dedication ceremonies will attract many other university and college librarians and library architects from throughout the country. Iowa officials and members of the state board of education are also expected to be present when the newly constructed library is officially dedicated.

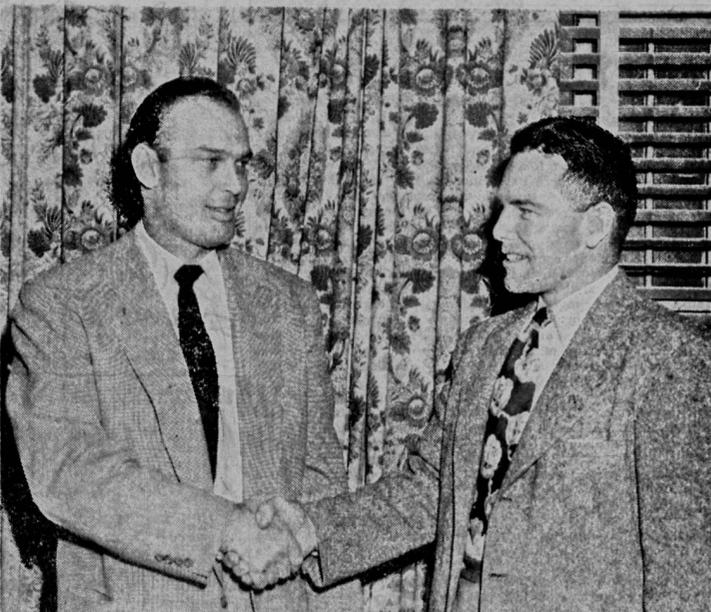

The dedication program will feature three papers and a panel discussion, Ellsworth said.

Dr. Edward F. D'Arms, associate director of the humanities division of the Rockefeller Foundation will speak on, "The Global Responsibilities of the Scholar" at 9:30 a.m. Friday. At 10:30 a.m., Dr. Hayward Keniston, retired dean of the arts college of the University of Michigan, will speak on "The Study of Man As Focus of Liberal Education."

Hancher to Moderate Panel
President Virgil M. Hancher will be moderator for a panel including Dean E. T. Peterson, professor of education; Prof. John Briggs, SUI political science department, and Ellsworth. They will discuss what the Iowa library program is attempting to do for teaching and research. The panel will meet at 2 p.m.

Stanley Pargellis, librarian at Newberry, will speak on "The Student and His Reading" at 8 p.m.

There will be a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union and a dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the River room of the Union. Milton Lord, former director of SUI libraries, and Robert A. Miller, director of libraries at the University of Indiana, will speak.

One of Many Handshakes for Evy

Blood Drive Begins Today for Students

Recruitment of student blood donors for the Johnson county Red Cross "Blood for Defense" drive will begin today following a meeting of campus housing unit representatives in Old Capitol at 4:10 p.m.

The meeting will be called by June Marken, A4, Des Moines, college chairman of Red Cross activities. Plans for student recruiting will be discussed and supplies distributed.

Dick Sidwell, Johnson county recruitment chairman of donors, will talk to the group. City recruitment will begin about Feb. 1, according to drive officials. Students are being contacted now because of semester exams.

The blood will be given in the Methodist church basement Feb. 19-21.

Anyone between the ages of 18 and 21 must get written permission of a parent or guardian to donate blood.

The "release" gives the parents' permission for the minor to give blood; submit to tests and examinations at the donor's own risk.

It also discharges the Red Cross or its agents from any responsibility in the blood donations.

Denies Hitting Wife

THE PRESIDENT OF THE COCA COLA bottling company in Los Angeles, Stanley N. Barbee, went to court Monday to answer his wife's charges that he struck her Sunday night in a restaurant. Barbee denied hitting her, saying he merely pushed her out the restaurant because she was interrupting the music.

Vinson Asks Money For 2d Atomic Sub

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the house armed services committee Monday asked congress to authorize the navy to build a second atom-powered submarine and a second giant carrier able to handle atom bomb-carrying planes.

A bill which Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) offered would authorize the navy to spend about $1,150 million to build new ships and renovate others.

The introduction of the Vinson bill highlights concern of public officials about the submarine menace of Soviet Russia. The fleet never has been outstanding as a surface force. But rising Russian interest in underwater vessels has sparked U.S. navy countermeasures.

Sunday, secretary of the navy Dan Kimball said the Red sub fleet has grown from 50 to 300 or 400. He said that U.S. sub strength has risen from 70 to 100.

Some reliable sources believe the Russians have 200 subs concentrated near the Korean war area — at Vladivostok.

In asking for a second atom-powered submarine, Vinson gave no details other than to say it will have "full submarine attack capabilities."

The hull of the first nuclear powered submarine is now under construction at the Electric Boat company ways in Groton, Conn. It is scheduled for completion in 1954.

The carrier called for in the Vinson bill would be of the 60,000-ton Forrestal class. Construction of the first of the class, bearing the name of the first secretary of defense, has begun at Newport News, Va.

Bulletin

MUNSAN, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) — The Communists today rejected flatly an Allied offer to accept the full Red proposal for policing a truce if the Reds would agree to ban construction of military airfields in North Korea.

Actually, both sides already had reached virtual agreement on all issues of truce supervision excepting the airfield reconstruction.

Allied acceptance of the full Communist proposal would have required only a slight change in the wording of three of the six principles contained in the parallel Allied proposal, a spokesman told correspondents.

The subcommittee on truce supervision met for only 14 minutes.

Experimental Models —

Cars of the Future

— Attracting Attention

DETROIT (AP) — For whatever they may be worth as promotional models, "dream cars" are becoming popular among the car makers. They excite a lot of attention by their futuristic design and the brilliance of their finish. But they are not for the average car owner. General Motors, Chrysler and Ford have developed "cars of the future" and it is quite possible other companies will announce similar models. The "Big Three" obviously have the engineering facilities with which to develop the so-called experimental models, but putting them into assembly line production is another problem.

Costly Features

Probably the "dream cars" have some of the attributes of a distant future model automobile. But they also have numerous costly features that will have to be dropped if they are to be made available for more than a very select few. Every time one of the sleek new "futuristic" models is brought out the question immediately arises whether it is planned for actual production. The manufacturers themselves can't answer that question. Certainly they don't know what price tags would have to go on the gadget-laden models.

None for 5 Years

It seems like a safe guess right now that even as a custom built job, none of the experimental models so far shown will be offered for sale within the next five years. But at automobile shows they will attract more attention than new standard 1952 models. And in that respect they will undoubtedly serve one of their major purposes.

A tremendous amount of interest has been attracted to General Motors products by nation-wide showing of the XP-300 and Lesabre models. Similarly, Chrysler with its K-310 has won wide attention. More recently Ford brought out a "styling model" of a car it calls the Continental 1950—

Power Beyond Needs

The powering of the GM and Chrysler experimental models is far beyond the needs of present-day motoring. The Ford model, of which only a plaster model so far has been shown, would be powered with a 160-horsepower engine. The latter could—and probably will—eventually evolve into a restored

Continental in the Lincoln line.

Whether an engine developing more than 200 horsepower ever will be put into a stock car is yet to be determined. The trend, obviously is in that direction, but a jump to more than 300 doesn't seem probable within the next five years or more.

Fire Sweeps Store, Mother, 2 Children Escape to Safety

Three members of an Iowa City family escaped serious injury early Sunday morning when fire broke out in the basement of the Cunningham Cash and Carry Grocery, 1331 Muscatine ave.

Mrs. John F. Cunningham, wife of the store's operator, and two of their children were asleep in the apartment above the store when they were awakened by smoke and gas fumes. They escaped by an outside stairway.

Cunningham and another son were attending church when the fire broke out.

The stock of staple grocery items in the basement and goods on the first floor were virtually destroyed. The loss was estimated at about $8,500.

PORTER TO SPEAK

Prof. William E. Porter, head of the magazine sequence in the SUI school of journalism, will speak to the Iowa City Kiwanis club at its meeting today on "Time to Make up Your Mind."

Armored Jacket

THIS NEW TYPE ARMORED jacket, developed by the army quartermaster corps is designed to reduce battle casualties by as much as 30 per cent. It will be tested in Korea in February. The jacket is made of laminated nylon covered with a waterproof outer shell and may be worn inside or outside other clothing.

U.S. Employs Over 173,000 People Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam's commitments outside the continental United States have become so great that he now is sending checks to nearly 174,000 civilian employees working off shore, in U.S. territories or in foreign countries.

This figure, highest in history, does not include tens of thousands of men and women in the military forces overseas. Their numbers are secret.

Further, some 500,000 more workers get their pay checks from firms which have contracts with Uncle Sam for work off-shore. Some of these are natives, some Americans.

Most in Territories

Most workers who get their pay checks outside the continental U.S. work in U.S. territories like Puerto Rico and Alaska. But a good many are paid by Uncle Sam to work for foreign nations.

The administration has never kept a running account of off-shore employees, but congress has asked the budget bureau for such an accounting early in February.

Roll Taken

In the meantime the congressional committee on nonessential federal expenditures, headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), took a poll as of late November. It found that Uncle Sam's pay checks were going to 173,751 civilians away from home.

That roll varies a little. Some experts work in a foreign country for three months or so, but as some come home others go out.

The greatest number of civilians working abroad are on the military pay roll—112,045.

Under Point 4

But 61,706 are on the pay rolls of the so-called peace-time agencies like the departments of commerce, interior and agriculture, some of them working under President Truman's Point IV program to aid backward areas.

The largest number—19,634—work for the state department in embassies and consulates.

The Panama canal administration comes very close with 19,206 employees, but they are largely laborers. State has to hire comparatively well paid specialists.

Navy Reserve Corps To Take Applications For Officer Training

SUI students, except seniors, interested in the navy's reserve officer candidate program may make their applications tonight in room 301, Engineering building beginning at 7:30.

Applications will be accepted each Tuesday evening for the next month by Lieut. Comdr. F. S. Orr, of the naval reserve.

Candidates must be between the ages of 17 and 27 years for men. The minimum age for women is 18. Students must be in good standing in the university and must pass a rigid physical examination.

The program provides two summer training periods and leads to a commission in the naval reserve and a possible two years of active duty after graduation.

Men and women students in freshmen, sophomore and junior standing are eligible for the program. Men who are selected for the training will be given 1-D classification by their draft boards.

Interpreting the News —

Special Tactics Needed If Ike Gets Nomination

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst

Last August, when General Eisenhower's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination was still more apparent than real, this column pointed out that it would call for some new tactics by anyone who wanted to oppose him.

The difficulty faced by Senator Taft and the others, the same difficulty which will be faced by the Democrats if Eisenhower is nominated, is how to oppose a man who is universally popular, even among those who may not want him for president.

Problem is Old
It has been generations since the old line politicians have had to contend with such a problem, posed by a figure who has become a public hero outside the field of politics. It looks like the diplomatic thing for rival candidates to do is campaign for themselves, not against Eisenhower, and very politely, too, unless they want to risk the impression that they are not appreciative of his war services to the country.

Emphasized in Frisco
This was emphasized by developments during and since the Republican national committee meeting in San Francisco last week.

David Ingalls, speaking for Taft, stirred it up. He said that if the Republican party was going to substitute hero worship for faith based on known performance, then it might as well start looking for a good looking mortician to handle the funeral.

He also included glamour and sex appeal along with hero worship, which some interpreted to cover Warren and Stassen.

Going Smoothly

Things had been going fairly smoothly, and everyone seemed to be trying to work out a campaign procedure designed to preserve Republican unity during the pre-convention campaign so that it could be used against the Democrats in the fall.

To the layman, Ingalls' statement might not sound so bad.

Retrenchment Is —

Red China's '52 Program

HONG KONG (AP) — Retrenchment until it hurts is the program for 1952 in Red China.

Peiping has set in motion a national campaign to eliminate waste, corruption and red tape, cut spending and increase production.

The Peiping People's Daily, organ of the Communist party, describes the campaign as "a gigantic movement."

Reds Worried

"The Chinese people must strive for increased production and practice economy if we are to guarantee a permanent victory of our new democracy," it said, as quoted in Peiping broadcasts.

Economic observers here say the Korean war has left the Reds no alternative. So far, the Communist regime has controlled prices and kept money firm, but both have shown recent signs of slipping.

The Reds are worried about their economic structure, so hastily built on the ruins of the old nationalist paper money edifice. The Reds fear that if this structure falls, they will topple after it.

The new increased production program, superimposed upon already heavy taxes and huge forced "donations" for war material, looks like a groaning burden.

Resistance Is Strong

Many reports say resistance to the Reds still is strong and even police state terrorism might not keep them in power during an economic collapse.

The Reds apparently have placed retrenchment on a high doctrinal level and are deadly serious about it. A government department which fails to cut expenses 50 per cent is threatened with being accused of corruption, waste and bureaucratism — the three unpardonable sins for 1952.

If an official doesn't economize, he is regarded as opposing the revolution — a crime about 10 notches worse than murder in a Marxist state.

Placement Service Offers FBI Jobs

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is interested in securing applications from young men with college degrees who are interested in working with the bureau, the SUI business and industrial placement office said Monday.

Candidates with law or accounting degrees may apply for positions as special agents and special agent accountants. Applications are also being accepted for the position of special agent employee from men with a four-year degree such as an A.B. or B.S.

Qualifications, duties and other information may be obtained through the placement office.

TO THE EDITOR:

We've been double-crossed by our own paper. You sent a reporter to show the taverns serve beer to minors. This was the very commonest knowledge to students and bartenders but why publicize it?

Think of the damage that enforcement of this law would mean. The younger students wouldn't have any way of proving themselves. Of course in Europe since drinking by all ages is common it is just accepted and very few people get drunk or make a show of it. But here we younger students think it is "smart" to drink. What will we have for prestige and self-confidence if we can't drink the watery stuff?

I admit even if we want to say that boys of 18 are army material and they should get beer that the way to get it is by changing the law, not breaking it. But the matter of getting the vote for 18 year olds is much more important, so what's the use?

Dick Taber, A2
B-165, Quad

TO THE EDITOR:

I am pleased to know that we have such an efficient public relations department at the University of Iowa. So fine, in fact, that four sophmore girls can be so well-informed that they "know all the facts" about the policies of our athletic department and can "intelligently" analyze the present situation and propose a course of action that would remedy it.

On the question of the money spent to hire a new coach, I wonder if the young ladies have taken the trouble to find out where the funds are obtained to finance such ventures. With a little research, I believe they would make the startling discovery that the proceeds from the athletic contests are used for this purpose. In fact, not one cent of the state's funds goes into the athletic program.

The gate receipts from football support the entire program of athletics, with the exception of basketball which breaks about even, so why not make investments to improve it?

Lack of school spirit is evident at football games, I admit, but have Connie, Gwen, Marilyn and Jane noticed what takes place at this season's basketball games? The fans cheer when they have something to cheer about and Bucky O'Connor has given them this in the form of a winning ball club.

The past season indicated a marked decrease in attendance at Iowa's football games so wouldn't it be considered smart business to bring in a coach who could attract more paid admissions?

It would be a worthwhile project for these self-styled critics to inaugurate a system that would permit the University of Iowa to remain in the Big Ten cellar and still keep the turnstiles clicking.

TO THE EDITOR:

It's time somebody wrote a letter to the Iowan praising our wonderful basketball team and coach. It's pretty easy to sit back (if you can on those bleachers) and watch the team put out its consecutive best, as they have been doing game after game, and even be complacent about it; but we must remember that the High Five, and the other players as well, though they enjoy the game sometimes have a pretty tough assignment on their hands.

And what can be irritating is the way some of the audience yells when our guys get the ball and head towards their end of the floor. Our guys don't need to be told what to do with that ball; they have a pretty good idea (where would you say excellent) about where it should go.

So save your cheers for the proper times, those times (if there are any) when they need to know you're there. And don't apply "pressure". Pressure can become pretty annoying, especially when you're doing the best you can anyway.

A good team knows what to do when, a good audience knows when to yell and when to keep its mouth shut.

But regardless of this, we know we have a good team and we know they have our backing. And we know that come the Illinois game, blizzard or rain, tempest or holocaust, we're gonna be there; and we're gonna yell for the Hawks, win or lose, till that final gun makes the game history.

Darrell Eddy, G
A-156, Quad

Editors note: We agree with Mr. Eddy 100 per cent in so far as we know we have a good team. We might add that we are happy to be a part of a student body which has shown so far during this basketball season that it does have school spirit, and hoy!

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A PROMINENT English novelist, here on a lecture tour, was asked to give his opinion of a young rival whose book was making the novelist's latest opus look like an also-ran. The novelist made a wry face and whispered, "If I told you the truth, I'd be a bloody hypocrite."

Nick Agropopolis, who did a mite of farming down Maryland way, received a notice from the town council that the license to maintain a cow on his premises had expired. Agropopolis took pen in hand and replied, "My cow she beat you to it. She expire two weeks ago. Much oblige: Yours truly . . ."

News commentators Bob Trout and John Cameron Swayze were supping at a Radio City restaurant, when Trout suddenly plunged his fist into a bowl of steaming soup. "Have you gone suddenly loco?" asked Swayze. "Not at all," answered Trout. "I'm just getting into shape for our 'Who Said That?' TV program tonight, and groping for words."

Work Days Lost Due to Heart Disorders

What is the cost of 150,000,000 work days? That is the estimated number of work days lost to our economy each year because of heart and blood vessel disorders.

Yet, Dr. Lewis E. January, associate professor of internal medicine at the SUI college of medicine, points out that studies made available by the American Heart association show that the great majority of persons suffering from heart diseases are employable.

If the individual is placed in a job which an experienced physician believes to be suitable, there is little or no risk beyond that to which a normally healthy person would be subjected. The problem is to get the job and the cardiac patient together, a problem which ultimately must be solved by the community.

There is no evidence that physical exertion in itself can cause heart disease. It can, however, cause pain in the chest, popularly called a "heart attack," if the arteries supplying blood to the heart muscle are also diseased.

Most authorities also believe there is no relationship between physical exertion and coronary thrombosis, or the complete closure of the vessels supplying blood to the heart muscle. This belief is based on the fact that more than half of such attacks occur while the person is asleep or at rest. Obviously, Dr. January cautions, all persons with heart disease cannot work. There are some who require bed rest or very strict limitations of physical or mental activity. Age is also a factor in determining the ability of a cardiac patient to work, just as it is a factor in determining the ability of anyone to work.

The American Heart association lists several things a community can do to increase the employment possibilities for persons having heart disease. These include:

1. Seeing that adequate facilities are available to evaluate the occupational potential of people with heart disease;

cardiacs whose former employment is no longer suitable;

5. Working for enactment of adequate "second injury" provisions in the workmen's compensation laws. These provisions protect employers against excessive costs which might result from the disablement of a physically handicapped employee. This would increase employment opportunities for cardiacs;

6. Sponsoring research on the effects of various types of work on persons with heart disease and on the suitability of specific occupations for these persons.

New Products

Double Duty Design Is Featured

NEW YORK (AP) — Many new products on the market this week feature double duty design.

For instance the Rival Mfg. Co. of Kansas City offers a choice of three scents — pine, lavender, and bouquet — to be used with its steam iron. Add eight drops of one of the scents to the water in the steam iron, and when you get through ironing your laundry will smell like that scent.

And then there is the floor wax made by the Free Wax Corporation, of Tallahassee, Fla., that is designed to do all the things that a fine floor wax does, and in addition it kills insects. "The insecticide in the product is known as Laidane," says the company. "It is odorless and safe to human beings and pets."

Or there is the box that becomes a stage. The box, made by Standard Paper Box company of Los Angeles, has a celanese acetate plastic window that serves as a transparent curtain for the stage. The Stephen Riley company of Hollywood uses the box to package its bubble bath for children. There are 15 bubble bath packets and cut-out inserts that transform into the story of Black Beauty or Snow White or other favorites.

And out of Colfax, Iowa, comes a maple syrup that is neither maple nor syrup. This new product is made by George M. Brenner of the Colfax Mineral Springs company. It is described as a waffle sauce that has a true maple flavor but is nonfattening. In other words this new product is intended to do for waffles and flap-jacks what maple syrup does, but it won't add pounds.

The Acme Steel company of Chicago is distributing in the American market a new steel fabricating unit built very much along the lines of a children's toy. The basic unit is an L-shaped steel angle 3 by 1 1/2 inches and 10 feet long. It is slotted along its entire length so that it can be bolted into all manner of shapes. The only tools needed are a hacksaw and

The name of the product is DexAngle and it is packaged in ten 10-foot lengths with 75 bolts and nuts with a shipping weight of 110 pounds. Acme also provides steel panels and ball bearing coasters to be used with DexAngles.

A new type of vinylite dispersion resin known as Plastigels has been developed by the Union Carbide & Carbon company's fellowship laboratories at the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research at Pittsburgh. The new material, the company says, can be "moulded, calendared, embossed, stamped and extruded, and it can be used for coating materials." Some of the suggested uses are for floor tile, tubing, electrical fittings, toys, and novelties. Plastigels can be worked at low temperatures with light equipment, the company says.

Boland, Other Iowa Assistants, Not On Evy's Varsity Staff

New Hawkeye Coach Visits Iowa City

By JACK SQUIRE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Neither Pat Boland, Bob Fitch, nor Ben Douglas — chief assistants of Leonard Raffensperger — will be on the Iowa varsity coaching staff next fall, it was established Monday.

The disclosure came from new Head Coach Forest Evashevski, who arrived here Sunday night after a 2,000 mile car trip from Pullman, Wash.

Evashevski revealed that he will have three varsity assistants, including Bob Flora, a member of his staff at Washington State, who also arrived Sunday night.

2 Others Hired
Two other assistants have already been obtained, Evashevski said, but their identity will not be announced until they have been released from their present jobs.

One of them, however, is almost certain to be Chalmers (Bump) Elliott, former Michigan star and current backfield coach at Oregon State.

There is a possibility that one or more of Raffensperger's aides will be retained for the freshman and junior varsity programs. Evashevski said that he would consider that at a later date.

Junior varsity coach last season was Wally Schwank while there was no freshman team since first-year men were eligible for varsity competition. Freshmen will not be eligible for Big Ten play next year.

Looking for a House
Otherwise, Evashevski's first Iowa City visit since his days at Iowa pre-flight school were devoted mainly to looking for a home for his wife and four children.

That task will continue for "another day or two" after which he will take the family to Detroit and return here Feb. 1 to complete housing arrangements.

In addition to his domestic affairs, Evashevski attended a "get acquainted" dinner with the board in control of athletics at the Union, and met with newsmen throughout the day.

Flora also was occupied with house-hunting and spoke briefly to the Iowa City quarterback club at a room luncheon.

The new Hawkeye boss will meet the football squad tonight and will have several other meetings.

Elliott to Hawkeyes, Coast Paper Reports

SPOKANE (AP) — Chalmers (Bump) Elliott, backfield coach at Oregon State, will take a similar job with Forest Evashevski on the football staff at Iowa, the Chronicle said Monday.

Evashevski also wanted Line Coach Leonard Younce from the OSC staff but Younce turned him down, the paper said.

Elliott will replace Alton Kirchner, on Evashevski's staff and will get $2,000 more than he's receiving at Oregon State, the story added.

The Chronicle said the story had been confirmed by "Oregon State officials" who attended the OSC-Idaho basketball game at Moscow Friday.

Elliott was a backfield star at Michigan in his playing days. Younce is an ex-OSC lineman.

Late Rally Gives Hawkeyes Mat Tie With Indiana, 14-14

By JIM COOKE

The Iowa Hawkeyes roared back in three of the final four bouts to tie a favored Indiana squad, 14-14, in a Big Ten wrestling meet here Monday night at the field house.

Trailing 11-3 with half the dual meet completed, the Hawks made it 11-8 when Dick Hickenbottom, wrestling at 157 pounds, threw Chuck Pankow in 5:02.

Don Heaton then tied it up with a 3-0 decision over the Hoosiers' Kay Hustell in the 167 pound division, and Dean Lansing put Iowa out in front with a 5-2 win over Dick Barnhart at 177 pounds.

Myers Loses
In the final match of the evening heavyweights George Myers and Harry Jagielski fought a rough and tumble battle with Jagielski finally taking a 5-2 decision for Indiana.

In the opening match of the evening, Iowa's 123 pounder Jerry Reeder was pinned by Bob Carlin in 2:10. In the 130-pound division, Hawkeye captain Phil Duggan took his second straight victory of the year when he beat Harry Arthur, 3-1. Dick Salome dropped a 9-4 decision to Indiana's Dick Wilder at 137 pounds, and in the 147-pound weight class Hawk Chuck Woodruff was beaten 9-0 by Jim Ellis.

Lost to Badgers
Iowa's tie Monday night gave Mike Howard's improving squad a Big Ten conference record of one tie and one loss. The Hawkeye grapplers dropped their first meet of the season last Saturday afternoon to Wisconsin, 23-5.

In that dual meet Phil Duggan, Davenport junior, got the only Iowa points of the day when he threw Lee Schaefer in 7:23 of their work with," Evashevski explained. "A great deal of what proportion of single wing and T formation plays we use next season will depend on what I see in the way of personnel in spring practice.

"I haven't made any definite plans on spring practice yet, but I'm going to try to work it that we will get as much outdoor work as possible."

Hawks to Have 4 Track Entries At Milwaukee Meet

By LEE CANNING
Track Coach Francis Cretz-meyer announced Monday that Iowa's cinder squad will have four definite entries in the Milwaukee Journal meet, first invitational meet of the 1952 season, at Milwaukee, Feb. 1.

Track men from all Big Ten schools, plus leading midwestern independents like Marquette, Notre Dame and Drake have been invited to the annual affair.

Ted Wheeler in the college mile, Rich Ferguson in the two mile, LeRoy Ebert in the 600-yard event plus a mile relay team will represent Iowa.

There also is a possibility of another Iowa entry, in the sprints, for the Journal meet. Time trials to be held Thursday will determine if a Hawkeye will be entered in the 60-yard dash. Loranzie Williams, Glen Hesselstine and Lou Mathis are the outstanding candidates for the sprint position.

Mathis copped first place in the 60-yard dash at the All-University relays last Saturday with a time of :06.3, just over the Iowa indoor record for that race. Hesselstine finished second to Mathis and Williams was a close third.

Iowa's mile relay team will be selected from Gary Scott, Ebert, Bobby Clark, Stan Levinson, Chuck Boylan and Duwayne Dietz.

Past performances by Wheeler, Ebert and Ferguson indicate that Iowa could finish high in final team standings.

Wheeler has an outdoor mile time of 4:16.7 and ran the half mile in 1:55.5 in the All-University relays. He ranked second nationally among freshman and junior college runners last season for the mile.

Indiana, which had previously whipped Wisconsin, 15-11, now has three wins, one loss, and one tie in Big Ten competition. The Hoosiers have beaten Michigan, 17-11, and Northwestern, 19-8, and lost a 14-11 dual meet to Ohio State.

Illini Take 1st In Cage Rankings; Hawks Hold 4th

NEW YORK (AP) — The University of Illinois basketball team, which has been threatening for some time to take over the No. 1 spot in the weekly Associated Press poll, finally made it Monday and dropped Kansas to the runner-up place.

Thus Kansas, which barely managed a 69-66 win over Nebraska last week, skidded from the lofty perch the Jayhawks had held since Jan. 2. Kansas had been No. 1 in the last three polls, with Illinois a close second each time.

Monday night's games were not considered in the voting.

A total of 119 ballots were received from the nation's sports writers and sportscasters, and Illinois got 25 first place votes, Kansas only 17. In point totals, Illinois had 860 and Kansas, 834.

Kansas obviously lost strength on the basis of comparative scores, for Kansas State had drubbed Nebraska, 71-33, Jan. 12. Two nights later Kansas barely got past Nebraska, which actually outscored the Jayhawks from the floor. It was Kansas' only game of the week, and still left the team with a 13-0 record.

Buckeyes Edge Minnesota Spartans Win

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Forward Tom Williams sank a drive-in shot with 10 seconds to go Monday night to give Ohio State a 59-58 Big Ten basketball victory over Minnesota. It was the Buckeyes' third conference victory in five starts and the Gophers' third loss in five Big Ten games.

Minnesota had a 58-55 lead with one minute to go. Buckeye Tommy Hague then hit a bucket to make the score 58-57. Minnesota stalled, but lost possession of the ball and Williams scored the winning goal.

Paul Ebert, Ohio State's leading scorer, was high man with 27 points. Bob Gelle paced Minnesota with 15.

The Gophers jumped off to a 9-0 lead early in the opening period and led throughout the first two periods, with a halftime score of 27-18.

Ebert connected for 14 points in the third period to pull the Buckeyes within one point, 40-39. Williams hit a rebound shot in the opening minutes of the final stanza and the Buckeyes led, 43-42. Minnesota regained its lead and held on until Williams pushed in the winning goal.

Cats Roll, 59-57, Over Michigan

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP) — Northwestern defeated Michigan 59-57 in a Big Ten basketball thriller here Monday night. The two teams were tied up a dozen times before Northwestern racked up its third conference win in six games.

Michigan lost four of its first five starters on fouls before going down to its fifth loss in six conference games.

Northwestern's Larry Dellefield tossed in 17 points and guard Don Blaha netted 16 in the winning cause. The teams were deadlocked 19-19 at the end of the first quarter and 33-33 at the half.

Each team had a lengthy lead at one time, Michigan taking a 31-23 lead in the second quarter and Northwestern getting out in front 55-50 in the final quarter.

Cold Wisconsin Falls To Spartans, 50-39

EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP) — A hot first half provided enough steam to carry Michigan State to a 50-39 basketball win over Wisconsin here Monday night and keep the Spartans out of the cellar in the Western conference standings.

Michigan State made 10 baskets in the first half to only five for Wisconsin and led 22-14 at the half. Guard Gordon Stauffer, high for MSC with 13 points, dropped in three of his field goals the first quarter to give the Spartans a 14-8 edge at the end of the period.

Michigan State had only a 39-33 edge going into the final quarter, but stopped any Wisconsin come-back ambitions by going into a semi-stall for the last seven minutes. MSC controlled the ball so well that Wisconsin made only one basket in the last seven minutes and nine seconds of play.

N.Y. Threatens Walcott's Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic commission, said Monday night heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott will have his title taken from him unless he agrees within 15 days to meet a legitimate contender.

The hard-hitting New York boss said he considered former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles and undefeated Rocky Marciano of Brockton, Mass., as the "foremost contenders."

Christenberry made the statement after he had been asked if he planned action similar to that of the Louisiana State Boxing commission, which withdrew recognition from Walcott Monday.

The Louisiana commission said the action was taken because Walcott failed to defend his title in six months as required by the National Boxing association.

Walcott won the title by knocking out Charles in the seventh round at Pittsburgh, July 18, in six months period of grace.

Christenberry said he had consulted with C. B. Powell, another member of the three-man athletic commission.

ROTC Platoon Drill Award Is Made

The award for the "best-drilled" platoon in the SUI army Reserve Officers Training corps was presented to 2nd platoon, company F, 2nd battalion, Monday afternoon.

Col. Walter E. Sewell, head of military science and tactics, presented an engraved cup to the platoon leaders, Herschel L. Cullen, E3, Fort Madison, and Ronald B. Fairchild, A4, son of Mrs. H. M. Fairchild, Iowa City.

Selection of the platoon was based on superiority in drill competition begun in November and judged weekly by members of the ROTC faculty. The competition was begun to encourage and honor competitive spirit among cadets in attaining drill field excellence.

"Emphasis has been placed on training students to be leaders," Sewell said, "and this competition has proved that it works. The entire corps has benefited by the friendly but spirited competition."

Runner-up was 2nd platoon, company A, 1st battalion, led by Robert G. Marolf, E3, Davenport, and Francis M. Long, E3, Oxford.

Assistant leaders of the winning platoon are George E. Gartzke, A4, Madison, Wis.; Lloyd W. Holsinger, A3, Central City; Donald M. Bushar, P3, Sioux City, and William F. Wilson, A3, Grundy Center.

Platoon sergeants are George A. Waller, C3, Sioux City, and Stanley L. James, A3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom R. James, 1127 E. Washington, Iowa City.

Handicapped Children Write Letter to Cowboy, Singing Star Takes Time Out from Tour

A lot of happy children will be sporting cowboy hats and six-shooters today when Gene Autry, singing star of screen and radio, puts in an appearance in Iowa City at the Iowa Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children.

Autry, who is making appearances in Cedar Rapids this week, accepted an invitation from 21 children of the school who wrote him a letter, expressing their desire to see his show after bad weather made it impossible to travel to Cedar Rapids.

The letter to Autry, signed by all the children, said in part:

"We kids here at the hospital school for handicapped children heard that you were going to be at Cedar Rapids on the 22nd and since hearing about it we just haven't been able to think of anything else but will we get to see and talk to Gene Autry?"

"Maybe you don't know about us but we live at the hospital school and most of us wear braces or use crutches or wheelchairs. Some of us are learning to walk, some of us are learning how to eat and dress ourselves, and some of us are learning how to talk. Lots of us have Gene Autry outfits and we've dreamed a long time of seeing you someday."

"Do you think maybe you could visit us at the hospital school when you come to Cedar Rapids? Iowa City is just 25 miles from Cedar Rapids and you would make

Local Tax Investigation Begins

Investigation of tax conditions in Iowa City got under way Saturday afternoon when the five-member committee recently appointed by Mayor William J. Holland held its first meeting.

At the request of representatives of the city's three taxing bodies, Robert H. Johnson, associate professor of economics at SUI, presented the group with an overall picture of tax conditions in Iowa, Johnson county and Iowa City.

Using a series of graphs and specific cases extracted from a recent thesis on taxation in Johnson county, Prof. Johnson's talk stressed the fact that tax conditions in this area are comparable to other communities throughout the state.

Mrs. George L. Horner, committee chairman, said Monday that investigation proceedings are still in the discussion stage and that the committee hopes to confer with other interested groups and individuals in the near future.

19 Years Now Behind SUI's State-Wide Ambulance Service

By ARLENE KING

When the ambulance service was initiated at the University hospitals Feb. 3, 1933, not even hospital authorities thought that the system would develop into the modern efficient service that it is today.

The ambulance service, consisting of a fleet of 22 ambulances, a well-coordinated program of traffic direction, and a staff of skilled drivers, got its start in 1932 when the Iowa legislature voted to provide state transportation to and from the hospitals for the sick and disabled.

During the first year after the plan was put into operation, bus and train transportation was a big expense item in the hospitals budget. Officials then decided that a system of hospital-owned ambulances would save money that could be relegated to other parts of the hospital.

Ambulance Costs Are Less Their hunch proved to be right. The average cost of train or bus service is $.04 per mile; that of the University hospitals ambulance service averages slightly over $.01½ for each mile traveled.

The first ambulance was a converted seven-passenger Buick. Today, the hospitals use seven-passenger cars that have been converted to hold one bedridden and four "up" patients.

All of the ambulances have radios for the patients' enjoyment, and since the ambulances are not used for emergency cases, they are not equipped with sirens or special blinker lights.

Select Drivers Carefully

The drivers are carefully screened for their driving ability, but medical training is not needed.

"We always pick a pretty responsible person for our drivers," Robert Rea, head of the traffic office, explained, "especially in the case of bedridden patients who need extra care."

Whenever a baby, young child, or a bedridden woman is transported, an escort, picked from a staff of six women maintained to care for the patient during the trip, is sent with the ambulance.

Ambulances leave the hospital early in the morning with a full load of dismissed patients and pick up newly admitted patients or return cases the following day.

Transport State Patients

Only state patients are transported by the hospital. Private patients or clinical-pay patients must provide their own transportation.

The traffic office, working with the admission office of University hospitals, determines the patients to be picked up and admitted to the hospitals. Patients who need medical care and ambulance service apply for admission and transportation through their county medical board on the advice of a physician.

The patient's state papers are then referred to Ann Gordon, head of the admissions office, who schedules their trips to the hospitals with the traffic office.

The ambulance service transported 1,923 patients during November, 1951. Rea said that this figure is fairly representative of all the months of the year except July and August.

"In these months, the number of patients drop because all patients receive new state papers at the end of the fiscal year and the admittance process is a little slower than in the other months," he explained.

GETTING READY FOR ANOTHER ROUND TRIP of the state is ambulance driver Melite Swales, adjusting the portable bed. R. C. Rea, traffic director of the University hospitals' ambulance service, checks mileage and operation of the ambulance to insure every comfort for the patient.

Joseph Howe Heads Communication Hub Planning Committee

A 17-man committee was announced Monday to continue planning on the mass communications center, now under construction at Washington and Madison sts.

Formed at the direction of SUI President Virgil Hancher, the committee supersedes an earlier committee known as the communications council and will also assume the duties of the former committee on radio.

The new group is to consider plans for the coordination of the mass communications media and educational television, all of which are to be housed in the new building. Joseph Howe, professor of engineering, was named chairman.

Other members include: A. Craig Baird, professor of speech; Arthur M. Barnes, associate professor of journalism; Lee Cochran, director of audio-visual instruction; R. E. Ellsworth, professor of library education; H. C. Harshbarger, professor of liberal arts and speech; James R. Jordan, head of information service.

Frank R. Kennedy, professor of law; E. C. Mabie, professor of dramatic arts; Bruce E. Mahan, dean of extension division; Carl Menzer, director of station WSUI; A. H. Moehman; L. G. Moeller, head of SUI's school of journalism; Robert T. Tidrick, professor of surgery; T. Hew Roberts, associate professor of education; Wendell R. Smith, professor of marketing, and John R. Winnie, associate professor of dramatic arts.
