Approval Asked For New Navy Carriers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress has been asked to approve construction of the first of several new-type escort aircraft carriers, designed to combat Russia's growing submarine fleet. Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house armed services committee brought the plan to light Wednesday in a statement giving further details of a $1,150,000,000 new shipbuilding bill which he introduced Monday. It is obviously aimed to withstand the "very real threat" of Soviet undersea strength which Secretary of the Navy Kimball discussed on a television program Sunday. Vinson's measure also would add three carriers to this country's atom bomb carrying fleet - bringing the total to at least 10 big flattops, including two 60,000 tonners. The bill authorized construction of 43 combat ships, 473 landing ships and landing craft and 37 service ships. It also provides for modernizing 10 combat vessels. This is the "minimum new construction," Vinson's statement said, that is required "to place the navy in a position to utilize modern equipment in warfare at sea." The new-type carrier would be a 16,000 ton escort ship, 600 feet long, with a heightened hangar deck to "permit the handling of the larger aircraft now employed for anti-submarine operations." The Vinson bill includes authorization for another supercarrier of the Forrestal class, the first of which now is under construction. This type is a high-speed craft capable of handling the heaviest navy bombers now in operation or planned, including atomic planes. It is 1,040 feet long with a maximum tonnage of 60,000. The bill also authorized building the second submarine designed for nuclear power, a new type of the post-war Tang design. "The importance of nuclear propulsion to submarines in particular," Vinson's statement said, "warrants fullest operational evaluation of that type propulsion." The keel of the navy's first nuclear submarine will be laid this year.

Probe Asked In New Jersey Plane Disaster

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP) - The remains of another victim were pulled from the sodden debris of the wrecked American airlines plane late Wednesday bringing the death toll to 29. Meanwhile, demands for investigations, spurred by rising civic protests, echoed from city hall to capitol hill in Washington in the wake of the second of two major air disasters which took a total of 85 lives here in 38 days. While relatives sought to identify the bodies of the plane's 23 occupants and the six residents who perished in the crash, New Jersey's congressional delegation acted in both houses. Senators Smith and Hendrickson, both Republicans, introduced a resolution calling for a 10-member commission to study the disaster. Rep. Wolverton (R-N.J.) introduced a similar resolution in the house. He called for investigations of the Elizabeth crashes and other recent air disasters. Senator Smith said it was "unfortunate that the air port is located so close to a thickly populated area." He said residents had tried for some time to eliminate dangers from low-flying planes. Mayor James T. Kirk demanded that the airport be relocated regardless of cost to let the city's 112,000 residents come out from under an "umbrella of danger." Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), head of the senate commerce committee said the committee will make a study or investigation of all angles of Tuesday's crash. Three of the six residents were children. Three of 11 residents injured were in critical condition. (Picture on Page 5)

Statewide Search For SUI Student

A 17-year-old SUI freshman was the object of a statewide search Wednesday after he was reported missing from his home for the second day. Richard E. Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Myers, 1813 Morningstar dr., was last seen in the waiting room of the Rock Island railroad station Tuesday morning shortly before the departure of the eastbound Rocket. He is believed to have taken about $200 with him, but his parents said they do not know why he left home. Myers is described as five feet, eight inches tall, weighs about 120 pounds, has light brown hair with a crew cut. Myers' father said that when last seen his son was wearing light brown trousers, a brown poplin jacket with a fur collar, a light yellow wool shirt and black over-shoes. LIEN AGAINST CAUDLE WASHINGTON (AP) - An income tax lien of $974.78 was filed here Wednesday against T. Lamar Caudle, former assistant attorney general in charge of tax fraud prosecutions, and Mrs. Caudle. Their 1950 return is involved. Caudle was returned by President Truman last November, for "outside activities."

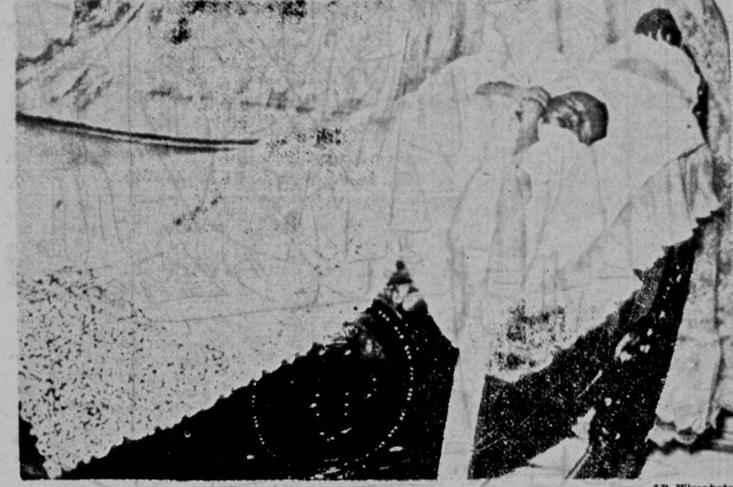

May Be Oil in Iowa Norgaard Asserts

DES MOINES (AP) - The Forest City basin in southwest Iowa offers the best possibility for finding oil in commercial quantities in Iowa, G. A. Norgaard, economic geologist of the Iowa Geological Survey, Iowa City, said Wednesday. Norgaard addressed more than 100 persons attending the annual convention of the Iowa Well Drillers association here. Describing the rock formations in southeast Nebraska, northwest Missouri and northeast Kansas, where oil fields are in operation, Norgaard said similar rock formations in southwest Iowa offer the best hope for oil deposits in the state. "However, chances are not good for a single operator or a small group of operators to find oil," he said. "It's going to take a lot of work before any oil is found in Iowa and a lot of scientific research to arrive at the location of oil-bearing rock formations." Norgaard showed slides and outlined several geological surveys made in the state to locate the shales, limestones, and other rock formations commonly associated with oil. "The only well that showed any oil at all was one at Bedford," he said. Bedford is in southwest Iowa near the Missouri border.

'Conclusion' Soon on Beardsley Tax Case

WASHINGTON (AP) - The justice department said Wednesday it expects to "make some conclusion" this week or early next week in the income tax case involving Gov. William S. Beardsley of Iowa. A department spokesman said the Beardsley matter still is under study by justice tax division attorneys. The department took over a study of the governor's income tax returns early last fall. In December it returned the case to the Internal Revenue Bureau "for further investigation and for recommendation." The case was returned to the justice department this month. When it was first learned last year that the Internal Revenue department had passed the case to the justice department for study, Beardsley told reporters in

Des Moines that the case involved his conforming to federal farm and business accounting requirements for income tax purposes. He said he had given the government a check for $13,000 for back income taxes. He said he had paid $8,000 in back taxes and $5,000 in penalties and interest covering the period from 1944 through 1949. A justice department spokesman said at that time that the check had been placed in a separate account pending decision on the case. The spokesman said the department attorneys were going over the returns to determine whether there was any willful evasion of tax payments. He emphasized then that the department handles thousands of such cases and prosecution follows only in cases where the action is warranted by facts.

Midwest Cold Takes 6 Lives

By The Associated Press Bitter cold spread across upper sections of the midwest Wednesday in the wake of the area's worst blizzard of the season, while local blizzards and moderate gales blew in on western New York. At least six persons died in the three-day snow storm in the Dakotas and Minnesota. Afternoon temperatures over Iowa hovered close to the zero mark for the most part Wednesday, and were expected to plunge well below that point by today. The weather bureau said there might be some light snow tonight, but indicated the amount would not be sufficient to reblock some freshly opened highways. Forecast Lower Temperatures The forecast was for minimum temperatures this morning ranging from 10 to 20 below zero in the northern part of the state, and zero to 10 below in the southern part. Iowa City's temperatures ranged Wednesday from five below to about 11 above zero. The street commission had sanded most hills and stopping areas in the city. No accidents due to slippery streets were reported. In South Dakota, a stranded girl pupil froze to death in an unheated school house and the body of a man was found near his snow-stalled truck. Eighteen persons listed as missing in the storm were located Wednesday in stalled cars or isolated farmhouses. Minnesota Highways Open Snow plows worked throughout the night at the slow task of breaking through frozen and wind-packed drifts. The main highways in Minnesota were open but highway travel was nearly at

Bruce Replaces Webb In State Department

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Truman announced the resignation of James E. Webb as under-secretary of state Wednesday and appointed David K. E. Bruce to succeed him in the key foreign relations post. Bruce is now ambassador to France. The President also nominated Eric Johnston, former stabilization chief, as chairman of the international development advisory board and named two new members to the board of governors of the federal reserve system. Abbot L. Mills Jr., of Portland, Ore., and James Louis Robertson of Nebraska were chosen for the banking posts. WASHINGTON (AP) - President Truman announced the resignation of James E. UMT Bill Committee Will Consider Beer Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) - Methodist Bishop Wilbur E. Hammaker won a promise Wednesday that a ban on even 3.2 per cent beer for trainees will be "carefully considered" when the house armed services committee starts writing a bill for universal military training. The bishop made his anti-beer plea in testimony to the committee as one of a parade of witnesses against the training plan. The opposition, with about 60 asking to be heard, took over the witness stand Tuesday. UMT backers had testified earlier. Proposed Plan Before the committee is a proposal from a commission led by former Sen. James W. Wadsworth, spelling out the actual working of a system for calling up some 800,000 youths yearly, soon after their 18th birthdays, for six months of military training and seven and a half years in the reserve. Congress adopted the principle of UMT last year but left its execution to the passage of another law. One alternative before the committee is a proposal to start the training this year, with 60,000 volunteers who would be drafted anyway. The 60,000 would get the six months training, serve a year and a half on active duty, and stay in the reserves six years. 3.2 Not Innocent Bishop Hammaker told the committee that even 3.2 beer "is not such an innocent little beverage as some folks suggest and believe." Hard liquor now is barred from military camps but 3.2 beer is allowed. Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the committee told Hammaker the beer ban proposal will be "carefully considered."

Orchestra In 1st '52 Concert; Pleases Crowd

By JEAN MACDONALD An appreciative capacity audience witnessed the performance last night of the University Symphony orchestra with its guest pianist, Dimitri Mitropoulos, conductor of the New York Philharmonic. For the first number the orchestra played "Fantasy and Fugue in G Minor for Organ," by Bach. Mitropoulos transcribed the composition for the orchestra. James Dixon, a senior music student from Iowa City, conducted this opening selection with precision and clarity. Respighi's "Toccata," with Mitropoulos as piano soloist and Dixon conducting, was next on the program. Both Mitropoulos and Dixon received a tremendous ovation from the audience. The last selection was Berlioz' "Fantastic symphony," conducted by Prof. Philip Clapp, director of the SUI symphony orchestra. The first three movements were light and gay, depicting a young man's love. His love is spurned and he dreams he has killed the girl and is guillotined. The last part of the symphony becomes more spirited and violent. Mitropoulos appeared as guest soloist with the University Symphony orchestra last April. At that time also, Dixon conducted.

Kefauver Plans To Seek Presidential Candidacy

Oh Well! They Can Try Next Year

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - A man and his wife saw their names in a newspaper listing of persons who had income tax refunds coming. So they took off from work and went to the internal revenue office to collect. Their refund was one cent. Collector George T. McGowan said regulations did not permit him to give out the names.

March of Dimes Gains $1,302 from Movie Donations

Iowa City movie patrons have contributed $1,302.52 to the March of Dimes campaign, Mrs. J. K. Schaaf, co-chairman of the local polo foundation, said Wednesday. The drive total now stands at $1,759.04. About 90 of the 1,000 contribution cards mailed to Johnson county rural families have been returned, Mrs. Schaaf said. Mailing cards account for $159.33 of the total and donations from organizations, business and private parties complete the total. March of Dimes contributions may be mailed to P.O. Box 425, Iowa City. Tonight there will be a "March of Dimes" party at the Rollerace skating rink in Coralville. The regular admission price will be charged, and all proceeds will go to the drive. The Iowa City Federation of Labor will sponsor a March of Dimes benefit dance Wednesday at the Community building. The "Prairie Landers" will play for the dance, which starts at 9 p.m. There will be no admission charge and everyone is invited. Those attending the dance will have an opportunity to make contributions to the drive.

SUI Housing Units Given Pledge Cards For Blood Donations

Representatives of 53 SUI housing units were given blood donation pledge cards at an organizational meeting called by June Marken, A4, Des Moines, chairman of Red Cross college activities, Tuesday. Officials in charge of the bloodmobile's visit here indicated that students are being given a chance to sign cards now so that those under 21 may get their parents' consent. Every SUI housing unit will have a member that has pledge cards and release forms. The representative has the information necessary for prospective blood donors. The cards are also available at the Red Cross office, 15 1/2 S. Dubuque. The bloodmobile will be in Iowa City Feb. 19-21, stationed in the basement of the Methodist church. The mobile unit will come to Johnson county for three days every three months. Almost 1,000 pledges will be needed for each visit to fill the quota assigned by the defense department.

Says Campaign Unaffected By Truman's Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination Wednesday with a call for "new blood and new ideas" in the nation's political life. The crime-hunting senator emphasized that he will be a stick-to-the-end candidate, with no interest in settling for the vice-presidency in the event President Truman decides to seek reelection. The Tennessean, who skyrocketed to national prominence last year as chairman of the senate crime investigating committee, also declared he will campaign for a "clean house" in government and an end to "the unholy alliance between the criminal element and some men in politics." First Democratic Candidate Kefauver is the first Democrat to declare himself formally for the presidential nomination. So far, three Republicans - Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), Gov. Earl Warren of California and Harold E. Stassen - have bid for the GOP nomination. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is a fourth potential GOP candidate. He has said he will not seek the nomination, but will obey a "clearcut call to duty" if nominated. Kefauver first began to loom on the political horizon four years ago when he invaded the stronghold of Ed Crump, Memphis political leader, and picked up votes in the city which had been considered as Crump's undisputed bailiwick. 'Pet Coon' Crump scoffed at Kefauver as a "pet coon," and Kefauver promptly made political capital of the phrase. Soon afterwards, he appeared at a campaign rally wearing a coonskin cap. And he remarked that a coon may have rings on his tail, but no rings through his nose. Elsewhere on the political scene: Price Director Michael V. Di Salle told reporters, "Well, I'm gonna do it" - quit his federal post to seek the U. S. senate seat now held by Senator Bricker (R-Ohio). The chubby, 44-year-old price boss will try for the Democratic nomination. DiSalle made the decision to run for senator after conferring with Mr. Truman for 50 minutes at the White House Wednesday morning. DiSalle said he will enter the Ohio Democratic primary on May 6. He has been head of the office of price stabilization since Dec. 12, 1950, having resigned as mayor of Toledo to accept the federal post.

Acheson Approves Ike's Unity Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of State Acheson stamped American government approval Wednesday on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's suggestion to European nations that they hold a constitutional convention for unity. He made his statement at a news conference in which he also said this country is most eager for an agreement on the differences that have held up action under a plan for a six-nation European army. In backing up Eisenhower's call for a unity convention of Europe, Acheson ranged himself alongside a large segment of congress which included some of the potential presidential candidates. Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination later in the day, called the proposal from the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) commander "a splendid step in the right direction." Unification would "make it easier for us to work with them," Kefauver said.

UN Jets Get 2 MIGs In Brief Korea Scrap

SEOUL (THURSDAY) (AP) - U. S. Sabre jets Wednesday knocked two Russian-made MIG-15s from the skies in one battle and chased enemy planes back into Manchuria in a second. The American pilots also probably destroyed a third MIG and damaged a fourth, the U. S. fifth air force reported.

Tried to Help Vogeler Escape - 'Good Russian's' Story Doubted

VIENNA (AP) - The "good Russian" who was to emigrate with his family to the United States as a reward for trying to help American businessman Robert Vogeler escape from a Red Hungarian prison will not be leaving just yet, and maybe not ever. A U. S. intelligence officer expressed belief the "good Russian" had misled Vogeler. Another intelligence official said he understood "something new came to light in the last few hours" about the man. The intelligence official could not be identified by name. The American visas granted to Nikita Khrushchev and family were withdrawn Wednesday by order of Walter J. Donnelly, U.S. ambassador to Austria. A further investigation of Khrushchev was ordered. River Committee Hits Presidential Order As MVA Wedge

HASTINGS, NEB. (AP) - Rough treatment of President Truman's executive order establishing a Missouri Basin Survey commission came Wednesday from the Missouri River States committee. Committee members criticized it as unnecessary and a possible opening wedge for the creation of a Missouri Valley Authority, then made those views an official expression of the committee. "By his act," said Governor Val Peterson of Nebraska, "the President is repudiating his own federal agencies and slapping in the face every governor who has participated in the workings of the (Missouri Basin) inter-agency committee." Peterson labeled as "fatally untrue" the President's assertion that "there has not been a thorough reconsideration of the plans for flood control, irrigation, navigation and hydro-electric power developments in the Missouri basin since the congress authorized the so-called 'Pick-Sloan plan' in 1944."

Needed Worse Than Guns

2 Korean War Vets, Vernon Witte (left) and Lt. Kenneth Boll compare notes. To the Japanese, giving blood is the least they can do.

Just how rough is it in Korea? From the conversation which went between Vernon Witte, Williamsburg, and 1st Lt. Kenneth Boll, Davenport, you would get the impression that the Korean action, like any war, is hell.

Vernon, who was attending SUI until he was recalled in September, 1950, and sent to Korea, was wounded August 16 in a patrol action.

Lieutenant Boll, a regular army man, was more fortunate. He survived 13 months, from November 1950 until December of this year without suffering a scratch.

Both men served most of their time in the front lines.

Their conversation swung from mutual acquaintances to comparison of knowledge about the country and weather, and naturally, major actions.

They remembered some experiences which they try to forget. Some others which they hope never to forget.

Vernon related how the army was using, with great success, the helicopter for mercy missions. Many lives have been saved by rushing wounded troops back to first aid stations where blood was available.

The observer might have been able to notice a touch of bitterness — not really bitterness — let's say concern about the way some supplies come through.

Guns, ammunition, tanks, planes they seemed to think were arriving in sufficient numbers. Food, clothing, equipment — enough.

But blood? That is something that can't be purchased. And that is one supply that there seldom is too much of and frequently is too little of.

Lieutenant Boll told of the Japanese people giving blood. Many of them feel that donating blood is the least they can do for the American troops who have halted Red aggression in Korea, he said.

Frequently the GI's furnish blood for the GI's. Vernon said that much of the blood supply in Korea was given by soldiers there. Many of them, he said, were more than willing to volunteer their blood when they found it was needed.

In view of these things, can any American sit by and ignore the urgency of the situation? The students of SUI have been called upon to give blood.

We know some won't. We know some can't. But here's one way you can help the war effort without digging into your pocket.

Interpreting the News — Colonial Powers Caught In Old Self-Laid Traps

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. Associated Press News Analyst

The riotous anti-French demonstrations in Tunisia have been expected by Western diplomats for several months.

From Indonesia, India, Burma, Indo-China, Malaya, Egypt, Iran — over all the areas that have been dominated by European countries — the revolutionary flame is spreading. Part of it is the age-long battle for independence. Part of it is produced by the plain foolishness of the colonial powers, caught now in traps laid by themselves long ago.

U. S. Gave Autonomy

Fifty years ago the United States adopted, in the Philippines, one colonial policy — give them as much autonomy as they can stand.

Britain, France and Holland and the others tried giving as little as possible. They tried to sit on safety valves. Now they are getting blown off.

France tried a paper deal to meet this situation after the war. She created what she called the French Union, in which colonies were supposed to have a voice in the overall policy. But she kept Frenchmen and their puppets at the helm locally.

Refused Demands

She refused demands for an all-Tunisian parliament. French residents continued to operate in Tunisian politics. It was as though the American federal government kept men in various state capitals to tell governors and legislators what they could and couldn't do, except that in Tunisia the dictators were not even natives of the country.

There is a contest in the world between Russia and the Western powers for control of nations, a battle to line up as much strength as possible for cold or hot war. The free world does not consider it to anyone's advantage to turn adventuresome and weak young nations loose before they are able to withstand the pressures of such a situation. So Tunisia lost an appeal to the United Nations.

Bogard Adjudged Insane by Jury At Renwick Trial

DAKOTA CITY, IA. (AP)—Clyde Bogard, 39, former Renwick pool hall operator, was adjudged insane by a district court jury Wednesday and was taken immediately to the mental ward of the state men's reformatory at Anamosa.

Bogard had been charged with first degree murder in the slaying of his parents at Renwick last Nov. 24. His father, Howard Bogard, 69, was shot to death on Renwick's main street and the body of the mother was found at the parental home.

The jury of six men and six women took only 20 minutes to decide the issue of Bogard's sanity. Tuesday two SUI psychiatrists testified Bogard was suffering from a type of insanity known as "schizophrenic paranoia." They said Bogard had a progressive case of the disease and would grow worse as it advanced.

Bogard showed little emotion when advised of the verdict. He has been at Anamosa for safekeeping following his arrest immediately after the bodies were found. As Sheriff E. R. Bradley left at 3 p.m. Wednesday to return him to Anamosa, Bogard remarked, "Well, this means I'll be there for life."

The jurors found Bogard to be "presently insane" and his commitment directs that he shall remain at Anamosa until such time as his reason is restored. If he ever regains sanity he still will be subject to trial for murder.

$300,000 Project For Duck Hunters' Benefit Completed

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa Conservation Commission is pioneering in a $300,000 project for the benefit of duck hunters.

"We are developing an artificial marsh in Bremer county, and so far as we know it never has been done anywhere before for waterfowl purposes only," commission director Bruce F. Stiles related.

Work has been completed on the 1,650-acre tract near Tripoli. Water is being impounded and the marsh is about one-third full. The Plum Creek project, built without use of tax funds will be ready for hunters when the next duck season opens.

Stiles said the layout probably would accommodate about 100 hunters a day. He estimated that, based on the usual length of the duck season, 2,000 to 2,500 hunters could make use of the tract.

"It might take several years for the vegetation to grow up so as to make the marsh ideal for duck hunting," Stiles commented. "For the present, at least, the commission does not contemplate building any blinds there."

"If our management practice experience shows the need, we probably will institute a registration and allotment system there, like we have on Forney's lake in Fremont county near Thurman."

Forney's lake got to be such a popular duck hunting spot that the commission required gunners to register for use of blinds there, and then allotted each a certain length of time for use of the blind.

Stiles said the Bremer county project is being financed three-fourths by federal funds which come to the commission and one-fourth from fish and game funds. The commission bought the land involved. The estimated over-all cost of the project is about $300,000.

About a third of the area will be set aside as a refuge and will not be open to hunting anytime.

Clinton Man Hurt After 20-Foot Fall Into Icy Creek

CLINTON (AP)—Roy Edmonds, 53, of Clinton, fell 16 to 20 feet from a railroad trestle Wednesday and was in the icy water for 90 minutes before he was rescued. The temperature was near zero.

Edmonds, a North Western railroad freight conductor, tumbled through the trestle as he was checking a "hot box" on one of the cars. The accident happened early Wednesday morning over an ice-covered creek about a mile east of Grand Mound, Ia.

The Clinton conductor was reported in fair condition Wednesday evening at a Clinton hospital. He had suffered a broken leg, shock and loss of blood.

Two train brakemen, Russell Shields and Wesley Funk, both of Belle Plaine, Ia., got a rope to Edmonds after he fell, but were unable to get the conductor, who weighs about 250 pounds, from the water. They tied the rope to the bridge to hold him up and went for help.

Three firemen from near Grand Mound, a farmer, and a Grand Mound physician helped in the rescue efforts. Boards and ladders were used to get to Edmonds. Shields fell into the water once himself during the rescue work.

Armour's, Union Indicate Desire to Break Deadlock

OMAHA (AP)—Company and union spokesmen both indicated their willingness Wednesday to break the deadlock that has kept Armour's Omaha plant idle for four working days.

But neither was ready to make a direct overture toward the other.

E. G. Hinton, general manager of Armour's Omaha plant, issued a statement saying that if the company is given assurance by the union that its members "will work at their jobs in a normal manner without interruption . . . we will resume operations and call our people back as rapidly as we have work for them to do."

But Hinton said he was making no effort to give this information to the union except through news media.

a half for Saturday work, increased clothing allowance and general wage increase," the statement said.

It declared that Armour "stated each time and stated that they wanted to study our demands, then contrary to its promise 'concluded a contract' with American Federation of Labor workers before concluding it with CIO."

The statement called AFL acceptance of the six-cent an hour wage increase "cowardly" and termed it a "real bargain day for the packers."

Odebolt Praises 'Miracle' Firemen After Major Blaze

ODEBOLT, IA. (AP)—This county town of 1,300 echoed Wednesday night with praise of firemen who battled successfully a sub-zero weather to bring a major fire under control in the Odebolt business district.

Firemen from Arthur, Auburn, Lake View, Wall Lake, Early and Ida Grove aided Odebolt firefighters in quelling the $25,000 blaze.

The 70-year-old Briggle store was destroyed and the adjacent Lang building lost its roof to the flames. The Watts Drug store, on the other side of the cafe, suffered smoke and water damage.

Odebolt Fire Chief Lloyd Lang said it was a miracle the firemen were able to prevent the Lang and Watts buildings from burning down. There was only 1-foot clearance between the cafe and adjoining structures.

Water froze to the clothing of firemen and spray from 10 hoses showered down in the faces of ice pellets. It was 10 below when the fire broke out in the cafe at about 7:30 a.m. For a time flames shot 40 feet into the air. The Briggle and Lang store were frame. The drug store was brick.

Vern Boerner, who lived with his wife in an upstairs apartment in the Lang building, was moved to safety. He had returned home Monday after being ill in a Sioux City hospital. Some of the Boerner furniture was saved.

Cause of the fire had not been determined. No injuries were reported.

Vets Administration Tells Man That He Has Died

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A. C. Russell opened a letter from the Veterans' Administration to his wife, and learned he was reported dead.

A check of records showed Russell, who served 3 1/2 years in the air force, blacked out recently from high blood pressure at a Shawnee, Okla., hospital.

Someone put a check mark in the wrong column on his medical report.

The VA assured Russell it would remove the mark from the death column.

Design Selected For Duck Stamps

WASHINGTON (AP)—A design showing Harlequin ducks flying against a background of dashing waves Wednesday was chosen for the 1952-53 federal duck stamps.

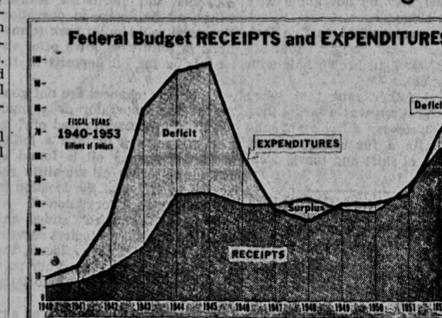

The winning design was submitted by John H. Dick of Megan, S. C.

Seventy designs, submitted by 49 contestants, were considered in the annual competition held by the fish and wildlife service.

The stamps, costing $2 each, must be bought by hunters migratory wildfowl.

The competition's judges included members of congress, government officials and leaders in wildlife activities.

Beardsley's Dog Is Found

MRS. WILLIAM BEARDSLEY INSPECTS "DAGGER," the Beardsley's 12-year-old pet collie who was back home Wednesday. Dagger has been gone about a month. He was found by a Des Moines family after Governor Beardsley had advertised his disappearance and offered a reward for his return.

TV Follows Movies Use Of Trick Photography

NEW YORK (AP) — Television is following in the footsteps of the movies in its use of trick shots and special effects to make you see what isn't really there — at least not the way you see it.

With its operations limited to much smaller space than the movies, TV has an even greater need for special effects to give the illusion of space and distance. And it's showing great ingenuity in making a doll house, for instance, look like a mansion — or a baby alligator like a prehistoric monster.

A device dubbed "the gismo" has been developed by director George Gould for his "Tom Corbett, Space Cadet" on ABC-TV to project actors shown by one camera into a scene picked up by another.

The gadget, an electronic amplifier, gives an extremely realistic effect without the semi-transparent appearance you usually see when signals from two cameras are mixed to superimpose the images.

On one show, a camera was focused closeup on a bowl of boiling cereal containing pebbles, and a second camera was turned on actors hopping along chalk marks on a stage in front of a dark background. With the gismo, TV viewers saw the actors apparently hopping from rock to rock across a lake of boiling mud.

Another device already in use carries a tiny picture of a scene in a box attached to the front of the camera. When a scene is shot through the box, actors on a bare stage appear to be playing within the setting shown in the picture.

TV has borrowed directly from the movies in using what is known as rear projection. If you want to show actors in a studio who apparently are in an outdoor setting, you place them in front of a movie screen on which is projected — from the rear — a movie of the setting you want. "One Man's Family" on NBC-TV was one of the first to use this technique.

The dense fog seen in the recent production of "The Nymph and The Lamp" on Playhouse of Stars on CBS-TV was produced by dropping particles of dry ice into a pan of water attached to the front of the camera.

Canadian Girls Risk Lives In Parachute Rescue Teams

AP Newsfeatures

JASPER, Alta — The air force calls them ordinary Canadian girls, but they're a lot more than that.

The girls, who are members of the R.C.A.F. parachute rescue teams, are trained to parachute into the wildest bush country without regard for life and limb in their mission of bringing rescue and relief to persons in difficulty in remote sections.

They can hop backwards down the steepest cliff faces, negotiate rivers by raft or canoe, handle an ax with the dexterity of any man, cross glaciers or wrest a living from the bush if necessary.

There were five of them originally, but one is temporarily out of action with injuries.

All are R.C.A.F. nurses. Nursing Sister Marian Frances Neily, 22, of Middleton, N. S., was the first air force nurse to parachute from an aircraft in Canada. Nursing Sister Anna Louise Peden, 30, of Victoria, B. C., is a sister of the famous six-day bike racers, Torchy and Doug Peden. Nursing Sister Luella Marion MacDonald, 26, of Vancouver, is a sister of Harry MacDonald, who won the Military Cross overseas during the second great war. Nursing Sister Jean Isabelle Thompson, 23, came from South River, Ont.

The fifth, Nursing Sister Muriel Beaton, of North Bay, Ont., suffered a broken leg as a result of a parachute jump at Namao airport near Edmonton recently.

The girls, all volunteers, with two doctors and eight medical assistants, are taking the special parachute rescue course at Edmonton and Jasper. It is the first time women have been trained for this type of work in Canada.

The idea for the para-rescue course was conceived during the second World War by the famous bush pilot, W. R. (WOP) May, at that time associated with the R.C.A.F.

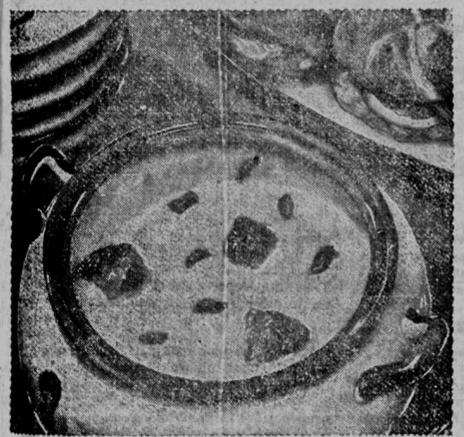

Objectives are three-fold:

1. To give the pupil a sound knowledge of the technique and application of bush lore, mountain climbing, travel afoot in rough terrain and survival practices.
2. To train pupils in the use and maintenance of life saving, supply dropping and rescue equipment.
3. To impart to the pupil a knowledge of the correct methods of parachute jumping under favorable or unfavorable conditions for rescue purposes.

Training is intense. It includes 401 hours of practical and classroom training, of which 65 hours are devoted to physical training. The keynote of the whole school is physical fitness. It results in 2 1/2 hours of P.T. a day.

The women are expected to hold their own with the men — both in training and in the field. So far, they have compared well in training.

Smart Cooks Discover Mushroom Soup

Happy is the homemaker who keeps several cans of cream of mushroom soup on her kitchen shelf. She can breeze easily through those family requests for a fine meal — in a hurry.

You've probably found how much mealtime help is in this triple-talented mushroom soup. As you plan the family's fare for a week, remember the special good ways it can brighten menus and simplify cooking.

1. As the main hot dish.
2. As a savory sauce for meats or vegetables.
3. As a cooking sauce for casseroles or creamed dishes.

For some "wonderful eating" ideas with mushroom soup, try these:

Mushroom Soup 'n' Sandwich Pats: A big tureen of steaming fragrant mushroom soup is a meal in itself served with an assortment of sandwiches. Garnish the soup with crisp bacon curls or browned rings. For an all-in-one dish, fill split buns with sliced ham; top ham with onion and green pepper rings, and lettuce. As dessert, serve chilled canned peach halves in their juice; fill halves with whole cranberry sauce.

Mushroom Sauce for Chops: After chops (pork, veal or lamb) are panfried and ready to serve, remove them to a platter and prepare this mushroom soup-sauce. Blend together the soup, about 1 tablespoon of meat drippings and the browned bits of meat in the skillet; stir in 1/4 cup of milk. Makes enough sauce for 4 to 6 chops.

Mushroom Scalloped Potatoes: Use 5 cups of sliced cooked potatoes for this. To make the sauce, blend 1 can of mushroom soup with 1/2 cup milk, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and a dash of pepper. Alternate layers of potatoes and sauce in a 2-quart casserole. Dot top with butter. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Bullfighter

FULL STATUS as a professional bull fighter has been achieved by Patricia McCormick, 22-year-old Texan, by her debut in the ring at Juarez, Mexico, where she killed two bulls. She is the only active feminine bull fighter on the continent.

Edgar Bergen is working on a new series of television appearances but says he and Charlie McCarthy aren't ready to give up radio by any means.

Bergen relates that his appeals to the public for Christmas gifts for wounded service men last December were made only on radio. "And although no one is supposed to be listening to radio in the cities any more," he says, "we got a fine lot of gifts from New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and other places where television sets are thickest."

The ventriloquist made four appearances on TV last season with three on films, and plans to put all the new series on film.

The forum program "America's Town Meeting," on radio for 17 years, will have a separate television version on ABC-TV starting Sunday, Jan. 27. . . . The same network is showing potential sponsors a sample film of a proposed TV program featuring Louella Parsons. . . . CBS plans to start a separate TV version of Art Linkletter's "House Party" in March. . . . Under the stimulus of TV, radio is trying to find out how many people are in the audience it previously didn't bother to count — listeners outside the home. C. E. Hooper, Inc. for instance, made a survey showing 78 per cent of the automobiles in Salt Lake City had radios and that an average of 24 per cent were turned on during broadcast hours.

P.E.O. Sisterhood Will Meet Friday

In observance of the founding of the P.E.O. sisterhood on Jan. 21, 1869, at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, the three local chapters, E, H, and JF, will meet together for lunch at the Iowa Union Friday at 12:30.

Arrangements are in charge of the reciprocity groups of the three chapters, composed of: the Mesdames J. E. Snider, Don Guthrie, M. L. Hult, C. J. Whipple, Alan Wicks, R. A. Fenton, Chester I. Miller, E. B. Kurtz, Earle S. Smith, R. C. Wheeler and L. G. Lawyer.

Visiting P.E.O.'s and unaffiliated members are invited to attend and may make reservations by calling, by noon today, Mrs. C. Woody Thompson, 7939, Mrs. R. A. Fenton, 6421 or Mrs. R. C. Wheeler, 5182.

ROTARY CLUB

Prof. A. K. Miller, of the SUI geology department, will speak to the Iowa City Rotary club at its meeting today in the Jefferson hotel. He will speak on "Down East in Canada."

Textured Woolens, New Silhouettes For Spring Coats

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Textured woolens and new silhouettes add excitement to this spring's coat story.

The new coats are definitely 1952—and this is one season when a coat is going to look dated.

At first interest are the featherweight nubby woolens used in many high style coats—fabrics with almost a poodle texture, yet light as soap suds. These are used principally in pale pastel tones, including beige and off-white, though a few high colors will be seen.

If you insist on a black or navy coat for spring, there are plenty of these available also—but the pale, textured styles have a newer look.

There is wide variety in both silhouette and length. Your new coat may be loose and full-length, or it may come barely to your waistline, and be snugged in tightly to accentuate a slim midriff. It may be long and fitted, or it may be a little bolero-like affair with a cape-like look. It may be the popular boxy style in hip length, or it may be a fitted style about the length of a riding jacket.

All are new, all are handsome—and there should be at least one style mattering to any figure.

Linings also are important this spring. Some coats have flamboyant striped or plaid taffeta linings. Others embroider the linings, and others use linings for color and texture contrast.

Profile Preview Committee Named

The planning committee for the 1952 Profile Preview, annual fashion show sponsored by University Women's association, was announced by U.W.A. council recently. All selections were made from applications.

Rosemary Goetzmann was selected as general chairman. Head of the style show subcommittee is Marilyn Peterson. Members of this committee are Toni Rhombert, Mary Elizabeth Leinfelder, Pauline Ruben, Jane Walker, and Joan Ewers.

The personal interviews subcommittee is headed by Marcia Gordon. Other members are Jo Evans, Jane Blake, Suzanne Weil, and Betty Ann Dubansky. The chairman of the publicity committee is Donna Lee Johnston, with Diane Skinner, Joan Gay Sokolof and Sally Sue Chastain as members. The script will be written by Sonya Goering.

MANVILLE HEIGHTS CLUB
The Manville Heights club will meet this afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. George F. Roberson, 322 Beldon st. Assisting will be Mrs. Dick Jones and Mrs. Ray Reynolds.

From Awkward Kid — Darling's Come Far — To Big Ten's Best

By LEE CANNING

It takes someone who has a close personal interest to appreciate the progress of a basketball player from an awkward but eager high school freshman of 6-2 to a polished shooter and rebounder college senior of 6-8.

Two people, such as Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Darling, whose giant son, Chuck, is Iowa's heavy-scoring center, realize how much improvement has occurred since high school days. Chuck now holds some Hawkeye records and hopes to break others by the end of the 1952 season.

The Darlings, who now live in Dearborn, Mich., watched Chuck play Michigan State in the conference opener at East Lansing. They were impressed with his 20 points but the center's best output is 34. In the past season and one-half he has bettered 20 18 times, and his average this season is a whopping 25.5 in conference games. And he has boosted the range of his deadly pivot hook shot and has developed the hand and wrist flexibility for a "soft" shot.

Chuck will tell you that he wasn't much of a player as a prep freshman. He was "only 6-2" and definitely not nifty. Then he sprouted 6 inches in a year to reach his present 6-8 and the added awkwardness counteracted some of the benefits of his new height.

But Chuck worked at it and helped to lead Helena, Mont. to a runner-up spot in the state tourney. And he made the all-state team, somewhat to his amazement.

Once on the progress road, Chuck stepped out in giant strides. His family moved to Denver and the big boy led South Denver high school to a perfect record in 18 games and the state title. You guessed it, Darling was all-state. And in 1947-48, he was all-state again as his team was runner-up for the championship.

He chose Iowa for his university because his father is the holder of two Iowa advanced degrees and because he was born in Denison and has family ties in the state.

Bucky O'Connor, present varsity coach, helped him to smooth out as a freshman. In his sophomore year he scored 175 points in 19 games. Confidence and aggressiveness were needed but he popped in 21 points against champion Ohio State and 28 at Purdue as signs of things to come.

Darling worked on coordination exercises, such as rope-skipping, and last season scored 387 points in 22 games for a 16.3 average. He figured in three Iowa records: most free throws in one game, best free throw percentage and best field goal percentage for one season.

Darling is a weightman on the track team in the spring, only the second Iowan to put the shot over 50 feet and also scores well in the discus throw.

He is effective in the classroom, too, with close to a B-plus average, majoring in petroleum geology. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary fraternity whose members are selected for high attainment in scholarship and leadership.

Busy Gents

Stanky, Veeck Digging For Customers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If personal appearances will put fans in the bleachers, the Browns and Cardinals should break all attendance records this year.

Like jungle "beaters," owner Bill Veeck of the Browns and Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cards are thrashing the bushes in a wild wintertime scramble for patronage.

"Drive them to the turnstiles," seems to be the cry of this strange chorus on the banquet circuit.

The tireless Veeck started beating the drums first. Stanky is catching on. Although a novice in this hungry race to luncheon's — anyone's luncheon — he's touching a few good-will bases of his own.

Tuesday, for instance, he appeared on two TV shows here, then raced to a north side civic affair. Monday night he was on three different radio programs in Springfield, Ill. Wednesday he was in East St. Louis.

Today he's off for the Missouri capital at Jefferson City, then down to Springfield, Mo., on Friday. Saturday it's back to St. Louis and next Monday to Omaha, Neb.

But Veeck seems to be putting on more speed and like a fast express he sweeps other members of the Brownie family along with him on the grand tour of the hinterlands.

At noon Tuesday Veeck's wife, Mary Francis, spoke to an advertising club at Hotel Statler here. One floor below, the man with the sports shirt and furrowed brow chatted and joked with Missouri and Illinois press and radio representatives.

Reichardt to Get MVP Trophy At Illini Game

The sterling silver replica of an actual size football, emblematic of the honor as the most valuable player in the Big Ten in 1951, will be presented to Bill Reichardt, Iowa fullback, between halves of the Illinois-Iowa basketball game here Feb. 9.

Director Paul Brechler announced that the trophy, awarded annually by the Chicago Tribune would be given to Reichardt by Wilfrid Smith of that newspaper's sports staff.

Reichardt also will receive the engraved white gold football of key chain size which is given to each conference player nominated most valuable by his team mates.

Choice of Reichardt as the Big Ten's most valuable was made in December by vote of the football coaches, a panel of officials, K. L. Wilson, the conference commissioner; Arch Ward, sports editor of the Tribune; and Smith. The voters total 21 men.

The Hawkeye received seven first place votes and nine for second. He is the 28th player in the league to win the football and the fourth Iowan.

Other Iowa players to win were Bill Glassgow, 1929; Joe Laws, 1933; and Nile Kinnick, 1939. Ohio State leads the league in winners with five, followed by Iowa and Michigan, four; Indiana, Wisconsin and Northwestern, three; Illinois, Minnesota and Chicago, two.

Harvard Grid Plans Won't Consider Gates

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (AP) — Harvard's future intercollegiate football schedules will be lightened without regard to gate receipts, President James B. Conant informed the university's board of overseers in his annual report made public Wednesday night.

"Slowly at first and then with frightening acceleration, intercollegiate athletics developed in the United States during the 20th century," Dr. Conant pointed out.

"The status in 1952 needs no comment in view of all that has been written and said on the subject of football and basketball in the last eight months. We have arranged for the coming football seasons without regard to the gate receipts and provided for lighter schedules."

Dr. Conant reported that the net expense of Harvard's intercollegiate and intramural athletic programs in 1950-51 was in excess of $350,000, financed as part of the budget of the faculty of arts and sciences.

"This sum is not to be regarded as an athletic deficit," Dr. Conant said. "It is as much a proper charge against the resources of the faculty as the maintenance of a library or a laboratory."

ILLINOIS BASKETBALL players may be worried about their coming clash with Iowa but right now there's something else occupying their interest. The Illini squad is currently preparing for final exams and here Irv Bemoras (left) and 6-9 John Kerr hit the books. The Illini, rated number one in the nation, meet DePaul at Chicago Saturday night.

Braves' Chet Nichols Passes Army Physical

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (AP) — Chet Nichols, slender, young southpaw of the Boston Braves who, without fanfare, compiled the best earned run average in the National league last season, was pronounced fit for the armed services Wednesday.

Nichols, who will be 21 Feb. 22, had no idea when he would be called into service. Friends remarked he was the only support of his parents. His father, who was a relief pitcher with the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Phillies, recently suffered a hand injury in a factory where he was employed and had to quit work.

Athletic Dept. Aids Research

Gives $9,760 Grant To Medical College

A grant of $9,760 from athletic revenues at Iowa has been made to the college of medicine to finance two research projects allied with the athletic program and physical education.

Director Paul W. Brechler declared Wednesday that the grant will aid studies in athletic injuries and their treatment and in physiological testing in an effort to further the effects of a reconditioning program.

The research will be conducted under the joint auspices of Drs. H. M. Hines, physiology; Carroll Larson, orthopedics; W. D. Paul, internal medicine; and Frank Sills, physical education, Brechler said.

Study Injuries' Effect

In the physiology laboratory, it is desired to find how injuries affect the bone and soft tissue with special reference as to whether the effects are the result of muscle spasm or interference with blood supply.

The clinical project will attempt to determine existing abnormalities in the spine with relation to trauma and the effects of a reconditioning program. This study will be carried out in the field house and the department of orthopedics.

The doctors hope to establish certain normal patterns by photographic and x-ray studies so that it might be possible to screen prospective athletes and determine if they are likely to become effective athletes. It is possible the work will enable predictions as to whether men will be good football players, tennis men, swimmers, or other sports.

Wants to Aid

Brechler said that the department of athletics is anxious to make some of its funds available to projects which are directly related to the intercollegiate program. This grant is on a continuing basis.

The amount covers the cost of all apparatus, including $3,500 DeLorme apparatus which is useful for corrective as well as experimental work and strain gauges which detect muscle and ligament strain.

What Happened to That Pint of Blood You Were Going to Give?

Sure, you were going to give blood.

But Bill called you for lunch, then there was that rush job at the office . . . and, oh yes—you caught a little cold . . . perfectly good excuses . . . but no blood.

Why is it needed so desperately?

Simple arithmetic:— your Armed Forces require 300,000 pints of whole blood a month. American citizens have been donating it at the rate of 30,000 pints a month.

Month after month after month we go into the red, literally—to the tune of 270,000 pints of blood . . . tapping our precious, dwindling reserves . . .

And for how long? Ask the men who fell in the carnage at "No-Name Ridge" on the Naktong River, at Kimpo Air-strip and on "Heartbreak Ridge" . . . ask the men who will fall tomorrow somewhere else, on some equally unknown, unsung place on the map . . .

For the truth is, now—at this very hour—the Department of Defense says we are near . . . dangerously near—the bottom of the barrel.

Then what?

Will we keep on making lunch dates . . . finding last-minute work . . . will we keep on and on and on . . . until one day the death and destruction raining from the skies fall from our skies . . . on us? Until the blood we forgot to give is taken from us . . . in vain?

Where's the democratic arithmetic . . . the plain, unadulterated, common-sense of it?

What's the percentage in any good American giving his blood the hard way . . . when you can save his and yours by giving the easy way?

American U. to Offer Ghost Writing Courses

WASHINGTON (AP) — A course of study for ghost writers will open next month at American university.

Among other things, they will be taught to write in such a way that orators will understand at all times what they are saying.

Dr. Walter P. Bowman, head of the university's department of communications, who will teach the course, said Wednesday that ghost writers are "indispensable artisans" although only a few years ago they were "inadmissible."

"Most of the great speeches we hear are written in a whole or in part by someone backstage," he said. "It is time we recognized the fact and offered suitable training in the art of writing speeches."

There are no official estimates on how many ghost writers pen speeches in Washington, but D. W. Oten, assistant director of public relations at American U., said "There must be more than 150 at the top level in Washington alone."

Osten said the toughest part of a ghost's job is adjusting his own talents to fit the mental and oratorical capacities of the man for whom he is writing his speech.

Moreover, said Osten, he can't put words in the mouth of a speaker that the speaker himself doesn't understand.

W.H. Stewart Dies, Services To Be Friday

Last rites for William Hal Stewart, 82, long-time resident and Iowa City business man, will be held 2:30 p.m. Friday at the Congregational church. Mr. Stewart died Wednesday at Mercy hospital.

He was born at Muscatine Oct. 19, 1869, the son of Marcus M. and Ida Hine Stewart, and came to Iowa City in 1885. He established the Stewart and Son shoe business with his father, and retired from the business in 1921.

Mr. Stewart served as vice-president of the Johnson County bank until 1927, and was associated with the New York Life Insurance company until 1951.

He was a life-long member of the Congregational church and served on the executive board of the church. A charter member of the Rotary club, he held the office of president of the local club in 1926.

Mr. Stewart was an active member of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

He is survived by his wife, Emma Close Stewart, who he married in 1892, two daughters, Alice, Iowa City, and Helen, Huntington Park, Calif., and a son, Mark M. Stewart, Iowa City.

The Rev. John C. Craig will officiate at the services. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Suit Is Filed Asking Damages, Back Rent On Coralville House

Suit has been filed in Johnson county district court by Russell S. Soper asking recovery of rent owed on property he has leased in Coralville, and for damages caused by tenants.

Soper charges that Willa O. and John A. Peterson leased a house at 408 Chapman st. in Coralville and agreed to pay $560 on an eight months lease. He charges that the defendants left the property before the lease expired and have not paid the rent in full.

The plaintiff also charges that the defendants failed to drain the plumbing in the house, which resulted in damage requiring $178.07 in repairs.

Soper asks total judgment of $598.07 for rent claimed due and for the damages. An attachment was ordered against property owned by the defendants.

PLAYS WITHOUT AUDIENCE

NEW LONDON, CONN. (AP) — A teen-aged sailor was accused of breach of peace Wednesday because, two complaining clergymen said, he gave pipe organ concerts in their churches without their permission and without an audience.

UNESCO Offers Jobs In Foreign Education

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural organization, which is developing a program of technical assistance to under-developed nations, is seeking qualified people to assist in the program of education and science.

UNESCO's activities in education include fundamental education focused on literacy, but including teaching people to live healthily and productively.

The emphasis in public information is on the establishment of mass media to carry current information to farmers, workers and technicians.

There is an urgent need of people who are qualified to do these jobs and who are available for overseas assignments, according to Miss Frances Camp, director of the SUI educational placement office.

The vacancies to be filled are distributed throughout the Middle and Far East, Latin America and Southeast Asia. Initial contracts are normally for a period of one year, subject to renewal.

Details of these positions, together with requirements and countries involved, are available at the educational placement office, C103 East Hall.

Pre-Med Tests Set for May 10

The Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N. J., advises that candidates for admission into medical school in the fall of 1953 take the medical college admission test on May 10.

This test is also given Nov. 3. The candidates who take the May test will receive scores of the examination to submit to the institutions to which they are applying in early fall.

Application forms and a bulletin of information are available from premedical advisers or by writing to the Educational Testing Service, Box 592, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications for the May test must reach Princeton by April 26, and those for November by Oct. 20.

$7,611 in Gifts, Grants Accepted by University

Gifts and grants totalling $7,611 have been accepted for SUI by the finance committee of the state board of education, President Virgil M. Hancher announced Wednesday.

Also accepted was a one-speed Clave sterilizer for the dental infirmary in the college of dentistry. The sterilizer was presented by the Wilmot Castle company of Rochester, N.Y.

Largest of the grants was $4,000 from the Josiah Macy Jr., foundation for studies under Steven Horvath, associate professor of physiology, of the responses of human beings to exposure to cold. The grant is the second of a series supporting a three-year study begun in July, 1951.

E. I. duPont de Nemours and company gave $3,500 to renew a post-graduate fellowship in chemistry for the academic year 1952-53. The fellowship is currently held by Robert C. Nagler, G. Solon.

Lakeside Laboratories, Inc., of Milwaukee, gave $200 as first payment on a $1,300 grant for research to be conducted in the department of pediatrics of the college of medicine. The studies will concern metabolism — the body's use — of fats and oils.

A $50 gift from Banes and Mayer, Inc., Philadelphia, is to be used to support research by Dr. Alton E. Braley, head of ophthalmology. Lester R. Mayer is a former patient of Braley who adopted this method of expressing his appreciation.

A total of $61 contributed to the University hospitals' 1951 Christmas fund was also formally accepted by the committee. Contributors were the Delta Delphian society, Newton, $10; Mrs. R. J. Brown, District Court of Iowa, Vinton, $3; Elmer Chamberlain, Vall, $1; Isaac Fuiks and daughter Beth, Iowa City, $25;

River Road club, Brooklyn, $10; South Prairie Social club, West Liberty, $7, and Mrs. Frances Comly, Iowa Falls, $5.

'Penniless' Newsmen Leaves Huge Fortune In Brooklyn Vault

NEW YORK (AP) — A shabbily-dressed old man buried in a Brooklyn "Potter's Field" last November was found Wednesday to have left an apparent fortune in a safe deposit box.

Police said the box contained bank books, bonds and stocks showing a value of $500,000.

How he amassed them nobody knows.

He left no relatives and no will, so far as is known.

Police identified the old man as Harry C. Smith, 84. He lived amid a shambles of old newspapers and junk in a dilapidated house in Brooklyn. His home had no bed.

His clothes were virtually rags. He wore two pairs of trousers at once, held up by pins. His socks and shoes had holes.

He slept days and left his home at night. Three or four times a week he visited his safe deposit box at the Pioneer warehouse in Brooklyn. Until his death, nobody knew what he had hidden inside.

Smith had told a few neighbors he was a newspaperman. He said he wrote society items, financial news and a syndicated column — but never disclosed where or when they were published.

Employees of the warehouse said his known history goes back to 1914 when he visited the warehouse for the first time.

In April, 1941, Smith's visits to the vault halted. Employees went to his home to inquire. They found he was ill in a hospital. That was when they discovered the disarray in which he lived.

He recovered that time, and soon resumed his visits to his safe deposit box.

Then, some months ago, his visits stopped. Two weeks ago the warehouse people inquired again. His neighbor hadn't seen him. The missing persons bureau was called in.

The bureau found that he entered King's County hospital Oct. 21 and died Oct. 24.

Nobody knew him. He was buried in Potter's Field on Nov. 5. He took his best news story to the grave.

Grants to Teach English in France Are Now Available

Grants for a year's study in France are now being offered by the Institute of International Education. Forty of the 80 grants offered are for young college graduates who are interested in teaching conversational English for one year in a French school.

These assistant teachers will live at the schools or colleges to which they are assigned and will teach about 12 hours a week. The grants, given by the French government, will provide the student with 22,000 to 27,000 francs a month.

Approximately 25 fellowships are to be given for graduate study in Paris and are open to students in all fields of study.

The Wooley Foundation will offer four special scholarships for the study of art and music in Paris. These scholarships provide for a grant of $1,000 and carries the provision that the student will live at the American Institute of the Paris university.

Applications from many American students are encouraged by the institute. Completed applications must be filed by Feb. 15, 1952. Inquiries should be made immediately to the U. S. Student Program, Institute of International Education, 2 West 45th st., New York, N. Y.

Eligibility requirements include graduation from an American college or professional school and good knowledge of French. Applicants must be unmarried.

Speed Transmission Record Is Claimed

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's highest speed in sending words, pictures and letters was claimed Wednesday by Western Union engineers reporting a new system called high-speed facsimile.

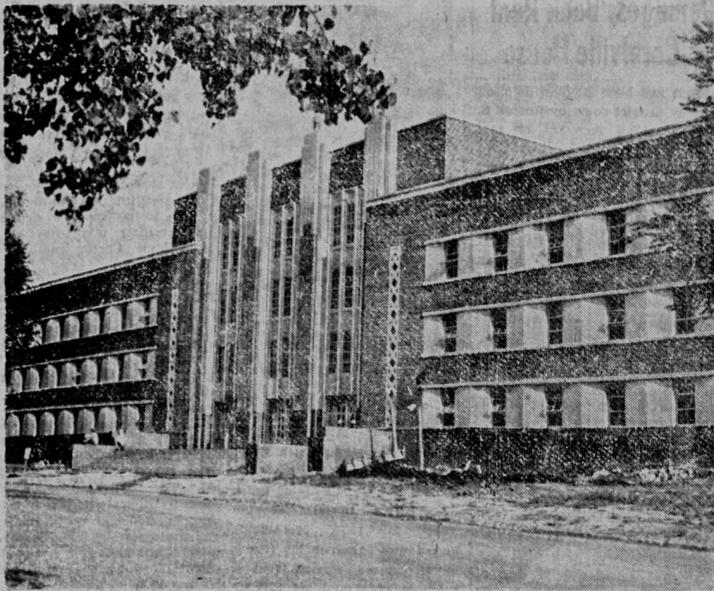

They reported to the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. They measure the speed in the time it takes from starting the message until it is in finished form for you.

The speed is 3,000 words a minute of newsprint, or 80 big letters, 8½ by 15 inches, an hour. Photos, half-tones and line drawings are said to transmit with excellent definition and contrast. Color pictures print in black and white.

They also reported on a one-foot square box which replaces the old-time Western Union messenger boy. The box is a miniature telegraph office, set on a desk. A message is placed on a drum in the box and the sender pushes a button. The box sends a picture of the message to the main Western Union office.

If the box buzzes, a message is coming from the Western Union. The receiver presses a button and gets the picture message. By the end of this year, 10,000 of these boxes are expected to be in use.

Ceremonies to Make Library 'Official'

SU'S LIBRARIES WILL BE THE MEETING PLACE for nearly 100 librarians this weekend. Opened on March 26, 1951, the building houses 60,000 books and 950,000 pamphlets and can accommodate 1,800 students at one time. The $1.5 million structure made SUI one of the few American universities to have a complete library in one building and gave the university's books their first permanent home since 1857.

Dedication to Draw 100 Librarians

Nearly 100 librarians from points as distant as British Columbia, California, Georgia, and New Hampshire will assemble Friday to take part in the two-day dedication of the SUI library, according to Ralph E. Ellsworth, director of the university libraries.

Librarians from 56 of the country's major colleges and universities, the Library of Congress and a number of large public libraries in 25 states have indicated they will attend the ceremonies. According to Ellsworth, this will be one of the best representations of major schools to meet on the campus in recent years.

The public is invited to attend the dedication program, which has been planned to include topics of special interest to librarians, students, faculty members, library architects and book collectors.

Friday's sessions will include lectures, a panel discussion and reception in the new university library, and a luncheon and dinner in the Iowa Memorial Union. Saturday representatives of the American Research Librarians association will hold their meeting while other visiting library officials take part in seminar discussions of special problems.

10 SUI Students In Recital Today

Ten SUI music students will appear in a recital in North Music hall at 4:10 p.m. today.

Included in the program will be works by Mozart, Purcell, Brahms and Beethoven.

Helena Bartunek, daughter of Mrs. Vincent Bartunek, 320 Brown st., will be the featured pianist.

Others in the recital will be: Yvonne Longstreth, A3, Elma, soprano; Ronald Rogers, A3, Ainsworth, tenor; Joan Smith, A4, Wapello, mezzo-soprano; Ruth Lowry Brooks, Cresco, flute; Camille Cooper, Waterloo, A3, flute; BoB Bouma, G, Grinnell, clarinet; Joanne Smith, A3, Rockford, Alan Rea, A2, Kansas City, Mo., Annette Feigenbaum, A4, East Chicago, Ind., and Lois Wagner, A4, Eureka, Ill., all piano.

RUSSIAN PRINCESS ARRESTED
PARIS (AP) — Police arrested 56-year-old Russian Princess Alexandra D'Anjou-Durasov on fraud and theft charges Wednesday. They said she borrowed 12 million francs ($35,000) on her story that she was to receive a million-dollar American inheritance.

Among those filing claims against her was Yvon Petra, French tennis star and former Wimbledon champion, who said he lent the princess 200,000 francs ($500).

22 Countries Compete — Drink-Mixing Championship

LONDON (AP) — The grandest cocktail spree since the invention of the martini got under way Wednesday without a souse in the house.

Cocktails of all hues — red, green, yellow, even blue ones — poured from frosted shakers in an alcoholic marathon designed to find the world's champion mixed drink master.

It was tantalizing for everyone but the four judges — two men and two women — and they were allowed only to sip.

A few hundred watchers and a handful of newspapermen stood around with their tongues hanging out.

It was the opening of the world's cocktail-mixing championship, which has attracted 375 entries from 22 countries. The shaking and tasting will go on until Feb. 4, when the winner will be awarded a silver mug big enough to hold a couple of quarts of manhattans and 50 pounds ($140).

Six Americans — all Californians — are here with their original jungle juice recipes. It is the first time Americans have competed personally in the event, although some have entered their concoctions to be mixed by proxy in previous years.

"We brought our own stuff with us," said Bob Leroy of Hollywood, "to make sure we get exactly the right flavor in our drinks."

None of the Americans had a chance to show his wares to the judges Wednesday. They are entered in later heats.

English mixologists have won the title the last five times.

Each entry must be original. As there are more than 7,000 originally recognized cocktails it takes a bit of imagination even to get into the contest.

The event is sponsored by the United Kingdom Bartenders guild, which has branches in New York and California.

Loses Race

Father Delivers Baby In Farmhouse

MIDDLEBURY, VT. (AP) — If Harold Turinton hadn't skidded on the ice he might have won a race with the stork Wednesday, but he got honorable mention anyway.

Turinton's car — and Mrs. Turinton — were keeping just about one wing-flap ahead of the stork in a race from their home in Lincoln for Porter hospital when the car skidded into a ditch. That ended the race.

Hubby rushed Mrs. Turinton to a nearby farmhouse where — acting as midwife — he delivered an eight-pound girl.

Ten minutes later, Dr. Harold W. Williamson of Bristol, arrived in time to compliment highly Turinton's obstetric efforts.

Iranian Deputies Ask Ouster of Mossadegh

TEHRAN, IRAN (AP) — Fifteen deputies appealed to Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi Wednesday to do his "moral duty" and throw out Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

The appeal appeared to be a forlorn one in the face of outward indications of an outpouring of Mossadegh supports in the Tehran elections.

The Shah and his queen left Tuesday for a vacation on the Caspian sea and it seemed unlikely he would violate his own rule of keeping the monarchy aloof from politics.

The appeal was in the form of an open letter.
